THE BAPTIST TENT MEETING

Clanton had a rather unique religious experience during the sixteen days from May 22 to June 6. A revival in a tent.

The pastor had engaged the services of a Home Mission Board Evangelist, Rev. T. O. Reese, and that of his song leader and helper, Mr. P. S. Rowland, several months ago. These men make their headquarters at Marbury, not far from Clanton. As the date for the meeting approached the question of accommodating the congregations arose. It was taken for granted that the Baptist meeting house would not do, so while at the Baptist Convention in Atlanta, the pastor secured the use of a tent for two weeks which had just been purchased by the Birmingham Association for missionary purposes. From the first the tent was filled to its sitting capacity at every service. On several occasions the capacity was retracted by the daily rains, but all who could be seated came in spite of the weather, or possibly because of it, since but little outdoor work could be done during the entire time.

Mr. Rowland's consercated character shone through all his song leadership, his solos, and his prayers. His work with the children in what he called his "Junior Class" was especially noticeable and received the amused and admiring attention of all. His song book, though small, was very popular and the congregations responded heartily to his leadership in song.

The preaching of Rev. Reese was something out of the ordinary even for Baptist Evangelists. He will not conduct what is usually known as a "union meeting," a combination of different denominations supporting it on equal terms. His work is purely and entirely for the Baptists. He holds that if his meeting is in the interest of a "union" of denominatinos, his mouth will be closed from preaching certain Biblical doctrines and facts of church history which are fundamental with the Baptists. For nearly a week his sermons searched the souls of professing Christians and church members, calling for the signs which distinguish the Christian from the rest of the world, and encouraging the backslidden to take a fresh hold upon the mercy of God. Then he turned the guns of Mt. Sinai upon the world in general and showed men the folly of rejecting Christ. During his entire series of 30 sermons he was intensely Biblical, often pouring forth a series of quotations upon the point he wished to stress. Toward the close he delivered several sermon-lectures, developing certain Biblical doctrines and facts of church history which astonished some of his hearers for, they had never heard such things before. But they were no new "isms"—they were simply the old Bible truths and historical facts for which enlightened Baptists have always contended. The "unionism" of modern times has forbidden the preaching even by Baptists of the great Bible truths for which they stand, hence, when Mr. Reese brought them forth they were new to many. Probably never were these truths more completely carried in so able a manner in a similar length of time. Messrs Reese and Rowland have gone to the Clayton Street Baptist Church in Montgomery for a two-weeks meeting, after which they will be at Calera.

Twenty-seven converts were received for Baptism by the church, and eighteen by letter and restoration. It is expected that several yet will come.

L. B. MUSGROVE FORMALLY ENTERS SENATORIAL RACE

VIEWS UPON LIVE ISSUES SET FORTH IN RINGING STATEMENT

Strong in Support of League of Nations—Prohibition, Suffrage, Labor, Education and Americanism Subjects Discussed

Carrying out his intention, expressed some time ago, L. B. Musgrove, of Jasper, has filed with the Secretary of State the official notice of his candidacy for the United States Senate, to succeed Oscar W. Underwood. In his announcement Mr. Musgrove discussed the leading issues of the day, speaking frankly and fearlessly, and in such a way that no one can fail to understand his position. The announcement is as follows:

To the people of Alabama.

In conformity with my preliminary statement, issued before my departure for the Peace Conference, I now announce my candidacy to represent the State of Alabama in the United States Senate, subject to the action of the Democratic primary next spring.

My decision to enter this race was reached after the most mature deliberation.

The problems facing our country today are freighted with vast possibilities for good or evil. The demand for their solution is urgent, and they must be solved. If they are solved aright, it must be at the hands of those who are in sympathy with the needs, the hopes and the ideals of the great mass of American citizens.

Believing that the people of Alabama are entitled to know the views of those who seek to represent them, I deem it proper to state my position as to the questions that I now regard as paramount in the coming campaign.

PROHIBITION

I believe in Prohibition, State, National and World-wide, and favor the enactment of such laws as may be necessary to carry the 18th Amendment to the Federal Constitution into full and complete effect and prevent any evasion of it.

I am opposed to the repeal of the war time prohibition law. The starving millions of the world are now just as much in need of food that America must furnish, as they were when the law was enacted and it is the duty of our government to protect our food stuffs against waste in the manufacture of beer. Furthermore I am opposed to granting special favors to the brewing interests of the country as against the whiskey interests. Having been companions in evil let them be buried together.

Americans should not forget that the revelations growing out of the Congressional investigations developed the fact that the brewers of the country were the chief supporters through the German-American Alliance, of the Pro-German propaganda that cost the lives of many thousands of splendid American boys.

The Temperance forces must remain on the firing lines until the enemies of Prohibition has demobilized, and their weapons of warfare destroyed.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS

The effort of President Wilson and the other peace delegates to organize all civilized nations into a League for the settlement of international controversies without resort to arms, is the greatest act of statesmanship in history. The United States should be the first nation to ratify the covenant of the League of Nations. It is certain that it must be eventually adopted. When this is done I will esteem it a great privilege, if in the Senate, to give all the aid in my power to the furtherance of the aims of the League of Nations and the establishment of friendly relations with all the people of the earth.

I have no patience with those who hesitate or quibble over technical terms of the covenant and who pretend apprehension lest America surrender her national prerogatives.

Without a League of Nations we must enter upon a program of unlimited military and naval preparedness with the resultant tax burdens therefrom, and in time see history repeated by war as tragic if not more horrible than the one just closed.

A Senator cannot represent the people of Alabama by merely voting for a League of Nations, when he can no longer dodge or remain silent. He should help, not hinder our greatest President and his colleagues in guaranteeing to mankind peace instead of war.

OUR SOLDIERS AND SAILORS

Too much cannot be done for the noble men who answered our country's call and prevented the cruel Hun from destroying civilization. These splendid boys have added rich laurels to this commonwealth. We owe them a debt that can never be paid, a debt that this government should recognize in a substantial way as long as these soldiers and sailors or their dependent ones survive.

I am in full accord with every movement that has been or may be inaugurated for the purpose of dealing justly and generously with all who placed themselves on freedom's altar that democracy might live. Furthermore I am in hearty accord with the movement set on foot by our returned soldiers and sailors to eliminate all favoritism in the army and navy and maintain a system of appointment and advancement by merit alone.

CHURCH AND STATE

As active and aggressive as the liquor interests ever were is that element of society which would bring about in this country a union of church and state. With the enlightened countries of Europe turning from this sort of thing, efforts to establish it in the United States will be redoubled. The danger is none the less real because the campaign is being carried on by subtle and indirect methods, well calculated to deceive the unobservant. Every influence of this character must be met and sternly suppressed. The perpetuation of our free institutions depends in a large measure upon the alertness of our representatives and only those who are conscious of the menace and whose Americanism is unquestioned, should be placed on guard.

EDUCATION

Equality of opportunity is a fundamental principle of a Democracy. Equality of opportunity in other respects is impossible without equality of educational opportunity. The task of giving equality of educational opportunity to all children of all the people is too big to be adequately performed by any part of the people, therefore the State and Federal Governments must co-operate in building up a strong, intelligent, patriotic, liberty-loving citizenship. We must realize now that Democracy's greatest safeguard is the public school; because people are poor or engaged in humble occupation is no reason why their children should be shut out from the privileges of economic independence and further usefulness. We can modify our system and enhance its worth in terms of tangible value and broaden the minds of the average youth so that he can enjoy every opportunity that is open to the fortunate. The standard and measurement of his education in school must be determined by his increased earning capacity and the school should be so organized that in its process, his powers will be developed in a way that he can see the concrete results in the processes of his training. This end can be happily attained by the development of a system of vocational education.

The foundations of our republic are based upon universal intelligence. Therefore the guardians of the republic must see to it that not only its children, but its adults as well are made efficient, intelligent and patriotic through the agencies of our public school system.

The children of a nation are its greatest asset, and in their training the nation finds its greatest opportunity. We can no longer delude ourselves with respect to the adequacy of an education which ends with the completion of a course of study that has only a limited relation with the common every day life.

For our people to have more of the good things of this life the only practical way to acquire them is to be able to produce them. There can be no way for those of low productive capacity in some mysterious fashion to go out and get a bounty to make good their deficit in production. One should produce what one enjoys.

I insist that our present popular educational system does not always link up promptly and well with production. The principle of vocational education offers at least one solution to our vexed educational problem. To every citizen may be given an equal opportunity to learn how to produce to his best capacity that which fits him for the greatest service to himself and his country.

I am firmly convinced that the state and nation must work hand in hand in bringing the youth of our country into the birthright that was vouchsafed to them by the founders of this republic.

In the increasing effort of our government to lend a helping hand looking to the advancement of a system of vocational education I shall, as in the past, give my best efforts toward the development of this system of education, which stands today in the forefront of our national needs.

SUFFRAGE.

I have long maintained that political discrimination because of sex is unjust. The suffrage amendment now pending before the Senate should be promptly passed. I hope Alabama will be the first state to ratify it.

LABOR AND CAPITAL

Our business prosperity and national welfare depends upon a sympathetic and correct understanding between capital and labor. All liberal minded men now realize that in order to obtain this much desired relationship, labor should be recognized, not as a commodity but as an essential, living, vital force. Greater consideration must be granted labor and more safeguards must be thrown around the working man and working woman, so that they shall have full opportunity to earn a sufficient recompense for themselves and their families, with ample privileges for education, recreation and proper living.

Just returns cannot be obtained by capital without the assistance of labor, and labor cannot get its legitimate dues without capital being employed.

The time has passed to question the right of labor to organize and act, collectively for its own protection and advancement.

THE FARMER

My natural sympathies are with that great food producing class, the farmers, who are today not merely the mainstay of life in America but are important factors in the sustenance and comfort of the whole world. I shall, if elected, endeavor to secure for the farmers, that full measure of consideration and justice that their noble calling and devotion to country has at all times entitled them to receive.

It will be my purpose to co-operate fully with the government in the farm extension work now being fostered by it.

Should other pertinent questions arise I shall not hesitate to state my views thereon. If elected I will ever remember I am a representative of all the people of Alabama and to the best of my ability protect and advance their interest.

CHILTON COUNTY POST OF AMERICAN LEGION TO BE FORMED IN CLANTON JUNE 28

Meeting will be Held at the Court House June 28th... All Soldiers, Sailors and Marines are Requested to Come.

Get into the American Legion.

Become a charter member of the post to be organized at the Courthouse on Saturday, June 28th. Assist in perpetuating the service you rendered during the great world war.

This is the message sent by the men who have received the charter and are authorized to organize the American Legion in the state of Alabama. It is sent to every white soldier, sailor and marine who served at any time during the period between the declaration of war and the signing of the armistice.

Delegates will be elected at the meeting to be held in the various county seats throughout the state and a convention of these representatives of the different posts will be held at Birmingham on July 16-17.

Immediately upon forming their county posts, the ceterans should communicate with Col. Bibb Graves, State Chairman and organizer, at Room 71, Vandiver Bldg., Montgomery, Ala., giving the names of those enrolled, their addresses, previous service and the name selected for the post.

The American Legion is the great plan by which all who served the United States during the war with Germany will unite for the preservation of Simon pure Americanism and to see that due credits are given for the sacrifice made or offered to our country. In its organization it is democratic and non-partisan The private soldier or the "gob" will stand upon the same footing as the highest officer, within the organization and in its councils.

LeRoy Jacobs of Birmingham is the State Secretary and will furnish further information and enrollment blanks to those who may make the request. No person has been designated to effect the organization in the different counties, and no prospective leaders in the movement have been selected. The entire formation of The American Legion, its scope and its future, remain with the men who are to form its membership.

PEACE PRACTICABLE WITH THE LEAGUE IS REJECTED

Washington, June 8.—The friends of the League of Nations take the position that the defeat of the league covenant, or any amendment to it or other parts of the treaty, would constitute a new treaty, requiring the signatures of all the nations that subscribed to the original document. They claim a dead-lock would prevail meanwhile, and peace would be impossible until the assent of the thirty-two states to the new treaty could be obtained. Senator Hitchcock, former chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, states his contention as follows:

"Such amended treaty is a new treaty, whether it strikes out the league of nations provision or whether it amends the league of nations provision. It could not possibly go into effect until all of the nations party to the treaty accepted the amendment. If one refused to accept it that would produce a deadlock and make peace impossible. For all to accept any Senate amendments, even if it were possible, would require a long period of time and that would greatly delay the advent of peace."

Of course, so far as the treaty itself is concerned, the allied nations are free to make such terms of peace with Germany as each may see fit, unless they are bound by undertakings among themselves not to conclude a separate peace. The United States, for instance, can conclude peace with Germany on any basis she may adopt, quite regardless of the actions of the allies or any one of them. The treaty is only between ourselves and the Germans.

The inclusion of the league covenant in the treaty presents a complication that involves all of the allied belligerents. If that covenant is amended it is probably true, as Mr. Hitchcock asserts, that before it would have any binding force the changes would have to receive the endorsement of the other parties to the undertaking. Amendment of the covenant, therefore, might be attended with prolonged delays in the final consummation of peace. But no such difficulties are in the way of the defeat of the undertaking.

The league of nations is the pet personal hobby of Mr. Wilson, and is so regarded by the delegates of the other powers in Paris. They care little for it, and will be quick to requdiate it once it has been rejected by the United States Senate. It is said by those in touch with the situation in Paris that the defeat of the league by the Senate is anticipated by the other nations, and that their course of action in that event is already mapped out. With the peace treaty relieved of the encumbrance of the league it will be a simple matter to achieve peace; in fact, there is not the slightest doubt that the league's defeat would bring peace to the world months before it would come were the covenant to be amended.

The essentials of the treaty itself have already been determined upon. In his desperate attempt to tie the league and treaty together, Mr. Wilson referred some of the details of the treaty to the league's council for determination. But it would be a simple matter to provide another instrumentality for such determination; in fact, it is probable that the changes that the league's defeat would necessitate in the treaty are now reposing in the files of the peace conference, ready for insertion the moment the Senate has decreed the death of the covenant. Each allied nation, including the United States, could make those alterations at once, and present the practically identical treaties to Germany for signature, each supported in its demands by all the others. The process is a perfectly simple one, and the reconvening of the peace congress is not required at all.

Republican Congress Gets Down to Business In Spirit Which Promises Good to Country

Handicapped by Delay in Calling Extra Session, Senate and House are now Disposing of Tremendous Volume of Work Connected with Appropriation Billls—Striking Record Made in Passage of Woman Suffrage Resolution.

Washington, June 16.—Congress is going at the business of the extra session with a rush which has no precedent in recent years.

Although handicapped by the fact that the session did not open until May 19th, there is reason to believe that House and Senate will be able to accomplish the huge task of getting the appropriation bills passed by the first of July, the date when the new fiscal year begins.

House leaders have decided to give the right of way between now and June 15 to appropriation bills. It is expected that the remaining four great money bills will be crowded through by that date. They include the request of the railroad administration for $1,200,000,000; the army appropriation bill which will run well up to $1,000,000,000; the naval appropriation bill which will exceed a half billion; and the sundry civil bill which is expected to approximate $250,000,000, though efforts will be made to reduce it.

Working Together.

Working in conjunction with the Senate leaders, the decision of the House leaders was to dispose of these vast appropriation measures with this extraordinary speed in order to give the Senate time to deal with them, send them to conference, and pass them finally before July 1.

Already the House has passed the Indian bill, the District of Columbia appropriation bill, the third deficiency bill, the agricultural bill and the urgent deficiency bill, to provide for funds urgently needed by the War Risk Insurance Bureau and the Pension Office. The committees on appropriations and military and naval affairs have been busy in the meantime getting other measures in readiness for House consideration. Senate committees dealing with appropriations have been at work shaping up the bills sent to the Senate from the House and as fast as the committees can complete their part of the program the bills are to be put through the Sneate.

Important Reductions.

In order to carry out the program, the House will for some days pass supply bills at the rate of $300,000,000 a day. The Senate will provide for expenditures in the closing days of June even more rapidly. It is recognized by House members and senators that more time ought to be given to the close and critical examination of the great money bills on the floor but in the present condition of things it is imperrative the measures be passed with the least practicable delay. Hence there is less careful pruning of the bills than will be possible in the regular session. At that, the committees are finding it possible to make important reductions from the levels of the bills as they stood last session. By the time the appropriation bills are finally disposed of, leaders say they will show a material reduction in the aggregate, from the total of the bills as framed by the preceding congress.

If the new congress manages to dispose of all the appropriation bills in the short time allowed it for that purpose, it will have demonstrated its capacity for work in a way that can not be disputed. However, both the houses have found time already for many important matters.

Woman Suffrage.

Most noteworthy of these is the passage of the resolution for the proposed woman suffrage amendment to the Constitution. This passed the House on the third day of the session, went to the Senate, was reported and sent to the calendar, and in the face of determined opposition, was finally passed June 4. The suffrage measure passed the senate just forty-one hours after its introduction in that body. In that long and trying time, the women who fought for suffrage experienced so many disappointments that those who led the cause on this occasion could hardly realize the struggle, so far as the federal government is concerned, was over.

Impartial Investigation.

Of first-class importance, too, is the passage by the House of the Graham resolution for an investigation by a special committee of fifteen into the expenditures of the War Department. This investigation, which will be a comprehensive one, will soon be actually under way. It is intended to be an impartial and fearless inquiry into the facts concerning the expenditure of upwards of $16,000,000,000. The resolution for the inquiry was passed in the face of much opposition from minority members, who did not, however, show their hands on the final vote. Investigations of other departments will be made by other committees for the purpose of finding out the facts about their expenditures. The War Risk Insurance Bureau will be probed.

The Senate has devoted considerable time to the discussion of international questions, including the treaty of peace and the covenant for the league of nations. The remarkable disclosure that copies of the peace treaty, which has been denied the Senate, are in the hands of New York financial houses, has, of course, aroused a tremendous sensation.

Committee Activity.

What has been done on the floor of both houses, however, represents only a part of the work thus far accomplished. In the leading committees of the two houses there has been a steady activity. The results of it will be apparent as the session develops.

For instance, both the House and Senate interstate commerce committees have been crowding along various bills before them in an effort to reach the railroad question proper, involving the fixing of a permanent policy for the railroads. The bill for the restoration of the telephones and telegraphs to their owners, reported from the Senate Interstate commerce committee several days ago, and a bill on the same subject in the House interstate commerce committee, will soon be disposed of.

The broad question of what to do with the railroads is already being taken up by the two committees in a preliminary way. The Senate interstate commerce committee has reported the Cummins bill to restore the powers of the interstate commerce commission and is considering the Poindexter bill to give vitality to the long and short haul clause of the interstate commerce law.

Other Important Matters.

Other subjects taken up the committee either in House or Senate or both include shipping, revenue questions, land settlement, prohibition law enforcement, labor matters, independence of the Philippines and a long list more. The Senate education and labor committee, aside from reporting a bill for vocational training for those injured in industry, has begun hearing on the housing question.

The military and naval committees at both ends of the Capitol, apart from much work this month on appropriations, are taking up many other subjects under their jurisdiction.

The mere recitation of these things done on the floor and in committee answers the question whether the new congress is going to do things. It is already doing them.

Man-Talk to Men

By J. R. HAMILTON

Former Advertising Manager of Wanamaker's, Philadelphia

Since the beginning of organized society everything without a name has ended with a question mark. The very reason why marriage itself has been able to maintain so much sentiment amongst civilized races is that it gave to our children a name.

There is no virtue in a name itself, except that it throws the light of investigation upon whatever the name stands for.

Now the object of this article is simply to get you to remember the names of the articles you buy or at least the names of the people you buy them from. Because that is the only way of increasing good business methods in this city.

In this last twenty years business men have discovered a new method of establishing a name. They do it through advertising.

Now again there is no special virtue in advertising except that it does two things. First, it sells goods cheaper, because it sells more of them. And, second, it shortens the time that it formerly took to establish a name. There are just as honest business men who do not advertise as there are who do. That is not the point. The point is that they are not as good business men and that you do not have any way of telling whether they are honest or not.

Now there are a great many advertisers in this paper today and every day who have established for themselves, or for their products, a good name. There is a lifetime of hard effort attached to the signature of many of these ads, so you cannot possibly do better than to read this advertising for whatever you wish to buy.

When a man or a product has an established name, you know where to go, if the quality does not live up to the guaranty.

The State Democratic Executive Committee, in true rubber-stamp fashion, has adopted a series of resolutions endorsing the leadership of President Wilson, and the League of Nations. The resolution solicits the members of Congress to give the League their support not silently but openly, not apologetically but proudly, not only as Democrats but as Americans.

If Tumulty tries to crush anti-Catholic expression through the office of Postmaster General that may prove as big a white elephant on his hands as the wires were for Burleson. Truth crushed to earth is bound to rise. One truth about the rottenness of Romanism has been crushed to earth; but it is bound to rise. And it will rise by the determination of American citizens in spite of Tumulty, Burleson & Co.

Representative Julius Kahn, of California, Chairman of the Military Affairs Committee of the House paused long enough in his official duties to advocate the statement that the victory of he Republican party in the next presidential election will be an overwhelming one. He sees this indication due to the fact that the present Republican congress is so systematically and thoroughly performing the many duties that confront that body. The Republicans are sustaining their previous records for speedy and needed legislation, which will build up confidence among the people of the country, thereby gaining their support for the party in the next campaign.

Instead of taking a mandatory for some petty European power, the United States will be doing very well if, under the Monroe Doctrine, she can re-establish order in troubled Mexico. For six or seven years past that country has been trouble-torn and mussed up—life and property unsafe and no semblance of order anywhere. Business of all kinds has gone to ruin and the people have become thoroughly demoralized. It is our burden duty to clear this situation up and there's no doubt in the world that sooner or later we shall be obliged to do so. There will come a time when the powers of Europe will in sist either that we do it ourselves or that we allow them to do it; an alternative that we cannot consider. The big problem ahead of this country is the Mexican problem, and our attention belongs here rather than in interfering in the affairs in Europe.—Fort Wayne News.

Forcing Them to the Front.

The activities of the Catholic Church in the policies and government of our country for the past few years has been sorely intressing to hosts of real honest to goodness American patriots who saw the inconsistence and the un-Americanism of things as they were being perpetrated upon the country through the autocratic and designing plans of Rome. Such unjust methods as characterized certain activities of our war department agencies during the war fired the spark of Americanism and manhood in the thousands of hearts all over the United States. It was but natural for this system of one-sided and discriminating management to call forth active and agressive protest at the proper time. We are pleased to note that it is already taking on real form in the announcements that some political candidates are making.

Hon. L. B. Musgrove of Jasper, candidate for the Senate to succeed Underwood, dares to say openly and pearlessly that he favors separation of church and state, as good as to say that he is in sympathy with the demands of Americans that Rome shall keep her fingers out of our politics and our government.

L. B. Rainey, candidate for congress from the Seventh District, to succeed the late John L. Burnett, gives his people assurance in his published announcement that he will stand for the preservation of civil and religious liberty, safeguarding for all time to come complete separation of church and state.

These things show that the people are indignant over the way things have been going on at Washington for the past few years; and that they demand a change. And candidates who would go to Washington to represent these people must be right on the question of keeping Romanism out of our government. We are truly glad to see Musgrove and Rainey dare to pronounce themselves.

Tom Watson in his splendid writings exposing and condemning the utterly repulsive systems of Roman Catholicism, gives nine reasons why the system of Popery is a menace to the world. We reproduce them below and suggest that those who are aroused from their slumber as to the menace of Romanism, study these eight reasons and familiarize yourselves with them. By so doing, you will be enabled to better understand the contest that is being waged against this deadly monster.

First— it arrogates to an Italian Bishop the paramount sovereignty, both temporal and spiritual, of the whole world.

Second—It virtually usurps the place of God, in that it arrogates to itself the power to open hell to the sinner and heaven to the saint.

Third—It blasphemously pretends to sacrifice Christ, again and again, on tens of thousands of altars, in tens of thousands of different places, at the same time.

Fourth—Its bachelor priesthood, its enclosed covenants, and its confessional are irresistable agencies of inevitable vice and crime—because against nature.

Fifth—Its fundamental laws are antagonistic to liberty and progress, are reactionary, oppressive and degrading.

Sixth—Its system of education stifles inquiry and enthrones authority, thus stopping the development of the mind.

Seventh—It is essentially a feminine relligion, worshiping a woman as mother of God and queen of the heavens. Mary worship is a survival of Greek and Roman mythology.

Eighth—It seeks to reduce men to abject submission to the priestly caste in order that these bachelors may Govern a man and his wife and his children in all the movements of their lives—teaching that the priest is necessary to a legal marriage, a legitimate birth and a Christian burial.

Ninth—It calls upon superstition to uphold its mastery instead of relying upon Reason.

Veterans of Great World War to Organize the American Legion.

The American Legion is the name that has been adopted for the organization of the American veterans of the great world war. All who served honorably whether in the army, navy or marines, between the date of the declaration of war against Germany and the date of the armistice, are eligible.

This will in no doubt be the greatest association of Americans ever organized. It will be to our whole country what the United Confederate Veterans Organization has been to the South and what the Grand Army of the Republic has been to the North.

We believe that the Legion will be the most potential force for genuine Americanism and real democracy that our country has ever before known. It is to be absolutely democratic—Colonels and Corporals, Captains and Privates all on the same level.

In the same organization of the various local posts no particular individuals are to be designated to take the lead. There is to be no "hand picking" or "playing favorites," but an eligible for membership in the Legion are asked to meet in the court house in Clanton at noon on the Fourth Saturday in June and select their own officers and delegates to the State Conference to be held in Birmingham on July 16th and 17th.

We hope this announcement may reach the ear of every returne dsoldier, sailor or marine in Chilton County and that they will give a ready response by meeting at the court house as above set out and laying the foundation of our local Legion.

Chilton County had over seven hundred men in the service during the great war. A majority of them have returned and should be interested in this organization.

Now, that it is all over "over there" we can again turn our attention to our pet nuisance at home, Mexico. We now notice the fact that the Catholics and cut - throat bandits down there are still at large and we may now see the completion of Villa's capture which was interrupted by the war in Europe. On last Sunday American troops crossed the Mexican border to stop Villa's rebels from firing further shots into our city of El Paso.

In every move that is made in our national administration you can see the play is moving in the direction of the curtailment of freedom of speech and freedom of press. It is now asserted in Washington that if Burleson is forced out of the Cabinet of President Wilson, as Postmaster General, it is probable that his successor will be none other than his eminence, the popular Jesuit, Knight of Columbus, Roman Catholic, Joseph Patrick Tumulty. Throughout the country there is arising a powerful tide of thought and sentiment against the infernal doings of the Catholics, and this thought and expression is going out over the country in the medium of certain newspapers and periodicals. We imagine the Jesuits would hope to see a curb put on such papers through the instrumentality of Tumulty as Postmaster General.

FOURTH OF JULY CELEBRATION AND BARBECUE IN CLANTON IS SURE TO BE ONE MOST SUCCESSFUL OCCASION

Chilton County's Returned Soldiers to be Shown Time of Their Lives. A Big Barbecue and Basket Dinner. Airplane Demonstrations and Baseball Games. Everybody Coming.

Everybody may as well get their triggers set for the big Fourth of July Soldiers Memorial celebration for Chilton County Soldiers, to be staged at Clanton on that day. Plans are beginning to take on real form and splendid success is coming to the efforts being made in the matter.

Arrangements are already under way for the financing of the barbecue, and nearly five hundred dollars has already been subscribed. This indicates that the feeding of the multitudes who will be here is to be accomplished in grand stylle. For in addition to the barbecue, it is planned and expected that everybody bring a well-filled basket of cakes, pies, vegetables and the like. And Mayor Stanfield, like the good Methodist he is, especially requests that you do not fail to put in the fried chicken.

Let everybody remember that this occasion is to be Chilton County's tribute of honor to our returned soldiers and sailors, and everybody is expected and urged to co-operate and assist in making the affair one of which we can all be justly proud. Every beat in the County willl have a systematic plan of co-operation presented to them by committees which are to have in charge and each person will know exactly where to fall in the line to do his part. In the meantime just put up the old rooster and begin to make him fat. Fix up a nice cool comfortable suit for the kids to wear and lay it away. Have everything ready and in its place and on the morning of the Fourth turn the cow and the calf together and come down to Clanton to have a big old time yourself and also to help the other fellow have a big time too.

The program of amusements will be fixed up according to Hoyle. We already have the assurance that the airplanes will be here from Montgomery to pull off the latest aeriel stunts for the pleasure of the immense crowds.

A Chilton County baseball team is being whipped into shape and our boys are going to mix it with a team from Montgomery in a big double-header.

Now don't go get up a little side show some place and waste a perfectly good Fourth of July on a little ice-cream and lemon-ade when you have such a good chance to mix up with a big time like the one that is to be here in Clanton. Everybody is looking for everybody else that day in Clanton. Don't be out of pocket. Come on down here and let's have the fun together.

THE CLANTON INFIRMARY

I wish to say to the public that the hospital which is to be opened within a short time in my building will be opened under the name of "The Clanton Infirmary." I notice in a recent issue of one of our papers it is referred to as a hospital to be run by Dr. Marcus and myself. We shall both be interested in it, but we hope to have the interest and co-operation of every physician in the county, and we are going into this undertaking with the idea that in the near future all the most active and ethical doctors will join us and together with us the leading citizens of our town and our county, form a stock company and build a commodious hospital at some suitable place on the outskirts of your town, which will be self-supporting and fill a long felt want.

When occasion demands, we expect to have, in addition to our local doctors, as good surgeons as our larger surgical centers can furnish to visit us. Our nursing force will be selected with the view of getting the very best obtainable both in schooling and experience.

ROCKY MOUNT

The Sunday School at Oak Grove and the singing at Rocky Mount Sunday evening have been called off on account of the Childrens Day Service at Oak Hill Sunday, the 22nd. There will be an all day singing in the Sacred Harp and Christian Harmony at Rocky Mount on Sunday, the 29th.

There will be a public working in the Rocky Mount Cemetery Saturday, the 28th for the purpose of cleaning off the graves. All are invited.

TWENTY DROWNED WHEN GASOLINE BOAT TURNS OVER

Tuscaloosa, June 15—Twenty persons, mostly women and children, were drowned in the Warrior River near this city about 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon, when a gasoline launch turned over in mid-stream. The total number of passengers on the boat was 63 consisting of a pleasure party who were out for a Sunday afternoon ride.

The river is about a quarter of a mile wide and about 18 feet deep at the point where the tragedy occurred.

MASONS AND ODD-FELLOWS TO GIVE BARBECUE AT JEMISON

Wednesday, June 25th is to be Jemison's big day. The Masons and Odd Fellows combined are going to pull the stunts for the occasion. There is to be a big barbecue to which will be added the preparations of the ladies in the form of cakes, pies and other delicicies that usually are included in the frugal baskets for such occasions.

A public installation of Masonic officers will be staged at some time during the morning exercises.

The forenoon will be consumed by the program of the Masonic lodge consisting of public speaking, installation, etc. After dinner the rapid-fire oratory of the I.O.O.F. Camp will be let loose on the crowd and some good stuff is promised.

Don't forget the day—Wednesday, June 25th. Fix up the kids and come along for a good old time. Jemison boasts that she is big enough to hold the crowd and fat enough to feed them.

SINGING AT NEW HARMONY

The No. 3 Singing Convention will convene at New Harmony Church, near Lomax, Ala., in Chilton County, on June 22, 1919. Everybody is invited to attend with well filled baskets. Will meet at 9:00, a.m.. Sacred Harp and Christian Harmony will be used. T. C. JACKSON.

CAMPAIGN FOR RAISING FUND FOR MEMORIAL MONUMENT

To the People of Chilton County:

Alabama's Legislature has officially sanctioned the raising of a fund for the erection of a state memorial to Alabama's soldiers, sailors, marines and other war workers and placed the work in hnds of the Alabama Memorial Commission. The commission has decided that five hundred thousand dollars should be raised by popular subscription and that a state drive be made for this amount from June 27 to July 4.

Each person in this county knows the wonderful record made by Alabama men overseas and knows that this state of all states in the union must erect a memorial which will portray the valor of our men and the immortal name they have given to Alabam. This is time when we must honor Alabama men who honored their State and in doing it we must forget politics and personal wishes. I is desired that the drive be a popular one and that evesy person in the State own a small part in the memorial.

I have been honored with the appointment of county director of this drive by the memorial commission and I want to make a public appeal to all citizens to keep this matter before them and to lend active and financial assistance in the greatest measure possible.

Beat or school district directors will be selected for this county and they will need assistance. Canvassers must be provided before the beginning of the drive in order that there may be no delays. We must act quickly as we have but little time. How many citizens of this county may I count on to assist in the drive? Those who will give of their time should communicate with me or the beat director at once.

Let me repeat that this is a drive in which the State will attempt to show those living of its appreciation of their services and to honor the memory of those who gave up all. If yur contribution to this fund should be one hundred dollars, give this amount. If it should be one dollar give one dollar. Let your conscience and your love for Alabama's soldiers, sailors and marines dictate the amount of your contribution.

Chilton County's quota of the state fund is $4,626. This movement here has the hearty endorsement of all the county officials, and the hope is that we can get one man in each school district or Beat to take charge of the work in their respective communities.

I have information that many other counties have assured state headquarters that they will exceed their quotas. What report may we make from this county?

G. C. WALKER.
County Campaign Director.

CONGRESS CLEARS WAY FOR INQUIRY INTO OUR WAR COST

Resolution introduced in House Calls for Special Investigating Body.

WAR DEPARTMENT UNDER FIRE

Especial Attention will be Given to Conduct of War Risk Insurance.

Washington, June 6.—Decks are being cleared for the proposed investigations into war costs, into conduct of the war, into the doings of the different departments while the war was on and related matters.

Indications continue that the bulk of this work will fall on House committees. In a general way, Senate and House leaders will make an effort to avoid needless duplications in inquiries. Considerations of time and money make this advisable.

The resolution which has been presented in the House by Representative Graham of Illinois, calling for the appointment by Speaker Gillet for a special committee of fifteen members to investigate fully "all contracts and expenditures made by the War Department or under its directions during the present war" is a clear index that important inquiries are ahead.

Representative Graham said today he hoped to get this passed shortly under special rule and that once it was passed he planned to expedite the inquiry. It is well understood that the committee on expenditures in the war Department of which Mr. Graham is the chairman will be enlarged by the addition of enough members to make up the fifteen. Now there are six on this standing committee, four republicans and two democrats.

The plan is to appoint strong men to the committee and then to divide the work of probing among several sub-committee. This will hasten it greatly.

Representative Graham said the War Risk Insurance Bureau would be investigated but the exact plan for this is yet to be formulated.

A number of members of congress wanter the War Risk Insurance Bureau investigated at once by a separate specil committee. They say the need for quick inquiry is great.

Representative Dowell said to-day that in view of the vast chorus of complaints concerning this bureau there should be a prompt investigation and that a special committee should be at once named.

"The public interest demands that this bureau be investigated and investigated at once," said Mr. Dowell.

Representative Graham, who will engineer the war expenditures probe, is one of the younger members of the House, a keen, able, tireless lawyer.

The different committees on expenditures in the departments in the House will, for the first time in years have plenty to do.

THE AMERICAN POTENTATE

There are man in this world, there are men right here in this town and in every other town—who would be insulted at being set down as thieves but to whom such a name would in reality be a most polite appellation—a very gracious compliment.

They are the class commonly known as "dead beats."

They are meaner than the common thief just in the proportion as the confidential clerk who robs his employer is meaner than his less cowardly brother in crime who breaks into the man's house and robs him.

And yet, what a difference the law makes in the two.

A fellow goes into the store and pompously calls up a clerk or proprietor (and the editor) and orders whatever he wants and tells them to charge it and take it down to the house. He represents that he is able and willing to pay his bills and will do so at stated periods when he knows that he is a liar and a sneak. He lives beyond his means, and picks upon certain individuals to support himself and family without any recompense whatever.

And if the merchant mentioned; after going to all the expense to wait on this fellow, bookkeeping, deliver the goods, etc., to say nothing of the goods themselves, wants his pay as promised, what does the law say of it. Simply that if a man has property available he can be made to pay, but if he is sharp enough to keep his income collected up he is responsible to nobody and nothing on earth. He may assess any man whom he can deceive for the support of his wife or his children or himself, feed them with food and dress them in clothes belonging to somebody else. Such is the province of the only American potentate who need account to no one — the "dead beat." — Spartanburg Journal.

Mr. Odom, our Representative from the Storrs-Shaffer Company, will be at our Store Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week. Come and let him take your measure for your Fall Suit. W. A. KEMP.

SILOS PAY ALABAMA DAIRYMEN BIG PROFITS

By J. P. Quinerly, Dairy Specialist

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

No dairyman can afford to be without a silo, according to reports from men using them in all parts of Alabama. The silo supplies succulent roughage in cheap abundance throughout the winter and at other seasons when pastures are short. When dairy cows are fed silage they produce as though they were on pasture and keep in the same healthy, thrifty condition characteristic of grazing animals.

"I consider a farm dairy without silage as without feed. I can carry as many cows on one acre of silage as on four acres of pasture. I consider my silo (wood hoop) the best investment on my farm.

"D. B. JACKS.
"New Market, Madison Co., Ala."

"After feeding silage three winters, I feel that I would not attempt to keep cattle without a silo. The first cost of a silo is nothing compared with the subsequent saving of other rough feed. . . . . I am planning to build another concrete silo this fall. With the help of my present silo I am making my 211 acres carry 105 head of Jerseys—something impossible, otherwise. Like you, I want to see a silo on every farm where cattle are kept in Alabama.

"L. C. YOUNG.
"Montgomery, Ala."

"We consider our concrete silo just as good an investment as was our dipping vat, and that was the best investment we ever made. . . . . Cows prefer corn to sorghum silage, but we believe more dollars' worth of silage can be made on an acre of sorghum than corn, although it is not quite as nutritious, pound per pound.

"M. W. HALL & SONS.
"Midway, Bullock Co., Ala."

"We have had a silo three years and it has paid for itself more than once in the economy of feed saved. . . . . I regard a ton of silage worth as much for a dairy herd in the winter as a ton of hay, costing twice as much, or more. I would not be without a silo were I to continue in the dairy business, as I expect to do.

"W. C. HARRISON.
"Gallion, Ala."

"A silo for a dairy is very valuable—more than that, it is the one essential for the economical production of milk. I have been using my wood-hoop silo for three years and now would not be without it and try to run a dairy.

"S. J. SKINNER.
"Troy, Pike Co., Ala."

The home-made wood-hoop silo is easily and cheaply built and is recommended in most cases unless concrete is preferred. Concrete silos are more expensive, but last longer than other types of silos.

In most cases Texas Seeded Ribbon cane should be used to fill silos because it gives much more tonnage than corn. On land that will yield 40 to 50 or more bushels of corn per acre, corn is preferable.

If you are milking cows and haven't a silo, talk the matter over with your county agent or write the Extension Service. We believe you need one, and are in position to intelligently advise you about silos and silage.

"A WORD TO THE WISE."

It is not safe to buy land or to lend money and accept land as security without first investigating the title of the land. Often there are unpaid mortgages, judgments, taxes, or other liens affecting the title, which an abstract would set out. Therefore, when buying land or lending money thereon, it is important that an abstract of title be furnished. A few dollars spent for an abstract is cheaper than having a law suit later on.

There are two abstract companies at Clanton, either of which are in position to make accurate abstracts of title. The Clanton Abstract Company is owned by F. B. Collier and the Chilton County Abstract Company is owned by M. D. Foshee. Either Company will treat you right as to the price.

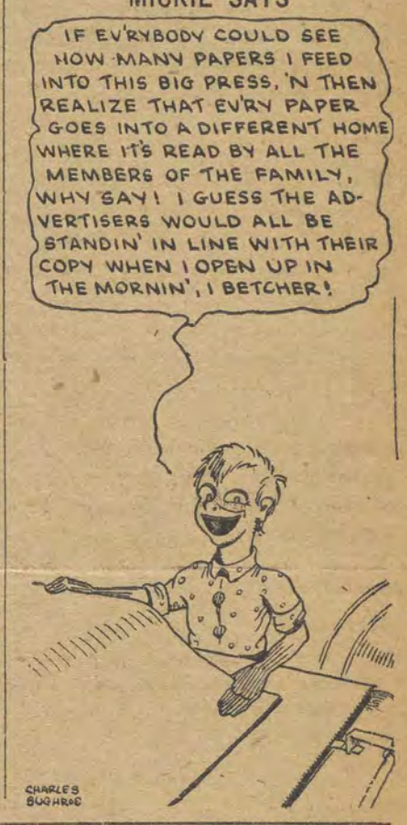
A FALSE ASSUMPTION

"If America has a part therein," frequently declares Mr. Taft, "the league of nations will be established and peace through justice will have become possible for all nations, great and small." The continued repetition of that argument by the ex-President and other friends of the league is nothing short of diabolic. It seeks to align for the league all persons who prefer peace to war, and to create the impression that those who refuse to adhere to it wish to see the world steeped in blood for all time. Statements such as those are an insult to everyone who hears them—to the intelligence of the league supporters, and to the humanity and decency of those who have the patriotism to oppose it.



Neither Mr. Taft, President Wilson nor any of the other individuals who are loudest in praise of the league, dare point to a single critic of the covenant and accuse him of entertaining a preference for war over peace. Such an accusation would be the grossese libel, and entitle the libellee to substantial damages. Yet the whole propaganda for the league of nations is based specifically or inferentially on that very charge. All those desirous of peace are urged to get behind the covenant as the means fora attaining their ends, and its opponents are characterized as desciples of Mars, preferring rule by the sword rather than government by justice. It is a pity there is not a means furnished in our legal code to put a summary stop to such misleading tactics, but the country is becoming alive to the deception that is being practiced upon it by men of former high reputation, and they will soon be consumed in the fire of the popular opinion that they hoped to mould at their own will.

MESDAMES CHANDLER AND CALLEN ELECTED OFFICERS

At the recent session of the fifth annual convention of the Fifth District Alabama Federation of Women's Clubs, on Wednesday evening of last week, at the Exchange Hotel, Montgomery, Mrs. H. F. Chandler and Mrs. W. T. Callen, both of Clanton, were elected to the positions of chairman and secretary-treasurer respectively of the Fifth District, their term of office to begin next January, when they will succeed Mrs. J. H. Crenshaw and Mrs. L. D. Garner of Montgomery.

Clanton was selected as the meeting place for the next annual session. Clanton is to be proud of this fact, and we heartily welcome the Federation into our fair city.

ADMINISTRATION AT FAULT AS TO THE FIXING OF PRICES

Southern Members Should Go to the Department of Justice, Says Greene.

MAKES ANSWER TO HEFLIN

Present Administration Has Made No Attempt to Keep Down Price Juggling.

Washington, June 7.—If the Southern members have complaints to make about the cotton price situation, they should go to the Department of Justice, in the opinion of Representative Green of Iowa.

Representative Heflin of Alabama, who spoke in the house about cotton and talkd of a conspiracy to beat down the priceof that staple, was advised by Mr. Gren that he ought to present the matter to the White House when the President got back homeand likewise to theDepartment of Justice. Mr. Greene indicated, however the Department of Justice was not exerting itself very hard to deal with price jugglers.

"Now, so far as cotton is concerned," Mr. Green said, "it is true that it enters into a great variety of articles, and I understood the gentleman from Alabama mentioned the fact that it went into the soldier's uniform. Well, I am very sorry it did under this administration. Too much of it, indeed, went into the soldier's uniform. And the gentleman referred also to the time we burned corn in the Western States. I think he said something about burning wheat, but I do not think we got as far as that.

"But this burning of corn, the gentleman will remember, was at a time when another Democratic administration was controlling the destinies of this country. And that is the only time I ever knew that any corn was burned in this country. I do not think there is any danger we will ever get so far as to burn cotton, although, if the gentleman's constituency is suffering, they are suffering not through any fault or direction the of Members upon this side, to whom he seemed to direct his remarks, but solely because the administration is not doing its duty. If there has been some conspiracy in New York elsewhere to beat down the price of cotton, the Department of Justice ought to take hold of the matter. The administration ought to handle those who are guilty of such conduct. But for some reason, as we all well know, there has been no particular disturbance either of those who attempt to force up pricesduring this administration or those who attempt to lower them. And there we stand. So I hope, if the gentleman has any complaint to make about the sitution, with reference to cotton, he will present it down at the White House when the party who usually resides there gets back home, instead of presenting it to the Members upon this side."

"ALABAMA HONORS HER HEROES" IS ADOPTED AS SLOGAN.

JUNE 22 MEMORIAL SUNDAY

Several Counties Voluntarily Indicate That Quotas Should Be Increased —Rogers Gives $1,000.

Alabama Honors Her Heroes.

This is the slogan adopted by the Alabama Memorial Commission for Memorial Week, June 27 to July 4, inclusive, when every person within the State and Alabamians in other parts of the world will be given the opportunity to contribute according to their means to the erection of a Memorial Building at the Capitol, Montgomery, which shall stand forever as a testimonial of the patriotic service of Alabama men and women.

The Alabama Memorial Commission, pointing the way for many similar bodies that have since been formed in other states, will make of the building that is to be erected on Capitol Hill a perpetual reminder and a record, not only of the men who served and those that fell in the World War, but of the men and women of the state who have done distinguished service in other wars and in the walks of peace.

Alabama Honors Her Heroes; and she will do equal honor to all of those whose record has been or may be preserved, or whose likeness may be obtained for the memorial halls and chambers that are to be in very truth, Alabama's Hall of Fame.

Memorial Sunday, June 22.

Memorial Sunday will be observed in Alabama on June 22, when every minister of the gospel in the state will be requested to cal' to the memory of their respective congregations the heroism of those Alabamians who have made sacrifices for their state and country, the worthy lessons that may be drawn from such service and sacrifice, the duty of all people to study and to learn of the records of the heroic past and their obligation as citizens to perpetuate the glorious history of the state and its sons and its daughters.

Letters are going forward from the office of W. S. Stallings, state campaign director, at Birmingham, to all of the ministers whose names appear on the several lists furnished those headquarters. Ministers who by any chance do not receive the written request are asked to proceed upon the notice given them through this and other newspapers, that Patriotic Service to God and Country may be the theme in every church in Alabama where Divine services may be held on Sunday, June 22.

Number in Service Quota Basis.

Upon receiving notice of their quotas in the Memorial Campaign whereby Alabama proposes to Honor Her Heroes, a number of the county directors have indicated to the state director that their counties will increase or go beyond their quotas, based upon the number of men from the respective counties who served in the land and sea forces of the United States during the world war, at $6.00 for each man in such service. The quotas are: Autauga, $4,074; Baldwin, $4,284; Barbour, $5,196; Bibb, $5,148; Blount, $3,648; Bullock, $3,738; Butler, $6,114; Calhoun, $11,136; Chambers, $7,146; Cherokee, $3,924; Chilton, $4,626; Choctaw, $4,224; Clarke, $6,492; Clay, $4,566 Cleburne, $2,460; Coffee, $5,724; Colbert, $6,132; Conecuh, $6,234; Coosa, $2,892; Covington, $8,700; Crenshaw, $5,040; Cullman, $6,138; Dale, $4,182; Dallas, $7,308; DeKalb, $6,192; Elmore, $5,796; Escambia, $6,186; Etowah, $11,382; Fayette, $3,624; Franklin, $4,410; Geneva, $5,778; Greene, $1,878; Hale, $3,786; Henry, $4,266; Houston, $8,398; Jackson, $7,680; Jefferson County and Birmingham, $87,678; Lamar, $4,026; Lauderdale, $6,618; Lawrence $3,972; Lee, $6,636; Limestone, $7,884; Lowndes, $3,876; Macon, $3,666; Madison, $11,514; Marengo $6,114; Marion, $4,698; Marshall, $7,176; Mobile County and City, $23,280; Monroe, $5,190; Montgomery County and City, $16,200, but this amount voluntarily increased to $50,000; Morgan, $8,124; Perry, $3,390; Pickens, $5,016; Pike, $6,024; Randolph, $4,794; Russell, $3,786; Shelby, $5,088; St. Clair, $5,208; Sumter, $3,564; Talladega, $7,398; Tallapoosa, $6,828; Tuscaloosa, $9,618; Walker, $10,578; Washington, $3,276; Wilcox, $5,226; Winston, $2,190; Total, $487,150 and with Montgomery county's voluntary increase, $520,950.

Memorial Campaign Brevities.

Judge Henry D. Clayton, addressing a United States Grand Jury at Dothan last week, concluded with an eloquent plea that Alabama Honor Her Heroes. He argues that the state could have put up such a Memorial Building as is proposed, and taxed the people to pay for it, but preferred that every man, woman and child in the state have a voluntary part in its erection. "Where your treasure is, there also is your heart," quoted the wise Judge.

Senator John A. Rogers, of Sumter county, has made a contribution of $1,000 to the Alabama Memorial building, conditioned upon the raising of $500,000 in the campaign which will conclude with Memorial Week, June 27 to July 4. While this is the first individual pledge that has reached the commission, many school children in all parts of the state have pledged small amounts to the memorial fund.

The private soldiers and non-commissioned officers who won distinction in the World War will receive the same—perhaps greater—attention in the Alabama Memorial building as is accorded officers of high rank. Portraits, photographs, records of achievement, statutes and busts, tablets of bronze and of stone will make the citations received, honors bestowed and deeds recorded a matter of permanent history, as a lesson and an example to this and succeeding generations.

Mrs. Irene Rasberry is visiting in Birmingham this week.

THE LEAGUE A PARTY ISSUE

Washington, June 8.—The Republican Publicity Association, through its president, Hon. Jonathan Bourne, Jr., today gave out the following statement from its Washington headquarters:

While it is no part of the Republican Publicity Association to write party platforms, that coming solely within the jurisdiction of the National Convention, it is, nevertheless, the opinion of the Association that the League of Nations covenant as a part of the peace treaty has already been made a party issue. Issues are sometimes drawn during the interim between conventions and those issues become as clear as though defined by platform declarations. The League of Nations covenant has been made a party issue by the action of the president, the Democratic members of the Senate, the Democratic National Committee, and the Democratic press. It is an issue which the Republicans could not avoid if they would, and should avoid if they possibly could. Perpetuation of American independence is too grave and vital a matter to permit of compromise or evasion.

The Democratic party has thrown down the gauntlet. The chairman of its national committee, in sounding the keynote of the presidential compaign of 1920, characterizes the league covenant as "the greatest document of human liberty ever prepared," and the other party leaders declare that they welcome the opportunity to make the league the issue in the coming fight of the executive branch of the government. The course that affairs have taken at Paris, the debates in the Senate, and the public utterances of Democrats from the lecture platform and in the press have clearly indicated their intention of attempting to make partisan capital out of the league. In spite of the fact that Mr. Wilson declared in his New York speech that "This is not a party issue," every discerning person has known from the first that the league covenant would be the biggest plank in the Democratic platform next year. Now we have it from the committee that will frame that platform and conduct the campaign upon it.

Republicans should accept the challenge. The Democrats may set forth the league covenant as "the greatest document of human liberty ever prepared," but the Republicans will denounce it as the "greatest document for destruction of American liberty ever prepared," and with that slogan will not hesitate to submit the case to the voters. From the first, the leaders of the Republican party have carefully avoided injecting partisan politics into the debates on the league. Emphasizing their support of unadulterated Americanism, which has been the dominant note in every principle enunciated by that party since its organization, they have based their criticisms of the league on sound logic, and have apepaled to the patriotic intelligence of every American, regardless of political affiliation, to rally to the defense of his country. With the Republicans in the van of the fight, and the defeat of the league assured because of their majority against it, the question automatically becomes a party matter, and the credit for having dealt the death blow to the menace will be conceded to the Republicans. But now that the Democratic committee has come out into the open in a partisan fight for the league the Republicans can handle the question without gloves.

And they could wish for no better issue on which to make their appeal. The tide against the league that is setting so strongly all over the country presages victory for the Republicans almost without a contest. Of course the league may become a fact, even if it is repudiated by the United States Senate, but all indications from Paris are that without the signature of United States the league will be dropped by the other powers. But even if the league will be established without the inclusion of America, and the first meeting held in Washington next October, as the president has indicated it will be, the Republicans have nothing to fear. There is every reason to believe that such a meeting would be but a repetition on a smaller scale of the bickerings that have been the order of the day at Paris. But with the convention on our own soil, with a corps of alert American newspaper men in attendance, insuring an accurate report of the proceedings, the country would be so nauseated by the transactions that what little support still clung to the league idea would fall away.

Appeals to American patriotism have never failed in the past, and will not fail now or next year. Precisely as the true Americans of the Senate stand together in their denunciation of the surrender of American rights and sovereignty and the abdication by congress of the powers conferred on the people's representatives by the Constitution, so will the great mass of true-blue Americans throughout the country combine in an overwhelming defeat of the men and the party who have been responsible for endangering their liberties of a century. The Republican party awaits with confidence the outcome of a national campaign based upon the league covenant.

Michelin and Goodyear Tires and Tubes

Tuesday morning Mr. Monroe Wyatt brought in to us a Michelin Casing purchased from us on October 4, 1918, and which he stated had run at the least calculation 15,000 miles. We put a card on the tire stating this fact and placed it in front of our garage. A few hours later we noticed written on the card "This is a Lie." We don't wonder that it is inconceivable to certain people that such is the case—still "facts is facts." We say that "Michelin Tires and Tubes are the Cheapest Mileage."

AFTER EFFECTS OF MEASLES MADE HIS STOMACH VERYBAD

He would bloat up after meals, full of sour gas, was constipated liver was sluggish, and was very nervous.

RELIEF IN TWO BOTTLES.

Dreco, the root and herb remedy, gave very quick relief, and now he is well of his troubles.

"I had a spell of measles which sure put my stomach on the bum," and it looked like I was never going to get straight again," writes Mr. Clarence Robinson of Spring Hill, Ala., a suburb of Mobile.

"My nerves were on edge all the time and I could get no sleep my bowels were badly constipated and I had to take medicine constantly for that trouble. I had a dull, aching pain in my back, over my kidneys; my liver was lazy, and I frequently had billous attacks and headaches. My stomach seemed unabled to digest my food, and it lay heavy and fermented, causeing foul gases to fill me up."

"I was in this condition when I began taking Dreco, the new medicine, which was being so widely prased and it has done even more for me than I was told it would do.My strength has returned; Isleep sound, the constipation is all gone, as also the pains in my back, and my liver is active angin. I now eat big, hearty meals, and nothing ever disagrees with me.Dreco is different from any medicine I ever took, and I tell you it is fine too."

It is highly important for the bowels to keep active; that the kidneys do not become deranged, that the liver supplies the proper secretions to the stomach, so that digestion may de perfect.

Dreco, the natural herb medicine acts on thesevital orgas, toing them up so that they perform their duties as Nature intends they should.

Dreco is now sold by all modern druggists throughout the country and is highly recommended in Clanton by Upchurch Drug Co.

MARCUS - KELLEMS

A wedding of much interest to Clanton and Chilton County was solemnized at the First Christian Church of Birmingham Saturday, June 7th, at eight-thirty o'clock, when Claud E. Marcus and Miss Vivien Kellems were united in marriage.

The wedding was the outcome of a romance which begun two months ago when Mr. Marcus and Miss Kellems met at a conference of Campaign managers in Birmingham during the recent Salvation Army Campaign, both Mr. Marcus and Miss Kellens being Campaign Managers in North Alabama.

Mr. Marcus will be remembered in Clanton as the son of Dr. and Mrs. T. J. Marcus of this city, while Miss Kellems is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. D. C. Kellems of Eugene, Ore.

After a brief honeymoon at gulf resorts, Mr. and Mrs. Marcus will make their home in Birmingham, where Mr. Marcus holds a responsible position with Organization Service Company, Inc.

Mrs. Irene Rasberry and little daughter, Eloise, are visiting relatives in Birmingham this week.

THE MAPLE SPRINGS SINGING

Please publish the following program of the singing at Maple Springs which was held last Sunday, June 15.

The congregation was called to order with song by Bro. O. L. Devaughn after which Rev. E. A. Norris envoked the blessings of God on the day's service. Organization immediately followed by electing Rev. E.A. Norris chairman and J. Z. Mims, secretary. The chairman appointed a committee on arrangement consisting of W. M. Devaughn, A. A. Bierd and A. P. Vinson.

O. L. Devaughn, L. T. Grant, W. M. Devaughn and A A. Bierd directed the singing for 15 minutes each, then J. C. Jones, Alfonzo Cleckler, A. C. Neeley and R. L. Grant directed 3 songs each.

Rev. E. A. Norris gave a 15 minutes lecture on music after which a recess of one hour and 30 minutes, during which time if there were any one who failed to satisfy his appetite, surely it was his fault.

Directors for the p.m. were S. M. Yates, W. G. Culp, Monroe Smith and Amie Boswell, 3 songs each.

Then there was a short talk by N. J. Calloway, after which Mr. Jasper Robinson, Stanley Jones and Mack Boswell directed fifteen minutes each.

After singing "Jesus Savior Pilot Me," directed by W. M. Devaughn, the congregation was dismissed by Rev. W. H. Wilson.

The organists for the day were Ralph Grant, Amie Boswell, A.A. Bierd, Mrs. Grace Wood and Miss Toy Littlejohn. J. Z. MIMS.

BOY SCOUTS ORGANIZING

The Boy Scout Movement is spreading over Chilton County.

Last Friday night Scout Master W. O. Rich and W. J. Armstrong, accompanied by 15 of the Clanton boy scouts went to Thorsby and met an enthusiastic assembly of Thorsby citizens at the Masonic Halll. After several rousing speeches by Thorsby citizens the matter of organizing the Thorsby Troop was taken up. Ten members were enrolled, and the work started off under very promising conditions.

Saturday afternoon Rich and Armstrong went to Jemison and organized a troop with thirteen members. Howard Roper is Scout Master.

The spreading of the scout movement over the county is developing a friendly rivalry among the boys of the different troops. Thorsby and Jemison already declare that they will not stand for Clanton being ahead of them in the scout movement. And Clanton will lnot allow these places to go ahead in the work. So you may expect something doing in the scout work now.

FARMING TOUR

County Farm Demonstrator W.H. Conway is preparing something that will be very valuable and interesting to those who care to participate in it. The scheme is something like this. To get up a party of about a dozen farmers of Chilton County and make a tour of the southern part of the State on a trip of inspection of dairy and stock farms. In this our farmers could be introduced to the practical side of this progressive and money-making mode of farm operation that is being so successfully carried on by many farmers in the southern counties of the state. Mr. Conway now has the planning of the tour under advisement with the state farm speciallists at Auburn. If you want to take your flivver and go along just see Mr. J. N. Dennis or the Editor of the Union-Banner, and express your desire and you will be notified of the details of the trip in due time. It is going to be well worth your time and might result in much good to you. Think about it.

SAMARIA NEWS

On last Saturday night the death angel visited the home of Mr. Will Hix of Prattville and took away his loving wife. Her remains were laid to rest in the Marbury Cemetery.

The singing at Maple Springs was sure fine, and there was a large attendance and plenty of dinner.

Kin Vinson returned home Sunday from service with the army in France.

MARS HILL

Health is very good at present. Everybody is busy hoeing this week.

Mrs. C. W. Langston is back from an extended visit to Brompton and Birmingham. She reports a nice time.

Prof. Anderson of Billingsley is teaching a music school here, which is progresing nicely.

We have preaching at this place every First Sunday.

Mr. T. C. Cofer and wife spent Sunday with Miss Lillie Langston.

Buddie Ervin came home from France last week. He's looking fine.

There will be an all-day singing here the Fifth Sunday in this month; books to be used are "Crowns of Love. Everybody invited to come and bring some one with you.

The Union-Banner was delighted with a visit of Mr. Tom C. Gandy of Route 3 last Saturday. Mr. Gandy is one of our wide-awake citizens who reads carefully and studies the signs of the times carefully. He has his eyes open to some of the things that vitally concern people today. He was loud in his praise of The Union-Banner and we feel strengthened by the aid of such men.

Thos. J. Dorminey of Stumps Hills, County Commissioner of this county, was a visitor at the Union-Banner office Monday. He was here at the Commissioners Court in regard to some special business relative to the county' finances.

VEIL OF SECRECY WILL BE LIFTED AS TO MEXICO.

Resolution prepared Which Provides For Inquiry Into Situation

ADMINISTRATION IS SECRETIVE

American Public Mystified by Long Continued Turbulence and Lack of Policy

Washington, June 17, —With Angeles and Villa active in northern Mexico and constantly recuring reports of turmoil and turbulence in that country, of which American lives and property are the victims, there is growing demand for real light on Mexican conditions. The same policy of secrecy which is complained of with respect to the negotiations at Paris, has been pursued by the administration with respect to the internal conditions in Mexico and Mexican affairs generally.

Will Learn Facts

The viel of mystery which has surrounded the Mexican policy of the United States for the past six years is last to be removed and the public, for the first time, will be permitted to acsertain the fact; to learn why conditions in Mexico continue sod eplorable and the relations between Mexico and the United States are so unsatisfactory.

Exhaustive Inquiry

Representative Gould of New York has prepared a resolution, which will undoubtedly be adopted, providin for a joint committee of the Senate and House which will be empowered to make the most exhaustive inquiry into the countless phases of the Mexrcan Situation which have bewildered the public mind for the past few years. Here are a few of the questions which this special committee be directed to invesgitate:

1. The relations of the Government of the United States with the Republic of Mexico from the year 1910 until the date of the report.

2. The conditions are incidents leading up to, concerned in, or responsible for such relations.

3. The economic, Political and physical treatment accorded American and other foregin citizens in Mexico and elsewhere, as to their lives and properties in the Rebublic of Mexico subsequent to 1910.

4. The extent to which the gorernment of the United States has obligated itself for the collection or liquidation of private claims against the government or people of Mexico.

5. The policy and activity of the government in presenting and pressing claims of American citizens for loss of life and property by violence, confiscation, or legislation in seeming violation of international law.

6. The individual and factional responsibility for robbery, maltreatment and murder of Amercal citizens in Mexico and on continguous American territory.

The singing was opened with song by the Chairman and prayer by Prof. F. B. Wililams. The directors were Profs. W. P. Lowerya nd Sam Henley; organist was Miss Bettie Littlejohn. Some god talks were made by Profs. B. F. Wililams and Sam Henley.

The Society will meet again next First Sunday afternoon. We invite all who are interested in misuc to come and be with us.

NO WORD OF AMERICANISM

Washington, June 17.—The Republican Publicity Association, through its President, Hon. Jonathan Bourne, Jr., today gave out the following statement, from its Washington headquarters:

As a compendium of arrant hypocrisy, of slurring imputations upon the motives that actuated the heroes sleeping in the soil of France, and of almost blasphemous reference to the spirits of those brave boys, whom he put in the attitude or repudiating the liberties born under the Declaration of Independence, the Memorial Day address of the President stands supreme. Masquerading as a tribute to our soldier dead, the speech was nothing but another page of propaganda for his league of nations, reeking with denunciation ror those who have the temerity to oppose it, and calling down maledictions upon the nation that dares to asesrt its independence and refuse to subordinate itself to an association of foreign states.

"No one with a heart in his breast" began Mr. Wilson, "no American, no lover of humanity, can stand in the presence of these graves without the most profound emotion." But what followed conclusively showed that the "emotion" that actuated the President had nothing of patriotism in it, but was merely concern for the welfare of his precious league. In the very next sentence he struck into his oft-repeated line of argument that our armies fought for nothing particularly American; that our men gave their lives, rather, for the cause of humanity in general; and, in fact, died that the league of nations might come into being.

"Never before," continued the President, "have men crossed the seas to a foreign land to fight for a cause of humanity which they did not pretend was particularly their own. * * * These men did not come acress the sea merely to defeat Germany." How different is this attempted perversion of the motives animating our soldiers from statement to congress just before the declaration of war: "I advise that the congress declares the recent course of the Imperial German Government to be in fact nothing less than war against the government and people of the United States." Evidently it was a clear-cut issue between Germany and the United States, and it was to uphold our contentions in that cause that our soldiers gave their lives.

But not content with traducing our own boys, Mr. Wilson had the effrontery to tell his French audience that the soldiers of France had no particular concern about the invasion and destruction of their country. "They (our soldiers) are at home," he says, "sleeping with the spirits of those who thought the same thoughts and entertained the same aspirations." His statement taken by itself is everlastingly true, but, coming after his interpretation of the aspirations of the American boys, it is a horrid travesty upon the French heroes who laid down their lives in the defense of their remaining homes.

After correcting the popular impression as to why America and France fought, and having assured the world that those two countries, at least, struggled only to give life to his league, Mr. Wilson paid his respects to the nation that refuses to conduct itself according to the standards for which he says the Yanks and poilus laid down their lives.

"The nation," he threatened, "that shall now fling out of this common concord of counsel would betray the human race." Directed evidently at his own native land, the President made no allusion to our national independence that would be betrayed were we to consent to subjugate ourselves to the will of the rest of the world. Throughout this remarkable address, delivered over the graves of the men who died for their country, there is not a single word of patriotism, no reference whatever to Americanism, nothing of national pride of liberty and independence—the dominating notes throughout the United States on Memorial Day. Truly we have in the White House a remarkable man.

HAS TAFT LOST HIS STABILIZER

"Time was," says the statesman, "when Mr. Taft was haled as one of the greatest jurists of the nation, and at the conclusion of his terms in the White House was prominently mentioned for appointment to the Supreme Bench. He was credited with having a mind capable of reaching unerringly the truth, no matter how encumbered with language it might be; a knowledge of the Constitution that enabled him to apply its acid test to every proposition, and clearly expose any attempt to undermine our fundamental law; and a patriotic love of country second to none. In spite of his overwhelming defeat for reelection no one doubted the quality of his Americanism or questioned in his ability or the analytical powers of his intellect.

But Mr. Taft's mental gyrations since the covenant of the league of nations became the leading issue before the country has caused his countrymen to stand aghast, and his own friends to marvel at the change in the man. The astonishing statements that have come from his pen and that have been uttered by Mr. Taft in his almost daily speeches, have proved conclusively that his mental processes have undergone a change that is truly sad when one contemplates the upstanding American whom the Republicans sent to the White House to succeed the lamented Roosevelt.

In his capacity as President of the Leagne of Nations, Mr. Taft appears to have thrown facts and logic to the winds, and in the throes of his hysterical passion to engraft some sort of an international league upon his country resorts to any statement that he thinks will bring support to his cause. Confident assertion, apologetic recommendation of amendments, renewed declaration of the virtue of the league, have followed one another in succession of the virtue of the league, have followed one another in succession as the draft of the league covenant was born, died, and emerged once more to menace our national happiness. It would be an insult to American intelligence to dignify Mr. Taft'sutterances as argument .

"Mr. Taft's lucubrations on the Monroe Doctrine are sufficient indication of the hopelessness of his case. On January 17th, discussing the first draft of the league he said: Instead of imparilling it, it would strengthen the Monroe Doctrine, because in case of it's violation the obligations of the league would require all the great powers to unite in the maintenance of it."

"On March 7th, he directly reversed himself, and said, in effect, that not only would the doctrine not be strengthened but would be imperilled. Here are his words. 'It (the covenant) should be made more difinite by a larger reservation of the Monroe Doctrine.'

"When the new draft of the covenant was published Mr.Taft assured his audiences that 'The Monroe Doctrine is specifically recognized in the terms of the League by a provision that nothing in the league shall affect it.' Of course everybody who has read the covenant knows there is no such provision in it, and that it recognizes the validity not of the Doctrine but of engagements and understandingsthat may resemble it.

"The evidence of Mr. Taft's failure to reason logically furnished in his references to the Monroe Doctrine might be multiplied by quotations from almost every statement that he puts forth regarding the league. But let us draw the veil. one of the saddest outcomes of the war has been the reduction of our only ex-President to such a level."

Mr. W. W. Fox has the right idea about our Fourth of July Celebration for our soldiers in Clanton. He says that it must be made the very best possible, and that Clanton cannot afford to be satisfied with any halfway business about thrs occsion. Mr. Fox rightly contends that Chilton is the County of our soldier boys who went to war and Clanton is their town; it is up to us to show them on the Fourth that we mean what we say. Get the Fox spirit of the first and best for Clanton in everything and our town will be the better by our having such opinion of ourselves. We will make the Fourth in Clanton on long to be remembered by the people of the County.

THE UNION-BANNER

PREDICTS SUCCESS OF REPUBLICANS IN 1920

JERSEY SENATOR SAYS CONGRESS WILL LIVE UP TO ITS PROMISES MADE TO PEOPLE.

For Generations Republican Party Provided Prosperity for the People and Peace to the Nation, at Same Time Compelling Respect and Admiration of Foreign Nations.

Washingon, June 24.—The new Republican Senator rom New Jersey, former Governor Walter E. Edge, believes that Republican success in 1920 is easily within reach if the legislatife branch of the Government keeps faith with the public, and he further believes that effective efforts are being made to live up to the promises which have been made He said to-day:

"Apparently, the only political element that can beat the Republicans in 1920 is the Republican party itself, and I do not yet see any tendency toward a brainstorm which might move it to self-destruction. On the contrary—probably, never has it been more sane and level-headed than in these 'piping times of peace,' or times of piping peace. Indeed it mas this traditional and hereditary sanity in the party which moved the people of the land to entrust to it the tremendous task of readjustment legislation and the solution of the political, economic and humanitarian problems which confront Uncle Sam after his successful fight with Prussia.

Will Ease the Burden.

"The Republican party last fall, and its leaders in Congress immediately after the election, promised the people to do certain things—to ease the burden of supertaxataion, to simplify and to make practical and practicable the national policies of taxation, to rescue the telephone and ttelegraph systems from imminent ruin under government, or rather, Administration mismanagement; to restore the railroads to their own ers under adequate but not undue supervision by the people, who are the Government, and these tasks it has already undertaken in a business-like manner. President Wilson indeed, thought so highly of the Republican policies that he recommended several of them in his recent message from the capital of France to the American Congress, but the general outline of the work already had been framed, even before this message was ever penned. There are many other numbers on the Republican program, and I believe that in 1920 the people will accord it an encore that will keep it on the stage for years to come.

"The loss of Colonel Roosevelt to the party, as to the Nation, was serious and deplorable, but Colonel Roosevelt himself would be the first to say that it was not irreparable. First, carefully hiding my own light under a bushel, I would say that the brains of the nation are conspicuous in the Republican party, and also it seems to have about all the backbone For generations the Republican party provided prosperity for the people, and peace for the nation, at the same time compelling the respect and admiration of other countries; it still is the same party, with the same character of membership. As the older generations have passed the rising generations have taken their places keeping fully abreast with the progress of the world, and of the national thought and sentiment and changing conditiions.

"One cannot well, in a few words, cite the great questions of the day, nor discuss the best methods for the solution of them; suffice to say the Republican party is not blind to a single oneo f these questions, on any line whatsoever, and that it will handle them successively in a manner which will redound to the welfare of the people, and convince them that they were fully justified in entrusting the conduct of their government —the people's government, mind you; not any individual's or clique's or section's or political party's—to the Republicans."

JUDGE REYNOLDS ASKS PEOPLE TO HELP MAKE THE FOURTH A SUCCESS

We want to have an old time barbecue the Fourth; we want everybody to come and enjoy the day. Let's all show our soldier boys that we appreciate what they have done. When the horrors of war were at their height, when the world stood aghast, and the defenders of civilization were almost over-whelmed our boys plunged into the hottest of the fight and snathched victory from the jaws of the Huns.

We hope that every boy who entered the service together with his fatheir, mother, brother and sisters will be here. I am sure the committee from each beat will do their duty in raising funds to help to pay for the barbecue, so there will be enough for all.

Good speakers will be here to entertain the crowd and we want our own boys to have something to say as it will be their day, and let's make it the greatest day of rejoicing old Chilton has ever had. Let's lay aside our work and business and all unite in making our boys feel like they are welcome back home.

I want to appeal to the committees which have been appointed in the different beats, to meet at the Courthouse Saturday, June 28th at 10 o'clock, A.M., and I urge that they bring a good report with them from the respective beast, as this iss not a "Clanton affair," but for the county, and the whole county must help bear the expense in order to make the occasion the success which we want it to be.

L. H. REYNOLDS, Chm.

REPUBLICAN SENATOR MAKES PUBLIC SUPRESSED DOCUMENT

Washington, June 23.—Believing that if there are to be "open covenants openly arrived at" it is best to begin arriving, Senator Borah of Idaho has put into the record in the Senate a copy of the peace treaty

Senator Borah obtained his copy, he said, from Frazier Hunt, a Chicago Tribune newspaper man. The Senate voted 47 to 27 in favor of the publication of the treaty.

Meantime, as if to make more absurd the efforts of the administration to suppress the treaty, the Chicago Tribune printed it before it was put into the Senate record.

Moreover, a Paris newspaper, according to cables, has printed it. The treaty is distributed in Germany.

The Senate foreign relations committee has begun investigation to find out how the treaty got into the hands of Wall Sareet interests. The president cabled Senator Hitchcock it was "highly undesirable" to communicate the text of the dcoument and urged investigation of the "leak."

MICKIE SAYS

GET READY NOW TO COME TO THE SOLDIERS CELEBRATION AND BARBECUE AT CLANTON ON THE FOURTH OF JULY

Arrangements Being Made for Biggest Celebration in History of Chilton County in Honor of our Soldiers in the Recent World War.

BARBECUE, BASEBALL, AIRPLANES, MUSIC, SPEAKING.

The plans for the Chilton County Soldiers Memorial Celebration and Barbecue at Clanton July the Fourth are well under way, and everything points to a grand sucess of the occasion. The air is fulll olf talk about the big day and word comes from every corner of the county that the people will be here to join in the celebration.

The committees in charge are at work with full force this week and by next Saturday it is expected that everything will be lined up in good shape.

The permanent organization has been perfected with the following committees:

Central Committee, L. H. Reynolds Chairman, W. M. Wyatt, Secretary, and W. B. Corley Treasurer; Committee on location of grounds, N.A. Kicker Chairman, M. D. Foshee, Grady Reynolds; Committee on purchase and barbecue, J. C. Jones Chairman, P. T. Hinkle, Durwood Broadhead, W. W. Fox and J. B. Downs; Commiittee to arrange Table. Joe Gore Chairman.

The following Beat Committees have been selected to solicit contributions from people in their respective Beats to help pay the expenses of the barbecue:

Beat 1, C. B. Cox, J. Mat Mahan; Beat 2, Tom Hand, T. C. Cofer, B. E. Collum; Beat 3, R. J. Williams, D. O. Manning; Beat 4, J. D. Collins, W. I. Mullins; Beat 5, R.L. Duffey, H.B. Oliver, E. A.: Norris; Beat 6, R. N. Wilkins, R. F. Atkinson; Beat 7, J. B. Hicks, Ralph Calloway, C. N. Parnell; Beat 8, W. C. Dyer, T. G. Milling; Beat 9, A. P. Oslin, A. F. Childress, R. L. Carter; Beat 10, A. P. Vinson, Tom Allen, Tom Rockett; Beat 11, R. E. Jones, Lee Smith; Beat 12, T. J. Dorminey, S. J. Dupriest; Beat 13, W. G. Conway, J. B. Moore, W. D. Nix; Beat 14, T. J. Hubbard, W. D. Nix; Beat 15, W. D. Burnett, W. H. Hayes, W. J. Murse; Beat 16, J. M. Parrish, Sr., Lee Robinson.

The committees in discussing the matter have reached the conclusion that it would be the most satisfactory generally to have just a barbecue and not rely on basket dinners. We believe the people over the county had rather pay a small amount of money and have a good barbecue than to tax the women folks with the duty of prepring basket dinner and bringing it. So the committees in charge urge that people donate what they feel like paying to the committees in the Beats and come on the Fourth and be fed by the barbecue. By co-operating in this way the barbecue can be made ample without the baskets.

Clanton has already put up $500 to help pay the expenses of the barbecue and will come with some more. It will take over a thousand dollars in all. About $50 from each Beat will make sufficient to put the thing over in the best of style. As it is a county affair the people are urged to chip in and help. All the people will want to be here on the Fourth to partake of the good things and we are sure that every community in the county will be willing to pay its part and then come here on the 4th and enjoy the barbecue. It will be much easier for the people to pay a small amount than to prepare a basket. The ladies would rather come here and enjoy the day at a barbecue than to be bothered about cooking their own dinner.

As this occasion is gotten up primarily to honor our returned soldiers, it is especially urged that every one of Chilton County's soldiers be here. Chilton County is going to open her hearts to you boys on that great National Independence Day. Put on your khaki and come to Clanton and enjoy yourselves. It is your day and we want you to feel free to enjoy it to the fullest extent.

PREDICTS GREAT REPUBLICAN VOTE FROM MISSOURI STATE

Soldiers and their Families Will Side-Step Democratic Party, Says Chairman.

Washington, June 24.—"The Soldier boys and the soldier boy's family are going to put the State of Missouri in the Republican column in the presidential election of 1920," said W. L. Cole, chairman of the Republican state committee of Missouri, today: "Missouri would have gone Republican in 1916 except for the slogan 'He kept us out of War.' We are in better condition than ever just now, after electing five Republicans to the lower house of Congress, and a Republican to the United States Senate. In three other congressional districts Democrats were elected by the barest majority, and if the presidential election were to be held today we would carry the state by a tremendous majority."

Miss Dorothy Butler of Thorsby, accompanied by her father, Dr. E.W. Butler, was in Clanton Wednesday. They visited The Union-Banner to have a look at our plant and see the Linotype machine do some of its amusing stunts.

MOVE TO OUST OFFICIAL SAID TO HAVE A STRONG BACKING

Believed that Resolutions would be Offered by A.F. of L. Calling Upon President to Remove P. M. General from His Office

CONGRESS MAY INVESTIGATE

Washington, June 23.—Although Postmaster General Burleson is understood to be laboring under the notion he has his opponents "down," there is reason to believe he has some bad hours ahead.

It is the understanding here that resolutions will be offered at the forthcoming annual convention of the American Federation of Labor calling on the president to remove Postmaster General Burleson. The resolution will have strong backing from postoffice employees, telegraph employees and telephone employees. Further than merely asking removal the resolutions will suggest that if Mr. Burleson is not removed by the president, then the House ought to look into the affairs of the Postoffice department with a view to finding out whether impeachment proceedings are warranted.

The belief here is that the A.F. of L. will pass resolutions demanding removal. It is known the sentiment in the organization is strong for the ousting of the postmaster general. The passage of the resolutions would be embarassing for the president and there is talk that some of those close to the administration will try to head them off.

That Mr. Burleson is eventually to be made the "goat" and mustered out with permission to proceed down toward San Marcos, Texas, for a long sojourn is fully expected here. He has done many things the administration wanted him to do but the men who are closest now to the president and the handling of Democraic politics feel that his usefulness has ended and he is a heavy millstone on the neck of the party.

If Mr. Burleson were from a doubtful state, he would have more chance of remaining in office. As it is, the Democratic National Committee leaders figure Texas as theirs anyhow. Storm warnings from Paris, put out through administration organs, indicate Col. House has abandoned Mr. Burleson. Those who run may read what is coming.

In case postmaster general Burleson is forced out of the Cabinet, in accordance with the wishes of powerful elements in the Democratic natinoal committee, several possibilities are mentioned to succeed him. Former Senator James Hamilton Lewis is one of them.

Secretary to the President Joseph P. Tumulty is much mentioned in gossip which is current at the capitol.

WASTE MUST STOP IF BUSINESS DEVELOPS

REPUBLICAN LEADER DECLARE THAT WASTE IN GOVERNMENT MUST BE HALTED QUICKLY.

Present Reckless Disregard of Costs Absorbs Capital Which Would Go Into New Enterprises Calling for Increased Employment of Labor.

Washington, June 24—Banking and financial houses of prominence in their comments on trade and business conditions through the country speak of the relatively light business in relation to construction and development. It is pointed out by financial authorities that at last one imporant reason is the high taxes and government loans take up accruing new capital, or much of it, which, otherwise would be available for new enterprises.

Now, while it is quite impossible for right-thinking Americans to refuse to go ahead energetically regardless of drawbacks, members of Congress who are keeping in close study of financial and business conditions through the country point out that it is to interest of the general public that money be put into new enterprises freely and that here is a strong reason why there should be economy in administration of the government and cessation of that waste which has become a habit in many of the government department and bureaus. They point out further in this connection that every time a government official engages in either waste or that government extravagance which is first cousin to waste, or in expenditures which might be to advantage put off to another more normal date, to that extent taxes are swelled and the sale of more government bonds or certificates made neditures make for higher taxes and sorbed which would otherwise go into new enterprises, calling for more employment of men and women.

This is a view of the matter which unfortunately, a great many people have not paused to take. In other words, while they realize in a general way that needless government expendtures make for higher taxes and more burdens on the average man and woman, they do not always realize that in the wake of such waste there follows a chain of economic efforts which are to say the least, not for the best interests of the public, either for the worker, the employer, the consumer or any considerable element of the people generally.

Congress Must Act.

It has long been clear to the ablest men in the appropriations committees of congress that economy in government expenditures cannot be secured in only one way, by congress compelling the departments and bureaus to economize. Neither from the White House nor any of the officials in the executive branch of the government is there insistency on economy. It is to be noted there is a marked difference between insistence on economy and perfunctory expressions that economy is desirable.

One of the real reasons why there is so much practical difficulty in evolving a budget system is that every man in congress who has studied appropriations deeply knows that the tendency of the administration officials is away from economy instead of toward it.

Too Many Employees.

"I know perfectly well that an enormous number of unnecessary government employees are being kept on the rolls in and out of Washington," said Senator Smoot of the Senate appropriations committee today. "I also know that we cannot depend on the departments to make reductions either in salary rolls or other expenditures. There is just one way to enforce economy and that is for congress to compel it. The initiative must come from Congress. It won't come from any other quarter of the government."

Notwithstanding the Democratic press has a great deal to say about factional differences in the Republican ranks, somehow or other these differences never amount to much in these days of ever brightening hopes for the Republican party.

Citizens of Shoults community have instituted a novel scheme in road working for July 7th. We expect from the outline of the plans furnished us this week by Mr. C. T. Walker that there will be plenty of fun along with the work, which is quite all right, as all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy. Other parts of the county might well adopt this plan.

The devout profiteers of this country are praying that the League of Nations may become a reality. For in it he sees certain visions of another war in the future, and he knows that under the league this country must be a party to the conflict of the future, no matter in what corner of the earth they are. With another war coming and America involved, these profiteers will reap another harvest of golden shekels.

Next week The Union-Banner will publish a special Fourth of July edition in connection with a booster number for the Soldiers Celebration and Barbecue. By that time the program for the celebration will be completed and we will publish it in full, giving all the details that are to be included in the day's activities. Get ready now to come on that day. It will be the biggest Fourth we have ever had in these diggins.

The committee on purchase and barbecue for the Fourth has already bought a big herd of nice fat goats which will be devoured on that day. Barbecued lamb is about the best thing we ever tackled in that line. There will be a nice juicy piece of meat and a slice of bread for every person in Clanton on the Fourth. If you are not coming to get yours, you might let the editor of The Banner know about it and we will see that it is eaten by somebody.

The Union-Banner desires to commend the action of several communities in the county that have canceled local programs for the Fourth in deference to the Soldiers' Day at Clanton. The barbecue and celebration at Clanton is intended to be a county affair and it is right that all the communities should come here and help in the occasion. Every locality has soldiers who have returned from the war and those soldiers should be honored by their home communities partaking of and helping out in the county celebration here.

Will the Democrats hang their hopes of victory on Wilson radicalism, socialism and internationalism next year? Remember while you are thinking on the possibility of such a thing, that the Democratic National Committee in its recent meeting at Chicago, declared that it regarded President Wilson as another Lincoln and approved unqualifiedly of everything he has done since he went to Paris. This declaration may show the bent of mind of the Democratic leaders.

Last Friday in the Senate Mr. Sherman of Illinois delivered a very masterful speech on the subject: "The Ecclesiastical Power in the League of Nations." He showed by facts of history in connection with the Roman Catholic Church that there is a deliberate purpose on the part of the Pope to manipulate the League of Nations so that it will give the Catholic Church powers to control the affairs of State throughout the world.

Many Senators will scoff at the idea presented by Senator Sherman. They will decry any effort to consider the powers of the vatican under the League of Nations. When in fact that phase of the subject—the purposes of Rome—should be the main consideration in the whole matter. The detriment of the ideals of Americanism that will come through the Pope's power in the League is one of the gravest objections that can be raised against the schemes. Yet some traitorous Catholics in our Senate will rise up in holy horror and declare that religious considerations must not enter the discussion of the League. A man who will not fight the power of Rome in the League should be kicked out of Congress without any ceremony at all.

That the League is a Democratic issue is now generally conceded, but not a few are wondering that Taft, Wickerman and Burton can mean by running around over the country speaking for the covenant, if they are still Republicans. The next thing will be, "What is a Republican? and the answer will be an opponent of the League of Nations.

The Alabama Press Association is in session this wek at Andalusia. We look for Editor Hill of the Ensley Enterprise to present a resolution to the Association endorsing President Wilson for a third term and supporting the League of Nations. If he does his fellows in crime of the other Democratic papers will open their mouths and swallow it down as per directions on the bottle.

Wilson has ben accustomed to feeding the Democrats of Congress and the nation out of a spoon for the past few years. He has been going out as the mother macking bird and gathering in the fresh juicy worms and grass hoppers and upon his return to the official nest at Washington he found Congressmen and Senators and Cabinet officers and bureau chiefs with their slender necks stretched forth and their gullible mouths wide open to receive whatever was brought them to swallow. None ever questioned what was brought for them to eat. Mr. Wilson is now off on the biggest wild goose chase he ever engaged in. He will return soon, and instead of bringing a nice juicy worm to feed his young ones with, this time it is going to be a big red spider; and woe unto the little bird in the Senate who pokes out his neck and swallows the thing without asking or knowing what it is.

We ask you to read the following illuminating paragraph copied from The Ensley Enterprise, and if you can, pity the poor deluded numbskull who wrote it:

"President Wilson, animated by a fair reason, requested that the uncompleted Peace Treaty should not be given to the public; the Republicans, disregarding his request and had it published. This goes to show what contempible means this disreputable party will do to carry their point against President Wilson, the greatest man in the world today. The League of Nations is no political question, but is for the good of mankind, and President Wilson is doing all in his power to save the world from wars. Give the Republican party enough rope and they will hang themselves. You can take the brains of Borah, Lodge and others of their like, and put them together and President Wilson has more brains than all of them. These disgruntled Republicans can pull their hair out with rage, but President Wilson will treat them with silent contempt, and will come out victorious. They will always fail when they try to put President Wilson in a hole, because he is right in all his dealings."

A man who is fool enough to believe such junk as this and try to make other folks believe it has not got any more brain than a wild African who has never been captured.

It is always an interesting period at the capitol when a party which has been in control for a number of years is reduced to the status of the minority, and, as a result, is compelled to turn over to the victors all the legislative machinery, and pomp and dignity, and not a few creature comforts in which they have revelled for so long. It is only natural, perhaps, that they should have come to look upon most of these accoutremnts of power as their inalienable property, and so it is not surprising that the enforced separation is sometimes a very painful process.

Almost anyone would know that something had gone awry with the Democratic party in Congress merely by looking in upon the House of Representatives and seeing the venerable and beloved Champ Clark, late Speaker of that body, sitting quietly on one of the long benches on the Democratic side instead of occupying the big and comfortable chair on the Speaker's dias which he filled for so many years. Other signs of Democratic disaster may also be seen by looking into the ornate cammittee rooms which heretofore have been presided over almost exclusively by gentlemen from the South, but now are tenanted by the lately victorious Republicans. It is the surrender of these spacious committee rooms perhaps, that brings the greatest pang to the vanquished party, for it means that they must now retire to considerably smaller quarters in the rather austere office building of the House of Representatives.

It is doubtless a trying period for certain Democrats, who enjoy the power and the comforts that flow from party control in Congress, but to others it represents a welcome shifting of burdens that have become increasingly heavy during the last few sessions and they sit back in their new modest surroundings with a soothing philosophy to the effect that all is not gold that glitters.

THE SINGING AT FLOYD

Following is the program which was rendered at the all day singing at Floyd last Sunday, June 22:

The congregation was called to order with song by Bro. A. A. Bierd, after which Bro. Lamar Jones envoked the blessings of God on the day's service. Organization was immediately effected by electing Rev. E. B. Prickett chairman. The chair then appointed a committee on arrangement consisting of A.A. Beaird, A.L. Robinson, Prof. Zed Mims.

Directors for the forenoon were J. M. Williams, A. L. Robinson, J. M. Taylor, Amie Boswell, A.A. Beaird, R. T. Grant, three songs each. Recess 15 minutes. W. M. Devaughn, L. T. Grant, E. F. Taylor, Lee Robinson, three songs each. Rev. B. F. Dykes gave some good thoughts on the Word of God at 11 o'clock, which we were glad to hear. A delicious and bountiful dinner was served.

The singing was resumed at 1:30 o'clock; directors for the afternoon were, J. W. Cagle, Ocie Devaughn, Jessie Jones, R. C. Taylor, Ervin Hollan, Ralph Grant, three songs each.

Recess fifteen minutes. A quartet was rendered by W. M. Devaughn, R. T. Grant, A. A. Beaird and Jim Robinson. W. M. Boswell, A. C. Neeley, W. J. Little, three songs each.

Organists for the day were A. A. Beaird, Ralph Grant, Lee Robinson, Amie Boswell, Mrs. Perley Hughes, Miss Dora Jones, Miss Amie Hand, Mrs. Bell Cagle, Miss Beatrice Little.

After singing "Jesus Savior Pilot me," directed by A.A. Beaird, the congregation was dismissed by Rev. E. B. Prickett.

Everybody seemed to enjoy themselves in the song service and we had a large crowd and good behavior so far as I know.

J. M. Taylor, Secretary.

STRONG SENTIMENT FOR RATIFICATION

FEDERAL AMENDMENT TO CONSTITUTION GRANTING EQUAL SUFFRAGE RECEIVING MUCH ATTENTION OVER STATE.

ALABAMA MAY BE THE FIRST SOUTHERN STATE TO RATIFY

State Legislature to Pass on Federal Suffrage Amendment.

When the Alabama Legislature meets on July 8th, it will be its duty, under the Constitution of the United States, to take action on the nineteenth amendment to the National Constitution, which was passed by Congress June 4th, and which is thereafter presented to each State Legislature as it meets.

This amendment, called the "Suffrage Amendment," reads as follows:

Section 1. "The right of citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any State on account of sex."

Sec. 2. "The Congress shall have power by appropriate legislation, to enforce the provisions of said act."

The amendment will become law as soon as it is ratified by the legislatures of 36 States. Six have already ratified—Illinois, Wisconsin, Ohio, Michigan, New York and Kansas. The three latter, having called special sessions of the Legislature in order to do so. No State has as yet rejected the amendment, and the National American Woman Suffrage Association is sure of more than the necessary 36 ratifications as soon as opportunity is given the Legislatures.

First Southern State to Ratify.

Alabama is expected to have the glory of being the first Southern State to ratify. Nothing in the Suffrage Amendment will interfere with the existing voting qualifications (except that of sex) in this State. The voting qualifications in Alabama at present are as follows: The voter must be a male; he must be 21 years of age or over; he must have resided in the State, county and precinct a stipulated length of time he must register, and in order to register, he must pay a poll tax, and must either be able to read or write, or he (or his wife) must be paying taxes on $300.00 in real or personal estate. If the Suffrage Amendment is ratified, not one of the above qualifications of a voter will be changed, except the first—the word "male" will be stricken out.

It will easily be seen that the race question cannot become an issue in this matter, because of the fact that the same qualifications which now insure the control of the male negro vote will apply with equal force to the female negro vote when the amendment goes into operation. Opinions from several prominent constitutional lawyers of this State to the above effect have been made public.

Sentiment throughout the State is very strong in favor of ratification. The general feeling is that Alabama women are as deserving of the franchise and are as able to exercise it judicially as are the women of other States, and the opportunity offered by the Suffrage Amendment to right a great wrong on a nation-wide scale is warmly welcomed by the hosts of liberal minded citizens of the State.

Prominent Citizens Urge Ratification.

Champions of ratification are not lacking upon the prominent men in public life in Alabama. State Suffrage Headquarters is in receipt of many endorsements of ratification from leaders of thought in all sections. Two ex-Governors of the State, Honorable Emmet O'Neal and Honorable B. B. Comer of Birmingham, have expressed themselves as unqualifiedly in favor of ratification. Other urgent supporters are John H. Wallace, Jr., of Montgomery, State Fish and Game Commissioner, Brooks Lawrence of Fairhope, Honorable James Weatherly, prominent Birmingham constitutional lawyer; H. P. Burruss and John R. Hornady, of the City Commission of Birmingham; Robinson Brown and Honorable W. B. Oliver, of Tuscaloosa; W. D. Nesbitt, of Birmingham, chairman of the State Democratic Executive Committee; A. G. Patterson, of Albany, and John D. McNeel, of Birmingham, members of the committee; Fred Thompson, editor of the Mobile Register; Rev. W. B. Crumpton, president of the Anti-Saloon League, of Montgomery; Jack Cranford and L. B. Musgrove, of Jasper; Judge S. D. Weakley, of Birmingham; Thomas E. Huey, Dr. G. B. Vines, N. R. Baker, R. G. Hewitt and T. G. York, of Jefferson County, and numerous others.

Women of State Eager for Ratification.

From every section in the State demands are coming from women for the ratification of the Suffrage Amendment. In a recent statement, Mrs. John D. McNeel, State Chairman of the Suffrage Ratification Committee, says:

"As the question of Woman Suffrage is one of the most vital now occupying the attention of the civilized world, it is safe to assume that all intelligent people are interested in the discussion of it. We are convinced that a careful study of the question of the amendment will prove that ratification would leave our election laws intact, with the single exception of the word 'male'; that all other qualifications for suffrage would remain as at present, and would apply to women in every respect as they do to men, including, of course, the educational, property and poll tax qualifications. The Nineteenth Amendment gives the Federal Government no power over State election laws, provided there is no discrimination because of sex."

WAR HEROES WILL GET RECOGNITION

MEMORIAL ROLL OF HONOR TO BE PERPETUATED

CAMPAIGN BEGINS JUNE 27

Every Person in the State Will Be Given Opportunity to Help Erect Building.

Three patriotic Alabamians have joined the $100,000 club for the memorial at the capitol to the soldiers, sailors, marines and others of this state who contributed to the winning of the war. Fred J. Cramton, of Montgomery, has joined with Senator John A. Rogers, of Sumter, and L. B. Musgrove, of Walker, in an offer to give $1,000 to the fund, provided a total of 100 persons will make contributions of the same amount in the campaign June 27 to July 4. In announcing his offer, Mr. Cramton, who is a lumber manufacturer and dealer on a large scale, thus summarized his views on the campaign:

No Slackers in Alabama.

"I was too old myself to join the ranks of the active fighters, but I am proud to have had a part in every war activity at home, and having a part, I know just how enthusiastically and splendidly our men and women at home labored that the boys at the front might be cheerful and might make good.

"I believe that Alabama had fewer slackers, indeed if any, than any other section of the country.

Preserve the Records.

"Now that the war is over, and we are in the thick of reconstruction, while our hearts are full of gratitude, I hold that it is both a privilege and duty to take care of the record which has been made. In no way can it be done save through some adequate memorial agency. The legislature has created a commission. The commission has decreed that a splendid memorial building shall have a fitting site on Capitol Hill. In that building the imperishable records of our sons and daughters are to be preserved."

American Legion to Help.

The American Legion, which will be composed of soldiers, sailors, marines and yeomanettes, will be organized in every county within the State on Saturday, June 28, the day after the Alabama Memorial Campaign begins, and both Colonel Bibb Graves, of Montgomery, the State Chairman of the League, and LeRoy Jacobs, of Birmingham, State Secretary, are urging that the first act of the posts to be formed at the various county seats shall be to join the other citizens of their respective counties in a monster celebration of the Glorious Fourth, which has a new and tenderer significance for all Americans. The members and eligibles of the Legion also have been urged to assist in every possible way in the campaign for funds with which to build an appropriate and lasting memorial to those who served in and during the war; to perpetuate in marble or bronze the names of those who were killed or wounded and those who performed deeds of unusual heroism.

Memorial Honor Roll.

State headquarters is giving careful instructions to all county campaign managers and their assistants to see that the name of every contributor is made a matter of record, together with the amount given. This information will be collected, inscribed, bound and preserved within the Memorial Building, so that every city, precinct and county can see in the years to come just what their own people did to make the construction of this building and the perpetuation of the State's war efforts the great success that it is certain to be. The part that Alabama labor played in the winning of the war will, it is stated, receive the monumental attention the subject deserves in the allotment of space and treatment within the building. Woman's part in the war will form one of the most important chapters in the structure, which will be, in itself, a history.

Fourteen States have followed Alabama's lead in planning memorial buildings to honor their respective heroes in the world war. The campaign in Mississippi begins on June 27, and ends July 4, which is the same time as the Alabama campaign will be waged. The sum asked for in Mississippi is $500,000 which is the minimum amount sought in Alabama. This State has the advantage that the legislature appropriated $50,000 as the State's contribution to the building, and created a commission to take up the subject and carry it through, with a limited appropriation for campaign printing and expenes. The Mississippi legislature is expected to take similar action when it meets in January, 1920. Already there has arisen a keen rivalry between the States as to which shall first reach the minimum goal of $500,000 and which shall go farthest beyond that goal. "Make it a Million!" is the campaign cry in Alabama.

American Legion Will Help.

The Alabama Legislature will be asked by The American Legion to so amend the election laws that men who were absent from the State in the naval or military service shall not be denrived of a vote in the elections of 1920 by reason of their failure to pay poll taxes in their absence. It is not probable that the men who voted unanimously for the Alabama Memorial Bill, of which Speaker Henry Merritt is the author, will fail or refuse to find a way to give these men the opportunity they desire to express themselves in State primaries and general elections.

State Treasurer R. L. Bradley, at the State Capitol, Montgomery, is treasurer for the Alabama Memorial Campaign for the state at large, and Alabamians residing beyond the borders of the State who wish to make contributions to the Memorial Fund, may send their checks to the State Treasurer.

CULP SCHOOL HOUSE

As the health of this community is very good and the boys and girls are about done with their work in the fields, we shall begin our school on Monday, July 7, if not providentially hendered. Let me ask that we have as large an enrollment as possible on the first day and the very best of attendance throughout the school. If there ever was a time when boys and girls needed to give their attention to education it is now. I am sorry to say that I don't believe there has ever been a time since the beginning of our public school system when the education of the children in the rural districts was so greatly neglected as it is today. We have some real progressive rural schools, and we are all proud of them, but they are few in comparrison with the ones of the Oldern type. If we take a view at the majority of our rural schools we will see that they are practically the same as they were a half century ago. A little old one-roomed house, ugly in appearance, heated with an unprotected stove in the middle of the room, poorly ventilated, lighted with opposite rows of shadeless windows and seated with old shaky benches. The equipment is just about as poor an excuse as can be had. With these conditions still prevailing we cannot answer the present doy demands for education.

In the pioneer days the education received was meagre enough but it served its day. The life to be met then demanded a rouyh muscular endurance to be developed in the struggle for a scant livelihood from the untamed forests rather than to be spent in schools. The pioneer attended school where the "3K" were taught, plowed with a wooden plow, cut his grain with a scythe threshed it with frails and used ox carts principally for conveyance; but nevertheless these hard people survived, and in the meantime laid firmly the foundation of our great nation.

Since the pioneer days marvelous progress has been made in the whole industrial world. As you see the farmer using his improved implements, the chauffeur driving his car and the aviator flying in his aeroplane, you can't help but think of the wonderful changes and progress there has been made along these lines. Suppose you think seriously for a moment then look up the road toward "efficiency" and see what you can of the rural school teacher and his gang. Do you see any thing of them up that way? No; you'll have to get a microscope and look away right in the opposite direction to see anything of them at all. If space would permit, I would enumerate several facts about the development and requirements of some of our industries, but as it forbids, I will only show you some in the field of agriculture—the field where probably the greatest development has been made.

For a person to become a successful farmer he must know the different kinds of soil, know how to rotate his crops, how to cultivate, harvest and market them. He should have a fair knowledge of stock rasing, machinery and business matters.

What are our schools doing to educate your boys along these lines? Are you satisfied with what is being done? God pity the man who is. We must have schools that will answer the present day demands for educaton. Schools that will keep step with with the advancements in all our industries; and educate the boys of today for the farms of to day. They have a right to as good education as the city boy. They why not change up a little and give it to him. Until we do adjust things so they will get what is needed, we will continue to see them drop out by the wayside. Today our schools lose the greater per cent of its personnel by the time they reach the age of 10. This is astonishing to think about, but nevertheless it is true.

I shall say in conclusion that the old one-roomed school cannot fulfil the needs of the 20th century boy or giry, and we have no more needs for dragging along with them than ducks have need for swimming gourds when they go swimming.

MT. NEBO SINGING SOCIETY

The Mt. Nebo Singing Society held its regular meeting at Mt. Nebo church last Sunday with a large class and a few visitors, all of which we were proud to see.

The singing was opened by song and prayer by the chairman, Mr. S.A. Henley who directed a short lesson while the committee arranged a program.

We had an interesting solo rendered by Miss Everee Williams and a duet by Mrs. Eula Culp, Misses Ada and Mae Williams and Mrs. Ollie Williams.

The directors for the afternoon were Messrs William Cox, Eugene Williams, Olen Culp, Calvin Parrish, Sam Culp, Vonnie Culp, Iven Popwell and Blanco Durbin.

We had a short talk by Mr. Rufus Popwell which was very interesting to all the hearers.

The program was closed with a song and prayer by the chairman.

The society will meet again next Second Sunday. We cordially invite all singers and lovers of music to come and be with us.

OLLIE WILLIAMS, Secy.

Mr. Wilber Speer, who has been in France for nearly a year, is back home again. As usual, Wilber says that he "has got enough."

LITTLE GIRL KILLED BY AUTO TRUCK TUESDAY

Early Tuesday morning little Ruth Kate Thompson, age six, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lindsey Thompson, was run over and killed by a large auto truck. The child was crossing the street in front on the family residence in Elyton, when the big truck driven by a negro came speeding by and crushed the life out of the child. Her head was mashed very badly.

Before moving to Birmingham a few years ago, Mr. Thompson lived near Clanton. Many friends of the family here regret the sad news of the child's death and extend sympathy to the bereaved parents.

The body of the little girl was brought to Clanton Wednesday morning and was buried in the Clanton Cemetery.

TWO ARRESTED ON WHISKEY CHARGE LAST SATURDAY

Deputy Sheriff W. G. Culp last Saturday arrested George Traywick and Tom Hinton as they came across the river at Adams Ferry with a supply of moonshine whiskey. Traywick had a five-gallon keg and Hinton had a two-gallon jug. The officer had apprehended their purposes and movements and placed himself on this side of the river. When the two men came across in a boat and unloaded their cargo he took charge of them. A message was sent to Sheriff Gore at Clalnton who got in his car and quickly brought the prisoners to jail. Both are out on bond awaiting trial in the courts.

WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN HAS BROKEN LOOSE AGAIN

William Jennings Bryan, whom the people had almost forgot, has broken loose again. He has hatched up a legislative program for a Republican Congress that is sure enough some bird of a rare plumage. He states that it is the only thing that will save the country from chaos and many other awful things too numerous to mention. He gives us ony the introduction to his panacea, promising to deal out the rest of it to us as we can stand it. Naturally the one hundred and ten mililon Americans will wait gaspingly for the Nebraskan to delive himself of the full of his scheme to bring to life the corpse of a nation that was demanded and delivered by the Democratic party.

Mr. Bryan has a terrible nightmare as he beholds the terrible condition of the American people. He sees the heartless profiteers sucking the life-blood of their writhing victims, greedy eyes, taking the last pound of flesh of the toiling millions. He sees the colossal trusts, filling their capacious maws with billions of money that they are robbing the poor laboring man of, by cornering on every necessary of life and running the cost of living into the blue empyrean. He has been in the United States during these past six years and is just now seeing these terrible thing. Why has he not had his eyes open during these six years of Democratic high-handednes and cried aloud and spared not, demanding that the Democrats pass some legislation to curb these awful things? Why is it that he is just now realizing that the nation is on a toboggan slide, bound for perdition, since the Republicans have gained control of both houses of the Congress?

Mr. Bryan is a typical Democrat, true to form in every respect. He never does anything when he has the chance, save pad his own wallet, and after his opportunity has slipped thru his fingers he charges his negligence up to his opponents. He is a past-master at fashioning millenniums, formulating promises, denouncing and imploring. He was never known to deliver the goods, and he has progressed thus far on life's rugged pathway only on wind. No political demagogue, living or dead, ever pumped more hot air through his face than has William Jennings Bryan. Woodrow Wilson may have him 'skinned" when it comes to world dreaming, but Mr. Bryan takes the cake when it comes to hatching up panaceas that any sensible man knows would not work in a thousand years.

Mr. Bryan and the other Democratic politicians are never greater frinds of the plain people than when out of power. Having had the opportunity, extending over a period of six years, to do something for the common man and utterly failed, they propose to formulate a program that will help him, and help him at once, if they are only given an opoprtunity. Since the lightning struck them last November and they realize that the American people have branded them as unfaithful servants they have begun to whine about what they could do if they had a chance, just as they did in other days when the people refused to entrust them with the affairs of the government. They have the superlative gall to thus begin to try to fool the nation again before the rejoicing over the late defeat has hardly ceased to rumble up and down the country nd reverberate up against the rafters of the heavens.

"A WORD TO THE WISE."

It is not safe to buy land or to lend money and accept land as security without first investigating the title of the land. Often there are unpaid mortgages, judgments, taxes, or other liens affecting the title, which an abstract would set out. Therefore, when buying land or lending money thereon, it is important that an abstract of title be furnished. A few dollars spent for an abstract is cheaper than having a law suit later on.

There are two abstract companies at Clanton, either of which are in position to make accurate abstracts of title. The Clanton Abstract Company is owned by F. B. Collier and the Chilton County Abstract Company is owned by M. D. Foshee. Either Company will treat you right as to the price.

"OLD ALABAM'" TO WIPE SLATE CLEAN ON ITS WAR WELFARE PLEDGES

"Old Alabam'" is exactly $200,000 shy of a most spectacular record in the United War Work Campaign Fund—and it is just about a moral certainty that "Old Alabam'" will come through with a grand rush at the finish. Alabama's quota was set at $847,415, but Alabama said "No—we'll tilt it a bit." And Alabama tilted the pot to $1,400,000. "We'll give THAT," said "Old Alabam.'"

And old Alabama has actually paid in $1,200,000, cash money, on that splendid, generous pledge. Only $200,000 remains to be collected. The manner in which Alabama boys made history and glory for their state in the great war is well known. Now only $200,000 is lacking to put the grand old state up with its pledge and enable it to take its stand among the top states.

War Is Over

The war is won and for the most of us it is over and done with. The boys coming back from France cast off their uniform with a feeling of a job well and completely done. It is over for them. They have done all that was asked or expected of them and better. But there are a few phases of the war in which the homefolks took part, that are not as yet completed. In mind is the United War Work Campaign which was held November of last year. Alabama pledged a total of $1,400,000. Of this grand total there has been paid in up to this time the amount of $1,200,000. All of this money was pledged in entire good faith by the citizenship of the state.

The war work is over, but only part of the boys have been sent home from France. Those that remain are impatient and restless and chafing to get back. Put yourself in a foreign country, with strange faces and languages, bound by an iron discipline and with your thoughts turning ever to HOME. How would you feel? The welfare agencies, which co-operated in the United War Work Campaign are at the present time doing the biggest piece of work in their history.

Helping the Boys

Large colleges with full staffs of educators are helping the boys improve their time of waiting; scores and scores of trained entertainers are traveling from one end of France to the other, dispensing cheer and sunshine and helping the boys get up their own shows; athletic events are being staged that compare with former Olympic meets; everything possible is being done at this time to make the hours go faster for the boys who [illegible] upholding the power of right to the Germans. The war is won, but a good many of the boys who helped win it are still in France ready for any eventuality. We owe them a debt; the money has been pledged and in paying it real true-blue patriotism will be shown.

Need for Funds

Secretary Josephus Daniels, in approving the budgets of the War Work societies, made an urgent request to the people of the nation to pay in full their pledges. Following is a combined statement of Secretary Newton D. Baker and Secretary Josephus Daniels.

Regarding the budgets which will finance the activities of the seven organizations presented in the campaign from October 1st, last, to December 31, 1919, the secretaries declared reports from overseas confirmed the necessity of "maintaining and, in some of its aspects, augmenting this work."

"In our judgment," the statement continued, "the full sum subscribed in the campaign will be required, if these societies are to do what the American people desire to have them do in serving the soldiers and sailors and the other classes included in the orginal appeal.

"Moreover, there could, in our judgment, be no wiser use of such funds. The demoblization plans, so far as they have been determined, make it plain the work of the different organizations will be needed for a long time still, and, owing to conditions which necesssarily characterize the period of demobilization, this practical welfare work will be even more needed than ever."

Wipe the Slate Clean

Of the 67 counties in Alabama, twelve have gone out in front, with their slates wiped clean and in some cases over-collections reported.

In the other counties, some are on the verge of cleaning up. Others lag. In those that are lagging there seems to be a sentiment that the money is not needed very much, since the war is over and won.

But you have the word of the Secretary of War and the Secretary of the Navy that EVERY CENT pledged is needed, and needed URGENTLY. There's also that grand old standard of civic pride and county pride; the intense local pride of every true Southerner, who will not stand by quietly and see his city or his town or his county outdone in any good enterprise.

The Alabama boys at the front did their part—and then some. Now is the time for the Alabamans who stayed at home to clean up.

Marshall Baker of Birmingham was in Clalnton the first of this week visiting relatives and friends.

Sam Stanfield, lumber buyer for the Stevenson Lumber Co., was in Clanton Tuesday and Wednesday.

ALABAMA STATE HIGHWAY IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION

Montgomery, Ala., June 23.—The Good Roads Convention in Montgomery July 10-11 promises to be the largest meeting of the kind ever held in Alabama. Already half the counties of the state have notified the Alabama Highway Improvement Associa'n that they would have delegates present, and Jefferson County is preparing to send one hundred automobiles. In each county one automobile will be selected to report upon road condtions to the capital. This will be known as the official car, and will carry a purple pennant bearing the name of the county in gilt letters. Banners for other automobiles are being prepared and will be furnished by the Alabama Highway Improvement Association. The great interest taken in this convention is due to the fact that something definite is going to be done that will enable Alabama to take advantage of six million dollars Federal aid, and to construct and maintain the roads all over the State. An attractife program with striking features is now being worked out for the entertainment of the Good Roads enthusiasts while in Montgomery.

NOTHING TASTED GOOD TO THIS SICKLY WOMAN

"Flu left her stomach weak, system in bad condition, nerves all gone; appetite poor and daily constipated.

Dreco Worked Wonders.

She has gained ten pounds on two bottles; stomach digests everything; constipation gone and liver active.

Many cases are coming to light where "flu" has left the victim in bad condition. Some suffer from weak kidneys, pans in the back, limbs aching. Some find their stomashs gons back on them, and the food lies there undigested, making gas form and choking them up. Some so bad that it presses against the heart, giving the feeling of a weak heart. Many are constipated and have sluggish livers. Nearly all suffer from nervousness, are weak and rundown, lacking energy and strength. Read what the new medicine did for this Montgomery woman, Mrs. Fannie E. Norris of Route 3. She says: "A bad attack of the "Flu" left me in pretty bad shape. I had no appetite, nothing that I ate tasted good, and my stomach was upset most of the time. I'd bloat up with gas; was very nervous; conldn' sleep; my tongde was coated and I oten had dizzy spells, I fell off in weight and was quite worried over my condition."

"So many people were praising of Dreco that I got a bottle and frank to say, it didn't do me much good, so I went up and talked to the Dreco man about it. He eyplained that possibly my condition was so run-down that my system had not come under the full influence of the medicine, he asked me to take at least one more bottle of the medicine which I did. It is remarkable what the medicine has done for me. I feel like another person; have gind tn pounds; my liver is active again; constipation relievd; stomach digests my food; I sleep well and just feel grand again. And DRECO did it."

All good druggists now sell Dreco, and it is highly recommended in Clanton by Upchurch Drug Company.

SOME FIGURES ON VAST FOOD STORES HELD BY MILITARY

Referring to High Cost of Living Representative Would Know Policy

LAW'S OPERATION NOT FREE

Supply and Demand Fail to Cut Price While Country Is Full of Live Stock

Washington, June 25, —Reffering in the House to the abnormally high prices of the necessaries of life, Representative Fess of Ohio said:

"I was looking over the price current as furnished in the daily press. Meat is selling at a price never known before in the history of the country, and, at the same time, so far as we know, the product is not limited, but rather, extended beyond the normal. So it would appear that the law of supply and demand, which has heretofore operated to control price, dose not operate, and all of us are anxious to know why it does not. It is pertinent to ask what influence is at work to interrupt this law.

"I have made a little inquiry about the amount of meats held by the Goverment, purchased for the purpose of war, and I want to give you the figures. I would like to have the attention of the membership of the committee, as to these figures, for I know they must carry some significance when considered in the light of the scaling high prices charged to the public.

Quantities Held.

Roast beef held by the Govern ment on the 20th of May, 12,000,000 6-pound cans, which would be about 72,000,000 pounds; 17,300,000 2-pound cans, or over34,000,000 pounds; 9,000,000 1-pound cans in addition to a great number of 12 ounce tins, or a total of something approaching 120,000,000 pounds of roast beef.

"Corned beef, 5,600,000 6-pound cans, or 33,000,000 pounds; 18,000,000 2-pound cans, or 36,000,000 pounds ; 9,000,000 1-pound cans; and 4,500,000 12-ounce cans; corned beef hash, 20,820,000 1 and 2 pound cans;bacon, 47,219,620 pounds.

"This represents about 282,000,000 pounds of meats held by the Government, which, according to a statement of the packers, represented five monts of the activities of the packing interest which were operating to collect the meat products for the Government. In normal times it is stated by the same authority that this would represent about two years of activity.

Wants to Know

"I am not, and every member will recognize this, criticizing the Governmentfor purchasing these large amounts because it was done in the midst of war for the purpose of feeding the soldiers of an army the duration of which nobody could estimate,and therefore the purchase is free of criticism. But here is my question: If the Government is holding to-day this vast number of pounds of meat with the country full of live stock and the price of bacon, nothwithstanding this tremendous supply, has reached the vanising point of 60 cents, why is it that there is not a freedom of the operation of the law of supply and demand? And the question immediately comes to me, What is the policy of the Government in its action in price fixing."

WOULD ELIMINATE FAT BUREAU JOBS

Washington, June 16.—"I have made some investigation of late," said Senator Smoot, in advocating limitation of salaries under the bill for vocational rehabilitation of injured ,"in conection with some of the salaries being paid today in bureaus which have been created, and they range all the wy from $5,000 up to $15,000 year, the latter sum being twice as much as a Senator of the United States is paid; and I know that the men who are holding the places could not command any such salaries as those in any other walk of life. They are being paid those amounts today by the Government of the United States; and I think we ought to limit the amount of salary that can be paid to any employees of this board."

Senator Kenyon and other agreed with the Utah Senator and there are indications that from now on there will be a distinct effort sharply to limit salaries to reasonable figures.

FLOYD

Editor Union-Banner, and to the people: Here I come again with a few words about the Catholics.

As I stand on the planes of religious and political freedom, I can hear the howl of the wolf, the scream of the panther, the growl of the tiger and the roar of the lion. And as I listen they seem to be getting nearer all the time, and as I look I can see in the horison a dark cloud that threatens to bring a storm. So it is high time that we arm ourselves with the weapon of the Word of God, and flee to the shelter of Christ. Listen, dear people; if the Catholics were a religion alone separated from politics and the government it would be well enough to just let them alone; but that is not all. They want to connect church and state together. But even if they only held it as a religion it would be wise to fear them.

I will give you some of their devotions to the "Virgin Mary," which is found on page 313 and 314 of their manual called "Our Heavenly Guest" which reads as follows: "Behold, at thy feet a mother of perpetual help, a wretched sinner who has recourse to thee and confides in thee, O Mother of Mercy, have pity on me; I hear thee called by all the refuge and the hope of sinners be. Then my refuge and my hope, assist me for the love of Jesus Christ, stretch forth thy hand to a miserable fallen creature who recommends himself to thee and who devotes himself to thy service forever. I bless and thank Almighty God who in mercy has given me this confidence in the which I hold to be a pledge of my eternal salvation. It is true that in the past I have miserably fallen into sin because I had not recourse to thee. I know that with thy help I shall conquer. I know too that thou will assist me if I commit myself to thee, but I fear that in time of danger I may neglect to call on thee and thus lose my soul this grace. Then I ask of thee, and this I beg with all the ferver of my soul, that in all the attacks of hell, I may ever have recourse to thee. O Mary, help me; O Mother of perpetual help, never suffer me to lose my god."

Now, dear people, how does this sound to you? Does it sound like Christ is on the meditorial thrones or the "virgin Mary?" This and many more such things is found in this manuel which is their ritual and mode of worship.

I will in the near future give you these examinations for confession. So come on you readers, and let's help our brave Editor fight the battle.

REPUBLICANS IN CONGRESS KEEPING ECONOMY PLEDGE

EARNESTNESS IS EVIDENT

Washington, June 30.—The Republican floor leader of the House, Representative Frank Mondell, of Wyoming, has issued the following review of the accomplishments of the House during the first months of its session.

"The special session of the Sixty sixth Congress has been in session a month. During that time the House of Representatives has considered and passed the six general supply bills and the railroad deficiency bills that failed in the closing hours of the last Congress at the end of three-months session.

Billion Dollars Saved.

"In the consideration and passage of these bills the House has effected a saving of approximately a billion dollars in the amounts carried in the session that expired March 4 last.

"These savings were in the main on three bills, though there were some reductions on all, and on these three bills, the army, navy and sundry civil, the reductions were in round figures approximately as follows:

"On the army appropriation bill, $400,000,000.

"On the Naval appropriation bill, $225,000,000.

"On the Sundry Civil appropriation bill, $385,000,000.

"In addition to these reductions the bill to supply deficiencies in railway revenues as it passed the House carried $750,000,000 instead of $1,200,000,000 as estimated by the railroad administration—a reduction of $150,000,000.

"These savings taken all together total nearly one and one-half billions of dollars as the approximate net reduction of appropriations by this first session of the Repubican Congress below the proposed appropriations of the closing session of the Democratic congress and estimates.

"Not only has the House made an unprecedented record during the 30 days of the session in disposing of the appropriation bills but the bills have receiveo careful and businesslike consideration, both in committee and on the floor. The reductions have not been made recklessly but after due consideration.

"Notwithstanding the very great savings that have been accomplished in the appropriations, it can be said without fear of successful contradiction that no legitimate, essential or useful public service has been injuriously curtailed by the reduction that has been made. The army and the navy and the civil services of the nation will all be adequately cared for, and provided for under the appropriations that have been made by the House.

Have Kept Pledge.

"At the beginning of the session the Republican majority in the House in conference promised speedy action on these appropriation bills and also prompt consideration of the program of legislation and investigation. There can be no question but what this pledge has been splendidly kept as far as appropriations are concerned, and in the matter of legislation the House has considered and passed the Woman Suffrage Resolution, the Day-Light Saving Repeal, and the bill returning the wires to their owners. And the various committees of the House are actively engaged in the consideration of other important legislation.

"A committee has been constituted to make an audit and study of the expenditures of the War Department during the period of the war, totaling $16,000,000,000. This Commit tee has organized, sub-divided into sub-committees and is prepared for work.

"The temper and attendance of the House has been good and the membership is evidencing a disposition to earnestly and carefully consider the problems before them. The record up to date is unsurpassed and the out look for the future bright promising results useful ond helpful in the public interest."

PROPAGANDA TO CONTINUE WAR BUREAUS

Republicans Will Not Relax Use of Knife in Effort To Lower Taxation

HOUSING COMMISSION DOOMED

Washington, June 30—The efforts of thousands of war-time office holders in Washington to impress upon the legeslative leaders the necessity for continuing the bureaus in which they are employed, although a state of peace has existd for more than half a year, is proving to be one of the greatest sources of annoyance to those Republicans members of Congress who are intent upon reducing taxation. At least two of these Republicans have expressed themselves upon the subject upon the floors of Congress and Senator Gronna of North Dakota, has suggested that the whole matter should be turned over to a commission which could report to Congress and enable it to make a clean sweep of superfluous bureaus and employees.

"Just on one small item in the agricultural appropriation bill," said Senator Gronna, who is chairman of the Agricultural Committee, "I have had at least one hundred of the employes of the affected bureau come to my office to urge not only continuation of the work, but also a greatly enlarged appropriation for its expansion. I think this matter of placing the executive branch of the government on a peace basis should be turned over to a commission which could do the work thoroughly."

Representative Fess of Ohio revealed even greater annoyances on the House side of the Capitol. He said:

Many Agencies.

"During the war there sprung up work in the conduct of the war that to the war machine seemed to do, and probably did, such good work in the conduct of the war that they are now, when the war is over, insisting upon continuing and enlisting all possible influences to impress the public with the tremendous importance of their activities. My office, as is your office, is besieged every day by both young and old, by people in office and out of office, by persons in Washington and out of Washington, by personal visitation and by letter and telegram, declaring that if we do not continue this agency and that agency we are going to turn the clock of progress backwards.

"Every member has been told that a refusal proves that he is not willing to be as progressive as was suggsted by the needs of war. Many of these agencies are conducting systematic propaganda which is now running at high speed. But in the light of the fabulous drain upon the Treasury, which reaches over $1,000,000,000 a month, our first duty is to use the knife. That duty is more imperrative and even more important than expedition in legislation."

The Housing Commission.

One of the bureaus which has made the most desperate efforts in this direction in the Housing commission which has already cost the country about $70,000,000, without, in the opinion of many members of congress, having accomplished good commensurate with the vast outlay of money. Chairman Langley of the House Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds has brought the future of this particular commission to a crisis by introducing a resolution providing for a special investigation of its activities and expenditures. Even though the investigation should not be undertaken, it is practically certain that the commission will be cut short of funds on July 1, and thus forced to pass into history.

The committee on Public Buildings and ground recently inquired into the expenditures of the commission and concluded that out of the $100,000,000, appropriated for housing, there should be on hand an unexpended balance of $40,000,000. The commission, however, says it has only $32,000,000 on hand, and Chairman Langley proposes to find out what has become of the $8,000,000 which the commission has not acounted for. In addition to this disparity, Mr. Langley is anxious to get information as to the activities of the Commission in Bethlehem, Pa., where it is alleged it has expended $3,000,000 without having completed a single building.

One Country.

After all,
One country, brethren! We must rise or fall
With the supreme republic. We must be
The makers of her immortality—
Her freedom, fame,
Her glory or her shame,
Liegemen to God and fathers of the free!

After all—
Hark! From the heights the clean, strong clarion call
And the command imperious: "Stand forth
Sons of the South and brothers of the North!
Stand forth and be
As on soil and sea—
Your country's honor more than empire's worth!"

After all,
'Tis Freedom wears the loveliest coronal.
Her brow is to the morning; in the sod
She breathes the breath of patriots; every clod
Answers her call
And rises like a wail
Against the foes of liberty and God!

Tax Collector J. Dudley Collins went to Montgomery last Friday to make final settlement with the State Auditor, of tax matters of Chilton County for the past year.

CLANTON WANTS PEOPLE OF CHILTON COUNTY TO HELP US CELEBRATE ON THE FOURTH.

All Things Are in Readiness for a Most Glorious Day for Chilton County. Don't Fail to Come. Returned Soldiers and all their Relatives Are Provided Entertainment.

Everybody in Clanton wants Every body in Chilton County to come here on the Fourth and partake of the festivities and the Barbecue. Just because Clanton realized that she must pay for the barbecue, and did it, does not alter the fact that the Celebration is a county affair. Every body knows why the people in the country have not pot paid much to ward the expenses of the day. It is because they havebeenbusily engaged in fighting grass and boll weevils between showers of rain that they have not given the proposition very much thought. The appeal has not been made to the people of the county by the committeemen selected for that purpose, because the committeemen were as busy as the other people.

But that is neither here nor there now. Last Saturday night Clanton resolved that Chilton County should have a barbecue and celebration for our returned soldiers at Clanton on July Fourth. A plan was organized by which Clanton should pay for the proceedings of the day whether the county helped or not. In other words Clanton determined that the county should have the Celebration for our soldiers, and that the people need not worry about the expense. Clanton is doing that part of the game. The money has been raised now and all things are ready for the feast. All the people of the county have got to do to fulfill their part of the contract is to lend their presence here on the Fourth. Of course if somebody wants to bring a basket along that will be all right.

Those of the county who have contributed toward the expense should feel assured that their donations were received with due thanks by the committee in charge. When Clanton decided to shoulder the financial burden of the occasion, it was done, knowing that the farmers were very busy and could not spare the time necessary to work up a response in their communities. It will be as much as the average farmer can do to spare the day the Fourth out of his crop to come here and enjoy the day.

So we are prepared to say to the people of the county, go to it; fight the grass and boll weevils to a finish till Thursday night. Then lay down the shovel and the hoe and pick up the fiddle and the bow. Come to Clanton on the Fourth and help us eat all those nice fat goats and lambs and calves that are right now being dressed for that purpose. And if your wife feels that she would like to fix up a few cakes and pies and custards to bring along in a basket to go with that barbecued meat, let her do so. All baskets will be welcomed on the table.

And don't forget to remind all the soldier boys that they are expected here on that day. We can't show them how we appreciate them if they are some other place. We want them in Clanton. Tell them all to be sure to come.

BE CAREFUL WITH YOUR CAR IN CLANTON ON THE FOURTH; DRIVE SLOWLY

Don't spoil your pleasure and the pleasure of somebody else by getting into an automobile accident on the Fourth. Keep your head and drive carefully. There will be a great number of people here on that day, and automobile and vehicle traffic will be heavy. If accidents are to be avoided the greatest care must be exercised by everyone.

It is far more easy to avoid these unpleasant accidents by being careful beforehand then it is to rectify the fatal results afterward.

There is entirely too much careless driving of cars about Clanton any how here lately. Many entirely unnecessary accidents have happened and others harrowly averted. There are other acidents just ahead of the careless and reckless driver.

We hope everyone will exercise caution on the Fourth in order that disastrous accidents may be averted.

ALL DAY SINGING

PUBLIC IS PLEASED WITH BUSINESS VIM OF OUR CONGRESS

Chairman Hays of the Republican National Committee Praises the Legislators.

SPECIFIES MUCH ACHIEVEMENT

Important Wark Accomplished in a Little Over one Month of Present Session.

Washington, June 30.—Republican National Chairman Will H. Hays who has been in various parts of the west in the past several weeks declares that the public appreciates and is much alive to the fact that Congress is getting down to business and is working efficiently in the effort to restore things to peace time conditions.

Mr. Hays in speaking about the achievements of Congress laid emphasis on the submission of the woman's suffrage amendment, the quick passage of appropaiation bills, the saving of something like $1,500,000,000 in expenditures and the return of the telephone and telegraph to their owners.

People Appreciative

"I can assure you that the people throught t he country appreciate the fact that Congress is working efficiently," said Mr. Hays. "The session has now lasted a month, and a little over. In that time a remarkable amount has been accomplished.

"The woman's suffrage amendment after waiting forty years was passed by the house on the third day of the session and not long afterward by the Senate.

"In this connection wherever I have gone I have found the women of the country are alive to the situation and very keenly interested in getting ready for participation in politics. I found a keen interest was taken in the recent conference which we had in Washington when it was announced that the women voters would be received into the Republican party and would freely participate in its affairs as new voters would participate.

A Great Task.

"The great task of passing the appropriation bills before July 1st when the fiscal year begins will be completed by both houses. Compared with bills of last session or demands of departments a saving will be made of approximately $1,500,000,000. The Committees have made enormous savings in spite of the fact that congress was not called until almost three months later than it might have been thus leaving little time for the consideration of the details of appropriations. Economy has been exercised without impairing the efficiency of the departments. The average man and woman without any question is deeply interested in the saving of money in these appropriations and thus tending to relieve the burden of taxation.

"Passage of the bill to restore the telephones and telegraphs to their owners is another important matter which this congress has accomplished. The bill to restore the powers of the Interstate Commerce Commission over rates will soon be enacted. This is something greatly demanded by the country.

"The country is very anxious to see the railroad question taken up and settled and I am informed that the Interstate Commerce Committees of the House and Senate are about ready to devote themselves to a railroad bill and that there is reason to believe one will be passed within the next few months."

Mr. Hayes referred also to the activity of the important Committees of Congress and mentioned among others the Senate Education and Labor Committee and the House Labor Committee which he said were taking hold of labor problems with a view to trying to solve them in a broad-minded manner.

Wat shall we do with The Kaiser?

THEIR "FLAGSHIP"

By Clarissa Mackie

FOUR members of the town committee stood on the dock and watched from afar the moving of Captain Lemuel Shad from his floating home, the Golden Hour.

The Golden Hour was a three-masted schooner of ancient build and her long anchorage in Little Harbor had not improved her appearance. Her hulk was a cloudy white, mottled with rust from the anchor chains, and her masts, stripped of canvas and rigging, were gaunt and bare.

Captain Lemuel's brother Abel owned the Golden Hour and it was by his "charity" that the old sailor remained in his floating home, where he lived a happy bachelor existence. Captain Lem had a little money and he was very contented aboard the old craft, dreaming over his years when, with a stout ship under control, he sailed the "Seven Seas."

Abel Shadd was one of the four men on the dock. He was looking through a telescope at the old schooner.

"She's a menace to navigation," said Abel, virtuously. "There's plenty of room at our house and Martha says he's welcome to spend the rest of his days there."

The other men exchanged winks. They knew Mrs. Abel Shadd had a keen eye out for Captain Lemuel's bit of money.

"What you going to do with the boat, Abel?" asked Hiram Ricks.

Abel lowered the telescope and spoke in guarded tones.

"It's confidential," he whispered. "I've sold it to the Sand Hill club folks—they're going to blow her up tomorrow just to celebrate the opening of the new clubhouse."

"Well, great gosh!" ejaculated Ricks. "You must have got a fancy price for her—to turn Cap'n Lem out and sell it to them Yacht club fellers."

"Oh, not so much," said Abel, uneasily. "She's a menace to navigation, you know."

"Have you told Lem?" asked William Weems.

"Not yet—time enough for him to know tomorrow, when it's too late for him to take on. It's my boat, anyway," he added defensively. "I can do as I like about it. If those rich fellers at the club want to pay my price so's they can celebrate the Glorious Fourth, 'tain't for me to forbid 'em!"

"Not when it's money in your pocket," added Hiram Ricks.

"There's Lem coming ashore with his trunks and stuff," said Jim Pollard. "We better meet him and help him load the stuff onto the wagon."

Abel Shadd vanished from sight and when Captain Lem and his pathetic boatload of personal belongings reached the foot of the steps he found three old cronies there to help him unload.

Captain Shadd looked worn and haggard

"The Golden Hour was my first ship, boys," he said grimly "I hoped to spend the last days of my life aboard her; but Abel's obstinate. He's bound I shall spend what money I got on his folks. He'll see!"

The four old cronies, who had spent many a pleasant evening on the anchored schooner, sighed over bygone games of cribbage and checkers, with pipes and tobacco.

If anyone heard a whisper of Abel's secret as it drifted to Captain Lem's incredulous ear, it was not repeated. Only it was significant that Captain Lem's belongings went back to the Golden Hour and the doughty captain whistled a salt-flavored tune as he lugged his stuff aboard.

Captain Lem had two visitors that evening. One was Abel, who stamped the decks and vowed that Lem would be blown sky-high the next morning.

"They'll bring dynamite aboard at three o'clock!" he yelled, dancing around.

"No they won't!" denied Lem, coolly.

"It's their boat now!"

"You mean you sold it?" Lem's keen eyes searched Abel's face.

"Yes; the money's been paid over. It belongs to the Sand Hill Yacht club."

"Then I'll invite you to get off!" snapped Lem sharply. "I'm commanding this ship—scoot!"

Abel's face was distorted with rage. "If you're blown to atoms don't come and blame me!" he chattered hysterically.

"I ain't likely to," said Lem, dryly, as his stepbrother went over the side.

Lem's second visitor arrived without announcement. His boat was a dark blotch under the ghostly hull of the Golden Hour. Lem leaned over the rail and watched the new arrival, who noiselessly boarded the schooner and set several heavy objects in the lee of the deckhouse.

It was a moonless night and the harbor was in darkness except for the bobbing anchor lights of scattered craft. Aloft on the naked spar of the Golden Hour gleamed her light.

Up on the brink of the high bluffs was the Sand Hill clubhouse. There was the sound of music and many lighted windows. The clubhouse would be crowded over the Fourth. The blowing up of the Golden Hour would be the event of the day.

All that night strange things happened about the old schooner. Many mysterious trips were made aboard until there was a queer cargo arranged under the rail. If Abel Shadd had glimpsed the cargo he would have yelled "Dynamite!" and deserted at once.

But, strange to say, dark forms hovered around her all night. Under her quarters voices muttered and occasionally there was a sharp flash of light.

He whistled softly as he trod the deck, and occasionally he smiled, but the darkness hid his face and the humorous twinkle in his eyes.

From the shore came the boom of cannon and the rattle of firecrackers, for Little Harbor lads began to celebrate the day before the Fourth.

Once in a while a skyrocket ripped to the zenith and at such times, when the Golden Hour stood forth in the transient glow, she presented an unusual sight.

The celebration committee of the yacht club evidently thought so. They did not put out to the schooner until after sunrise and the crowd on the clubhouse verandas, the pier and the beaches all marveled at the transformation of the Golden Hour.

As by some painter's magic brush, she wore a patriotic dress.

From stem to stern her hulk was painted in alternate broad stripes of red and white, while under her bow was a bright blue field scattered with crudely made white stars. It was a smeary job, but considering it had been done in the dark it answered the purpose.

Captain Lem Shadd came to the rail and answered the cheery hail of the yachtsmen.

"Well, Captain Lem, you've certainly made the old girl look coquettish!" laughed Anthony Lane, as he prepared to come up the landing steps.

"Stop right there, Mr. Lane," ordered Captain Lem.

"What's up?" demanded young Lane, and his impatient companions in the launch echoed the question.

"Flags are up—no trespassing!" retorted Lem sharply.

"But—we're the dynamite squad from the club—going to blow the old tub sky-high! Hi, there, Tony"—to an Italian in the launch—"bring along your explosives and that fuse!"

"You can't blow up the Stars and Stripes," he said, with a curious catch in his voice. "You wouldn't fire on the flag, would you?" he asked simply.

"Why, no, of course not; but this is different, Captain Lem. We bought the Golden Hour in order to celebrate the day. You understand, eh?"

Captain Lem shook his head. There was a bewildered look in his faded eyes.

"I painted her so's you couldn't touch her without insulting the flag, and you—you can't!" he ended fiercely.

"Confound it all," stammered Anthony Lane. "What difference does it make to you what happens to the old hulk? She belongs to us."

"I know, I know," said Captain Lem fiercely, "but once she belonged to me—I was twenty-one when I received my master's papers and she was my first ship.

"Once I owned her and then I sold my share to my brother Abel. She was my first ship and I hoped to die here. I can't see the Golden Hour blown sky-high to make a Fourth of July spectacle for a crowd of folks!"

The dynamite squad looked sheepishly at one another. They conferred together and, with a brief salute to Captain Lem, they put back to the yacht club.

When they had gone Captain Lem sat down in the sunshine and dropped his head in his palms. It had been a worrisome week and his eyes had not closed all night. Now that the critical moment was over he felt strangely weak and despondent. His air was not that of one who had gained a victory.

From the shore came the continual explosion of fireworks. There was a smell of powder in the air.

It was the glorious Fourth!

"They've got the law agin me," he muttered at last, "but I'll give my last salute!"

He uncovered the little brass cannon and the boom echoed across the water.

The dynamite committee returned unnoticed and reached the deck before Lem discovered them. He scowled as Anthony Lane approached him with a folded paper.

"You needn't serve any warrants on me," he protested.

"Just read it, Captain Lem," they urged, and at last he put on his spectacles and read the legal document.

It was a conveyance of the "schooner Golden Hour to Samuel Shadd, master mariner, for the consideration of one dollar," etc., etc.

"The Golden Hour is yours, Captain Lem," said young Lane. "In this way the club has decided to celebrate and the dynamite plan is abolished. We have elected the Golden Hour to be the stationary flagship of the club and—er—Captain Lem, we want you up at the club for luncheon."

The Golden Hour still rocks at anchor near the Sand Hill club wharf. Her paint is always fresh in patriotic colors, and she is the favorite meeting place for Captain Lem's friends. In summer, when the clubhouse is open, she is the favorite rendezvous for lovers and more sedate members from the yacht club.

Perhaps Captain Lem's happiest moment in the year occurs on July Fourth. On that date he is an honored guest at the club luncheon and there is one toast which is responded to by rousing cheers:

"To Admiral Shadd of our flagship, and his three master painters!"

And after the toast has been drunk Captain Lem proposes another:

"Our Flag!"

FIGURED IN HISTORY

Old Blue Bell Tavern, Near Philadelphia, Is Famous Revolutionary Relic.

OF THE several far-extended roads reaching outward from Philadelphia, the Darby road leading along the highland southward to Chester has, from the beginning, been of the most importance in our periods of war. Strictly considered, the road to Chester is not a highway. It is maintained as a turnpike under the control of a company which exacts a rate of toll which yields an income, it is stated, nearly equal to the capital stock involved.

There is testimony that the first float bridge spanning the Schuylkill river was built on this road at Gray's ferry under the direction of Gen. Israel Putnam. It was removed a few months later to keep the British out of Philadelphia. Captain Montressor's clever engineers, however, replaced it,

There was plenty of going and coming at Gray's ferry in the winter of Valley Forge, as a considerable portion of Howe's army was "hutted," as Maj. John Andre recorded in his diary, along the Darby road for three miles. When the British withdrew from Philadelphia, in June, 1778, they destroyed the float bridges.

In April, 1789, the Gray's ferry float bridge was decorated in honor of the journey of Washington to New York.

At the foot of the hill, close by Cobb's creek, a border stream of the city, is the "Blue Bell" of Paschalville, now happily saved and safe upon park soil of the municipality. The original bridge across the creek was built about forty years before the Revolution. At that time a very old grist mill, which had been built by the Swedish Governor Printz, stood beside the creek. It is said to have been the first mill operated in Pennsylvania. In Penn's time it was acquired by William Cobb, hence the name of the stream. The original Blue Bell tavern was a small wooden building, but the existing structure antedates the Revolution, at which time it was a popular stage house conducted by the Paschal family. Robert Morton, a youth of Philadelphia, wrote in his diary under date of November, 1777:

"This evening Lord Cornwallis with 2,500 men marched over the bridge at the middle ferry. With the intentions, as supposed, to attack the fort at Red Bank."

The next morning, while on their march toward Darby, an American picket, concealed in the Blue Bell, fired upon the advance and killed two grenadiers. Five of the Americans were bayoneted in the tavern.

Great Patriot's Worthy Life.

Patrick Henry retired from office, a popular man, but a tired one, and went to live on a new estate, called Leatherwood, consisting of 10,000 acres. The people were not willing that he should live a quiet life and elected him governor again in 1784, after which he practiced law and won great renown as a criminal lawyer.

He died very peacefully at Red Hill in 1799, taking great comfort in the Christian religion, which throughout his life had given him not only comfort but courage and hope.

UNDER THE BIG DOME.

Washington, June 30.—There are five states of the union which have twice as many senators as they have Representatives in the lower House of congress. In other words, the states of Delaware, Arizona, Nevada, New Mexico and Wyoming, although they each have the prescribed pair of Senators, can boast of only one member in the House of Representtives. The state of Wyoming, however, has made up for its deficiency in numbers by reason of the fact it has caputred the leadership, which rests with Representative Frank W. Mondell. This lone member of the House from Wyoming was left an orphan at 6, was brought up on an Iowa farm, was trained mainly in the school of hard knocks and hard work and has gained the leadership thru the fact he has done many years of arduous service for his constituents in the House who have kept him in the legislative harness, though he is comparatively a young man, for nearly a quarter of a century.

The Hawaiian delegate to Congress, J. Kuhio Kalanianole, popularly known as "Prince Cupid," is on his way to the opening of the present extra session of congress. Although this interesting member of the House packed up and got ready to start for Washington immediately when the President of the United States, on the other side of the world from Hawaii, called Congress into session, he had to wait several weeks before he could get any sort of accommodation between his home in Waikiki and Washington. It is probable that he will have something to say concerning the government control of transportation when he reaches the capital.

Representative Wm. B. McKinley, one of the Republican members of congress from Illinois, was very much afraid a few days ago, that he was about to lose the support of a constituent who had voted for him every time he had run for office. This constituent, although an ardent supporter of Mr. McKinley, was otherwise a strong Democrat, and scratched the Democratic ticket in favor of Mr. McKinley only because he admired him. So the Illinois Congressman was momentarily chagrined a few days ago when he received a letter from his constituent which started off as follows:

But Mr. McKinley felt better when he read the conclusion which said:

"Hereafter I intend to vote the whole Republican ticket."

FOR DIVERSION OF WATER

If Required for Industrial Purposes and not Obtainable.

Washington, June 30.—The Senate has passed a bill providing for the diversion of water from irrigation systems to industrial use, where it is found that such diversion will not interfere with irrigation. The applicant for this commercial concession must show that he is unable to secure sufficient water from other sources before his application will be approved.

"Cradle of Liberty"

FAMOUS OLD FANEUIL HALL.

NEW YORK HAS LIBERTY BELL

THE Liberty bell in Independence hall, Philadelphia, is famous throughout the world. Its ringing proclaimed liberty July 4, 1776, and ever since it has been sacred to all Americans. Everybody knows all about that bell, but the New York Herald tells of another which played a part in the stirring scenes of the republic's founding. The Herald says:

Here in New York city is another liberty bell, a bell whose history is as remarkable as that of the Liberty bell in Philadelphia, but which is practically unknown except to a few persons who have delved into ancient records and documents concerning it.

New York city's liberty bell hangs concealed in the belfry of the Dutch church at Fifth avenue and Forty-eighth street. It has been in New York city since 1731.

It proclaimed liberty to the citizens July 9, 1776, when Gen. George Washington read the adopted Declaration of Independence to the American troops and asked for its acceptance and ratification. Had the army not acclaimed liberty at that time and agreed to fight to death for freedom the Declaration of Independence would have become a worthless scrap of paper. But the army did acclaim liberty, and the bell rang out the tidings here just as the other bell in Philadelphia had done five days before.

Legacy to Old Dutch Church.

New York city's Liberty bell was given as a legacy to the Dutch church by one of the oldest inhabitants of this city, Abraham de Peyster, who served as mayor, treasurer and councilor and as governor in 1701, and whose statue now stands in the place of that of George III in the Bowling Green.

The bell was cast in Amsterdam and bears an inscription in Dutch, which, translated, reads:

"I was made by Le Gravae and N. Muller, Amsterdam, 1731. Abraham de Peyster, born July 8, 1657; died Aug. 8, 1728. A legacy to the Dutch church, New York."

Almost the first public service of the bell was tolling for the death of George I, the German king of Great Britain, and announcing the succession of his son George II. It welcomed seven foreign governors, from Admiral George Clinton to Sir William Tyron, and in after years called the citizens to defend their rights or warned them of calamities.

Its Voice Still Resonant.

This Liberty bell is not cracked; its tone is as fine and sweet and resonant as on the day it rang at General Washington's command. Following are the more important occasions upon which New York's Liberty bell was rung in the eighteenth century, from the time it arrived in New York city in 1731 until it proclaimed liberty in 1776. The list has been compiled from colonial records and the history of New York and is authentic in every particular:

1735—Announcing the liberty of the press.

1741—Warning the citizens to protect themselves against the negroes, who threatened to rise and murder the whites. They burned Governor Clarke's residence within the fort and the homes of Admiral Sir Peter Warren, Winant Van Zandt, Colonel Phillipse and others.

1755—Announced the defeat of General Braddock.

1759—Rang for the capture of Quebec.

1760—Tolled for the death of George II and later for the accession of George III.

1764—Citizens called by the bell to protect the fishermen who had been impressed by a British man-of-war. The same day the Sons of Liberty were organized and summoned to meet by strokes of the bell.

1770—The British Sixteenth regiment attacked the Sons of Liberty, who had been summoned by the bell, and then occurred the battle of Golden Hill, when the first blood was shed in the American revolution, for it was five years before the battle of Lexington.

1775—News of the battle of Lexington reached New York city, and the citizens were summoned by the bell to seize a vessel in the harbor loaded with stores for the British army at Boston.

1775—News of the battle of Ticonderoga, and later of the battle of Bunker Hill, announced by the ringing of the bell.

1776—General Washington proclaimed the Declaration of Independence to the American army, and the Liberty bell and other bells in the city rang for several hours.

WHEN PATRIOT SPOKE

Ringing Words of Patrick Henry Are Enshrined in Hearts of All Free Men.

"I know not what course others may take, but as for me, give me liberty or give me death!"

THESE were the ringing, closing words of Patrick Henry on March 23, 1775, as he delivered his immortal and eloquent address in support of the resolutions passed by the second revolutionary convention of Virginia, of which he was an honored delegate.

For six months the various colonies had been making military preparations. Lord Dunmore in Virginia wrote in December, 1774, to the earl of Dartmouth:

"Every county is now arming a company of men, whom they call an independent company for the avowed purpose of protecting their committees and to be employed against the government if occasion require."

introduced in the revolutionary congress in Virginia, it met some opposition, not because it was premature, but because Patrick Henry came out more boldly for war than anyone in the colonies had done before that time. Nearly fifty years later Thomas Jefferson said: "After all, it must be allowed that Patrick Henry was our leader in the measures of the resolutions in Virginia, and in that respect more is due to him than to any other person. . . . He left us all behind."

John Roane, who heard Patrick Henry's famous speech described it to Edward Fontaine in 1834, and this manuscript is in the library of Cornell university:

"You remember, sir, the conclusion of the speech, so often declaimed in various ways by schoolboys—'Is life so dear, or peace so sweet, as to be purchased at the price of chains and slavery? Forbid it, Almighty God! I know not what course others may take, but as for me, give me liberty, or give me death!' He gave each of these words a meaning which is not conveyed by the reading or delivery of them in the ordinary way.

"After a solemn pause, he raised his eyes and chained hands toward heaven, and prayed, in words and tones which thrilled every heart, 'Forbid it, Almighty God!' He then turned toward the timid loyalists of the house, who were quaking with terror at the idea of the consequences of participating in proceedings which would be visited with the penalties of treason by the British crown; and he slowly bent his form yet nearer to the earth, and said: 'I know not what course others may take,' and he accompanied the words with his hands still crossed, while he seemed to be weighted down with his emotion.

"Continuing, he lifted one hand firmly, as if holding a dagger with the point aimed at his breast. He stood like a Roman senator defying Caesar, while the unconquerable spirit of Cato of Utica flashed from every feature; and he closed the grand appeal with the solemn words, 'or give me death!' which sounded with the awful cadence of a hero's dirge, fearless of death, and victorious in death; and he suited the action to the word by a blow upon the left breast with the [illegible] to the patriot's heart."

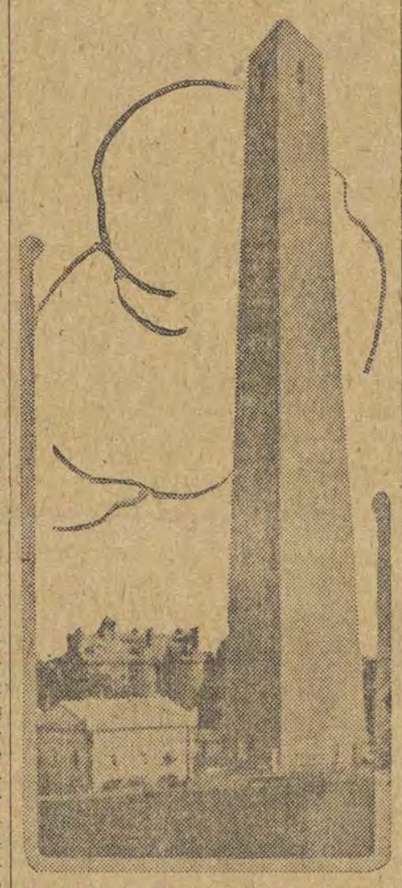
Battle of Bunker Hill

WON STRUGGLE FOR COLONISTS

What the Battle of Bunker Hill Meant to the Revolutionary Cause.

A LITTLE before sunset, 143 years ago, a few hundred American troops stacked their guns, threw off their packs, seized their trenching tools and set to work with great spirit. At midnight Boston was buried in sleep. The sentry's cry of "All's well!" could be heard distinctly from its shores.

At dawn, 143 years ago, the Americans at work were seen by the sailors on board the British ships of war and the alarm was given. The captain of the Lively, the nearest ship, without waiting for orders, put a spring upon her cable and, bringing her guns to bear, opened a fire upon the hill. One man, among a number who had incautiously ventured outside, was killed. A subaltern reported his death to Colonel Prescott and asked what was to be done. "Bury him," was the reply.



It was the first fatality in the battle of Bunker Hill, one of the most momentous conflicts in our Revolutionary history. It was the first regular battle betwen the British and the Americans and most eventful in its consequences. The British had ridiculed them as dastardly and inefficient; yet here the best British troops, led on by experienced officers, were repeatedly repulsed by an inferior force of that enemy—mere yeomanry—from works thrown up in a single night, and suffered a loss rarely paralleled in battle with the most veteran soldiers. According to their own returns their killed and wounded, out of a detachment of 2,000 men, amounted to 1,054 and a large proportion of them officers. The loss of the Americans was 411, out of 1,500 men engaged. So the number of casualties in this battle was more than 30 per cent of the number in action, thus placing it among the bloodiest battles known to history. At Waterloo the British loss was less than 34 per cent. No wonder that June 17 is to Boston a second Fourth of July.

Battle Meant Everything.

A gallant loyalist of Massachusetts, who fought so well for King George that he rose to be a full general in the British army, regarded Bunker Hill as a transaction which controlled everything that followed. "You could not," he would say to his friends on the other side, "have succeeded without it."

Bunker Hill exhibited the Americans to all the world as a people to be courted by allies and counted with by foes. It was a marvel that so many armed citizens had been got together so quickly and still a greater marvel that they had stayed together so long.

After the engagement at Lexington on April 19 the British force under General Gage was increased to 10,000 men by the arrival of Generals Howe, Clinton and Burgoyne with their commands from England. These occupied the town of Boston on a peninsula extending into the harbor. The naval forces consisted of the Falcon, Lively, Somerset, Symmetry, Glasgow and four floating batteries. Across the Charles river at Cambridge, and on the surrounding hills, were encamped between 16,000 and 20,000 undisciplined Americans. The British, thus cut off from communication with the mainland, were seriously hampered for provisions, and General Gage contemplated a movement to occupy the several heights near Charlestown, at Dorchester and adjacent points.

Bunker Hill Monument, Charlestown, Massachusetts.

Colonists Alarmed.

The arrival of such a formidable force of the enemy caused the gravest concern to the colonists. It was rumored that the British would sally forth from Boston and burn the neighboring towns. It was to prevent this that the Americans determined to fortify Bunker Hill; for if the British should get out of the city and intrench upon Dorchester heights to the south of Boston, the continental position would be made untenable.

Not an unnecessary sound was made during the long hours of the night of June 16, 1775, and when dawn came intrenchments six feet high along the side of the hill were disclosed. In the face of the fire from the enemy ships and by the battery on Copp's hill the Americans kept steadily at work completing their intrenchments and, when there was a slight show of faltering after a shot better directed than the others had done some execution in the trenches, Prescott himself mounted the works and marched to and fro with drawn sword, regardless of the fact that he was a mark for the British. He thus preserved the courage of his men who had never before been under fire.

British Began Attack.

It was about three o'clock in the afternoon when the British troops, supported by a terrific bombardment from the ships in the harbor, advanced in solid column against the fortifications. Confidently they approached the works of the Americans, construing the silence on the hilltop as timidity. They changed their attitude on this point when they arrived within a few hundred feet of the redoubt. The Americans had been ordered to refrain from firing until the command was given. Thus it was the British advancing over the open stretch of ground, panting from the heat and the weight of their knapsacks, heard the word "Fire!" at the moment of their supreme confidence, and recoiled before a volley that mowed down many of their number.

A deadly fire was poured into the British columns, the marksmen of the Americans picking off the officers. Along the whole line of fortifications, from the rail fence to the redoubt, the British columns advanced a second time and once more were met with deadly fire. Now, however, they were prepared for it; although staggered by the shock, they soon rallied and continued their advance. The Americans fired with such rapidity that it seemed as if a continuous stream of fire poured out from the redoubt.

Brought Help to Prescott.

Although the field was strewn with their dead, the British again attempted to take the American position. Prescott had sent for re-enforcements early in the day and John Stark, with his New Hampshire company, had courageously crossed Charlestown neck under a severe fire from the enemy. But the hazard of the attempt deterred other commanders from bringing troops to the support of the brave Prescott.

With ammunition almost exhausted and troops tired out from the strain to which they had been subjected, Prescott realized the futility of holding his position in the face of repeated attacks by the reformed and re-enforced British lines. Nevertheless, he determined again to measure his strength with the adversary; and, with a command to his men to make every shot tell, he awaited the advance of the British. Again the latter were permitted to advance within 20 yards of the American works before they were fired upon. The British line was broken, but still it advanced. With their powder now quite exhausted, the Americans met their opponents with clubbed muskets and bayonets.

The odds were too great and Prescott ordered his men to retreat. It was in doing this that the Americans suffered their heaviest loss; among others who fell was Warren, one of the most cherished of the popular leaders.

ROLL CALL AND COVENANT MEETING AT THE BAPTIST CHURCH HERE

On next Sunday, July 6, the church will hold a periodical roll call and Covenant Meeting, as is the custom in a large proportion of Baptist churches. The membership has a tendency to become scattered and the roll call assists in locating them.

The Church Covenant is used by Baptist Churches as a short summary of the Scripture statements of Christ and the apostle as to the nature of a New Tesament Church and the obligations assumed by its members towards each other and the world at large. This is especially appropriate at this time just after a large number of young people who need instructing have come into our church.

The world at large should not judge Christianity by the conduct of its church members altogether, although it has the right to do so, but rather should examine the ideals for which Christianity contends, e.g., as set forth in the Covenant. If the professors of Christianity fall short it is their individual fault and not of Him who said "If any man will come after me, let him deny himself and take up his cross daily and follow me."

Covenant Agreement of Members of Clanton Baptist Church.

As we have been brought by divine grace to embrace the Lord Jesus Christ as our Savior, and by the influence of His Spirit to give ourselves up to him; so we do now solemnly covenant with each other, that God helping us, we will walk together in Brotherly Love.—I Cor., 12:12.

That we will exercise a Christian care and watchfulness over each other and faithfully warn, rebuke and admonish one another as the case my require.—I Thes. 5:14-15.

That we will not forsake the assembling of ourselves together, nor omit the great duty of prayer(both for ourselves nd others.)—Hebrews 10:25 .

That we will participate in each others joys and endeavor with tenderness and sympathy to bear each others burdens and sorrows.—Romans 12:15; Gal. 6:1-2.

That we will earnestly endeavor to bring up those who are under our care in the nurture and admonition of the Lord.—Eph. 6.4.

That we will seek divine aid to enable us to walk circumspectly and prayerfully in the world, denying ourselves of all ungodliness and worldly lust.—Titus 2:11-12.

That we will strive together for the support of a faithful and evangelical ministry.—I Cor. 9:14.

That we will endeavor by precent and example, to win souls to Christ and through life, amidst evil as well as good report, seek to live to the glory of Him who has calleld us out of darkness into His marvelous light. —I Peter 2:11-12.

SESSION CHILTON COUNTY SINGING CONVENTION

The Fifteenth Annual Session of the Chilton County Singing Convention will be held at Collins Chapel Church, two miles east of Thorsby, on Saturday afternoon and Sunday, July 19 and 20, 1919.

A business session will be held on Saturday at 2:00 o'clock, p.m..

Sunday will be spent in singing, and we expect to have some of the best singers of the county in attendance.

All members are urged to attend the business session.

Those wishing conveyance from Thorsby, write J. M. Mims, Clanton, Alabama, Route No. 4.

MRS. HONEYCUTT DEAD

Mrs. R. M. Honeycutt, wife of former Probate Judge Huneycutt, died at the Family home in Jemison last Saturday and was burried at Pleasant Grove Sunday. The deceased was an honored lady of good report, having many warm friends through out the country who will mourn her untimely death.

WHERE THE BARBECUE WILL BE

The Committee on Location for the Barbecue in Clanton on the Fourth has decided to have it in the grove just north of Maddox's Gin, on the hillside adjacent to the city water works plant. The location is not what you might call an ideal one, but taking all things into consideration, it is the best that can be obtained in Clanton. There is plenty of shade and conditions surrounding the place make it free and accessible for such an occasion.

The table is being constructed in good style, and the committee in the charge of the barbecue is having the meats prepared. The boy scouts will be on the ground with plenty of ice cold drinks to quench your thirst, and everything points to a successful day.

OLD SOLDIERS INVITED TO COME HERE ON THE FOURTH

The committee in charge of the Barbecue and Sosdiers Celebration here on the Fourth of July extends a special invitation to all the old Confederate soldiers in the County to come here on the Fourth and have a good time with the young soldiers of the late war.

We hope that all the Confederate veterans of the county will be here. Provisions will be made by the committee to see that they have a good time and are taken care of. The boy scouts will be on hand to assist the old soldiers in any way they can. Come along, old soldiers, and help the young soldiers have a time.

J. Monroe Parrish of Beat 16 came to Clanton Monday and paid to the Barbecue Treasurer the contribution of his community for the Fourth of July Celebration. He said his people intended to come to Clanton on the Fourth and help make the day what it ought to be for our soldiers, and that they wanted to pay their bit on the expenses. This shows that old Beat 16 can still be depended upon to come across with her share of any good movement. The people of that Beat live in the hills it is true, but there are no better people on earth.

NEWS OF MARS HILL

Dear Editor:

Will you please allow me a small space in your paper to say a few words from this place.

Health around here is very good, everybody working these beautiful days.

Singing here at this place was just fine. Every singer seemed to take a great interest in the singing.

The directors for the day were, A. H. Glasscock, James Franklin, C. W. Scott, Zack Jones, Joseph Headley and Edgar Scott.

We were sure glad to have Prof. A. H. Glasscock and Prof. Franklin with us. They rendered us some good songs, which we are sure everyone enjoyed, the singers especially.

Organists for the day were, Miss Mamie Cofer, Mrs. Levie Scott, Mrs. China Headley and Prof. George Anderson.

Several people were here from Pates Chapel, Providence and many other places.

At noon a bountiful dinner was served, everyone (I suppose) enjoyed a full meal.

There will be preaching at this place next First Sunday.

W were glad to see so many folks come out to the singing. We have singings every second and fourth Sundays in each month.

The farmers seem to be getting along well with their crops. Hope they will have a success.

Come, all you subscribers to this paper, and let's cheer our readers by writing the happenings of our home communities.

Wat shall we do with The Kaiser?

Keep your eye on the yellow name label on your paper. It tells you the date your subscription will be out. Remember we stop your paper when your time is out.

GOOD ROADS MEETING AT MONTGOMERY JULY 10-11

A letter received by The Union-Baner from Mr. F. A. Gulledge of Verbena, is of especial interest and significance to the people of Chilton County in the matter of good roads and improved highways. Mr. Gulledge's remarks are made upon the receipt by him of a letter from Hon. F. J. Cramton of Montgomery, president of the Alabama Highway Improvement Association.

The subject under direct discussion in both letters is the meeting of the Highway Association in Montgomery July 10 and 11, and indirectly urging our people to wake up to their opportunities in the matter of good roads.

Mr. Gulledge's Letter.

Editor Union-Banner:

I send you for publication in your next week's issue a copy of letter to me from Fred J. Cramton, president of the Alabama Highway Improvement Association, relative to a meeting of the association in Montgomery on July 10 and 11.

The public of Chilton and all other Alabama counties should bear in mind that they have an offer from Uncle Sam of six million dollars. If Alabama will raise a like amount. I have no automobile, use the public roads very little, yet, to further guud roads and the comfort and financial interest of Alabama's citizens I spend probably more money than any citizen of our county.

Let Chilton County send a strong delegation down, not for one but two days. Let us get out of that meeting all there is to be had. Bring out your new big cars. Rub up your old Ford; get a hair cut and a nice shave; put on your best clothes; go down and let us put Chilton County on the map.

Take your wives and daughters along. You and they will learn something at this good roads gathering. Don't go to the picture show, but to the good roads meeting, at the close of which you can say like the good old Methodist or Baptist at the close of a revival: "Brethren, it is good to be here."

Yours for the six million and better roads. F. A. Gulledge.

Cramton's Letter.

Mr. F. A. Gulledge.

My Dear Sir:—The time has come when the people of Alabama must settle the question of building and maintaining good roads all over the State. A way must be found to secure the six million dollars which has been offered to Alabama by the Federal Government.

The Good Roads Convention in Montgomery July 10—11 will be the opportunity for your County to show whether it wants good roads or not. The members of the Legislature are anxious that Alabama should have good roads, but we must let them know that we are interested,and you must let them know that your County is interested.

The Convention will determine a definite plan of good roads building for recommendation to the Legislature, and as a pledge of support to their final action.

Many counties in the State have already expressed their deep interest in the Convention and will send a strong delegation to represent them. Every county in the State should be well represented. The interest of your county in good roads will be indicated by the delegation you send to the Convention.

Yours for good roads for Alabama.

F. J. Cramton, Pres.

We people of Clanton are good people, even if we do have to say it ourselves. While at the same time, we have to give ourselves credit for also being very peculiar animals. Both these qualities have been very prominently shown in the recent activity regarding the Fourth of July Barbecue and Celebration. Clanton people have shown that they possess the most estimable spirit of giving to a good cause. Not only has that been demonstrated by the thousand dollars given by Clanton to provide our returned soldiers this Barbecue and celebration; but our city has paid its quota in the several drives of one sort and another for war funds in the past two years.

Clanton evidently, is interested and determined in its action toward the Barbecue, or else the money would not have been raised so easily, but outside of paying the cash no interest was manifest; and therein lies an instance of our peculiarity. People are looking forward to the Fourth expecting a big time and they will have it too. But more of us should realize that there then on the Fourth go up to a table in the grove is more to do than merely to pay a dollar and and grab a leg of barbecued mutton and set to work on it. Our people are indeed entitled to high honors for their financial support. But they should be impressed to lend more of their personal influence toward helping carry out plans. It is too much for the few who have kept this thing alive to have to make all the plans and carry out, when at the same time there are dozens of other good competent citizens doing nothing but paying their dollar and sitting in their easy chairs waiting for the meat to be cooked.

Clanton has the right kind of public spirit. Our people are good people and can be relied upon for their part of any honorable proposition. But their interest can be measured only by what they actually pay. They seem to be absolutely averse to coming out to a public meeting to push an undertaking. But if some two or three will lay out the scheme and send the list around, they will pay all right.

We reckon after all it is better for us to fail to show our interest publicly, but give of our means liberally when asked, than to make a big public showing at first and then fail to come across with the cash.

Anyway, now the barbecue has been pulled through. The plans have all been splendidly executed, the tables all built, and even at this writing you may sense the odor of barbecued lamb and mutton and beef, all getting in readiness for the host of people that are to be here on the Fourth.

And the honors for the occasion are not after all to those whose money provided the material things of the day. All these things are reverently given by the donors that our soldier boys who have returned to us may feel that they did not fight in vain, and that their comrades who sleep in Flanders fields did not die for a people who do not appreciate their sacrifice.

Where Were They a Year Ago?

A year ago our boys were facing the Huns on the bloody battle line in France. In addition to those who were already facing the enemy guns millions more were training in the camps of this country preparing themselves for the awful ordeal. And behind those in the camps there was another steady stream of millions of civilians whose uniforms were already made and whose guns were already forged, waiting the call that would bring them into active service. Indeed, our whole country, men, money, and all material, resources, was devoted to the filling of the bloody lusts of the war god, mad with rage throughout the entire world.

But what is the condition today? The bloody beast that set the world on fire has been subdued by the onsloughts of our own determined boys. Our resources have accomplished that task whereunto we so loyally devoted them, and our sons and brothers have returned to us with the trophy of victory. The great stream of our best and most vigorous mankind that a year ago was flowing outward from our homes to foreign lands, has been turned about and has quickly wafted the boys back to us. Then should we be proud? Should we celebrate our success.

Indeed, there has never been a time in the brief space of our lives when we had more real reason to celebrate than this Fourth of July, our National Independence Day. Chilton County had her share of the men engaged in the great conflict that has just been officially closed by the signing of the peace treaty. And we should now do our share of the celebrating. Let us do it on the Fourth. Clanton will be running over with the joy of the occasion on the Fourth. The people of Chilton County will be here to show that they are glad that we now live in a world at peace, instead of a world at war.

JUDGE REYNOLDS' APPEAL FOR DELEGATION TO ROAD MEETING

The Alabama Highway Improvement Association will meet in Montgomery July 10 and 11. I have asked for 20 penants for cars going from here and I hope every one will be used. I am asking that everyone who will carry their car to Montgomery the 10th write me so that I can furnish them a penant.

I want the people in this county to take an interest in this meeting for it will be an important meeing for us as we must have something done for the highways or we will lose what has already been done. It is time the poor counties, like ours,, were doing something to try and get help on our public roads and as the legislature will be in session on the day the association meets, a large convention will certainly have some effect on them.

The United States government has given Chilton County three trucks. We have one tractor and some other road tools which could be used on the roads if we only had some money with which to operate them, but we have not a cent that we can spare. If we had $6,000 to put up for the county we could get $6,000 given to us by the State and $12,000 given to us by the U. S. government. Now, if this is not enough to arouse every thinking man in this county—to put up one dollar and the government gives you three—and yet, we cannot go our part on account of our financial condition.

The rich counties are taking advantage of the offers of the government and are building roads all over their county, but poor counties like ours are going backwards for we are letting our roads go down.

I have written so much about the roads that I am almost ashamed to ask the papers to print anything from me, but when I see the roads going down I feel like I want to do something. So, won't you go to Montgomery July 10 to meet the legislature and impress with them the importance of getting up some plan to help the counties that are in the same condition as ours?

I hope at least twenty men will immediately write me that they will go to Montgomery July 10 and 11, and I will send them a banner for their car.

L. H. REYNOLDS.

Judge S. M. Adams went to Procter Creek Church in Coosa County lat Sunday by invitation of the people of that Community and Delivered one of his most stirring and powerful addresses on the evils of Romanism. The Judge is one of our best informed and most energetic stutents of this situation, having given much time and study to the question. He reports much interest among the people at Procter Creek on the subject of his address, and we are sure that his hearers were delighted at the speech they heard.

The Mahan Brake in Operation.

CLANTON BRAKE FACTORY TO EXPAND ITS SCOPE

Mahan Brake Company, Incorporated, Will Extend its Sales Field Over Entire Country now.

After ten years of successful manufacturing and selling of the Mahan Wagon Brake, the owners of the business have decided that now is the right time to expand their business and to reach out into larger fields for their business.

They have just recently equipped their factory with modern machinery that has largely increased its daily capacity and are thus prepared to take care of much larger volume of business than they have been heretofore.

The Mahan Wagon Brake is well and favorably known over all middle Alabama and in many other parts of the country as well. It possesses points of superiority not held by any other brake made and is especially popular with loggers, lumbermen, farmers and others whose work demands an absolutely efficient and sure-working brake.

The present owners of the business, Messrs Henry, Arkie and Zed Mahan and J. W. Stanfield, will incorporate immediately for $50,000. Part of the capital stock will be placed on the market. The people of Clanton and Chilton County will be given the first oportunity of investing in this home enterprise and if any stock remains, it will be placed elsewhere.

The Organization Service, Inc., of Birmingham, are acting as fiscal, advertising and sales agents for the new corporation, and they have placed Mr. Claud E. Marcus, a well known Clanton boy who is a member of the firm, in Clanton to look after the local end of the business. Sales and advertising offices have already been opened in the Lyric Building, Birmingham, under the direct charge of H. D. Cullen, president of the Organization Service, Inc.

Local people are very enthusiastic as to the future of this enterprising firm and good business is predicted from the start.

Mr. Marcus will have charge of the demonstration booth at Clanton on Friday of this week, on the occasion of Chilton County's big home-coming celebration, where the brakes will be shown in actual operation to all those who may not already be familiar with it.

BOY SCOUTS

The Clanton Boy Scouts are going to cut a big figure in the Celebration at Clanton on the Fourth. Their activities will take in vasrious phases of the occasion, and preparations have been made to pull down their part of the program in grand style. The scouts have officially adopted as their slogan for that day "Tell it to the Boy Scouts; they will help yoo do it."

The Scout Band.

To begin with, the music for the occasion is to be furnished by the Boy Scout Band. This feature alone stamps the scout movement in Clanton as a thing of which our people ought to be highly thankful and in which we ought to exercise much pride. It is worth a great deal for Clanton to have right here at home a band for such occasions. And for all this the scouts are to be rendered the thanks.

Information Bureau.

On the barbecue grounds the Fourth there will be established temporary scout headquarters which will be for the purpose of serving the people as an information and assistance agency. Don't forget to tell it to the Boy Scouts. They will help you do it. Ask them anything you want to know and you will get a keen and cordial response. The ladies and old people especially are urged to take advantage of the usefulness of the scouts on that day. One main thing the scouts are planning to do is to help the mothers keep track of the babies and little ones who may chance to roam among the crowds, and any assistance that they may be to the older who need assistance and direction about anything, the same will be granted with gladness. It is a part of the scout program, and the people are expected to use the boys in any of these ways.

Ice Cream and Drinks.

The entire concession for selling ice cream and cold drinks on the barbecue grounds for that day has been given to the souts and they have already made arrangements to serve the people amply in this respect. It is hoped that the patronage that they receive in this business that day may render aid to the scout movement financially and enable the boys to have a little money ahead in their treasury to take care of their little necessary expenses from time to time. You are urged to quench your thirst on the Fourth by a drink of soda water and thereby at the same time help to strengtnen the scouts in their worthy efforts to accomplish things worth while.

"A WORD TO THE WISE."

It is not safe to buy land or to lend money and accept land as security without first investigating the title of the land. Often there are unpaid mortgages, judgments, taxes, or other liens affecting the title, which an abstract would set out. Therefore, when buying land or lending money thereon, it is important that an abstract of title be furnished. A few dollars spent for an abstract is cheaper than having a law suit later on.

There are two abstract companies at Clanton, either of which are in position to make accurate abstracts of title. The Clanton Abstract Company is owned by F. B. Collier and the Chilton County Abstract Company is owned by M. D. Foshee. Either Company will treat you right as to the price.

Hymn for Independence Day

Eugene C. Dolson.

O Thou, who through the long years gone
Hast guided us in safety on,—
God of our native land, to Thee,
The guardian of Liberty,
Our hearts today in one accord
Acknowledge all, and thank Thee, Lord.

Beyond the swift-receding past
The world moves on, through changes vast;
Beyond the reach of ways outworn
Our restless age is onward borne.
Oh, keep us one in heart henceforth,
From sea to sea, from South to North!

On this, our nation's natal day,
For world-wide amity we pray;
For peace, good-will, disarmament
In lands by war and faction rent;
For all which trends to common good
And universal brotherhood.

But first and most of all things yet,
Our own trust let us not forget:
Be ours to guard that freedom won
At Bunker Hill and Lexington,—
Be ours true loyal hearts and free—
True to our sires and true to Thee!

WHEN HUNS WERE OVER HERE

Replica of One of the Huts Which Sheltered Hessians Is Interesting in This Year 1919.

As a reminder of the dark days in our history, a replica of one of the huts that sheltered the Hessian troops on Inwood hill, Manhattan island, in Revolutionary times has been reconstructed at Broadway and Two Hundred and Fourth street, New York. It is built of stones excavated from the ruins of some 40 of the barracks that have of late been uncovered on the east slope of the historical ridge, and of timbers of a Long Island barn erected in the latter part of the eighteenth century. It contains many of the relics that have been recovered during the excavating, which has been carried on for several years.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

NORTH CAROLINA WAS FIRST

Published Declaration of Independence Long Before the One Which Has Become Immortal.

North Carolina not only disputes with New England the honor of the first battle of the Revolution, and the credit of holding the first "tea party," but points with pride to its Mecklenburg Declaration of Independence, antedating that of Philadelphia by two months. The battle of Alamance was fought in 1771, admitted by at least one New England historian, Bancroft, as being the first of the Revolution. The tea party was held in front of the governor's palace at least eighty years before Boston dumped her tea in the harbor.

A BIBLE INSTITUTE

I attended three lectures given by C. Leroy Butler, D.D., L.L.D., at Salem Baptist Church (colored) in Clanton last week, and I want to say they have a man that is qulified to do the darkies great good and I feel sure that he is doing a great work among the colored people.

He is an evangelist of the Home Board of the Southern Baptist Convention and I do not think the Board has made any mistake in sending out this man. I understand that he has worked for four years traveling in Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Florida and Georgia and is now in Alabama, his native State. He was born at Wilsonville, Shelby County.

The Shelby Springs Colored Baptist Association of which Rev R. C. Mixon is Moderator, arranged with the Board to secure the services of Rev. Butler five weeks within their bou nds. They call it conducting Bible Institutes and a school for the pastors. The pastors will follow this Institute work with an evangelic campaign under the leadership of Dr. Butler.

I will say further that he is not only intelligent but if I am any judge, he preaches sound Bible doctrine, which is sometimes a rarity in this day. Good for the darkies.

Rev. R. C. Mixon has been pastor in Clanton I understand about sixteen years, and has the confidence and esteem of his people. There seems to be no thought among the colored people of having anybody else as pastor. He is a good mixer and a good stayer.

FREEDOM OVER ALL THE EARTH

Due Recognition of Human Rights Now the Aim of Mankind.

Independence hall is holy ground at the entrance to which, like Moses at the bush of fire, one should remove his shoes; but it pales into insignificance beside Interdependence hall which someday we must build across the street from the "birthplace of American liberty." One hundred, two score and three years ago, the federation of the thirteen colonies into a federal union was a political event of prime import; today it is overshadowed by the thing of which Tennyson dreamed. "The Federation of the World." The Declaration of Independence is a state paper of such significance as to stand in a class by itself. It immortalized every man who signed it. "These united colonies are and of right ought to be free and independent states; absolved from all allegiance to the British crown; and all connection between them and Great Britain, is and ought to be totally dissolved." So run the words of fire the idealism of which was to be made real if need be, by the lives, as well as the property and sacred honor of the signatories. But the Declaration of Interdependence of all free peoples will overtop that of July 4, 1776, as the oak overtops the daisy.

Great Patriotic Aim.

But at that time independence was the biggest and best thing the fathers could purchase in a war of seven years. They could not enjoy the unalienable rights of "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness" while ruled by Great Britain, for to be subject to England meant to be robbed and exploited, jailed or hanged at the behest of a half-mad German, George III, who wore the British crown.

And so the patriots proposed to stand alone, to be independent. They proposed an equitable self-rule on lines more liberal than ever had been tried; there were to be neither kings nor kinglets but rather a state of human equality.

Across the water it was a dark day for human rights. In all Europe liberty was eclipsed; there was not one free people. Monarchs were supreme and more or less tryannical; and so, to stand alone and even aloof, as Washington counseled, was to be prudent. No alliance was possible save with that which they had just renounced—kingcraft.

Old Order Abolished.

But "the old order changeth, giving place to new." Today, in 1919, the proper social desire of the individual is to "live in a house by the side of the road and be a friend to man." And similarly, to live in the crossroads of the nations and show vital interest in all that pertains to humanity is the proper attitude for the nation. The setting for the next act on the world stage must be big enough for interdependence and internationalism. Interdependence is life and opportunity for both. "We must hang together or we will hang separately."

By maintaining independence and aloofness the fathers hoped to succeed; isolation spelled safety, and so they trusted that a deep, wide moat at their front door, the Atlantic ocean, would keep their foes at a distance of 3,000 miles while they should gain numbers and wealth and experience in governing themselves. They minted coins bearing the inscriptions, "Let Me Alone" and "Don't Step on Me," the latter beneath the figure of a coiled rattlesnake, and cutting themselves off from world politics and world interests they became a self-contained, self-sufficient people, enjoying free assembly, free speech, free press and free religion, but making Americanism dangerously near a big provincialism. We helped no other people to gain our glorious liberty. All was well if we were let alone by the political and warring world.

Autocracy in Rout.

But a new world order has come in. The western hemisphere is all free. China has astonished the world by electing a president. "The bear that walks like a man" becomes human for a fortnight and is free—until his liberty, mistaken for license, enslaved him to the bolsheviki. France and Portugal are free; Great Britain, our ancient oppressor, is free and is our friend. The British empire is free, a galaxy of great self-governing peoples—Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa—all free, even though a figurehead king is its nominal head; but Lloyd George, democrat, not George V autocrat, is the real ruler of the British empire!

Now for "Peace on Earth."

Free peoples do not menace the tranquility of the world; they are not bent on conquest; they seek not to impose their will on their neighbors, even though the neighbor be weak and small. They covet nothing which is their neighbor's. They stand for peace on earth and good will among men. The considerations alike of safety and ethics demand the observation of the golden rule among nations.

On July 4, 1776, the old Liberty bell rang out in order to "proclaim liberty throughout all the land, unto all the inhabitants thereof." Suppose that on another July 4 it were permitted to raise its cracked and wheezy voice to do a bigger and far nobler thing: Proclaim liberty to all the oppressed of the world! Where is the man who would not wish to live in that good world? Surely not one would pray with Simeon, "Lord, lettest thou thy servant now depart in peace."

Let all the free peoples of the world send representatives to meet in Independence hall. Let them create and sign a nobler document than that which the fathers made and signed; nobler and larger for one reason only—the new document will be the Declaration of Interdependence.

That declaration will enable all free peoples to stand against the aggression of autocratic spoilers. It will assert the solidarity of all who stand for freedom and who love their fellow men. It will set forth the growing sense of human brotherhood. It will express in larger measure the high political ideals of our time. It may not ring in a thousand years of peace, but it will herald that dawn—

When light shall spread, and man be liker man,
Through all the circle of the golden year.

AMERICA'S DEBT TO LAFAYETTE

Washington Paid Tribute to Great Services Rendered.

WHEN the Revolution began Americans were still pioneers and straight shooters. The country was full of men who had seen service in war against the French and Indians. Washington had been all his life a soldier. It is not surprising that American officers felt quite able to handle the military situation without assistance from the host of applicants for commissions from abroad. Therefore when Washington heard that a young Frenchman named Lafayette had left his wife and child and crossed the ocean to serve the American cause as a volunteer without pay, he muttered: "One more incumbrance." But Lafayette pleaded: "Give me a chance; I do not want to be an honorary soldier."

He went to Washington's camp and there began a friendship which ran through so many years like an idyl. In 1788 Brissot visited Washington at Mt. Vernon with a letter from Lafayette.

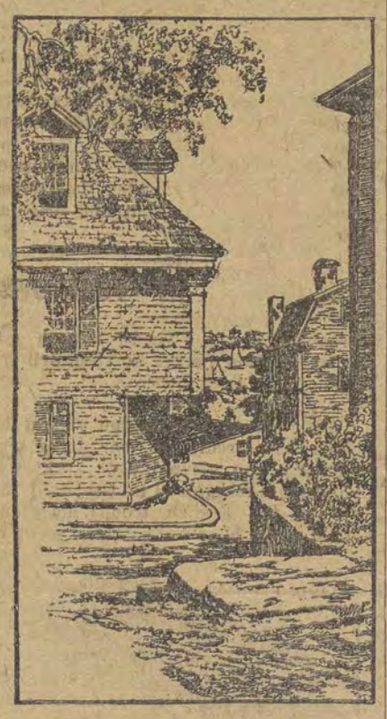
Lafayette.

He says Washington "spoke to me of M. De Lafayette with emotion; he considers him as his child." Later, Lafayette sent to Washington the key to the destroyed Bastile, saying: "It is a tribute which I owe as a son to my adopted father, as an aid-de-camp to my general, as a missionary of liberty to its patriarch."

French Eager in Liberty's Cause.

The spirit of Lafayette was the spirit of Rochambeau's army. A host of young French officers looked on the expedition as a crusade for liberty, and crowded for places. Young Berthier was a volunteer at Yorktown, and he became a marshal of France. Viscount De Noailles marched afoot the whole 756 miles from Newport to Yorktown. Young Saint-Simon, Closen, Chastellux, a brother of Mirabeau, a brother of Talleyrand, Barras, later Director Barras, and many other enthusiasts for liberty were in the expedition. They understood Americans. Equality was the particular American trait which impressed them most, and this idea was imported by them from America into France.

Rochambeau placed himself and his army under the command of Washington. The ragged Americans always had the right of the line. In case of equality of rank, the American officer always took command. Not so much as a cabbage was taken without payment. Before Yorktown the Americans were not skilled in siege operations, and Washington gratefully acknowledged the service of the French engineers. The French fleet closed the river, and the surrender came. Without that French help we tremble to think what might have happened.



Fired Lafayette's Ardor.

Toward the close of the year 1776, the duke of Cumberland, who was the brother of King George III of England, was traveling in France, and one day he arrived at the town of Metz, then a French possession. A certain count De Broglie, a veteran of many battles, was in command of the garrison, and, to do honor to his distinguished visitor, he invited some of his officers to meet him at dinner. Now it happened that the duke of Cumberland was in disfavor with his royal brother—he was, in fact, in banishment. He had lately received news that certain of his majesty's colonies in America had rebelled and declared themselves free, declining to be subject any longer to a tyrannical king. It would seem that the duke of Cumberland told the story with some gusto, as if he were not altogether sorry that his brother was in trouble. One officer listened with particular attention. He was a youth of nineteen, tall and thin, with a long nose and reddish hair. His solemn expression and his somewhat awkward manner contrasted strongly with the frivolous ease and grace of the other young officers present. He was a marquis of long descent, connected by marriage with one of the greatest families in France, and he had at his own disposition a very large income. He listened intently, he asked many eager questions, and when he rose from the table he had made a momentous and historic resolution. He had resolved to abandon the pleasures and luxuries of the gayest court in the world, even to leave his young wife and child, and to cast in his lot with these strange rebels in America. In his own words, "When first I heard of American independence, my heart was enlisted!" That young man was Lafayette; and when the American army went to the front in France, it merely paid a small part of the debt of gratitude we owe that splendid young officer—that true nobleman.

Appointed a major general by Washington in July, he fought at the battle of Brandywine in September and received an ugly wound. Soon again in the saddle, he went through many vicissitudes and privations with Washington at Valley Forge, his crowning exploit being the forcing of the retreat of Lord Cornwallis, leading to his surrender at Yorktown, in 1781. Although Washington and other famous American generals had joined him previous to the surrender, Lafayette, with a small force, had initiated the rout of Cornwallis at the battle of Albemarle. That the highest credit was due to Lafayette is shown by the fact that Washington warmly thanked and complimented him in the presence of the troops, after the great surrender which practically ended the war.

Patriot of Marblehead.

General Lafayette paid a tribute to Marblehead, Mass., by making two visits to the people, by whom he was received with bands of music and a huge procession of citizens. It is related that on his first visit in 1784 there was a controversy as to how the procession was to proceed through the main streets of the town, owing to the fact that at one of the sharp turns, a house so jutted into the road that the general's coach could not pass. On the morning of the great event, it was discovered that the patriotic family occupying the property had cut off a section of the house, removing the offending corner and thus the coach was driven without a hitch through the street. The house with part of the first story missing can still be seen in this year of 1919, and is shown in the illustration.

Come In With Us!

For ten years the Mahan Wagon Brake has been manufactured right here in Clanton—at first in the blacksmith shop made by by hand; later we have been making more of them and have installed suitable machinery for quantity production.

We believe that it has been fully demonstrated that the Brake is a thorough success, mechanically as nearly perfect as it can be made. Brakes that have been in use in Chilton County for ten years are still giving full satisfaction and their owners would not dispose of them at any price, unless they could replace them.

We are incorporating our business and are providing more adequate capital for expansion. We are putting our own money into the new cofpany in full confidence,—and we are offering our friends right here in Clanton and Chilton Couty the opportunity to come in with us on a fair basis. No stock will be offered outside of this county until we have taken care of our friends at home.

Mr. Claud E. Marcus, field representative of the Organization Service, Inc., is acting fiscal agent and will be located in Clanton for some time. He is a Clanton boy, who is himself very much interested in the success of this business, and we bespeak for him your courtesy and hope that he will be successful in dispoing of all the tock that we intend to sell, right here in Clanton.

THE FIVE SOLDIER SONS OF MR. J. BICE OF LOMAX, ALA.

It is one of the remarkable occurrences of the war that five boys out of one family should go through the whole conflict and return home without a scratch. But such is the experience of the five boys of Mr. Jonathan Bice of Lomax. They all entered the service early in the days of the war and all went across and did active service in France, and today they are all back home in the best of health and spirits, having seen the whole show without a single wound to anyone of them. They were all in Clanton a few days ago with their father and had a picture made with him. The Union-Banner secured one of the pictures and we reproduce it above for the benefit of our readers over the county, many of whom know Mr. Bice and the boys well.

Mr. Bice was in Clanton Tuesday and states that he and his five boys would be in Clanton on the Fourth, where they hope to see all their old friends.

HANDS, ARMS, LIMBS ASLEEP

And Was Run-Down, Weak and Nervous, Says Florida Lady. Five Bottles of Cardui Made Her Well.

Kathleen, Fla.—Mrs. Dallas Prine, of this place, says: "After the birth of my last child...I got very much run-down and weakened, so much that I could hardly do anything at all. I was so awfully nervous that I could scarcely endure the least noise. My condition was getting worse all the time...

I knew I must have some relief or I would soon be in the bed and in a serious condition for I felt so badly and was so nervous and weak I could hardly live. My husband asked Dr. ——about my taking Cardui. He said, 'It's a good medicine, and good for that trouble', so he got me 5 bottles...After about the second bottle I felt greatly improved...before taking it my limbs and hands and arms would go to sleep. After taking it, however, this poor circulation disappeared. My strength came back to me and I was soon on the road to health. After the use of about 5 bottles, I could do all my house-work and attend to my six children besides."

You can feel safe in giving Cardui a thorough trial for your troubles. It contains no harmful or habit-forming drugs, but is composed of mild, vegetable, medicinal ingredients with no bad after-effects. Thousands of women have voluntarily written, telling of the good Cardui has done them. It should help you, too. Try it. E 74

The DISPATCH RIDER

By F. A. MITCHEL

THERE was a time during the American Revolution when the British held New York city and a portion of New Jersey. The American forces were at Morristown, N. J., and at Dobbs Ferry on the Hudson and points above. Communication between Morristown and Dobbs Ferry was maintained by dispatch riders who traveled in a line between the two points through Orange. At a recent decentennial celebration of the founding of the latter place a bronze statue of the dispatch rider was erected.

One day George Paton, one of these messengers, stood in Washington's private office at his Morristown headquarters. (Any visitor may see the room today just as it was then, on the northwest corner of the building.) Washington, sitting at his desk, turned and handed Paton a dispatch, saying:

"I wish you could contrive to let this dispatch fall into the hands of the enemy. Further, I would like information of their movements when they receive it, though I admit I don't expect such information. At any rate, after leaving Orange you might pretend to have lost your way, taking a southerly direction between Newark and Elizabeth, where the enemy's outposts are located. I will give you the best horse in the command. You may contrive to drop the dispatch—let them pick it up and escape. This is only a suggestion; you must, of course, be governed by circumstances."

That afternoon George Paton, instead of following his commander's suggestion, rode boldly up to a British outpost near Elizabeth, surrendered himself and asked to be taken to the British general. There he produced his dispatch, which the general read eagerly.

Turned and Handed Paton a Dispatch.

"What does this mean?" he asked, looking up at Paton.

"It means, general, that I have been a dispatch rider in the American army, but I am convinced that it is useless and wicked to fight against the lawful sovereign. I was charged this morning to take this dispatch to Dobbs Ferry. I have brought it to you."

The general turned again to the dispatch. There was Washington's handwriting—his signature. Then he looked anew at the dispatch rider. Then he probed Paton with cross questions, all of which the man answered satisfactorily. Then the general sat looking at him with an expression on his face which plainly said: "Dare I trust you?"

"Young man," he said presently, looking up with a crafty eye. "You can do your king a great service. I will give you a dispatch for General Howe, commanding in New York. Go back with it to this rebel, Washington, and tell him you chased a messenger of mine and took it from him. Will you do this?"

"You ask too much, general. I was met and questioned by a party of American horsemen just outside your lines. Seeing that I could not give them a good reason for not being on the road to Dobbs Ferry, I put spurs to my horse and got away from them. To go back to General Washington would be to go to a halter. But this I will do. Give me the king's uniform and the dispatch. I will approach the American lines, and on being seen will turn and run, dropping the dispatch on the way, for them to pick up."

"H'm," said the general, thoughtfully, "I am disappointed that you can't adopt the plan I propose. However, your refusal to do so convinces me that you have told me the truth and have turned to our side. If you can work the plan you suggest it may serve the same purpose."

At nine o'clock that night George Paton rode up to the ferryman at Communipaw and as a courier from the general commanding at Elizabeth, demanded to be taken at once across to General Howe at New York. He found the general just about to go to bed. Paton handed him the dispatch. General Howe read it and called an aide-de-camp. Couriers were sent flying down the Jersey coast.

Paton, stating that he had orders to return at once to Elizabeth, recrossed the ferry, and at daylight the next morning rode up to the American pickets at Morristown. He was recognized and permitted to go to headquarters. He found General Washington up and giving his aide, Capt. Alexander Hamilton, memoranda upon which to write the communications for the day. Washington, seeing Paton in the uniform of a British trooper, looked at him in astonishment. The young man gave him an account of his doings as it has been given here, following it up by an explanation of what had probably been accomplished.

Washington, desirous of making transposition of his forces between Morristown and the Hudson in order to distract the enemy's attention, had sent by Paton a communication that he was about to attack certain British troops in the neighborhood of Trenton. The general commanding at Elizabeth gave Paton a dispatch to General Howe, intended for Washington, stating that the troops at Trenton were without arms and ammunition and practically defenseless. At the same time he ordered a large portion of his force there. General Howe, on receipt of the dispatch, ordered troops on the Jersey coast hurried to Trenton. The consequence of this secret service diplomacy was that Washington made his transfers between Dobbs Ferry and Morristown without being disturbed.

When the dispatch rider had finished his account Washington said to him:

"Your riding into the enemy's lines as a deserter was an exhibition of splendid nerve; your refusal to bear a message back to me was a stroke of genius. Had you agreed, it would have shown conclusively that you were a spy, seeking to deceive and gather information. You are the champion secret service rider in this or any other army."

"And the champion liar," added Captain Hamilton.

"Given a spy," said Paton, smiling, "and a bad liar, and the result is a scaffold."

The Trouble Is In the Blood.

Summer catarrh, with its nauseous discharge, stuffed up glands, difficult breathing, and summer colds, is bad enough, but the worst of it is yet to come if you neglect to check the growth that is forming to attack you with ten-fold greater power during the winter.

That's why it is so important to treat catarrhs and other blood disorders with S. S. S. during warm weather, and thus free the system from all impurities.

It is now an established fact that catarrh is in the blood and that lotions and salves do not give relief. The experience of others has proven that S. S. S. strikes at the very root of the trouble and eliminates it. Waste no time in this matter, for it is of the utmost importance. Write to our Medical Advisor about your case. WHAT DO YOU KNOW OF THE HOME OF FOOD PRODUCTS YOU USE

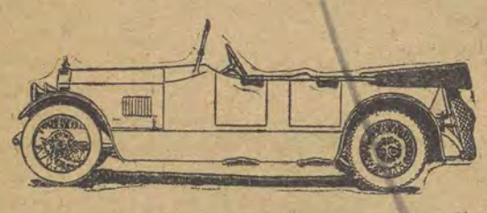
An article for food use in a can or package is like a person dressed in his "best." But you can't judge by appearances.

Every housewife should know something of the homes of the food products she buys. She should know something of the materials used—of the methods employed.

Is the factory clean? Is it sanitary? Are the materials pure and kept pure? You can't always tell by the looks of an article or by the taste. There's only one safe way— and that is knowledge of the source of production—acquaintance with the factory.



The Calument Baking Powder Co. of Chicago seems to appreciate the importance of the housewifes knowing the facts about the Calumet factory—the home of Calument Baking Powder. They not only invite everyone to visit their plant but also publish booklets, etc., picturing and describing their factory. It is the largest, finest best equipped factory of the kind in the world. Absolute sanitation governs every operation of manufacture. Every appliance, every inch of space is kept hygienically clean. Human hands never touch Calument.

Secured Liberty

The original Declaration itself and the desk on which it was written are preserved in the state department at Washington. The document, written on parchment in a bold hand and bearing the original signatures, was deposited with the department of state when the government was organized in 1789, and is still there, though sealed up in a steel case to preserve it from light and air, on account of the fading text and signatures, some of which have become illegible. That of John Hancock, which heads the names of the Massachusetts signers, is still conspicuous by its boldness, while that of Stephen Hopkins of Rhode Island still indicates the physical infirmity that made it almost impossible for him to write his name. Other historic names on the old document, some of them hardly legible, are Samuel Adams, Benjamin Franklin, Roger Sherman, Robert Morris, Thomas Jefferson, John Adams, Benjamin Rush and others less famous. Thomas Jefferson, who wrote the Declaration of Independence, gave the desk as a wedding present to a gentleman of Boston, who married Jefferson's granddaughter, and it remained in the family till 1880, when it was presented to President Hayes, who placed it in the state department building beside the immortal instrument which was written upon it in 1776.

DOCUMENT THAT MADE HISTORY

How the Immortal Declaration Was Drawn Up and Signed.

THE Fourth of July represents to the average American boy a great victory won some 140 years ago against overwhelming odds. He dimly remembers from his history lesson that something or other, called the Declaration of Independence, was signed that day in 1776. Sometimes he is not quite so sure of the date as that and he knows very little concerning the original document itself.

The original of the Declaration, written by hand on parchment, and now much worn and faded, is carefully preserved in an air-tight and light-proof case in the library of the department of state. Only facsimiles are exhibited today, the original being too precious a document to risk in the light and air.

A facsimile of the Declaration is on exhibition in the division of history in the older building of the National museum at Washington, where there are also preserved personal relics and mementos of several of the members of the second continental congress who signed this great resolution.

The history of the origin and drafting of the Declaration is of considerable interest. In the second continental congress, which was meeting in Philadelphia, Richard Henry Lee of Virginia, on June 7, 1776, introduced the following resolution, which was seconded by John Adams:

"Resolved, That these united colonies are, and of right ought to be, free and independent states; that they are absolved from all allegiance to the British crown, and that all political connection between them and the state of Great Britain is, and ought to be, totally dissolved.

"That it is expedient forthwith to take the most effectual measures for forming foreign alliances.

"That a plan of confederation be prepared and transmitted to the respective colonies for their approbation."

Consideration of this resolution was postponed, and on June 11, Thomas Jefferson, John Adams, Benjamin Franklin, Roger Sherman and R. R. Livingston were appointed a committee to prepare a Declaration to serve as a preamble to this independence resolution. This committee, known as the Jefferson committee, submitted a draft of the Declaration on June 28, which was laid on the table for later consideration. On July 1 congress, sitting as a committee of the whole to consider the resolution respecting independence, agreed thereto, and reported it to congress.

On July 2 the resolution itself was adopted by congress, and the Declaration was considered by the committee of the whole, being taken up the next day, July 3.

On July 4 the Declaration, which included the first paragraph of the resolution, was agreed to by the committee of the whole, reported to congress, and adopted. The independence of the united colonies was thus declared, and thereupon congress immediately ordered that the Declaration be authenticated and printed under the supervision of the committee previously appointed to prepare it, and that copies thereof be distributed to all state assemblies and to the commanding officers of the army.

In accordance with the above order, the Declaration was issued as a printed broadside on July 5, with the heading: "In Congress, July 4, 1776. A Declaration by the Representatives of the United States of America in General Congress assembled." It bore the name in print of John Hancock, president of the congress, and was attested by Secretary Charles Thomson, but bore no other names.

On July 19 it was resolved in congress:

"That the Declaration passed on the fourth be fairly engrossed on parchment, with the title and stile (style) of 'The unanimous declaration of the thirteen United States of America, and that the same, when engrossed, be signed by every member of congress."

It could not have been headed "Unanimous" on July 4, for the New York delegates had not then been authorized to agree to it, and it was not until July 15 that it was announced in the continental congress that the assembly of New York had approved the Declaration, and thus made it unanimous.

On August 2, 1776, the Declaration of Independence, being engrossed and compared, was signed by the members; those who were not present on August 2 affixing their signatures at later dates, all but one signing before January 18, 1777.

It has been ascertained that of the fifty-six signers, more than one-fourth were not present on July 4, 1776, and seven of them—Thornton, Williams, Rush, Clymer, Smith, Taylor and Ross—were not members on that date. On the other hand, seven members on that date—George Clinton, John Alsop, R. R. Livingston, Henry Wisner, Thomas Willing, Charles Humphreys and John Rogers—had not the privilege of becoming "signers," for the membership of all but one had ceased prior to August 2.

The first official issue of the Declaration bearing the names of the signers was printed as a broadside in Baltimore under the resolution of January 18, 1777, ordering that copies be sent to each of the United States. There are only four copies of this issue now known to exist, one of which is in the library of congress at Washington. It is authenticated in writing by John Hancock as president of congress and attested by Secretary Thomson.

Contrary to popular opinion, therefore, it is seen that the Declaration was not signed on July 4, the day it passed, but between August 2, 1776, and January 18, 1777, after it had been engrossed and compared, and then only by 55 members, all of whom were ordered to do so by the resolution passed July 19, 1776. The name of Thomas McKean, which does not appear among the signers in the printed copy, was added later—possibly not until 1781, making the fifty-sixth signer.

But little has ever been done to perpetuate the memory of these 56 early Americans, only a few of whom are well-known, but it is interesting to know that the National Society of the Sons of American Revolution, in co-operation with the Society of Descendants of the signers, is locating the graves of those patriots, and preparing a memorial volume to include a biography of each individual.

An Urgent Celebration

By Willis Brooks.

My father was Marshal one Fourth of July,
And made a long-lasting impression,
With his sash and his sword and a plume waving high,
As he gallantly rode a gay thoroughbred by
At the head of the gorgeous procession.

In a garlanded chariot next to the band
My mother was Liberty's Goddess;
With a cap on her head and a sword in her hand,
Begowned in the stripes of our glorious land,
Set off with a star-spangled bodice.

You see, this was ever so long, long ago—
Before they were known to each other;
And, of course, since he wasn't so much as her beau,
Neither one of them had any reason to know
That they were my father and mother.

Now the Marshal, you know, is expected to ride
Up and down the whole length of the column;
And the Goddess is always supposed to preside
As the guardian of Freedom, America's pride,
With a dignity stately and solemn.

For a Marshal is one who's appointed to see
That the marchers are all in their stations;
And a Goddess, of course, is expected to be
So far above earthly enticements that she
Will indulge in no human flirtations.

But I've heard people say 'twas the talk of the town
That this Marshal was so patriotic
He pranced and cavorted his steed up and down
Within sight of the red, white and blue of that gown
As if held there by fetters despotic.

And that Goddess, I'm told, without turning her head,
Saw each of these purposeful prances,
And reflected her colors from cheeks blushing red
Under temples of white; and her eyes, it is said,
Were bright with the blue of her glances.

So, that's how it comes that the Fourth of July
Provokes me to glad celebration.
If the Marshal and Goddess had let it go by
And taken no part, who the dickens would I
Have been in the scheme of Creation?

DESIGNED FAMOUS OLD HALL

Philadelphia Lawyer Architect of Building Where Immortal Declaration Was Signed.

Independence hall stands not only as the place of rest for the Liberty bell, but as the old Pennsylvania statehouse, and the building wherin the Declaration of Independence was signed in 1776, with John Hancock at its head. It is still in excellent preservation, and its quaint red and white front and brick belfry give it an air of romance and antiquity.

For many years it was unknown who was the designer of the old statehouse, now better known as Independence hall. But the discovery about forty years ago of the identical design, now in the Pennsylvania Historical society's collection, set the question at rest.

Independence Hall.

It was none other than Andrew Hamilton, who not only held high office in the province, but as a lawyer made the reputation of the Philadelphia bar. This was accomplished when he was invited to New York to defend the printer, Zenger, and contended successfully for the liberty of the press, the first time the subject had been settled in a court of law in this country.

Nation's Great Destiny.

Our country is a fact so fast, so tremendous in its import and bearings, that the mind can hardly grasp it. It reminds us of the Almighty. It suggests omnipotence.

And yet it may be truthfully said that the nation has scarcely begun its career. Great as it is, it is but an infant compared with what it is destined to become.—Rev. T. E. Gregory.

STANDS FOR ALL TIME

Famous Phrase of Thomas Jefferson as True in This Year 1919 as in 1776.

"GOVERNMENTS are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed." This famous phrase was written by Thomas Jefferson, in the preamble to the Declaration, on July 4, 1776.

"Mr. Jefferson," wrote John Adams in his autobiography, referring to the events of 1776, "had been now about a year a member of congress, but had attended his duty in the house a small part of the time, and, when there, had never spoken in public. During the whole time I sat with him in congress I never heard him utter three sentences together. It will naturally be inquired how it happened that he was appointed on a committee of such importance. Mr. Jefferson had the reputation of a masterly pen."

The committee which was appointed to prepare the Declaration consisted of Benjamin Franklin, aged seventy; Roger Sherman, fifty-five; John Adams, forty; Thomas Jefferson, thirty-three, and Robert E. Livingston, twenty-nine. Franklin was the patriarch of this immortal body, and Jefferson and Livingston were both young men, with their lives practically before them.

"I gave Jefferson my vote for chairman of the committee," said Adams, "and did all in my power to secure the votes of others. I think he had one more vote than any other, and that placed him at the head of the committee. I had the next highest number, and that placed me second."

"A committee was appointed to prepare a 'Declaration of Independence' wrote Jefferson in his notes. "The committee was J. Adams, Doctor Franklin, Roger Sherman, Robert R. Livingston and myself . . . The committee for drafting the Declaration desired me to do it. It was accordingly done, and, before approved by

I am ever, my dear Friend
Your most affectionate
B. Franklin

them, I reported it to the house on Friday, June 28, when it was read and ordered to lie on the table."

Amid all the changes in the phraseology of the Declaration before it was finally adopted, the sentence of the headline remained intact, and just as Jefferson originally presented it.

The paragraph which led up to the quoted words is always worthy of being printed, and never more so than now:

"We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights; among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. That to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed."

Continental's Dark Days.

In the first part of the Revolution the states were taxed to provide money for feeding the army, but later they were required to send the food itself instead of money. It was then that things were at the lowest ebb for the Continental armies.

BUSY SESSION OF THE JULY COUNTY COURT

LARGE ATTENDANCE SHOWS INTEREST OF GREAT NUMBER OF PEOPLE IN THE CASES TRIED.

Last Monday was one of the busiest days ever experienced in the County Court of Chilton County. Judge Reynolds was busy as he could be from the opening of the court early in the morning to late in the evening. Twenty-two cases were disposed of during the day. The largest attendance that has ever appeared at the county court was here. It was a surprising attendance owing to the fact that the cases on hand were of only minor importance. Following is the list of cases tried and disposed of:

F. W. Johnson, charged with failure to dip cattle; defendant failed to appear before the court; alias issued.

Sam Lockhart, charged with abusive language; continued to the first Monday in August.

Tom Wright, charged with assault and intent to murder; after hearing all evidence in the case the court held that the prosecution was malicious, and the prosecutor, Rufus Wilson, was assessed with the fees and costs in the case.

John Mac Fohee, charged with assault and battery; adjudged guilty and fined $5.00 and costs.

Tom Hinton, charged with violating prohibition laws; sentenced to six months hard labor and fined $100.

G. W. Traywick, charged with violating prohibition laws; continued with agreement that defendant plead guilty the first Monday in August.

REPUBLICANS IN HOUSE TO KEEP BODY AT WORK

Leades do not Intend to Let Down by Permitting Three Day Recess Suggestion.

Washington, July 3.—After the passage of the appropriation bills, congress does not intend to relax in its purpose to go ahead with legislative work of importance to the nation.

Some talk has been current that after the appropriations were disposed of the House would take a series of three day recess. House leaders say this will not be done. They point out that there is important reconstruction work to be done and that this ought not to be delayed any longer than is necessary. The House will therefore keep on grinding and will take up various important bills after the supply bills are disposed of. The senate also plans to keep steadiiy at work. Altogether the present indications are that the new congress will get very little rest either this summer or the coming fall and that the extra session will either run into the regular session or will come very near doing so

The Clanton baseball team won a game of baseball played against a Montgomery amateur team here the Fourth of July. The score was 11. to 2. A large crowd of people witnessed the game with much pleasure.

FLYING MEN SHOW CLANTON PEOPLE SOME AERIEL STUNTS

The airplane feature of the Fourth of July Celebration in Clanton was pulled off in grand style by a machine from the Repair Depot at Montgomery, in charge of Lieutenant Bunting of the army air service. Owing to a high wind and local rain storms, not much flying was accomplished on the Fourth, but the next day, Saturday, everything was favorable, and the machine went up and showed us several very interesting tricks The flying man was in the air for quite a long while, and covered not only Clanton but the country for miles around as well.

The large crowds here on the 4th were delighted at seeing the machines on the ground. The air service recruiting force was here that day with the exhibition machine that they are carrying over the state on a tour. Many people enjoyed giving the outfit a close-up view.

THORSBY INSTITUTE NOTES

For the past month Thorsby Institute has been conducting a "drive" for a sustaining fund to enable it to do more effective work and to extend its influence more widely. They were helped very much by two public meetings, at one of which the principal speaker was Dr. Frank E. Jenkins, president of Piedmont College, Demorest, Ga., who is also president of Thorsby Institute Board of Trustees, and whose daughter, Miss Helen C. Jenkins, is the principal of the Thorsby Institute.

Later in the campaign Judge L. H. Reynolds gave us a strong address and a generous subscription. The objective of the campaign was pledges for $1,000 a year for five years, the $1,000 for this year to be in hand on or before July 1. The field canvassed was Thorsby and people who had property or financial interests in or near Thorsby; and of all the subscriptions listed, that of Judge Reynolds, given without solicitation, was the only one which did not come from the above mentioned classes.

At the close of the drive the committee had the great satisfaction of finding that the pledges on the five year basis, exceeded $5,100, and that the installments paid in were above $1,100. The committee also had the satisfaction of noting that Thorsby had lived up to her record af paying her pledges, for of the more than 100 pledges made only one is not "paid in full" for 1919.

One incentive to this drive was the promise from a society interested in the school and its work to give to the school another $1,000 a year for the five years, if Thorsby should raise her thousand. It is now proposed to make immediately a drive for more students for next year. There are enough boys and girls in Chilton County who ought to be in its high schools to fill all its high schools to overflowing and Thorsby Institute is well equipped in teaching force and otherwise to care for many more than she has had.

It is believed that one result of this drive has been to unite the people of Thorsby as never before in the purpose to support and "pull for" their school.

The committee who had this drive in hand consisted of Miss May Stoddard, Mr. J. P. Sorensen and Rev. J. W. Davenport, but they had a number of effective helpers.

We were pleased to see our good friend and correspondent, Z. J. Jones from West Chilton, in Clanton the Fourth. We hope he had an enjoyable day, and got plenty of barbecue and camp stew.

UNDER THE BIG DOME

Washington, June 3.—"Dick" Yates former governor of Illinois, and now a member of congress, has developed some new wrinkles in his forehead which are giving him trouble.

"When these wrinkles first became noticeable," said Congressman Yates today, "lots of people thought I was frowning. So to remedy the situation, I developed a permanent smile which I thought would remove the difficulty. But a few days ago I was called upon to preside over the House and while performing those duties it was necessary for me to make a ruling which was displeasing to a fellow member. When I was relieved of the chair, I went to this member and expressed my regret that it had been necessary for me to rule against him. And what do you suppose he said? Well, he replied that he would not have cared at all, if I had just left off that 'miserable smile' when I did it."

The ways and means committee of the House, which is considering proposed legislation for the protection of industries developed in the United States as a result of the war, has given an extensive hearing to the pearl button industry, which employs 20,000 wage earners, and represents an investment of several millions of dollars. This industry is not directly a development of the war, but it is now threatened by an invasion of pearl buttons from Japan which are manufactured at an extremely low figure. It is this competition against which the industry hopes to be protected.

Here is a story recently current at the capitol, which sheds interesting light upon the universal query as to where the government's money has gone during the last few years:

A manufacturer of airplane parts was asked to submit a bid for 2,000 airplane accessories that were needed by the war department. These articles ordinarily cost about $15 each, and the manufacturer thought a bid of $17 each for the number required by the government would be about right, in view of the fact that they were difficult to get in large quantities.

But the stenographer being of war time quality, made an error, and instead of quoting a price of $17 each, made the figure $117 each.

And the bid was accepted.

Can you imagine a man in Clanton who was put on the brbecue committee to help out in the plans for the affair; and this same man could not be induced in any way to attend a meeting of the committee nor help with the plans. Yet when it was all over Friday and those who had carried the burden did all they could to make the day a success (and they made is splendidly) and the first thing Saturday morning here comes along this good citizen raising a kick about the way the barbecue was managed. He had his plans of how it should have been done all drawn off on a piece of paper to perfection. Now, can you tell us why such fellows as that won't help out a good thing with their suggestions before it is too late? We think we know why, but would like to hear your idea about it.

Mr. L. E. Lamont and Mr. A. Vickers of Montgomery, are the ghests of Mr. and Ms. J. B. Atkinson this week.

Representative Madden, Republican, of Illinois, points with pride to the achievement of the Republican management in the House of Representatives in disposing of all of the great appropriation bills within one month after congress convened, and to the further fact that the House, instead of taking a breathing spell after completing this task, is plunging into the consideration of general legislation which the country is demanding.

"After disposing of the money bills," said Mr. Madden today, "the House immediately took up and adopted the bill returning the telegraph systems to their rightful owners, acted upon the daylight saving measure, and is now ready to take up the water-power bill which will throw open a development of vast power resources which have heretofore been withheld from public use. Congress is not going to quit, now that it has passed the appropriation bills. It merely got a good start in handling them so promptly, and will go right ahead with the legislative program to which the Republican party has pledged."

It was developed in the general debate in the House that the priceless draft-board records which were sent to Washington from each one of the states for the use of the War Department are now scattered all over the capital for lack of suitable attention and proper storage facilities. One member said that upon making inquiry concerning the questionaire and other records affecting one of his constituents, he had been told that it was in Washington, but that it would be impossible to locate it in less than two or three months. Another member said that he had held in his hands draft records in Washington which had been stored near a system of steam pipes, and that they had dropped to pieces.

To remedy this situation which is threatening documents of the greatest personal and historical value, Representative Fess, a Republican member from Ohio, has urged upon Congress the necessity for erecting in Washington a Hall of Records for the safekeeping of all government papers. If a public building appropriation bill is reported this session, it will probably contain an appropriation for the erection of this building.

DEATH OF JOHN DUNCAN JULY 4 WAS UNEXPECTED

Had Been Sick Only Short Time And Condition Not Known Serious.

Late in the evening of July 4th, aftef the day of Celebration and enjoyment in Clanton, this community was thrown into a gloomy sadness by the unexpected announcement of the death of one our noblest citizens, Mr. John H. Duncan. It was like a bolt of lightning coming from a clear sky, and when it struck many staunch friends of this splendid man were utterly staggered. The writer knows what the shock was because he, with the great number of others, realizes that it is a friend gone from the walks of life.

Mr. Duncan had been sick for only a couple of days with malaria fever, and it was not known by his friends that he was in a dngerous condition. Not even his immediate family realized that the end was so near. He died about seven o'clock Friday evening, and was buried Saturday at New Salem. He was a member of the Lodge of Masons and Odd Fellows.

For many years Mr. Duncan has been prominent in business life of Clanton. He was for some time the manager of the Farmers Union Warehouse at Clanton. In addition to his other business activities he was a prominent farmer.

His wife is the only member of his immediate family surviving him, and to her hundreds of sorrowing friends extend heartfelt sympathy.

REPUBLICANS WILL INSIST UPON A BUDGET SYSTEM

For First Time in History of Congress Business-like Scheme To Prevail.

MUCH TIME WASTED IN PAST

Washington, June 3.—For the first time in the history of Congress, the question of establishing a system of coordination and unification of estimates of appropriations for the annual departmental needs is to be given serious consideration. It is difficult to recall another subject about which there has been so much talk and so little action over a long span of years as the budget question. Bills have been introduced in both houses of congress providing for the establishment of a budget bureau, and they will shortly be brought up for consideration in committee.

Direct Action Favored.

In the House, the budget bill has been referred to the Committee on Appropriations, but Chairman Volstead of the Judiciary Committee has made an informal request that this proposed legislation be referred to his committee for consideration, and this will probably be done. It is being urged by some members that the question should be finally referred to a commission which would study the budget systems of other governmnts and then report its recommendations to congress. Much sentiment, however, favors direct action upon the question by the present session of congress, and this is the sentiment of Mr. Volsted who feels that the Judiciary Committee, composed entirely of men trained in legal affairs, could devise a suitable budget system within a comparatively short time.

CLANTON BOY SCOUT BAND

The Clanton Boy Scout Band was subjected to quite a degree of embarassment in failing to execute their program here on the Fourth, all on account of the fact that their leader compleetly lay down on them and would not officiate. We do not know what motives he could have had for treating the boys so unjustly, unless he was just like a good many other people in the county we know, just prejudiced against Clanton and anything she attempts to do. But if he did not intend to see the boys through with their program he ought to have been fair enough to sty out of the thing all together. It was very unjust to our boys to get them into the deep water and abandon them to the chagrin of a failure for which they were not at all responsible. If the leader had done his part the boys certainly could have played their program very successfully. We know they could because we have heard them play splendidly on several occasions at their practice.

TO ROAD OVERSEERS AND APPORTIONERS

SOME REMARKS ABOUT ROADS FROM THE COMMISSIONERS COURT OF CHILTON COUNTY

We, the Commissioners Court, feel it our duty to call the attention of the apportioners, overseers and the road hands to their duty as is required by law:

The law requires the apportioners to see that each overseer who works under him works his road hands ten hours each day and ten days each year. The law also requires each road hand to work ten days of ten hours in each year. The smallest fine for failing to comply with the above law is $50.00.

We appeal to the apportioners, overseers, and road hands to do their duty, for we have no money to work the roads with, and we must have roads. We not only appeal to the apportioners, overseers and road hands but we ask that everybody take their teams and help the overseers put the roads in good condition, for now is the time to fix all the places that get bad in winter.

We wish we had some money in the treasury to help the road work with but we haven't and will not have any soon unless the Legislature gives us some assistance.

We can have good roads if we will all try: We can fix all the bad places if everybody will do his duty. Remember that the mail carriers have to pass over their routes every day except Sunday and a few holidays, and the overseers must watch their routes and keep them up for them.

In conclusion we want to ask that you begin the road work right away and not wait until the roads are so bad you cannot fix them.

Respectfully yours,
L. H. Reynolds, Judge of Probate.

FREE TRADE TALK NOT HEARD IN WASHINGTON

Once Famous Democratic Cry Falls Into Discard of Theories That Failed.

Washington, July 2.—Conspicuous by its absence in these days is the talk in Washington in favor of the doctrine of free trade.

One might almost ask, in the language of that well-known Hoosier poet, "Who remembers the old-time politician who used to orate on the merits of free-trade?"

Even the president in his messageI recognized the idea that competition with the foreign producer was a thing to be considered.

The hearings before the House ways and means committee on protection for the dye industry are now bringing out some interesting things. For instance, one of the witnesses was Grinnell Jones, chemical expert of the tariff commission. He told the committee that while the industry had grown greatly he regarded government protection as essential for its development. He said 77 firms were making dyes in 1918 and more factories would be started if the industry were given protection.

It has never been charged that the tariff commission was a high tariff body.

NOTICE — BIDS WANTED

I will be at Clanton Saturday, July 12, 1919, at 10 o'clock, a.m., for the purpose of receiving bids for rebuilding two bridges—one near J.P. Gore's on the Lock 12 Road and the other on the Higgins Ferry Road—both bridges being near Clanton.

All persons desiring to make bids may meet me at the court house at 10 o'clock, a.m. A. P. VINSON, County Commissioner.

Some Legislation that Should be Enacted in Alabama.

Everybody who reads and thinks and who has the best interests of pure American Government and American institutions at heart, has long since come to the inevitable conclusion that the very greatest inpending menace to our government principles and the perpetuation of our American institutions is found in the political machinations of what is publicly termed the Roman Catholic Church. And now, since the devil has been located by his infamous products, the means of removing him from his position in our midst must be accomplished, that we may be relieved of future recurrence of his pernicious practices.

So far as the State of Alabama is concerned, (and the same is true of any number of American patriots wherever they are) our people have had enaugh of Romanism in state and national political and civil matters. They are now ready to apply the best and quickest means of removing this stigma from our midst.

In order to properly begin this movement at home in our own state our legislature in session this week should without hesitation, come out boldly in the enactment of some such legislation, as follows:

First, there should be a law passed authorizing the regular inspection of Catholic convents by the properly designated and authorized officials of the law, in communities where such institutions exist. They should be open to the public at all times, just on the same basis as our other educational institutions are open.

Second, a law should be enacted whereby just and equitable taxes should be paid on all income property held, owned or controlled by any church or religious institution.

Our legislators down at Montgomery are going to have an opportunity to adopt such laws as are outlined above. In fact, they are going to be asked to enact them. Whether they are made laws or not depends on the intelligence and patriotism of the men of the body who do the voting. We live in hope.

He Called it "A Living Lie," and That is its Real Name.

The time is at hand when those who would meet the forces of Roman Catholic despotism at the altar of American freedom, and contest the right of popery to enslave our people and debaunch our blood-bought liberties, those who would essay to do that task must employ the method of calling things by their real name. A spade must be called a spade, and a shovel must be called a shovel.

Now, this brings us to the subject of this article,—the speech of Mr. Durant, at the Baptist Church on Monday night. The subject of the speaker was the evils of Romanism. Among many other things all worthy of note and much thought, we wish especially to pass on to our readers one splendid thing he said, as follows:

> "They said we went to Europe to fight and make the world safe for democracy. That is a living lie."

It is a living lie, and in addition, has come to be a stale joke all over our great victorious country. When one looks about and sees the autocracy of Roman Catholic political methods which our officials are permitting if not actually aiding in the administration of government affairs, nothing can prevent him from at once seeing that we have not even got democracy at home, much less having established it in Europe—where the strangle hold of Romanism is much tighter than it is in America.

Let us free ourselves from the strangle of the octopus before setting out on another wild goose chase across the Atlantic in search of another golden fleece.

Sit steady in the boat, brother. Don't get alarmed when you hear a fellow turn loose to "cussing the Catholics." Things like that are being done now on a small scale compared to what they will be in a short time. At present there is nothing but a little preliminary word battle waging between Romanists and Americans. We will live to see the conflict take on the aspects of ballots, and even bullets and bayonets very probably. Cheer up, the worst is yet to come.

Nobody is surprised by the announcement of Oscar Underwood that he will support the League of Nations in the Senate just as the covenant is submitted to that body by the president. Such a cause only is befitting the phonographic make-up of the man. He has always been a machine upon which was played the records reproducing some other fellow's ideas. His methods are always of the rubber-stamp kind which blindly endorses the acts of powers higher up. He has never showed any evidences of ability or intentions to back his own judgment; or in fact he has never really shown that he had any judgment of his own to back if he wanted to. He has not got the "guts" to question anything that comes to him with the brand of "Wilson" on it, but he swallows it down without any question whether the consequences result in good of otherwise to the people of the country.

Here is his official announcement of his position on the League. Could anything have been more typical of this blind and rotten partisan politican mummy?:

> "The people of Alabama know that I have supported every measure advocated by the president and deemed by him necessary for the successful prosecution of the war. When the treaty is laid before the senate and the president has stated that it is the best that can be done, that the United States is protected in every way, I shall unhesiatingly vote for its ratification. I will vote against any amendment that might be suggested that will weaken its force or defeat its purpose.
> "Such has been my purpose all along, but I have not thought it wise to state my position until the president has finished his work in Paris."

If our national government were made up of men like Underwood, who exercises no judgment nor powers of his own, but leaves the whole legislative, executive and judicial authority to one man, we would then have an autocracy in our land just in as much reality as was the autocracy which we went to Europe to stamp out with our armies.

Yes, We Will be Busy at Home; but If We are in the League---?

> "We are going to be so busy with our reconstruction work that we won't hear the din of the minor troubles over in Europe."—Birmingham Ledger.

That is right, brother, but what about that League of Nations you so ardently espouse? True enough the American people will not have time to fool with every little dog-fight that arises in Europe. We will not be disposed to become engaged in the family quarrels and tribal feuds of the two million savages and semi-civilized negroes of Liberia. We cannot leave our honest pursuits of bread, liberty and happiness to look after the business of keeping the three hundred thousand wild Bedouins of Hedjaz orderly and peaceable.

But yet you hear strange voices going abroad over this fair land of ours singing the praises of Wilson's world-wide internationalism that under the league of nations, will place America down in the dust at the mercy of the dusky tribes of the earth. Then we WILL hear the din of minor troubles in Europe and Asia, because those minor people have a vote in the league that will force us to hear, and as Lloyd George said, America will be into the conflict the first day instead of two years after.

We will have no rights to our own pleasure in entering any conflict that may arise. At the moment the die is cast by even the least or the greatest of the powers, we will have no more time for reconstruction; we must quit our task and enter the world conflict and never ask the question what are we fighting for and how does it concern the people of the United States.

The people of this country don't want to hear the din of minor troubles in Europe, and they ordinarily would not hear them. But the league of nations is designed to make us hear them and take part in them. America is willing at any time to go to any part of the world and unsheath the sword for principles that rightly concern the freedom of the world. But at the same time we would like to be our own judges as to our concern about those things which are to be fought for. Lloyd George foresaw trouble in Britain's possessions in years to come. He perceived the idea that some future day might see another subject of Britain's crown rise up under a George Washington and declare for the God-given rights of a free people. He knew that then Britain would need the help of the other nations of the world in subduing a rebellious province. Therefore he had Article 10 of the league covenant inserted, pledging every nation in the league to help maintain the territorial integrity of England and to see that all her vast island possessions and continental dominions remain vassals of the British crown forever and always in the future.

If the Soldiers Are Satisfied, Why Not Other People?

Who got up the idea that Chilton County's soldier boys were hankering after a parade here on the Fourth?

Whoever it was, you can bet your botton dollar he never had a seventy-pound pack strapped across his back and a Springfield on his shoulder and hiked ten miles every morning before breakfast for six months.

The editor of the Union-Banner has been a soldier, and not one of the gold-brick type either. He has had his on the hard turn-pike, and along with the other boys who have been there, he can speak with authority.

Nobody need worry about us fellows being peeved because we did not have a chance to show off here on the Fourth. It went just like we wanted it to go so far as the parade stuff is concerned. Every soldier was free to do as he pleased, dress as he pleased and use his own pleasure about the manner in which to get the most pleasure our of the day. And that is what they wanted.

So, now, if the Celebration was given for the pleasure of the soldiers and the soldiers enjoyed it and were pleased, whothel wants to go raise any kick about a beastly parade?

A news dispatch from Montgomery in the daily papers saye that even the lone Republicans in the Legislature will vote for a resolution favoring the League of Nations covenant. We do not believe they will do any such thing. And if they do we frankly confess that we will be ashamed of them.

A delegation of Democratic senators went out on a battleship to meet President Wilson on his return from France. The Republicans are saving their reception for Mr. Wilson until he comes into the Senate with the League of Nations covenant tucked under his arm. We hope they will make it warm for him.

From Democratic sources we learn that had Theodore Roosevelt lived impeachment proceedings would have been taken out against Secretary Baker. That's the reason such spraddle-legged curs as edit the Birmingham (Ala.) News rejoiced when Roosevelt died. — The Yellow Jacket.

Senator Reed, Democrat, says the League of Nations will be dominated by those who are not of the white race. Won't it be glorious when it comes to the pass that this once proud nation must bow to the votes of peoples who have not a drop of Caucasian blood in their veins? Yet, there are people who had rather be ruled by a slant-eyed Oriental who whittles out his god from white pine wood and carries it in his pocket, provided the Oriental bore the O.K. of some Democratic politician, than to be under the leadership of an independent American who places his country first above all other considerations.—Yellow Jacket.

Clanton Did It, All Right.

The splendid success of the Fourth of July Celebration and Barbecue in Clanton is a source of much gratification to our people generally, and especially to the committees in the direct charge of the arrangements. It is not an easy chair job to pull the scheme through by any means, which fact will be readily attested by any one of the men who put up the effort to carry it through. But it went just the same, in spite of those few knockers who persisted in their time-worn cry that Clanton could not do it. We congratulate Clanton for the way she stood behind the committee with the money that was necessary. For after all it is money that makes the mare go. You know they say that love makes the world go round; and so may it never cease. But please remember that money is the axle grease.

Twenty-five Years Ago

Tuesday night at Mr. Tom Hubbard's place, Bully Hubbard, a negro employed on the place struck a sick negro tramp named Frank, on the head with a hoe. Frank died the next morning. Bully Hubbard was placed in jail.

On Tuesday evening about 4:30 a difficulty occurred at Jemison, between Dr. J. P. Givhan and Mr. J. C. Woolley, a merchant. Mr. Woolley went to the doctor's office with a Winchester rifle and shot at the doctor who returned the fire. Mr. Woolley was shot in the left shoulder and right temple. Dr. Givhan was not hurt.

Louis Bankhead, who attempted to outrage the little daughter of Mr. F. Jones near Coopers last week, was captured last Saturday morning at 2 o'clock lying asleep beside the L.&N. railroad track. He was taken to the scene of his criminal attack and was speedily identified. A temporary gallows was erected nearby, a rope placed around his neck and the miserable existence of the negro was hastily terminated. Before his execution he confessed his guilt in this particular instance and in others also. Only the evening before, while making his escape he made an attempt to sieze hold of little 12 year old Katie Hill at Lomax, Ala. She escaped by outrunning him.

Mr. Durwood Foshee, one of our young business men, is holding down the position of assistant depot agent.

THANKS FROM OLD SOLDIERS

Dr. G. P. Whaley, age close to 80 years, writes as follows, in which he expresses the feelings of the old veterans at the Alabama old Soldiers Home:

We, the inmates of the Alabama Old Soldiers Home, do render our heart-felt thanks to the choir of vocal music from Clanton and surrounding country, who sang for us. Their voices so blended together that well may we say that music is succession of pleasing sounds and does not consist in those who can sing the loudest and fastest. Their appreciated visit tends to drive away monotony and despondency, and fills our hearts with new life and zeal, and takes our mind back to childhood. Oh, how soul-stirring while our ears are saluted with the spirit and melodious songs which were a treat to our ears.

The joyous notes from the singers' throats wafting in the trees were as morsels of needed nourishment for the hungry souls.

Mrs. W. Z. Dennis of Birmingham left Thursday for Sapulpa, Okla., where she will be present at the marriage of her sister, Miss Janie Elizabeth Johnson to Mr. Jesse Woodrow Keithley on July 6th. She will return to her home about August 10th.

NOTICE TO NON-RESIDENTS

State of Alabama, Chilton County.
Circuit Court in Equity.

Linnie Dennis, Complainant, vs. Fred Dennis, Defendant.

In this cause it is made to appear to the Register by the affidavit of Grady Reynolds, attorney for complainant, that the Defendant is a non-resident, and that his place of residence and post-office address is unknown, and that such address can not be ascertained after reasonable effort; and further, that in the belief of said affiant, the defendant is of the age of twenty-one years:

It is therefore ordered by the Register that publication be made in The Union-Banner, a newspaper published in the County of Chilton, once a week for four consecutive weeks, requiring him, the said Fred Dennis, to plead, answer, or demur to the bill of complaint in this cause by the 5th day of August, 1919, or in thirty days thereafter, a decree pro confesso may be taken against him.

SUED FOR HALF MILLION

Acording to a new item published in one of the Birmingham papers one day last week, Lindsey Thompson has filed suit against the Young & Vann Supply Company for half a million dollars, giving as the cause of grievance the death of his little six year old daughter. The little girl was run over and killed by a motor truck belonging to the Young & Vann Supply Company. Will Denson, prominent attorney of Birmingham, will represent Thompson in the suit.

NOTICE OF ADMINISTRATION

The State of Alabama, Chilton County.—Probate Court, July 8, 1919.

In the matter of the Estate of Purvy Thomas, Deceased. Letters of Administration in the Estate of Purvy Thomas, deceased, having been granted to the undersigned on the 21st day of June, 1919, by Hon. L. H. Reynolds, Judge of Probate of said County, notice is hereby given that all persons having claims against said estate are hereby required to present the same within the time allowed, or the same will be barred.

Keep Well

Do not allow the poisons of undigested food to accumulate in your bowels, where they are absorbed into your system. Indigestion, constipation, headache, bad blood, and numerous other troubles are bound to follow. Keep your system clean, as thousands of others do, by taking an occasional dose of the old, reliable, vegetable, family liver medicine.

Black-Draught

Mrs. W. F. Pickle, of Rising Fawn, Ga., writes: "We have used Thedford's Black-Draught as a family medicine. My mother-in-law could not take calomel as it seemed too strong for her, so she used Black-Draught as a mild laxative and liver regulator . . . We use it in the family and believe it is the best medicine for the liver made." Try it. Insist on the genuine—Thedford's. 25c a package. E-75

CAPT. F. S. WHITE FAVORS SUFFRAGE

SUFFRAGE RATIFICATION NECESSARY FOR SAFETY OF DEMOCRATIC PARTY.

Capt. Frank S. White, Old Line Democrat, Urges Legislature to Ratify.

One of the staunchest of the old-line Jeffersonian Democrats has recently come out strongly in favor of ratification of the Federal Suffrage amendment by the Alabama Legislature. Ex-Senator Frank S. White, of Birmingham, a native Alabamian, who wore the gray in 1861, who lived through the dread days of reconstruction, who is southern to the heart's core, and who understands the perils of the negro problems as only a southerner can, has announced that in the Suffrage Amendment he sees no menace to the safety of white domination in the South. On the contary, he declares that the very safety of Democracy and the Democratic Party lies in the ratification of the Amendment by the Legislatures of the Southern States. Captain White says:

RATIFICATION CERTAIN.

"The ratification of this amendment by a sufficient number of states is now a foregone conclusion. The support of millions of women will be either attracted to or driven from the Democratic party by the failure of Democratic States in granting them the right of suffrage. No newly enfranchised voters have ever failed to show their appreciation to the party enfranchising them, by giving it support, or their enmity to the party opposing their admission to the electorate, by voting against it.

DELAY DANGEROUS TO DEMOCRACY.

"In considering this question, it must not be overlooked that there are enough states now in which women have the right to vote to turn the scale in any Presidential or Congressional election. For Democratic States to oppose the ratification of this amendment will be to invite the opposition of the women as well as the men who favor their enfranchisement. Wherever equal suffrage has been granted in a state, it has had the effect of making the male voters of the state adherents of equal suffrage, as not to give their adherence would be political suicide to them.

FAVORED ENFRANCHISEMENT IN 1916.

"A very similar situation was presented in the Democratic National Convention at St. Louis in 1916. When the convention met, the Republican party had already declared in favor of the enfranchisement of women. To counteract the effect of this declaration in the Republican platform, it was necessary that some favorable action on the subject be taken by the Democratic convention. It was my fortune to be a member of the Platform Committee on that occasion. The question of woman suffrage was presented and discussed at great length, pro and con, during the all-night session of the committee. We received word from the President requesting that a plank favorable to admission of women into the electorate be written in the platfarm. We were also appealed to by Senators, Representatives and other public men from the equal suffrage states, and we were warned that a failure to declare in favor of suffrage would result in the defeat of Woodrow Wilson and the Democratic party. The result was that after a very thorough and full consideration of the subject, the committee recommended the insertion of a plank in the Democratic Platform to the effect that the party favored equal suffrage by state action.

WILSON ELECTED BY INSERTION OF CLAUSE.

"When this fact was reported to the Alabama delegation opposition was manifested in the convention to a marked degree, and seemed to be irreconcilable until it was overcome by an appeal of Senators Walsh of Montant and John Sharp Williams of Mississippi, who urged the adoption of this plank to save the Democratic party from defeat in the coming election. The convention finally endorsed the action of the Committee, and inserted the plank in the platform.

"But for the electoral votes obtained by President Wilson in the equal suffrage states of the West, he would have been defeated, and no doubt the Democrats would have been left in the minority in both houses of Congress, as its majority in each branch was very meagre.

WILSON'S ELECTION SAVED DEMOCRATS.

"All realize now, as many of us did at that time, that the defeat of President Wilson in that election would not only have been a great party loss, but would have imperilled the future success of the Nation.

By successfully winning this war, the Democratic party has placed more to its credit than it had throughout its glorious history of one hundred years. The defeat of the Democratic party in the next election will probably mean its loss of the country's control for a quarter, or perhaps a half a century.

OPPOSITION WOULD IMPERIL PARTY.

"The Democratic party is not reactionary but progressive. One of its fundamentals is that it keeps abreast of the times. I think it would be exceedingly unwise and impolitic to imperil the present and future success of the party by inaction or opposition towards the ratification of this amendment.

"Therefore, from the viewpoint of party interest, my opinion is that it is not only expedient, but necessary to party success for the present Legislature of Alabama, as well as the Legislatures of other Southern States, to ratify the proposed amendment as speedily as possible.

"Very respectfully yours,
(Signed) "FRANK S. WHITE."

Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Henderson of Silver City, Miss., are here this week on a visit to friends and relatives.

COLD STORAGE HOLDINGS

In 1812 when quack Democrats were howling about the high cost of living, next to the tariff, they blamed the cold storage plants for food aviation, and they assured the public that this was going to be properly regulated. A recent survey of the U. S. Bureau, of Markets shows that on June 1st of this year cold storage holdings included nearly 111,000,000 pounds of poultry, 22,164,00 pounds of cheese of various kinds, over half of it American, 30,156,000 pounds of butter, nearly 6,000,000 cases of eggs and 11,310,000 pounds of frozen eggs. This does not include the enormous holdings of canned meats, bacon, vegetables, soups, fruits, etc., held on account of the Federal government, the sole of which to the public, from whose pockets came the money to purchase them, is now being urged by Republicans in Congress. A chicken today costs more in the market than a bird in paradise would bring on a lady's hat; cheese is more regal than ambergris, and the nuggets of today are the eggs of yesteryear. No gold leaf was ever spread thinner than is the small boy's slice of bread so faintly dabbled with butter. The high cost of food is reducing the American people to a peasantry and "praties and point" are not for off. And this under an administration pledged to lower living costs. But the quack Democrats see no way out, so the Republicans must solve the problem. The man who does most to solve it should have a statue erected to his memory and it might appropriately be called "Liver and Bacon Enlightening the World."

(The above was received direct from Washington, D.C., June 24, 1919, from the National Republican Publicity Association.)

TEMPLE CHURCH NEWS

Editon UnionBanner:

Please allow me a small space in your paper, as it has been some time since I have seen anything from this part of the county.

Everything is getting along nicely here at present. Crops are looking better since the farmers have harvested a nice chance of hay and have received a fine shower.

Our Sunday School is progressing under the management of Mr. G.M. Mims Superintendent, and Mr. J.M. Powell Secretary and Treasurer. Our enrollment is 106 with 93 present last Sunday. We make an average of 85. Just think of listening to 85 scripture verses being recited by fathers, mothers and children.

Each student quotes a verse, from the oldest man or woman down to little tots only three years old. If the people in the community would turn out as they should we could easily enroll 200.

The annual Pentecostal Revival is to begin July 18th and continue ten days or more. The services will be conducted by Rev. L. P. Adams, the well-known evangelist, who has been coming here for almost 20 years.

Everybody is invited to come and listen to the old-time truth preached by this great man of God.

Don't miss this opportunity.

(Mrs.) Minnie P. Mims.

J. W. Kicker of Tuscaloosa is here this week visiting relatives and also to attend services of his church at Bethel.

WEST CHILTON

Nice refreshing seasons have visited this part and crops are much revived.

Offie Scott of Wetumpka is visiting his grand parents here.

Mrs. Lottie Nix, who has been sick quite a while, at this writing is better as reported.

On last Sunday your correspondent and a number of others rigged up a flivver to attend a Sunday singing at Underwood, Shelby County. On account of Mahan's Creek being swollen beyond its normal capacity, we headed for the quiet little town of Ashby, then to Brierfield, Wilton, Montevallo, and then on to Underwood, where we found the singing in full sway, Prof. Lowery directing. In due time dinner was announced. Then out under the sweet shades of Underwood such a feast was spread—kid, cakes, pies, pickles, chicken, vegetables—enough to satisfy the most fastidious. The people gave the singing good attention. A number of gentlemen publicly expressed their approval of the services. But our faithful young chauffeur looked a little sick as he contemplated the wash-outs, broken bridges, and mud along the way. Indeed, one of the party proposed to ship the car to Randolph, and we get back the best we could, but in the afternoon our driver brightened up as we headed east for Dargon, then on to Calera, where we had the pleasure of meeting some long absent loved ones, then to West Chilton, safe and happy, remembering with pleasure the good people of Underwood, the pleasures of the way, and with deep appreciation the service of our gallant little chauffeur.

WOULD AID BOY SCOUTS

Republican Congressman J. C. Strong of Kansas, one of the new members of the House, has introduced a bill providing for the issuance of army equipment to all Boy Scout officials for use on the hikes and at the camps of the scouts. The introduction of the measure came at a very opportune time, during the nation-wide campaign for 1,000,000 associate members of the boy scout organization, and much attention was given to the measure for that reason The bill has been referred to the military affairs committee, and Mr. Strong will keep in touch with its members and endeavor to secure an early and favorable report.

LOSS OF APPETITE

As a general rule there is nothing serious about a loss of appetite, and if you skip a or only eat two meals for a few days you will soon have a relish for your meals when meal time comes. Bear in mind that at least hours should always elapse between meals so as to give the food ample time to digest and and the stomach a perod of rest before a second meal is taken. Then if you eat no more than you crave and take a reasonable amount of outdoor exercise every day you will not need to worry about your appetite. When the loss of appetite is caused by constipation as is often the case, that should be corrected at once. A dose of Chamberlin's Tablets will do it.

THE MORNING HOUR

Once more we have had a practical demonstration of the futility of trying to overturn by law the customs established by long experience. The daylight saving law proved to be a waster of daylight, for, under the law, farmers and farm hands arose an hour earlier but were compelled to delay morning work in the fields until the dew had evaporated. The daylight saving law gave city people more time for enjoyment but it curtailed production of crops and made city people pay more for food. Along with price-fixing, government operation and "cost-plus" contracting, daylight saving has given way to practical experience.

DEMOCRATIC PARTY COMMITMENTS.

"As the first national political organization to record itself in favor of woman suffrage and as the first to welcome the women into full participation in party councils we deplorse and condemn the dilatory tactics of the Republican party in the closing hours of the last session of Congress which resulted in the failure of the suffrage resolution at a time when its proponents were assured of the requisite number of votes to accomplish its passage.

"At this time, therefore, the Democratic party confidently asks the support of the independent and progressive electorate of the United States in the maintenance of the splendid achievements of President Wilson's administration and the perpetuation of these principles and policies."—(Chicago—May, 1919.)

"The Federal Amendment is the only effective method and the only method, in fact, that will secure equality of rights for women in every State of the Union.

"I, therefore, favor the Federal Amendment for Woman Suffrage. I earnestly hope that the Congress will enact the necessary legislation and thus put it within the power of the States to do through the Federal Constitution what, in my judgment, justice and democratic ideals imperatively demand."

—William G. McAdoo.

HOW THE SOUTH PUT EQUAL SUFFRAGE ON THE MAP

If it had not been for a Southern gentleman, there might not have been an equal suffrage state by this time.

It was the chivalry of the South that gave the first real political equality in the world to women, and the first man to do it was William Bright, of Baltimore, afterward of Wyoming Territory, who realized in 1869 that his wife and mother and daughter had no say at all in the government, while negro men had been enfranchised in the state he had just left.

He introduced a bill into the Wyoming Legislature to give women of the territory the same right as men. Equal political rights with men were thus granted to the women of Wyoming—the first commonwealth in the world to concede complete political equality to women—by the Democratic party, made up then very largely from men who had pioneered from the Southeastern states of the Union.

The bill was adopted by both houses on December 10, 1869—fifty years ago—by a Democratic majority, and was signed by a Republican Governor.

Thus the beginning of political equality for women in the United States was a Southern idea. It is a curious fact that it has been kept awake ever since by Southern legislators in Western states and in the Congress of the United States.

The twelve Southern women members of the Associate National Committee of the Democratic National Committee are: Mrs. Pattie Ruffner Jacobs, Birmingham, Alabama; Mrs. James D. Head, Texarkana, Arkansas; Mrs. J. A. Corbet, Jacksonville, Fla.; Mrs. John K. Ottley, Atlanta, Georgia; Mrs. J. Frazier Bonnie, Louisville, Kentucky; Mrs. J. E. Friend, New Orleans, Louisiana; Miss Henrietta S. Mitchell, Jackson, Mississippi; Mrs. Hugh Ward, Kansas City, Missouri, Chairman of Woman's Auxiliary of Democratic National Committee; Miss Mary C. Graham, Raleigh, North Carolina; Mrs. Wm. C. Cathart, Columbia, South Carolina; Miss Charl Williams, Memphis, Tennessee; Mrs. Percy V. Pennybacker, Texas.

"Woman suffrage is not a question of sentiment. It is a question of sound common-sense business. To the South it is an absolute business necessity."—Dr. M. Eugene Street, of North Carolina, in The Manufacturers' Record.

WOUNDS FROM A FRIEND

If Congress undertakes an investigation of the manner in which public funds were wasted in the aircraft fiasco, David Lawrence, a worshipper of the Wilson administration, will apparently make a first-class witness. Here is what he says of the situation after the people of this country have spent hundreds of millions of dollars for aircraft production: "The United States is not able, in the event of an emergency on the Mexican Border, to put into action at once an air service comparable to that which General Pershing had when he first undertook the pursuit of Villa." A sad state of affairs indeed.

BEVERIDGE ON BOUNDARIES

Ex-Senator Albert J. Beveridge, of Indiana in his recent address before the Pennsylvania Bar Association at Bedford, Pa., placed before the country in logical order the questions arising from the "gravest question except one ever raised in the history of the Republic," the peace treaty. In speaking on the much discussed Section 10 of the league covenant, which forms the major part of the treaty, Mr. Beveridge said:

"Section 10 of the covenant would bind us to go to war to defend from 'external aggression' new territorial boundaries fixed up by the big four as well as old boundaries recognized by that body, and to support the 'political independence' of the powers governing those territories. If this is not the true purport of that section, what is the real meaning of it? But our Constitution gives Congress the exclusive power to declare war.

"As a member of the superstate, which would govern us, Section 10 of the Covenant or the war power of our Constitution? Both cannot stand; they are absolutely irreconcilable. By the covenant we would be pledged to make war whether we wish to do so or not. If Congress should refuse, would we not break our treaty? And would not this invite retaliation? Would it not, as the very least and certain result, bring upon us the hatred of the nation we refuse to support and the distrust of all other nations?

"And what are the boundaries of the foreign States which the league covenant would bind us to defend with American blood and treasure? Does any human being now in America know? Is not this all that anybody in America does know, that these boundaries inclose new and old dominions in every quarter of the globe?"

Mr. Horace Davis of Birmingham, employed at the American Trust and Savings Bank, is taking his vacation this week. He and Mrs. Davis are in Clanton visiting friends and relatives.

LITTLEJOHN SCHOOLHOUSE

Our school is progressing nicely under the management of Prof. F. B. Williams, who opened school here the 16th of June with 22 pupils. We now have 46 pupils and more entering every day as they catch up with their work. We all like our teacher fine, and if you don't believe we are learning lots just come out to the schoolhouse Friday and we will show you. We have made some improvements already and are going to make some more right away. We have put up new shades and curtains, bought new waterbuckets, washpans, dippers,soap and towels and mirrors; cleaned off our school grounds nicely. We are going to have a box supper Saturday night, July 12. All that are interested are cordially invited to come.

The proceeds from the supper will be used for the benefit of the school. We want to buy some nice pictures and maps for our school and start us a library; so come on and help us out.

The farmers are all about up with their work so we are looking for a good crowd out Friday P.M. to hear us speak, spell and review what we have been over this past month.

There are several on the sick list this week—Minnie Taylor, Mrs. Varden, Mrs. Pierce; but we hope none are seriously ill.

Mr. John Duncan, one of our neighbors died Friday night and was buried at New Salem Saturday.

Our Sunday School at Liberty is progressing nicely. Mr. Albert Foshee is our faithful Superintendent. We have bought curtains to make separate rooms for each of our four classes.

Protracted meeting will begin at Liberty Saturday before the third Sunday in July. Our pastor, Bro. B. C. Hughes, wull do the preaching.

Our singing class is doing fine too.

As this is my first time to give you a few lines, will close. A PUPIL.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gray of Route 7 had a visitor to their home on the Fourth. It is a fine young girl who expects to stay with them indefinitely.

Bill Goodgame was in Clanton the Fourth. He has moved to Tharsby from Birmingham and has bought the Stanley Gin at this place. Next season Bill will operate the gin and warehouse at Thorsby and will buy cotton and cotton seed and handle meal and hulls. When he gets things fixed up and going he will place an adv. in the Union-Banner telling his friends all about it. Watch for the announcement.

Dr. Gragg informs us that every day sees the Clanton Infirmary nearer ready for opening. Various appurtenances of one kind and another are being installed, and the place will soon be ready to accommodate the sick folks of Clanton and adjacent community. A two-thousand dollar X-Ray machine has been bought and will be installed in a few weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. James A. Mims of Maple Springs are the parents of a new boy who arrived at their home last Sunday.

Mr. and Mr. W. Z. Hodges spent last Sunday as visitors at the home of Charley Cox at Jumbo.

Two charming daughters of Mr. F. M. Dobson of Montgomery are visiting friends in Clanton this week.

Will DeShazo of Mulberry was in Clanton the Fourth taking in the barbecue and celebration. He told us a great big tale about a potato which he said he dug out of his patch the other day. From what he said it was a mighty fine one for this time of the year, but somehow he forgot to bring it along with him. He might have just been telling that potato tale to ge his name in the paper. He promised however, to bring us one in a few days. If he does we will give him a second write-up.

Newton Alridge of Decatur was in Clanton this week visiting relatives and friends. Newt is holding down a seat with the Western Union Telegraph Company in the north Alabama city.

Summer Complaint in Children.

There is not anything like so many deaths fgrom this disease now as before Chamberlin's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy came into such general use. When this Remedy is given with castor oil as directed and proper care is taken as to diet, it is safe to say thatfully ninety nine out of every hundred case recover. Mr. W. G. Cambell of Butler, Tenn., says, "I have used Chamberlin's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy for summer complaint in children. It is far ahead of anythoing I have ever used for this purpose."

Watch the Little Pimples; They are Nature's Warning

Unsightly and Disfiguring Signals of Bad Blood.

Pimples on the face and other parts of the body are warnings from Nature that your blood is sluggish and impoverished. Sometimes they foretell eczema, boils, blisters, and other skin disorders that burn like flames of fire.

They mean that your blood needs S. S. S. to purify it and cleanse it of these impure accumulations that can cause unlimited trouble. This remedy is the greatest vegetable blood purifier known, and contains no minerals or chemicals to injure the most delicate skin.

Go to your drug store, and get a bottle of S. S. S. today, get rid of those unsightly, disfiguring pimples, and other skin irritations. It will cleanse your blood thoroughly. For special medical advice free, address Medical Director, 41 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.

Miss Lena Wilbanks of Alexander City, Miss Bertha Coley of Montgomery, Miss Nan Thomas of Alexander City, Miss Judson Coley of Montgomery, Miss L. E. Wilbanks, Alexander City and Miss Evelyn Moore of Columbus, Ga., guests of the house party given by Misses Coley of Montgomery, spent Tuesday at Clanton as the guests of Mr. Frank Thomas.

Frank Thomas spent the week end at Montgomery as the guest of Misses Bertha and Judson Coley.

Curtis Courtney, orignally from Billingsley, has returned home from service with the army overseas. Curtis looks fine and dandy, and he displays prominently the big broad smilt that all the boys have when they get back home from "Frog Land."

The Democratic idea is that this country must now take up the burden of the world, regardless of the price in men or money. For our part, we say first let us look well after America. That's Republicanism and it's what American people want.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Bates of Vincent and Mrs. W. R. Millican of Atlanta, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Atkinson last week.

Clanton is moving—Watch us.

A Democratic Senator says he believes Gid is responsible for the election of Woodrow Wilson. All we've got to say is that in that event God is in for considerable criticism at the next elecion.

IS CALLED BEST TRUCK FARMER IN ALABAMA

Owns bog Farm, 150 Acres under Cultivation; raises fine Cattle. It is men of this kind who are Openly Endorsing Dreco.

"The best truck farmer in the State of Alabama," is what they call Mr. M. G. Hewitt, who resides about four miles from Anniston, on Route 2. Read what he thinks about Dreco, the new medicine:

"I have been a sufferer from stomach troubles for a long time, and haven't ben able to find anything to cure me. After eating, gas would bloat my stomach; made me drawsy, and often had bad headaches. My liver seemed to be sluggish nd my entire system run down.

"My brother, L. L. Hewitt, told me that he was taking Dreco, and it was doing him a lot of good, so I got a bottle of it, and after a week's time, I saw wonderful benefits. My stomach was greatly improved, so much that I could eat big, hearty meals and never have any gas to trouble me as before. The dizzy spells stopped, and I have not had a headache since I began taking Dreco. Instead of feeling drowsy and sluggish, I now feel full of energy; my liver is active, in fact I'm greatly helped by Dreco and you have my permission to publish this letter."

It is the good substantial folks that are endorsing Dreco. Thit is why the sale is so enormous. Rreco i an article of real merit that acts on the vital organs and restores them to full action.

All good druggists now sell Dreco, and it is highly recommended in Clanton by Upchurch Drug Co.

EXPLANATION NEEDED

It is announced that the League to Enforce Peace is going to adopt the slogan: "Do not let Germany win the war through the United States Senate." This League is spending money like water in propagandizing the league of nations. The slogan will create something of a discord in the ears of the American people when they recall that Germany is to become a member of the league of nations.

The Editor of The Union-Banner had the pleasure last Sunday of listening to some splendid and inspiring sacred songs at the Old Soldiers Home at Mountain Creek. They were what is popularly termed the "old-time singing." Our version of it would rather be 'the real gospel music." Such songs, rendered by the good old men whose heads are wearing the snow-white crowns of mature years, with the overflowing spirit of religion from their hearts, bears a testimony to the supreme gospel power of "Sacred Harp and Christian Harmony." Many of the old veterans expressed their feelings with tearful eyes as the beautiful notes of the old hymns, the mingling of youthful and aged voices, carried them back to the days when they were young, when the impressions of those songs were first made upon their minds, not to be erased even by the terrible conflict through which they went in the Civil War.

Hon. Joseph O. Thompson of Birmingham, prominent in business and political circles in Alabama, was in Clanton the Fourth, and made a speel to the crowds at the barbecue. Mr. Thompson has many friends in Clanton and Chilton County, who were indeed glad to see him and near him speak. He is a man that always has something interesting and worthwhile for his hearers.

FEDERAL FARM LOAN FACTS

Federal farm loans are made on improved farm lands in sums not to exceed fifty per cent of the value of the land and twenty per cent of the value of the insured improvements, on terms of from five to thirty-five years.

Low Rate of Interest and Long Terms

The rate of interest is 5½ per cent per annum, but by paying of an additional one per cent, or six and one-half per cent per annum, the principal is liquidated in thirty-five years and mortgage "Satisfied" both as to interest and principal.

Stock Holders in Associations.

Five per cent of the amount borrowed must be subscribed for stock in the National Farm Loan Association through which the loan is made. This means $5 is duducted out of each $100 borrow.

Dividends Received on Stock.

Teh amount deducted for stock of the Association will be applied as cash whenever the last payment is made. In other words, on a $100 loan the $5 deducated for stock will be credited when the last payment is made. In the mean time the stock earn what ever dividends the Federal Bannk declares each year, which will be paid to the Association and in turn distributed to stockholders as provided by the Farm Loan Act.

Paying up Loans.

Loans can be liquidated at anytime after they have been in effect for five years, either as to the whole amount or any part thereof in sums of not less than Twenty-Five dollars or any multiple thereof, without any charges or so-called bonuses.

Filling Applications for Loans.

Applications must be filled through the Secretary-Treasurer of the Farm Loan Association operating in the territory in which the land offered as security is located, property appraised by Loan Committee and approved by the Board of irectors of the Association

After the National Farm Loan Association approves application, it is sent to Federal Land Bank and property appraised, Association notified of amount loan is approved for and borrower requested to send abstract of title which is passed on by Legal Department of the Bank and loan paid.

Purposes of Loans.

Loans may be obtained by farmers for the following purposes: To provide for the purchase of land for agricultural purposes. To provide for the purchase of equipment, fertilizer and live stock necessary for the proper and reasonable operation of the mortgaged farm. To provide buildings and for the improvement of farm lands. To liquidate indebtedness of the owner of land mortgaged.

To Assist the Farmer.

In substance, the Federal Farm Loan Act provides for farmers actually in control of the cultivation of their lands to secrre loans ranging from $100 to $10,000 for terms of from five to thirty-five years, as desired, to be secured by a first mortgage on their farms.

Any time after a loan has been in effect for five years, it may be liquidated by paying whatever balance is due on the principal without paying any bonus or other charges.

Under this system, a man desiring to engage in farming may borrow through the Federal Land Bank fifty per cent of the purchase price of a farm and arrange with the vendor for the payment of the other fifty per cent. However, the Federal Land Bank must hold first mortgage.

Again, if a farmer has a mortgage on his property he may borrow thru the Federal Land Bnk an amount not to exceed fifty per cent of the value of his farm to liquidate the mortgage he has and thereby take advantage of the low rate interest and long terms afforded through the system.

Further; should a farmer desire to build a new barn, silo, residence, or make other improvements to his farm may obtain the necessary funds and have a long term of years to pay same in.

Experience has taught the farmer he cannot accomplish much on short time loans, as he does not begin to get returns from the improvements for which the money was expended before the principal becomes due and he is compelled to pay one note by making out another with compound interest, which has debt is continually growing larger.

Under the Federal system of rural credits, he reduces the principal each year by paying an additional one per cent per annum or $1 on each $100 borrowed and on the amortization plan used, his loan is liquidated both as to interest and principal in thirty five years by paying 6½ per cent interest per annum on the amount borrowed. In other words, he pays in addition to the interest of 5½ per cent only $350 to liquidate a $1,000 loan.

If you desire any further information it will be cheerfully given by the Federal Land Bank of New Orleans, or L. F. Gerald, Secretary-Treasurer of the National Farm Loan Association in Chilton County.

SHOULTS

Mr. Editor Union-Banner: I want to say that our Edicational meeting we held at Pleasant Grove last Sunday was a success. I want to say that I have no objections to people raising money for Education but I do think we should put comfortable seats in our Church so we can sit and listen to the preachers that we all ready have, put heaters in our school houses so that our Children can be taught in the cold winter, paint our school house so it will last longer and look like something first, then sweep around our own doors before leaving home. I do not expect everyone to agree with me. People did not agree with Christ, to say nothing about such a worm as I. But this is the way I see things.

If I am not in the way I will come again.

C. T. Walker

A. L. Bowles of Billingsley was in Clanton last Saturday and stated that he had already seen some cotton blooms in his field. He also said the boll weevil was doing considerable damage in his part of the County.

It used to be jokingly asserted that the people of Coosa County would not be bothered by the boll weevil because the pest could not cross the river. But Ed Mims says there is nothing to that idea. He is farming on the Gilchrist Island which is totally surrounded by the river and he says the weevils are damaging his cotton very badly.

"A WORD TO THE WISE."

It is not safe to buy land or to lend money and accept land as security without first investigating the title of the land. Often there are unpaid mortgages, judgments, taxes, or other liens affecting the title, which an abstract would set out. Therefore, when buying land or lending money thereon, it is important that an abstract of title be furnished. A few dollars spent for an abstract is cheaper than having a law suit later on.

There are two abstract companies at Clanton, either of which are in position to make accurate abstracts of title. The Clanton Abstract Company is owned by F. B. Collier and the Chilton County Abstract Company is owned by M. D. Foshee. Either Company will treat you right as to the price.

A MAN WHO KNOWS GIVES OUT THE FACTS

Major General Goethals, Who Built Panama Canal is Before Committee.

WILSON AND BAKER AT FAULT

President and Secretary of War Opposed to Plan Which Would Reduce Inefficiency.

Washington, July 14.—Bureauracy in its most selfish form has been revealed to the special committee on expenditures in the War Department by Major General George W. Goethals, builder of the Panama Canal and Director of Purchase, Storage and Traffic during the wr, in his testimony concerning the difficulties that beset everyone who attempted to bring about an efficient and economical coordination of supply purchases in the War Department.

General Goethals in his discussion before the committee, brought out the fact which, perhaps, was never realized by the country, that during the first eleven months of this country's participation in the war absolutely nothing was done by the Secretary of War to bring about a coordination of the purchasing facilities, although it was repeatedly urged upon him that none was ever actually put into effect because of the fact that before the system finally consented to by the Secretary could be established the armistice was signed.

No Co-Ordination.

"All of these purchasing agencies of the various bureaus of the War Department many of which were constantly bidding against each other for identical supplies, thereby causing increased prices, could have been coordinated by order of the Secretary of War," said General Goethals, "but such an order was never issued."

When he was asked by Chairman Graham why the Secretary opposed this reform for so long, General Goethals replied that President Wilson did not approve if it, and that the bureau chiefs were afraid that it would mean diminished authority for them. He said these chiefs were very jealous of their power, and had opposed the proposed consolidation at every opportunity.

"Cost Plus" Failure

General Goethals also said that the "cost plus" plan whereby the Government purchased vast quanities of war materials at a price which allowed the manufacturer a profit of 10 per cent above actual cost of production, was a very extravagant system.

"Under this system," said the General, "the manufacturer was only interested in his 10 per cent profit, and the cost was permitted to take care of itself. His profit was greater as the cost was greater, and it was a very extravagant system."

HE-MAN WANTED

The pacifists who were in control of the government when foreign enemies threatened, and who are still in control when domestic foes attack our institutions, are consistent in the pacifism. They preach and practice delay. But results have convinced the American people of the folly of putting pacifists on guard for the protection of American interests either abroad or at home. The next president of the United States will be a man with plenty of iron in his blood. There are many to choose from who are now serving or have served in Congress.

A SELECT LIST

A New York dispatch announces the arrival there of a 10,000 ton transport carrying one officer and ten men, with no cargo. There was no explanation for the "restricted" passenger list. Yet, people who complain of the delay in returning soldiers, the delay in mail and parcel post matter, the heavy taxes, etc., etc., are accused of being near traitors. Well, if this be treason, make the most of it.

SHOULTS

Dear Editor:

I want to say that on the 7th of July we met on the Birds Creek Road and, according to the vote, J. R. McAfee has the honor of being the ugly man. Mr. McAfee did not show up but the men worked like tigers anyhow.

When we got to Maplesville C. T. Walker was ready for the foot-race, but Mr. Oden did not show up; so Walker got the prize. C. N. Parnell was also ready for the race, but Geo-Bearden did not show up; so I guess Dock will get that prize.

One more day's work like last Monday and we will have a road good enough for the Kaiser to drive over.

Take the Banner if you want to hear from Shoults.

SAMARIA NEWS

Health of this community is good at this writing, with the exception of Mr. J. C. Alred, who is quite sick.

Crops are looking fine. Had a nice rain Wednesday.

Mr. J. Hance Alred spent a few days with home folks last week.

Mrs. J. C. Alred visited her granddaughter, Mrs. Bertha Scott of Coopers last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Newt Calloway and Mr. and Mrs. Johnson visited at Mr. Alred's Sunday.

Mrs. Ada Sims of Birmingham is spending a few days with her father, Mr. J. D. Smith.

We are pleased to know that Mr. Fonza Smith is at home from over seas. Home folks and friends are all proud to see him. He has been away four years.

Mr. Thomas Henderson of Mississippi is visiting relatives here.

Several from Samaria attended the singing at Mt. Pisgah Sunday.

LULA SMITH.

CORINTH NEWS

Will you allow me space to say a few words in your paper?

Health here is very good; everybody seems to be enjoying the warm weather.

We thank the few who attended our prayer service last Sunday night. We had a glorious meeting. Everybody seemed to be overjoyed with the love of God.

We are proud to say that one of our soldier boys, Mr. Henry Jones, has had a 12-days furlough with his mother and father, Mrs. and Mr. Pink Jones of this place. But it is sad to say that he has returned to Camp at Charleston, S. C.

Mr. Jim Jones, whose wife died June 14, has been visiting his son at Prattville; but is back with us now.

Our singing school at Corinth is to start the 28th of this month. We cordially invite everybody that wants to come and be in the school.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Jones of this place are expecting every week to hear that their son, Archie, is back in the U.S. from France.

Our community has gone over the top in the Baptist Campaign. We thank the people for their nice contributions.

Will close, wishing the Union-Banner a great success.

Come on, you writers, and let's try and make the paper more interesting to its many readers.

DEMOCRATS FLAY PRESENT POLICY OF DEPARTMENTS

In Sharp Attack Upon His Own Party Senator King Charges Continued Waste.

HINTS ILLEGAL EXPENDITURES

Washington, July 14.—One of the sharpest attacks which yet has been made in Congress upon the policy of the executive departments and bureaus to keep as many persons on the government pay roll at the expense of the taxpayers as possible was made by Senator King of Utah, one of the Democratic leaders. Senator King's statements bore out much that has been said with respect to the extravagant insistence of officials to employ practically as many people as they employed while the war was on.

Senator King declared some of the heads of bureaus ought to be investigated and perhaps suit ought to be instituted against them to recover expenditures illegally made.

More Than Required.

"When our country entered the war of course it became necessary to increase the number of employees," said Senator King. "The result was that tens of thousands came to Washington, many more, in my opinion than we needed. It has seemed to me that there is a predetermination upon the part of departments, bureaus and governmental agencies to keep in Washington and in the service of the government all those who were brought here for an emergency. Instead of there being an attempt to separate some of these individuals from the rolls there seems to be a determination to keep them upon the rolls as employees of the government. Only a few thousands have been discharged from the various departments and in many of the departments and bureaus there are more people employed now than there were at any time during the period of the war.

Continue to Spend.

"Instead of endeavoring to reduce expenses and practice economy many of these executive agencies are evincing a purpose to continue upon a war basis and expend the same or larger sums than the necessities of the war called for. Reductions will only come when Congress enacts appropriate legislation and refuses to make the appropriation demanded by such agencies and departments. As long as the appeals and demands of bureaus and departments and agencies and instrumentalities are controlling, this vast army of employees in Washington and through out the nation will be continued. I venture the opinion that every department and every executive agency represented here in Washington has submitted many reasons for continuing the war agencies and war machiery and war and wails forigncounnau,ions,heioet appropriations. There are outcries of despair when Congress attempts to reduce the number of employees or the compensation which was based upon war conditions."

G. O. P. DID IT

"Congress has justified the faith of American women," declares Mrs. Maude Wood Park, referring to the passage of the suffrage amendment. And it was a Republican Congress. Do not forget that. Had Mr. Wilson urged four years ago, the passage of the amendment with the insistence which he urged the passage of some of his socialistic projects, the women would have voted in the 1916 election.

WATCHFUL WAITING

The day after the bomb explosions 22 anarchists were arrested. The pertinent question is, why were they not arrested the day before, instead of the day after the explosions. The particular men were not bomb-throwers—they were merely sympathizers or plotters whose activities should have been as well known the day before the explosions as the day after.

BRANDEGEE HITS LEAGUE A MIGHTY HARD BLOW

Will Quit Republican Party if the Party Takes Stand in Favor of the League of Nations.

Washington, July 14.—The Republican publicity Association, through its president, Hon. Jonathan Bourne, Jr., today, gave out the following statement from its Washington headquarters:

'Americanism will not lack for vigorous protection as long as the Senate contains such members as Hon Frank B. Brandegee of Connecticut. He does not mince words in stating his position on the league of nations, and his determination to stand to the last in upholding the oath he took to defend he constitution. In a statement recently issued by Mr. Brandegee he uses the following language:

This country has had three critical shocks.

First achieving its independence.

Second, framing its Constitution.

Third, preserving the Union under the Constitution.

We are now confronted with the fourth crisis. It is, Shall we preserve our independence or surrender it.

I am an American and nothing else. I am a United States Senator and a member of the Foreign Relations Committee. I have taken oath to preserve and protect the Constitution of the United States, and, so help me God, I am going to do it. I thoroughly realize the responsibility which is resting upon me and I propose to use my best judgment that God has given me without fear or favor.

The so-called covenant for the league of nations which the executive has made, is, in my mind, a hideous monstrosity. I shall not vote for it till hell freezes over, and I think that such event is probably somewhat remote. I am not to be buncoed by any lingo about "humanity or the moral forces of the world or voices in the air." I am for upholding the American flag and not for hauling it down. I am for the Stars and Stripes, and not for the milk-white flag of neutral internationalism. I am for the America of George Washington. I believe America can best serve humanity by minding its own business. I am not ready to cast this country into the witches' couldron on international complications. Are we to tax our people, conscript our boys and fight the battles of the world to please somebody's idealism. I am utterly opposed to the league and in favor of peace. I do not believe it will become a party issue, but I will leave the Republican party the minute it stands for the league.

"In giving utterance to these trenchant expressions of patriotism Senator Brandegee knows that he but echoes the centiments of an overwhelming majority of his New England constituents. They have inherited the blood of distinguished Revolutionary ancestors, who did not hesitate to declare and fight for their independence from the oppression of the most powerful nation in the entire world. The country is now being threatened with coercion by force of arms unless we are willing to surrender the independence won by the fathers of the country, and consent to slip back into the condition of subservance from which the Revolution rescued us. The odds against us now are great, but not so heavy as those that confronted the colonists. The world never saw more virile courage than was exhibited by those great men. It is possible that the American quality of patriotism is not of as high a standard now as it was in '76.

OUR LESSON

While the world is getting back on a peace basis, some of our industries may get along without a protective tariff, but this much is certain—a protective tariff can do no harm and may do a lot of good later. We neglected preparedness once to our sorrow.

MT. PISGAH

The 13th day of July was an enjoyable day at Mt. Pisgah. By 10 a.m. a number of the best singers in the county were seen on the ground. Prof. H. C. Collins arranged the seats and directed a few songs, then prayer by G. W. Edwards.

The following committee was appointed to arrange program for the day: A. J. Culp, Ira Yeargan and O. L. Devaughn.

A. A. Beard and others directed a few songs, then 10 minutes recess. We had the pleasure of listening to an able sermon by Rev. F. A. Gipson.

By 2 p.m., the committee had their program arranged, as follows: Sam Henley, O. L. Devaughn, John Lowery, J. M. Taylor and Lee Grant, 3 songs each. Then recess ten minutes.

After recess we had a beautiful quartette by H. C. Collins, A. A Beaird and two Messrs Devaughn.

Lee Robinson, H. C. Collins, S. M. Yates, A. C. Neeley and Robert Murphy sung three songs each. One song by F. I. Popwell, and dismission by Rev. F. A. Gipson.

The organists for the day were Vela Scott, Birdie Edwards, Dera Jones, Claudie Lee Murphy, Lee Robinson, Lee Grant, A. A. Beaird and H. C. Collins.

MR. JOHNSON DENIES CHARGE ON HIM—DECLARES INNOCENCE

Mr. J. O. Johnson, the leader of the Boy Scouts Band enters severe protest against the charge in last week's Union-Banner that he lay down on the boys in their Fourth of July program. He demands that we make amends for our charge against him, because he says that our statements are unjust and untrue. If what we said was unjust and untrue, we stand ready to yield our position to that which is correct, and we offer to the public the explanation of Mr. Johnson himself, which he assures us is the positive truth about the matter.

Mr. Johnson asserts that his failure to officiate as leader of the band was not due to wilfully laying down on his part, but was because a blister on his lip utterly incapacitated him in sounding his horn, and therefore, he was forced, greatly against his will, to give up the program. He avows that no one is more regretful of the failure of the band program than himself; but maintains that the failure was the result of a condition beyond his control.

We are glad to have Mr. Johnson explain the matter as he does. For we had much rather be assured that his failure was not wilful, than to be impressed that he chose to humiliate our boys through the abandonment of his duties as their leader.

The United States Civil Service Commission has announced an examination for the County of Chilton, Alabama, to be held at Clanton and Maplesville, on August 19, 1919, to fill the position of rural carrier at Maplesville, and vacancies that may later occur on rural routes from other post offices in Chilton County. The examination will be open only to citizens who re actually domiciled in the territory of a post office in the county and who meet the other requirements set forth in Form No. 1977. This form and application blanks may be obtained from the offices mentioned above or from the United States Civil Service Commission at Washington, D.C. Applications should be forwarded to the Commission at Washington at the earliest practicable date.

REPUBLICANS WILL REPEAL LUXURY TAX

Member of Sterring Committee of House Believes Action Not Far Distant.

TO CONTINUE ENERGETIC PACE

Washington, July 14—Having completed passage of the great appropriation bills, the House has now launched itself upon a program of general legislation which indicates its purpose to continue the energetic pace which has marked the first few weeks of the session. One of the interesting developments is the probability, as viewed by Representative Madden, of Illinois, a member of the Republican steering committee, that Congress will see its way clear to repeal such of the so-called luxury taxes as apply to the necessaries of life, such as clothing, and to such minor luxuries as moving-picture theatres and soft drinks.

"We have wanted to repeal the consumption taxes ever since the Republicans came into control," said Mr. Madden, today, "but it is only recently that we have found the answer to the question of how it could be done. We now find the answer in the fact that the Republicans have already reduced appropriations by approximately $1,500,000,000, and with this saving we would be in a position to revoke the consumption taxes."

The general legislative program already decided upon, as reviewed by Mr. Madden is as follows:

Waterpower legislation, which is already under consideration.

The formulation of a permanent merchant marine policy.

Protective legislation for the American dye industry.

The soldier settlement bill.

Return of the railroads to their owners.

SESSION CHILTON COUNTY SINGING CONVENTION

The Fifteenth Annual Session of the Chilton County Singing Convention will be held at Collins Chapel Church, two miles east of Thorsby, on Saturday afternoon and Sunday, July 19 and 20, 1919.

A business session will be held on Saturday at 2:00 o'clock, p.m..

Sunday will be spent in singing, and we expect to have some of the best singers of the county in attendance.

All members are urged to attend the business session.

Those wishing conveyance from Thorsby, write J. M. Mims, Clanton, Alabama, Route No. 4.

J. M. SMITH, Secy.

FRIDAY AFTERNOON EXERCISES AT LITTLEJOHN SCHOOLHOUSE

On last Friday afternoon quite a number of the trustees and patrons of the Littlejohn School met at the school house and witnessed some special exercises performed by the students. The program consisted principally of review work for the past month of school, together with some spelling matches, recitations, etc.

There were about 25 patrons of the school present besides over forty visitors.

Such meetings as these are inspiring to the students of a school, and they also serve as a great encouragement to the teacher. It shows that the people are interested in their school and in their children.

The Highway Question in Alabama An Important Matter.

The highways of Alabama are in a state of rapid deterioration. From every county is coming the cry that our roads are going to the bad and no means at hand to rebuild them. Millions of dollars have been spent on the roads all of which will soon be wasted at the rate we are going, unless more money is provided to save that which has already been put in the building of roads.

The plan which has been worked out by the Alabama Highway Improvement Association, which is now before the State Legislature looks to us like the only hope of improved highways in the State, and the only means of saving the money that has already been put in the roads.

Scarcely a single county in the State is able to maintain its roads. Nearly all the counties are as deep in debt as they can go, with no money on hand and the roads daily going to pieces.

The plan under consideration is this: For the state to vote a bond issue of 25 million dollars to meet the federal appropriation for high ways, thus, creating a fund that will put our highways already constructed in good condition, gravel them and build parts of our highways that have never before been graded and graveled. The interest on the bonds to be paid by the automobile and motor vehicle license of the State.

There are many worthy features of this plan which stand out prominently. First, it will guarantee a system of good highways connecting all points of the State. It will relieve each and every individual county of the responsibility and expense of keeping up the parts of trunk highway lines passing through those counties. The highways will be paid for and kept up by the people who use them and get the direct benefit from them, the automobile owners. The farmer who does not live near these highways and does not own an automobile will not pay one red cent toward keeping up the highways. When a county is relieved of the expense of keeping up these highways, it will have that much more money and time to devote to its other roads, which will work a direct advantage to every citizen of the county, who owns as much as an ox wagon and travels a public road at all. It looks to us like this is the chance for the people to put the expense of the highways on the fellows who own automobiles, and at the same time save their own tax money to work the roads that run out over the county.

We hope that the Legislature will give the people a chance to vote on this proposition. We believe they can see the wisdom of the plan, and whereby it is for the best interest of the people in every county in Alabama.

Birmingham People Pull Another Big Bone this Week.

The sensible people of Birmingham must indeed hang their heads in shame at the capers some of their fellow citizens have been cutting in regard to Senator Reed speaking in that city against the league of nations. Those who have so bitterly protested against Sen. Reed speaking, and who have been so unthoughted in their threats against him have displayed anything and everything except the spirit of fair play and democracy. They have shown the very narrow space that separates their eyes, and such action as they have taken unto themselves befits none but the low-brow element of humanity.

Are not the people of Birmingham willing to grant to every man the right to his own individual thoughts and his own words? Do they think that a people must fall for the preachments of Wilson as though he were a despot holding a rod of iron across our shoulders and daring us to raise our eyes to the light of knowledge lest he smite us down and crush our lives from our bodies? People who behave like those in Birmingham who so unwisely protested against Senator Reed's speech, are not deserving of the freedom that is guaranteed under the American Constitution. They would bite the hand that is feeding them. They would throttle the stream that brings them waer of life and turn its course into regions where its life-giving splendor goes to waste.

The League of Nations Violates All of American Integrity.

"The present league of nations ought not be ratified by the Senate because it invades the sovereignty of the United States. Article X compels us to defend the teritorial integrity and political independence of all member nations of the league. This binds us to defend Japan in her possession of Shantung against any efforts of the Chinese government to retake this territory and forty-four million of her people of which she has been despoiled. It binds us equally to defend Great Britain's colonial possessions anywhere in the world. This article not only says that we will respect such territorial integrity but we will undertake to preserve it. There is no way to preserve the territory of one of the league members against external aggression save by armies and navies. The United States therefore embroils herself in both Europe and Asia to presrve the territorial possessions of Japan and Great Britain. Our navy and a large army are in constant danger of being employed to this end.

"Article 11 provides that any war or threat of war whether immediately affecting any of the members of the league or not, is a matter of concern to the whole league and the league shall take any action it may deem wise and effectual to safeguard the peace of nations.

"Article 16 provides for the automatic declaration of war whenever any covenant breaking nation resorts to war in violence of the league's articles. It is, as it states, an ipso facto declaration of war against the U. S. The United States then finds itself in a condition of war without a declaration by congress. It relieves Congress from any responsibility save that of drafting men and levying taxes to create armies and navies. This is an invasion of sovereignty.

"The Monroe Doctrine is construed away into nebulous metaphysics. It is resolved into the dim generality of a regional understanding which in turn is but comparative in character and will become a mere matter of illustration instead of the settled American policy of this republic.

"It is obvious that such a league ought not be entangled with the peace treaty. The peace treaty is designed to end the condition of war declared to exist betwen this country and Germany April 6, 1917. The general desire for the conclusion of peace ought not be made a logrolling device to foist upon the country a league which few people understand and still fewer will support when its provisions have time to be thoroughly known to all."—Senator Sherman.

Birmingham Council of American Legion Gone Wild.

Is the Birmingham Council a fair sample of the American Legion? If the Organization of ex-soldiers in America is going to be pledged to such narrow-minded acts as the Birmingham Council has pulled off on Senator Reed, here is one lad who shouldered a Springfield that don't want any of it in his. If it is going to be a gang with the purpose of gagging the country on Mr. Wilson's socialistis dreams of international idealism, we have got enough of the American Legion right here and now. If it is going to help the Roman Catholics of America suppress the right of free speech and free press, it can have none of our support at all.

Our opinion is that the Birmingham Council his missed the aims of the organization. Those fellows have gone off their nut entirely to begin with. If that is all the democracy that is in the American soldiers it is prima facie evidence that they went to Europe to fight for some thing which they themselves did not have the first principles of in the own hearts.

A convent inspection bill has been introduced in the Alabama Legislature, and you just ought to see how the frock-tailed she-ma le men of the priesthool from one end of the State to the other are rising up in arms against the measure. They realize that if it passes and is made a law it will throw open their dens of crime and wickedness to the unmerciful eyes of the decent people of the State. They will move heaven and earth to defeat the bill. We hope that the legislature is made of men who can sand the fire and put the law on our statute books that will put the bachelor preachers and filthy nuns of Rome on the run from Alabama.

A subscriber asks how we think the people stand on the government control of wires, roads, etc. They stand disgusted to a man. The only person we know of who favors the darned mess is one Albert Sidney Burleson.—Yellow Jacket.

When Wilson said he would keep us out of war, he meant he would keep us out until he was inaugurated the second time, but the silly Democrats couldn't see it and wanted to mob the Republicans who declared it was a snare.

The highways of the state must be dealt with separate from the other roads of the various counties if either system is ever to be improved and made worth while.

Some Things We Saw at the Good Roads Meeting in Montgomery

Last Thursday morning, by invitation of Judge Reynolds, the editor in company with Judge Reynolds himself and County Commissioner A.P. Vinson, set out to Montgomery to be present at the meeting of the Alabama Highway Improvement Association. The trip was to be accomplished in Judge Reynolds' big Winton Six, which faithful boat successfully executed its mission under the judicious piloting of Judge Reynolds. There was many a bump and hole in the worn-out road which we had to travel, and it was quite enough to con vince anyone of the dire need of highway improvement in Alabama just to travel over that road one time in a car. It was bad enough with a big Winton. No telling how bad it would have been in a flivver. The road from here to Montgomery is truly a bad one. Parts of the way which were once the finest kind of highway have gone down till it is worse than the average country road that has never been graded and improved. The Autauga link of the road which has never been graded nor graveled is now about as good as any other part of the way.

We reached Montgomery shortly after noon, and as stated above we were much more enthused over good roads than before we had made the trip. I guess it was enthusiasm for good roads that we felt. Anyway, I am sure it was a particular aversion for bad roads. For we had about all of the bumps and thrills that a fellow cares for in a space of forty-six miles in four hours. We stopped at the City Hall and registered, whereupon we were tagged as good roads delegates. Mr. Vinson then made a motion that we locate an eat-house, which was readily seconded by the editor, and was quickly made unanimous by the consent of Judge Reynolds. Next stop was the Pickwick. The severe shaking we had received from the trip just finished had materially aided our digestive apperatus, and before we had begun the se ncoddueroszaBon vbgk cmfw vbg second course of our dinner, it was realized that the cafe had us assessed with three dollars and sixty-five cents damages against the bill of fare.

Feeling much better after lunch we went back to the City Hall for the first session of the good roads Convention. There was much ado at the hall when we arrived. The place was thronged by men from every nook and corner of the States. Probate Judges, editors, preachers, county commissioners, lawyers, doctors, farmers, bankers, all were mixing and mingling, shaking hands with old friends and political enemies. Even plain old Bill Brandon was there in full force, running for Governor right on but camouflaged behind a good roads badge.

When Uncle Fred Cramton appeared on the scene all became quiet and a brass band opened the meeting with a fitting selection. Prayer was reverently sent up by a Doctor Dickenson. The welcome address was delivered to the delegates composing the meeting by Hon. Robert H. Jones, president of the Board of Revenue of Montgomery County. The response was made in behalf of the delegates by Judge Brandon, and you know how Bill can do such stunts as that. He is a peach of a fellow for such occasions, and his words at this time were well chosen and particularly impressive.

On the stage and taking prominent part in the doings of the occasion was Bruce Kennedy of the Chamber of Commerce. We don't know what Montgomery would do without Bruce. A man sitting beside me was astonished that Indiana had sent James Whitcomb Riley down here to our good roads Convention; but when we had observed the object of his amazement sitting there on the stage, it was none other than Frank Willis Barnett of the Birmingham Age-Herald. Our neighbor looked dejected when we assured him that his friend Riley had been dead for some years. After a short spell of whereasing and resoluting the body adjourned for the grand automobile parade.

Hundreds and hundreds of cars—both automobiles and Fords, formed into the parade line in column of 2's, near the city hall, and proceeded to the State Capitol. Each car bore a banner with the name of its home county thereon, and carried its capacity of delegates all tagged nd decorated with the good roads scenery. Our party in Judge Reynolds car was greatly augmented in both dignity and appearance by the presence of Mr. Howard S. Doster, editor of the Prattville Progress, who rode with us in the parade. Members of the Legislature joined the parade at the capitol and the grand pageant proceeded down Dexter Avenue through the city and out to the flying field at West End.

Those fellows that Uncle Sam has got operating his flying machines out at Wright Field seem to be in competition with the road business. For they do not need any roads at all for their way of locomotion. But for all that most of the delegates present were willing to let them have their flying machines, and we would just go ahead and build highways and depend on the dauntless flivver for our going about. But it is worth while and indeed amusing to see what is going on at the repair depot and flying field. One can have no conception of such a plant until he has been through it. We found Red McKee and Grover Bice in the shop assembling motors for the flying boats.

After we had been through the immense plant of the repair depot we came out on the field to find half a dozen or more of the big birds ready to take the wing. The stunts they pulled off included everything in the catalogue and a few extras for the day not mentioned in the regular list. Lieut. Steel in his little blue bird rotary plane cut up so much that he reminded us of a a june-bug with his head cut off. With the fun all over at the flying field and the day well spent we came back to the city. On the way we picked up Mr. F. A. Gulledge to keep him frim having to walk back to the city.

Judge Reynolds and Mr. Vinson attended the night session of the Convention but the editor did not. On the other hand, I enjoyed the extreme pleasure of two hours at supper with Judge Weaver of Shelby and E. M. Allen, a friend who lives in Montgomery. Besides taking us up for supper and paying the bill, Allen did another unfortunate thing. He mentioned politics about the time we sat down to the table, whereupon Judge Weaver and I both turned loose our Republican artillery against the Democratic flashes of our worthy host. I want to say right here that Judge Weaver is wound up for eight days at a time on this political stuff, and if he hands it to those Shelby Democrats like he did to our friend Allen, he will make things look smoky for some of them a while yet. After supper we assured friend Allen that it had been a delightful treat for us and with duet hanks we bade him good night. Upon going to my room at the Gay-Teague, I found Judge Reynolds and Mr. Vinson already retired and enjoying the cool breezes that were cheerfully playing around the windows of the fifth-story of that superb hostelry, while the thermometer on the side walk must have been at least 93 or more and it eleven o'clock at night.

The next morning we arose refreshed with rest, and after donning clean shirt and collar set out to get breakfast. Then to the nine-o'clock session of the Good Roads Convention. Uncle Fred was a bit late in wielding the gravel. But when things were finally set in motion, we heard speeches on everything you can imagine from the Civil war to Woman Suffrage. After two hours of more more or less windy speeches from a dozen or more good roads orators, the meeting adjourned sine die. And as yet the greatest mystery of that great meeting remains unsolved, namely: "Why somebody didn't introduce a resolution endorsing Mr. Wilson and the League of Nations."

Our next stop was at the State Capitol whither we went to get our representative, W. A. Reynolds to lunch with us. Upon ariving at the capital we found the lawlmakers not yet adjourned for dinner. We took seats in the gallery and observed two representatives on the floor of the house about ready to tie up on some debate. At first thought we felt that we were going to make up for not seeing the Willard-Dimpsey fight by seeing one in the arena below us. Judge Reynolds told the following story while we sat there waiting for the hour of adjournment:

When Joe Mullins was quite a small boy his father, Hon. Tipton Mullins, went down to take a look at the lawmakers one day and carried Joe along with him. Joe, like all small boys are when they go to the city, was very restless, and every place his father would carry him he naturally wanted it to be some other place. But Mr. Mullins pacified Joe by continually telling him, "We will go to see the legislature after a while, son. Just be a good boy now a while longer."

Finally the gallery overlooking the floor of the house was reached whereupon Mr. Mullins pointed below and said: "Now, son, look down there. Do you see the legislature?"

"No, papa, I don't see it. Where is it." inquired Joe.

"Ah, Son, there it is down there, those men you see," assured Mr. Mullins.

"Pshaw, papa," said Joe, in a disappointed way, "I thought it was going to be some animals."

One o'clock found Alabama's lawmakers hurrying out to lunch. We, went along with them. Contemplating the ups and downs of the return trip, we ate heavily in order to ward off sea-sickness, and when we had our fill the return was begun, via Wetumpka. Just as we were leaving Grover Walker came along stating that he was broke and wanted to come back with us. We were glad to take him on to help hold the boat to the ground. But Grover was not broke, for he had twenty cents when we reached Wetumpka, with which he bought a cigar and a watermelon.

Our trip home was an uneventful one except the severe shocking we occasionally got at the hands of the unmerciful bumps in the bad roads. In conclusion, we might say that if you know of a fellow who is wrong on the good roads question just put him in your flivver and run to Montgomery and back with him, and his heart will be in the right place when he gets back home, if he is lucky enough to get back without having it shaken out of him entirely.

Chilton County delegates attending the good roads convention in Montgomery last week were Judge Reynolds and W. M, Wyatt from Clanton, A. P. Vinson, Tom and Dewey Rockett and Olvin McSwain of Coopers, R. J. Williams and D. O. Manning of Maplesville, F. A. Gulledge, W. A. Gulledge and H.B. Oliver of Verbena.

Last Monday as Lieut. Powell and Lieut. Steele from the flying field in Montgomery were on their way to Birmingham in one of the army planes they had engine trouble and were forced to land near Clanton. They came to earth in John Gray's corn field just west of town, and damaged quite a lot of growing corn. The machine was not damaged except a broken propellor, and the aviators were not hurt in the forced landing. The machine was repaired in the afternoon and Lieut. Powell piloted her back to Montgomery.

Hon. Pope M. Long of Cordova and Judge J. J. Curtis of Jasper were in Clanton Wednesday. Mr. Long is Chairman of the State Republican Executive Committee. Judge Curtis bears the distinction of being the only Republican circuit Judge in Alabama. His circuit comprises the two counties of Walker and Winston.

Judge Reynolds and Mr. A. P. Vinson are in Birmingham this week looking after the government motor trucks that have been awarded to Chilton County through the Alabama Highway Commission. These trucks when delivered here will be used by the county in road work.

Dr. Clarence Roper is in Clanton this week on a visit to his parents.

SECRETARY OF NAVY DANIELS URGES THE RATIFICATION OF THE SUFFRAGE AMENDMENT

In a recent telegram to Mrs. John D. McNeel, Alabama Chairman of Ratification Committee, Secretary Daniels says:

"Democratic senators from Texas Arkansas, Louisiana, Georgia, Oklahoma and Tennessee were among those who voted on June 4 to submit the nineteenth amendment to the states for ratification. That amendment has been ratified by 11 states and special sessions of the General Assembly have been called in others to consider it. Every state that has held a session of the legislature since it was submitted has ratified it by overwhelming majorities. Democrats and Republicans have united in hastening to give this delayed right to women in order that they may participate in the next presidential election. Great Britain and Germany have now asked women to become equal partners in government housekeeping. Why should the United States hesitate?

"The day for debate as to the capacity of women to wisely exercise the right of suffrage has passed. At least we Democrats cannot deny that she knew what she was about when it was largely due to the vote of the women in the Western states that made the re-election of President Wilson. That was a party victory, but it was much more than that; without his vision and his faith can we dare believe this blessing to the world would have been achieved?

"The argument for woman suffrage is alike to the people of Alabama and Massachusetts. It makes no change in state laws of the qualifications to vote that do not already exist. Each section has its problems which it must solve. With suffrage to women the same requirements now affecting male voters will apply to female voters. The South has nothing to fear from the amendment, but it would be a loss to Southern chivalry and Southern prestige if our section of the country halted this great reform.

"Earnestly hope the people of Alabama will take the lead of Southern states east of the Mississippi and follow the wise leadership of Texas and Missouri and other progressive commonwealths. There is no doubt of the ratification. Let Alabama lead and not follow. It has blasted the way in other days in noble achievement and is known far and wide for its chivalry. Its ratification would be hailed with satisfaction by the whole country and would gladden the heart of the president as he returns with the covenant of nations."

(Signed) "JOSEPHUS DANIELS."

FOR DESERVING DEMOCRATS

If the British-Wilsonian league of nations is anything like the Wilson administration at Washington, it will even before it comes into legal existence, begin to assert that its duties are so numerous and its tasks so great that it must have increased appropriations for the employment of increased numbers of experts, etc., etc. It must be admitted that the league scheme involves such serious international difficulties as to require a large amount of negotiation to make a decent sort of record preliminary to the wars that are assured, if the league shall become a reality.

YOU NEED NOT SUFFER FROM CATARRH

But You Must Drive It Out of Your Blood.

Catarrh is annoying enough when it chokes up your nostrils and air passages, causing difficult breathing and other discomforts. Real danger comes when it reaches down into your lungs.

This is why you should at once realize the importance of the proper treatment, and lose no time experimenting with worthless remedies which touch only the surface.

To be rid of Catarrh, you must drive the disease germs out of your blood.

Splendid results have been reported from the use of S. S. S., which completely routs from your blood the Catarrh germs, for which it is a perfect antidote.

NOTED SOUTHERN ATTORNEY FAVORS FEDERAL SUFFRAGE AMENDMENT.

George Gordon Battle, a Southerner, who is today widely known as one of New York's leading attorneys, is unequivocally in favor of the Federal Suffrage Amendment.

"I have always believed in suffrage," he says, "as I have confidence in the good sense of the majority of the adult citizens. Having these democratic sympathies, I have been able to see no reason why the right of suffrage should not be extended to women, and I have therefore, strongly advocated the measure in the past. Now that the Amendment has passed the Congress and is to be submitted to the Legislatures of the respective States, I have no doubt that the result will be favorable. Indeed, I think the result is a foregone conclusion, and one of the strongest arguments in favor of the Amendment is the fact that it is in any event inevitable."

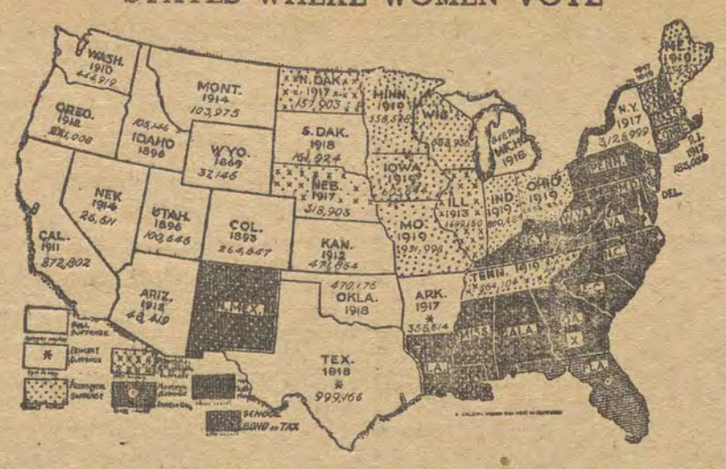
TO PALE PEOPLE— YOUR BLOOD MAY BE STARVING FOR IRON!

If Your Blood Needs Iron, It Needs ZIRON, the New Compound of Iron, Which Acts as a Strengthening Tonic, Enriching the Blood and Building up the System.

When your blood lacks the proper proportion of red corpuscles to give your complexion the "rosy hue of health" and your complexion is pale, "pasty-looking", perhaps even greenish-tinged, you are probably of an anemic or chlorotic nature, and your blood needs Ziron, to bring back the rich, red flush of health.

Ziron, the new compound of iron, the hypophosphites of lime and soda, and other tonic, strengthening ingredients, has been found of great value in conditions of simple anemia, chlorosis, debility, nervousness, lack of ambition, loss of appetite, dyspepsia, etc. It is a valuable reconstructive tonic, in cases of weakness, and helps build up the constitution after severe illness.



Mrs. Mae Belle Perkins, of Adairsville, Ga., writes: "About two months ago I got to feeling badly. My back hurt me badly, and my legs and arms hurt too, and I didn't have any appetite at all to eat. About two weeks ago I commenced taking Ziron, according to directions on the bottle . . . By the time I had taken the medicine for a week, I could see it was doing me good. I had been weak and nervous, and it made me feel stronger, and I'm not a bit nervous now. My back is all right, and my arms and legs do not ache. And my appetite is good again.

Before I started using Ziron I wouldn't rest at night, I was so tired feeling and felt worn out. I have used nearly the whole bottle and now I sleep fine every night. It sure is a fine medicine, and I am glad I tried it."

Ziron is non-alcoholic, contains no habit-forming drugs, acts gently, has no bad after-effects, is good for men, women and children. It is a medicine of genuine merit, composed of ingredients prescribed by eminent physicians. Try it.

SPECIAL OFFER: Buy a bottle of ZIRON, today, at your druggist's and give it a fair trial, according to directions on the label. After using up one bottle, if you find it has not benefitted you, take it back to the druggist and he will refund what you paid him for it. We repay him, so there is no reason why he should not repay you. This offer only applies to the first trial bottle. (Z. A. L.)

STATES WHERE WOMEN VOTE

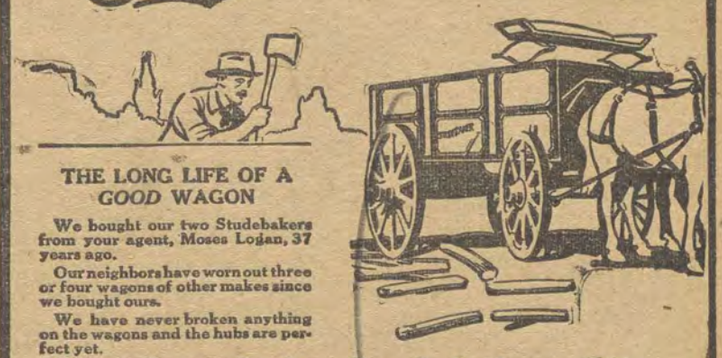
Alabama is one of seven states left whose women cannot vote on any question.

MRS. SOLON JACOBS.

She is Alabama Chairman of the Women Associates of the Democratic National Committee, of which Homer Cummings is chairman.

At its national conference in May, this Committee passed the following resolution:

"Whereas, the Democratic Party is on record as favoring Woman's Suffrage, and



"Whereas, it now appears certain that the federal suffrage amendment will pass the United States Senate within the next few days, and

"Whereas, it is the earnest desire of the Democratic Party that all women vote in the elections of 1920,

"Therefore be it Resolved, That the Democratic National Committee urges the calling of special sessions of the state legislatures wherever necessary to bring about a speedy ratification of said federal amendment."

WAGONS BUGGIES HARNESS

THE LONG LIFE OF A GOOD WAGON

We bought our two Studebakers from your agent, Moses Logan, 37 years ago.

Our neighbors have worn out three or four wagons of other makes since we bought ours.

We have never broken anything on the wagons and the hubs are perfect yet.

One is a lumber wagon, the other a spring wagon. Both are good for years of work yet.

Arthur Martin,
Sandy Lake, Pa.

Studebaker 37 years old—hubs perfect yet

Not strange for the Studebaker—because the hubs are of fine, close grain—tough, strong and treated with a secret sealing solution that is weather resisting.

Notice the hubs on the next Studebaker you pass on the road—you'll find they are not split or checked like the ordinary wagon.

And in these hubs are set the famous Studebaker slope shoulder spokes.

The Studebaker Farm Wagon Wheel is best made.

We sell the Studebaker because we believe it is the biggest wagon value on the market.

NOTICE TO NON-RESIDENTS

State of Alabama, Chilton County.

Circuit Court in Equity.

J. D. Wesson, Complainant, vs. Cleadeth Wesson, Defendant.

In this cause it is made to appear to the Register by the affidavit of Grady Reynolds, attorney for Complainant, that the defendant is a non-resident, and that her place of residence and post office address is unknown, and that such address cannot be ascertained after reasonable effort; and, further, that, in the belief of said affiant, the defendant is of the age of twenty-one years.

It is therefore ordered by the Register that publication be made in The Union-Banner, a newspaper published in the County of Chilton, once a week for four consecutive weeks, requiring her, the said Cleadeth Wesson, to plead, answer or demur to the bill of complaint in this cause by the 5th day of August, 1919, or in thirty days thereafter, a decree pro confesso may be taken against her.

Done at office in Clanton, Ala., this 5th day of July, 1919.

STAY-AT-HOMES HOLD THE SOLDIERS OLD JOB

Men Who Fought in France at Disadvantage in Getting Places Back.

Washington, July 15.—Much complaint is arising from clerks in the departments who served in the army and navy, many of whom fought in France, to the effect that on their return to civil life they are being forced to take positions subordinate to clerks who before the war were subordinate to them. In other words, it appears that many of these clerks who offered their lives to their country are now getting as their reward the discvovery that in their absence from the departments other employees have been promoted while the best that is allowed them is restoration to their old positions.

Many instances of this sort of thing are coming to light and are being brought to the attention of members of the House and Senate. The defense of the officials of the dpeartments is that they have no authority to do more than restore returned soldiers and sailors to the positions that they left when they entered the service of the land or naval focres. Many members of Congress feel that while technically this may be a correct statement officials who were fully appreciative of the deserts of the men who entered the service could find ways of giving them appropriate recognition.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS FOR WAR

War is rarely made by the people. In the case of democratic governments, it may be declared by representatives of the people, as in the case of the American Congress, or House of Commons in England under autocratic governments, which, thank God, are rapidly disappearing, it may be declared by a coterie, as in the recent great war brought on by Germany; but, at all events, a declaration of war is made by individuals, and it seems to me that if the great statesmen assembled in Paris had really meant to make war in the future impossible, the first clause of the league of nations covenant, as drawn up by them, would read about as follows:

All war, except in the defensive, is illegal and an international code shall be drawn up in every way qualifying what defensive war means.

The punishment for violation if this first clause of the treaty should mean death to those making said declarations or affixing their signatures thereto, and after that clause it seems to me that any further clauses would be almost needless, except those defining the methods of trial of the criminals.

This would be a real league of nations for peace; instead of that, we have a document, which, while no doubt meritorious in many respects, is nothing but a league of nations for war. And I have heard Mr. Fred Coudert, the eloquent and eminent defender of the proposed league, state in Carnegie Hall that this "was no league of nations for peace, but a league of nations for peace through war."

As for me the crushing results of the recent war do not make a league of nations for peace through war sound very attractive.

"If such a clause had been inserted, the trial of the criminals would be a routine matter, and the result inevitable. The present contemplated trial of the parties, who, under the present international code, are not criminals, in my opinion, although I make no pretense of being a lawyer, I believe, will result in a farce, which will only bring ridicule to the Allies, and add to the insolence of the German Junkers, and give them a renewed standing in their own country, which, it seems to me, might have been avoided."

LOSS OF APPETITE

As a general rule there is nothing serious about a loss of appetite, and if you skip a or only eat two meals for a few days you will soon have a relish for your meals when meal time comes. Bear in mind that at least hours should always elapse between meals so as to give the food ample time to digest and and the stomach a perod of rest before a second meal is taken. Then if you eat no more than you crave and take a reasonable amount of outdoor exercise every day you will not need to worry about your appetite. When the loss of appetite is caused by constipation as is often the case, that should be corrected at once. A dose of Chamberlin's Tablets will do it.

What did it? Good breeding and care. If you grow better heifers than their mothers, they must have better sires. See Lassi Foso Pogis at Dr. Hinkle's. His sire's mother produced 962 pounds of butter in one year.

"A WORD TO THE WISE."

It is not safe to buy land or to lend money and accept land as security without first investigating the title of the land. Often there are unpaid mortgages, judgments, taxes, or other liens affecting the title, which an abstract would set out. Therefore, when buying land or lending money thereon, it is important that an abstract of title be furnished. A few dollars spent for an abstract is cheaper than having a law suit later on.

There are two abstract companies at Clanton, either of which are in position to make accurate abstracts of title. The Clanton Abstract Company is owned by F. B. Collier and the Chilton County Abstract Company is owned by M. D. Foshee. Either Company will treat you right as to the price.

SHALL WE DUST FOR BOLL WEEVIL CONTROL?

This question has become of extreme interest to the cotton growers of Alabama during the past few months through the reports which have been issued from the U. S. Boll Weevil Laboratory at Tallulah, Louisiana, where for several years Mr. B. R. Coad of that Bureau has been conducting very careful investigations as to the practicability of controlling the boll weevil by dusting the cotton plant with powdered calcium arsenate.

Mr. Coad frankly states that the whole subject is still so largely an experimental matter that definite recommendations cannot be given which can be followed with assurance of profitable results by the average cotton farmer.

Besides the report of Mr. Coad's work, the Department of Entomology of the Alabama Experiment Station conducted tests upon eighteen plots in the season of 1918. Under the climatic conditions prevailing in Alabma last year, not a single one of these yielded a profitable result. The writer also examined dusting work conducted by the Georgia State Entomologist in the season of 1918 with hardly more favorable results than those obtained in Alabama.

Considering all sources of information and the results thus far obtained in all places where dusting has been tried we come to the following general conclusions: 1. That at this time dusting cannot be recommended for general use. The results are too uncertain to justify the application of an expensive treatment except under extremely favorable conditions for the best effects.

2. The cost of dusting treatment covering four applications averaging five pounds of calcium arsenate each, or twenty pounds per acre for each acre to be treated, will amount to from seven to ten dollars per acre. This expense cannot, in all probability, be covered and a profit realized except under conditions of extremely heavy boll weevil infestation and on cotton land that will produce normally better than a third of a bale per acre. It is doubtful if dusting will ever be practicable upon the average field which produces about one hundred and thirty-five to one hundred and forty-five pounds of lint per acre, as has been the average in Alabama during the past ten years.

Any planter who is interested in this matter should immediately write to the Entomologist, Auburn, Ala. for Circular No. 30 and for such suggestions and advice as may fit his particular case. The Department of Entomology will conduct experimental and demonstrational work again this season, but it is unfortunate that the resources available for the work will not allow this to be done as extensively as the interests of the cotton farmers in this matter demand at this time.

STACKING PEANUTS

Since the peanut crop is made, it behooves every man who has peanuts planted to prepare for stacking them in the very best shape possible in order that he may place on the market a desirable product. Last season there was a large percentage of the peanut crop that was never stacked but simply windrowed or left on the rows as they were plowed up. This condition together with the excessive rains in the peanut producing sections of the state, made it hard on the producer because of the inferior grade of peanuts placed on the market. The Alabama Extension Service made a special effort to assist the farmers in the sale of peanuts and found it very difficult to handle peanuts that were windrowed or otherwise left exposed to the weather.

The problem of stacking them should be a serious one after last year's experience. To stack properly the peanuts should be placed around poles approximately 7 feet long, firmly set in the ground. The poles should have cross pieces 16 to 18 inches in length nailed firmly to them at approximately one foot from the ground. The peanuts should then be taken up directly behind the plows and stacked around the poles with the nuts to the pole. The stack should hold 2 to 3 bushels and should be rounded off well at the top and capped with grass weeds or old sacks.

The problem of capping off the stacks is a very important one, and unless properly done, there will be considerable loss on the top of the stack, regardless of how well the stack was put up.

If the peanuts are stacked immediately after they are plowed up (before wilting), they will wilt in the stack and settle down, forming a compact mass that will shed water almost as effectively as the roof of a house. If, however, the peanuts are left in the fields a day or two before stacking and allowed to wilt completely, it is impossible to stack them to the best advantage. Peanuts properly stacked will turn out a bright sample, even with such excessive rain as was experienced last season.

Mr. Alex Russ died at Midway this week. His body was carried to New Salem Tuesday for burial. He had been in feeble health for several months.

Raymond Marcus has returned from the army.

CONCERNING REFERENDUM

The Supreme Court of Oregon gave a jolt to the assumption that ratification by a state legislature of a Federal Constitutional amendment is not final in those states where legislative acts are subject under state requirements, to a popular referendum.

Oregon is the pioneer referendum state. Yet its highest court holds unanimously that the exclusive power of the Legislature to approve constitutional amendments submitted by Congress has not been impaired by the introduction of a referendum.

The Federal Constitution prescribes that amendments to it shall be ratified by the state legislatures. In ratifying, the Legislatures are presumed to act in a somewhat different capacity from that in which they act in passing state laws.

The Oregon Supreme Court sustained the refusal of the Secretary of State to accept a petition asking for a referendum on the Legislature's action approving the prohibition amendment. The same would occur should the Alabama Legislature attempt a suffrage referendum and it is in line with common sense. It combats the theory that when a Constitution said LEGISLATURE it meant to include in that term any and every organ within a state which might hereafter acquire a share of direct legislative power.

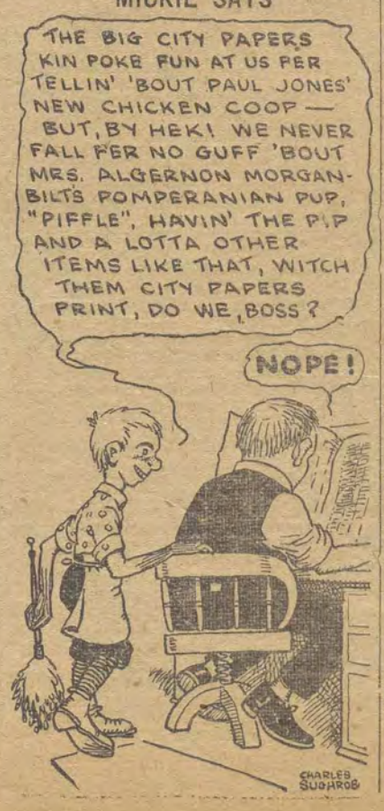
A referendum for the suffrage amendment would entail a large expense at a time when our schools and other state insitutions are clamoring for more money. Were this straw vote in favor of equal suffrage the legislature could not act until the next quadrennial session without the further expense of an extra session. And this straw vote, obtained at great expense, would not legally obligate the general assembly, if called in extra session, because it is without legal satus in connection with the ratification of amendments.

The referendum would be used by opponents of equal suffrage just as the opposition to the prohibition amendment wanted it used. It is the last refuge against the oncoming of a resistless tide. The equal suffragists are no more deceived by the fiction than were prohibitionists. Prohibition legislators supporting a referendum on equal suffrage would with difficulty explain why they refused one on prohibition. They were elected on an anti-referendum platform.

Beginning with June 10 and up to and including July 2, just one day more than three weeks, eleven states, one of the largest of southern commonwealths, ratified the suffrage amendment with almost unanimous assent. Almost a third of the necessary number obtained in so short a period with none voting opposition is ample evidence of the resistless force of the movement.

In Alabama it is the choice between giving men's teammates, fellow war workers, partners on the job, the willing sharers of their burdens and equals in intelligence, the same right to the ballot as they enjoy, or having it voted on Alabama manhood by men of other states. Sidestepping will deceive no one.

It is inconceivable that the opposition to equal suffrage in Alabama should veil that opposition under a guise of a referendum. A referendum is the means of dodging an issue. It is not the constitutional means of passing on amendments. It would have no binding force on the legislature. It would simply be a straw ballot without legal safeguard, and every one knows what occurs in such cases.



If the Alabama spirit of referendum hovers over the camp of the opposition the friends of equal suffrage will no more take to that side track than the opposition to prohobition took to the same side track of stuffed straw.

The Jumel Mansion at One Hundred and Sixtieth to One Hundred and Sixty-second streets and Edgecombe avenue, New York, is the best known of all Washington's headquarters on Manhattan. It was from here he directed the campaign which attempted to stem the British tide sweeping over from Long Island. During the Revolution the house was owned by Robert Morris. In 1810 it was bought by Stephen Jumel, a French wine merchant. In this house, at different times, were entertained Louis Napoleon, and Jerome and Joseph Bonaparte. In 1903 the city purchased the mansion.

"We shall not only be distrusted, but shall deserve to be distrusted if we do not enfranchise them with the fullest possible enfranchisement, as it is now certain that the other great free nations will enfranchise them."

—President Wilson.

BECAUSE SHE IS A SOUTHERNER

Speaking as a Southerner with a Southern ancestry that reaches back through Virginia to the very beginnings of America, Mrs. Percy V. Pennybacker, associate member of the National Democratic Committee, and former president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, endorsed the Federal Suffrage Amendment in the following words:

'I am heart and soul in favor of the amendment and it is not in spite of the fact that I am a Southerner, but because of it as a Southerner. I know full well the merits of the doctrine of state rights, but I know equally well that on fundamental question of democracy as on fundamental questions of economics and morality, the South has always risen above nice distinctions between federal and state sovereignity.

"It has proved this by its stand on federal prohibition.

"It will, I hope, prove it by its stand on the Federal Suffrage Amendment.

"In that amendment there is inherent a great principle of justice to women that is being recognized the world over today as right in theory and inevitable in practice That amendment in no way interferes with the state's right to regulate the qualification of its voters save on the one point of discriminating against women on account of sex. For fifty years the states of the South have regulated their own franchise qualifications without federal intervention. The 19th, or Federal Suffrage Amendment, confers the suffrage on nobody. It simply provides that sex shall not be construed as a reason for keeping anybody from voting.

"Speaking as a Democrat also, I am for the amendment. It is to the Democratic party that I look for the liberalizing and the democratizing of the country. Fifteen and one-half million women over voting age live today in states that have given women the right to vote for the next president. Most of these women reside in states that are normally Republican in politics. Their votes in normal elections, fusing with men's votes go to swell the popular vote of the Republican party. Of the eleven and one-half million women over voting age who will not be able to vote for the next president of the United States, unless the Federal Suffrage Amendment is ratified, many live in the Democratic South.

"Of course, the electoral vote of Southern states can be relied on to go Democratic, but I do not want the imagination of the country at large influenced by belief that Democracy, with a big D, is less popular than it really is and would show itself to be, if Democratic women as well as Democratic men could vote."

PRESIDENT FAILS TO IMPRESS SENATE BY LEAGUE ARGUMENT

Neither Friends nor Foes Satisfied by His Talk Before Senate.

COMMENT MADE BY SENATORS

Felt that Chief Executive Did Not Live up to His Promise to Explain.

Washington, July 21.—President Wilson's address to the Senate on the League of Nations covenant failed to satisfy either friends or enemies of the League. The promise of a more or less complete review and explanation of the direct causes leading up to the creation of the League of Nations and the terms of peace pact itself, was not kept, they felt. The president, in the opinion of his official hearers, gave a more or less loosely phrased excuse for the existence of the present situation and then leaped into the realm of abstract discourse.

The disappointment at the peculiarly general character was reflected not only in the endorsements of his words by his allies but in the criticisms by the opponents of his proposed internationalization of the United States.

Senate Amazed.

The Senate stood amazed at the paucity of argument presented and practically every supporter of the president made use of an apology for the incompleteness of the president's explanation.

The address, if anything, has left the cause for important changes with respect to the covenant stronger than ever. This view is freely expressed by senators.

The address was extremely general. It was everywhere remarked that it shed no light—none of the much-needed illumination—on the reasons for some things in the covenant or in the treaty.

One phrase, at least, however, the president used which was not fortunate for his purpose to force the ratification of covenant and treaty without crossing a "t" or dotting an "i". This was when he referred to the demand for the league "at whatever cost of independent action."

America Disregarded.

It has all along been the contention of those that believe the present covenant unsatisfactory that it has been made up with scant regard for American welfare or American sovereignty. In this phrase, as many senators see it, the president, to put it mildly, exhibited a strong disposition to admit this contenion.

To be Amended.

That a majority of the Senate will vote for important amendments to the covenant in the form of reservations was asserted on good authority before the address of the President. The same is true today, according to all indications.

A significant comment was made by Senator Capper of Kansas, one of the new members of the body, a member who is by no means hostile to a league of nations formed with due regard for the welfare of the United States.

"I am more convinced than ever that we should vote for reservations" said Senator Capper after he had heard the presidential address.

Lacked Force.

Comment was widely made that the address by its extreme generality did lack force and convincing power.

In commenting upon the president's address Senator Smoot of Utah said: "It was another Wilsonian essay but not up to the standard."

Senator Edge of New Jersey said: "I believe and always have believed that a majority of the senators are entirely willing for the United States to enter a league of nations, but will insist upon reservations which will leave without question the right and authority of the United States to regulate its own domestic affairs, which will continue the Monroe Doctrine, and which will not force the United States into war without the consent of Congress.'"

"Soap Bubbles."

The comment of Senator Brandegee of Connecticut was that the speech was "soap bubbles of oratory and a scuffle of phrases."

HOUSE ACTS PROMPTLY ON WATER POWER BILL

Measure Providing for Development of Many Sites Given Quick Approval.

Washington, July 22:—Although the Republican leaders of the House have had waterpower legislation on their official program for action at this session ever since the new Congress convened, the capital was somewhat surprised as it discovered that the waterpower bill had been taken up and disposed of in the House in the threatening legislative jam occuring just prior to the final adoption of all of the great appropriation bills on July 1st. At the evening session on that date, when the House was patiently waiting for action by the Senate and House conferees on the appropriation bills, it was decided to give consideration to the waterpower bill, and along toward midnight this measure, which provides for federal state or private development of power sites, and the improvement of navigation, was adopted. It is believed to be practically certain that the Senate will act favorably upon this question at an early date.

REPUBLICANS SEE GREAT TASK ON MONEY BILLS

Looking forward to the Work of Next Winter and to New Appropriations.

TO FULLY EXAMINE NEEDS

Have already Saved Vast Sums by Wise Consideration of Govt. Department Demands.

Washington, July 22.—Although the appropriation bills for the fiscal year which is just beginning have been passed by Congress after hard and effective work of but little more than a month and this has been done in such a way as to save enormous sums to the public the committees which are charged with the responsibility for appropriations are going to get little rest. Already the chairmen and most active members of those committees are looking ahead to the great task which confronts them next winter. Then the appropriation bills for the fiscal year that begins a year hence will have to be considered and passed, and this will be a proposition in some respects even more exacting and difficult than the one of handling the measures that have just been put through.

Another Great Saving.

Great savings as contrasted with the appropriation bills of last session and with the demand of the various departments were made by the responsible committees and by Congress after hasty and incomplete investigation of the estimates. But in passing the appropriation bills next winter, in the course of the regular session, the most thorough examination into the estimates will be called for and will be made. The result of any such examination will be to accomplish another great saving in the public funds.

Time Too Short.

Congress has been in session thirty eight days and in that time has had to dispose of a large amount of other buiness in addition to passing the appropriation bills. The time for dealing with these bills has been nanifestly too brief and no one seriously disputes that it would have been better for the public had the extra session been called soon after March 4th. Many millions additional to what was saved could have been pared off the appropriations had there been time to make more thorough study of the demands of the departments.

To Cut Expenses.

The estimates of the departments for the coming fiscal year will be most thoroughly scrutinized. One result of this will probably be to cut off a small army of employees whose services could be dispensed with. Members of the committees in charge of appropriations are already beginning preliminary studies of the needs of the various departments.

RURAL CARRIERS EXAMINATION

The United States Civil Service Commission has announced an examination for the County of Chilton, Alabama, to be held at Clanton and Maplesville, on August 9, 1919, to fill the position of rural carrier at Maplesville, and vacancies that may later occur on rural routes from other post offices in Chilton County. The examination will be open only to citizens who re actually domiciled in the territory of a post office in the county and who meet the other requirements set forth in Form No. 1977. This form and application blanks may be obtained from the offices mentioned above or from the United States Civil Service Commission at Washington, D.C. Applications should be forwarded to the Commission at Washington at the earliest practicable date.

READJUSTMENT OF POST PAY

Congress to Take Question Up at Present Session—Figures Will Be Looked Into.

Washington, July 21.—One of the questions which will come before Congress this session will be the readjustment of the pay of all employees of the postal service including first, second, third and fourth-class postmasters, clerk and employees of the railway mail service. Although those members of Congress who are interested in postal legislation are largely of the opinion that re-adjustment must be made, involving increases which, in the aggregate, would amount to a great figure, they are greatly at variance in their own plans for bringing this about without creating a deficit in the operation of the postoffice department.

Initial Steps.

However, it is probable that the initial steps toward securing additional postal revenue to defray the expense of increased salaries will lead the postal committees of Congress to a scrutiny of many of the regulations promulgated by Postmaster General Burleson which, it is claimed, have resulted in great monetary loss to the government. One of these regulations is that which covered books and catalogues into the parcels post clasification, which has resulted in stupendous profit to certain large mail order houses and a corresponding loss of revenue to the Government. This regulation made it possible for the mail order houses, by sending their catalogues to postal zone centers by freight, and then distributing them by mail, to reduce their postage bill from 8 cents per pound to less than 2 cents per pound. The profit of one concern in this manner amounted to $1,500,000 in one year, which, it is now claimed was distributed to stockholders as interest on $20,000,000 worth of new stock created to take care of this additional profit.

Chairman Steenerson, of the House Committee on Post Offices and Post Roads is firm in his contention that the postmaster general did some desperate figuring to bring about an alleged profit of $44,000,000 in the operation of the post-office department. He believes that Mr. Burleson made a marked under-estimate of the additional revenue accruing to the war fund through 3-cent postage and thus showing a larger general surplus, and it is probable that some very interesting facts will be produced in this connection when the time comes to consider increased pay for the postal employees.

THE MAHAN WAGON BRAKE FACTORY SPREADING OUT

The Mahan Wagon Brake Company has been incorporated under the laws of the State of Alabama, and in addition to their factory for making brakes at Clanton, a sales office has been established in Birmingham. A force of live salesmen have been sent out over Alabama and adjoining states, and the rush of orders for the Mahan Brake is keeping the factory at Clanton busy in supplying the demands.

By a carefully planned campaign of advertising the merits of the Mahan product are becoming widely known and every man who uses a brake invariably demands the Mahan Brake.

We are proud to see this local institution spreading out in its scope. It is destined to develop in the near future into an enterprise that is very greatly worth while to its promoters and one that will add much to the industrial side of Clanton's business activity.

HALT HOSPITAL BUYING

Congress to Investigate Alleged Extravagance in Purchases.

Washington, July 22—Further construction and purchase of certain proposed public health service hospitals will probably be suspended by the Treasury Department as the result of a letter from Chairman Good of the House Committee on Appropriations, who states that Congress wishes to inquire into alleged extravagance in this connection. Chairman Goode believes that such an inquiry would show that a number of hospitals were built or purchased when those already in the government's possession had many empty beds.

CONCERT AT VERBENA

There will be a concert at the high school auditorium at Verbena next Saturday night, July 26th. This will be a musical program given by the class which is under the instructions of H. C. Collins. Program will be made up of duets, quartets, children songs and choruses from Fillmore, Gabriel and Showalter books. Come. Admission 25 cents.

Mrs. F. B. Collier of Clanton was issued a first-grade Alabama teachers certificate recently by State Superintendent Spright Dowell. Mrs. Collier will be one of the teachers in the grammar school next year. She is a teacher of exceptional ability, having taught extensively in other States. Her addition to the faculty of our school will prove highly satisfactory to the patrons here.

Dr. E. E. Upchurch has just returned from a visit to the cities of the East. He says the people of Baltimore and Washinpton were glad to see him; nearly all of them met him at the trains, and came to the depot to see him leave.

SOLDIERS FROWN ON WILSON'S LEAGUE OF NATIONS IN EUROPE

CANNOT EXPRESS FEELING NOW

Army Regulations Prevent Full Discussion by Returning Veterans of War.

Washington, July 21.—An interesting light on the attitude of the men who fought in France toward the Wlison plan for a league of nations and especially toward that part of the plan which is embodied in Article X and which is calculated to require America to underwrite the boundary line of a large share of the rest of the world was shed today by a colonel of the Rainbiw Division, a National Guardsman of many years, experience, who served brilliantly with the expeditionary forces and who was wounded in the Argonne. When asked how the officers and men of the expeditionary forces looked upon the covenant as drawn for the league of nations he replied:

"The troops are not for the league of nations. There is no mistake about that. Practically all of them feel the same way about it. They want to get back home and to stay there. They are opposed to any proposition which will keep them tangled up in European affairs at this time or that will tangle them up in European affairs in the future. They have seen something of the fierce rivalries and bitter jealousies among the peoples of Europe and you can take it from me, they do not want America to get mixed up with them. Right now France and Germany are looking on ahead to the time when this struggle will be renewed and all of Europe is seething with hatred of generations and even centuries. Officers and men had the opportunity to sense something of the bitterness among the different countries there and are utterly opposed to becoming involved in this bitterness. For the reason that few soldiers have felt free to express themselves while in uniform you have heard little from them on this subject but I have no doubt that this is an accurate representation of the real feeling of the vast majority."

DEMOCRAT INDICTS MEXICAN POLICY OF PRESIDENT WILSON

Washington, July 21.—What amounts to a severe indictment of the administration policy with respect to Mexico is contained in a Senate resolution offered by Senator King, one of the Democratic leaders.

The resolution sets forth that "American citizens residing in and having property in the Republic of Mexico have suffered damages amounting to several hundred million dollars by reason of the unlawful destruction and larceny of property, and in addition thereto have been subjected to gross personal outrages and in hundreds of cases have suffered murder and assassination; and no progress has apparently been made toward the liquidation, settlement and payment of claims against the Mexican Government on account of whose delinquencies such damages and outrages have been suffered."

The resolution then provides for a sweeping investigation by the Foreign Relations Committee into the damages and outrages suffered by American citizens in Mexico, the fact concerning the murders of Americans the property losses through destruction, confiscation and larceny and all other matters having relation to the wrongs which in recent years have been visited upon United States citizens on the Mexican side of the border.

The resolution of Senator King reflects not only a wide-spread feeling in Congress of resentment over the innumerable outrages committed against Americans in Mexico but also a brief equally widespread that the State Department has been singularly remiss and inert in seeking to obtain indemnities or satisfaction of adequate sort for what has been done.

Thursday was a great day for Randolph—the best in the history. It was a picnic in the honor of the returned soldier boys as well as those who are coming and those who are never coming back. Also the public installation of the Masonic officials at the appointed hour. Rev. Smitherman called the large crowd to order and introduced Solicitor Thompson of Centreville, who delivered a good address, eulogizing the ideal community, intimating that such was possible and would be in the future when the Golden Rule would be in force. Also eulogized the ancient order of Masonry, partially reviewed the great war and gave the American soldiers unstinted praise. His theme was "Can we ever forget their heroic service?"

Dinner was announced and the people stood back while the soldier boys marched to the table first. It was a great feast spread for them in the afternoon. Rev. D. R. Wells of Florida addressed the people.

CLEBURNE COUNTY MAN, 62, DECLARES HE FEELS LIKE 16

Bent over from Rhumatism, hobbled About on a Walking Cane, and Couldn't tie his own Shoes.

Thew Cane away.

Walks as straight as anyone and hasn't a pain in his body; says Dreco did it for him.

"I'm 62 years old, but am feeling like 16 a 16 year old boy," declares Mr. S. Webster, who is o big farmer owning a lot of land and stock near Solomon, Cleburne County, Ala.

"I was bent ovtr from rhumatism; every muscle and joint seemed to be effected. I had to hobble about with a walking stick and was not able to get along without it, and my back was so stiff and painful I couldn't bend over far enough to tie my own shoe strings. One of my neighbors kept begging me to try the new medicine Dreco, but I didn't have any faith in it, for I had been fooled so much and had thrown away so much money, but I got so bad during this long rainy spell that I had to get something for relief, so sent for a bottle of Dreco, and now I have a different story to tell.

"When I had finished the forst bottle, I was feeling a great deal better, the pains were easing off and also my bowels and liver were acting fine. I got another bottle and kept on taking it, and now I can bend over and straighten up; and walk as well as anybody and I've thrown away my oln walking cane for I don't need it any longer. I seally feel as good as a youngster 16 years old, and I give the entire credit to the new root and herb remedy, Dreco. It is fine medicine."

All good druggists now sell Dreco and it is highly recommended in Clanton by Upchurca Drug Co.

UNCLE DOCK WELLS' WARTS

"Just because the warts disappeared from the boy's hands you needn't think I am a conjurer," said Uncle Dock Wells the other day in duscussing an incident, which we will relate below. He continued: "I am just a plain preacher of the Gospel, trying to impress people wherever I go with the true meaning and practical applications of Christianity. I don't wait till I get up before a thousand people in a big fine church to preach. I preach to every man I meet on the street or in the road. I preach in the stores and everywhere I go, the same simple lessons of faith in the power of God."

Now we will relate the incident that started this story about Uncle Dock.

A little boy, the son of Mr. Andrew Miner of Clanton, had his hands covered with big ugly warts. A few days ago the child was going along the street and met Uncle Dock, who noticed the condition of his hands.

"Little man," said Uncle Dock, "would you like to have those warts taken off your hands?"

"Yes, sir, I sure would," was the prompt reply.

"Well," said Uncle Dock, "If the Lord will take those warts off your hands, will you promise to be a good boy and love Him all your life? and if I will ask the Lord to take away these warts, will you love me?"

"Yes, sir, I sure will," was the boy's reply.

In parting with the little fellow Uncle Dock assured him that he would ask the Lord to remove the ugly warts from his hands.

One day this week the little young fellow came running up to Uncle Dock with his hands stretched out and said, "Uncle Dock, I came to show you my hands. The warts are gone."

And they were. The kid's hands that were literally covered with warts are now as clean and smooth as they were before the warts were ever there. And Uncle Dock insists that he be not called a conjurer for this. He declares that he didn't do a thing but ask the Lord to take the warts off the little boy's hands.

NOTICE TO NON-RESIDENTS

CHILD KILLED BY AUTOMOBILE NEAR TOWN SUNDAY MORNING

Last Sunday morning about 8:00 o'clock one of the most frightful and disastrous automobile accidents that has ever happened in this country occurred at the home of Mr. Ruben Wyatt, two miles north-east of Clanton.

The result was the almost instant killing of a seven year-old boy, Earl, son of Mr. Tommie Mims, and slight personal injury to Mr. Wyatt. The awful scene was enacted by a Ford car driven by Cary Robinson, right in front of the door of Mr. Wyatt's house.

Following is a description of the scene and the details of the accident according to those who witnessed the tragedy:

As the road from Clanton reaches the yard at Mr. Wyatt's home it forks, one road passing the house on the south and the other passing the house on the north-west side. The car was coming toward Clanton on the road south of the house. Mr. Wyatt, with the boy who was killed and a negro, Dan Jackson, were standing in the fork of the road which is directly in front of the house. When they observed the approaching car they figured that it was coming straight on to town, and stepped back into the other road. Robinson, who was driving the car saw that they expected him to go on down the road to town, but his purpose was to make the sharp turn around the yard and proceed up the other road past the house. When he observed that they had gotten directly in the way he intended driving his car he called to them and told them he was coming that way. Beyond this the scene seems to be confused, resulting from the misunderstanding about which direction the car was going. The result was that the boy was run over by both left wheels of the car, and Mr. Wyatt was knocked down but not run over. The negro was not hurt. The driver let the car go straight into a ditch on the other side of the road from the house.

The injured boy was picked up and carried in the house and the doctor summoned immediately. But it was impossible to save him. He died in something less than an hour.

In the car with Robinson was his wife and little boy, neither of whom was hurt. The damage to the car was not very mnch. As the left front wheel went into the ditch against the bank, that wheel was broken and some other minor disarrangements were registered.

Mr. Mims, the father of the child lived a few hundred yards away from the scene of the tragedy. He and the little boy's mother came quickly and were present when the little fellow expired. He was conscious for some minutes after he was carried into the house, and is said to have talked a bit to his father and mother and his Uncle, Mr. Wyatt.

The accident seems to have been utterly unavoidable both on the part of the driver of the car and those who were hurt. It is the most deplorable thing that has been recorded in this county in the way of automobile accidents. The parents and relatives of the little boy who lost his life are utterly stricken with grief, and many sorrowing friends extend their sympathy.

ALABAMA MEMORIAL CAMPAIN

The campaign for Chilton County's quota in the Alabama Soldiers Memorial Fund has been started out on a firm basis with Mr. Howard L. Foshee as Chairman.

Chilton County furnished 771 soldiers in the war just closed, and the plan is to have the name of each one of these enrolled on the memorial tablet in the soldiers building to be erected on the capital grounds in Montgomery. The quota is six dollars for each soldier that went from Chilton County. There is no doubt that every one of Chilton's heroes has a friend who will be glad to pay the six dollars to place the soldier's name on the memorial tablet.

Later on the campaign in the county will be brought down to the school district as a unit, with a competent manager in charge of each district. The drive for subscriptions in the county will be put on about October. It is hoped that Chilton will go over the top with her six dollars for each soldier who went to the war.

NOTICE TO NON-RESIDENTS

State of Alabama, Chilton County.
Circuit Court in Equity.

J. D. Wesson, Complainant, vs. Cleadeth Wesson, Defendant.

In this cause it is made to appear to the Register by the affidavit of Grady Reynolds, attorney for Complainant, that the defendant is a non-resident, and that her place of residence and post office address is unknown, and that such address cannot be ascertained after reasonable effort; and, further, that, in the belief of said affiant, the defendant is of the age of twenty-one years.

It is therefore ordered by the Register that publication be made in The Union-Banner, a newspaper published in the County of Chilton, once a week for four consecutive weeks, requiring her, the said Cleadeth Wesson, to plead, answer or demur to the bill of complaint in this cause by the 5th day of August, 1919, or in thirty days thereafter, a decree pro confesso may be taken against her.

"A WORD TO THE WISE."

It is not safe to buy land or to lend money and accept land as security without first investigating the title of the land. Often there are unpaid mortgages, judgments, taxes, or other liens affecting the title, which an abstract would set out. Therefore, when buying land or lending money thereon, it is important that an abstract of title be furnished. A few dollars spent for an abstract is cheaper than having a law suit later on.

There are two abstract companies at Clanton, either of which are in position to make accurate abstracts of title. The Clanton Abstract Company is owned by F. B. Collier and the Chilton County Abstract Company is owned by M. D. Foshee. Either Company will treat you right as to the price.

Mrs. P. I. Hopkins of Dothan is visiting the family of Dr. Upchurch this week.

Burnie Thompson of Birmingham was in Clanton Monday visiting relatives and friends.

Frank Mims has bought a "flivver" from Dr. Crumpton.

Will DeShazo has waited too long to bring us that potato. It will take a big watermelon now to get his name in the paper any more.

Col. A. C. Smith has been to the National Capital for the past few days attending to some legal business.

Miss Bettie M. Gardner, the Bell Telephone Operator at Clanton, visited her home at Verbena last week.

Clarence Smith, one of our good friends who lives on Route 4 brought the Banner a fine watermelon last Saturday. Thank you, Smith. As we ate the juicy fruit of this big melon, our thoughts ran back to the days of "squads right" and "fall out one" at Camp Hancock last summer.

A. L. Bowles of Billingsley was in Clanton Monday. He brought the Union-Banner a fine watermelon for which we are duly thankful.

Guy Roberts of the Rainbiw Division has returned home from France.

Dr. V. J. Gragg has been quite sick for the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Jadie Wagoner are in Clanton visiting friends and relatives. They came here from Mineola, Texas, where Mr. Wagoner's father now lives. Jadie is still in the United States Navy stationed at the League Island Navy Yard at Philadelphia. After a visit in Clanton this week they will return to Philadelphia.

H. B. Glenn of Salem, Beat 16, was in Clanton Tuesday. Mr Glenn says prospects are for a good crop in his settlement, but rain is needed right at this time.

What Is Rheumatism? Why Suffer from It?

Sufferers Should Realize That It Is a Blood Infection.

Doubtless like other sufferers, you have often asked yourself this question, which continues to remain unanswered.

Science has proven that Rheumatism is caused by a germ in your blood, and the only way to reach it is by a remedy which eliminates and removes these little pain demons. This explains why liniments and lotions can do no permanent good, for they cannot possibly reach these germs, which infest your blood by the millions.

S. S. S. has been successfully used for Rheumatism for more than fifty years. Try it to-day, and you will find yourself at last on the right track to get rid of your Rheumatism. For treatment of your individual case address Chief Medical Adviser, Swift Specific Co., Dept. 43, Atlanta, Ga.

Keep your eye on the yellow name label on your paper. It tells you the date your subscription will be out. Remember we stop your paper when your time is out.

Summer Complaint in Children.

There is not anything like so many deaths fgrom this disease now as before Chamberlin's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy came into such general use. When this Remedy is given with castor oil as directed and proper care is taken as to diet, it is safe to say thatfully ninety nine out of every hundred case recover. Mr. W. G. Cambell of Butler, Tenn., says, "I have used Chamberlin's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy for summer complaint in children. It is far ahead of anythoing I have ever used for this purpose."

LOSS OF APPETITE

As a general rule there is nothing serious about a loss of appetite, and if you skip a or only eat two meals for a few days you will soon have a relish for your meals when meal time comes. Bear in mind that at least hours should always elapse between meals so as to give the food ample time to digest and and the stomach a perod of rest before a second meal is taken. Then if you eat no more than you crave and take a reasonable amount of outdoor exercise every day you will not need to worry about your appetite. When the loss of appetite is caused by constipation as is often the case, that should be corrected at once. A dose of Chamberlin's Tablets will do it.

VOLUME VIII CLANTON, CHILTON COUNTY, ALA., JULY 31, 1919. NUMBER 18.

ANOTHER BANK TO OPEN IN CLANTON IN FEW DAYS TIME

NAME OF NEW INSTITUTION IS THE CITIZENS BANK OF CLANTON

For several years the opportunity for another bank to succeed in Clanton has been in existence. Any city the size of Clanton and with the business volume of Clanton is ample for the support of more than one banking institution.

Last week Mr. A. M. Grimsley of Fayette, Ala., came to Clanton to look over the field here with prospects of opening a bank. He found conditions very satisfactory, and at once determined that he should have a bank here. This week Mr. J.W. Strange is here representing Mr. Grimsley in getting the details all arranged for the opening of the bank just as soon as possible.

The new bank is to have a paid up capital of $30,000.00.

Mr. Grimsley is offering stock in the bank to the people of Clanton, and all stock that is not sold here will be taken up by himself and his associated interests.

The men behind this new institution have a record of 15 years successful banking business in Alabama, and they are at present operating six banks in this State.

Clanton should feel proud of the fact that our business activity is to be so strengthened by this new financial institution. The field here is ripe unto harvest and we predict that a remarkable success will soon reward the efforts of those who are coming here with the new bank.

ANNUAL CONVENTION OF THE CHILTON CO. S.S. ASSOCIATION

On August 29, 1919, the annual convention of the Chilton County Sunday School Association will be held at Mulberry, 12 miles west of Clanton. We hope to see every Sunday School in the county represented.

Mr. Leon C. Palmer and Mr. W. C. Blassingame, two of the State's best workers, will be with us. This program will be something new. Instead of having two days, as we have always had, we have only one and the night session at 5:20. We will have organized recreation on the ground, athletics and old fashioned games for everybody. This is something every community needs.

At 8:30 we will have a stereopticon lecture: "The Sunday School and the Social Gospel." We will have demonstration teaching of the Sunday School lesson and we have helps for the superintendents.

Mulberry extends to every school a hearty welcome. The county president wants to meet every superintendent and help every school. He can't visit every school, but he will be at Mulberry.

And as many superintendents have been changed since last July, your county secretary, Miss Della Williams, will appreciate so much just a card from each school, with Superintendent's name and address and a report from your school, if you can give it. Any way, write her, and do not forget to go to Mulberry August 29th. D.J. FLUMMER, Pres.,

GIVE NO ARGUMENT TO SUPPORT HIS "VISION"

Adoption of League as it Now Stands Forces Us into the Hands Of Council.

Washington, July 30.—Representative Madison of Illinois, is among the large number of congressmen who believe that President Wilson failed to produce either argument or facts in support of the League of Nations in hes recent address before congress He said today:

"The president, by his own words, has made it plain that if we adopt the League of Nations as it now is standing we are to place ourselves in the hands of an international council to which we must submit to the fullest degree. He has woven a blanket, at the expense of the United States, which is to be spread over the discardant elements of Europe, where peace is to be maintained with troops furnished by the United States. The president's plan transcends all visions he has ever had, and he has had some glittering ones before his."

SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION HELD AT MESSER'S CHAPEL

Our Sunday School Convention, which was held at Messer's Chapel last Sunday, was enjoyed by all who attended. We have only two things to regret, one was that some of our speakers were absent; another some of our schools were not represented.

Prof. J. L. Johnson, the Teenage Superintendent of Chilton County, spoke on "Furnishing Wholesome Fun for the Young and Old People." We regret so much that everybody in our district did not hear it. He was kind enough to promise to come back some day. Show us how to put some of these good things in practice. We would like to say to the other district president, if you need help, call on Prof. Johnson, Clanton, Ala., and he will help you.

Rev. C. D. Messer told us how to "Get the People in Sunday School." Only those that have heard him in these conventions know how much and how well he can tell us how to do. He, himself, is a doer of the word, and not a hearer only.

Miss Cordelia Scott of Verbena, told us something about the great problem of teaching the little folks. If we will only do as we were told by this young lady, our little people will love the Sunday School and they will grow up to be Christian men and women.

At the close of the Convention, we felt like rising up and saying. He that knoweth to do good and doeth it not, to him it is sin. It was all good, and the Sunday School was kind enough to invite us again.

W. A. CALLOWAY, Pres.,
LEE ROBINSON, Secy.

IN MEMORY

On Sunday morning, July 20, one of the most deplorable auto accidents of this county, occurred near Mr. R. F. Wyatt's, about two miles from Clanton, when little Earl, the seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Tommie Mims, was seriously injured by a car driven by Cary Robinson. The physician was quickly called, but medical aid could not save him, death resulting one hour later.

His remains were laid to rest Monday in the Walnut Creek Cemetery, Rev. Lembric conducting the funeral services.

Little Earl was the light and joy of his home. He always greeted you with a smiling face and was loved by everyone who knew him.

We know little Earl has gone to rest,
In that heavenly home with the blest,
In that beautiful land far above,
Where all is joy and peace and love.
Just trust in the Lord till life is past
And we are all gathered home at last;
Then little Earl we shall all meet,
And with all our loved ones, him we shall greet.

His Cousin,
EVEREE MADDOX.

HITCHCOCK SNUB IS GIVEN A POLITICAL SIGNIFICANCE

Democratic Circles Stirred Over the President's Turn Against Senator.

NEBRASKAN MAY BE AMBITIOUS

Underground Political Current Indicates Legislator May Desire Presidency.

Washington, July 29.—A great ruction has been caused in Senate Democratic circles as well as in Administration circles because of the failure of President Wilson to show appreciation of the efforts made by Sennator Hitchcock to lead the fight in the upper house for the covenant for the league of nations. Senantor Hitchcock has for many months been playing the role, supposedly, of the administration leader for the president's league in the Senate. It was supposed that as soon as the president returned he would call Mr. Hitchcock to the White House and lay the whole situation with respect to the peace treaty and the covenant before the Nebraska Senator. The president did not do so and Senator Hitchcock packed up his grip and went to Massachusetts to cool off. Senantor Hitchcock's friends made no oncealment of the fact that they considered he had been slighted and many stories thereupon went out over the wires, some of them in administration newspapers, that Senator Hitchcock had been ousted from the leadership in the fight to have treaty and covenant retified without amendment and that Senator Swanson of Virginia had been put in charge.

Fear At White House.

The flood of stories concerning the coolness with which the president treated Senator Hitchcock caused embarassment at the White House thru fear that they might have an effect in weakening the president at the capitol and secretary Tumulty put out a statement saying the reports of a disagreement between the president and Senator Hitchcock were untrue and that the president would soon seek opportunity to confer with him on the peace treaty. Senator Swanson also felt impelled to deny that he had been put in charge of the treaty and covenant.

Resents Independence.

In spite of the official denials, the stories persist at the capitol that Senator Hitchcock resents the way he has been treated and that there is chilliness between the president and himself. The reports have gained the more credence because they have been freely gossiped about in the cloakrooms and because it is perfectly well understood that the administration has resented certain displays of independence which Senator Hitchcock has made at times in the past. As a member of the Senate Military Committee, Senator Hitchcock was active in exposing some of the incompetency of the War Department as the war was on and for the part he played in this he got himself disliked by the Executive. On several occasions he has steered away from partisanship and taken independent stands, and this has tended to make persona non grata with the Chief Executive. That being the case there has been no wonderment among Senators of others familiar with the real facts, over the snub which Senator Hitchcock is now alleged to have been given. It will take something more than official denial to rid the capitol of the impression which has sunk in deeply there that the Senator from Omaha has encountered a White House frost.

Reason for Frigidity.

There are those who profess to know something of underground currents in politics who opine that Senator Hitchcock has presidential ambitions of his own, that this is the chief reasons for his great ardor for the covenant for the league of nations and that this is also the real reason why the temperature about the executive office runs so low as the Nebraska solon opproaches them.

BRYAN HAS ANNOUNCED OPPOSITION TO WILSON

In His Speech at Lincoln, He Sets Himself Squarely Against President Wilson.

Washington, July 29.—The capital has expressed interest in the speech of W. J. Bryan, delivered in Lincoln, Neb., July 7, in which he announces his intention of opposing President Wilson's efforts to secure an alliance between France and the United States. Concerning it Bryan said:

"I am against the proposition to enter into an alliance with Great Britain and France and I shall devote all of my strength to the end that it shall be defeated. I am not willing that any other nation say when we shall enter war and when we shall not. Great Britain and France have aims and purposes inconsistent with and not same as ours. I am not for a league within a league that will tend to dissolve and destroy the league and leave the nations of the earth up against the certainty of future war"

DISTRICT CONVENTION OF I. O. O. F. AT PRATTVILLE

A delegation of Odd Fellows from Cooper and Clanton Lodges attended the District Convention at Prattville last week.

Those who went from the Cooper Lodge were H. A. Harris, Jim Grant, J. B. Rockett, Tom Driver, J. H. Foshee, J. J. Lovinsky. Clanton Lodge was represented by G. C. Harris, G. D. Retherford, Wat Willis, Ben Edwards.

Those who went report a splendid time. They say they were royally entertained by the Odd Fellows and citizens of Prattville.

Much enthusiasm seems to have prevailed in the convention over the success that has come to the order of Odd Fellows in Alabama the past year. State Grand Master Palmer Daugette, was at the District Convention, and shed much light among the members in regard to the advancement of the order in Alabama.

Especial praise is given to Prattville Odd Fellows for the fine barbecue which they gave to the visiting delegates at the convention.

WEST CHILTON

How swiftly the seasons come and go. Like coming events with shadows in front, the approachng fall is heralded with occasional days that forcefully remind us of its coming.

Mrs. Lottie Nix, wife of J. T. Nix, died Thursday night. A noble lady is gone.

Jack Smth, son of H.L. Smith, arrived on No. 19 Saturday, from France, safe and sound; another home is made happy.

Mrs. Grace Waldrup is reported sick. Hope for her speedy recovery.

Mrs. Scoggins of Autauga is spending some time at S.N. Waldrup's.

Rollie Waldrup arrived last week from France, and all right. He can tell fully of his air plane flights into Berlin and of the fine sanitary condition of that city. Of course, he is glad to be home. He left his train at Bibb Mills and took a near cut for home where he met a joyous reception.

A gentleman remarked that labor, alluding to agricultural people, had experienced a reduction. So, in thinking of what that term implies, we find that it means a gradual lifting up to the perfection of life, which is corroborated by nature. Time was when the lady from the rural district would carry her eggs and other products to town and sell them, provided she would take goods for them. No money whatever; but now changed. Firms from the Gulf to the northern cities, are anxious to buy her products and pay spot cash. While parcel post makes delivery a resurrection; no going back. All other lines of business have the same trend.

SPECIAL COMMITTEES TO FACILITATE WORK

Republican Leaders Construct Machinery for Speeding up Our Legislative Business.

Washington, July 29.—The Republican leaders have decided upon the immediate creation of two special committees of the House, one to undertake the drafting of a budget system for governmental expenditures, and the other will conduct a thorough investigation of the administration of the Shipping Board.

"Our decision to give these important tasks to special committees of the House," said Representative Mondell of Wyoming, Republican leader, today, "is in line with our policy of leaving the standing committees free to conduct their ordinary business which, at this time, is very great and very important. An investigation of the shipping board might ordinarily be made by the Committee on Merchant Marine and Fisheries, but it is our hope that this committee will be able to present to the House a legislative program for the future regulation of our merchant marine, and this will occupy their time for many weeks."

Mr. Mondell said that the decision to investigate the Shipping Board, which has expended tremendous amounts of money, would be in the nature of a Congressional audit of their disbursements, and that it had been a part of the Republican program ever since they came into control of congress. The fact that the resignation of Chairman Hurley, to take effect August 1, has recently been announced, has no bearing upon the decision of the Republican leaders.

Speaking of the special committee to formulate a budget system, Mr. Mondell said:

"Although, there is unanimity of opinion as to the desirability of a budget system, there has been a division as to how it could best be accomplished, and it has finally been decided that the question is so large and important that a special committee will be required.

HAYS OUTLINES REPUBLICAN DEMANDS ON LEAGUE ISSUE

Must Safeguard U. S. Sovereignty, Monroe Doctrine, Eliminate or Modify Article X, and Provide Full Riget of Withdrawal at Any Time Desired.

Will H. Hays, chairman of the Republican National Committee, who has been in constant touch with the leaders of the party both in Washington and elsewhere for more than a month in regard to the attitude that should be taken on the League of Nations covenant, has issled the following statement under date of July 17:

"The situation respecting the league covenant is simply this:

"There must be effective reservations. These reservations must safeguard the sovereignty of the United States in every particular; must guarantee the Monroe Doctrine beyond the shadow of a doubt. Must either eliminate Article X entirely or so modify it that our own congress shall be morally as well as legally free after a specified period to decide when and where and to what extent our soldiers shall be employed; must retain our full control of immigration, tariff and all other purely domestic policies, and must provide full right to withdraw from the league at any time without hindrance or conditions of any kind, upon giving suitable notice.

"It is up to the Administration to decide whether it will or will not accept these essential guarantees of American independence, which would unjuestionably be promptly accepted by the other nations."

"They Shall Not Pass."

Before the signing of the armistice, many an American heart was thrilled by the slogan of our French friends: "They shall not pass." And they did not pass. The allied armies, assisted by our own brave boys, were able to stem the on-rushing tide of the Hun hordes and to turn it back, so that Paris was saved. Had the Huns been allowed to pass, no man can begin to realize what a calamity to the entire world would have resulted. We know that the disaster would have been sure and swift and that liberty would have perished from the earth, at least for many years. But there was an overruling Providence and we were not permitted to suffer more than we could bear.

But again, liberty is in danger. Again there is a chance that a "government of the people, from the people, by the people, shall . . . perish from the earth." It is possible that some future historian may write a history entitled: "The Rise and Fall of the American Republic." We believe that the situation is just that serious, and that the danger developed with the departure of our chief magistrate from our territory. Not that we say or think that any such thought, much less purpose, was, or ever has been, in his mind. We simply think that his actions, his plans, have been ill-advised, and that the results will be vastly different from those which he has sought to bring about. But we firmly believe that the stability of our institutions is menaced, that our form of government is in danger of being undermined, that if the Congress of the United States shall not stand firm and assert its undoubted authority, the disintegration of our government has already begun. If there were nothing else, we believe that when one branch of the government can so coerce another branch, with at leat co-ordinate authority, as to force its members to do what they believe will be against the best interests of the country, what is a practical violation of their oaths of office, what is contrary to the Federal Constitution, the Union might as well be dissolved.

But the present indications are that the Treaty of Peace in its present form will not pass. This firm and patriotic stand on the part of the United States Senate will send their names down through all the ages to come as being worthy of the same reverence as the signers of the Declaration of Independence or as the authors of the Federal Constitution. When the smoke of battle shall have cleared away, that immortal band who have been firm in their stand against certain of the provisions of the Treaty of Peace, and especially those parts of the covenant of the League of Nations which are in opposition to our form of government, and who have said of them that "They Shall not Pass" will be hailed by all wise statesmen and distinguished patriots.—American Economist.

An observing citizen of Chilton County calls the editor's attention to the lax execution of the law in Chilton County in regard to paying taxes on dogs. This citizen says he observes that there are a very great number of dogs that are not assessed for taxes. We are confident that there are many owners of dogs who do not pay taxes on them and this is not right. If one man pays on his dog every dog owner should pay. If the property owner who assesses his dog along with his other property pays his dollar for his dog, the lazy negro who has not got anything in the world but three or four yellow hounds should be made to pay on them. Whether the dog tax law is a good one or not, it sure is not right to allow discrimination in the execution of the law. Our authorities should see that this law is operated with fairness to everybody.

The Woman Suffrage campaign in Alabama keeps sending us a lot of dope to publish whereby they hope to justify themselves for being woman suffragists and at the same time faithful adherents to the Democratic party. We don't care anything about such arguments. If Their conscience is hurting them they should tell their troubles to somebody who sympathizes with them. It is none of our job to help clear the skirts of somebody who has flew the Democratic coop and gone off with the suffrage gang. If any of the sinners in the Democratic party are willing to repent and quit the thing we will help them to make up their excuse and get them a ticket to a better show.

The Convent Inspection Bill.

A rome-shy reporter for the papal Montgomery Advertiser advances the remarkable and most enlightening theory that the convent inspection bill that is before the Alabama Legislature is "aimed at one religion." The Advertiser hasn't got sense enough to see that it is not aimed at any religion. It is aimed at that murderous most ungodly rotten hierarchy that prostitutes what might be a religious creed and uses it as a political machine to elevate the elect of the plan to high places and to crush the life out of the poor to maintain the rascals at the top. That is the system it is aimed at and not any religion at all.

Nothing in that bill will prevent any Catholic or Protestant from worshiping God just as he pleases. But it will throw open the slave pens and prisons that have been operating sweat shops and oppressing innocent girls and women under the guise of religious istitutions.

We notice that Senator Craft of Mobile will lead the fight in the Senate against the convent inspection bill. That fellow Craft is the same Hon. John Craft, who has been busting his shirt in Alabama in recent years for good roads. He may be a good roads wheel horse all right, but our ardor for him is dampered by his display of the fact that he is the biggest cog in the Catholic machine in Alabama legaslature.

Besides being mean the Catholic hierarchy must also be given credit for being wise. But you know a fellow can't be a successful crook unless he has got some sense. They see that the convent inspection bill is going to pass the legislature in spite of the efforts of Mr. Craft. So if they can't defeat the bill they will capture it. Just as they would capture our public schools and control them where they can't defeat them.

They see that the doors of the convents are going to be opened to the inspection of the people, and now Senator Craft, the Catholic mouth-piece at Montgomery, wants to provide in the bill that the inspection be made by women. Don't you see where they are driving to? They plan to have the inspection done by one of their nuns. What good would it do the public to have the nuns inspect the convents? They can get into them now and see what is going on there. No man in the legaslature having any information at all on Rome's tricks will fall for this clever ruse of Senator Craft and Father Thomas.

Will American Jesuit Try Kaiser?

Press reports which seem to be officially inspired, as most press reports are, suggest that Chief Justice White of the supreme court of the United States will be chosen as the American member of the court to try the former kaiser of Germany for his official crimes.

The chief justice is a typical product of Jesuitism. He was brought up in the environment that seeks to destroy our public schools. His own preparatory education was obtained in Mount St. Mary's near Emmistsburg, Maryland; and he received his college training in New Orleans Jesuit college and the Georgetown Jesuit university at the national capital.

Placed on the Supreme Court bench by President Cleveland as part of the price of Roman Catholic support in the presidential election of 1892, he was singled out, though a Democrat, by President Taft, a Republican, for promotion to the rank of Chief Justice in reward for papal support to Mr. Taft in 1908. So he has twice enjoyed the fruits of secret deals between national campaign managers and the Roman Catholic political machine, though he is not known to have been personally implicated in the deals.

Having paid a secret visit to the Pope before sitting down in the peace conference, and having chosen a militant Roman Catholic politician for Secretary-General of his league of nations and selected the home of the Black Pope as the seat of the league government, President Wilson would seem to have paid already a substantial international price for Roman Catholic support in his second Presidential campaign. But Jesuitry is never satisfied. Its political appetite is insatiable. Unless Rome prefers more sinister favors at the future hands of the present administration, White will very likely preside over the international trial court in London, provided such a court is really held. Patriots will do well to watch this situation.

We are sorry for such weak little critters as The Alabama Power Company. It looks like the new revenue bill before the legislature will put them out of business. They are so weak that they need a toddy to stimulite them so they can operate. You know they said a while back that they were not even able to build a power line from Lock 12 to Clanton.

Speaking at Columbus, O., Son-in-law McAdoo,, declared that opposition to the British-Wilson covenant was the work of the friends of war. Barring the general untruthfulness of that assertion, doesn't McAdoo know that if there were any friends of war in this country before his father-in-law was re-elected on the pledge to keep us out of war, there wouldn't be any left after erperiencing a war as conducted by a Democratic national administration.

POINTED PARAGRAFS

From The NATIONAL REPUBLICAN

Anyway, you'll have to admit that as a strike-breaker Postmaster General Burleson is no slouch.

It is easily possible for any citizen to so conduct himself that it will not take him several weeks and a million dollars to prove in court that he isn't an anarchist.

President Wilson says: "You cannot earn a reputation and not live up to it." And you cannot live up to a reputation you have not earned.

The London Standard now claims that it was Lord Balfour who got the United States into the world war. We know who it was kept us out of war, but we didn't know that it was Balfour who got us in.

President Wilson says the Fourth of July now has a broader meaning. Like the Monroe Doctrine, it has been extended to the whole world. Broadened out just like the marriage covenant is when a man becomes a bigamist.

By the way, the people of the world will find that the big bunk being passed out by the world statesmen will not provide food or clothing and will decide that it will be necessary, after all, for everybody to go back to work.

First the league of nations to keep us out of war, and then the treaty with France which binds us to get into war whenever the peace of Europe is threatened again by any war in which Germany and France are both engaged. You can pass some people any old bunn and make them think that they like it.

David Lawrence says the Senate's power is "ominous." Any power but that of the president is ominous to an administration press agent at present. It is not claimed that any power the Senate proposes to exert is unconstitutional, and neither is it claimed that all the power the President himself assumes to exercise is warranted by the Constitution.

Josephus Daniels says the league of nations constitution is the greatest covenant since the Sermon on the Mount. Greater than the Magna Carta, greater than the United States Constitution, greater than the Declaration of Independence, greater than the Emancipation Proclamation, but it is hard to believe that it is greater than the North Carolina election law which prohibits the secret ballot and deprives about 75 per cent of the citizenship of the state of the right to vote.

Non-Citizens and Nun Voters.

Popery is as ready for its women to vote for church purposes as it is for them to teach in the "Godless" public schools for church purposes. As equal suffrage secures the franchise for women, an equality which the papal machine has so long opposed, there is a grand rush of nuns everywhere to become naturalized and registered so they can do their "religious" duty at the polls as well as elsewhere.

When these dupes of priestcraft came up in covies to be naturalized at Kansas City—in large numbers that have lived in this country for many years without seeking citizenship, they were asked for an explanation concerning their sudden and unanimous interest in the country and its affairs. The answer was illuminating—they had been "requested" to do so, and the request came from their superior which was equivalent to a command.

The requests, commands, and laws of Rome come down to its dupes from above; and it is the will of Rome that these enslaved women who have hitherto cared so little for this country as to neglect naturalization, shall be naturalized and voted just as its male dupes are voted for the greater glory of popery.

Rome not in politics? Oh no! It lines up all its elements to vote, but is not in politics for being in politics is not altogether consistent with exclusive devotion to religion. It gets its agents and subjects into both elective and appointive offices in numbers out of all proportion to their ratio of population, and lobbies against public education always as it is now doing against the Smith-Towner educational bills, but Rome is not in politics.

Without woman's suffrage the nuns were non-citizens no matter how long they might live in this country after importation; but woman's suffrage puts the ballot in their hands and they must dutifully comply with the naturalization laws so they can vote in behalf of their superiors' superior, the pope and hierarchy. But they are not breaking into politics. They are just going to vote for what the priests tell them is right.—The Menace.

After the republic of China, without being consulted by the Paris peace makers, had been robbed of ten thousand square miles of land and forty million people, she was refused permission to sign the treaty with reservations. Probably the reason President Wilson's claquers say the United States cannot sign the treaty with reservations is that they think this country is in the same class with China.

The election of a socialist to Congress in a St. Paul district which gave 12,000 for Wilson, with the Republican candidate second and the Democrat third, indicates the direction in which the present national administration has been educating public sentiment. The only alternative to socialism in this country is Republicanism, and Republicanism must prepare to fight the battle along these lines, without dodging, trimming or compromise.

LOOK AT YOUR TONGUE! IS IT BROAD, WHITE, FLABBY? —YOUR BLOOD NEEDS ZIRON!

When Your Tongue Is White and Flabby, It Is a Sign That You Are Anemic and That Your Blood Needs Ziron Iron Tonic, For the Benefit of Your Weakened System.

Look at your tongue in the mirror!

It ought to be pointed, pink, clean and firm.

If it is broad, white, coated, flabby, it is probably a sign that you are anemic, that your blood lacks red corpuscles, that you are not in good health, that your system needs iron to bring it up to proper condition.

When your blood needs iron, take Ziron, the new Iron Tonic, which contains also the hypophosphites of lime and soda and other valuable tonic ingredients prescribed by the best physicians for this form of trouble.

When you feel tired and miserable, lack ambition, suffer from indigestion, rheumatic pains, gastric catarrh, depression of spirits and a general feeling of being "under the weather", why not try Ziron to help you back to health?

Mr. R. L. Poston, of Lillie, La., writes: "Some weeks ago I was suffering with something like dumb chills. I just ached all over, my skin would feel clammy. I ached worse from my knees down. I didn't rest well nights, and my appetite wasn't good. I was afraid I would get down in bed and so much to do in the Spring of the year. I began to look around for something to help me and decided to try Ziron...I had not taken one third of a bottle until I felt much better. I grew stronger, began to get hungry and did not have any more of the chills. I think Ziron is a splendid tonic."

SPECIAL OFFER: Buy a bottle of ZIRON, today, at your druggist's and give it a fair trial, according to directions on the bottle. If, after using up one bottle, you find it has not benefited you, take the empty bottle back to the druggist and he will refund what you paid him for it. We repay him, so there is no reason why he should not repay you. This offer only applies to the first trial bottle. (ZA 3)

LOSS OF APPETITE

As a general rule there is nothing serious about a loss of appetite, and if you skip a or only eat two meals for a few days you will soon have a relish for your meals when meal time comes. Bear in mind that at least hours should always elapse between meals so as to give the food ample time to digest and and the stomach a perod of rest before a second meal is taken. Then if you eat no more than you crave and take a reasonable amount of outdoor exercise every day you will not need to worry about your appetite. When the loss of appetite is caused by constipation as is often the case, that should be corrected at once. A dose of Chamberlin's Tablets will do it.

"A WORD TO THE WISE."

It is not safe to buy land or to lend money and accept land as security without first investigating the title of the land. Often there are unpaid mortgages, judgments, taxes, or other liens affecting the title, which an abstract would set out. Therefore, when buying land or lending money thereon, it is important that an abstract of title be furnished. A few dollars spent for an abstract is cheaper than having a law suit later on.

There are two abstract companies at Clanton, either of which are in position to make accurate abstracts of title. The Clanton Abstract Company is owned by F. B. Collier and the Chilton County Abstract Company is owned by M. D. Foshee. Either Company will treat you right as to the price.

PUT ON SHOES FIRST TIME IN TWO MONTHS

The new root and herb juice remedy, Dreco, scores another victory over pain and disease.

"Today is the first time in two months that my sixteen year old daughter has had on her shoes, and she is feeling stronger and better than in many months," are the words of Lula Pipe of Route 1, Huntsville, who is a member of one of the best thought of colored families in this country.

"My daughter has had catarrh of the head and stomach; badly constipated; often had headaches; dizzy spells; was very nervous, could not sleep; had no appetite, and her stomach seemed almost dead, for no food seemed to do her any good. She was weak and puny and seemed not to take anyq interest in anything.

"It was sure a good friend of mine who advised me to give her Dreco, for this medicine has sure brought her out and got rid of all her troubles; she is picking up every day and looks better than she has in a long time. Dreco is sure a fine medicine, and I am mighty glad I found out about it."

Dreco is composed of the juices and extracts of many different roots, herbs, barks and berries, which act on the stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels and purify the blood. It relieves constipation, prevents gas forming in the stomach; increases the appetite; insures sound refreshing leep; banihes catarrh of the head and takes the pain out of rhumatic joints.

All good drugists now sell Dreco and it is highly recommended in Clanton by Upchurch Drug Co.

Studebaker wagon in five runaways—and still working

A WAGON that is 45 years old, been through five runaways and can still carry 5000 pounds of sand might be considered a remarkable wagon, but Studebaker records are filled with remarkable stories about the long life and wonderful wearing qualities of Studebaker wagons.

You can own a Studebaker that will give you equally good service.

We carry them in stock.

When you get ready to buy that new farm wagon drop in and let us show you why a Studebaker is the best investment.

NOT GUILTY OF THE CHARGE

Editor Union-Banner:
Dear Sir.—

A story is being circulated all over the county and even surrounding counties, that Wm. D. Dykes has been shot dead one time in some one's watermelon patch, and another time in a store at Coopers.

I wish to state that I have not been in any one's watermelon patch in a way to be shot; also I have not been to Coopers this year. I am very much alive, and I would like to advise the one responsible for this story to find some other way of creating excitement; as I do not appreciate the joke, if so it is intended.

Wm. D. DYKES,

WOULD RATHER FIGHT THAN TO WORK

"I suffered for years with stomach trouble and could not eat, and just hated for anyone to say work to me. I would rather fight. Since taking a course of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy I actually want to work, and talk about eat, I am the last one to leave the table now." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflamation that causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded.

COULD HARDLY STAND ALONE

Gonzales, Tex.— Mrs. Minnie Philpot, of this place, writes: "Five years ago I was taken with a pain in my left side. It was right under my left rib. It would commence with an aching and extend up into my left shoulder and on down into my back. By that time the pain would be so severe I would have to take to bed, and suffered usually about three days ...I suffered this way for three years, and got to be a mere skeleton and was so weak I could hardly stand alone. Was not able to go anywhere and had to let my house work go...I suffered awful with a pain in my back and I had the headache all the time. I just was unable to do a thing. My life was a misery, my stomach got in an awful condition, caused from taking so much medicine. I suffered so much pain. I had just about given up all hopes of our getting anything to help me.

One day a Birthday Almanac was thrown in my yard. After reading its testimonials I decided to try Cardui, and am so thankful that I did, for I began to improve when on the second bottle...I am now a well woman and feeling fine and the cure has been permanent for it has been two years since my awful bad health. I will always praise and recommend Cardui." Try Cardui today. E 78

Keep Plenty of Stationery, Stamps and Postal Cards

No farmer who considers himself half way up to date ought to depend on buying a stamp or two at a time, or an occasional postal card just when he wishes to use one. Many a farmer wastes 25 cents of time buying a 2 cent stamp

Now, that postage stamps have got back to the standard permanent price of two cents, every farmer ought to make it a rule to buy a hundred stamps and a hundred postal cards at a time and keep up a supply always on hand It is also foolish to buy one or two pencils at a time instead of buying by the dozen

Printed stationery offers so many advantages that its use ought to be be the rule rather than the exception. For $10.78 the United States government will furnish you 500 ready stamped, 2-cent envelopes with your name and address neatly printed in the upper left-hand corner. In other words, since $10 of the $10.78 represents postage, the envelopes, which are of good quality, together with the neat printing of your name and address on them costs you all together only 78 cents. Any postmaster will take your order, and every man who gets a letter from you in one of these envelopes will have greater respect for you and greater confidence in you than if your letter went to him in an ordinary envelope.

For a few dollars, too, your local printer will also print a thousand letterheads for you with your name, address, farm name, and everything you wish to add about your farm and its specialties.

The man who wishes to adopt progressive business habits, must make it easy to do these things. Even the small farmers should buy fifty or a hundred postal cards and fifty or a hundred stamped envelopes at a time, together with an appropriate quantity of stationery; while no farmer who buys or sells by mail should think of doing business without printed stationery and envelopes. The folly of buying one or two stamps at a time, one postal card at a time, one pencil or pen at a time, should be self-evident. The time wasted amounts to from two to ten times as much as the article costs.—Progressive Farmer.

CIVIL SERVICE A TARGET FOR SERIOUS CHARGES

Continuous Complaint Made to Congress Regarding Law Enforcement.

DSMOCRATS GET GOOD JOBS.

Commission Disregards Theory and Spirit of Law When Making Appointments.

Washington, July 28.—Almost continuous complaints that a farce is being made of the civil service law are reaching Congress. It is only a little while since the civil service commission was shaken up because two of the commissioners had insisted that the spirit of the civil service law be applied to appointments under the postoffice department, more especially to the appointment of postmasters.

Now, it appears that the new civil service commission, disregarding the theory and spirit of the civil service law, is complacently fulfilling the rejuirements of those partisans who succeeded in getting the former commission broken up. The civil service examinations, for appointments to postmasterships are said to work out in such a fashion that Democratic workers land the jobs in most cases no matter how high Republican applicants are graded.

Interesting Case.

An interesting case which is cited relates to the examination of three men for postmaster at Morehead City, N. C. Willis, a Republican, made the highest grade; Wade, Democrat, an active politician, was second; a third, Willis, Democrat, made the lowest grade. The civil service commission certified the Republican, Willis, for appointment, but when protest was made by Democratic Congressmen from North Carolina, the examination papers were recalled, gone over again and it was announced that as a matter of fact, Wade, the Democrat, ranked highest. He was given the appointment.

Demand for Investigation.

This is just one sample of many instances much similar which are complained of and which are leading to a streneous demand for an investigation of the workings of the civil service commission. If twenty-five per cent of the allegations which are made concerning the disregard of the spirit of the law are true the civil service system is being almost hopelessly debased.

ARKANSAS SOLONS ADOPT SUFFRAGE

Little Rock, Ark., July 28—The Arkansas legislature, called in special session for the purpose, today ratified the federal woman suffrage amendment, the Senate voting 29 to 2 and the House 76 to 19. Arkansas is the twelfth state to ratify the amendment and the second in the South to take this action.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Mr. W. A. Kemp is planning to enlarge the volume of his business in Clanton this fall. An addition of sixty feet is being made to his present building, and when completed will make his store one of the largest in Clanton. He is at present in Philadelphia and will visit other markets in the east buying goods. When he gets back to Clanton and opens up for the fall and winter, he will have a showing of goods that will be attractive and worthwhile to buyers in this vicinity.

The Probate Judge has completed the moving of his office into quarters in the new court house. The records of the county which are in the hands of the judge are now safely deposited in the big fire-proof vault. Judge Reynolds feels greatly relieved since getting moved into the new building.

WILL BUY CORN—I Want to buy some Corn, shelled and sacked, three to five hundred bushels.—J. A. Maddox, Clanton, Ala.

Miss Lena Downs was in Clanton Tuesday. She says she has been spending the summer in the country, because it is the finest place in the world to live in.

We were pleased on Monday to see Calvin Wilson and Newt Askins on the streets of Clanton together again. Those two boys used to be a fixture here, but they worked up in the business world and went out to seek pastures that were greener than Clanton afforded them. Calvin is in the drug business at Montevallo, and making a plendid success. Newton is connected with the Hagan Drug Company at Sylacauga.

W. J. Vinzant of Mineral Springs was in town Monday. He is a faithful subscriber of the Union-Banner.

Yancey Giles of Birmingham was in Clanton among friends and relatives last Sunday.

W. F. Deshazo of Mulberry came to see the editor Monday morning. He brought along the potatoes all right, but he said a methodist preacher got the watermelon he had picked out for us. You know Methodist preachers are bad after watermelons and fried chicken.

The many friends of Dr. Gragg are very glad to see him on the streets again after a week's confinement to his room with an attack of malaria.

Lee Vickers came to see the Union-Banner last Saturday. He said he didn't have any potatoes nor watermelons, so he brought along a box of fine ripe peaches. We assured him that they would entitle him to honorable mention in the columns of the paper.

INTERPRETATIONS OF THE LEAGUE ARE NOT AMENDMENTS TO IT

WHAT WILSON THINKS ABOUT IT WILL NOT AFFECT ITS OPERATION AFTER WE SIGN IT.

Washington, Aug. 1—That interpretations by the president or the Senate of the league covenant will have no binding effect upon the league in constructing its provisions is the contention of the Republican Publicity Association, as evidencey by the following:

"The president is understood to be ready to accept a ratification of the peace treaty by the Senate with such reservations of an 'interpretative' nature as Senators may care to add, but he remains unalterably opposed to any changes in the text. Mr. Wilson himself is busily engaged in 'interpreting' thetreaty to Republican Senators as he calls them to the White House one by one. But he is making little progress in his efforts to convince the league opponents that adherence to the covenant will mean no surrenders on the part of the United States.

"It is all very well in the course of the discussion for Mr. Wilson and the Senators to explain the treaty and covenant. But it must not be forgotten that interpretations are merely matters of opinion. The plain language of the treaty continues to stare us in the face, regardless of how often or by whom its terms are construed. Once the undertaking is signed by the United States our power of translating its provisions passes from us. The league council then has the situation in hand, and we are bound by the construction its members care to put upon the document to which we have subscribed. Previous expressions of Mr. Wilson and Senators as to what they thought the covenant meant when it was endorsed by the United States will have no weight once ratifications are exchanged.

"That was precisely the trouble with China. The Chinese delegates were ready to sign the treaty, provided they could make certain reservations before attaching their signatures instead of after. That they were prevented from doing whereupon they withdrew from the conference. The Chinese well knew that the treaty with their signatures at the end constituted a distinct and separate obligation on their part, regardless of any qualifications they chose to add afterwards.

"It is so with the United States. Let ratifications of the treaty as it now stands be exchanged with the other parties to it, and we are obligated in accordance with its terms. It makes no difference what the Senate may think it means, or what the resolution of ratification may contain as our interpretation of its provisions, the fact remains that unless the reservations are written into the text of the treaty itself they will be no more binding than a rope of sand.

"The Hague Convention of 1907 was ratified by the Senate with a clause reserving the Monroe Doctrine from the operation of the treaty. But that reservation had been written into the undertaking before the signatures of the American Commissioners were attached, and thus was a part of the treaty itself when it was presented to the Senate for approval. Nothing like that has occurred in the present instance. While the president may say that certain provisions of the treaty mean so-and-so, he was careful not to add his interpretations to the document before his signature and that of the other American commissioners were attached. As a consequence they are meaningless so far as they may influence the action of the league after it is organized. The only way the Senate can safeguard the interests of the United States is to put into the treaty itself amendments that will not fail to remove the many menaces to our liberties that it now contains."

PRISONER ATTEMPTS TO ESCAPE FROM DEPUTY S.

Last Monday afternoon Will Pearson, a prisoner, who was being carried from the court house to the jail by Deputy Sheriff Culp, decided he would attempt to get away. Without telling anybody what he had concluded to do he made his break and set up a lively pace down the alley. Deputy Culp followed him at a rapid rate, and employed his pistol in trying to frighten the prisonenr into stopping. Five shots were fired and Pearson was running faster than he was before they were shot. Culp then realized that there was nothing left for him to do but catch his man, so he did it at the end of a quarter of a mile chase. The prisoner was brought back to jail.

The charge against Pearson in the county court was an attempt to rape his own daughter. A hearing of the case had just been held before Judge Reynolds, after which he was returning to jail to await the grand jury. On his return he attempted to make his escape from the officer.

TAFT THE DISSEMBLER

Washington, August 4.—Evidently appalled at the rapidly widening breach between himself and his party associates, ex-president Taft has suddenly adopted a new course toward the league of nations. In a desperate effort to inaugurate himself once more in the party councils, and recover the ground that he has been steadily losing since his adoption of the role of chief Wilsonian lieutenant, Mr. Taft has made public a list of so-called reservations which he is willing should be made to the league covenant.

He still adheres to his belief that no amendments should be made to the treaty. Nevertheless, in order to gain votes for it in the Senate, Mr. Taft takes the position that it will do no harm to accompany the resolution of ratification with certain interpretations which he claims will amply safeguard the United States. His reservations are six in number and are as follows:

"1. Upon two years' notice the United States may cease to be a member of the league, but shall not be released from liabilities under the covenant, which are to be determined by the league.

"2. Self-governed colonies can never be represented if the council of the home government is represented.

"3. Article X shall be advisory only, and congress shall be left free to determine whether to accept the advice of the council as to how the territorial integrity of foreign states shall be protected.

"4. Imigration and tariff are declared to be domestic subjects, and are not to be submitted to a league.

"5. The United States shall not be challenged in preventing any attempt by a non-American nation contravening the principle of the Monroe Doctrine.

"6. The United States gives notice of withdrawal from the league in ten years, without waiving the right to withdraw at an earlitr date.

To the casual reader Mr. Taft's reservations are plausible enough, but closer study of their real effect discloses that, even though they took the form of actual changes in the treaty text, the functioning of the league would be little changed by them, so far as the United States is concerned.

"Mr. Taft's first reservation is absurd. What sort of a separation would it be if we continued under the burden of the covenant's liabilities? Mr. Taft thinks Senators should be satisfied with a withdrawal that denies us any slight benefits accruing from membership in the league, but but would still subject us to all of its obligations.

"The second suggestion is of little interest to the United States. It is in the nature of a slight restraint upon the British Empire clinching still still more firmly its hold upon the league through its colonial representation.

"The interpretation regarding Article X has not the slightest effect upon the application of that provision. The league is plain enough as it is. Of course congress can accept or reject the advice of the council to go to war, but, as Senator Borah says, "We cannot honorably refuse to follow the advice of those whom we have solemnly agreed shall advise.

Mr. Taft's fourth reservation, so far as it goes, is well enough. But there are many "domestic subjects" other than immigration and tariff, over which the league may still claim jurisdiction; in fact, Article 11 says the league may take cognizance of "any circumstances whatever." If Mr. Taft really wants to reserve domestic questions he should make his reservation very much broader than he has suggested.

The ex-president attempts to clarify the reference to the Monroe Doctrine by saying that interference with its principles by a "non-American" nation will not be tolerated by the United States, regardless of the league. But suppose the British Empire or Holland or France, because of their colonial possessions in this hemisprehe, should style themelves Americon to that extent and proceed to enlarge their holdings at the expense of the Latin-American republics. There is nothing in the Taft amendment that would prevent it, as the definition of "non-American" would be left to the league, and upon that definition the whole effect of the reservation depends. What is demanded by the American people is clean-cut amendment to the effect that "this covenant shall not be construed as affecting the Monroe Doctrine."

The purpose of Mr. Taft's sixth reservation is hard to interpret. If we could withdraw in two years, as friends of the league claim, why is it necessary to say that we can withdraw in ten years? Evidently this reservation is inserted merely to give sound to the whole presentation, and to impress incautious readers.

But in this letter to Mr. Hays calling attention to his suggestions there is no intimation that they are to be considered as actual amendments to the treaty text. Mr. Taft, in fact, refers to them as "reassuring interpretations." If that is to be their true character of course they are at once robbed of what litle merit they may possess. It is an etablihed rule of law that interpretations of a treaty following the actual signatures, have no effect whatever in constructing its terms.

Following closely on the president's wily attempt to inveigle the Foreign Relations Committee into an acceptance of a part of the treaty by authorizing him to appoint the American member of the Reparations Commission, the most recent utterance of Mr. Taft must be taken as but another subterfuge on the part of the league forces to attain their ends. They are determined, by hook or crook, to secure the ratification of the text of the treaty and covenant as it stands. If it is within the bounds of crafty ingenuity to accomplish their purpose it will be done. Thus far, the Foreign Relations Committee and the Senate have been proof against the insiduous contrivances aimed at their overthrow and undoubtedly they will continue to stand firmly for actual amendments to the text of the league covenant that will secure beyond preadventure the liberties of the people whose representatives they are.

CHICKEN BARBECUE

One of the most delightful social affairs of the season was a Chicken Barbecue given by the members of the E. C. Maye S. S. class on Thursday in honor of Rev. and Mrs. May's guest, Mrs. Kress of St. Louis, Mo., and Mrs. J. M. McKinzie of New Orleans, La.

A most tempting picnic lunch followed by ice cream was served to the following: Rev. and Mrs. E. C. Maye, Mr. and Mrs. Eric Hart, Mr. and Mrs. Macy Jones, Mr. and Mrs. T. C. McSwain, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. VanDerveer, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Simpson, Mrs Sam Johnson, Mrs. N. S. Johnson, Mrs. Harvey Chandler, Mrs. Ervin Luckie, Mrs. Kress, Mrs. Maye, Mrs. Elna Roberts. Mrs. Clyde Jones, Mrs. Newton Askins of Sylacauga, Misses Callie Watts, May Roberts, Lurline Harper and Mr. Guy Roberts.

SENATORS UNMOVED AFTER CONFERENCE ON TREATY

President Fails in Effort to Win the Support for League Covenant.

Washington, Aug. 4.—It is apparent that President Wilson has been disappointed in his efforts to convert the Republican senators who favor modifications in the League of Nations covenant by calling them to the White House and discussing the considerations which have caused him to demand complete acceptance of the covenant. One by one these Senators have returned to Capitol Hill only to reiterate their belief that the future safey fo the United Sates rests in the reservations which they are determined to attach to the trea ty before its ratification. One of the latest to be summoned to the Executive Mansion is Senator Walter Edge of New Jersey, and upon the conclusion of his conference with the president, he made the following statement which is typical of the views expressed by his colleagues who had preceded him to the White House:

"I am very glad to get the president's views," said the New Jersey Senator; "They are interesting, but I still feel that it is the solemn duty of the Senate to uphold the sovereignty of the United States through proper reservations to the peace treaty. The Senate is in a much better position to act freely as it was not a party to the peace conference. The president clearly had to give and take and is doubtless bound to stand by the decisions which were reached by the conference of which he was a member. I have no doubt that the reservations which we propose to make will be readily accepted by the other nations, and with out sovereignty fully protected we will be in a position to exercise the same influence for good during peace that we exercised during the war."

BOLSHEVISM AND THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS HAVE SIMILAR IDEAS

THE TWO MOVEMENTS HAVE SIMILAR IDEAS, BUILT ON SIMILAR METHODS AND HAVE SAME END.

Washington, Aug. 1—That Bolshevism and Internationalism embodied in the league of natnions have similar ideas, similar methods, and similar ends, is the assertion made by the Republican Publicity Association in a statement given out today emanuating the characteristics of the two movements, the staement says:

"Both are destructive of independence, the one of the individual, the other of the nation.

"Both depend on war for the accomplishment of their objects.

"Both aim at the creation of a world sovereignty, with consequent destruction of all national sovereignty.

"Both advocate the substitution of control by the ignorant mass of humanity for that of enlightened intelligence—the one by the assassination of the educated class, the other by giving equal voting privileges to nations peopled by primitive savages and those having the highest type of civilization.

"Both are ruled by two or three self-constituted world autocrats—one by Lenine and Trotzky, the other by Wilson, et al.

"Both are being supported by vast sums of money—Bolshevism by monthly contributions from Russia and elsewhere of $2,000,000, according to the Department of Justice, and the league of nations by the combined power of international financiers.

"Both are being exploited by the dissemination of tons of inspired literature.

"Both have the open encouragement of persons occupying high official positions.

"Both have the support of proffessed pacifists—Bolshevism, because its advocates see in it a protest of the masses against the levying of war by constituted government, and the league of nations because it masquerades as a guarantor of world peace.

"Both are ardently championed by the Prussians. They saw in Bolshevism the weapon for wrecking the Russian military machine in the war. They see in the league of nations a means, through their own membership in it, for regaining their menacing position in world affairs at no distant date.

"Both have had their birth in the brains of impractical theorists in government.

"Both have had simple demonstration of their utter failure to accomplish their purposes, and of the great danger which they hold for civilization—Bolshevism in the succession of horrible events that have occurred in Russia, and the league of nations in the complete failure of the Holy Alliance of a century ago."

The capers of the G. O. P. Elephant are going to be more amusing for the next few years than the stale antics of the Democratic donkey.

Secretary Lansing will tell Congress about the Peace Treaty, says a headline. Somebody must tell it if we are to know about it. Wilson failed in his attempt before Congress when he returned from France.

But one can see by following his thought that his suggestions are not adaptible to Chilton County. Any one at all familiar with our conditions here can readily see why we could not employ those measures at the present time.

The Abbeville Herald says some Republicans are charging that the Democrats are responsible for the boll weevil. We expect that the boll weevil is just a small item compared with some of the things that the Democrats have put over this country in the past few years.

Now comes the paid press agents and assert that there is imminent danger of a coal famine to be added to the other problems that face the people of this country. We wonder what in the world will be next. The situation already looks about as complicated as possible.

President Wilson and his cabinet are devising means of lowering the cost of living. We look for things to come down now with a thump. Mr. Wilson and his cabinet have done so much for this country in the past few years that we naturally expect them to keep on doing things worth while.

We note with interest the plans of the Republican Campaign for sending Kennemer to Congress from the seventh District. We sincerely hope that they may succeed. There are enough Republicans in the district to do it if they will just stick to their colors and not be fooled by the sinister influences that have heretofore blinded them.

Senator Sherman says the packers are not to blame for the high cost of living; Senator Graham says the farmers are not; Senator Pittman says President Wilson is not. Well who is to blame? Senator Smoot says it is inflated money; Senator Smith of South Carolina says it is is movies and automobiles; Senator McCumber says it is cigar smoking; Senator Thomas says it is world conditions.

Our readers will be interested this week in the letter which we publish from Mr. J. B. Jones of Miami, Arizona. Mr. Jones is a former Chilton Citizen and has many friends here who will be glad to read what he says. The substance of his letter is good, and no doubt, such campaigns as he suggests would under the proper relative conditions produce much good.

Our correspondent's views of Chilton County from the far west, through the hazy absence of several years too, makes his vision of things here very much distorted. The most amusing thing about his letter is to observe how different things look from his viewpoint as compared with the way they look to us who have been here all these years and who have seen every turn of the hands of time.

The Union-Banner has received a letter from Mr. A. M. Grimsley of Fayette, Ala., thanking us for what we said about the new bank which he is organizing in Clanton. Among other things he said, "we expect to open up the new bank about the first of September, and will strive to give you a good bank not only for your town but also for the agricultural interests in your county."

President Wilson insists that the covenant of the league of nations shall be approved and its obligations imposed upon our citizens without the slightest opportunity being given them to express themselves by ballot. Their lives and wealth are to be mortgaged in favor of the territorial integrity of foreign States of which most of us never heard, and for which none of us care anything. It is time for every American who takes pride in the name to rise up and demand that the protections guaranteed in our country's constitution shall be observed.

Alabama Legislature is Still Badly out of Balance.

It must be just simply impossible for Alabama to have a legislature that will stick to the interests of the common people and make laws to that effect. We invite you to look at the revenue bill that has been up at Montgomery for passage. It was a great measure that had for its main purpose the sublime intention of raising money to defray the expenses of our State and to get us out of debt. What a noble intention and a thing that we need so much.

But just look what bobs up when the thing is gone into. Lo and behold we find a great raft of new offices created by the bill and fat salaries to be paid deserving politicians who have helped deceive the good people of the State. And when it is figured out to the last analysis the bill will raise just about enough money to pay the new officers that are created and the people who pay the freight are left still to grope their way through a benighted existence under the burden of a harrowing State debt.

Again we cite you to the State bond issue bill for building the highways of the State. Another movement that carries an excellent purpose and if carried out would result in untold benefit to Alabama. Twenty-five million dollars spent by Alabama in conjunction with the federal appropriation would keep up and build the highways of the State, and the motor vehicle license of the State would pay the interest on the bonds. An excellent plan it is.

But let us see how Alabama's wise solons in the capitol are trying to gobble up the plan. We fancy that some of them see too much advantage to the common people in the proposition. So they have gotten busy to fix it so some new officer will get the cream and Alabama will still be in the mud so far as roads are concerned.

A bill has been introduced in the House by Mr. Arnold of Jefferson (note where he is from) to provide for the creation of a State Highway Department, and this department to handle the bond issue, motor vehicle tax, and to have supervision of all road and bridge building in the State. Here are some of the provisions of the bill:

"The State highway engineer shall determine the character and shall have general supervision over the construction and maintenance of all public roads and bridges in the State."

"There is hereby appropriated to the State highway department for its use the entire net revenue derived from the sale of motor vehicle licenses in the State. Said sums herein appropriated, when received by the State treasurer, shall be set aside in a fund known as the State highway fund and be used for no other purpose than the carrying out of the provisions of this act."

"The State highway commission shall reserve out of the State highway fund sufficient sums annually, based upon estimates furnished by the State highway engineer, to support the State highway department. The balance (if any) shall be used in the construction and maintenance of State trunk roads and bridges."

"The State highway commission shall adopt such rules and regulations for the construction and maintenance of the public roads and bridges in Alabama as it shall deem proper. Same shall be printed and furnished to all local road officials in the State."

"The State highway commission may make such changes or additions to the system of the State trunk roads as it may deem proper and construct or maintain the same with State aid under the provisions of this act."

"He (the State highway engineer) may employ such assistant engineers, clerks, stenographers, draftsmen, foremen and laborers as may be necessary for the proper carrying out of the work of the State highway depatment, and fix their compensation, which shall be paid out of the State highway fund."

What is the use in such a law as the above? Why can't the County Commissioners continue to look after the road work in every county just as they have been doing? What is the use in creating these new jobs? If this will is passed there will be "assistants, engineers, clerks, stenographers, draftsmen, foremen etc.," all over this State as thick as peddlers in hell, all appointed by the State highway department. And by the time they are all paid there will not be a cent left to build roads with. And if there should happen to be any roads built it would be in the big rich counties.

If Alabama is going to issue 25 million dollars of bonds to build highways with it should be prorated on the area basis of each and every county of the State. Then the work of spending the money and building the roads should be done by the Commissioners Court in each county. If it is not done that way, the people will not stand for it, and we don't blame them. These guys who are trying to gobble up the road money that they see coming through the bnod issue had better remember that the people are going to vote on that bond issue before it is dished out to the gluttons who are sneaking around looking for some new office that is to be created.

U S TROOPERS PURSUE BANDITS ACROSS BORDER

Senator Fall Declares Our Men Have Also Fought Regular Carranza Soldiers

Washington August 2.—"I desire to reiterate the statement I made here" said Senator Fall of New Mexico, on the floor of the Senate recently, "that within the last several months—I will not undertake to limit the time exactly—upon either seven or eight occasions troopers of the 7th Cavalry, United States Army, have pursued Mexicans across the Rio Grande into Mexico and that upon either six or seven of those occasions they have recovered a large amount of stolen property carried across by the raiding Mexicans. I desire further to reiterate the statement that Carranza's soldiers and officers have been killed, not only in Mexico but on this side, by our regular American soldiers, troopers of the 7th Cavalry."

Senator Fall put into the Record a telegram giving a list of Carranza officers and soldiers killed in raids on this side by American troopers.

"In raids upon this side," Senator Fall said further "bugles of the regular Carranzaista forces have been left when the thieves were driven off. I may say that an investigation will show that at least two sabers and accoutrements of Carranzista officers killed on this side are now in the possession of Americans."

OFFICIALS MISUSE FUNDS

Senator Smoot Charges Propaganda Is Carried on by Bureaus.

Washington, Aug 4—The use of government funds by officials of the Executive Department to inspire propaganda to influence Congress to continue publications which they have reasons of economy, is charged by Senator Smoot.

Senator Smoot said that is chairman of the Joint Congressional Committee on Printing he had been flooded with hundreds of telegrams of identical wording inspired by government officials. "The practice is becoming so common," Senator Thomas, Democrat, of Colorado, interrupted, "that it is a nuisance."

Pure Food

Our pure food laws have three purposes:

1. To prevent the use of unwholesome material.
2. To prevent fraudulent substitution.
3. To inform the purchaser what she is buying.

Some products are so well known to the housewife that from the class name under which they are sold she can tell the ingredients contained therein. With others, such as baking powder, all the ingredients are named on the label, and as a result the most healthful, economical and desirable kind can be selected.

There is one class of mixtures, however, which are still bought blindly without knowledge of the ingredients. These are the so-called Self-Rising Flours. Read the label on any package of self-rising flour and there is never found either the statement, "This package contains the following ingredients and none other," or any equivalent statement. One cannot determine from the label either the quality of the flour or the nature of the other ingredients mixed therewith.

In the selection of baking powder, the housewife is very particular; but in self-rising flour she takes whatever ingredients are handed her without asking questions and in an equal state of ignorance with the dealer who is selling to her, as to what these ingredients are.

It has been admitted by the manufacturers of acid phosphate that the phosphate used in self-rising flour frequently contains 25 per cent or over of calcium sulphate (gypsum). Physicians know the objections to introducing such an amount of unnecessary inedible material into the system.

The physician can do much toward the enactment of laws that will forbid the use of such material in the manufacture of self-rising flour and that will require a statement on self-rising flour of all the ingredients contained therein.

Such laws will protect the health and the pocketbook.

SOME SUGGESTIONS FOR CHILTON COUNTY

Being the Ideas of a Former Chilton Citizen Who Has Been in the West for Several Years Past.

I notice by the county paper that there is unusual interest taken in the good roads movement, which is no doubt much advanced compared with the conditions that were in vogue when I was there. I know that Chilton County needs good roads and needs them very badly. Roads are one thing that the politicians cannot keep hidden from the public.

But there are two other things that are vastly more important than good roads, and I have never heard of them being mentioned in Chilton County. But if the people ever realize that they have been duped as they have they will be surprised. Should Chilton County ever have a body of high class progressive officers that will give the people modern enlightenment they will come to realize things they never before dreamed of. I say absolutely no more Chilton County system for me; and if I could get every citizen of the county to realize what could be done I would consider my trip to the west a success.

I have seen both systems and I know what they will do. One is the health of the public and the other is the method of reducing the number of criminals. There is no question about Chilton County being able to accomplish these measures effectively if the people will demand the standard of high class men for officers that will put forth their efforts to prevent sickness as I have seen done here. If it were possible for me to spend the summer there with a good helper I could do as good work there as the doctors have done here. Anyway I have been living under this system seven years. After specializing in Raton, N. Mex., and Denver, Colo., and part of my time was spent in care of one of the most conscious men I ever met, and had been fortu- to care for my health when I was nate enough to have had such men young and ignorant I would never have been in this condition. Really my salvation came at the eleventh hour, and it was due to a line of instructions about how to care for my body which I had never had before.

The first two winters I spent here the head surgeon gave a series of lectures about the causes, nature, treatment and prevention of diseases that are most common, which include measles, small pox, fevers, tuberculosis and many others. He also made special lectures to the schools and women and young girls and boys.

I have been here seven years and the influenza is the only epidemic that made any headway. Of those who attended his lectures on how to care for and protect themselves and others I do not know of any that had it very bad. The greater part of the deaths were among those who did not attend his lectures.

Here is an example of how an epidemic of fever was prevented: About a year ago (the week that Mr. Wilson just south of Clanton died of typhoid fever) there were six cases of typhoid fever in the camp. It was supposed to have been caused by germs coming in either in fruit or milk. Conditions looked threatening for an epidemic of typhoid. Cards stating that there was a threatening epidemic of typhoid were printed and circulated over the mining district by the doctors. And the cards also stated that the doctor would lecture at the Y.M.C.A. on the cause, nature, prevention and treatment of typhoid. Each night at the lectures the hall was crowded with men, women and children who were eager to learn how to protect themselves. No doubt all of them put into practice what they were taught in the lectures, and the result was in a few days the whole thing was passed. No deaths at all and very little suffering was the extent of what might have been a serious eqidemic of typhoid.

That is the way the head surgeon does things here. Now compare it with Chilton County system and see the difference. We have sickness here, but not as much by a great deal, as there would be if it were not for our systematic precaution. There are health bulletins posted up at the plant where I am working giving such timely advice as how to prevent colds, how colds may develop into pneumonia, and how to prevent tuberculosis and other diseases.

Now, in regard to the criminals: During the time the doctor was giving his health lectures the county attorney lectured once a week for a few months about civil government, the law and its relation between man and man, and man and government, the methods of legal procedure, bringing criminals to justice, and the rights of man under the government, he duty of a citizen to the government and the duty of the government to the citizen. His lectures along these lines were more beneficial and instilled more patriotism into the hearts of his hearers than all the political rot I ever heard in Chilton County.

If all those who are morally and mentally weak could have the advantage of someone like this to guide their minds in channels of right thinking, there would not be nearly so many to get tangled in the network of the law and land in jail. Let them grow into manhood without any giudance or helping instruction, and they will suffer punishment for violating the law through ignorance many a time. It is Chilton County's curse to allow such conditions as these to exist and prosper without offering any remedy. I am convinced that the old school of mud-slinging politicians is somewhat responsible for a weakening influence.

I lived in Chilton County until I was thirty years old, and never met such men as I have met here in the west. No doubt anyone can by studying the lives of the unfortunates, what part of the county they come from, their parents, community surroundings and religious environments and find the causes that are responsible for their condition. Then eradicate much of these causes by the proper moral and religious influences.

Now, if you people back there will cut out your politics and come together in these two movements, and select a county health officer and have him work under the direction of conservative broad-minded men of your selection and pay him a good salary, and his only duty to be to lecture and educate the public on the general laws of health and how to prevent diseases, their treatment and the protection of others, and when there is a case of contagious diseases likely to become a community epidemic have him go to that community and teach the people to care for themselves, that one man (doctor) can within a few months, have the people educated to the point where it would be almost impossible for an epidemic to get much of a start.

And also hire a man who is well versed in law and have him follow some plans of legal and civil enlightenment and no doubt the reduction of criminals would save the tax payers more than his cost would be. Also many aching hearts and much family embarassment.

Yours very truly,
J. B. JONES,

GERMAN MILLS SEEK LOW GRADE COTTON FROM U.S.

Washington, July 28.—German cotton mills, with 10,000,000 spindles, estimated as still suitable for operation, can consume about 1,000,000 bales of cotton during the next year, if means are found to finance the movement of the commodity from the United States, said a report by Erwin W. Thompson, commercial attach of the Bureau of foreign and domestic commerce made public tonight.

Mr. Erwin outlined a plan by which Danish and Dutch traders may be furnished cotton for resale to Germany and allowed to assume a part of the credit risk. Out of 4,067,018 bales of cotton in storage in the United States on June 30, he estimated a very large proportion was classified in the lower grades, which are especially suitable for German mills.

"At this time the German mills would be eager buyers for the lowest grades," Mr. Erwin's report said, pointing out that during the war they have been operating on wastes, shoddies, nettle fiber, and paper, owing to the pressure of the blockade.

"Cotton experts are agreed that the cotton in public store in the United States is nearly all of grades below those most desired by domestic mills."

To Our Customers & Friends:

You, Mothers and Fathers, know how hard Children are on shoes; and yet, very often, the child is blamed for wearing out the shoes too quickly, when the shoes themselves are really too poor to stand the wear an active child will give them.

You would not spend your money for some shoes if you could cut them open and see what is inside of them. A solid leather sole, if properly made, wears longer, holds its shape longer and in every way is a better shoe than one in which substitutes for leather are used. Do not buy shoes without having an opportunity to see the shoes themselves; and then study their quality and construction.

When you buy "Star Brand" Shoes from us, you not only see the shoes but can also see a shoe that has been cut open.

"Star Brand" Shoes for children are attractive in appearance and made to permit the proper development of the child's feet. Best of all they are right in price.

You will need more shoes very soon. Come in and examine our full line of children's shoes.

FROM THE STUDENTS OF THE LITTLEJOHN SCHOOL

We forgot to send in our pieces last week, but protracted meeting is over and our school is full again.

We had quite a number of visitors out with us Friday afternoon to listen to us speak, spell, tell jokes, riddles, stories and review our past week's work. Next week ends our second month's work, so we are expecting nearly all of our fathers and mothers, uncles and aunts as well as our grandpas and grandmas. Supt. Bean promised our teacher that he would come to see us too, so we are looking for him Friday p.m. We will review our past month's work orally and also give you a few new recitations, stories, jokes and riddles. We enjoy visitors very much, and we are going to give all who read our correspondence a special invitation to come to see us that p.m. We are going to have an old-fashioned game of town ball at noon Friday, also one after school; so come and enjoy all the evening with us.

I believe at this writing that there is no sickness in this community, as far as I know. Most of the people are talking about pulling fodder now, but we don't enjoy hearing that for we know it means that several of us pupils will have to quit school and go to it when it does get ready.

Mr. John Lowery reports good luck on his fishing trip at Yellow Leaf last week, but he never asked any of us to help him eat fish.

We still have plenty of good watermelons out this way.

Well, as this is my first write-up will ring off for this time by wishing the Union-Banner much success.

A PUPIL.

INFORMAL RECEPTION

A delightful event of Friday afternoon was an informal party given by Mrs. M. L. White, in compliment to Mrs. Burt Kress of Little Rock, Ark., Mrs. J. M. Maye of New Orleans, La., and Mrs. N. W. Askins of Sylacauga, Ala. The home was beautifully decorated with cut flowers and ferns. Music was enjoyed throughout the afternoon, when a delightful salad course was served. About twenty-five young matrons were invited to meet these charming ladies. Mrs. White was assisted in dispensing hospitalities by Mesdames J. M. Nix, J. D. Armstrong and Miss Eloise Kemp.

NEGRO THREATENED LIVES OF GOVERNORS

Washington, July 28.—Two threatening letters, one addressed to the Governor of Georgia and the other to the governor of Mississippi, were taken by the police from Willie Laney, negro, alleged slayer of a seventeen-year-old white boy during the riots of last week. The negro denies authorship of the letters and claims he found them.

The writer of the letters refers to himself as the "S. S. of the United States" taken by the police to mean sharp shooter. The letters to the governor of Georgia reads:

Dear Sir:—You are the Governor of the State of Georgia, and I want to consider that the negro was drafted during world war to fight for this country as well as the white man, and I want you to understand that this thing of lynching in the State of Georgia must be stopped.

"We went and killed Germans for your rights, and we can also kill Americans for our rights, and if I hear any more of lynching in the State of Georgia, I will come quickly and the people will weep after I leave, because I sweep from the cradle up. I will remember you this time. Why did you let this man be lynched in May?"

In the letters to the Governor of Mississippi the writer repeats the part the negroes played in the war and what they will do for their rights and concludes:

"Sir, this thing of lynching negroes in the State of Mississippi must be cut out. I am the negro 'S. S.' "

In the opening of the message to the governor of Georgia the writer wrote from the "S S" of the negro race.

LIBERTY HILL SINGING SOCIETY

The pastor was away last week preaching in a protracted meeting at Pleasant Grove Church No. 2, four miles west of Maplesville. The pastor at Pleasant Grove is Rev. F.W.C. Bice of Thorsby. There were several obstacles in the way of obtaining the best results in the meeting, but 13 young people professed a saving faith and will be baptized at the next meeting, Saturday before the Fourth Sunday in this month. The people attended well and were very kind to the preachers, which is nothing new in that neighborhood. Several said they were much revived and one or two will join churches nearer home. One of the high points of interest during the week was the conversion of the leading gambler in the neighborhood, who in token of his sincerity, gave up his "craps" to the preacher, who still has them. If any of the brethren wish to "roll the bones" he is open for an interview.

"A WORD TO THE WISE."

It is not safe to buy land or to lend money and accept land as security without first investigating the title of the land. Often there are unpaid mortgages, judgments, taxes, or other liens affecting the title, which an abstract would set out. Therefore, when buying land or lending money thereon, it is important that an abstract of title be furnished. A few dollars spent for an abstract is cheaper than having a law suit later on.

There are two abstract companies at Clanton, either of which are in position to make accurate abstracts of title. The Clanton Abstract Company is owned by F. B. Collier and the Chilton County Abstract Company is owned by M. D. Foshee. Either Company will treat you right as to the price.

Be Strong

Strength of body, strength of nerves, strength of mind, depend very largely on whether you have enough iron in your blood. The world makes way for the strong people and they generally get what they want, out of life. Pale, weak, sickly, nervous, peevish, thin, dyspeptic individuals, need iron to build them up.

ZIRON

will put iron into your blood and help restore your health and strength. Eminent physicians agree as to the vital need of iron by the run-down system. ZIRON will give it to you.

J. E. Clifton, R. F. D. 3, Lyons, Ga., writes: "Last summer I had typhoid fever and had hemorrhages . . . and my health was wretched. I seemed to be unable to get my strength back. I had no appetite. I had no energy. I didn't think I was ever going to get well. My knees were weak, my flesh felt clammy. I was in a pretty bad condition. I heard of ZIRON and what a good tonic and strengthener it was and I sent for it at once. It helped me, I began to improve, and soon felt much better and stronger. My nerves were strengthened and I felt like doing something. We have nothing but words of praise for ZIRON". Try ZIRON.

WATCH CENSUS BUREAU

Department Heads Block Congress in Efforts to Reduce Payroll.

Washington, July 31.—The Census Bureau is preparing for enormous additions to its force. About five thousand more employees will be put on the payroll of Uncle Sam in the District of Columbia and kept there until the 1920 Census of the country is taken and compiled. This army of additional employees, together with additional employees which are being put on by some of the other government agencies, means that there will be practically little reduction in the force of government workers here. Efforts of Congress to cut down the total number of employees and thus lessen expenditures are being blocked by department heads.

WAR RISK BUREAU FLAT FAILURE REPORT SHOWS

Mismanagement by Appointees of President Responsible for Chaotic Conditions.

Washington, August 3.—Representative Albert Johnson of Washington, has introduced a bill in Congress providing for the establishment of branch offices of the War Risk Insurance Bureau in each State, each bureau to handle exclusively the insurance and allotment cases belonging to the State in which it is located. Although this measure carries out the suggestion contained in the report of Charles Evans Hughes and his associates, Mr. Johnson had previously arrived at the same conclusion, and he believes it is the most promising method so far advanced.

Members of Congress who have had practical experience in the insurance business express the greatest alarm at the statement in the Hughes report that three-fourths of the soldiers and sailors had dropped their insurance policies. Representative Andrews of Nebraska pointed out today that this probably means that a large portion of the policies still in effect represent cases where the risk to the government is greatest, and that eventually it will sustain an enormous loss. Lack of faith in the bureau on the part of men now leaving the military service as believed to be the reason for the lapsing of thousands of policies in which the government's risk was negligible.

BORDER TROOPS HANDICAPPED

Senator New Mexico Criticizes Policy of War Deportment.

Washington, August 2.—That the War Department is not handling the military situation along the Mexican border properly or adequately is the opinion of Senator Fall of New Mexico.

"In my judgment," said Senator Fall, "the trouble along the border is that the troops there have not the proper orders. In my judgment if they were ordered to prevent raids of incursions upon this side and to take any means which they thought necessary to preserve order along the border and to protect the lives and property of American citizens, one-tenth the number now on the border could do it."

MR. G. W. FRANKLIN'S CASE WAS COMMON TALK IN ABERNANT

DRECO RELIEVED HIM.

"My case was common talk in my home town and among the L. & N. railroad folks, who knew me quite well," said Mr. G. W. Franklin of Abernant, Ala.

"But I've won a great battle with stomach trouble of ten years standing even if it did take six bottles of Dreco to do it. I was improving all along with each bottle, so was encouraged to keep at it from the very first.

"No matter how careful I was about my food, it would turn to gas and fill me up so that my breathing was difficult, and I had a sense of suffocation. I'd belch up water as hot as fire that would burn my throat; a heavy lump seemed to lay in my stomach; my bowels were badly constipated and I had to take liver regulators all the time to keep them active. My kidneys often called me out of bed five and six times at night.

"But it is all over now, for Dreco has put an end to all these ails and I'm a well man today; eat anything I want; never have any gas in my stomach and bowels, act freely with out assistance of other medicines; kidneys don's trouble me at night now, and I'm just feeling grand. Dreco sure is a fine medicine, and I have sent a lot of my friends to get it on account of the good it did me."

Dreco is not an experiment, it is a safe, harmless combination of nature's extracts, and contains no dangerous minerals, acids or salts. It is nature's medicine and can be taken with afety into the most delicate system. Dreco is inexpensive and is now dispensed by modern drug stores almost everywhere.

All good druggists now sell Dreco and it is highly recommended in Clanton by Upchurch Drug Co.

HAYS WILL NOT RUN FOR GOVERNOR IN STATE OF INDIANA

Chairman of the Republican National Committee States Position.

SEES NATIONAL PARTY VICTORY

Sensible of Honor Proposed He Believes Duty Now Lies With Work in Hand.

In declining the highest state honor his party could offer him, because of his conviction that it would limit his opportunities for service as chairman of the Republican National Committee, Will H. Hays, declared in an address before the annual meeting of the Indiana Republican Editorial Association. "I can not consider being a candidate for Governor. I am committed a definite undertaking as the chairman of the National Republican Committee, and I shall finish that job."

Was Urged to Run.

Chairman Hays' declination puts an end to a campaign inaugurated by his home-state friends some months ago to induce him to be the Republican candidate for governor of Indiana. Newspapers in all sections of his state had declared editorially for "Hays for Governor," and it is understood that the Chairman received many letters from party workers of all classes urging him to announce his candidacy. For some time it has been practically assured that Mr. Hays could have the nomination for the asking, and his friends insisted that if he accepted it the campaign for his election would not require his personal attention. Party leaders in Washington and elsewhere, who have insisted the Chairman was too valuable an asset to be given to one state alone, and who have been hoping he would not be lost to the National Committee work, will be gratified by his refusal to run. In declining Mr. Hays said:

"It is difficult for me to express the gratitude which I feel for the asurances that have come to me relative to the governorship. The friendship and confidence which these assurances prove mean more to me than anything else and move me very deeply.

Sensible of Honor.

"I am very sensible of the privilege incident to the opportunity for service and distinguished honor in the governorship of Indiana, but I can not, however, further consider being a candidate. I am committed to a definite undertaking and I shall finish that job. The work in connection with the Republican National Committee is daily becoming so all absorbing and the importance of the successful outcome so vital that there I must do that which it is given me to do, and must do it to the hilt.

Could Not Do Both.

"It has been thought by many of my friends that I could do both but the hundred per cent efficiency in initiative and execution due each position if I have the other on my mind.

Predicts Party Victory.

"Believing this as I do, then my course is clear. I must do the one or the other. There is no doubt about a complete Republican victory in Indiana and the nation and it is simply for me to decide where I may be able to do the largest good and where my duty lies. This, I believe, is in the work which I have in hand in aiding insofar as is in my power to bring the complete Republican national victory so absolutely esesntiol to the country's welfare. Therefore, I shall not be a candidate for governor."

GREAT ALARM OVER THE U. S. ECONOMIC CONDITION

Washington, August 11.—Panic-stricken at the national unrest looming greater day by day, President Wilson has thrown up his hands and appealed to a Republican congress to save the situation. The full effects of his maladministration are now being interpreted to every citizen in terms of dollars and cents. We call it the high cost of living. A more exact characterization would be the high cost of Wilsonian Democracy.

Many things have contributed to the economic state in which the country finds herself. Chief among them are the extremes of extravagance and wanton waste that have marked the convulsions of the Wilson apopintees in conducting us through the greatest war in history. Inefficiency has been predominant among the individuals appointed, and political exigencies and prime consideration in their selection. By its cost-plus scheme of making contracts, the administration forced prices to abnormal heights. By favoritism to city wage-earners, it drew labor away from food production. By inflation of the currency, the buying power of the dollar was reduced. The food situations in Europe have taken precedence in the president's mind over the needs of our own peopjle, with the result that millions of tons of foodstuffs have been taken from the mouths of Americans and given to inhabitants of the old world, much of it to the people or the very nations responsible for the war. The railroads of the country have been continued under Federal control in spite of the fact that the deficit is monthly mounting into hundreds of millions of dollars. As a consequence freight rates have been raised and will be raised again, to be added in turn to the ultimate costs of food and other products. All efforts of the Republicans to have the Democratic congress adopt a sane system of reconstruction were rejected by the president, and as a reult demobilization of our armies and war industries has proceeded under no preconceived plan to return to a peace basis with least economic dusturbance. Intermittent unemployment and shutting down of factories has followed, all of which has contributed to the high cost of living.

Those and other causes are responsible for the present state of affairs. Mr. Wilson has been the nation's autocrat, selecting his own heads of departments and other minor officials. During the war congress never grudged him a single power that he asked, and practically every federal activity was governed by his discretion alone. His aversion to advice has been notorious, and he has sought and been granted powers never before possessed but by the most absolute monarchs. His seven months' absence in a foreign capital indicates how lightly he regarded the responsibility for American welfare that rested upon his shoulders. During that time the executive branch was left solely in charge of political incompetencies whom he had clothed with authority.

Like a tidal wave the conditions that Mr. Wilson inaugurated and fostered have rolled up and now threaten to engolf the United States in economic chaos. Like the Kaiser who deserted his armies and fled the country when he saw that all was lost, Mr. Wilson throws up his hands and turns to the Republicans in congress to ave the country from "this intricate situation." To a man, the members of the House have responded, abandoned plans for a recess pending debate on the peace treaty in the Senate and have settled down to retrive, if possible, the disaster that would otherwise surely descend upon the country when Mr. Wilson's false economic structure topples to the earth.

Squire A. F. Childress of Thorsby was a visitor to Clanton on Monday. Mr. Childress stated that crops in his section are going to be reasonably good in spite of the boll weevils and wet weather.

AMERICAN DISINTEGRATION

Washington, August 12.—That the league of nations, if America were a member of it, would throw European controversies into American politics, because of our large foreign---born population, is the opinion expressed by the Republican Publicity Association in a statement issued today by its president, Hon. Jonathan Bourne, Jr. The statement which presents a new view of the league, is as follows:

"One of the most vicious features of the league of nations, in its attack upon our domestic peace, is the fact that once foreign governments have a voice in our affairs it is inevitable that a large portion of the people of this country will divide themselves into groups, each American and something else, or still more likely each something else first and American afterward, we have seen something of that, surely enough, to cause us to take warning.

"So a league of nations instead of promoting Americanism and cementing us into a single nation of patriotic people will cause a segregation in interest of many people derived from many nationalities of Europe, each with a reservation of mind whenever its own foreign nation's interest is at stake. It will make the United States an unthinkable sort of nation and one without capacity to protect itself from a diversified disloyalty within its borders.

"Once we are members of the league of nations every other member of the league will have a very positive interest in our domestic as well as foreign affairs. Our electorate will be of immense interest to those foreign governments and next to their own voters ours will be of importance.

"We have seen enough of propaganda to know that every nation depending upon our support of its own policies will seek to shape our public opinion according to its own pattern and there will be a powerful incentive for persistent propaganda, and along aside of propaganda will go a spy system as a necessary means of directing and giving force to propaganda. We will be fruitful tamping ground for intrigueing diplomats and propagandists from all the great nations of the earth. To make matters worse the propagandists will have a sort of official standing under the leagne of nations and we would find it difficult to resent their activities although when wholly independent of them we could take positive measures to suppress them.

"We all know that when we call the neighbors into our family quarrels the result is a divided house. We have had our own domestic difficulties and have fought them out in the forum and at the ballot box and at the end of our most intense political battles we have accepted the verdict of the ballot box until the battle could again be waged at the next election. All this has been in such friendly spirit as to cause wonder that the heat of political battle could so soon be cast aside and it has been possible because we have had faith that whatever differences of opinion have prevailed our people were Americans, simply dividing in their views as to what has been best for the welfare of our common country. There has seldom been any suspicion that any portion of the electorate has acted for the benefit of any foreign country.

"But with a league of nations there will be a very positive suspicion that in league questions affecting the welfare of other countries racial prejudices will sway otherwise well - meaning men.

"This is a weakness of the league that applies to us alone among all the nations of the earth. It cannot apply to England, or France or Germany or Italy or any other member of the League because their population has been thoroughly nationalized by centuries of unity of interest.

"We must bear ni mind that a house divided against itself must surely fall."

PRESIDENT WANTS TO PREVENT HUMILIATION

Logis of His Argument in favor of Ratification is Purely Personal.

COUNTRY IS ABOVE INDIVIDUAL

Senators Believe Safety on Nation Higher than Petty Profit In Politics.

Washington, August 12.—A new argument in favor of accepting the league of nations and all other features of the peace treaty without any change is now being advanced by the president in his talks with Senators. This argument is that it would be "humiliating" to have to resubmit the treaty to Germany to get Germany's approval of the changes that might be made in the instrument for the purpose of safeguarding American rights and interests.

While the president is not quoted as saying to whom it would be "humiliating" the inference is that he would regard it as reflecting upon the framers of the treaty and especially upon the American commissioners. The logic of this is, inasmuch as the president took no guidance from the rest of the commissioners, that the making of changes would be regarded as "humiliating" to President Wilson himself.

Senators who are opposed to certain features of the treaty and of the covenant for the league of nations and who believe that the covenant in its present form impairs American rights have not been slow to point out that the rights and interests of the United States are of more importance than the question whether any individual or individuals feel themselves reflected upon or humiliated. According to Senators the President is still insisting that the Senate must accept the treaty just as it has been written.

ANTI-ADMINISTRATION VICTORY IN MISSOURI

President's Friends Fail in Announced Intention to "Get" Senator Reed.

Washington, August 12.—Although Administration Democrats have long been proclaiming that they would get the scalp of Senator James A. Reed of Missouri, prominent Democrat who has courageously taken an independent stand with respect to the covenant for the league of nations and who has refused on this and numerous other occasions to take orders from the White House, there is strong evidence to show that Senator Reed has been in line with the views of a majority of his party in his own home State. In a straight out fight in the Democratic State Central Committee of Missouri, the Reed forces won a decisive victory.

Democratic State Chairman Ben M. Neale sought to carry the league issue into the election of a Secretary of the State Central Committee. Mr. Neale favors the stand of the administration as to the covenant and set out to give a black eye to the supporters of Senator Reed. He failed. The Reed men elected Luther Shepherd of Milan, secretary of the State committee and now the scalp of Neal himself is in danger.

THERE ARE PLENTY OF REPUBLICAN PROSPECTS

Washington, August 11.—The poverty-stricken condition of the Democratic party and the wealth of the Republicans in material for the making of presidents is a condition which must impress the minds of the American people. Wilson and McAdoo constitute the sole reliance of the Democrats. None other is even mentioned as a possible nominee of the Democratic Convention in 1920. One has already been repudiated by the people, in the answer to his challenge at the polls in November, 1918. The other wrote his own brief obituary when he resigned the Dictatorship of railroads after involving the transportation systems of the country in the worst financial difficulties imaginable.

How much more fortunate is the Republican party. It has an abundance of tried and approved material from which to select. Considering first the men who are mentioned frequently and who have had the approval of popular votes, we have the following naming them alphabetically:

Borah of Idaho, three times elected to the Senate and an outspoken defender of American nationalism.

Capper of Kansas, twice elected Governor of his state and in 1918 elected Senator by a vote of nearly two to one over the man supported by President Wilson.

Cummins of Iowa, who served in the state legislature and the governorship and was three times elected to a seat in the Senate. A long-time student of transportation problems.

Harding of Ohio, twice elected to the state Senate, to the lieutenant governorship and further approved by election to the United States Senate in 1914.

Johnson of Callifornia, twice elected governor of his state and sent to the Senate by an overwhelming plurality in 1916.

Kellogg of Minnesota, known as the trust-buster, elected to the Senate in 1916, when the "kept-us-out-of-war" camouflage prevented a complete Republican victory.

Knox of Pennsylvania, Attorney General under McKinley and Roosevelt, once appointed and twice elected by the legislature to serve in the Senate, Secretary of State under Taft, and elected by popular vote to serve a third term in the Senate.

Lenroot of Wisconsin, three times elected to the State legislature, five times to the House, and then promoted to the Senate as a recognition of faithful service.

Lowden of Illinois, three times elected a member of the House of Representatives and his record approved by election to the Governorship.

Poindexter of Washington, elected prosecuting attorney, later elected to a superior judgeship, thence sent to the House of Representatives and further approved by election to the Senate. Made the first speech in the Senate against the league of nations.

Watson of Indiana, six times elected to the House of Representatives and elected to the Senate in 1916 when all the power of the administration was exerted in behalf of his opponent, Senator Thomas Taggart.

All the foregoing are men whose names are frequently mentioned in political discussion. To the list might well be added a number of members of the House whose repeated endorsements at home and whose long legislative experience fits them for governmental duties of even broader range. Among the men of long service whose present work brings them into prominence are Speaker Gillett, Mondell of Wyoming, floor leader; Fordney of Michigan, of the Ways and Means Committee; Esch of Wisconsin, of the Interstate Commerce Committee.

[We wish our Washington correspondent would tell us which of the above list would duck to the Catholics if elected. We shall demand a little light on that phase of the subejct.—Editor.]

WILSON LOSING HIS FAVOR IN THE WEST

CHAIRMAN CUMMINGS FINDS WESTERN ATTITUDE NOT FAVORABLE TOWARD PRESIDENT.

Washington, August 11.—President Wilson is receiving adivces from his political embassy which has been touring the west headed by National Chairman Homer S. Cummings, to the effect that all is not well in many of the states of the middle west, the north-west and the far west. The National Chairman has made his report to the White House and even pro - administration spokesmen have been unable to conceal the fact that the report was of a pessimistic character. Mr. Cummings himself although he seeks to portray that the country is overwhelmingly with the president in favor of the league covenant and peace treaty, is unable to hide the fact that there is deep dissatisfaction among the public because the administration has been devoting the last seven or eight months to foreign affairs and has been giving no attention to domestic matters. He admits the public is deeply dissatisfied over the high cost of living.

Profound dissatisfaction with the administration has been found to exist in the States through which Mr. Cummings and his political commissioners have been traveling. Altogether, Mr. Cummings, assessment of public sentiment is not of such a character as to add to the joy of life at the White House.

WILD CAT STILL CAPTURED BY SHERIFF GORE AND OFF. PITTS

Pate Arledge Arrested in Connection with the Operation; Others Make Their Get Away.

After a two days and nights patrol of the mountains of Waxahatchie in Stumps Hills Sheriff Gore and Revenue Officer Pitts last Friday bagged a big wild cat still and arrested Pate Arledge in connection with its operation. There were some four or five others in the gang but they all escaped but Arledge.

The outfit was being put up and prepared for operation, and the officers were lying in wait till the work got under headway. Plans were laid for capturing the whole gang when they got in operation.

But Arledge, the man who was captured was acting as sentinel for the others and was walking around the still at a distance of about two hundred yards with a shot gun. His purpose was to prevent officers from disturbing the operation. As he was on his post he walked straight into the muzzle of Sheriff Gore's shot gun. When Arledge saw that he was in the power of the Sheriff he began talking so loud that the others heard him. They knew something had gone wrong and fled before the officers had time to surround them.

The scene of the raid was about two miles from the steel bridge over Waxahatchie. The forty gallon copper still was brought to Clanton and eight fermenters filled with beer ready to run were destroyed on the scene. Arledge was carried to Montgomery by Officer Pitts. He will have to answer his charge in both the federal and county courts.

MORE DISCRIMINATION

How the Railroad Administration is lowering rates on imported goods, and to the injury of railroads, revenues were set forth by Representative Fordney of Michigan, chairman of the ways and means committee in a recent speech in the House. Mr. Fordney declared that through the president orders had been issued putting into effect freight rates on imported goods that amounted to a gross discriminaion against American industry, American manufacturers, and American farmers.

Mr. Fordney quoted a number of the rates named in the order of the railroad administration to which he alluded.

Odd Fellows Fall Into the Snare; An Unthoughtful Act.

One of the greatest faults, or weaknesses we had better say, of the human being is that his mind is more orl ess prone to travel in a path some other mind has previously made. Too many of us would consent to do this rather than risk our own intellectual genius, and set sail upon seas of thought yet undiscovered. We are too much like a flock of sheep blindly following the leader, with no thought as to where we shall end the journey. The weary traveler, foot-sore and tired, can be easily drawn into delusion by the beaten pathway, rather than to face the hardships of an unmarked trail across the hills and valleys.

The Odd Fellows Convention in Birmingham last week displayed just the very weaknesses that are mentioned above when that body adopted a resolution endorsing the League of Nations. They might be excused for endorsing the league, but they went further than that and expressly approved of Mr. Wilson's acts as president, and of the acts of Mr. Taft in aiding the President in his league schemes, championing the league.

The resolution states that in behalf of a world-wide fraternity, for which the Odd Fellows stand, endorsement is given the world league of nations and so on. Now the Odd Fellows believe in a world-wide fraternity all right, and their principles for attaining this purpose are very broad and elevating. We have never seen anything in those principles that indicates the espousal of such projects as the league of nations. And it is furthermore alien to the principles of Odd Fellowship to pick up the dirty escutcheon of politics to the extremity of endorsing Wilson and Taft in therr high-handed political manouvers behind the screen of the proposed league of nations.

Stop with us just a minute and let us think. We will trace the limits of the resolution referred to and see what it commits its executors to so far as the league of nations is applied therein.

First, we will say that if the Odd Fellows stand for anything they stand unqualifiedly for the preservation of our American institutions through the perpetuation of those sacred principles upon which the great superstructure of brotherly love is so nobly builded, and exemplification of same in the sanctity of the family home. Those ideas beget the purest patriotic American motives, and they are indelibly stamped upon the hearts of true Odd Fellows.

Now, how does the various applications of the world league relate to this policy of Americanism? The fraternity spirit of Odd Fellows does not bind us to an endorsement of the principles of autocracy and world dominion which the league of nations premeditatedly outlines and delivers over to the Pope of Rome and his minions in America. And it is our opinion that a resolution which commits Odd Fellows in Alabama to such a policy does not truly represent the minds of all who are connected by the three links.

How are the Odd Fellows or anybody else as for that matter, going to be Americans first and then endorse a world-wide scheme of internationalism that throws us into a mele of uncertain conditions and wipes out America's distinction among the nations of the world; that does away with our Monroe Doctrine, that national policy that has gone down in our history as the savior not only of America but the entire Western Hemisphere from the dangerous entanglements of European muddles; that commits us to a policy that would take our armies to any part of the world on any pretext whatsoever, without giving to our Congress its constitutional right to consider questions that tend to involve his country into war.

And then, just think what is meant by such a blanket endorsement of Mr. Wilson's acts as president of the U. S. A. Don't you know that such an idea is not a true expression of the men who compose the Independent Order of Odd Fellows in Alabama?

Do the Odd Fellows endorse Mr. Wilson's visit to the Vatican in Rome when he secretly locked himself in the holy chamber with Pope Benedict and got his orders about how to fix the league. That resolution says they endorse this.

Do Odd Fellows endorse the recognition of Rome at the peace conference when no other religious sect was given official seat there? The resolution said they endorse this, for Mr. Wilson did not oppose it.

But now we come to the shame of it all. We hesitate to mention this next phase of the matter, for it will bring a blush of shame to the face of every Odd Fellow in Alabama. Do Odd Fellows endorse Mr. Wilson's war policy that excluded them from activity among our boys in the cantonments, when the insult was hurled into the faces of Odd Fellows and Masons that the privilege of such activity was reserved for the Catholic Knights of Columbus?

Think of that a moment, Brother Odd Fellow. Mr. Wilson told you flatly that you could not go among our soldier boys in the camps and teach them your beautiful lessons of David and Jonathan. You should not have the opportunity of impressing them with the spirit of the Good Samaritan. No. That would not be allowed. Those boys were to be taught by the K. of C. that the word of the Pope was the divine law, reigning above the power of all things both temporal and spiritual. Listen, Odd Fellows, you know that when Wilson did that one thing he spat in your honest faces. Yet you come up now wiping his slime out of your eyes and send him a resolution endorsing what he did. Think of it for a moment, will you please?

Do Odd Fellows endorse all this stuff and much more that we could mention? We answer that they do not. They are too much American to do it. Then why this resolution that was adopted at the Birmingham convention?

Just as we said in the beginning. A case of traveling in the rut that was made by somebody else. Somebody popped up and offered the resolution there because a similar one had been adopted by the Alabama Legislature, the Alabama Press Association, the American Federation of Know Nothings and the Possum Ridge Boys Pig Club. When he sprung it no one would dare spoil the end of a perfect day by raising objections and so here she went right on down the road in the same old rut. We venture this resolution which the papers reported as unanimous in the convention does not represent the individual minds of one-tenth of the men who sat there and let it pass.

Those Americans who composed that convention should have risen up in arms against that resolution and killed it dead on the floor and stamped it under their feet. Those fellows at Washington should be made to feel the current of Americanism that swells the veins of patriots with indignance at the hob-nobbing around the corners with the Catholics. How are we ever to stop it unless we let them know that we oppose it? And how shall we make them know we oppose their methods as long as we allow such lying resolutions to go to them with our endorsement stamped "unanimous" thereon, when as a matter of fact our heartfelt sentiments are the exact opposite?

Any man who sat in that hall and allowed such a resolution to pass without his open protest would have no right to kick if Wilson were to issue an edict closing every Odd Fellow Lodge in America, and turning the keys over to the Knights of Columbus.

The Alabama Legislature is afraid to place the duty of property valuations on the Tax Assessors of the state; and what do you suppose is their reason for such fear? Here is what they give as their reasons, but it is mighty thin kind of reason. They say the Tax Assessors being elective officers, will be influenced by politics and not make fair valuations. Almost all the Tax Assessors in Alabama are what we call Democrats and nearly all the members of the Legislature are of the same species of political animals. Looks funny then that the Democratic legislature is afraid of the Democratic Tax Assessors of Alabama, don't it? Here is the main thorn in the flesh. If the boards of equaliaztion are abolished, and tax valuationns put in the hands of the Tax Assessors, it will mean a gret reduction in the number of officers in Alabama; and you know it is strictly against the policy of governmental bodies to reduce the number of salary grabbers in this latter period of progress in the world. The idea on the other hand is to increase the number of pilferers in the public till.

The Alabama Legislature does not want to abolish the jury commission system in this state. They say that there are four or five counties that have Republican county commissioners. They had rather have the State pension three deserving Democrats in each county to pollute the jury boxes than to see half a dozen counties draw their juries through Republican courts of County Commissioners. Now ain't it a dandy come-off? Some economy in that, ain't it? Yet such is the gauge of Alabama's Democratic law-makers.

We know at heart the Odd Fellows of Alabama are American and for American principles and American institutions. Then how are they going to stand up for the great Democratic leader who has been running things in this country after the manner outlined by the Pope? How are they going to be for Americanism and Wilson when he keeps a Roman Jesuit as his private secretary, this Jesuit being bound by an oath to the Pope that is traitorous to anything and everything that is American?

A number of the Chilton County boys will be glad to hear of the election of Capt. King Swope to Conngress from the Eighth District of Kentucky. Capt. Swope was our Commanding Officer while we were in training at Camp Hancock, Ga., last year. He is a splendid young man who has risen high in the world by rigid devotion to duty in every phase of life. We shall watch his progress in Congress with much interest and high hopes for his success.

This State had just as well wipe off the slate and start to figuring all over again, so far as effective government is concerned. We will never get anywhere under the present regime. Four years ago we never would have believed any crowd could make a bigger mess of the State than Henderson and his gang were doing. But now Kilby and his followers are producing bigger headlines in the papers than ever did Henderson or even O'Neal. Lacy did go ahead of them, though in his pine box episode. The friends of Kilby are rising up against him, and it begins to look like the present legislature will result in an absolute farce comedy. If the entire fold has turned to black sheep, what in the heck is to become of our dear Alabama?

The League of Nations is like the Democratic National Platform of 1916, guaranteed to keep us out of war. And just look at the suckers who are still biting at the old bait. You remember these familiar sweet words that captivated the women who didn't raise their boys to be soldiers: "Wilson and peace with honor; Hughes with Roosevelt and war. If you want war vote for Hughes; if you want peace vote for Wilson." Yes, the league of nations will keep us out of war, but to make assurance doubly sure Pacifist Newt Baker recommends to Congress an army with a war strength of a million and a quarter.

A great deal of interest has been exhibited among Clanton people this week in the X-Ray machine which has been installed by Dr. Gragg and Dr. Marcus in the Clanton Infirmary. This is a distinct innovation for Clanton, and people here are proud to see these two progressive doctors taking such an advanced step to meet the demands of our town. Several experimental views have been made by the machine on different people who did not mind showing what they had inside of them; among them was a view of Fenn Jones' heart. Yes, he has actually got a heart, girls. Dr. Gragg saw it with his own eyes.

You don't hear the Democratic dailies in Alabama saying much about how the Republican candidate for Congress in the Eighth Kentucky District beat his Democratic opponent on the League of Nations issue. The truth of it is that those guys who have been spreading the "pro-league pizen" in their sheets are scared in an inch of their lives for fear that Kennemar is going to leave Brat Rainey out in the cold in the Seventh Alabama District just as King Swope did old Judge Hardin in Kentucky. We hope to see their fears materializing on the day of the election.

The people of this country have endured a severe attack of Roman Catholic political manipulation under Wilson's administration. But our long suffering and forbearance for this kind of stuff is reaching its climax very rapidly. The situation is very appropriately summed up by the Menace in these words: "Any party that deliberately and openly loads its national ticket with popery next year will commit political suicide. Either party that offers a clean ticket and platform will carry the election with a million votes to spare; and if both parties defile themselves with the mother of political harlots and abominations of the earth, the people will take matters into their own hands and place a ticket in the field worthy of patriotic support."

Let us make up our minds now that no hyphenated American, no matter what word he has on the hither side of the hyphen, shall be elected to any office in the United States hereafter. The man who can't drop the qualification of his Americanism is not a good enough American to be placed in any position of trust.

Do not make the mistake of accepting Democratic propaganda for public sentiment. The two are vastly different and very far apart. Democratic propaganda would have you believe that to oppose the Wilson administration is to flirt with the political undertaker. But public sentiment says to the discard with Wilson and his gang no matter what follows.

Governor Kilby has started something with the Alabama Coal Mine Operators. They have got to calling one another names that sound rather irate. The trouble is that Kilby has got after the same thing for the state that the coal men have been and are yet after for themselves —money.

What is the matter with Clanton's post master problem up at Washington? Must be that the civil service reports and political records are out of harmony. It makes it awfully hard for some congressmen when a deserving political friend fails to go ahead of a political enemy on the civil service examination. Seems to get matters complitaced, and delays action somewhat. Now, don't it? But we never dreamed that such a thing would cause any worry to our Representative.

An American ship was reported as entering an English port, flying the colors of the Irish Sinn Feiners with Old Glory. But of course it is denied through Catholic press reports, that there is no ship by that particular name in the United States service. Catholics are mighty particular about names in their arguments. They did not deny that the ship spoken of was flying the stars and stripes alongside of the bloody rag of the Irish Catholics (the latter above we presume.) They only denied the name of the vessel. They never denied the things that have been alleged to have been said in the national Catholic Register. They only said there was no such paper.

Appalling Price America Would Pay If the League of Nations is Ratified

One of the most concise treatises upon the League of Nations that we have seen was read into the Congressional Record last Thursday by Senator Brandegee of Connecticut. It is an elaboration by William George Jordan, entitled "Forty-one Points of Vagueness, Danger, Ambiguity, Impractibility and Weakness of the Covenant of the League." The last one of the forty-one points seems to us especially concise in its summary effect. It is entitled, "Appalling Price America Would Pay were she to Ratify this Covenant.' It is reproduced in full below:

"For more than 130 years the United States has been independent as a Nation. She has grown powerful, prosperous and influential as a union of free people. With the courage and pride of her individuality she has been working out her own destiny in her own way, neither interfering with the rights of other nations nor tolerating interference with rights exclusively her own. She has not lived a life of selfish isolation, but has offered an asylum for the poor and oppressed of all peoples and her hand and her wealth have ever been ready at the call of every great human need abroad as truly as at home. She has become a world power because she has not sought world power. Whatever she has been her voluntary act performed in accord with her national conscience, which has been kept at home, not put into pawn to any foreign power nor any syndicate of powers.

"But now we are asked to change all this. We are asked to trade the Aladdin's lamp of our nationalism which has proved to be such treasure for a newfangled contraption of a cheap, hastily - constructed, foreign-made lamp of internationalism. For a tried, tested, and true reality we are urged to substitute a dream. For a rich and certain estate now in our hands we are asked to accept the blue prints of some imaginary city of wondrous glory. For our birthright of freedom and independent government they want us take the mess of pottage of this paper scheme of slavery to nine men in Geneva. Let America's answer be brief and final: 'Gentlemen we have studied your elaborate prospectus, but we do not like it, and we decline to invest.'

"We are to sit with eight other men as a super-Government, meddling in the affairs of all nations, passing judgment with the finality of suddenly acquired omniscence on the disputes of all, acting as arbiter of the morals of all, constituting ourselves trustees of the destinies of the world. Has America made such an astounding success of her own problems in the past? Has she mastered the appalling problems that confront us at home at this very hour? Has she, with such infinite wisdom, guided chaotic Mexico into ways of good government that we are now sublimely equipped to join in the 'benevolent' autocracy of the whole world?

"Let us look the facts coldly, clearly and calmly squarely in the face. Europe does not want the United States just for ourselves, through her deep affection for us, she wants us for our money, our men, our ships, our initiative, our infinite resources. There are those that try to seduce us with the alluring and deceptive cry that 'America must take her part in the affairs of the world.' Yes; but America must be her own judge of what she will do, where she will do it, when she will do it and how she will do it. It must be by her voluntary act; she must be moved and inspired from within, not dictated to, directed, and controled from without; she must play the game herself, not become a mere pawn on the hands of other players.

"Article 16 says: 'The members of the league agree further that they will mutually support one another in the financial and economic measures, etc.' With Europe on the verge of bankruptcy and starvation what would this mean? It would mean that the United States would pay not only her own share but that of many other States, who either could not nor would not put up their quota. It reads smoothly enough on paper, but we had one domestic experience that should prove iluminating. At the time of the American Revolution every State was pledged to do its part and to furnish its quota of force and money, but many States failed to make good, and the burden fell on the others. A similar situation occurred in our War of 1812, when the States of New England refused to put their State troops at the disposal of the Federal Government. Yet we are asked to depend absolutely on the myriad promises, stated and implied, in this covenant.

"America has, in all the multiform activities of the league, the least to gain from every point of view that can be considered. If the United States ratified this covenant she would fulfill her pledges. Her very earnestness and enthusiasm would inspire other nations to hold back; America would be willing to do her part, and other nations would permit her to do her part—and theirs too. 'Let George do it,' has its international as well as its social application. Are we so anxious to assume the role of pulling the European chestnuts out of the fire that we will accept the singeing that is guaranteed and that is inevitable?

"Were the United States to enter this league it would soon become the most cordially hated nation in the world. Our very power would generate jealousies and envies; we would be severely criticized and condemned alike for what we would do or leave undone. For every failure we would be blamed, yet in every emergency we would be called on for money, men, or other resources. This tendency has already manifested itself with many of the powers; from suspicion, doubt, and fear it is but a short step to hate. If we throw ourselves headlong into this maze of intrigue, diplomacy and international problems we shall deserve all we get. As the separate points of this dissection and analysis of this covenant are studied, and when all the strong point made by others are considered, the question no longer is: 'What satisfactory reasons can be given why America should not go into this league?' but 'What one real satisfying reason can be given why she should go in?'"

A Great Remedy.

The merits of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy are well known and appreciated, but there is occasionally a man who had no acquaintance with them and should read the following, by F. H Dear, a hotel man of Dupuyer, Mont. "Four years ago I used Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy with such wonderful results that I have since recommended it to my friends."

Discrimination In Buying

Every thoughtful housewife has long since learned the advisability of purchasing only standard goods of established merit.

She knows, for instance, that all advertised food products of national distribution must of necessity conform to pure food laws, not only those of her own State, but also must be in conformity with the Federal Food Laws.

In short, the label required by pure food laws has prevented fraudulent substitution and the use of unwholesome material, due to the fact that the intelligent American housewife reads the label.

Unfortunately, however, there are some food products now on the market in various sections of the country to which our protective labeling laws have not sufficiently applied, and in such cases the housewife is naturally left in the dark. Take for instance, so-called Self-Rising Flours; there are no laws requiring the label on these flours to name the ingredients. These are still bought blindly without knowledge of the ingredients, for the reason that these mixtures seem never to have been subjected to the same label requirements as other mixed food products. One is unable to determine from the label of any sack or package of Self Rising Flour what the quality of the flour is or what other ingredients are mixed in with it.

However, the housewife can easily become thoroughly informed about most products and, by a process of careful selection of such products, safeguard health and make pure food legislation effective.

THORSBY ITEMS

Little Mary Elizabeth Adams celebrated her fifth birthday Saturday afternoon with a party. About forty of her little friends were invited to enjoy the occasion. The house was beautifully decorated with cut flowers. Ice cream, cake, punch, and sandwiches were served during the afternoon, and many delightful games were played.

Mr. Martin Peterson returned last week from a visit to his daughter in Illinois.

Mrs. E. C. Dippery is spending the summer with her daughter, Mrs. S.H. Herbert. Mrs. Dippery expects to return to her home in Washington, D.C. some time next month.

The Ladies Aid of the Lutheran Church will meet Thursdty of this week at the home of Mrs. Carl Peterson. All ladies of the community are invited to attend.

Miss Nellie Shannon of Prattville is spending a few weeks in Thorsby, the guest of her sister, Mrs. Nels Peterson.

Misses Olga Soberg and Lucile Adams spent the week-end with home folks recently. Miss Soberg graduated last spring from the Thorsby Institute and is now holding a stenographic position in Birmingham. Miss Adams, who began a business course at the Institute last fall has been doing temporary office work during the summer in Birmingham. She expects to return to Thorsby this year to complete her study of Shorthand and Typewriting.

Mrs. S. H. Herbert and two little sons, Donald and Paul, will join Mr. Herbert some time next month in Fort Lyon, Colo., where Mr. Herbert expects to be located some time in the U. S. Naval Hospital of the American Red Cross.

Mrs. Randall Rogers has been spending several weeks with Rev. and Mrs. Chas. T. Rogers. Mr. Rogers same down from Birmingham Saturday to spend the week-end with his parents. Since his discharge from the army in the early spring Mr. Rogers has been holding a responsible position with the Birmingham News.

The Junior Endeavor Society of the Congregational Church enjoyed very much the party given for them last Friday by their Superintendent, Miss Lockwood. Part of the afternoon was devoted to preparing post cards to be sent to a Mission School in China, after which games were played. During the afternoon the children were served watermelon. Misses Agnes Gerald, Ruth Peterson, and Stella McCain assisted Miss Lockwood in entertaining her little guests. Those present were Mary Ella and Iola Gerald, Dorothy Rogers, Margaret, Richard and Dorothy Butler, Jerome and Frances Wilson, Wilbur and Ethel Peterson, Mabel and Lucile Howard, Meryl and Doris Freeman, Mary Elizabeth Adams, Mary Sou Robinson, Virginia Bice, Pete and Lawrence Kelly, Palmer Lefstead and Master William Davenport.

A Traveling Man's Experience.

You may learn something from the following by W. H. Ireland, a traveling salesman of Louisville, Ky. "In the summer of 1888 I had a severe attack of cholera morbus. I gave the hotel porter fifty cents and told him to buy me a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy and to take no substitute. I took a double dose of it according to the directions and went to sleep. At five o'clock the next morning I was called by my order and took a train for my next stopping place, a well man."

DISAGREE WITH VIEW OF WAR DEPARTMENT

Republicans of Committee on Foreign Affairs Desire Return of Dead Soldiers.

Washington, Aug. 11.—It is the belief of Chairman Porter and other members of the House Committee on Foreign Affairs, which has been investigating the question of bringing the American soldier dead back to this country for final burial, that with the return of the last American troop from France there should be no obstacle to bringing this about.

It has been the contention of the War Departments that since France was seeking to discourage all such movements, because of the long period of renewal gloom a wholesale disinterment of soldier remains would cast upon that country, The suggestion should not be encouraged in the United States. General March, chief of Staff, said that France had already declined to permit England and Italy and even its own citizens to remove their dead for a period of three years and that it would be embarassing to France if the United States should insist upon the privilege. It was developed, however, in the hearings, that France and the United States had agreed between themselves that no bodies should be returned to the United States "before the end of the war," and Chairman Porter has taken the position that this implies the right to do so after the war, and that other nations could not object to the United States removing its dead.

The war department officials informed the committee that about 70,000 nearest relatives of deceased soldiers had been asked as to their desires in the matter, and that 35,000 had requested the return of the remains, 10,000 had favored letting them rest in France, and the others had made no response.

In every home where there is a baby there should also be a bottle of McGEE'S BABY ELEXIR. It may be needed at any time to correct sour stomach, wind colic, diarrhoea or summer complaint. It is a wholesome remedy, contains no opium morphene or injurious drug of any kind. Sold by Upchurch Drug Co.

WEST CHILTON

J. S. Edwards, one of the old time Clanton lawyers—when a brick building in Clanton was not dreamed of—when the virgin pines were growing around where the handsome Banner office now stands; when if a man wanted office he had to hunt the voters up and tell them he was running for the office, no newspaper in Clanton then,—in defending a client in the western part of the county in the quiet times of 1879, said to the Jury after his opponent had delivered a lengthy address: "This opponent reminds me of the young man that wanted to marry a girl who could prepare a meal of nothing."

So, if we give the Banner readers anything of interest this week it will be out of nothing.

Manly and Eddie Atchison made an extended visit to Shelby last week.

Mrs. Mary Gibbons of Mississippi is visiting relatives here.

Mr. L. G. Posey has his home nicely lighted with carbide lights.

Cleveland Martin and Floyd Nix recently visited Golden Ridge. Floyd has just added a new buggy to his possessions.

Miss Jewel Hays is spending some time with the family of Lon Brown.

The cemetery at Macedonia was nicely cleaned off last week. It is an old burying ground dating from 1857.

Hardy and Bessie Waldrup, Misses Tempie and Bevie Smith, Miss Alice Posey and Cleveland Martin, attended singing at Mars Hill Sunday.

Several of the young people attended church at Free Springs Sunday night.

Mr. N. Posey's little child has been quite sick but is now better.

It seems before we can have the league of nations certain reservations must be recognized and should be.

How about falling prices? We hear the distant rumbling of that event. Ah, we fear they will not let us down easy.

We were not displeased when the daylight-saving law was killed, but that ray of light is gone glimmering.

Improvements everywhere, but the work of Cupid needs no improvements, same old story—ask the boys and girls.

SOME NOTES ABOUT THE CHILTON CO. HIGH SCHOOL

Prof. C. V. Thompson, the new principal of the Chilton County High School has gotten his permanent location in Clanton all completed and is pushing the arrangements for opening of the school on Wednesday, September 3rd.

The following members of the faculty have been selected:

Mr. H. L. Holmes, teacher of Science, Manual Training and Athletics; Miss Georgia Williamson, teacher of Home Economics, Latin and Athletics; Miss Lucile McDaniel, piano; Prof. Thompson will teach mathematics. These teachers with others to be supplied later, will report here for duty in due time.

Entrance Examinations.

Monday and Tuesday, September 1 and 2 are set apart for the examination and classification of students. No class work will be done on these days. All students who expect to matriculate at the opening or later should present themselves for classification at this time. Examinations will be given on Monday to all students who do not hold valid certificates of promotion. These examinations can not be held at a later date. Students who enter later are almost sure to have trouble to enter desired grades if these examinations are neglected. Certificates must be presented to avoid the examinations. Students who do not have to take the examinations should come on one of these days to discuss their record and secure classification. Parents are not desired on Monday and Tuesday, but Wednesday is special day for parents.

Wednesday, September 3 is for the general public. It is hoped that the auditorium will be full. Parents and all interested citizens should attend this exercise from 9 o'clock to 11 o'clock, a.m. There will be music, recitations and decorations. Prominent speakers will address the meeting, the teachers will be introduced and the new principal will set forth his policy.

Athletics.

Special coaches have been selected to direct the play activities of both boys and girls. They will be organized into athletic associations and drilled in team work preparatory to meeting other schools in match games etc. Upon entering these associations they will pledge themselves to be honorable and to abstain from tobacco, profanity and obscene language.

General.

1. All fees are payable in advance upon entrance, and are for the whole or any part of a semester. Under no condition are these fees to be refunded.

2. A report showing the standing and grade of each student will be sent to the parents at the close of each month.

3. All students will be given promotion certificates at commencement. Honors and medals for the session will also eb awarded at this time.

4. A student may be demoted at any time for failure to do the work required for the grade.

5. The schedule will be arranged to accommodate students who come on trains.

6. Music, art and elocution are the only subjects that will be given outside the regular course of study. Every student must take all the work for his grade.

7. Students will not be permitted to attempt to make up more than one condition.

8. A student who has two or more conditions has failed to pass off his grade.

9. No entrance examination will be given to pass off conditions unless the student has studied the subject under a coach since his original failure.

10. The course of study is planned to require 180 days for the normal student. Few can do the work in less time.

If your child is pale and sickly, picks at the nose, starts in the sleep and grinds the teeth while sleeping, it is a sure sign of worms. A remedy for these parasites will be found in WHITE'S CREAM VERMIFUGE. It not only clears out the worms, but it restores health and cheerfulness. Is sold by Upchurch Drug Co.

REPUBLICANS PLAN FIGHT IN SEVENTH ALA. DISTRICT

Special Election to See Hot Battle For Congressional Seat.

Washington, August 9.—Encouraged by their success in electing their candidate for Congress in the Eighth District of Kentucky last week to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the late Representative Harvey Helm, members of the Republican National Committee, are understood to be extending all the aid possible to the Republican candidate in the Seventh Alabama District. In what shape this assistance is to be rendered is not divulged, but for some days it has been common talk among Republicans on Capitol Hill that they are hoping to defeat the Democratic candidate in the Seventh Alabama at the special election to be held to fill the vacancy in the House caused by the death of Representative John L. Burnett.

The Seventh is the only one of the Alabama districts in which the Republicans have in 20 years or more had even a slight chance of winning a congressional seat. Mr. Burnett carried the distract eleven successive times, but in two or three of the memorable contests he had with the Republicans it will be recalled that his majorities were too small to be comfortable.

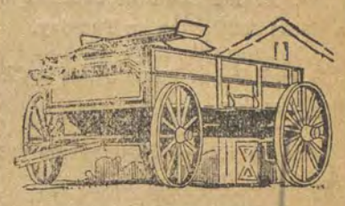
Members of the Alabama delegation in the House do not appear to think the Republican candidate in the Seventh district can defeat the Democratic nominee, but it is understood they have been advising the local leaders to take no chances, for there is no telling what aid will be extended the opposition by the Republican and the Republican Congressional Committees, two rather resourceful organizations exceedingly anxious to capture another district in a Southern State.

The result in the Eighth Kentucky District has caused a lot of crowing among Republican senators and representatives. A hitherto reliable Democratic district for 25 years or more is to be represented in the House during the present congress by a Republican whose majority over the Democratic candidate was about 2,100. The late Representative Helm carried the distract at the November election last year by 1,650, which was much below the normal Democratic majority.

The keen disappointment for the Democrats is that King Swope, the soldier candidate, defeated for congress none other than Judge Hardin, chairman of the Kentucky State Democratic Committee. It has been supposed that Judge Hardin would have a walkover in a district that was represented for many years in the House by the late James B. McCreary, twice governor of the state, and who also served a full term in the United States Senate.

Swope was a private soldier in France and returned from overseas service only a few months ago. He made opposition to the proposed league of nations the main issue in his campaign. Swope is only 27 years old and will be the "kid" member in this Congress.

CULP - POOLE WEDDING



An occasion of much interest last Sunday afternoon was the uniting in matrimony of two distinguished young people of the Shiloh Community. The groom was Mr. Sam Culp, son of Enoch Culp who lives near Mt. Nebo, and the beautiful bride was Miss Mae Poole, daughter of Mr. John Poole.

The sacred bonds were carefully and appropriately administered by Rev. Will Cox at the home of the bride. Quite a number of the relatives and friends of the happy couple were present to share with them in their blissful occasion, which was carried out very nicely.

We join with hosts of others in wishing them joy and happiness unstinted.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

W. M. Merchant of Jemison was a visitor toC lanton on Tuesday.

E. D. Hand of Route 2 was in Clanton Tuesday.

Miss Bettie Morris Gardner, Southern Bell Telephone Operator at Clanton spent Sunday with her parents at Verbena.

W. E. Robinson of Birmingham spent a few days this week on a visit to relatives near Clanton. Mr. Robinson is a clerk in the Birmingham postoffice.

Will DeShazo brought the Union-Banner another watermelon Tuesday, but we are not going to say anything about it. He may get tired of having ing his name in the paper so much.

Architect Lockwood was in Clanton Monday on business connected with the building of the court house.

W. J. Headley of Route 5 visited The Union-Banner Saturday.

James Baker of Route 2 was in Clanton Saturday after a load of brick. He got his brick from the Jones Hardware Company and subscribed to the Union-Banner for another year.

T. C. Jones of Mulberry decided Saturday that he had one tooth too many. He visited Dr. Crumpton's and had the surplus one removed.

LOST—Blue Serge Coat, between Clanton and Green Foshee's; finder please return to J. W. WOOD, Clanton, Route 6, and get reward.

Prof. J. L. Johnson and Hon. J. B. Atkinson are in charge of a large crowd of young boys of Clanton on a camp at Mineral Springs this week. We predict a grand time for the party.

Rev. M. J. Parrish was in Clanton Saturday. He says he keeps busy now holding protracted meetings at his churches. This time of the year is the busy season with our country preachers. Protracted meetings work quite a strain on them through the hot summer months and our people should appreciate their work more than they do.

According to Tax Assessor J. N. Dennis, Mr. J. M. Grant of the County Equalization Board can raise other things besides taxes. And the editor can testify the truthfulness of that decision. Mr. Grant can raise watermelons too. He brought to Clanton Saturday one of the finest Mitchells we ever saw. It was sliced in the tax office and provided a fill for half a dozen of Mr. Grant's friends. But you know it is always the biggest fish that gets away. Mr. Grant said he had some at home bigger than the one he brought to Clanton.

PATRIOTIC APPEAL FOR COUNTY ROADS

A WORTH-WHILE LETTER TO THE PEOPLE FROM MR. F. A. GULLEDGE OF VERBENA.

I write once more in the interest of good people, good government, and at this time especially for good roads.

In these parts, and I hear it is so all over Chilton County, all sorts of excuses and objections are offered against our present county road law. Why this? Why not let us all join in, take our road tools, good teams and good time, go out early and work dilligently all day or days, till all our roads are in good fix; then keep on in their up-keep?

It appears Judge Reynolds and our County Board have done all they could. They have no money. We can all do without anything better than good roads. Duty to public roads is one all should feel vitally interested in; and why? Men of all classes should join the forces willingly, whether subject to road duty or not. If I considered myself so and wanted to be called a citizen, I would not ask exemption from road duty. From 14 to 45 I escaped two workings only—one the day my second child was born, the other from a rhumatic attack in 1880.

I still work or have it done. Since I came to Chilton County I have purchased more than $100 worth of tools to my tenants. I have kept up one piece of road (hard to keep up) 3-4 of a mile long, for 25 years with just a little help on the side.

Come men, with your teams, men and money, and let us build good roads then keep them so. Stop your bickerings. Let all assume and do their full duty, and they will soon see their reward. A man who is able and does hard work for himself or for others has no legal or moral right to exemption from road duty. And the county examing board should base their decision on this fact and not on the petty excuses offered for exemption. The Judge of Probate, as I understand, Section 6 of our road law, has the last say so, and he too should stand right up to his duty to the public. Then each hand or boy-citizen has a duty to perform, viz: to help list all who are subject: then help look after the time put in on the road, and finally, the character of work done.

It is everybody's business to see the roads are properly worked that our time and efforts may be conserved. Yours truly,

F. A. GULLEDGE.

Verbena, Ala., Aug. 12, 1919.

Mr. Albert Thomas, a prominent citizen of Coosa County, has been in Clanton this week looking for a farm location that suits him. He has sold out his property holdings in Coosa County and contemplates locating near Clanton in order to take advantage of our school facilities for his children. Mr. Thomas, like many others of our citizens who have come from Coosa, is a splendid man. We would be mighty glad to have him live in our county. He would be a very valuable asset to any community.

To Our Customers & Friends:

You, Mothers and Fathers, know how hard Children are on shoes; and yet, very often, the child is blamed for wearing out the shoes too quickly, when the shoes themselves are really too poor to stand the wear an active child will give them.

You would not spend your money for some shoes if you could cut them open and see what is inside of them. A solid leather sole, if properly made, wears longer, holds its shape longer and in every way is a better shoe than one in which substitutes for leather are used. Do not buy shoes without having an opportunity to see the shoes themselves; and then study their quality and construction.

When you buy "Star Brand" Shoes from us, you not only see the shoes but can also see a shoe that has been cut open.

"Star Brand" Shoes for children are attractive in appearance and made to permit the proper development of the child's feet. Best of all they are right in price.

You will need more shoes very soon. Come in and examine our full line of children's shoes.

Is Relieved of an Awful Backache

This Mobile Man had bad Kidney Effection, which made him get up Five or Six times every night. Knee joints swollen.

"My knee joints were swollen up, and the pain was almost unbearable, and I believe I had thumatism in every joint," writes Mr. Henry Schulte, of 550 Franklin St., Mobile, Ala.

"My kidneys caused much trouble, as I'd have to get up every night five and six times. All this has been stopped since I took Dreco.

Sometimes my back ached so bad it felt like I was being bent over backwards; I was so bilious that my head ached. I'd get dizzy and had a foul taste in my mouth every morning.

Dreco sure did get after my sickness in a hurry; for I'm entirely relieved now; never have a pain in my back; the swelling in my knees is all gone; no more dizzy spells to bother me; in fact, I call myself entirely over the trouble. What Dreco can do for me, it can do for others, so I strongly advise sufferers to give Dreco a chance."

Dreco is made from the juices of twelve different herbs, roots, barks and berries, which act directly on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bladder, and tend to relieve constipation, head aches, rhumatism, catarrh, biliousness dizzy spells, heart fluttering, gas on the stomach and other troubles.

All good druggists now sell Dreco, and it is highly recommended in Clanton by Upchurch Drug Co.

Please allow me a small space in your paper to say a few words in regards to this community.

Health here at this place is just fine, everybody seeming to have a pleasant time. Sunday School and Singing not improving like we would like for it to. Come on all you Sunday School workers, let's begin to cheer up old Mars Hill again.

Our Revival Meeting begins here at this place the Fourth Sunday in this month. We expect some good behaviour and good preaching.

The singing at this place Sunday afternoon was very good considering the congregation.

Mr. Yymon Foshee came from Brompton, the latter part of last week.

We must have good behavior during our meeting. Hope we will have a great success.

School at this place is getting along fine with the two teachers.

Miss Almeda Clayton, one of our teachers, came out to church Sunday. Come everybody that will, and let's have a glorious meeting.

With many wishes to the Union-Banner.

ALRED-HIGGINS WEDDING

Marriage license were issued in Montgomery this week to D. C. Alred and Hattie G. Higgins of Clanton, according to the Montgomery Advertiser of Wednesday. The contracting parties in the marriage are two very prominent people of our city. Their many friends here wish them a successful and happy married life.

William J. Billingsley of Thorsby was here Saturday. He handed us a notice to publish in regard to the revival services soon to be held at Thorsby Baptist Church. Mr. Billingsley stated that Rev. J. L. Hand of Newton will assist the pastor in the services. We wish to urge all who can to attend and hear Bro. Hand preach. We had him with us at Friendship last month. He is a fine preacher.

ALL DAY SINGING AT LIBERTY HILL CHURCH

Editor Union-Banner:

Please allow me space in the columns of your paper to say that there will be an all day singing at Liberty Hill Church, four miles west of Clanton. Everybody is invited to come and bring well filled baskets. Carols of Praise and Crowns of Love will be used.

Thought Three Children Needed a Mother's Care

"My stomach suffering was so severe that I could not have lasted very much longer. I did not care so much for myself but did not want to leave my three little children who needed a mother's love and care. A cousin in California wrote me about Mayr's Wonderful Remedy and I took a full course of it. I have since been entirely well." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflamation which is the cause of practically all stomach, liver and intestinal troubles, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded.

SAYS SHE WOULD HAVE BEEN DEAD

If Sulfero-Sol, the Wonder Medicine, Hadn't Relieved Her of the Horrors of Pellagra as Well as Other Diseases.

Hers was a pitiable case. And she made a remarkable recovery. Mrs. Mattie Boren, of Sallisaw, Okla., suffered with the horrors of pellagra more than two years. The children had it, too. She was also afflicted with kidney and bladder trouble and diseases peculiar to her sex. Now she is well. She attributes her recovery alone to Sulferro-Sol, "The Wonder Medicine," because while she was taking it she took no other. "I would have been in my grave today," she says. "Me and my three children had the pellagra. Doctors said we would never get well. But Sulferro-Sol cured us."

Sulferro-Sol is a medicine of marvelous power, which is even recognized by physicians. It is a natural nerve tonic and blood purifier, relieving not only Pellagra, but also Rheumatism, Eczema, Indigestion and Diarrhoea.

Try a bottle and be convinced of its wonderful power. After a few doses you will praise it. Get it at your druggists.

RECENT CONTESTS SHOW DEMOCRATS DOWN IN THE MOUTH

Results of Congressional Elections Sign Posts of Disaster.

PEOPLE TURN TO REPUBLICANS

Overturning of Democratic Majorities in South and West Significant.

Washington, August 18.—The recent Congressional election in the eighth district which resulted in the election of King Swope, Republican, by a large majority over his Democratic rival, to fill the unexpired term of a late Democratic member, indicacates, to Representative William Rodenberg, of Illinois, that the Democratic prospects for national success in 1920 are at a very low ebb. He said today:

"Taken together with the recent special Congressional election in St. Paul, where the Democrats failed to poll 20 per cent of the votes cast, the special election in Kentucky resulting in the election of a Republican from a district which has always been Democratic heretofore, it is certainly a sign that the Democrats are on the down road, and that they will continue on the road for a long time to come. These two elections are very significant of the trend of public favor toward the Republican party throughout the entire country."

The outcome of these two contests is the more striking in view of the fact that it coincides with the gloomy reports that national chairman Cummings on his return from his trip through the country laid before the president.

ENFORCE THE LAW.

Representative Edmund Platt of New York believes that if the provision in the food control act prohibiting the wilful destruction or deterioration of food stuffs were enforced a long step would be taken toward reducing the high cost of living. To his mind the cold storage of great quantities of food is not of itself a great evil unless its owners hold it until spoiled rather than put it on the market at lower prices.

NOTICE

There will be a Conference Meeting at Union Point Church on the Fifth Sunday in August, at 11:00 o'clock. All come.

SILENCE

Can anyone tell us the time and place when President Wilson ever used the expression, "America, first, last, and all the time?"

CLANTON BAPTIST CHURCH NOW WITHOUT A PASTOR

At the regular monthly conference of the Clanton Baptist Church last Sunday the resignation of the pastor, Rev. J. F. Gable was accepted and the church now is without a pastor.

Mr. J. J. Pickens was chosen moderator of the conference in the absence of Rev. Gable, who is away from the city on a month's vacation granted him by the church. The resignation was read in conference by the senior deacon, Mr. John A. Thomas, and accepted by motion duly placed before the body.

Rev. Gable's Resignation.

By request of Rev. Gable, we publish his resignation as read before the conference, as follows:

To the Faithful Members of Clanton Baptist Church, in Regular Conference Assembled, Aug. 17.

Dear Brothers and Sisters:

Inasmuch as it seems to be impracticable, with me as your pastor, to carry out the movements planned for the well being and progress of the church when I was called to your pastorate something over two years ago, I therefore, hereby place my resignation of the office before you. As your By-Laws require that 30 days notice be given the church when such action is contemplated by the pastor, I ask that the resignation take effect on the last of September or the first of October, now approaching.

Some very pleasant and cordial personal relations have been established during the period in which we have worked together in the Master's vineyard, and we shall ever recall with gratitude the kindnesses which have been showered upon both my family and myself.

To the Deacons and officers of the Church and Sunday School, I wish also to express my heartfelt appreciation of their fidelity. Real work and noble has been done, sometimes in difficult situations, in meeting financial obligations, but they have practically all been met.

As an assurance to the Church and its officers that their support of the church and its work has not been entirely in vain, so far as the pastor is concerned, I offer herewith a statement of my visible activities during the two years and two months in which I have occupied the office, also some of the results:

Sermons preached in Clanton	178
Sermons preached elsewhere,	82
Total sermons preached,	260
Revival meetings conducted,	7
Converts baptized,	63
Prayer meeting and addresses,	217
Funerals attended,	26
New members, Clanton Church,	92
Received in other places assisted,	61
Total members received,	153

Respetfully Submitted,

JNO. F. GABLE.

After considering other business before the church the question of electing another pastor was raised. A committee of five was appointed to entertain propositions for a pastor and report the same at an adjourned session of the body on next Sunday week. The committee on the matter of the new pastor are, Dr. V. J. Gragg, Chairman; J. Watts Moore, A. N. Miner, D. C. Alred and G. C. Harris.

LET THERE BE LIGHT

Woodrow Wilson, with an immense aggregation of specialists, statisticans and advisers, etc., took months, in cooperation with the repreentatives of other nations, to formulate the treaty of peace. The President has seen fit to withhold from the Senate information regarding the negotiations by which the terms of the treaty were reached. Why, then, expect the Senate, groping in the dark, to determine hastily what course it shall pursue in performing its constitutional duty of ratifying, amending or rejecting?

A. Z. Bean of Route 8 was in the Banner office last Saturday. He said he wanted Will DeShazo to meet him here next Saturday and pay him the "set up" which he promised some time ago.

REPUBLICANISM vs. INTERNATIONALISM

Washington, August 19.—A few people have asserted that the Republican Publicity Association had no authority for the aggressive stand it has taken in opposition to the League of Nations, and, particularly, that it had no authority to assert that the league is a party issue. That criticism of the Publicity Association was based upon the assumption that the party has not spoken on the subject of internationalism. But the party has spoken on the subject of internationalism. The first plank in the National Platform of 1916—the most recent declaration of the party—reads as follows:

"In 1861 the Republican party stood for the Union. As it stood for the union of the States, it now stands for a united people, true to American ideals, loyal to American traditions, knowing no allegiance except to the constitution, to the government, and to the flag of the United States. We believe in American policies at home and abroad."

President Wilson, leader of the Democratic party and chief proponent or the league of nations, admits that the league covenant would require the "supreme sacrifice." This, he says, we must make "at whatever cost of independence."

There is direct conflict between the Republican platform and the declaration of President Wilson. American ideals and American traditions include, if they include anything, avoidance of entangling alliances, maintenance of the Monroe Doctrine, unimpaired continued exercise of our right to control immigration, and unquestioned power to impose import duties. If those are not American ideals and American traditions, then we have no ideals and traditions.

But the platform further declared against any allegiance except to the constitution, or to any government except our own. In that particular also, the league of nations conflicts with the plain utterance of the Republican platform. How can we now "know no allegiance except to the constitution" if we bind ourselves to the obligations of a world-league? How can we "know no allegiance except to the government," if we bind ourselves to accept the decisions of a league in which Great Britain has six votes to our one?

Without apology or excuse, the Republican Publicity Association stands squarely and firmly upon the above quoted plank of the Republican platform, without reservations or amendments. And, when the official leader of the Democratic party assails that plank and tries to involve this nation in surrender of American ideals and traditions, we believe and assert that the controversy becomes a party issue, unless the Republican party stands ready to reverse the attitude it deliberately took in 1916. That there is no prospect of reversal of the Republican policy indicated by the fact that 39 Republican Senators signed a "round robin" on March 4, last, declaring their opposition to the league of nations and their determination that it shall be eliminated from the peace treaty and considered upon its own merits.

The Republican Publicity Association proposes to continue to the Republican platform, and, therefore and thereby, loyal to the American constitution, loyal to the American government, loyal to American ideals, loyal to American traditions.

"Let those desert who will."

MEXICO UNMASKED.

By unanimous vote the Senate has authorized the foreign relations committee to investigate the situation in Mexico. Acting under the authority Chairman Lodge has appointed a subcommittee, consisting of Senators Fall, Brandegee and Smith of Arizona, to conduct the inquiry. The resolution of the Senate gives the committee full power to investigate "any and all acts of the government of Mexico and its citizens in derogation of the rights of the United States or of its citizens." It is probable that the committee will postpone most of its activities until after the German treaty and the league of nations are disposed of in the Senate, but when that time arrives it is the intention to go to the border and gather information at first hand of conditions as they are. No other man in the Senate has the intimate knowledge of Mexican conditions that is possessed by Senator Fall of New Mexico, who will head the committee. Senator Brandegee is a trained investigator and cross-examiner, and Senator Smith, although a Democrat, has for a long time been disgusted with the Mexican policy of the administration that has resulted in the death of citizens of his own state and the destruction of their property. The country can rest assured that the coming inquiry will be exhaustive, and the recommendations the committee will submit will be those best suited to put a stop to the present intolerable conditions.

RUGGED AMERICANISM.

Opponents of the league of nations heard with much satisfaction the report of the interview between Senator Fernald and the President. It is understood that Mr. Wilson told the Senator that he counted on at least sixty men in the Senate who would take a world view of the present crisis. "Exactly so," replied Mr. Fernald, "but at least sixty men in the Senate in their world view include in its scope the United States of America." It is significant that shortly after Senator Fernald's call at the White House the daily interviews that Mr. Wilson had been conducting with individual senators were suddenly discontinued, and the President left the topic of the league to turn his attention to the high cost of living, a subject that has been before the eyes of the ordinary citizen for months, but which Mr. Wilson has just discerned.

ROCKY MOUNT

There will be a public working at Rockymount Cemetery, Saturday, August 30th, for the purpose of cleaning off and fixing fence around the cemetery. All interested will come and bring your dinner and tools to work with. J.B. NORTHCUTT.

Now is Clanton's Golden Opportunity! Shall We Accept It or Not?

We notice in a recent issue of the Industrial Index that the Alabama Power Company has acquired the Selma Light and Power Company, and that a transmission line is to be built from Lock 12 to the city to supply current for its wheels of industry.

If this is true, and we have no reason to doubt the statement, that places the question of Clanton's future development squarely up to us. What shall we do about it?

Will we allow the Alabama Power Company to build that line from Lock 12 to Selma without same passing through Clanton and giving us the untold advantage of their current? Will we not put up the fight that is necessary to get it?

If we don't do something to grasp this opportunity, and put Clanton on the map as a city with some life and vigor, we ought to have to go back to the primitive methods of plowing a bull yearling for a living, and eating roasted hoe-cake for supper by the meagre light of a pine knot fire.

If there is any life in Clanton, let it assert itself now. And if we are dead, let's have the funeral and be done with it. The outside world should know which way we are going.

REPUBLICAN RECORD DURING PAST TEN WEEKS REMARKABLE FOR WISDOM AND EFFICIENCY

Washington, Aug. 19.—Representative Madden of Illinois, a member of the Republican steering committee of the House, has issued the following review of the legislative work accomplished by that body since it was called into session last May:

"In ten weeks the House of Representatives has passed appropriation bills for the conduct of the Government amounting to $3,500,000,000, at the same time effecting a saving of public funds amounting to $1,600,000,000.

"It has passed legislation reducing the army to a peace basis.

"It has returned the telegraph wire to its owners, with the result that one company has made a substantial reduction in the rates formerly charged the public by Postmaster General Burleson, thereby saving millions of dollars to the public.

"It has passed legislation repealing the unpopular soda water tax, and has reduced the tax on refreshments made of fruit juices.

"It has repealed the wartime law permitting foreign ships to engage in coastwise trade, thereby returning this trade to the American merchant marine.

"It has created a special committee composed of experienced men to form legislation to establish the budget system.

"It has provided $14,000,000 for the vocational soldiers, and made it possible for thousands of these soldiers not included in the original legislation to participate in this training.

"It has passed a resoluton forcing the Secretary of War to sell to the public millions of pounds of surplus food which he had withheld at the request of the producers.

"In addition to this impressive list of legislative accomplishment, many of the House committees have been energetically considering such questions as the return of the railroads the merchant marine, and the tariff, and many of them will be ready within a few weeks to present comprehensive measures for action by House.

"I think the work of the House during the past ten weeks has been the most remarkable in legislative history. There has been no such record previously, and the efficiency and experience of the Republicans made the present record possible."

JUDGE REYNOLDS ON VACATION TOUR THRU FLORIDA AND MISS.

The Union-Banner received a card Tuesday from Judge Reynolds written from Biloxi, Miss. Here is what he says:

"The first thing I want to do after I get home is to apologize to the people of Chilton County for ever criticizing our roads. Florida and Mississippi have nothing but mud and water. Am leaving today for Mobile; may have to go by Pensacola to get back."

We hope the Judge has been having a fine time on his vacation. He was much in need of the rest.

LET THE BALLOT DECIDE

Secretary Morrison of the American Federation of Labor says that the Railroad Brotherhoods will get what they want from this Congress or they will elect a Congress that will yield to their demands. That makes the issue clear. Now, let's hear from the farmers, the manufacturers, the miners, and the consumers in general, who are expected to pay the increased wages demanded by the Brotherhoods. Let's all take a hand in electing Congressmen.

POLITICAL GLOOM STALKS ON HEELS OF MR. CUMMINGS TRIP

DEMOCRATS CONGRESS WORRY

Apprehensiveness as to 1920 Outlook Increased by Scout's Report.

Washington, August 18.—Reports coming from outside circles of late indicate that the Administration has been shocked by the advices which Democratic National Chairman Homer H. Cummings has conveyed to the president and administration leaders since Mr. Cummings made his tour of the country.

Mr. Cummings went through many States, to the Pacific Coast and back, and held meetings at state capitals and elsewhere with the original purpose of perfecting organization and mobilizing the enthusiasm for the Wilson Administration which he was expected to discover. Instead of this Mr. Cummings seems to have found himself a sort of receiver for all sorts of stories of dissatisfaction among the people concerning the conduct of the present administration. It has been his not entirely pleasant mission to return to Washington and lay before the president, members of the cabinet and the chief aides of the president the facts. Since then there has been an atmosphere of deepened gloom in administration quarters. As for the democrats in Congress, who have long had apprehensions about 1920, their apprehensions has been increased.

In a general way, it appears that the president took up with international affairs including the covenant for the league of nations in the expectation that the attenion of the American people would be divered from the Administration's blunders and its shortcomings of the war-time period. There are those who have not ceased to believe it was the intention of Mr. Wilson to run for President again on the strength of achievements at Paris. But the reports brought back by Mr. Cummings reveal that public mind, althoungh for a time it was diverted by the spectacle of the president's voyage into internationalism, is now certaining by far the larger share of its attention to matters at home. The matters president Wilson has given practically no attention for about 7 months. A set of cabinet officials who to speak mildly cannot be regarded as supermen have more or less diligently assisted in getting things muddled up. The public doesn't like it and a large share of it is saying so and the echoes have been caught by Mr. Cummings as he has been swinging about the circle. Even the president's warmest admirers have never accused him of liking to hear bad news and it may be imagined that there was little eagerness shown at the White House when the chief political ambassador made the report of his observations.

It is said however that in large measures as the result of the news brot to Washington by Mr. Cummings the president will now devote more notice to affairs relating to the United States.

As yet, speculation has not satisfied itself as to what will happen to Mr. Cummings for his rashness in telling the truth.

President Wilson's Tour

Does Not Include "Solid South."

The following interesting announcement is sent out from our National Capital:

"Because he regards the South as being solidly behind the League of Nations and the Peace Treaty, President Wilson will not speak there during his tour of the country. The President thinks that such a trip would be waste of precious time. It is believed that a greater part of his time will be spent in the West counteracting the influence of Senator Borah and Senator Johnson."

Now, don't that take the rag off the bush? Go back over it and read it again in the meantime remembering the glowing terms in which the Democratic Campaign spell-binders refer to the "Solid South."

Such stuff as Mr. Wilson is handing us in the above quotation does not particularly concern Republicans of the South. They are of course against the League, against Wilson, and against that arch-enemy of our country, the "Solid South." The fellows who we want to point to this fitting declaration of Mr. Wilson are those Democrats in the South who have got sense enough to see the fallacy of the solid Democratic machine down here, but who have not got guts enough to buck the game and oppose the unfruitful and likewise oppressive political methods that are fastened upon the southern states by this one-sided political machine.

Why does Mr. Wilson regard the South as "solidly behind the League of Nations?" And is his conclusion in this respect borne out by the actual attitude of our people down here?

One of the main reasons he believes the people down here are for the league is because of the wholesale misrepresentation of the facts of the case that is indulged in every day by our rotten "solid" Democratic daily papers of the South. They spread the statements across their front pages that the people are in favor of the league when they know full well that such statements are anything but the truth.

Then, we suppose too, that Mr. Wilson must have gotten his copy of the resolutions that were passed by the Alabama Legislature and the Alabama Press Association and the Alabama Odd Fellows Convention and the Possum Ridge Pig Club, all endorsing "unanimously" the league of nations. And of course with such endorsements as these he is bound to know that every man in Alabama is for the league. And we suppose that similar resolutions went to him from the other "solid" Democratic states of the South.

In addition to all this falsifying stuff that has gone to the President from down south, we have the assurance also that our southern Senators and Congressmen have added their assurances at the White House that the South was as solid for the league as it has ever been for anything else that has the rubber stamp of the Democrats and the picture of the donkey on it.

We can scarcely imagine the heights of Mr. Wilson's gratification when he calls to his mind this universal assent of the people of the great southland to the wholesale delivery of the keys of his adminiseration over to the Catholics during the war. And now he chuckles to himself at our foolish sanction of his scheme to turn the other vultures of the world loose on us thru the league, so that Great Britain and Japan shall surely devour the few of us who have not already been skinned and eaten by the Pope of Rome.

Oh you apostles of the Great and Mighty Dictator; you worthy and well-tried advocates of the solid south; you faithful ones who have always barked when the Democrats pulled your chain; you who know the great political curse that rests upon your heads, but have not backbone enough to demand your rights of political freedom; you who are in a political slavery as oppressive as the slavery that held the black men of the South under the rod of oppression in the sixties; we ask you to think of your condition. Think of the condition of your Southland, the fairest spot in this union of once free States. What rights have you under this measly excuse for a political system that calls itself the "solid south" and stalks abroad in open daylight, the avowed enemy of our freedom and boldly taking away from you that which no man nor no agency nor power under God has the right to deny you.

The President thinks that it would be a waste of precious time to come to the South and try to enlighten us on the league. So it is with every activity that concerns this country at the City of Washington. They no more would consult us about our wishes and our desires about this government than would the plantation owner of 1960 have gone to his slaves for advice about the management of his farm.

What is our trouble, then? What is our grievance? We are, instead of being represented in the government by men and agencies that bring us to our political independence, on the other hand, misrepresented through this damnable curse, the "solid south" so that we are all looked on at Washington as the red-headed step child of Uncle Sam. The powers there have come to the conclusion that we will be perfectly contented with the scraps that fall from the table, therefore, they do not see why they should give us the good things that are on the table.

The South is never considered because she will vote "solid Democratic" is the excuse we hear them offer.

They say there is a mile of road down in Lowndes County that is so bad that it is "hanted" at night. If all the bad roads in Chilton County were "hanted" it would take an awful number of them to go round. And what makes it most "scary" is when we think that many of them would be right under the electric lights on the streets of Clanton.

Look at your map. You will see that Clanton is right on a dead line between Lock 12 and Selma. But you must also remember that Clanton was and is the nearest railroad station to Lock 12. Yet the railroad was not built from here to the construction works in 1912. Why? The answer is just because Clanton did not care enough about the railroad to go after it and induce the power company to build it out from here. So it will be with the power line to Selma. If Clanton don't go after it the company will take it that we don't want it and they will build it some other route. What shall we do now, citizens? Who will make the motion?

General Pershing will be home from France in a few weeks. Maybe he will get here in time to go down into Mexico again and see if he can locate Villa.

When you get right in behind the Catholics about their tratorious practices, one of the first things you will hear is that they brag of their loyalty during the war. We say they ought to have been loyal for the Democratic administration gave them everything in the world to try to keep them loyal. No telling what the rascals would have done if Wilson had not given them all the favors.

Now, that the war is over, we are going to give the Catholics what they deserve for their conduct during the war, and if we are not mistaken the people of the United States will put a quietus on the political activities of Woodrow Wilson for the conspicuous part he played and for the dance he danced while the Pope of Rome Fiddled.—Collinsville Courier.

While the war was on the Catholics could do anything or get anything they wanted. They kept the Masons, Odd Fellows and every other secret order away from the camps through their big cat's paw, Woodrow. Through his administration they kept all the protestant denominations away from the U. S. army in France. Yet the Odd Fellows now see fit to endorse what Wilson did.

President Wilson has found the key to the situation of unrest in the U. S. A. He says the people want the League of Nations adopted without reservations, and the country will not get settled until that is done. Yes, Woodrow, the people want this league and are crying for it just like a five-year-old boy cries for his dose of Castor Oil every night before he goes to bed.

House Committee Favors

Mondell Land Provision.

The report of the House Committee on Public Lands in favor of the adoption of the Mondell plan for "Farms for Soldiers," expresses some interesting views on the returned-soldier problem. It says in part:

"Broadly, the problem is how to absorb them into our national life on terms which shall be satisfactory to them and profitable to the Nation. Specifically, the prablem as presented in all of the bills referred to the committee is how to furnish them with immediate employment and to open the way to self-sustaining homes on the land, and how to furnish them with necessary capital.

"There are two considerations to be borne in mind: The first is the welfare of the soldier himself. It is incumbent upon Congress to see that no man who offered his life to protect the nation in time of war shall come to want in time of peace. Every soldier who needs employment should have employment. The second consideration to be observed is, of course, the welfare of the nation.

LOCAL ATTORNEY LAUNCHES ATTACK AGAINST ONE FAMILY RULE IN CHILTON

Clanton, Ala., Aug. 15, 1919.

To the Editor of The Union-Banner:

At the last session of the County Commissioners' Court I made application to write the fire insurance on the new court house. I represent a strong American company, and offered to write the insurance for the county as cheaply as anyone could legitimately write it. It seems, however, because I had the temerity to ask for this business—this patronage—from the county, I have incurred the displeasure of the gods.

The fact is, Mr. Editor, when I made application to write the insurance for the county, I felt that I was as much entitled to this business as anyone. I am a citizen and tax payer of the county; have always voted the Republican ticket and have a real interest in Chilton county as a whole and would like to see a clean Republican administration of the county affairs in particular.

I have known for some time that Mr. L. C. Reynolds (Claud) the Judge's son, wrote the insurance on the old court house about two years ago, and that a warrant for the premium was drawn against the county funds for something like $800.00. I knew too, of course, that he obtained the fire insurance agency for the sole purpose of writing the county's fire insurance business and thereby make tbout two hundred dollars. I have known for some time too that when Mr. L. C. Reynolds left Clanton he transferred his agency to Mr. Grady Reynolds, who is now County Treasurer. A month or so ago I asked Mr. Grady Reynolds if he intended to write the fire insurance on the new court house and he advised me that he did. While I said nothing at the time, it struck me as being against the law for an officer of the county to profit in or derive a benefit from a county contract; and some time later through Mr. M. D. Foshee I advised that an officer of the county could not legally write the insurance. Mr. Foshee agreed to see Grady, and I am advised that he did see him, and that Grady agreed not to write the insurance, in view of the fact that it is a violation of the statute law of the state, and that he would assist me in getting the busines.

One day last week, after the matter had rocked along for some time, I asked Grady what about the insurance. Whereupon he replied that he had transferred his agency back to Claud, and that the county felt that it should give the business to the same company!

All of which was, of course, done to keep the teat of the county cow in the mouth of a Reynolds!

Therefore, believing that the Commissioners are honest, straight-forward men who believe in doing the right thing, I decided to make application, and I was assured by some of them that I should have a fair deal. I believe now, as I did then, and as hundreds of good republicans in this county believe, that this county has been a one-family county long enough. We have in this county the spectcable of one member of the family being Probate Judge, another Representative in the Legislature, another County Treasurer and Special Attorney for the County in litigation against the county, and still another wanting to write the county's insurance and to act as chauffeur on one of the army trucks!

For every vacancy there is a relative!

Now, since I have been in Chilton county, I have attended strictly to my own affairs. Have never tried to push myself forward in politics, but have been contented to run along in the ranks of the party and on election day vote my choice of the candidates. And I say without fear of contradiction, that no one can truthfully say that my conduct as a man and as a lawyer since being in Clanton has been anything other than good. Therefore the gods of Chilton can find very little with which to "argue" me out of some consideration in the dispensation of patronage!

But I am advised that they "think" I did one grievous wrong—that I had some connection with the visit of Mr. Doggrell, the Special Agent of the Department of Justice, about a year ago, at which time the Special agent is alleged, some how or other, to have "scared" the Judge.

I did have a conversation with Mr. Doggrell when he was here, and I told him the truth as I knew it. The statement I made to him was very favorable to Judge Reynolds, and he should be obliged to me for making it; instead of charging it against me.

The Doggrell matter is not what is "eating" on the Judge and his County Treasurer. The idea with them is to carry their point. They have nothing else to bring forward, so they are, I am advised, busy with that "argument." They want the business to go to their son and brother. If he cannot get it, then they want it to go to someone who has never been suspected of being connected with a "wicked" scheme to "scare" them.

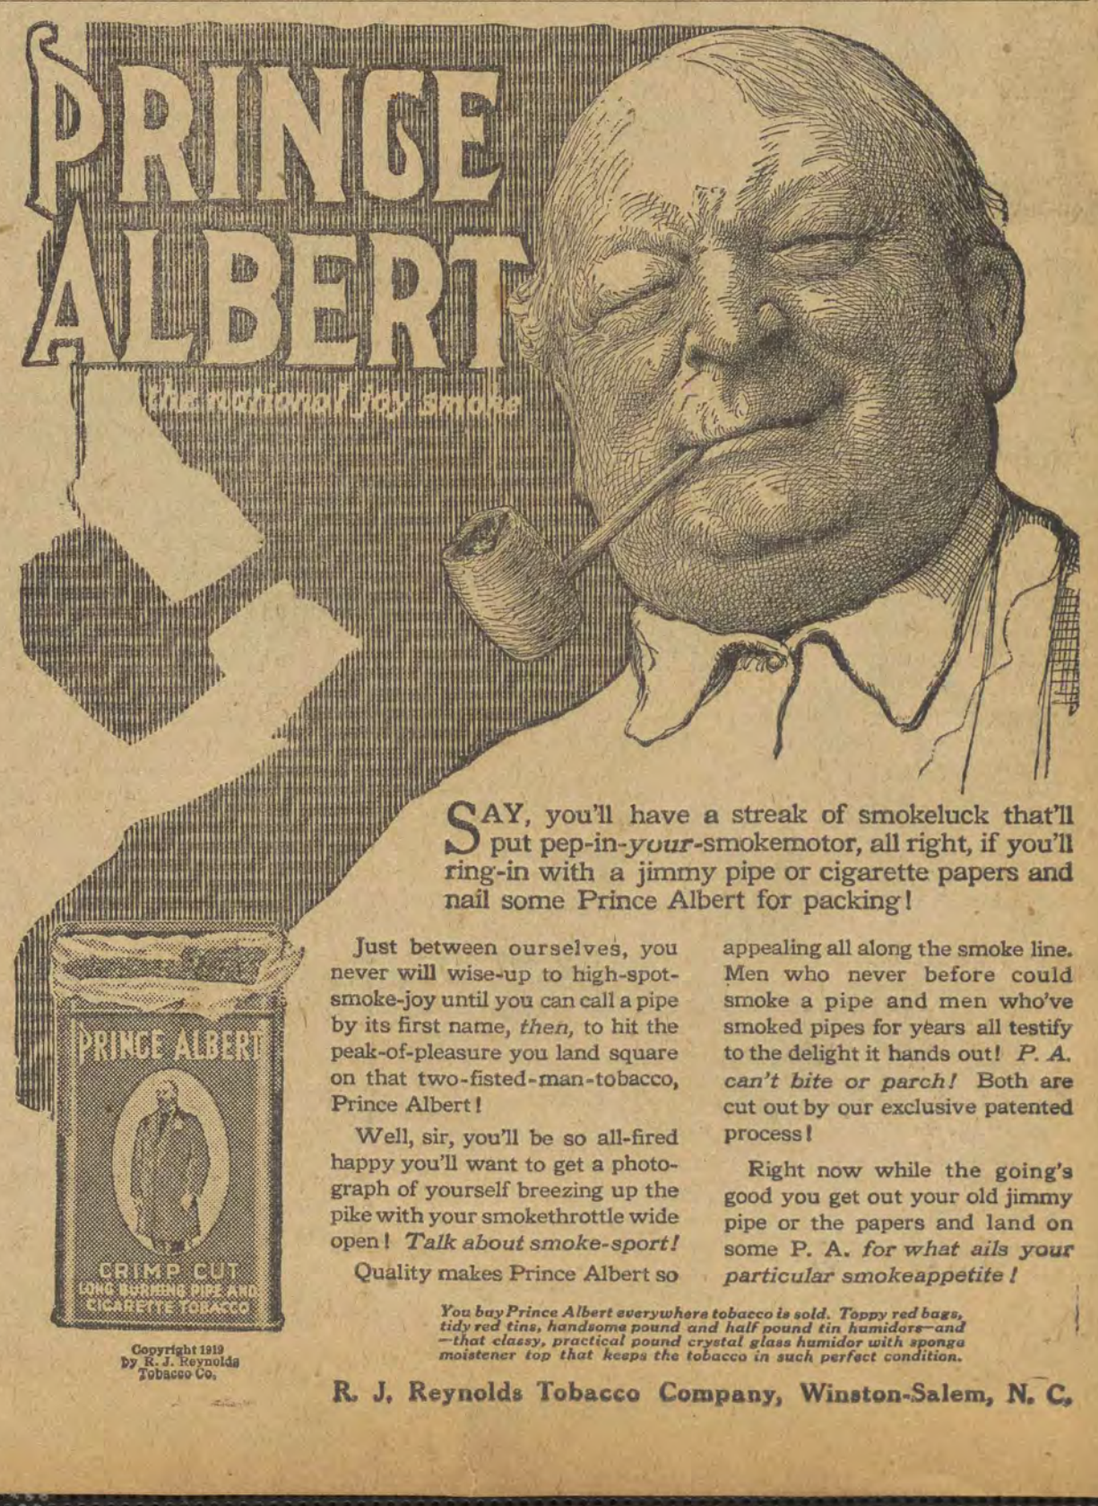
If they have anything else against me it is because I am a Republican. It was very "wicked" of another Republican lawyer and myself to locate at Clanton—"wicked" because by practicing law here we each get some of the Republican law practice that cannot be "drummed" for the Judge's son and County Treasurer.

The Judge, as everybody knows, is a past master in cunning and inuendo. He has the gift of makink white look black. No doubt before the insurance matter is settled he will have the word quietly passed around that I am either a Democrat or Bolsheviki and there will be fools to believe it. So cunning is the Judge, and so adroit is he in assuming a position, he uses the Republican party of the county as a "dummy," and every time a political enemy, or one of his own political party who has been ex-communicated or ostracised by the Judge, launches an attack against him personally or officially, he dodges behind the "dummy" and tells the bewildered onlookers, "Look at that fellow trying to destroy the Republican party!"

And there are those who believe he is sincere!

I do not know whether the people approve of the Judge's administration or not; but I verily believe the people are against his nepotism—against permitting the relatives of the Judge having all the patronage and holding all the places of preferment when there are deserving Republicans more entitled thereto.

Either people approve the one-family rule in Chilton County or they oppose it as I do. If they oppose it, let's take such measures as will eradicate it. Otherwise the Republican party in Chilton county is going to be destroyed upon the shoals of family selfishness and greed. But whatever measures are taken to eradicate the evil, remember the fight therefor must be within our own party.



If the people approve of my position, I promise to be in the fight and with them even unto the end.

Wishing The Union-Banner and the Republican party sucecss, I am,

Yours very truly,

F. B. COLLIER.

[Note.—The above letter is published at the request of Mr. F. B. Collier, and The Union-Banner wishes it distinctly understood by all concerned that the paper is not in any way responsible for the things contained therein. The matter will no doubt precipitate quite a stir within the Republican party here in the County, and as The Union-Banner is the recognized party organ, we will steer clear of local grievances, keeping always as our goal the ultimate success of the party as a whole in the County.—Editor.]

SAY, you'll have a streak of smokeluck that'll put pep-in-your-smokemotor, all right, if you'll ring-in with a jimmy pipe or cigarette papers and nail some Prince Albert for packing!

Just between ourselves, you never will wise-up to high-spot-smoke-joy until you can call a pipe by its first name, then, to hit the peak-of-pleasure you land square on that two-fisted-man-tobacco, Prince Albert!

Well, sir, you'll be so all-fired happy you'll want to get a photograph of yourself breezing up the pike with your smokethrottle wide open! Talk about smoke-sport!

Quality makes Prince Albert so appealing all along the smoke line. Men who never before could smoke a pipe and men who've smoked pipes for years all testify to the delight it hands out! P. A. can't bite or parch! Both are cut out by our exclusive patented process!

Right now while the going's good you get out your old jimmy pipe or the papers and land on some P. A. for what ails your particular smokeappetite!

You buy Prince Albert everywhere tobacco is sold. Toppy red bags, tidy red tins, handsome pound and half pound tin humidors—and —that classy, practical pound crystal glass humidor with sponge moistener top that keeps the tobacco in such perfect condition.

LET THE TEST COME

Ex-president Taft's League to Enforce Peace has declared war on the Republican Publicity Association, because that organization stands for unqualified Americanism. President Wilson, foster-father of the League of Nations, has declared war on the 39 Republican Senators who refuse to make the "supreme sacrifice" which he so earnestly recommends. Taken all in all, it looks as though the Internationalists have declared war on the nationalists. If so, let it be war to the hilt. If Americanism must lose, the sooner we know it, the better it will be for us.

ECONOMY On the Farm

Southern Farmers have made wonderful progress in the past few years. Advanced methods, improved machinery, better labor, have lightened his burdens. But the greatest lesson the smartest Southern Farmers have taken to heart is Economy. They are saving some of nature's bounty, and they are demanding better goods and more service for their money.

That's why Shield Brand Shoe sales are increasing. Shield Brand Shoes offer the farmers the best shoe—the longest wear—style—snap—comfort—at the lowest cost he has yet had to pay for first class foot wear.

Shield Brand Shoes are proving their merits to thousands and thousands of the South's most intelligent and practical farmers, and therefore they are being worn and enjoyed by thousands of farmers' wives, children and laborers.

Ask your shoe merchant for Shield Brand Shoes. Do not accept the kind that are "just as good." Make him get for your sake, and for economy's sake,

LET GEORGE DO IT

In reply to the president's letter requesting a postponment of the House recess Speaker Gillett took occasion to administer a dignified but pointed rebuke to Mr. Wilson. "As to railroad legislation," said he, "I supposed by an act of Congress you had now full authority." Which of course, is the exact fact. Heretofore Mr. Wilson has not hesitated to raise railway wages whenever they were demanded. Seeing the condition of general unrest that he has created by that course, and the great rise in the cost of living that it has brought about, the president knows that whatever is done will meet with disfavor either from the public or the brotherhood, and undertakes to unload the whole unsavory mess on to congress. "Mr. Wilson made his bed, and now he should lie on it," say the Republicans.

A Traveling Man's Experience.

You may learn something from the following by W. H. Ireland, a traveling salesman of Louisville, Ky. "In the summer of 1888 I had a severe attack of cholera morbus. I gave the hotel porter fifty cents and told him to buy me a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy and to take no substitute. I took a double dose of it according to the directions and went to sleep. At five o'clock the next morning I was called by my order and took a train for my next stopping place, a well man."

ONE REASON

Reports from the Department of Agriculture show that on July 15th there were in cold storage 108,352,000 pounds of butter and 7,670,000 cases of eggs, both figures far in excess of the conditions of a year ago. With similar situation in other food supplies it is not difficult to trace at least part of the cause of the high cost of living.

ON THE SCAFFOLD EAST LAKE MAN ALMOST FAINTS

Declares it's a Ticklish Job to Climb up High When you are subject to Vertigo and Dizzy Spells.

"One day I almost fainted while on a high scaffold, painting a house, and it sure did scare me," declared Mr. A. R. Deckard, the well-known painter and contractor of East Lake, Birmingham, Ala.

"I often suffered from vertigo, and I got to where I almost quit my work on account of these spells, I knew it come from biliousness and a sluggish liver, but I couldn't find any medicine to relieve me. When the dizzy spells hit me, I'd have to stop right where I was.

"I also had sick stomach and back ache; that nauseated, half-sick feeling around the stomach, was disagreeable and in the extreme. I really can't half tell how proud I am of the relief I've gotten by taking Dreco. It eased my stomach with the first few doses; did away with the nausea; my backache is all gone; and my liver acts fine. I mount the scaffold just like any one else now, and never fear vertigo for I haven't had an attack for weeks. Dreco did all this for me and I'm not ashamed to tell about it."

Dreco acts on the liver and overcomes biliousness, vertigo, dizziness, spots before the eyes and nervous headache, trengthen weak kidneys, overcomes constipation, produces a sound sleep, creates a healthy appetite, fills the system full of vim, vigor and vitality, and makes you glad you are living.

All good druggists now sell Dreco and it is recommended in Clanton by Upchurch Drug Co.

SOUTHERN OPINION IS AGAINST WILSON

Washington, August 18.—In order to determine southern opinion with regard to the nomination of President Wilson for a third term the Nashville Tennesseean addressed a series of questions to leading newspapers in the South. Only 20 per cent of the newspapers express the belief the president should be renominated, 60 per cent are flatly against it, 5 per cent doubtful, 10 per cent give no expression on the subject, and 5 per cent say it is dependent upon the Senate's action.

Sixty per cent of the newspapers which were interrogated however, believe Mr. Wilson could be renominated if he became a candidate.

As to the question whether the president could be re-elected if nominated only 30 per cent of the southern newspapers who were questioned by the Tennesseean believe his election possible.

As to who is the most eligible candidate for the Democrats in the event of the elimination of Mr. Wilson, there is much division.

NOTICE TO NON-RESIDENTS

State of Alabama, Chilton County. E. J. Vinson and P. T. Hinkle, Plaintiffs, vs. G. E. Fitzgerald, Defendant. Before J. W. E. Gulledge, a Justice of the Peace for said County.

Before me, J. W. E. Gulledge, Justice of the Peace, this the 19th day of August, 1919, came G. C. Walker, attorney for the plaintiffs in the above entitled causes, and it appearing that certain property of the said defendant has been levied upon, to-wit, one bay mare, by virtue of two attachments issued from my office returnable the 6th day of September, 1919; and that the said defendant is a non-resident of this State: It is, therefore, ordered that said notice of attachment and the return thereof be given to the said G. E. Fitzgerald, by publication once a week for three consecutive weeks before the 6th day of September, 1919 in the Union-Banner, a newspaper published in said county; and a copy thereof mailed to the said defendant, at his place of residence, when known.

Given under my hand, this the 19th day of August, 1919.

J. W. E. GULLEDGE,
8-21-3t Justice of the Peace.

A Great Remedy.

The merits of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy are well known and appreciated, but there is occasionally a man who had no acquaintance with them and should read the following, by F. H Dear, a hotel man of Dupuyer, Mont. "Four years ago I used Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy with such wonderful results that I have since recommended it to my friends."

CLANTON GRAMMAR SCHOOL TO OPEN MONDAY, SEPT. 1

Prof. J. L. Johnson asks us to announce that the Clanton Grammar School will open its 1919-'20 session on next Monday week, September 1. A grand time is expected for the patrons and children at the first day, as Miss Rosa Strickland of the Powell School, Birmingham, will deliver an address.

The faculty this year will be the same as last, with the exception of Mrs. F. B. Collier, who is a new addition to the corps.

Dr. Amzi Gowan of Dothan is in Clanton this week.

DUBIOUS PARENTAGE

Senator Owen: "Do not slay the covenant as President Wilson's child. He is not the real father, but only an honest physician who presided over the accouchement."

OLD RESIDENT GIVEN UP BY PHYSICIANS

"Given up by five doctors, my only hope an operation. I rebelled on cutting me open, as I am 75 years old. A neighbor advised me trying Mayr's Wonderful Remedy for stomach trouble. I got relief right away. I had not eaten for 10 days and was as yellow as a gold piece. I could have lived only a few days but for this medicine." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflamation which causes practically all stomach trouble, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince, or money refunded. For sale by Alred Drug Co.

"A WORD TO THE WISE."

It is not safe to buy land or to lend money and accept land as security without first investigating the title of the land. Often there are unpaid mortgages, judgments, taxes, or other liens affecting the title, which an abstract would set out. Therefore, when buying land or lending money thereon, it is important that an abstract of title be furnished. A few dollars spent for an abstract is cheaper than having a law suit later on.

There are two abstract companies at Clanton, either of which are in position to make accurate abstracts of title. The Clanton Abstract Company is owned by F. B. Collier and the Chilton County Abstract Company is owned by M. D. Foshee. Either Company will treat you right as to the price.

READY TO JUMP

Sometimes we think we can read between the lines of Democratic editorials a vague apprehension that the administration is about to back-track on the league of nations. Recalling the numerous instances in which the president has reversed himself on other important subjects, it is no wonder that the Democratic editors feel a little insecure in their present position.

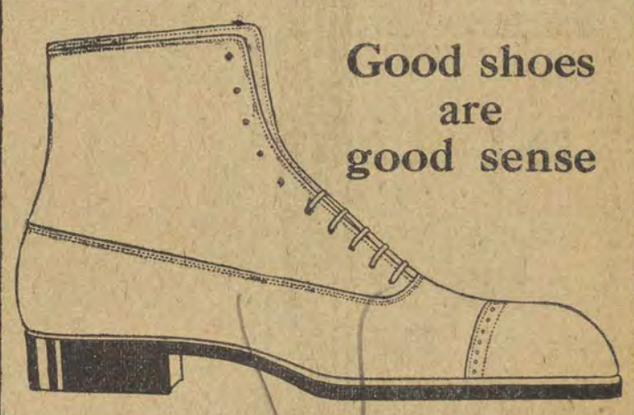
YOUR CATARRH MAY LEAD TO CONSUMPTION



Dangerous to Use Treatment for Only Temporary Relief.

There is a more serious stage of Catarrh than the annoyance caused by the stopped-up air passages, and other distasteful features.

The real danger comes from the tendency of the disease to continue its course downward until the lungs become affected, and then dreaded consumption is on your path. Your own experience has taught you that the disease cannot be cured by sprays, inhalers, atomizers, jellies and other local applications.

S. S. S. has proven a most satisfactory remedy for Catarrh because it goes direct to its source, and removes the germs of the disease from the blood. WAGONS BUGGIES HARNESS

THE LONG LIFE OF A GOOD WAGON

We bought our two Studebakers from your agent, Moses Logan, 37 years ago.

Our neighbors have worn out three or four wagons of other makes since we bought ours.

We have never broken anything on the wagons and the hubs are perfect yet.

One is a lumber wagon, the other a spring wagon. Both are good for years of work yet.

Arthur Martin,
Sandy Lake, Pa.

Studebaker 37 years old—hubs perfect yet

Not strange for the Studebaker—because the hubs are of fine, close grain—tough, strong and treated with a secret sealing solution that is weather resisting.

Notice the hubs on the next Studebaker you pass on the road—you'll find they are not split or checked like the ordinary wagon.

And in these hubs are set the famous Studebaker slope shoulder spokes.

The Studebaker Farm Wagon Wheel is best made.

We sell the Studebaker because we believe it is the biggest wagon value on the market.

HANDS, ARMS, LIMBS ASLEEP

And Was Run-Down, Weak and Nervous, Says Florida Lady. Five Bottles of Cardui Made Her Well.

Kathleen, Fla.—Mrs. Dallas Prine, of this place, says: "After the birth of my last child...I got very much run-down and weakened, so much that I could hardly do anything at all. I was so awfully nervous that I could scarcely endure the least noise. My condition was getting worse all the time...

I knew I must have some relief or I would soon be in the bed and in a serious condition for I felt so badly and was so nervous and weak I could hardly live. My husband asked Dr. ——about my taking Cardui. He said, 'It's a good medicine, and good for that trouble', so he got me 5 bottles...After about the second bottle I felt greatly improved...before taking it my limbs and hands and arms would go to sleep. After taking it, however, this poor circulation disappeared. My strength came back to me and I was soon on the road to health. After the use of about 5 bottles, I could do all my house-work and attend to my six children besides."

You can feel safe in giving Cardui a thorough trial for your troubles. It contains no harmful or habit-forming drugs, but is composed of mild, vegetable, medicinal ingredients with no bad after-effects. Thousands of women have voluntarily written, telling of the good Cardui has done them. It should help you, too. Try it. E 74

SENATE READY

There were two declarations in the "Round Robin" signed by the 39 patriotic and courageous Senators on March 4th, 1919. One was that the league of nations covenant, in the form proposed, should not be accepted by the Senate. The other was that peace with Germany should be consummated first and then the question of a league of nations taken up for consideration. He insisted that the league covenant must be accepted in the form proposed, and that it must be adopted as a part of the treaty of peace. The Senate has been ready for months to approve any conceivable treaty of peace. If there has been delay in attaining peace the responsibility rests upon President Wilson and upon him alone. The Senate has been ready for months to consider a league of nations covenant, but insisted that a matter of such vital concern to the future of this nation must be considered solely upon is own merits and not interwoven with the question of restoration of peace. The Senate has been absolutely right in both particulars, and the President as clearly wrong. History will so record the story of President Wilson's attempt to subjugate this nation to a super-state in which Great Britain would have six votes to our one.

TO PALE PEOPLE— YOUR BLOOD MAY BE STARVING FOR IRON!

If Your Blood Needs Iron, It Needs ZIRON, the New Compound of Iron, Which Acts as a Strengthening Tonic, Enriching the Blood and Building up the System.

When your blood lacks the proper proportion of red corpuscles to give your complexion the "rosy hue of health" and your complexion is pale, "pasty-looking", perhaps even greenish-tinged, you are probably of an anemic or chlorotic nature, and your blood needs Ziron, to bring back the rich, red flush of health.

Ziron, the new compound of iron, the hypophosphites of lime and soda, and other tonic, strengthening ingredients, has been found of great value in conditions of simple anemia, chlorosis, debility, nervousness, lack of ambition, loss of appetite, dyspepsia, etc. It is a valuable reconstructive tonic, in cases of weakness, and helps build up the constitution after severe illness.

Mrs. Mae Belle Perkins, of Adairsville, Ga., writes: "About two months ago I got to feeling badly. My back hurt me badly, and my legs and arms hurt too, and I didn't have any appetite at all to eat. About two weeks ago I commenced taking Ziron, according to directions on the bottle . . . By the time I had taken the medicine for a week, I could see it was doing me good. I had been weak and nervous, and it made me feel stronger, and I'm not a bit nervous now. My back is all right, and my arms and legs do not ache. And my appetite is good again.

Before I started using Ziron I wouldn't rest at night, I was so tired feeling and felt worn out. I have used nearly the whole bottle and now I sleep fine every night. It sure is a fine medicine, and I am glad I tried it."

Ziron is non-alcoholic, contains no habit-forming drugs, acts gently, has no bad after-effects, is good for men, women and children. It is a medicine of genuine merit, composed of ingredients prescribed by eminent physicians. Try it.

SPECIAL OFFER: Buy a bottle of ZIRON, today, at your druggist's and give it a fair trial, according to directions on the label. After using up one bottle, if you find it has not benefited you, take it back to the druggist and he will refund what you paid him for it. We repay him, so there is no reason why he should not repay you. This offer only applies to the first trial bottle. (Z. A. L.)

BAD WRECK OF FREIGHT TRAIN AT COOPERS STA.

Twenty-Two Cars Hurled Off Embankment into Creek. Two Negroes Killed.

One of the ugliest wrecks that has ever happened around here occurred at Coopers early Tuesday morning when a heavily loaded fast south bound freight train left the track and twenty-two cars plunged down an embankment into the swollen waters of Chestnut Creek. At the place where the wreck occurred the creek runs alongside the railroad for a considerable distance. Nearly all the cars that were wrecked plunged into the creek after they had all been more or less demolished.

So far as is known only two negro hoboes lost their lives in the accident. two soldiers who were riding the train were caught in the wreck. Each of them crawled out from under the cars after they plunged into the creek with both legs broken and other serious bodily injuries. It was they who told of the two negroes who are supposed to be buried under the debris in the creek.

The cause of the wreck seems to have been a defective car, some part of which had dropped down and was dragging on the cross ties. When this particular was was wrecked it tore up the track and all the cars behind it were derailed as they plunged in behind it.

Among the twenty-two cars that were smashed up there were piled up in the creek a car load of shoes, a car load of flour, and car load of shorts, a car load of hay.

Wrecking crews came to the scene from Birmingham and Montgomery, and by eleven o'clock Tuesday the track had been put back in condition for trains to pass.

EXTREME OF RECKLESSNESS

The million or more men who are included in the railroad organizations have always been considered as of a high standard of intelligence. As one Senator expresses it they have always been "regarded as the very elite of organized labor, men of property, men of standing, men of character, men of education." They have contributed as much as any other class of our citizens to the success of the war against Germany. In order to prevent the death of the American Nation through German oppression, they have given themselves, their sons, and their money to insure the success of the cause.

Having contributed so substantially to saving the country from foreign aggression, are those very individuals now to combine among themselves to bring about a domestic upheaval, the consequences of which if unchecked would mean disaster more complete than anything Germany could have inflicted upon us? It is unthinkable. Those men are intelligent enough to realize the extent of such a catastrophe. They know it would mean the actual starvation and death of thousands of innocent people, the shooting and wounding of untold numbers of others in the rioting that would certainly ensue, and the complete paralysis of every productive energy in the country with all its attendent evils. A moment's thought will convince them that the American nation would come to an end if the threats of their so-called leaders now in Washington were to be carried to their logical conclusion. Are we to believe that those men, forming the very highest type of American labor, are unionists first and Americans afterwards.

The chief spokesman for the railway brotherhoods defiantly declares that "the railroads will be tied up so tight they will never run again" if Congress fails to comply with his demands. How much of that bold statement has the sentiment of the railway employees behind it, and how much is impudent assumption? Naturally the men would like to have higher pay, and a directing voice and profit-sharing interest in the roads. Who would not? But they know that there is a way provided in our form of goverment for peaceably gaining these ends. All they have to do is to elect men to the national congress who will vote for legislation of that character. Meantime they are aware that the fact that their increases in wages already granted have more than kept with the mounting cost of living, and that their condition is actually better than it ever hes been before.

Those men are not going voluntarily to substitute riot, hunger and bloodshed in order to enforce their desires. They know that such a rash course would descend upon their heads just as quickly as upon the heads of the rest of the public. The country has been treated before to threats of individuals claiming complete control over thousands of their fellows, but when the test came they were found to stand practically alone. A recent case in point was the threatened telegraphers' strike, which failed completely to tie up the country's wire communications or even to hinder them seriously. There can be no doubt that a similar result will follow a determined stand by congress against the insolent demands of the brotherhood leaders. At any rate we may as well be killed for a sheep as a lamb. The American nation will come to an end when five per cent of the population can domnate the other ninety-five per cent, or, failing in its bluff, can succeed in wrecking our transportation system.

Beware of the Something for Nothing Fakir

You can put this down as an infallible rule—there is no such thing as something for nothing. If you keep that principle in mind you will be buying real food value with your dollars, which, of course, means a conservation and a saving.

When you see anything offered for sale "cheap," beware. Something is wrong somewhere. In the long run you get just about what you pay for and if you try to get something for nothing you will generally get less than you pay for.

Some thoughtless housewives believe they effect a saving by using self rising flour. In most cases they are buying an inferior food and paying far more than the article is actually worth. So the housewife who thinks she is getting her baking powder for nothing is mistaken. She is paying dearly for it and instead of getting a pure, plain flour and baking powder added, in the majority of cases is getting a poor grade of flour, a cheap grade of powder containing calcium sulphate or plaster of paris.

H. L. Eskew, Food Commissioner of the State of Tennessee, in a recent address at Atlantic City, said:

"I would not tolerate flour products like some of the 'self rising flour' sold in a large part of the South, the concomitants of which are alike unknown and not to be ascertained by the consumer and whose purity in the matter of phosphate is open to serious question as a deceptive agency."

Buy a pure, plain flour and a standard baking powder and you will know just what you are buying and you will be getting more for your money.

ARTICLE X WILSON'S OWN IDEA IN LEAGUE

Undert his Reguirement American Troops Were to Serve Anywhere.

VAST, DANGEROUS OBLIGATION

Original Draft by Wilson Also Quite Overlooked Monroe Doctrine.

Washington, August 25.—It now develops that Article X of the covenant for the league of nations was in substance in the original plan of the president for the league. This is the article under which, as it now stands, American troops, guns, and ships can be sent to the four corners of the earth to maintain territorial boundaries of league nations. The president is thus put in the light of being practically responsible for this article with its vast and undefined and dangerous obligations.

The fact has been disclosed through the transmission to the Senate of his original league proposal. The president sent this to the Senate committee on foreign relations after months of delay but at the same time shut down still more tightly the lid of secrecy on "open covenants" by refusing to give the letter of General Bliss protesting for himself and Henry White and Secretary Lansing against the Shantung decision, and by withholding the other data asked for by the committee about the inside of things at the conference.

One of the astounding revelations contained in the American draft of the league plan is that it contained no reference to the Monroe Doctrine. The administration is thereby put in the position of either being willing to scuttle it or of beng ignorant of the vast importance of specifically preserving it.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION AT WALNUT CREEK SUCCESS

Prof. J. L. Johnson reports to us that the Sunday School Convention at Walnut Creek last Sunday was a decided success. The personnell of the speakers and workers was the best that our county afford, and the co-operation of the people of the community in the exercises was the most commendable.

Miss Della Williams of Verbena made an interesting talk on "The Importance of Co-operating with the National Sunday School Work." Miss Williams is one of the best Sunday School workers in our County, and she gave good proof of her knowledge and observations of Sunday School work.

"The Necessity of Adults Attending Sunday School," was the subject of a well-rendered address by Col. J. B. Atkinson of Clanton. Mr. W. I. Mullins spoke on "The need of Better Equipment."

A splendid dinner was provided by the citizens of the community. Mr. Johnnie Baker and J. J. Johnson are especially mentioned as doing a great service in the cause by seeing that the visitors and workers were well cared for.

STATE FAIR AT BIRMINGHAM TO BE HELD OCTOBER 6 TO 11

The premium list has been issued for the Alabama State Fair, to be held at Birmingham, October 6 to 11. A copy of same may be obtained by writing to J. L. Dent, Secretary, Birmingham. The book is an interesting compilation of many details regarding the fair, the attractions, premiums, etc., that are offered visitors and exhibitors. We hope that Chilton County will have an exhibit there. We can get a prize this year as we have done before if we will just go after it.

TRUST IN LEAGUE BUT ALWAYS KEEP YOUR POWDER DRY

Washington, Aug. 25.—A strange commentary on the covenant for the league of nations as viewed in high quarters in Great Britain is contained in accounts by cable of the addresses of Admiral Viscount Jellicoe in Australia. The admiral is visiting there to advise the Australian government concerning British naval policy.

Admiral Jellicoe spoke out in advocacy of preparedness for war and said the British Empire depended now more than ever on naval supremacy. He referred to the deadly risks of the last five years and urged sufficient provisions by the mother country and oversea dominions "to insure the impossibility of defeat of the British navy."

In view of the position of authority of Admiral Jellicoe, the only inference to be drawn is that the British government does not intend to have its power to defent itself limited in the slightest degree by the action of the Paris Conference, or any other outside authority . How far the new super-government at Geneva will get in trying to define a policy for the British Navy is not difficult to conjecture after reading Admiral Jellicoe and reflecting on what happened to the "freedom of the seas" at Versailles.

However, the insistence of high British officials on complete preparedness and an invincible navy, it has to be admitted, is as consistent with the belief that the league of nations is going to safeguard world peace as is the demand of Secretary Daniels for a greater navy and the bill sent to Congress lately by Secretary Baker for a standing army of 510,000, capable of expansion to 1,250,000, plus universal training. After all, it looks as if Admiral Jellicoe took about the same view of the real efficiency of the league of nations as a preventative of war as does President Wilson.

OVER-EDUCATED

A correspondent of Harvey's Weekly describes the president as follows: "The president has constituted him a law unto himself. He is an autocrat—self-created out of a schoolmaster—an ordinary man, over-educated, whose mind has been carried by his untoward fortune and a diseased imagination beyond the bounds alike of political integrity and common sense. Seeing what has happened the last ten years, he loses the sense of reasonable perspective, and reaches after what may happen the next two years, recking not the warning glance of Washington and the reproving hand of Lincoln."

WHY NOT A NEW TREATY?

The Democrats continue to hold before Republicans of the Senate the bugaboo of a resumption of peace negotiations if they persist in their intention of amending the treaty. In the sense that amendment of the league covenant or its separation from the treaty would mean the reconvening of the entire peace conference, and the undoing of everything that has been accomplished, there is no truth whatever in the repeated statements of the league supporters. When they attached their signatures to the peace treaty the allies were completely eliminated from the transaction so far as the United States was concerned. Whatever action the Senate may take involves only this country and Germany.

It is a misnomer to say that the Senate ratifies a treaty. It merely advises and consents to the ratification by the President. In other words the document, ratification of which is exchanged between the President and a foreign power must first have received the stamp of approval from the Senate. In the present instance the proceeding will be about as follows: The Senate may accept the treaty as it stands, in which event the president will exchange ratifications with Germany, and the matter will be closed. But if the Senate amends the treaty by the insertion of reservations, then the President can either consign it to his waste basket, or, if he approves it in its amended form, submit it to Germany for her approval or rejection. If Germany approves ratifications are exchanged and the treaty becomes a law. There is no doubt that Germany, after signing the original treaty with the allies, would also endorse the treaty with the United States after it had been changed by the Senate. Such amendments as the Senate might make in the document would not be considered of any importance to Germany.

But suppose Germany should reject the altered treaty, then the entire thing could be thrown into the discard and the state of war speedily terminated by joint resolutions of Congress declaring that the objects for which we went to war had been attained. Or a new treaty between the United States and Germany might be drawn up, eliminating practically all of the treaty in its present form, with most of the provisions of which America has no possible concern. What we primarily went to war for, and what we want to guarantee in the treaty of peace, is the right of neutrals to travel upon the high seas without improper molestation from belligerents. All of the other so-called issues of the war, evolved from time to time in the brain of Mr. Wilson to fit into his schemes for the reformation of the world, have no basis in history or fact, and should find no place in a treaty between Germany and us.

The Senate is not going to be scared into acquiescense in the peace treaty by the threat that war will be interminably prolonged otherwise. They know that a peace status can be brought about without delay merely by the passage of a Congressional resolution, or by the negotiation of a simple peace treaty, containing not a hundredth part of the language in the treaty we have before us. Secure in that knowledge Republican Senators intend to look at the treaty and the league covenant that it contains, solely in the light of their effect on the future welfare of the United States.

LEAGUE CONTROVERSY MAY COST HIM HIS SEAT

Wilsonian Policies Working Havoc Among Democratic Political Aspirants.

Washington, August 24.—The Republicans may have a surprise for the public late in September in the election of a Republican to Congress from the Seventh District of Alabama, now vacant through the death of Representative Burnett, Democrat.

Reports current in political circles at the capital today are to the effect that the Democratic candidate for this seat has wired to Washington that he is greatly in danger of losing the election because of the League of Nations, and urgently requesting assistance. It was this same issue that recently sent a Republican to Congress from a Kentucky district that had been Democratic for over thirty years.

Republican congressional managers have long been acquainted with the situation in this Alabama district. The late Democratic member carried it by only a 500 majority at the last general election. Many Republicans are confident that Alabama is about to send a Republican to Congress.

SCATHING INDICTMENT

When Senator Miles Poindexter was a prosecuting attorney out in the State of Washington, he never introduced evidence more conclusive in the conviction of a defendant than he did as a Senator, when, on August 11, 1919, he placed before the Senate and country the complete evidence showing the encouragment President Wilson has given the Bolshevists in Russia, in the United States, and throughout the world. It is a large amount of explicit and authorative evidence, chiefly from the president's own utterances, too voluminous to be presented in these columns. Every American citizen who believes it his right to pass judgment upon the official actions of his public servants should get and read a copy of the Poindexter speech.

PLEASANT READING

It is a nice thing for the American people to think about, that men of the United States army had to raise in a hustle the $15,000 ransom demanded by the capturers of those two American army aviators. Contrast that with what happened when the bandit, Raisuli, captured Perdicardis, an American citizen of Greek extracation. T. R. sent his famous cablegram, "Perdicardis alive or Raisuli dead," and the former was returned safe and sound in a hurry. There was no "watchful waiting" in those days, and Morocco was considerably over the "3,000 miles away" which Secretary of war Newt Baker regards as our margin of safety. If the Administration had any shame remaining it would go down in its jeans and reimburse the army officers who paid the ransom of the aviators, even if it had to hock some of the presents received from European royalty.

WAKING UP

Department of Justice Attorneys are convicting themselves every time they convict a profiteer. The profiteering has been going on for months. If they can convict the guilty persons now, they could have convicted them months ago. There has been no recent change in either the law or the facts. Mr. Palmer would do well to check up the efficiency record of some of his subordinates. Also president Wilson would do well to check up the efficiency record of his department of Justice.

PROCRASTINATION

One trouble with government ownership is that all government operations proceed or lag, rather, under the general rule, "Always put off until tomorrow what you are not compelled to do to-day."

In every home where there is a baby there should also be a bottle of McGEE'S BABY ELEXIR. It may be needed at any time to correct sour stomach, wind colic, diarrhoea or summer complaint. It is a wholesome remedy, contains no opium morphene or injurious drug of any kind. Sold by Upchurch Drug Co.

BILL MIMS CAUGHT WITH WHISKEY AND ARRESTED SATURDAY

Deputies Culp and Curlee last Saturday added one more of the old heads in the whiskey game to their list of arrests. As Bill Mims came across Coosa River late in the evening during a very heavy shower of rain and landed his boat at the same spot where Tom Hinton and George Traywick were caught with the goods, the deputies stepped out from behind the bushes and took charge of Bill and his gallon of mountain corn juice. The jug was concealed in the middle of a sack of "roasting ears" which he had brought along as camouflage for the whiskey.

After Bill had showed the deputies what a big fine pocket knife he had offering to show them how it would cut; and the deputies had in turn displayed some of their artillery, they all loaded up (in a Ford) and come on to town. Uncle Bill was placed in the county jail. He was released Saturday night on bond, to await the verdict of the courts in regard to his case. The three men who have been caught at this spot with whiskey, Tom Hinton, George Traywick and Bill Mims, are said to be a band of old heads that have been engaged for a long time in bringing whiskey to this county from across the river and disposing of it. But it is all up for them a while. Traywick and Hinton are at present serving a sentence of hard labor for their part, and it is very probable that Uncle Bill will be with them soon.

CLANTON GRAMMAR SCHOOL TO OPEN MONDAY, SEPT. 1

Prof. J. L. Johnson asks us to announce that the Clanton Grammar School will open its 1919-'20 session on next Monday, September 1, 1919. A grand time is expected for the patrons and children at the first day, as Miss Rosa Strickland of the Powell School, Birmingham, will deliver an address.

The faculty this year will be the same as last, with the exception of Mrs. F. B. Collier, who is a new addition to the corps.

No tuition will be charged for the pupils in District No. 65. Those who do not live in this district will be required to pay in incidental fee of five dollars per pupil for the entire scholastic year.

All children who are now seven years old or who will become seven years of age before December 31st, 1919, may enter at the opening of school. Those who will become seven years of age between January 1, 1920 and May 17, 1920, may enter school January 1, 1920.

These regulations are going to be strictly adhered to.

All patrons are urged to come to the Grammar School building Monday morning and bring their children.

UPROAR IN SENATE GREETS MR. LODGE

His Opposition to Certain Features of Treaty is Wildly Cheered.

HEROES LEAD DEMONSTRATION

Unprecedented Scene Evidence of National Sentiment for Clear Reservations

Washington, Aug. 25.—The greatest political significance is attached to the unprecedented demonstration of approval which followed the recent speech of Senator Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts, on the treaty of peace and the league of nations, that was led in the galeries of the Senate by groups of members—members of the famed fourth brigade—who had just that morning passed in parade before President Wilson at the White House. Republican leaders have been unanimous in expressing the opinion that such a demonstration, coming so spontaniously, can only mean that Senator Lodge's policy of opposition to certain features of the league of nations and other phases of the peace treaty, which have been under attack by the Republicans ever since the president presented the treaty to the Senate, has the unqualified approval of those soldiers who have seen the real fighting overseas, and a large part of the public.

"I believe that the apparent change of sentiment throughout the country in favor of material amendments to the treaty and the league of nations is, without doubt, the result of the opinions being expressed by the returning soldiers, similar to those who led the recent Senate demonstration," said Representative Rodenberg, of Illinois, today: "None of those boys had less than two overseas stripes, and their cheering and hissing was the best evidence of the way the older boys feel about the matter. "

"Nothing like it was ever known in the Senate." This is the prevailing comment everywhere on the patriotic demonstration.

The crowds that filled the galleries broke loose in wild applause, cheering and waving hats and handkerchiefs. Marines who fought at Chateau Thierry, waved their helmets and beat the seats with them. Yells, whistles and whoopes resounded. For five minutes the demonstration lasted. It astounded and chagrined administration senators. Senator Williams growing bitterly personal, replied to Senator Lodge and was hissed. The Vice President rebuked the occupants of the galleries for their outbreak of enthusiasm. The demonstration was a spontaneous outburst of American sentiment from men and women in all walks of life and was made the more noteworthy by the participation of the marines, heroes of the Second Division just back from France where they covered themselves with glory.

Like the returned soldiers, the marines say of European entanglements: "We ought to get out of Europe and Stay out."

CHILTON COUNTY POLITICS

We have always regretted to see a difficulty of any kind brewing between our friends. Likewise, we regret to see any developments that tend toward a controversy in politics in our county. Both these regrettable tendencies are evidenced in the Reynolds-Collier controversy now pending, and we are sorry that The Union-Banner happens to be the very means of airing the matter to the public. We had much rather all parties could have gone on in peace and harmony; but since the matter has acquired the aspect which it has, we are in duty bound to all concerned to allow them free expression of their own arguments through the paper. And we want to assert again that our interest in the matter is none other than as mere publishers of what each one may write. We have not, nor shall henceforth foster any preference toward either side of the controversy. We wish to caution those who may be interested in either side of the controversy to be careful and not overstep the line of propriety, so that the best interests of the Republican party in the future in Chilton County may not be placed in jeopardy. The welfare of the party in the future demands a certain degree of wisdom in the exercise of our county officials and our citizens in general. We urge gentlemen, officials and citizens, to guard yourselves diligently in deed and word that it may be charged against no one that he brought reproach to the cause of the people through the perpetration of misguided and incendiary motives.

TO ORGANIZE FOOD BOARD FOR CHILTON COUNTY.

Clanton, Ala., Aug. 25, 1919.

Editor Union-Banner:—I have been requested to organize a food board at once for Chilton county. This Board will have the control of prices in this county, and it is important that all interests be represented on this board.

I therefore call a mass meeting at the Hayes Hotel for Friday night at 8 P. M. and I want everybody to be there that possibly can. It is very important that merchants, farmers, laborers, lawyers, in fact all classes be represented, and I want all parts of the county represented. It is especially urged that all the war organizations be represented.

A Traveling Man's Experience.

You may learn something from the following by W. H. Ireland, a traveling salesman of Louisville, Ky. "In the summer of 1888 I had a severe attack of cholera morbus. I gave the hotel porter fifty cents and told him to buy me a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy and to take no substitute. I took a double dose of it according to the directions and went to sleep. At five o'clock the next morning I was called by my order and took a train for my next stopping place, a well man."

GRADY REYNOLDS WRITES IN ANSWER TO COLLIER

Clanton, Ala., Aug. 26, 1919.

Editor Union-Banner:

My attention was called to a letter published in your paper of August 21st, 1919, signed by one F. B. Collier. At the time this letter was published I was away on my vacation, and I did not return until Sunday.

Last December when bids were opened for the position for County Treasurer, both Collier and myself were applicants, and my bid being the lowest I was selected by the Commissioners Court to serve for one year, at a salary of $43.75 per month. Mr. Bice, my predecessor in office, received a salary of $878.00 net, per year. This represents a saving of about $30.00 per month over 1918, in the Treasurer's salary alone. In addition to this I have maintained my office without expense to the county except for the necessary books and stationery. In addition to my duties as County Treasurer I have prepared contracts for the Commissioners Court, defended suits against the county and advised them in various matters at every term of Court, for which they have paid me the total sum of $17.50. During this term six suits have been pending against the county, and I have made as many as two trips to Montgomery relative to one of the suits for which I have never receiyed one cent. If any reprobable attorney will make an affidafit that my charges against the County for legal services or salary as treasurer have been excessive or that the county has not received value for all they have paid me, I will refund any excess with preasure. On the other hand, a reasonable charge for the same services to any client, for legal services alone would have exceeded the total of my salary as treasurer.

My duties as treasurer do not require me to insure the county property, and no one can truthfully say that I have attempted to exercise any such authority. When my brother, L. C. Reynolds, moved from Clanton to Birmingham about July, 1918, he left all of his business, including the agency for The Great American Fire Insurance Company, in my hands. My property and my father's property were insured in this company, and after my brother left the company's representative persuaded me to accept the agency during my brother's absence. My brother returned from Birminyham about two months ago and the agency was transferred back to him. The fact is, for the last five years my father, my brother or myself, have represented some insurance company so that we could insure our own property.

If Mr. Collier can show that the County lost one penny by reason of my brother writing the Insurance on the courthouse, which was burned, I will gladly refund the sum. Any man of ordinary intelligence knows that the rates of all standard Fire Insurance Companies are the same, as they are fixed by the Alabama Inspection and Rating Bureau.

Mr. Marion Foshee spoke to me some time ago about helping Collier get the insurance on the new courthouse, and said Collier would divide the premium with me. I told Mr. Foshee that I thought they would give the insurance to the same company that paid up the insurance when the courthouse was burned last September. About ten days ago Mr. Collier spoke to me in front of the post office about writing the insurance on the new courthouse and I told him that I did not represent any Insurance company, and that soon after my brother returned from Birmingham I transferred the agency back to him. I am sure each member of the Commissioners Court will make an affidavit that I have never mentioned to them one word about insuring the courthouse. I am not in the Insurance business, and have made no application to insure the courthouse as Collier has, and I am advised by my brother that he has made none. I did not know Collier had made an application until I read his letter. I am practicing law for a living and am not looking for "pie" in order to get along.

I understand Collier admits that he got up the records upon which State Examiner Craig based his report to try to indict the Commissioners at the Sept. term of Court, in 1918. Did Mr. Collier have the interest of the Republican Party at heart when he searched out these records? I understand his excuse was that he did it as an attorney for pay. Does this lessen the offense? In my estimation the wrong is greater.

Collier states that he probably did a grievous wrong when he located in Clanton to practice law, because by practicing here he gets some of the Republican law practice. I do not try to control the Republican law practice in Chilton County, and I get enough legitimate practice to make a living out of and am not hunting for "pie" as Collier seems to be. If Collier has divided our law practice we had not noticed it. An inspection of the dockets of Chilton County will bear me out in this statement.

Mr. Editor, I had no idea to reply to this letter would consume so much of your valuable space, for after reading the letter carefully I could hear nothing but the "wailing of a hungry wolf," "Pie! Pie!" Mr. Editor, the answer is in the letter itself.

Wishing you and the Union-Banner much success, I am, Yours very truly

GRADY REYNOLDS.

THORSBY ITEMS

The revival services at the Baptist Church closed last Thursday night. Rev. Hand preached splendid sermons both morning and evening during the series of meetings. Several new members were added to the church. The attendance and interest was very good in spite of the rainy weather. The young people of the church took charge of the music under the direction of Mr. Herbert Lowery.

A masonic meeting was held in Thorsby Wednesday and Thursday of last week. The business session was held each day at the Maonic Hall, but both days a bountiful dinner was served by the ladies of the Eastern Star on the campus of Thorsby Institute. Quite a number of Masons from neighboring towns were here for the meeting.

Mrs. Carl Peterson and little daughter, Dorothy, of La Porte, Ind., are in Thorsby for a month's visit with relatives and friends. Mrs. Peterson was formerly Augusta Turnquist.

The Ladies Guild of the Congressional Church will meet Thursday of this week with Mrs. Robert Johnson. Everyone is invited—rain or shine.

Mr. and Mrs. Ned Bentley of Birmingham are the guests of Mrs. Bentley's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Robinson, this week.

Miss Hazel Woolley, who is taking a business course at Massey Business College in Birmingham, spent lat Saturday and Sunday in Thorby.

Mrs. C. T. Rogers and Miss Dorothy Rogers are in Birmingham this week visiting Mr. and Mrs. Randall Rogers, and Mr. and Mrs. Perry Rogers.

Mrs. Vera Hoskins and baby, who have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Peterson, returned to their home in Birmingham Saturday, accompanied by Miss Ruth Peterson.

Mrs. M. Larsen has sold her property here and expects to leave soon for Chicago. Her son, Olaf, and daughter, Miss Dagmar, will remain in Thorsby to continue their studies at the Institute.

Prof. J. L. Johnson was in Thorsby two days last week attending the Masonic meeting.

Don't Forget the County Sunday School Convention to be held with the Mulberry Church on Friday of this week. A good program for morning, afternoon, and evening sessions. Basket dinner and supper on ground. Everyone intereted in Sunday School work should attend this meeting.

Sgt. John B. Husby, 25 M.M. Co., 103 Bn., M.P.C., who has been for several months on active police duty in Tours, France, returned to Thorsby last Thursday. He is the guest of his sister, Mrs. Charles Howard.

THORSBY INSTITUTE

Thorsby Institute will open Wednesday, September 10th.

During the summer a new water tank has been erected, and repairs have been made on both the boys' and girls' dormitories, so that good accommodations for fifty boarding students are now available.

Mrs. Mattie Wyatt of Grandview, Tennessee, who has been secured as Matron for the Boarding Department arrived August 15th, and will oversee the work of getting the dormitories ready for occupancy.

Miss Ida F. Lockwood, of Mt. City Business College, Chattanooga, Tenn. will be head of the business department of the school for another year. She will teach beginning and advanced shorthand and typewriting. The strength of this department speaks for itself in the positions opened to those who took this course last year. Two years of high school credit is granted for this work in the regular high school course. Rates are normal and any interested should apply at once.

Other courses offered are College Preparatory, Normal, Music, Home Economics, the Seventh and Eighth grades.

All girls and boys in the boarding department are under careful supervision, and it is the aim of the school always to maintain a home-like atmosphere.

Young people not living near a high school who wish to avail themselves of a good home while attending high school will be interested in the Institute boarding department. Rates are low. Catalogue and full information will be forwarded upon request.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Blackmon have gone to Pensacola, Fla., for a few days pleasure trip. They will return the latter part of this week.

ALABAMA STATE SACRED HARP CONVENTION

The writer had the pleasure of attending the great gathering of the Sacred Harp singers of Alabama, at Birmingham, Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Sessions of first two days were held in the Court house, third day in the Fraternal Hall.

Officers elected, as follows: President, A. A. Jackson of Birmingham; Vice-President, Mr. Phillips of Birmingham; Secretary-Treasurer, Miss Bettie Jackson, Birmingham; Chaplain, Rev. Mr. Whitsworth, Bessemer. The whole convention was quite harmonious, — not a discordant word Deep spirituality abounded.

We would like to note the good features of each director, but time and space forbids, but we can not pass by the fine directing of Attorney Blanton Riggins, on the first day. He knows how to stir a music class. On the second day when Miss Bettie Jackson was called to the floor we never saw a convention so moved, as she sang such beautiful poetry, "When Suns shall Rise and Set no More," portraying the grandeur of the approaching kingdom; closing with, "Don't Grieve your Mother,"—noted composition of F. M. Graham, author of "Songs for Jesus." Her reputation as a director is known in more than one southern state, All Chilton County should feel proud of her as she was formerly a Chilton County girl.

The Chaplain is a young Baptist Minister, the most enthusiastic worker for the Harp music we ever saw. He publicly declared he could accomplish more in one Sunday singing than a week of protracted meeting, because Sacred music would draw and hold the people. Many ministers could learn an important lesson from this young man.

Prof. McClusky of Gadsden swept the convention off its feet with his skillful directing. Other fine workers were the Shirley Brothers of Shelby, Prof. Hendon, and others too numerous to mention.

Among the noted visitors was Prof. White of Atlanta. Visitore were there from Texas, Georgia and Louisiana.

The building of a fine Sacred Harp music hall in Birmingham is well under way. It is expected to be ready by the next convention.

Chilton County was quite liberally represented, some of her best music talent being there. The President of the Convention, Mr. A. A. Jackson, is a most indefatagable worker. The success of the convention was largely due to his efforts. It was indeed a memorable occasion.

POLITICAL PARAGRAFS

"We are told that we shall 'break the heart of the world' if we do not take the league as it stands," says Senator Lodge. "I fear the hearts of the vast majority of mankind would beat on strongly and steadily and without any quickening if the league were to perish altogether. If it should be effectively and beneficially changed, the people who would lie awake in sorrow for a single night could be easily gathered in one not very large room, but those who would draw a long breath of relief would reach to millions."

Apropos of the President, Senator Lodge says: "We hear much of visions and I trust we shall continue to have visions and dream of a fairer future for the race. But visions are one thing and visionaries are another, and the mechanical appliances of the rhetorical designed to give a picture of a present which does not exist and of a future which no man can predict are as unreal and shortlived as the steam or canvas clouds, the angels suspended on wires and the artificial lights of the stage. They pass with the moment of effect and are shabby and tawdry in the daylight. Let us at least be real. Washington's entire honesty of mind and his fearless look into the fact of all the facts are qualities which can never go out of fashion and which we should do well to imitate."

The reason for the president's solicitude for Article X of the League of Nations covenant, which in perpetuity upholds the integrity of the British and other empires, now develops. We wrote it himself and incorporated it in the American plan, the remainder of which was rejected for the British plan. The British, controlling a third of the globe, accepted with relish a stand-pat world.

Senator Borah: "I have in my desk perhaps the most brilliant defense that has been made in America of late years of the policy of isolation, so called, and of the maintenance of Washington's policy and of the Monroe Doctrine, a defense made four years ago by the President of the United States. He stated, with his usual capacity for expression, that our great object was to maintain a situation wherein America could live her own life. He contended with great earnestness that we should keep out of entangling alliances with European powers. With force and clearness, with fullness and breadth, he covered and defended the non-entangling policy as the only true and safe policy of this Republic."

"I have determined upon a course from which I have not deviated and, God being my help, I am not going to deviate from it for any possible reason that can be suggested in the Senate or any influence that can be exerted elsewhere. I do not say that I rely upon my own judgment in the matter but when I gather together in my mind's vision that body of men coming down from Woshington and Jefferson and Madison and Monroe and Jackson and Lincoln and Grant and McKinley and Roosevelt and Wilson, until four years ago, I reach the conclusion that I must remain in that company. Where in all the annals of government do you find such another group of men so distinguished for wisdom and courage and patriotism? Their company is safe enough for me."—Senator Borah.

Mr. Robinson, of Kentucky: "At the time the president was asking for more power under war regulations the other day did he not meet with applause on the Democratic side?"

Mr. Fess, of Ohio: "It certainly did, as everything he says meets with outward applause over there, no matter what may be the common ranks in the cloakroom later. There are bitter enemies and there are the toadiest of toadies, who no matter what is said in public or done at home or abroad declare that it is all right, because we live in a time when certain people have abdicated individual opinions and bank upon the easy going practices of following a leader who cannot make or think of a mistake."

Where Can I Find Relief From Itching, Terrifying Eczema?

Question on Lips Afflicted.

There is a harrassing discomfort caused by Eczema that almost becomes a torture. The itching is almost unbearable, and the skin seems on fire with the burning irritation. A cure from local applications of salves and ointments is impossible, because such treatment can only allay the pain temporarily. The disease can only be reached by going deep down to its source, which is in the blood, the disease being caused by an infection which breaks out through the skin. That is why the most satisfactory treatment for all so-called skin diseases is S. S. S., for this remedy so thoroughly cleanses the blood that no impurities can remain. Judge Reynolds' Reply to Letter of Mr. F. B. Collier Published last Week.

Editor Union-Banner:

I ask permission to reply to a letter that appeared in your paper last week, and which was signed by F. B. Collier. I do not think that the letter needs any answer as it explains itself and is only inspired because he has tried to get something and failed.

Col. Collier does not take the position to help the people in this county, but to put his sore toe forward. Now, it must be humiliating for a young man to prepare himself for some special work in life and make a failure. I am indeed sorry of Col. Collier's failure, but I do not know when I accepted the responsibility of guaranteeing him that he would make a success at his profession, and I do not consider it fair for him to charge his failures to me, as I do not think his first failure was made here. If I remember correctly, he trained for an officer during the recent war and failed to get a commission, and I am sure the "Reynolds family" had nothing to do with his failure in this effort, and perhaps this is not the only failure he has made outside of Chilton County.

He says that he made application to write the insurance on the new courthouse; his application is on file but so far is I know the rate has never been fixed and his application has been laid over. He says in speaking of the "Reynolds family" that my son, Claude Reynolds, wrote the insurance the last time; this is correct, and it makes no difference who writes the next insurance, the price will be the same. Mr. Collier says that he would write the insurance as cheap as anyone. He must be a very poor lawyer if he does not know that it makes no difference who writes the insurance the premium will be exactly the same. As evidence that the other courthouse was insured in a good company, and according to law, when the courthouse was burned, the company paid the policy, $14,000.00, without it costing the county one cent. We did not even have to get Col. Collier, or any other person, to write them about it.

He complains that W. A. Reynolds is Representative and Grady Reynolds County Treasurer: Let's see about W. A. Reynolds being in the Legislature. How came him there, etc? When he was nominated, he was not even at the mass meeting; he did not know that there was a mass meeting at that time to nominate a Representative. They sent out and asked him to come before the meeting. He came and accepted the nomination. I was not in the meeting when he was nominated, but was there when the first ballot was taken between all the candidates, and voted for Mr. J. M. Mims of Collins Chapel; just at this time my clerk came for me to attend to some business in the office, so I did not get back until after the nomination had been made. Mr. Collier was in the meeting and nominated Mr. W. M. Wyatt, but I do not know how he voted on the last ballot between Mr. George Edwards and W. A. Reynolds; he can tell you this himself. But you see, he was more responsible for W. A. Reynolds being a member of the Legislature than I, for he was there and I was not.

I will give $100.00 to any reliable man that will prove that I ever asked a single man to vote for W. A. Reynolds. I advised him not to accept the nomination, but after I saw the condition the matter was in I did not insist further on him declining the nomination.

The Commissioners Court has had a hard time for the last two years trying to keep the county affairs together and they have had to reduce many expenses. Let's see what they have saved on the salary of the County Treasurer: They were paying $1,000.00 per year and by advertising, they are now saving the county $350.00. Mr. Collier bid $540.00 per year, the county to pay the premium on the required bond, and Grady Reynolds bid $525.00, the county to pay the premium on the required bond. Mr. Collier stated in his application, "It would seem that it would be an advantage to the county to have a treasurer who is a lawyer; it would likewise be an advantage to me to have the office, as it will not conflict with my practice of the law, when I return to Clanton." The Commissioners thought it would be an advantage to have a Treasurer who is a lawyer, and as Grady Reynolds' bid was the lower, and as he was qualified, they gave the appointment to him.

It seems from Mr. Collier's letter that the whole trouble with him is that he has not received any pie. He seems to want to join the Reynolds family. I'll admit the Reynolds family has been very liberal in its membership; but we must draw the line somewhere, as we cannot afford to take in just anything that comes along. We have enough failures already.

He says that the "Gods" have but very little with which to argue him out of the consideration of the patronage of the Republican party,—this seems to be all of his trouble. Now, I do not know how the Republicans of Chilton County could prove him a Republican, how many times he has voted the Republican ticket. I am sure I do not know, but I do know that he has had a good chance to let the people know where he stood, as there have been some warm political struggles in the county recently, and if he was ever out on the firing line I failed to see him. I know that he had invitations to go out and refused them; one time I persuaded him to say a few words in the courthouse, but it was very much against his will.

He said I think he did a grievous wrong when he was with Mr. Doggerel in his investigation; I have never charged him with having anything to do with this matter but since he mentioned it I do remember that he came to me twice and tried to get me to use my influence in trying to get the Draft Board to put Mr. B. Guy Smith in the first class, which I refused to do, and afterwards this man Doggerel tried to get up some charge against me for interfering with the Draft Board. I did not give Mr. Collier the credit for this as I thought another person was at the head of it, but he asked me to do the very thing and, as I stated above, I refused, that I was reported to the Government for doing. I do know the plot was laid and that he came to me twice and tried to get me to violate the law, but whether he was connected with the plot I do no know.

He says I was a little scared at the investigation made by Mr. Doggerel. I want to say to Mr. Collier that I was not scared then, neither am I scared now; but I do admit that I had a crowd after me that would have done anything on earth that was mean and low down,—yes, that crowd would steal a nickel off the eyes of a dead negro if left alone and no one was looking—a crowd that had my house searched like they did, go there when I was not at home, no one there except my wife and daughter, and go to try to embarass them, make use of the U. S. Government Officials when the country was at war, and while I was giving almost my entire time as a County Food Administrator. I just wish I could have the language to express my exact views of every one that was connected with this act, but as I cannot express them I will say that they are dirty, low down, cowards, thieves and robbers, and if they will come to my face and tell me that they had it done, they will not think I am scared, neither will Col. Collier think I am scared.

I quote part of a letter from Thos. D. Sanford, U. S. Attorney, which shows that the U. S. Government has disclaimed any knowledge or any authority of having my home searched, and which shows that it was done by a few people to embarass me:

"I am requested by the Department of Justice to state to you that the Department regrets this incident, which was the result of an error in judgment on the part of Special Agent Doggerel, who acted entirely on his initiative in the matter."

Col. Collier admitted to me, after I had been informed of the facts, that he was the person who got up the reports for Mr. Craig to make his "wonderful examination," which he made and which the readers are familiar with. I am sure the Commissioners have not forgotten how unfair this report was, which went back for many years and picked out the Republican Commissioners' acts and left out every Democratic transaction. After I was informed that Mr. Collier got up the records I asked him about it and he said he did, but was hired to do so as a lawyer, and that the parties that had it done were as dirty as H——. Two of the present Commissioners were criticized in that report and now he comes to them for work.

Mr. Collier says that I want the business to go to my son; yes, for if I did not, I would not be true father. The scripture says: "He that provideth not for his household is worse than an infidel." But I defy any man, even with Col. Collier's records, to show where I ever cost the county one penny by helping my sons. He refers to hiring my son as a lawyer. We did hire him in two cases. The county was sued for the payment of some felt, $36.00, which the county never got any benefit of at all. The bill showed that it was bought by the Equalization Board, and in the case it developed that the felt was on some tables which were in Mr. Collier's office; however, it was said that the tables had belonged to the county but had been sold to Mr. Collier; but the County gained the suit and saved paying this unjust bill. The Commisisoners Court paid Grady Reynolds $10.00 to defend this suit, and if Mr. Collier will say as a lawyer that it was too much and that he would have taken the case cheaper, and could have done better for the county I will pay him $10.00 myself.

We were sued by Mr. Joe Foshee for a bill for nightwatching at the jail eleven nights at $2.00 per night, $22.00, and we hired Grady Reynolds to defend the county in this case and paid him $7.50, and I will make the same statement that I made in the other case, if Mr. Collier says it is too much I will pay it myself, as he is the attorney on the other side. What does this case mean to Chilton County? It means that if we lose that the Sheriff can and will hire a night watchman at the jail, which will cost the county at least $60.00 per month, or $720.00 per year; and it is no use in the world for a guard at our jail, as we have one of the best jails in the state. It could no tbe fired from the outside nor inside. The Sheriff lives within a few feet of it, and think of our county paying $720.00 per year for a night watchman, when it cannot pay the bills that it has to meet; and too, to the best of my knowledge, this is the first watchman that has ever been hired for our jail.

He refers to Claud Reynolds having in his application to drive a truck; he also refers to another Republican that wants pie. I suggest to Mr. Collier and his other friend that they make application to drive these trucks and if he fails in landing this job and if they cannot make a living practicing law I suggest that they make application to the alms house if they feel like the county is entitled to keep them up.

I feel like Mr. Collier is wrong in criticizing the Commissioners Court for not giving him something, for they are not responsible for him not being able to make a living at his profession. Col. Collier says some fools will think this wonderful letter of his is inspired by Democrats. I wonder why he mentioned this. "The guilty fleeth when no man pursueth." But Republicans, let me tell you one thing: There is a movement now on foot to repeat what happened in 1910. Some are now trying to get up a contested delegation to the next Convention. Their plans have already been laid to stir up all the prejudice they can to get the Republicans mad, and the voters confused so that our ticket will be defeated at the next election.

If the people will just look and listen, they can see the connection and the same crowd that was at the botton in 1910 is on their job now. Some of the same crowd said over two weeks ago, before this famous letter came out, that Collier had the goods and something was going to drop. Some folks, whom many believe to have the good of the party at heart, have been doing all they could to stir up strife, and if you will watch you need not take any person's word for you can see the connection — the needle will point true. You may shake it around, but when it settles it will point to the enemies.

There are many reports being circulated that are not true. It is being told that the Commissioners Court has paid Mr. Dobson, the contractor, over $80,000.00 on the courthouse. The court has paid Mr. Dobson, exactly $41,481.19; and the courthouse is nearly finished. We are building a good house we think, and we are doing the very best we can, but material is high and labor scarce. As I have just stated, the Commissioners Court is doing the very best it can.

I have no axe to grind. I have been so busy of late that I have not had time to think of politics as it has taken almost my entire time to do my official duties; but I would like to see our people stay together, as I have always stood for the rule of the people while I was in office and out of office. I have never refused to go out to work for you and I want to show you that I appreciate every favor you have shown me, and when you do not like my official acts I shall be glad for you to come and tell me, for I will never be too busy to listen to you.

Collier knows that I will not be a candidate next year; he knows there will be a primary to nominate a ticket; and he knows the Republicans will all have a chance to vote for their choice. He knows the results of strife in the party and he knows he will not hurt me, for I will not be a candidate. Then, in the name of common sense, why does he want to stir up strife in the party if he is a real Republican?

Just one word in defense of the Commissioners Court. Mr. Collier lays everything they do to me; he slanders them when he says that I do everything; he slanders the people of this county when he accuses me of running the politics of the County. There were never more honest and independent people on earth than the Republicans of Chilton County, and you have a good Commissioners Court one that is trying to do the best it can for the people.

He refers to the Republican party as being a dummy. I want to say that if it is a dummy it has been a very lively one for the last twenty years, and if he considers it a dummy and wants to run up against it he will find that it is very much alive. For the last twenty years just such fights have been made as this one and what has become of those who participated in them?

I want to call attention to another condition that exists in our County: There are already a number of candidates grooming themselves for office, grabbing at every issue, sometimes riding a tick and sometimes walking, taking up every issue trying to get in favor with the people. Voters, you will have a long time to nominate a ticket, and you ought to right now nip in the bud any effort on the part of any one to stir up strife among the people.

We have parties now pointing out the next officers of your county, some trying to pull others down in order that they can be lifted up themselves and some threatening to go out and take charge of your party. You have the party in your hands and you had better keep it there; you have for many years run your own affairs and no party or set of men has ever prospered by abusing their opponents. You can only succeed by standing for the right and standing together. This thing of trying to prejudice your officers by crying one man's party has been practiced for many years in this county, and if you will go back and yook up the letters which appeared in 1910, you will see that some of the sentences have been copied. Do you have any idea what this great pretense in 1910 cost the tax payers? Debts and burdens have been placed on you that you will not be able to settle in the next fifty years.

I will conclude by saying that any one who wants an office only for the fees and salary he will receive from it and not with the intention of helping the people, will make a mighty poor officer, and any party man that is only with the party for pie will maek a very poor voter, and if every Republican in the County votes our ticket is voting for pie, and is going to kick if he does not get it, there will be some kick coming.

All I ask, is for the Republicans to look up the records of those who made such fights in the past, and if they were not in the Democratic party, see if they did not land there. Do you remember the Thorsby fight? Do you remember the true-blue Republicans? Go back and read their articles and the date is about all the difference you see in their articles and the one of Mr. Collier's.

When the Republicans hold a primary, then will be the time for all Republicans to vote for the man of their choice and nominate the best men for officers. You had a fight like this in your last election; where did the people land that made it?

What happened when the true-blue Republicans ran a ticket in 1910. The head of the ticket lived at Coopers, and the true-blue ticket never got a single vote, the question was raised, the ballots were examined at the request of the head of the ticket, and he voted a straight Democratic ticket; and yet was going over the county hollering for the "true-blue Republican party."

Men that have the good of their party at heart do not work with the opposition in trying to destroy it. The people can always tell when any one is working for the party or when they are working for some office, or working to destroy the party.

Respectfully,

L. H. REYNOLDS.

When Your Tongue Is White and Flabby, It Is a Sign That You Are Anemic and That Your Blood Needs Ziron Iron Tonic, For the Benefit of Your Weakened System.

Look at your tongue in the mirror!

It ought to be pointed, pink, clean and firm.

If it is broad, white, coated, flabby, it is probably a sign that you are anemic, that your blood lacks red corpuscles, that you are not in good health, that your system needs iron to bring it up to proper condition.

When your blood needs iron, take Ziron, the new Iron Tonic, which contains also the hypophosphites of lime and soda and other valuable tonic ingredients prescribed by the best physicians for this form of trouble.

When you feel tired and miserable, lack ambition, suffer from indigestion, rheumatic pains, gastric catarrh, depression of spirits and a general feeling of being "under the weather", why not try Ziron to help you back to health?

Mr. R. L. Poston, of Lillie, La., writes: "Some weeks ago I was suffering with something like dumb chills. I just ached all over, my skin would feel clammy. I ached worse from my knees down. I didn't rest well nights, and my appetite wasn't good. I was afraid I would get down in bed and so much to do in the Spring of the year. I began to look around for something to help me and decided to try Ziron...I had not taken one third of a bottle until I felt much better. I grew stronger, began to get hungry and did not have any more of the chills. I think Ziron is a splendid tonic."

SPECIAL OFFER: Buy a bottle of ZIRON, today, at your druggist's and give it a fair trial, according to directions on the bottle. If, after using up one bottle, you find it has not benefited you, take the empty bottle back to the druggist and he will refund what you paid him for it. We repay him, so there is no reason why he should not repay you. This offer only applies to the first trial bottle. (ZA 3)

ANOTHER ATTACK AGAINST ONE FAMILY RULE IN CHILTON

To the Editor of Union-Banner:

Since writing the article against one family rule in Chilton County and protesting against placing all the positions of honor and trust in the hands of one family and giving all the patronage to this family, Judge Reynolds has seen me and has attempted to raise a personal controversy.

The fact is, Mr. Editor, the Judge and the county treasurer are both public officials, and if they do not desire to be criticized they should not aspire to hold public offices; and so long as they aspire to hold public office, and do hold public office, it is my purpose to criticize them whenever I think the facts justify criticism. I shall leave it to the people as to whether the criticism is just.

I think, and many other Republicans of the County likewise think, that whenever one family gets all the county afafirs by the "tail" with a "down-hill pull," and the county is made the "goat" for the convenience of that family, it is time for criticism, time for action by the people, time for that family to cease to hamper the county's progress and the welfare of the party that placed them in power.

The Judge raises the point with me personally that it is none of his business to "feed" me, and I thoroughly agree with him. There are several reasons why he shouldn't feed me: 1st, I am capable of feeding myself; 2nd, I have always refused to "eat out of the hand" of the Judge; 3rd, the Judge is too busy "feeding" his own "chillun" from the county crib to have the time to assist in feeding me.

And when I say that the Judge has been busy in "feeding" his own "chillun" from the county crib, I mean to say that since the Judge assumed office in 1917, he has never let an opportunity go by to assist them to draw funds from the county, either one way or another. You will remember I stated in my last week's article that one of his sons wrote the insurance on the old court house, out of which he made for himself about $200. I now tell you that his other son, the county treasurer, has been closely allied with the county's affairs since the Judge assumed office. In 1917 his firm drew $250; in 1918 likewise a large amount was drawn, and in 1919 he draws $525 salary as treasurer and has received or will receive several large fees for representing the county in litigation. In fact, the services of his son, is absolutely indispensable to the Judge—but the tax payers, the people, pay the bills.

It might be of interest to the staunch and stalwart Republicans of Chilton County to know that while the Judge's son is "chief" counsel in all the litigation for or against the County, in one suit the arch enemy of the Republican party—the veteran Democrat leader—has been associated by the Judge and his son to assist the latter in unraveling the intricate principles of law involved in the case!

But, Mr. Editor, the "easiest" money that this son has drawn from the coffers of the county was the $150 drawn for "copying" the road law, that another county of the State had enacted. Of course a slight change was made here and there in the law, and perhaps a few new paragraphs were added, but likewise many paragraphs were left out. It was what I call "a veritable snap."

The State law on the subject of exemption from road duty provides who shall be exempt from road duty, naming certain clases of people, their condition, etc., and further providing exemption to "all persons, who by nature or disease, are rendered incapable of hard labor, who shall procure a certificate of such incapacity from the county board of health or from two reputable practicing physicians."

But the "author" of the County Road Law sets out therein that "such certificate shall be filed with the probate Judge, who shall pass on the validity of the same," etc.

Even the lame and the halt shall be brought before the Judge, that his name may be glorified in the land of Chilton!

Not only is such a provision of the road law involved, but it is absolutely in line with the one famliy rule in Chilton County. The Judge places himself in a position to pass upon the validity of the certificate, when the State law sets forth that "the certificate o f such incapacity from two reputable practicing physicians shall be sufficient" even though the Judge of Probate may not think the certificate is valid. So thoroughly convinced I am of its nugatory effect, I am constrained to say that ony one charged with a violation of that section will be defended by me without charge, and if the Supreme Court upholds a conviction thereunder, I will serve the time or pay the fine of the offender.

But the most pronounced effect of one family rule in Chilton County is seen in the operation of the County and Probate Court. If one has never seen the County Court, on a Monday morning, operate, it is worth the time to visit this institution. The Judge will mount the bench; the solicitor will read the charge, and the Judge's son will plead for the defendant.

Mr. Editor, of you want to witness something sure-enough - to - goodness "funny", go down to the county court and listen to the Judge's son plead with his pa to turn his client loose!

There on the bench the Judge sits and passes upon facts involving the guilt or innocence of his son's client—acting as a juror, if you please. But Mr. Editor, if you were a lawyer, your father could not be a juror in the Circuit Court to pass upon the guilt or innocence of your client. It is a rotten system that permits such a practice in the County Court.

A man in trouble is not altogether devoid of the every-day "horse sense" Generally speaking he knows how best to get out of trouble. Any man would know that if a lawyer's pa is on the bench, the thing to do is to get that lawyer to represent him and "ax" pa to let him loose; knowing that if pa, the Judge, could be made soft hearted at all his son could do it best. Many times I have had prospective clients to ask me if it wouldn't be best to get the Judge's son to represent them before the Judge,—and I have consistently stated to them that they had the right idea.

And frequently they have stated to me that the Judge himself had suggested that they employ his son.

In the articles which I have asked you to publish, I have endeavored to portray the true conditions in Chilton County; how one family is sapping the life-blood of thhe things that are good, that are sacred, that it may be benefitted, looked up to and honored. It is a serious matter—a matter that should be talked, that it may be remembered. The sun light of publicity is a panacea, if not a cure, for the evil. And while the evil may not be cured for a number of years, I feel that the people should know, and do know, that the system, the selfishness and the greed that prompt it are rotten,—a stench in the nostrils of good people of the County.

Mr. Editor, in conclusion, I desire to thank you sincerely for your fairness in this controversy, and I also desire to thank the many Republicans who have spoken to and written me commending the fairness and timeliness of the article published last week.

Yours very truly,

F. B. COLLIER.

Last Saturday he brought a couple of Porto Rico Yams to the Union-Banner office, one of which was nineteen inches long and one fourteen. We exhibited them at the office where many persons saw them with much interest. But the best part of the fun came in when the editor went home to dinner one day and found them baked nicely and fixed up for eating. You know the proof of the pudding is in the eating thereof. Food Value Determines the Value of Food

It should be the food value that determines the value of foods. Take self rising flour, for instance. This product is of varying grades, much of it selling for the same or even less than the plain flour, which in itself is evidence of the fact that it is of inferior quality. Naturally, then, its food value is less than that of a pure plain flour.

In the long run it really costs more and represents a waste. There is no real economy in it. Some housewives are under the impression that it saves them a little effort, but in this they are mistaken. Self rising flour must often be sifted as it is inclined to get lumpy. The food value of a prepared flour is considerably less than a good grade of pure plain flour which is made from better wheat and contains no cheap leavening agent or calcium sulphate, commonly called plaster of paris, often contained in the ingredients used in self rising flours in order to cheapen the product.

Thus the flour question serves as a very good illustration of what I mean by saying the value of foods should be determined by their food value. And likewise the economy of using various foods should be determined in a similar manner. It isn't always the cheapest that is best. In fact, the opposite is often the case.

SPLENDID OPENING OF CHILTON COUNTY HIGH SCHOOL HERE

PLANS LAID AND READY NOW FOR A MOST SUCCESSFUL YEARS WORK UNDER MR. THOMPSON.

The formal opening of the Chilton County High School for its 1919-20 session was formally held on Wednesday morning under most auspicious circumstances. A goodly number of citizens ofClanton and Chilton county were present to witness the starting off of the school and to bid the new principal and his teachers good wishes for success. But we beg to state parenthetically right here that there were not half as many of our citizens there as should have been present.

Prof. Thompson, the new Principal, of the school indulged at length in an interesting outline of his policies to be followed in the administration of the affairs of the school. His plans as outlined indicate that he will pursue his duties in a vigorous and business like manner as befits a man of his broad school experience. We predict a splendid school under his management, and his past record also bears out our expectations that we shall be pleased with his work.

At the close of his remarks Mr. Thompson introduced the members of his faculty one by one. We got the impression that his assistants are going to measure up well to the standard of efficiency that is required of teachers in their capacity.

Prof. W. L. Holmes of Dothan, a young man, graduate of Auburn, is to have charge of the departments of science and manual training and athletics in the school.

Miss Inez Preston of Andalusia, a graduate of Judson College and the University of Alabama, will teach English and Mathematics and direct the Literary Societies of the school.

Miss Georgia Williamson of Demopolis, graduate of Montevalo, will teach Home Economics and Athletics for girls.

Miss Daisy Gillis of Grove Hill, a talented musician with a long list of successful accomplishments to her credit, will have charge of the department of music.

The Principal, in introducing the members of the faculty, gave lengthy and detailed accounts of the preparation and experience of each of them, making everybody feel asured that he has selected a corps of assistants teachers that are above the average.

Talks were made by a number of citizens in regard to the future of the school. We endeavored to make it as impressive as possible on the new Principal and teachers that the community and town and county is solid behind them in the furtherance of those things that will produce the widest and most substantial accom- for the school in this d for all future time. an auspicious open- tudents have alrea- ere will be more w days.

ARLEDGE DENIES COMPLICITY IN WILD-CAT STILL OPERATION

Pate Arledge, who was arrested by Sheriff Gore a few weeks ago, charged with connection with the operation of a wild-cat still in Stumps Hills, was in Clanton Monday. His preliminary trial was held in the county court before Judge Reynolds. The defendant was bound over under bond to await the sitting of the county grand jury.

While here Mr. Arledge called on The Union-Banner and denied some statements that were made in this paper the week following his arrest. In giving to the paper the report of the arrest of Mr. Arledge and the capture of the still, the officers made use of the following statements:

"Arledge, the man who was captured, was acting as sentinel for the others and was walking around the still at a distance of about two hundred yards with a shot gun. His purpose was to prevent officers from disturbing the operation."

Mr. Arledge requested us to state that he emphatically denies the above statements as given out by the officers and published in the paper. He states that he was not acting as sentinel for others who are alleged to have been at the still. He asserts that he was merely passing through the woods with his shot gun hunting for some cattle, and that he knew nothing about the still being nearby nor of any persons operating one there. He contends that he had no such purpose as preventing officers from finding a still.

The Union-Banner, in making the original report of the arrest and capture of the still, did so on the information given us by the officers. The things which we said were an essential story of the very facts as represented by the officers. Now, since Mr. Arledge has denied that those were the facts in the case, we are glad to give to our readers his own version of the case.

MR. J. A. SKAGGS VISITOR

Mr. J. A. Skaggs of Jemison was a visitor to Clanton last Tuesday. Mr. Skaggs is getting rather old and feeble, but he takes an interest in the progress and advancement of things generally. He is especially wide awake on the Catholic question and sees that great danger from the right angle. He says he hopes to live to see the time when we are prepared to meet the Catholics at the ballot box and forever defeat their purposes. Mr. Skaggs, like many other gallant old patriots we could mention, is getting old and may not live to see the issue come to a test. But young men who will live to see it should draw a lesson from the wisdom and foresight of these old people, and begin now to prepare for the ordeal. We must meet the Catholics with the same preparation they have for us. We cannot remain asleep on the job and be successful in the end .

THE UNEASY SOUTH

The split in the Democratic party in Texas is merely significant of the feeling of the whole South—it is dissatisfied with Wilson and is anxious to throw off his yoke. His socialistic tendencies and his "internationalism" are entirely too much for the southern spirit, which inclines toward industry, and as a consequence the spirit of rebellion is rife. It s not too much to say that nowhere the country is Wilson so heartily mned today as in the southern sta- and that the damners-in-chief are nbers of his own political house- ld. Naturally, these men refuse carry their dislike to the extreme of going over to the Republican party —that would be unthinkable—so they seek sanctuary in the creation of a new Democratic party. Possibly nothing will come of this rebellion, but of this we may not be so sure. Let Wilson be renominated on a platform setting forth his governmental heresies and a great deal may come of it. Indeed, so much may come of it that the solidarity of the "solid south" may be shot to pieces.—Fort Wayne News.

LITTLE VIEWER.

PRESIDENT OVERLOOKED ONE IMPORTANT POINT

Bottom Knocked Out of the Best Argument by Senator's Pointed Query.

Washington, Aug. 1.—President Wilson's argument that no reservations should be attached to the resolution of the peace treaty for the reason that the assent of the German Assembly would have to be obtained to them and he would be reluctant to approach the German Assembly on this matter has fallen to the ground so far as reservations relating to the covenant of the league of nations are concerned.

The President used this argument in the formal statement which he put out at the opening of the recent White House conference with Senators of the Foreign Relations Committee. Moreover, it has been used at various times by his lieutenants.

Senator Fall of New Mexico pointed out to the President that Germany was out of the league and that any amendment proposed by any member of the league prior to her coming into the league would not be submitted to her for the simple reason that she was not a member. Senator Fall asked the President if this were not true.

"I will admit," said the President, "that that point had not occurred to me. No, she would not."

REPUBLICANS ACT TO STOP HOARDING AND HIGH PRICES

Administration will Now Have no Excuse for its Failure To Function.

His Charge That Failure to Act on Peace Treaty Causes High Prices Unustifiable.

Washington, August 1.–The House has amended the Lever Food Control Act in accordance with the request of the President and the Attorney General, extending to the executive department the same power to detect and punish hoarding and profiteering in wearing apparel that it has previously had in connection with the food supply, and providing fine and imprisonment for violation of the act.

In adopting these amendments 3 days after the appearance of the Attorney General before the Agriculture Committee to explain the exact desire of the Administration, the House has given striking evidence of its willingness and porpose to meet any reaonable request for additional legislation with which to combat the high cost of living. The Republican leaders of the Senate have now taken the measure in hand and it is planned to accord it is prompt action in that body as it has received in the House.

The amendment provides authority to prosecute all profiteering retailers or hoarders. Extension of the drastic wartime regulations to all wearing apparel, food containers and fertilizers. It also contains provisions for a fine of $5,000 and imprisonment for two years as a punishment for all violations.

The measure was passed by the House exactly as it was reported from the Agricultural Committee. It grants specific exemptions to farmers and farm organizations from Federal regulation.

This action marks the first step in the Republican Congress's campaign to reduce the high cost of living and places in the hands of the Administration sufficient authority to proceed against retailers who, according to Attorney General Palmer, are now maintaining high price levels. The Attorney General can now proceed against all those dealing in necessaries who attempt to sell their products at more than a fair price. Republican leaders believe the Senate will adopt the bill practically in the same form in which it passed the House.

During the course of the five-hour debate in the House on price conditions Republican members arraigned the president and charged that there would have been no necessity for the amended food bill if the administration had applied laws already in force against food profiteers. Reference was also made to the unjustifiable inference of the president in his address to Congress that the failure of the Senate to ratify the peace treaty speedily was the cause of the high cost of living. Referring to the president's inference regarding the treaty, Representative Rodenburg of Illinois said: "During the last six years there has not been a single solitary attempt made by the Democratic Department of Justice to bring a single solitary food profiteer to the bar of justice."

While the question of rent profiteering is not included on the present bill it is believed that this will be dealt with later in the specific law.

MANY WHISKEY CASES BEFORE COUNTY COURT ON MONDAY

Eight of the eleven cases brought before Judge Reynolds in the County Court on Monday, September 1st, were for violations of the prohibition laws of Alabama. This seems to bear out various other evidences that may be seen to show that the wild cat whikey business in this county is asuming proportions somewhat above the average.

Pate Arledge, charged with violating prohibition laws; defendant plead not guilty to the charge and bound over to grand jury; bond fixed at $1,000.00.

J. R. Busby, Jr., charged with violating prohibition laws; continued to October term of county court.

Bill Mims, charged with violating prohibition laws; continued to October term of County Court, at which court the defendant agrees to plead guilty.

RESOLUTIONS PASSED BY THE COUNTY MASONIC CONFERENCE

The Masonic Conference of Chilton County in session at Thorsby last week passed the following resolutions which we publish by request of the body:

Resolutions Committee.

Committee on Resolutions wish to make the following report:

1. We can hardly find words adequate to express our heartfelt thanks to the sisters af the Thorsby Eastern Star and ladies there for their hospitality and services rendered to this conference by the refreshments served.

2. We commend the good ladies of Thorsby Eastern Star as having but few equals and no superiors.

3. We extend our sincere thanks to the Thorsby Lodge A. F. and A. M. for the fine Fraternal spirit shown us while being entertained and instructed in their midst, also to the faculty of the Thorsby Institute for the privileges enjoyed on their grounds. We cheerfully commend to all of our lodges the well-known scripture, "Go thou and do likewise."

4. We deeply appreciate the honest, conscientious, devoted and very able services rendered this conference and masonic fraternity by our able instructor Brother J. M. Pearson. We know that we express the sentiment of this conference when we say that we have never received any instructions superior to what we have had this time.

5. We trust that all the brethren present on the evening of August 20 heard and caught the great lessons taught in the third degree lecture so ably given by Brother Pearson.

(Adopted) J. L. JOHNSON,
J. S. JONES,
W. I. MULLINS.

Memorial Committee.

We, your committee on Memorials, submit the following report:

1. We find that the All-Wise Creator in His Infinite Wisdom has seen proper to visit Amand Lodge No. 250 and Clanton Ladge No. 423, and removed from our midst to the "Celestial Lodge" above the following brethren: H. J. Taylor, and J. H. Duncan of the above Lodges respectively.

2. We realize that in the death of these brethren the Masonic Fraternity has lost two of is most honored and beloved members, and the county two of its best and truest citizens. The lives of these brethren were examples of which we can with pride point to and truthfully say that "An honest man is the Noblest work of God."

3. We recommend that a copy of this report be published in the county paper; and a copy be mailed to the family of each of the deceased brothers. Respectfully,

H. A. HARRIS,
H. O. [illegible]

Senator McCormick Pictures Our C Young Men Dying to Defend Alien Territory.

Washington, August 2.—In an e quent address in the Senate, Sena Medill McCormick of Illinois took t position that the United States consenting to the guarantee of terri- tories under the covenant for the league of nations, more especially Article X, will pledge itself "against conscience and judgment" to participate in the great war which the treaty of peace forebodes.

Referring to the "moral abasement which characterized the conduct of the great Christian powers in Asia before and during the war," Senator McCormick said President Wilson put his name to an agreement which betrayed an ally and friend.

In forceful language, he depicted the wrongs done China and Korea by Japan and declared that Japan's present promises about getting out of Shantung are worthless measured by her performances in the past.

He showed how the fact the covenant and the treaty tied the United States up to the holding of subject peoples under the dominions of Japan and England and France.

"If ever those subject peoples rose" he said, "and the Chinese of the Russian trike hands with them, that will constitute 'external aggression' under the covenant. Then our young men must march by thousands to drive the invader back from the Yalu, the Ganges, the Tigris or the Euphrates."

COUNTY SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION AT MULBERRY

The annual meeting of the Chilton County Sunday School Convention was held at Mulberry church on Aug. 29th. Much weight was added to the work of the Convention by the presence of several of the prominent state Sunday School workers.

Capt. W. C. Blassingame rendered valuable assistance to the work and did much for the success of the meeting. Miss Beane, another of the State workers contributed her efforts toward making the occasion one of great value and a decided success.

Prof. C. V. Thompson, principal of the Chilton County High School, was present and took active part in the deliberations. He made a highly inspiring address on Sunday School work.

Reports came to us that the dinner which was served at noon was a decided treat to those who were fortunate in being present. It was a very pleasant satisfaction to their good appetites.

The following officers of the convention were elected:

President, D. J. Flummer, Thorsby; Vice-President, J. B. Northcutt, Jemison; Secretary and Treasurer, Miss Della Williams, Verbena; Assistant Secretary and Treasurer, Miss Mary Carr Gibson, Verbena; Superintendent of the Adult Department, Col. J. B. Atkinson, Clanton; Teen-age Department, Prof. J. L. Johnson, Clanton; Elementary Department, Mrs. B. M. Roberts, Clanton.

District Presidents:—1, Howard Roper, Jemison; 2, Felix Eiland, Thorsby; 3, Miss Esther Nix, Maplesville; 4, H. A. Harris, Clanton; 5, W. A. Calloway, Verbena; 6, Howard Oden, Maplesville.

Executive Committee—G. C. Harris, Clanton; C. V. Thompson, Clanton; W. T. White, Maplesville.

Joe Maddox has bought the Farmers Union Warehouse, located adjacent to his gin and will operate the same this season. He is a well-known gin man in this section and his many friends will be glad to know that he has acquired the management and ownership of the warehouse.

Ed Teel of Birmingham is visiting friends and relatives in Clanton for a few weeks, taking his vacation.

MR. G. W. EDWARDS WRITES

August 31st, 1919.

Editor Union-Banner:

May I have space in your paper to reply to an assault made last week through your paper by Judge Reynolds on the true-blue Republicans.

First, I will say that I am not in any way connected with the Reynolds and Collier controversy. I thought Reynolds and Collier were close political friends till I saw their first letters in your paper. Now, I am very sorry that the Judge while stammering through dark valleys of ignorance hunting for straw to cover his sins, saw fit to drag the true-blue Republicans into such undesirable controversy againstt heir will. I don't know the Judge's motive for this, but I can't see any other purpose but to create prejudice between the Bull-Moose and true-blue Republicans. He well knows that the Bull Moose have a majority in Chilton County, and as long as he can keep them divided he can controle the Bull Moose and run the politics in the county just as he wants to.

I think the people have seen the judge as he is, after so long a time, and are going to get together and bury the rotten politics of the past and place politics on a high plane in Chilton County. The judge says that what happened when the true-blue Republicans ran a ticket in 1910? The head of the ticket lived at Coopers and the true-blue ticket never got a single vote. Every kinky-head in the county should be well-enough informed to know that the true-blue Republicans never ran a ticket in 1910. Not wanting any division, we lay as meek as lambs and let the Reynolds crowd and the Democrats fight it out. If the judge was honest in making that false statement he is too ignorant to advise the heathens of Africa.

I have not said one-fourth as much as I want to say, but I am sure you will be crowded this week and I don't want to ask for much space.

I just hope the people will open their eyes before the blind lead them into another ditch as they did in 1912.

Thanking you in advance for your valuable space.

G. W. EDWARDS.

"I AM A NEW MAN"

Used to get up mornings always tired. No energy whatever. No vim. No push. Wanted to sit down and rest all the time. Least exertion caused fatigue. For more than a year suffered terribly with bladder and kidney trouble. That was the condition of Mr. Archibald McKenzie, corner Bell and Whitman streets, Montgomery. Ala. Then somebody recommended Sulferro-Sol. Mr. McKenzie began taking it. He took two bottles. Now listen to what he says: "I can't say too much in praise of this wonderful nerve tonic and blood purifier. I am a new man now, full of the old-time energy which I began to think I had forever lost. To all persons who suffer from like conditions to what I did, I simply say, Give Sulferro-Sol a trial and receive the benefit I derived from it."

Sulferro-Sol is absolutely free from all poisonous or dangerous ingredients, contains no alcohol nor "dope," and may be taken by any one with safety. This medicine has meant many a man's physical salvation. Try it. Your druggist can supply you. Refuse all substitutes.

Big lot Fresh Candy Just Received at the

Clanton, Ala., August 30, 1919.

To the Editor of the Union-Banner:

Judge Reynolds in his reply to my letters recently published in the county paper, says that my letter needs no reply, as it explains itself. Yet, notwithstanding that statement, he laboriously endeavors to further "explain" the letter, and consumes quite a lot of space when no necessity therefor was apparent. Some of his deductions are rather amusing. In one place he doubts my Republicanism; in another he, in a way, accuses me of having something to do with nominating "brother Bill" for the Legislature. It would seem to most people that, if I could take part in a Republican Convention, and urge and support the nomination of such a man as the Editor, or even the Judge's brother, that that would be pretty good evidence that I am a Republican. In other words, if I were to take such part in a Democratic convention, urge and support some Democrat, in the open, and the Republicans should find it out, I would then think that the "had the goods on me."

Records of Collier and Reynolds are Compared.

About the most unfair thing I have ever known the Judge to do is to attempt to belittle my efforts to become an o fficer in the army of the United States. But I am not altogether surprised at him for doing this knowing that in the beginning of the war he was only luke-warm in its support, and knowing how he felt towards those who gave up office and home to fight for and sustain the flag under which he lives. And while my service in the army may be, and perhaps was, small, yet it was a service gladly and ungrudgingly given. The sum total of all the acts and efforts, however, large or small, of all the patriots in this land was VICTORY, and I am proud that I assisted in sustaining the flag under which I live.

As to my failure to get commission at the officers' training camp, I will say that I did my utmost to make good. It is not every one who can become an efficient line officer in the United States army. Men are fitted for different and varying careers. I realized after I went to the training camp, that I was not adapted to make an efficient infantry officer. But I am glad to say that even though I could not measure up to what was required of an officer, I never hesitated as to what was my duty nor faltered in performing it. I am likewise proud that when I found I was not fitted for an officer's insignia, I was not too proud to don the garb of a private. And while my record may not be known to the Judge, the people of Clanton and Chilton County, know that I went to the army twice when I might have stayed at home. It is only fair to say that after entering the army the second time, within less than three months, I was recommended for a commission by my superior officer, in whose office I was assigned to duty, and who had reason to know my qualification, in which recommendation it was stated:

1. I recommend that Private, first class, Frank B. Collier, now on duty in this office, be commissioned First Lieutenant, Judge Advocate, and assigned to duty as Assistant Camp Judge Advocate, Camp Sheridan, Alabama.

2. During his service in this office he has demonstrated marked ability as a lawyer, pleasing personality and keen interest in the work of this department. I believe him fully qualified for the of fice."

The reason I was not commissioned, as recommended, was because the war department ceased to issue commissions after the signing of the armistice, except in cases where the applicant had been recommended prior thereto.

My record in the army is not conspicuous, but it is like the record of most of the men who left Chilton County to do what they could for their flag and homeland. None of us perhaps desired to go, and all would have preferred to remain at home, but when duty called, it was answered in the language of a patriot. None were in doubt as to their duty, and none failed in the full performance thereof.

But where, oh where, were the Judge's sons? Were they in the army, Mr. Editor? No, they were at home, in Chilton County, busy as ever, sucking the teat of the old County cow.

And yet, what a fault it was when I failed to get a commission!

I say that it is better to have loved my country and failed than never to have loved her at all!

Talk About Failures.

I have made an excellent living since I began the practice of law, and upon my own merits as a lawyer. It has never been necessary for me to hang around the pie counter operated by my pa to catch the crumbs that fall therefrom; nor has it been necessary for me to practice in home-made, family - brewed, jerk - water courts. And as to whether I am a failure in my profession as a lawyer, I am willing to submit the matter to the Members of the Bar of Alabama, to the Judges who sit upon the courts in which I practice, and to the long list of satisfied clients.

I would not mention the question of "failures" but for the fact that the judge refers to me as a failure in a professional way, and hereby endeavors to injure me in my profession. But, as the question is up, I would like to ask the judge how many failures there are in the Reynolds family—I mean financial failures, where the matters were aired in the bankruptcy courts. Mr. Editor, you will remember he said here were several failures. He knows the number, I do not, and I ask him, in confidence, to open up and tell us. I concede to him the right to ask me as to the financial failures in the Collier family; and in anticipaton of the queston, I answer that there were none.

A to the Craig Matter.

I desire to state that I have never at any time admitted to the Judge, or to anyone else, that I got up records and figures upon which Examiner Craig made an investigation. I did make a statement to the Judge that certain figures and records were gotten up by me for a party, who stated to me that his attorney in Birmingham was going to file a suit to invalidate certain bonds and warrants, if the records of the County showed that the Constitutional debt limit had been exceeded, and that when the figures and records were turned over to him, they were subsequently used for other purposes than for which they were gotten up. No other admission was made by me. The Judge never asked me about the matter, but at or about the time the Grand Jury was in session last September, I voluntarily went to the Judge and stated to him that in case I could assist him any way I would be glad to do so; that I felt there was nothing to the Craig examination, and that it was being carried too far. I really sympathized with the Judge and the commissioners and was glad that the grand jury viewed the matter as I did—that though they had, perhaps technically violated the letter of the law, no harm was done the county by their action.

The records that I got up embraced the assessed value of the county, which at that time, to-wit, January, 8th, 1918, was at or about $5,588,298.00, according to the certificate of the Board of Equalization. Records showing that $178,000 in bonds and $42,000 in time warrants had been issued and were then outstanding. That there was some $7,000 or $8,000 in warrants issued but not registered, making a total indebtedness of the county something like $229,000.00. I called the attention of this party to the fact that Secion 155 of the Code of Alabama provides that a county shall not become indebted to an amount greater than three and one-half per cent of the assessed value of the property therein, which would limit the county debt to about $196,000, and that the Constitutional debt limit had then been exceeded many hous-and dollars. I further showed that in the spring of 1917, a few months after the Judge had assumed office, the County Commissioners passed a resolution in which it was stated that the county had at that time exceeded the constitutional debt limit. However, notwithstanding this the Judge and the Commissioners continued to spend money.

I was advised later that when the party for whom the records and figures were gotten up showed the report to his attorney in Birmingham, the attorney stated that it was an impeachable offense for the Judge and County Commissioners to knowingly and willuflly exceed the Constitutional debt limit, as admitted in the resolution passed some time in the spring of 1917. As to this, however, I do not say, because I have not looked into the matter and am not interested in the point raised. It would seem, however, that if the Judge and County Commissioners could, at their own pleasure, exceed the Constitutional debt limit, as provided by law, then there would be no use for such a law. I will say this, that the law is clear as to the amount of indebtedness a county may incur; and, in this connection, I venture to suggest, that it would be interesting to know how much the county's outstanding indebtedness is at this time, even though that indebtedness was saddled upon the county by a Democratic regime.

The above constitutes all I have done upon which to base an "admission." What was done was done in the capacity of an attorney. It took me four hours to get up the data. I received $10.00 for getting the information.

In this connection, however, I desire to say that Examiner Craig had been in Clanton for many weeks before I knew he was here—and before I made any investigation for anyone. All the time he was here I never spoke to him, except perhaps to pass the greetings of the day; never furnished him any information directly or through another and had nothing whatever to do with his examination. I say this, however, not because I desire to deny a connection with it, but because it is true.

I give the Judge the benefit of the doubt and do not accuse him of intentionally misrepresenting me when he says that I admitted having a connection with the Craig affair. Our conversation was brief, voluntary on my part and without solicitation or interrogation on the part of Judge. But when he says that he already had ascertained that I had a connection, to-wit, that I furnished records and figures upon which the Craig investigation was made, I have to part company with him and say that if he obtains such information, it was false. I challenge him to show anything other than as here stated.

Thus it was I spoke to the Judge and made the famous "admisison".

About the County Treasurer's Job And the Insurance.

I was an applicant for county treasurer and I did not get the job. No one has ever heard me bitterly to complain because of that "failure." Had Mr. Bice, Mr. Littlejohn or Mr. Harris received the job, I would never have said anything at all. I did not think the Judge's son was entitled to the place, for the reason that his father is Probate Judge and his uncle is a member of the Legislature. I have never doubted that he is qualified, and I assume that he will make a good treasurer. I think by reason of being an attorney, he is in position to be a better treasurer. The point with me is: I do not believe it party expediency to fill all the places of honor and trust with the members of one family. It may be all right, and if it suits the people for such matters to be done, I can stand what the majority want. Mr. M. D. Foshee, the friend of the Judge, knows better than anyone else whether I am sore. He has stated to me that he doesn't think I am sore on that account, and as he is the only person with whom I have talked at length concerning the treasurer's job, I am willing to leave it to him. Mr. Foshee suggested that I apply for the ob—while I was in the army—and I applied somewhat against my better judgment. I understood that the Judge's son would be an applicant and I reasonad with Mr. Foshee concerning the matter, thusly: "Grady will not apply for the ob unless the Judge is willing for him to have it. If he is willing for him to have it, the Judge can arrange for him to get it." I do not think the people of the county believe I was mistaken in either the hypothesis or the conclusion.

I feel the same way about the insurance. If I don't get the insurance, I am not going to be mad or sore. I can easily get along without the business. I see no immediate necessity for making arrangement to move to the "Huckabee Hotel." If there is another Republican who wants to write the insurance, I hope the commissioners will give him as much consideration as they have given me. I am not more entitled to the business than other Republicans. I do think, in view of all the facts, the Judge's son is not entitled to the business. He has done no more for the Republican party than some of us less conspicuous members; beside that he has heretofore written it once, and the members of his family are pretty well otherwise taken care of.

Republicanism and Pie.

I don't think I am a pie hunter. My appetite therefor has not been conspicuously in evidence at least since being in Chilton County. My family before me were not "pie eaters", but always voted the Republican ticket. My father had the distinction of having voted for every Republican presidentail candidate since Lincoln. He was well known in State Republican politics in the day. The Judge was acquainted with him and so were the Republican leaders of the State. Likewise, the Judge and Republican leaders of the State know me. We have never been in the pie business, but have held some places of trust and honor. But if there is any family in Chilton County who has eaten more "pie" for the past four years—since I have been in Chilton County,—than the Judge's sons, I would like to see the color of the eye of the "daddy" of the family. In fact the Judge and his sons have eaten so much pie people are beginning to suspect that they are affected with "tape worms."

I want it understood here and now that I want no office. I am not even laying any plans to be elected a delegate to any convention. In fact, I do not care for any political preferment, as I have a business in which I am making a living, and am fairly well contented with the prospect.

I do like to see real fairness in our party and consideration given to every Republican. I shall always stand for equal rights to all members of the party, and will always fight one-family rule.

Every loyal Republican in Chiton County stood by the Judge in his last campaign. How I stood was well-known to the judge. On election day I accompanied him in visitinb various polling places, and he expressed to me then his appreciation for my work and influence in his behalf, and he promised that he would be fair to everybody and would not use his office as a sword against his enemies or as a lever with which to prye for his family. The people know whether he has abided by those promises. It is true I did not make any speeches for the Judge. I was not requested to do so, but attended many meetings in his behalf, and at various time wrote and submitted resolutions to be passed by the convention or meetings. I felt that he had abler speakers to defend his record and to castigate that of his opponents. I have never declined an invitation to speak work, or otherwise assist my party in the time of need. I do know that I have contributed to the campaign fund, and only recently I contributed to a fund to send to the 7th Congressional District. The question is now raised for the first time, and for a purpose. It would certainly seem to fair-minded men that if my loyalty had ever been questioned, it would have been brought out long ago. The reason I took no part in the last campaign is very obvious to those who were concerned in the welfare of their country. I was in the army and it was against the policy of the War Department to permit its soldiery to engage in political discusions.

As to the "Dummy."

The Judge says there is no "dummy," but I insist that there is. I know well enough that the Republican party is virile and active, but I, likewise, know that the Judge hides behind the party when somebody gets after him. As to evidence of this, read his recent letter. He accuses me of stirring up party strife. I believe that I am telling the people the truth. His acts nor the acts of his sons are not the acts of the Republican party. They are not the Republican party, but only members thereof—just like myself and the other Republicans of the county. The truth should be known against office-holders, and I intend to tell the people as to the operation of the Judge's office. I submit that the Judge's sons, according to the "admission" of the Judge, have been "feeding" out of the public "crib." His only excuses therefor is that his sons take no more than some one else would take. I submit it to the fair-minded men of the county as to whether I am at fault, in exposing the matter, of they who "feed" from the public "crib."

If the Judge and his sons will cease to "feed" out of the public "crib" I will cease to mention the matter. Not only will I do this, but I will promise never to ask for any county patronage, will withdraw my application to write the fire insurance, and will co-operate in every manner possible with the Judge in doing what I can for the welfare of the county. It seems that I am more than meeting the Judge half-way, and if party harmony is desired, it is as much the Judge's duty to assist in bringing it about as it is mine.

I don't know what success the Judge has had in the past in forcing those who oppose him out of the party. I do say that I do not intend to be forced out of the party. I promise to adhere to its principles, be loyal to its traditions and steadfast in its support. It is my purpose, however, to continue to fight one family rule, but any fight I have to make will be made in the party. If his "nannie" can be gotten, and his sons driven away from the public "crib" it is my purpose to do so. If I fail, there will be another failure, but I will still be in the party. I see no more reason for quitting the Republican party because of personal and political differences than there is for quitting the Baptist Church because Deacon Jones is not likable. I, therefore, decline to leave the party on the invitation of those who would most like to see me go.

Collier not in League with Anyone.

I don't know what the issues were in 1910, as I was in the State of Tennessee most of that year. I do know I am in no wise connected with anyone carrying on that fight. I don't know anything about the Thorsby meeting, nor the true-blue party, nor its leaders. No one has suggested that I write the "famous letter"—as referred to by the Judge. I am the legitimate "daddy" of them—wrote them by my lone self, and have no apologies to make therefor. I desire it understood, too, that I am espousing the cause of no prospective condidate, and am not in league with any man or set of men; but am acting on my own initiative, and will continue to act and spetk when I feel that the welfare of my county demands it.

Reynolds has never Denied Collier's Charges.

I have taken up quite a bit of space in answering the points raised by the Judge in his reply to my first letter. His reply is only a reply—it is not an answer. He virtually admits all I have said. He fails to stick to the points raised by me, but strikes below the belt by referring to me as a failure as a lawyer, a failure in the army, and a man nursing a sore toe. If I am a failure in any line, that is no argument for turning the county over to the Judge and his sons, to be used for themselves as they see fit. The judge would not allow a witness in his court to evade or equivocate on the witness stand, yet he does that very thing when I place him on the stand. The jury—the people—know that he has not answered me, but has raised points not involved in the discussion. Have you ever noticed that the Judge won't talk about what you are talking about, especially when his side of the controversy looks a little muddy?

I think the Judge is capable of making an efficient official if he would shake off the shackles of family favoritism that now bind him.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for publishing this, I am, with good wishes,

Yours very tryly,
F. B. COLLIER.

DESERVED RECOGNITION

Washington, Sept. 2.—(Special)—A bill to give Gen. Crowder the rank of lieutenant general when he goes on the retired list has been introduced by Senator Knox. The measure recites Crowder's "conspicuous services as Provost Marshal General" in the adminitration of the selective service law, and states that the promotion is due to his efficient work in that connection.

CLANTON GRAMMAR SCHOOL OPENED ON LAST MONDAY

The Clanton Grammar School opened Monday morning under very promising circumstances. There were more than 230 pupils enrolled. Quite a large number of citizens and patrons were present at the opening.

Prof. C. V. Thompson of the High School made an interesting talk to the audience at the opening. His expressions were full of logic and good advice, and gives us sufficient reason to believe that our county High School has at its head a man who is both willing and capable of keeping the educational progress of Chilton County on the up grade.

Dr. Ernest C. Maye, the beloved pastor of the Clanton Methodist Church, graced the opening of the school with his presence, and as is always his custom, lent encouragment to the pupils and patrons of the school by a short address that was timely and well-taken.

With two exceptions the faculty of the school is the same this year as it was last. Prof. J. L. Johnson, the popular principal is there again, beginning his fourth year with this school. Miss Mary Timmerman of Prattville has charge of the Firth Grade and part of the Sixth. Miss Bessie Thomas of Clanton has charge of the Fourth and part of the Third grade. Mrs. F. B. Collier of Clanton has charge of the Second and part of the Third grade. Miss Icelo Williams has the first grade. Mrs. B. M. Roberts of Clanton is in charge of the music department.

The school is free to all children inside of Clanton District.

GIVE FARMER A CHANCE

Senator S. C. Page of Vermont has received a letter from the Commissioner of Agriculture of that State strongly remonstrating against the re-establishment of the Food Administration. The writer recommends that the price of food be allowed to rise to a point where the farmer can hire sufficient labor to produce those commodities. When that is done he thinks increased production will solve the food problem. The letter has been referred to the Agricultural Committee with the suggestion that its author be subpoenaed and asked to testify on his remedies for the high cost of living.

Uncle Mose Robinson of Beat 16 was in Clanton a few days this week visiting at the home of his son, J. E. Robinson.

Democratic Party Torn Asunder By Wilson-ism

Washington Correspondent Sees Disintegration Approaching.

POLITICAL SKY UNPROPITIOUS

Signs and Portents of Sombre Omen Foretell Disruption Before Coming Campaign.

That the Democratic party is headed for a disastrous split over the Wilsonian policies and that the split is bound to manifest itself in the near future is the opinion of the Washington correspondent of the New York Evening Sun expressed in a special dispatch to that newspaper.

According to the Evening Sun's correspondent the split is bound to come sooner than most people at the present anticipate and it will be of a violence that will shake the party to its foundations and make absolutely impossible the election of any Democratic candidate in 1920.

The Democratic managers are alive to the seething discontent with their party which is manifesting itself in all sections of the country and they are today frantically endeavoring to find means for checking this and overriding the growing opposition to Wilson and all things Democratic.

While there is apparent calm in some Democratic strongholds it is the dead and sullen calm before the storm and it does not lighten the lowering clouds which are sweeping over the administration from every part of the land.

In Massachusetts the most prominent Democrats in the State have openly repudiated Wilson and, it is said, that many of them will even vote the Republican ticket to show their disapproval of some of his policies.

In Missouri, Senator James A. Reed, the most powerful Democrat in the State, is revolting against the President and has virtually been read out of the party by the Democratic State Committee.

The displeasure with which Kentuckians view the Administration is indicated by the election of a Republican to Congress from a district that is normally Democratic by 3,000 majority.

The frantic efforts of the Democrats of Alabama to retain for their party the seat in Congress formerly held by the late John Burnett indicate that the Republicans' claim that they will carry the Seventh District is well founded.

There are many Democrats in both the Senate and House who are ready to abandon Wilson, and in Texas former Senator Bailey is attempting to from a new Democratic party in opposition to Mr. Wilson's personally conducted Democratic party.

Senator Pomerene of Ohio, a Democrat, charges the President with cowardice in dealing with the railroad situation and defies him to pass the buck on the Brotherhood denamnds to Congress.

Throughout the North there is a campaign of denunciation to the president's stand on the Irish question while in all sections of the country business men in the Democratic party are chafing at the president's tendencies to put all business under government control.

As further evidence of the growing dissatisfaction with the Democratic party the country as a whole, has an idea that profiteering and the high cost of living might have been abated months ago had the president stayed at home and attended to domestic questions instead of spending his time in the clouds with his League of Nations ideal.

As an evidence of the feeling against Mr. Wilson within his own party, it is stated that almost all of the Southern Democrats in the Senate and House cordially despise the Wilson principles. They are for States right they assert, and they are opposed to seeing the entire government turned over to the president.

These are the signs, according to the Sun's correspondent, that are plain to every politician in Washington and they indicate implacably the coming chaos in the Democrat party.

GROVER HARRIS SELECTED TEMPORARY POSTMASTER

The postoffice department has granted to Grover C. Harris, carrier on Rural Route 3 from Clanton, leave of absence from his duties on the rural route, to look after the duties of postmaster at Clanton, pending the outcome of the matter of appointment of one of the applicants for the job. Grady Harris has been acting postmaster since the death of Mr. Robinson. He has resumed his duties as carrier on Route No. 1.

Railroading the Treaty

Washington, Aug. 25.—Having exhausted his imagination in conjuring up defenses for the league of nations, Senator Hitchcock is now busying himself in berating the Foreign Relations Committee for what he chooses to term its lack of action on the treaty. "A new issue was raised," modestly declares the Wilson spokesman, "when I asked the Chairman of the Foreign Relation Committee and majority members when they proposed to get action." That was indeed a 'new issue' for nobody else has exhibited any impatience over the time consumed by the committee in studying and gathering information on the treaty for submission to the Senate.

"For five weeks," continues the indignant Mr. Hitchcock, "the treaty has been in cold storage without a vote or any other action." Evidently he would have the country believe that the impressive document was tucked away in a pigeon hole while committee members disported themselves at golf or at the seashore. But the opposite is the truth. Almost daily meetings of the committee have been held, at which have appeared Secretary Lansing, Mr. Baruch, Mr. Norman Davis, Mr. Bradley Palmer, and other gentlemen intimately connected with the framing of the technical provisions of the treaty. They have explained the reasons for the language used, and further expert testimony is expected on other phases of the document. This is the only method at the command of the committee for extracting its information. Soon after the treaty was given to the Senate a resolution was adopted, requesting the president to submit the famous Bliss letter on the Shantung settlement, the discarded American draft of the league covenant, all the proceedings, debates, etc., of the special commission that framed the league, and, in general, "all data bearing upon or used in connection with the treaty of peace with Germany now pending."

The president could have materially expedited the report of the committee by promptly replying to its request. Instead of doing so, however, he waited for over three weeks and then said that he was unable to supply anything that the committee did not already know except the American draft of the covenant. Meanwhile Col. House, who, next to the president, has a closer knowledge of the deliberations of the conference than any other man stays in England.

The country vividly remembers that Mr. Wilson spent seven long monhs, with the aid of more than a thousand experts, in preparing the treaty. Now, Mr. Hitchcock would have the Senate, co-equal with if not superior to the president in the treaty-making power, pass upon he undertaking at once, scarcely giving time for a single intelligent reading of its involved provisions, and with no attempt to acquaint themselves with the considerations that controlled the actions of the American delegation.

Senator Hitchcock and the league forces whose mouthpiece he is, are acutely aware of the fact that in public ignorance lies the only thread of hope for the success of their schemes to submarine American popular government. They know that every day that sheds more light on the real meaning of the league and treaty and the devious methods employed by the president and his colleagues in writing them, means a further waning of their cause in the minds of the people. Just as the uresident sought to deny to Americans, through the censored cables, all knowledge of what he was doing in Paris, so his friends now seek to railroad the treaty thru the Senate before the people have a chance to be informed of its terms.

WORKING CAMPAIGN AT FRIENDSHIP CHURCH

Friendship Baptist Church in East Clanton is going to put on a working campaign all next week, beginning on Sunday night. Rev. W. P. Lowery will preach every night; during days appeals will be carried from the church right into the homes of the community in the interest of better support to the church and more consecrated religious devotion. This is not a protracted revival, as that was held a few weeks ago, but it is merely to awaken interest among the members of the neighborhood.

We invite all Baptist people to come and be with us and help us in our efforts to render a better and more effective service in the great cause of the Master.

COMMITTEE INSPECTS OUR COUNTY POOR HOUSE

David Childress and N. A. Kicker, two of the committee of the Chilton County Grand Jury, appointed by Judge McCord at the regular February term of the Circuit Court, to inspect the county poor house visited said institution on the 15th of August, according to their duties prescribed in their appointment. Their report rendered to the Probate Judge on September 1st, states that they found the alms house and conditions surrounding the same in fairly good shape. They state that the inmates have plenty to eat and are otherwise fairly well cared for and pravided for. The inmates told the committee, according to the report, that they were receiving good, kind treatment.

The above report is in keeping with the record that has always been made by Mr. W. A. Huckabee ever since he has been in charge of the county poor farm. We are glad that the county has such a man to look after its poor and needy old people.

SELL COTTON SLOWLY

There will not be a big cotton crop made this year. On July 25 the department of Agriculture estimated it at 11,016,000 bales, and because of heavy rains and unprecedented boll weevil activity, it may fall well under this figure. The shipping situation is getting better, and at an early date Continental European mills will probably be taking large quantities of cotton.

All this means that if cotton prices break to unprofitably now levels it will be the cotton growers' fault; for he has the market in his own hands, to make or mar. Even with a small crop, by dumping it all on the market as fast as it is picked, prices may be forced so low that there will be no profit to the grower. On the other hand, if farmers adopt the plan of gradual marketing, feeding the market each month only so much as it will take at good prices, the market will be stabilized and the grower assured of a fair return for his year's work.

Prices of cotton goods are so high that the spinner can pay even 50 or 60 cents a pound for raw cotton and make a fair profit. We are convinced that growers, on an average, must get at least 40 cents for cotton to make any profit, and thousands and thousands of farmers in the flood and weevil-stricken sections must get even more if they break even on their year's work.

STAND FIRM; SELL SLOWLY; AND DON'T SELL A POUND FOR LESS THAN COST OF PRODUCTION PLUS A FAIR PROFIT. ON AN AVERAGE, THIS MEANS 40 CENTS.—Progressive Farmer.

LAW MUST BE CHANGED

In the administration of the so-called Mann white-slave law frequent complaints have been heard that the act was taken advantage of by unscrupulous persons for blackmailing unsuspected men and women. Recently a grand jury in Florida went to the extent of adopting resolutions asking Congress to make needed amendments to the law. The suggested changes have been placed in the hands of Congressman Volstead, the Chairman of the Judiciary Committee, for his consideration. It is understood that Representative Mann never thought the courts would interpret the law as they have, nor was it the intention of Congress to have it so construed.

NOTICE TO NON-RESIDENT

VERBENA MAY GET BANK

D. F. Green, state superintendent of banks, was in conference Monday morning with parties from Verbena, relative to establishing a banking institution at that place. It is the desire of the people of Verbena to organize a bank with a capital of $15,000, and begin operation of this agricultural section. The graphite business near Verbena has also grown to such proportions that a bank there would greatly facilitate this industry.

PARRISH - MIMS

Mr. Thomas M. Parrish of Clanton and Miss Alsie Lee Mims of Maple Springs were married last Sunday. The wedding was unannounced and will be learned with much interest by the many friends of the popular two young people.

Be Strong

Strength of body, strength of nerves, strength of mind, depend very largely on whether you have enough iron in your blood. The world makes way for the strong people and they generally get what they want; out of life. Pale, weak, sickly, nervous, peevish, thin, dyspeptic individuals, need iron to build them up.

ZIRON

will put iron into your blood and help restore your health and strength. Eminent physicians agree as to the vital need of iron by the run-down system. ZIRON will give it to you.

J. E. Clifton, R. F. D. 3, Lyons, Ga., writes: "Last summer I had typhoid fever and had hemorrhages . . . and my health was wretched. I seemed to be unable to get my strength back. I had no appetite. I had no energy. I didn't think I was ever going to get well. My knees were weak, my flesh felt clammy. I was in a pretty bad condition. I heard of ZIRON and what a good tonic and strengthener it was and I sent for it at once. It helped me, I began to improve, and soon felt much better and stronger. My nerves were strengthened and I felt like doing something. We have nothing but words of praise for ZIRON". Try ZIRON.

COST OF UNPREPAREDNESS

Investigation of ordinance expenditures in the War Department by a sub-committee of the House has revealed the fact that only 481 guns were delivered in France after expending $1,181,182,850. Only 72 American-made guns reached the front. This would mean that from the standpoint of results, for results could only be counted by the number of guns actually engaged in the fighting, each one of these guns cost the government about $15,000,000. Out of the total of 20,000 guns of all descriptions contracted for only 4,082 were finished at the signing of the armistice, only 481 had been shipped to France and but 72 reached the front. It was also shown by the departments own figures that the result of the $3,173,054,546, expended for munitions was actual delivery of just enough shells to last a little more than a day's artillery preparation for a big battle.

BACK ACHE ALL THE TIME SAYS WELL KNOWN MAN

Kidneys did not Act freely, and Rhumatism Attacked Him—Tells How Dreco, the Herbal Remedy, Gave Quick Relief.

To all kho are troubled with the twisting, dragging pains of rhumatism, or the distresing, painful symptoms of kidney disorders, here is a message from a fellow-ufferer that will carry its own lesson.

"For a number of years I have suffered from rhumatism and awful pain in my back and limbs. Sometimes it seemed I could not keep at work for these terrible pains. My appetite fell off and I didn't sleep well, and was bothered with constipation very much. Recently my oints and hands began to swell up and were very painful, and my muscles ached. I had about decided that I couldn't get straight again, as everything I had tried had failed. A friend asked me one day why I didn't give Dreco a trial, as it was working wonders with many people. I bought a bottle, and it helped me so much I got the second and it is truly wonderful the good it has done me. The swelling is all gone and the pains have left me. My appetite has returned; I sleep sound, and am entirely relieved of constipation. Dreco has surely helped me when other things have failed, and I don't hesitate to speak a good word for it."

Dreco is a combination of juices and extracts of many different roots, herbs, barks and beries, which act directly upon the liver, kidneys, bladder, stomach and blood, and banishes from the system many ailments, such as rhumatism, catarrh, biliousness, nrvousness, headaches, los of appetite, indigetion, gas on the stomach, eczema, skin eruptions, gout, epilepsy, and constipation, when given a fair trial.

Dreco is sold by all druggists, and is highly recommended in Clanton by Upchurch Drug Co.

Tom McKee, a good Democrat, who lives on Route 5 subscribed for the Union-Banner one day last week. He said he didn't like our politics, but wanted the paper for the county's news. That's all right, Tom. We believe in a fellow being what he is all the time all over the world. So you can ust read the county news in the Banner every week and leave off the political readin'—if you want to. But it is all mighty good for sinners who will take the medicine. We believe it is never too late for a fellow to see the error of his way, make repentance and land safely on the banks of sweet deliverance.

Black-leg is reported among cattle in Coosa County according to county agent S. M. Day. Mr. Day is active at present vaccinating cattle as a preventative.

You Can't Cure Rheumatism With Liniments and Lotions

If you are afflicted with Rheumatism, why waste time with liniments, lotions and other local applications that never did cure Rheumatism, and never will?

Do not try to rub the pain away, for you will never succeed. Try the sensible plan of finding the cause of the pain. Remove the cause, and there can be no pain.

You will never be rid of Rheumatism until you cleanse your blood of the germs that cause the disease. S. S. S. has no equal as a blood purifier, scores of sufferers say that it has cleansed their blood of Rheumatism, and removed all trace of the disease from their system.

Get a bottle of S. S. S. at your drug store and get on the right treatment to-day. If you want special medical advice, address Medical Director, 49 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.

MR. J. G. GRIMES COMMENTS ON ODD-FELLOWS' ACTION

Dora, Ala., August 28, 1919.

Dear Editor:

Your valuable paper fell into my hands—a copy of the 14th inst., handed to me by on Odd Fellow. I saw an article headed "Odd-Fellows Fall Into A Snare." I must take off my hat to the writer of this article. And to start with, I want to say that I don't believe there is an Odd Fellow in the State of Alabama that believes in bringing political business into the Grand Lodge. I want it understood further that the writer of this article, while a member of the Grand Lodge and also an officer of the same, that I did not vote on this question nor did I vote against it, for it was brought before that august body when a number of us were absent. I was not a representative from my Lodge, but a representative from an adjacent Lodge—Wyatt Lodge No. 94. The Lodge did not say a word to me about adopting the League of Nations, neither did my Lodge intend for its representatives, Bro. D. D. Harper, to vote for or against the League of Nations. I understand that this resolution was drafted and presented to the Grand Lodge by one of the State Grand Lodge Officers of the I.O. O.F. And I wish to say just here that any Odd Fellow that will bring a resolution to adopt the League of Nations or any other matter, political or religious, either in the sub-ordinate or Grand Lodge of Alabama, is no more fit to be an officer of the Grand Lodge than a billy goat has to be toast master at a Sunday School picnic.

I want to state further that the Grand Lodge of Alabama has been too heavy with politics for a number of years until the Hon. Palmer Daugette's administration. And this is one of the reasons that we lost one thousand members every year. Under Bro. Daugette's administration we gained membership. We gained in finance, we gained in knowledge. I have been contented with Bro. Daugette for a long time; have met him in several lodges and conventions. But he never mentioned the League of Nations in or out of the Lodge.

In conclusion, Bro. Odd Fellow, let us vote for Grand Lodge officers that will send resolutions of political nature through a political channel and not through the I. O. O. F.

Yours truly,

J. G. GRIMES, Grand Conductor.

L. P. MARTIN ENDORSES OUR EDITORIAL ON ODD-FELLOWS

Dora, Ala., August 27, 1919.

Editor Union-Banner:

Please allow me space in your paper to say a few words in regard to what was said in last week's paper about the Odd Fellows of Alabama endorsing the League of Nations

I hereby endorse everything that was said in your paper against that. I was certainly glad to know that you Mr. Editor, had the nerve and backbone to tell the people of Chilton County that the Odd Fellows,—real true Odd Fellows, do not believe that this resolution should have been passed in the Grand Lodge, and as I am now not a citizen of Chilton County, but I am with a live bunch of Odd Fellows in Walker County, that are doing some real work in Odd Fellowship. I have shown this issue of your paper to a number of people over here and they all endorse what was said about the resolution being passed, that it should not have been done. And they also compliment both you and your paper and thank you for the stand you have taken in this matter.

I say this does not met the approval of, I'll say, one-tenth of the Odd Fellows of Alabama, and I say that it should be changed or repealed some way. I am speaking the sentiment of some of the best true Odd Fellows I ever saw.

This being my first time in life to try to write to any paper for publication, I will close for fear this goes to the waste basket.

Wishing the Union-Banner and its many readers much happiness and success.

THORSBY ITEMS

Thorsby Institute will open September 10, Wednesday of next week. A good attendance is expected.

Mr. D. J. Flummer, and daughter, Miss Gladys, Mr. Felix Eiland, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Pyper, Mr. W. M. McCain, and Miss Ida Lockwood, were delegates from the Thorsby Sunday Schools to the County Convention held at Mulberry on August 29th.

The Clanton Association of Congregational Churches will meet in annual session with the Stony Point Church, two miles west of Deatsville, Friday of this week. There will be three sessions daily, Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. Robert Johnson has just returned from a combined business and pleasure trip in the West. He was accompanied home by his daughter, Mrs. Edward Burgess, and her little son and daughter, of Venango, Neb.

Mr. Albert Peterson, who has been in the service of the U. S. Navy for several years, surprised his friends by bringing home a bride last week. The happy couple are guests of Mr. Peterson's parents in Thorsby, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Peterson. Mrs. Peterson was formerly Miss Loretta Flynn of New York City.

Miss Agnes Leary is expected home this week from a two-month's visit with relatives and friends in Mobile.

Rev. A. J. Holman of Seman is in Thorsby looking for a place to locate his family, as he wishes his boys and girls to get the benefit of the good school opportunities here.

Mrs. Gerald and daughters, Misses Agnes and Mary Ella, spent the week end with friends near Calera.

Farmers are making much of the few days sunshine and are very busy pulling fodder and getting in hay. Cotton is opening and will soon be ready for the first picking.

Miss Helen Jenkins, principal of the Institute, who has been spending the summer vacation with her parents in Demorest, Ga., will return to Thorsby this week.

Rev. E. W. Butler and Miss May Stoddard will attend the Clanton Association near Deatsville this week.

Dr. Howard Junkerman is in Cincinnati on a business trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hansen, of Hugo, Okla., who have been the guests for several weeks of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Peterson, returned home last week.

Miss Jola Gerald returned Monday from a visit with her brother and family in Clanton.

Regular preaching services at the Baptist and Congregational churches next Sunday. Young Peoples Societies will meet at all three churches at the usual hour.

Mrs. Chas. Howard has had as her guests this week her brother and sister, Mr. John and Miss Clara Husby, both former students at the Institute. Mr. Husby has just returned from nearly two years of active overseas service. Miss Clara has been spending her summer vacation visiting friend in New York State. They left Thorsby Monday for their home in St. Elmo, Ala.

Miss Rachel Peterson, who has been spending the summer with her grandmother, Mrs. Carl Peterson, will return to Cullman this week to enter school.

Mrs. L. C. Robinson entertained the Baptist Ladies Aid at her home last Wednesday. After the business session an hour was spent socially. Delightful refrehments were served. The September meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Pyper.

Mr. J. L. Winslow left Sunday morning for a business and pleasure trip in Indiana. He was accompanied by his daughter, Miss Luella, who will enter Earlham College, Earlham, Ind., after a short visit with relatives and friends enroute.

Thanks to our genial and industrious Street Commissioner, Mr. J. H. Goddard, Thorsby streets are being well looked after. What Mr. Goddard cannot succeed in getting done otherwise, he does himself, and as a result of recent labors with scythe and other implements of warfare against weeds and briers, Mr. Goddard is the happy possessor of several blisters which he is produly displaying to his friends. It is hoped that others will emulate his worthy example.

KNOX SEES A FUTURE CONFLICT HIDDEN IN THE PRESENT PEACE

Believes it Possible to Avoid Centuries of Blood Letting.

PEOPLE AWAKENING TO ISSUES

Little by Little Facts About Versailles Conference are Being Brought to Light.

Washington, Aug. 8.—Asserting that the pending treaty will lay the foundation "for centuries of blood letting," Senator Knox criticized features of the treaty in severe terms. He held the United States should refuse to become a party to the settlement and should make a separate peace with Germany. "I see no reason," said Senator Knox, "Why we should be parties to imposing upon Germany a treaty whose terms, our negotiators say, she will not be able to meet; a treaty that robs our ancient friend, China, in a way disapproved by o ur own negotiators; a treaty that lays the foundation for centuries of blood letting into which we should not be drawn; a treaty, that, contrary to our own judgment, fails to fix the amount of indemnity to be paid, leaving that vast question to the whim of a majority of a commission on reparations; a treaty predicted upon the assertion that a stricken and helpless world requires our counsel and our support, but leaves to the beneficiaries the decision as to the measure and character of the benefactions they are to receive; a treaty that with ominous words presages our involvement in the eruption of suppressed volcanic world conditions; a treaty that would require us to underwrite all the regional understandings between nations recognized by the league, most of which are based upon oppression of weaker nations, many of which are as yet secret and undisclosed, and when disclosed, might drive us to acts of injustice similar to that in which the President felt himself were waking to the true issue as the facts about the Versailles negotiations leaked out. "Little by little," continued Senator Knox, "they are bringing divulgence of the facts connected with the treaty and they may now hope finally to see the whole of the great gaunt tragedy into which those whom they have charged with protecting them were about to betray them." What i s it about these things that the people cannot know? What is there to hide from them? Must we take this thing, as the German people must take it, unsight and unseen? Are we to be no more advantaged than our fallen enemy?

WHY BE PARTICEPS CRIMINIS?

Friends of the peace treaty in the Senate contend that it would avail nothing if the United States amended the treaty so as to provide for the return of Shantung to China instead of to Japan. They claim that when the treaty is ratified by three powers it becomes operative, and that the United States would have no authority to compel a change in its terms relating to the disposition of foreign territory. Very well, then, why not strike out all reference to Shantung? We have sympathy for China in being robbed of possessions rightly hers but the American people would scarcely want to go to war with Japan to make her relinquish her Shantung claims, particularly when she is supported in them by England, France, Italy, and other nations. Neither does America want to give assent to the transaction by ratifying the treaty as it stands. The only logical course for the senate to pursue is to wipe the whole section from the treaty and put upon other nations the responsibility for whatever action is taken.

ALABAMA SOLDIER'S MEMORIAL CAMPAIGN IN CHILTON COUNTY

If Chilton County is going to subscribe anything toward the Alabama Soldiers Memorial Building to be erected on the Capital grounds in Montgomery, it must be done and done right away. The time will soon be out and it is necessary for us to do what we are going to do now.

County Superintendent of Education Howard L. Foshee, is in charge of the campaign to raise the Chilton County quota, and he has set the date of the campaign September 15 to September 20th. During these dates the several District chairmen throughout the county will accept subscriptions to the Memorial fund. Chilton County had 771 men in the service during the recent war, and we are expected to pay into the memorial fund six dollars for each of these men. This will make our part of the amount be $4,626.00.

The campaign has been thoroughly organized by the chairman with a local chairman of the drive in each school district in the county. Anyone who desires to subscribe to the fund may do so in his own school district by getting in touch with his district chairman.

Remember this is the last chance and if Chilton County is going to have a part in the erection of the soldiers memorial it must be done now. This campaign was due to have been put on the week of June 27 to July 4th. Owing to the misfit in the plans in this county it was delayed until this time.

CONFERENCE MEETING AT UNION POINT CHURCH

There will be a Conference Meeting at Union Point Church, near Coosa River, next Sunday, September 14, services to begin at 11:00 o'clock Everybody interested has a cordial invitation.

JOHNNIE MINER.

NOT PRACTICING HIS PRECHING

With full authority to act in reducing the high cost of living, Mr. Wilson made the House of Representatives remain in session, after all plans had been arranged for a vacation, on the plea that more legislation might be needed. Now, he himself is on a 25-day trip, conveniently forgetful of the fact that in him alone rests the power to put into effect the acts passed by Congress for the control of the food supply, exports of necessities, price fixing, and all other considerations that enter into the cost of living.

NOTICE BANK ORGANIZATION

Notice is hereby given of the intention to organize and incorporate a Bank for the purpose of engaging in the banking business under the laws of the State of Alabama.

The names of the proposed incorporators and stockholders are as follows: D. I. Deramus; S. L. Gibson; H. B. Oliver; W. A. Gulledge; H. T. Williams, and associates. The name of the corporation is as follows: "Bank of Verbena;" the place where said corporation proposes to do business is Verbena, Chilton County, State of Alabama; the amount of capital paid in with which the said bank will commence business is Fifteen thousand ($15,000.00) Dollars.

This, the 6th day of Sept., 1919.

ANOTHER FOURTEEN POINTS

Here are fourteen points against the ratification of the Peace Treaty:

1. The Shantung provision is international piracy, bringing dishonor to any nation party to it.

2. Great Britain is given six votes to America's one, without justification in reason.

3. By entering the League America would abandon her traditional policy on non-interference in European affairs.

4. The Monroe Doctrine would be subject to interpretation by the League Council, as asserted by British officials without contradiction.

5. The United States would be bound to maintain armies in Europe to regulate purely European affairs.

6. Our constitutional provisions that Congress shall have power to raise armies would be violated.

7. Domestic questions, such a immigration, tariff, and coastwise trade will come within the jurisdiction of the League if the foreign council so decides.

8. Insignificant nations, like Liberia, Hedjaz, etc., would have voting power in the assembly equal with the United States.

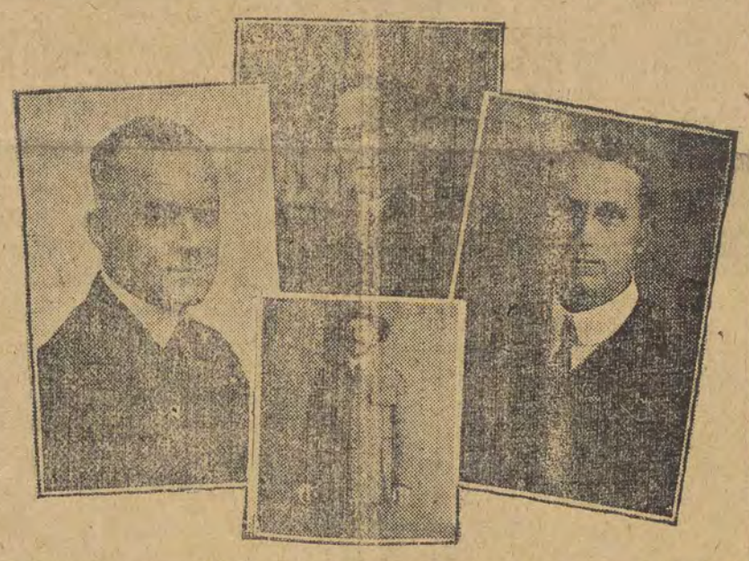
9. The United States would be bound to preserve the territorial integrity and political independence of every member of the league, many of them monarchies.

10. By bringing the charge that it involves a threat of war, any nation could require the United States to submit any quesion to the League for decision.

11. Article 23 requiring free transit and equitable treatment of commerce could be construed to forbid protective tariffs.

12. America, industrially and financially strong, would become the burden-bearer of the world.

13. The league covenant obligates the United States to give full and frank information concerning industries adaptable to war-like purposes, thus putting American industry at a disadvantage, since most important industries are of such character.



14. America has nothing to gain and much to lose by entering the league.

Prof. F. B. Williams, teacher of the Littlejohn School was a callelr at the Union-Banner office last Saturday. He stated that his school had closed and expressed very high praise and commendation for the people of that community for the pleasant and valuable co-operation they have given in his work there this summer.

Robert Bean brought the Union-Banner a potato Tuesday that weighed two pounds and ten ounces.

Dr. Middleton S. Barnwell, Dr. Henry M. Edmonds, Judge Sam D. Murphy, Rabbi Morris Newfield (in uniform), well known directors of Alabama Children's Aid Society.

"Alabama's Charity for Alabama's Own"

An announcement of much interest has just been made to the effect that four very prominent Alabamians have pledged themselves to tour the state in the interest of Alabama's childhood. These men, Dr. Middleton S. Barnwell, Dr. Henry M. Edmonds, Judge Samuel D. Murphy and Rabbi Morris Newfield, have donated their services to this much needed work and will carry their messages to the people all over the state. The work is under the auspices of the Alabama Children's Aid Society, an organization of noble men and women working to reduce the debris on the sea of human life at that time in life when such work may be most effective—the period of childhood. The work is in connection with the campaign undertaken by the Society to raise $30,000 to carry on its endeavors and it goes without saying that the people of Alabama will respond as Alabamians always have.

Dr. Barnwell's itinerary is Northern Alabama, embracing the counties Lamar, Fayette, Walker, Blount, St. Clair, Talladega, Cleburne and all counties north of that line. Dr. Edmonds, Dr. Newfield and Judge Murphy will cover the principal towns and cities in Central and Southern Alabama. Engagements have already been closed for Dallas, Tuscaloosa, Pickens, Marengo, Pike, Houston, Barbour, Conecuh, Escambia, Butler, Mobile, Montgomery and Shelby.

The Alabama Childrens Aid Society is an interdenominational association, state-wide in its scope, thorough in its work and vital in its essentials. "They do for the appealing, innocent, helpless children of Alabama what you would do if you had the time."

The society is supported entirely by voluntary contributions and during its existence has helped hundreds of homeless babies to find permanent, happy homes. The work is not confined to infants alone, but dependent, despairing childhood of all ages are sought out, cared for and prepared for the battle of life. It is confidently expected that thoughtful Alabamians will rally to the support of this most worthy institution and that the sum asked for will be speedily and easily raised.

LETTER FROM MR. B. E. COLLUM

Union-Banner:

Please give me space in the Union-Banner to express my understanding. I have been asked by many people as to the Grand Lodge of I.O.O.F., which met in Birmingham on August 5 and 6, as to their adopting the League of Nations.

In the afternoon of the first day I answered the roll called until it adjourned, and I failed to hear the League of Nations adopted. I did understand this: The Grand Lodge asked the Lodge to adopt the administration of our president by a vote of I's and No's, and declared the I's have it, in which was correct according to the votes of the Lodge.

We believe our I.O.O.F. Lodge is made up of good honest people who look before they step and think before they speak as the all-seeing eye is ever upon us. I want to say that we cannot adopt something that we do not understand. The League of Nations may be for our good but this we do not know, and it is against our order to bring political subjects into it. And should the Grand Lodge adopt the League of Nations it would have been a political move and not complying with the order, and is also a violation of the order; so Brothers, let us be careful as to what we say and adopt.

As we have give our blood, talent and money, and everything that has been asked for, in order that we may be free, let us understand what the League of Nations stand for before adopting it. Talk about freedom since the war was declared against Germany, I m afraid to attend to my own business. There has never been a time in our history that we had as many laws to comply with as we have today. We Odd Fellows stand for great and noble things and when we adopt anything we want it to be not only for the good of our order but for all mankind; and when I read Bro. J. G. Grimes' letter followed by Bro. L. P. Martin of Dora, Ala., It makes me feel good to know that there are other Odd Fellows that felt and understood things as I did at the Grand Lodge.

Now, Brother Odd Fellows, let us get pep enough in us to burn out the things which sometimes come in our order and cultivate things which make men social and humane. Now brothers, let us stay inside of our order and not bring things in it that our laws forbid, that united we stand and divided we fall—that in union there is strength. Now, boys, we have fought a good fight and let us keep the faith of our order.

I am thankful for other things in our order and that is we have a way of letting our ladies share with us, and the greatest of all, look at the home prepared and filled with the orphans of Odd Fellows.

In conclusion, I must say that when you read the I.O.O.F. which is an independent order of Odd Fellows it means all it stands for.

Now, Mr. Editor, if Bro. Reynolds and Bro. Collier are through shooting you may load the gun with this empty shell. With best wishes to the Union-Banner and its readers, I am,

Very sincerely,

B. E. COLLUM.

"I have been bad off with stomach and liver trouble and bloating for many years. No doctors or medicine helped me. On the advice of my druggist I bought a bottle of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy (and I don't want to miss a single dose. It has given me more benefit than all the medicine I have ever taken. I feel I am doing good to recommend it to others." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflamation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded.

WILL MANTLE OF MR. WILSON FALL UPON SON IN LAW McADOO?

Widespread in Capital That Enormous Campaign Fund is to Help McAdoo.

NEPOTISM WOULD JOLT MANY

If President Throws Influence to Relative Prospects of Others Grow Dim.

Washington, Sept. 9.—Is it the huge campaign fund of $5,000,000 to $10,000,000 which the Democratic National Committee intends to raise to be used, along with whatever machinery is at the National Committees command, to bring about the nomination of William G. McAdoo?

This question has been raised here by a story published in a pro-Administration newspaper to the effect that National Chairman Cummings who has been going the rounds of the States with a corps of organizers, has really been seeking to impress upon party leaders the idea that Mr. McAdoo is the man for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1920. Mr. Cummings and his aides have been touring the land at the expense of the national committee.

The gossip has gained added interest from the fact that Mr. McAdoo paid a visit to Washington this week and had a long conference with President Wilson, has father-in-law.

It has been well understood here for some time that many of the strong influences within the Democratic organization were favorable to Mr. McAdoo provided the President did not seek a third term, in which case, of Course, the President would control the machinery. It goes without saying that the story about the National Committee activity will be interesting if no pleasant reading for such aspirants for White House honors as Attorney General Palmer, Secretary Baker, Secretary Deniels, Governor Cox of Ohio, Senator Owen of Oklahoma, Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, Senator Pomerene of Ohio, and other candidates.

Is it possible the "double cross" is being utilized in this manner right in the very inner circles of the administration?

What seems to be needed is to have Mr. Burleson or some disinterested party establish a mandatory over that $10,000,000.

WEST CHILTON

Cotton opening, price declining. Will the farmers strike? When he does it will be read in box car letters. Everything else seems to have the strike fever while the farmer pursues the ever terror of his way and only consults the sun, clouds and rain.

Several from this section attended the singing at Providence Sunday. They report a good time. Our popular sheriff was there and did some fine directing. Among the finest singers was Miss Bonny Wallace of Dry Valley.

Thomas Pate died a few days ago. He was a young man, had been an invalid a long time, had been confined to his bed four years.

It seems that the Tax Collector and Assessor have not forgotten us but will soon visit us again. These gentlemen are men of the people, good business men, trust-worthy and entitled to honorable mention.

Among the prominent visitors at the singing Sunday was B. C. Cobb, His past official record speaks well for him. The Cobb family are fine people..

The one who contributes most to the happiness of his country is the person that works all the time; busy producing something, that one's lot may be hard, it often is, they may not achieve brililant success in life, but their contributions to the happiness of the comunity will cover them with glory. W. J. Armstrong has opened up a hotel in the Hays Building, where he will be glad to see his friends.

Mr. H. A. Harris went to the University at Tuscaloost Monday with his son, Rother, who is entering work there for the coming session.

J. E. McDowell of Route 2 went to Tuscaloosa Monday on business.

Wiley Littlejohn wishes to remind his friends that they can find him on the Reynolds corner, ready to sell them anything they want in the way of Shoes, Clothing, Dry Goods, Millinery, etc. Go see him.

The cattle dipping season for this year will be over now in about a month, and it is presumed that most sections of the county will be found tick-free and not required to carry on dipping next year. But there will be a great number who will desire to dip some next year, even if they have no ticks.

INTERNAL REVENUE LICENSE.

Birmingham, Ala., Sep. 2, 1919
Hon. John L. Gore, Sheriff of Chilton County, Clanton, Ala.

Dear Sir:—No internal revenue licenses have been issued in your county in the months of July and August.

I hereby certify that I have carefully examined the record of the Collector of Internal Revenue and above is complete and correct.

Yours very thruly,
SAM P. JONES,

Why Suffer?

Mrs. J. A. Cox, of Alderson, W. Va., writes: "My daughter . . . suffered terribly. She could not turn in bed . . . the doctors gave her up, and we brought her home to die. She had suffered so much at . . . time. Having heard of Cardui, we got it for her."

CARDUI

The Woman's Tonic

"In a few days, she began to improve," Mrs. Cox continues, "and had no trouble at . . . Cardui cured her, and we sing its praises everywhere." We receive many thousands of similar letters every year, telling of the good Cardui has done for women who suffer from complaints so common to their sex. It should do you good, too. Try Cardui. E-77

Studebaker

WAGONS BUGGIES HARNESS

THE LONG LIFE OF A GOOD WAGON

We bought our two Studebakers from your agent, Moses Logan, 37 years ago.

Our neighbors have worn out three or four wagons of other makes since we bought ours.

We have never broken anything on the wagons and the hubs are perfect yet.

One is a lumber wagon, the other a spring wagon. Both are good for years of work yet.

Arthur Martin,
Sandy Lake, Pa.

Studebaker 37 years old—hubs perfect yet

Not strange for the Studebaker—because the hubs are of fine, close grain—tough, strong and treated with a secret sealing solution that is weather resisting.

Notice the hubs on the next Studebaker you pass on the road—you'll find they are not split or checked like the ordinary wagon.

And in these hubs are set the famous Studebaker slope shoulder spokes.

The Studebaker Farm Wagon Wheel is best made.

We sell the Studebaker because we believe it is the biggest wagon value on the market.

Ford

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

During all the years the Ford Model T one-ton Truck has been on the market, we have never had one complaint of rear axle trouble. We have no coplaints of motor trouble. As the motor and the rear axle are the vital fundamentals in a motor truck, we have the right to conclude that the Ford one-ton Truck has not only met the demands of business, but has done so in a satisfactory and economic way. There is no other evidence so convincing as that which comes from long practical experience. Ford one-ton Trucks are serving along all industrial and commercial lines. You will find them everywhere. If these statements were not facts, the demand for the Ford one-ton Truck would not be as large as it is, because people are not buying trucks which do not give service. Coupled with the dependability of the Ford one-ton Truck in all classes of usage, comes the economy in operation and maintenance. On the farm, in factory delivery, for the merchant, manufacturer, and constructor, in these days of modern business methods, this worm-drive one-ton Ford Truck has become an actual necessity. THORSBY ITEMS

The public school will open Thursday. The teachers for this year are Prof. Crumpton, Mrs. Hattie Gerald, and Miss Bertha Littleton.

Revs. Chas. T. Rogers, James W. Davenport, and E. W. Butler have returned from Stony Point Church, near Deatsville, where they have been attending the Clanton Association of Congregational Churches.

Thorsby Institute has been fortunate in securing the services of Lawrence W. Wild of Averille, Vt., as athletic director and teacher of mathematics. Mr. Wild is a graduate of Middlebury College, and has recently returned from seven months service in France. Previous to his entrance into the army he was head of the English Department at Stamford Military Academy. Mr. Wild has had marked success with boys and it is with pleasure that the Institute announces his coming.

Miss Agnes Gerald left Saturday morning for Demorest, Ga., to enter Piedmont College for her second year work. Miss Gerald spent Sunday in Birmingham with Miss Olga Soberg.

Mrs. M. H. Nottage, teacher of voice and French in the Institute, arrived in Thorsby Sunday morning. Mrs. Nottage spent the greater part of the Summer vacation at her home in Goshen, Mass.

Misses Margaret Rutherford, of Laurelton, Pa., and Mabel Craig, of Balfast, Maine, will arrive in Thorsby some tine Tuesday. Miss Rutherford will teach science, English and domestic art, and Miss Craig will teach Instrumental Music and mathematics in the Institute.

Miss Clara Peterson of Atlanta is visiting her parents this week. She will return to Atlanta Saturday.

Miss Agnes Leary returned to her home Monday after a pleasant visit with relatives in Mobile. She was accompanied to her home by her cousin, Miss Allison Saltman of Mobile, who will spend the winter in Thorsby and attend the Institute.

Mrs. Hattie Gerald and Miss Ruth spent Saturday and Sunday in Birmingham.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. S. Howard have as their guests Mrs. Howard's parents Mr. and Mrs. Iver Husby of St. Elmo.

Sgt. John W. Ford, Jr., of Gallion, stopped over in Thorsby on his way to Auburn, where he will enter the State Agricultural School this fall. Sgt. Ford received his discharge from the army in July, after a little more than two years service in this country and overseas. He was a student at Thorsby Institute at time of his enlistment early in May, 1917. John says he feels more like he is back in the States now since he has visited Thorsby.

The Ladies Guild, as usual at the beginning of the school year, will give a reception on Friday evening of this week at Bates Hall to the Faculty of Thorsby Institute, the trustees and their wives, the students and their parents and also those who have contributed to the support of the school during the past year.

HUNTERS SHOULD NOTICE THE CHANGES IN THE GAME LAWS

Some changes were made in the Game laws of Alabama at the first session of the legislature this year, and from the way we hear big guns in the swamps around Clanton every morning about daylight, it seems it might be advisable for some hunters to take notice of these changes and maybe prevent themselves being entangled with the law.

Now the open season on squirrels is from November 1st to February 1.

Open season on partridges is from November 1 to March 1; on doves from October 16 to January 31.

Possum hunting and the capture or taking of possums is unlawful, except between the dates of October 15th and March 15th.

Persons engaged in trapping cannot do so under any circumstances except between November 1 and March 1, and then they cannot engage in trapping unless they pay a license fee of $10 to the Probate Judge of the county. No one can trap on the land of another without the written consent of the owner of the land.

LIBERTY HILL SINGING SOCIETY

The Liberty Hill Singing Society met in regular session Sunday afternoon. Colled to order by President with song. Directors were T. J. Littleohn, J. M. Smith, J. W. Lowery, Elbert Littlejohn and Glover Smith. A quartet was sung by J. M. Smith, J. W. Lowery, Glover Smith and L. V. Riggins.

Organists were Misses Zelma Lowery, Toy Littlejohn, Lillie Smith and Prof. W. G. Culp.

We were glad to have several visiting singers from Concord community.

IN PRAISE OF SHERIFF GORE.

Mobile, Ala., Aug. 22.

Editor Union-Banner:—While in Montgomery a few days ago, I was in conversation with a high official who is in position to know, and who does know, and he stated to me that John Gore was one of the best and most efficient sheriffs in the State of Alabama.

I was delighted to hear this, as I am always glad to hear good things of my friends, and I wanted the people of Chilton county to know what this high official thought and said of their splendid sheriff.

Yours very truly,

J. OSMOND MIDDLETON.

CLANTON BAPTIST CHURCH

Rev J. F. Gable, the pastor, has returned from his vacation, and occupied his pulpit last Sunday, being met by two good congregations. All departments of the church are moving along in fine shape. The pastor was in three protracted meetings preaching consecutively 41 sermons and receiving 41 additions to the churches.

On next Sunday morning he will produce a chemical experiment which illustrates the saying, "The Blood of Jesus Christ cleanseth us from all Sin." This is largely for the benefit of the children, but is impressive to grown people also.

The Ministers and Deacons meeting of Chilton County and Unity Associations was held last Monday. For various reasons the attendance was not as lardge as usual; but several new faces appeared. Rev. W. P. Lowery was elected Moderator pro tem. The morning session was taken up with reports of their work by various pastors and the discussion of problems and difficulties which were met with in the churches.

In the afternoon a proposed interdenominational movement was discussed, which is headed by the "Inter-Church Movement of North America." This makes an appeal for an all denominational lump sum for general missions and for a united program of work both at home and abroad according to the directions of the interchurch committee. The discussions brought forth this from the Baptist Ministers and Deacons Meeting:

"Resolved, that this body asserts its belief in the independence of the churches, which are Baptist churches and recommends that we avoid all organizations which seek to control us from an interdenominational stand point."

SURGEONS agree that in case of Cuts, Burns, Bruises and Wounds, the FIRST TREATMENT is most important. When an EFFICIENT antiseptic is applied promptly, there is no danger of infection and the wound begins to heal at once. For use on man or beast BOROZONE is the IDEAL ANTISEPTIC and HEALING AGENT. Buy it now and be ready for an emergency. Sold by Upchurch Drug Company.

HIS EAR TO THE GROUND

The president's course in dealing with the labor unions indicates that if the people of the country want a square deal from Wilson they must demand it in tones loud and long. The President heard from the country before he replied to the labor unions.

The president criticized Congress for proposing three-day recesses, and now takes a three-weeks tour himself.

DOVE HUNTERS ARE WARNED BY FEDERAL ATT'Y SAMFORD

Thomas D. Samford, United States District Attorney, wishes to call the attention of the public generally, and the sporting fraternity in particular to the Federal Migratory Game Bird Law, with special reference to the season for shooting doves. "It is a violation of the Federal law to shoot doves before October 16 and after January 31. Regardless of whether we approve or disapprove of this law, it is the duty of every good citizen to see that the law is obeyed," says Attorney Samford.

Mr. Samford further stated that he desired the newspapers throughout the district to publish this warning for the benefit of the public generally, who may be ignorant of the law.

It will be remembered that some months ago a special representative of the Department of Agriculture at Washington was in this district, and at his instance a large number of prosecutions were instituted for the violation of this migratory bird law.

CAN'T REMEMBER WHEN I'VE FELT QUITE SO WELL

Am Full of Energy and Vitality; Have Fine Appetite; Sleep Sound; Constipation Overcome; Stomach Right Again, Since Taking Dreco.

When a person has been half sick, feeling dull, tired and "no account," then gets a medicine that puts new energy and vim into his every-day life, he feels like letting others know about it. That's how this man feels. He is Mr. D. T. Carter of 405 Pine street, Anniston, Ala.

"For years I've suffered awful pains in my back from deranged kidneys. Sometimes I'd have to get up five or six times during the night. I also had headaches and was badly constipated, and my food seemed to ferment in my stomach and form sour gas, which caused much uneasiness and distress. I was very dizzy at times and had about lost my appetite. I had tried many different medicines, but none helped me, and I'd given up all hope of ever getting well again. I heard so much about Dreco I bought a bottle, and right from the start it did me good. It soothed my stomach and stopped the gas; put a stop to the constipation and headaches, also the dizziness, and my appetite got better every day. The pains in my back and kidneys have been entirely relieved, and now I go to bed and sleep all night long, and never have to get up during the night as I formerly did."

Dreco is made of the juices and extracts of many herbal plants, which act on the kidneys, liver, bladder, stomach and blood, and corrects many troubles, such as gas on the stomach, constipation, weakness, poor appetite, nervousness, headaches, biliousness, catarrh, rheumatism, and such blood disorders as eczema, pimples, blotches, boils and eruptions. The first bottle usually shows splendid results, and a full treatment brings permanent results.

FORCED PROFITEERING

Undoubtedly, there is much truth in the assertion that the Wilson administration has ruined many otherwise promising youths by paying them $10 a day whereas their pre-war compensation was $15 a week. Some of them now insist upon remaining idle rather than work for less than the $10 per.

PETITION AGAINST THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS

The great number of people in Chilton County who are opposed to the League of Nations as submitted to the Senate for ratification, now have an opportunity to register their opposition to same. Mr. M. F. Lett of Highland was in Clanton last Saturday and had half a dozen petitions against the legue prepared, which he will have circulated in different parts of the county. When the signatures of the people are attached to the petitions Mr. Lett intends to send them to one of the Republican Senators at Washington and have it put on record in the proceedings of that body.

MRS. ROSA EASTERLING

Mrs. Rosa Easterlilng, the devoted wife of Mr. Johnnie E. Easterling, died at the family home on the third day of September. She had been sick a couple of weeks before her death. The deceased was the mother of five children, three of whom are living and two dead. About nine years ago Mr. and Mrs. Easterling were married and since that time have lived in their home community about four miles northeast of Clanton. Their many friends are grieved at the sadness that has been visited on the family by the death of the loving wife and mother, and all join in extending sympathy to Mr. Easterling and his little children who are left to mourn in this sad hour of their greatest loss.

Prof. Willie J. Mims, a Chilton boy who has risen to a high rank as a teacher, was in Clanton last Saturday. He is engaged for the coming year as director of the Department of Mathematics in the Ensley High School. Mr. Mims' many friends here are proud of him, and wish him continued success in his work.

PITTS-REYNOLDS.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Reynolds of Clanton, announce the engagement of their daughter, Myrtle, to Mr. Percy M. Pitts, of Columbiana, the wedding to take place at the home of the bride November 5, 1919.

The wedding program is as follows: Mrs. Grady Reynolds, Matron of Honor; Misses Lessie and Annie Reynolds, sisters of the bride, will be respectively maid of honor and brides maid; Jack Pitts, brother of groom, best man; groomsmen to be selected; little Miss Jane Roberts will be the flower girl; Rev. E. C. Maye will perform the ceremony; Mr. Edwin Cook of Birmingham will sing, "All for You," and "Because;" pianist and violinist yet to be selected.

The above announcement will be read with much interest over the entire state by many friends of this popular young couple.

Miss Maude Mullins last Wednesday afternoon "let the cat out of the bag," and thus surprised a large concourse of friends who had assembled to spend a social hour with Mrs. Reynolds and her daughters.

Mother nature had provided a beautiful carpet and had decorated with shrubbery, the front lawn of the hand some colonial home. Elaborations in tones of white and pea-green ribbons were skilfully made in the decorations; the color scheme also prevailed in the refreshments. Beside the punch boll, presided over by Miss Willie Belle Sartor, was placed a vase of the time-revered roses of Sharon.

It seemed but fitting that the guests on this auspicious occasion should be assembled in this favored retreat, seated picturesquely in one grand circle that this should be the propitious time for the announcement of such an interesting event. Opportunity was given the guests for inscribing wishes for the benefit of the bride; some of these were witty, others beautiful; all were conducive to her life-long happiness. Upon departing the guests verbally showered the bride-elect with wishes.

For some years Myrtle Reynolds has made Clahton her home; her childhood was spent in Jemison. Possessing many lovable traits of character, and being highly accomplished she has become endeared to many and is universally admired by all with whom she comes in contact. It is gratifying to the home folks that it is a neighboring town that will enjoy her citizenship.

Mr. Percy Pitts was graduated at the State University in the law class of 1913; he immediately began the practice of law in Columbiana, his home town and had attained a flattering degree of deserved success; and then came his country's call. He received his commission at Fort McPherson; eleven months were spent in France.

The out-of-town guests were Mrs. J. C. Pitts, Columbiana; Mrs. W. P. C hristine, Columbiana; Mrs. Robert Holcombe, Calera; Mrs. Sid Gibson, Verbena; Mrs. Billie Barton, Auburn; Miss Mattie Hand. Jemison; Miss Elizabeth McNeill, Jemison; Miss Bertha Johnson, Jemison.

After a brief honey-moon Mr. Pitts and his bride will be at home in Columbiana, where he has resumed the duties of his chosen professionn.

COMPLAINT OF CHURCHMEN

And now prominent ministers, of various denominations, are blaming the defects of the league to the fact that the peace conference refused to open its sessions with prayer and failed to mention the Diety in the peace treaty. The framers of our own Declaration of Independence and Constitution made such mistake.

AGGRESSIVE IN TRADE AS IN DIPLOMACY

Exports from Great Britain for the first seven months of this year totaled $1,950,000,000 in value, compared with $1,450,000,000 for the first seven months of 1918, when the war was in progress. This increase of $50,000,000 in British export trade over a period of seven months is a pretty good indication that Great Britain is to be a competitor to reckon with in the markets of the world.

NEW HOPE SCHOOL

The following pupils were on the Honor Roll last week for their regular attendance and good work and behavior in school:

Grady Sammons, Luther Sammons, Holly Mims, Henry Mims, Forest Mims, Jimmie Ellison, Grady Ellison, Ernest Ray.

Several others missed only one day. We had a very interesting week in school and the pupils gave very interesting program Friday P.M., consisting of speeches, a geography match, and some very interesting little games played by the primer and first grades. All those present seemed to enjoy themselves.

We invite all the patrons and others to come and be with us any time you can. DAISIE ROBINSON.

Wiley Littlejohn wishes to remind his friends that they can find him on the Reynolds corner, ready to sell them anything they want in the way of Shoes, Clothing, Dry Goods, Millinery, etc. Go see him.

NO DIFFERENCE

We have now learned that an "absolutely compellling moral obligation" is at times even more binding than a legal obligation. What's the difference what you call it, so long as it is quite plain from the President's answers that the United States is bound under article X, absolutely and compellingly to go to war to protect the territorial integrity and political independence of every nation in the league?

Penny Pinching Not Always True Economy

The housewife — schooled in really scientific domestic economy—no longer throws away a nickel to save a penny.

A good way to illustrate this would be through a comparison of the wholesomeness, efficiency and economy of a plain flour and a standard baking powder and a so-called self-rising flour. It doesn't pay to buy self-rising flour. Most of it is made of low grade materials. It causes many bake-day failures and a great loss of expensive baking ingredients.

The housewife will throw out in wasted materials many times the amount she hopes to save. Beside, self rising flour has a tendency to get lumpy and that's another waste. But what is most important, the housewife gets less in return as far as food value is concerned than if she purchased a plain flour and a standard baking powder.

True economy in baking powder demands the highest quality at the lowest price. A Baking Powder made only of the highest class ingredients obtainable, so skillfully and accurately proportioned that it not only produces the maximum of leavening power but conserves that power, retains its strength and is unfailing in results, is economical in cost and use. The housewife saves when she buys it. She saves when she uses it — and she saves the materials with which it is used. That is economy in its highest form—the only kind of economy the housewife should attempt to practice.

ARE THESE THE WILSON TYPE?

Woodrow Wilson is the absolute dictator of the Democratic party. By his wishes, Homer Cummings remains as Chairman of the National Committee and Scott Ferris as Chairman of the Congressional Committee. Cummings is the man who was quoted in press dispatches as referring to Senators as "imbeciles" who would have to use step ladders to get up high enough to look into the subcellar of Woodrow Wilsons' mind. Mr. Ferris is the man who denounced as "ridiculous" the motion to amend the draft bill by raising the pay of soldiers to $30 per month. The retention of Cummings and Ferris in their present positions is an insult to every voter who cast his ballot for one of the Senators called "imbeciles" and an affront to every "buck private" who served in the army that is now being disbanded. It is up to Woodrow Wilson.

Our courthouse will be completed in a short while now. The seats for the big court room have already been shipped, and the work on the Judge's stand is in progress. It will not be many more weeks till the building will be ready to accommodate the Circuit Court. All the county officials have moved into their new offices, except the County Superintendent of Education.

Mrs. John T. McElvaine, formerly Miss Etta Headley, has arrived from Avon-by-the-Sea, N. J., to spent several weeks with her mother.

COMING TO CLANTON

The Associated Doctors Specialists Specialists will be at the Wilson Hotel, Saturday, Sept. 20, for One Day Only. Offer Services Free of Any Charge.

Convincing Evidence for the Sick—How Chronic Sufferers are Being Restored to Health thru Associated Doctors System of Treatment.

The Associated Doctors, Specialists, licensed by the State of Alabama, and who have met with such phenominal success throughout the entire Southeast, will be in Clanton on Saturday, September 20, for one day only to demonstrate their new system of treatment of chronic diseases cases. These regular, reputable physicians believe that the combined skill of several well trained specialists in chronic disease cases can accomplish more than one doctor alone—in other words, in unity there is strength.

The offer to treat all who call on this visit absolutely free, is their original method of getting their system of treatment before the public quicker, and no one, rich or poor, white or colored, should neglect to take advantage of their very liberal offer—absolutely frraillleasek ero. H te,emb ABSOLUTELY FREE (medicine excepted). No cutting—No Knife.

It makes no difference how many doctors you have consulted or how many patent medicines you have taken, you cannot afford to miss this opportunity of acsertaining your exact condition and be honestly advised. No one should require further evidence of the skill of these specialists than the following

Testimony:

Squire Cheatham, Bollling, Ala., writes: "I had rhumatism for over two years and walked with a stick. After taking the first dose of your medicine I threw away my stick. Your remedy has done the work and I am now a well man, thanks to the Associated Doctors."

Irt Craig, Greenville, Ala., writes: "I am doing very well. My foot is healing, although I am compelled to walk on it."

J. L. Redding, Saginaw, Ala., writes: "I am free from rhumatic pain since commencing your treatment."

Thomas Marshall, Chapman, Ala., writes: "I can truthfully say I am a new man. I feel I don't need the full eight weeks you prescribed."

Mrs. Margaret W. Rogers, Georgiana, Ala., writes: "I have been using your remedies prescribetd near three weeks and am feeling muchc better."

Now, that you know the truth, you have only yourself to blame if you continue to suffer from Piles, Kidney and Bladder Troubles, Discharges, Bed Wetting, Blood Poison, Skin Eruptions, Rhumatism, Epilepsy, Uric Acid Poisoning, Paralysis, Nervous Troubles and Debility, Neuralgia, Stomach and Liver Troubles, Catarrh, Asthma, Bronchitis, Pleuricy, Tumors Indigestion, Constipation, Gall Stones, Ovarian and Female Troubles, Enlarged Glands and reflex condition of the nervous system, and those diseases about which most people dislike to consult the general practitioner.

Bear in mind that this will likely be the last visit when the specialists extend their services FREE.

Hundreds have been restored to their perfect good health, with rosy cheeks and sparkling eyes—so may you. The specialists are too well known throughout the State to require further mention.

Married women should be accompanied by their husbands and children by their parents.

Remember the hotel, day and date—one day only.

SELECTION AND CARE OF PEANUTS FOR SEED

From Auburn Extensin Service

The peanut production of Alabama will be much less this season than last season, due largely to the use of bad planting seed. If Alabama is to maintain a maximum production of peanuts on the acreage planted the utmost care will have to be exercised in selecting, harvesting and storing the seed peanuts.

Peanuts which have been prepared for the regular market are not desirable for seed for several reasons. When peanuts are plowed up and stacked for seed peanuts they do not receive the particular attention necessary for seed peanuts nor is there any process for selection of desirable plants. Thrashed peanuts are most undesirable for seed because a large amount of the nuts are injured by being shelled out and hulls and skins are broken.

Tests made at the Alabama Experiment Station have shown that, peanuts with broken skins and peanuts shelled for a long time, have a very low germinating power and are unfit for seed. Storing peanuts in large quantities is liable to destroy their germinating power, due to heating and attack of molds. The shelling machines destroy the germinating power of a large percentage of the nuts, rendering them very undesirable for seed purposes.

The following process is recommended for obtaining seed peanuts of high yielding and high germinating power. When the peanut plants are plowed up ready to be stacked, go over the field carefully and pick out the plants having the largest number of sound, mature nuts, free from all disease. Enough of these selected plants for planting the next year's crop are stacked in small stacks off to themselves. These stacks should be well capped and allowed to cure in the best condition. It would be wise to have one stack composed of the choicest plants to be used for planting a seed patch the following year.

When these special seed stacks have cured well the nuts should be picked from the vines by hand if possible, (not on a thrashing machine), and then stored loosely in a dry place. One or two months before planting the seed peanuts should be shelled by hand and all undesirable nuts removed. By undesirable nuts is meant those that are shriveled, immature or diseased and nuts of other varieties.

This process of caring for the seed peanuts may mean an increase of from five to fifteen bushels per acre, which would well repay the trouble.

People Tell us Our Store is Different

Of course it's different!

Because it's service grocery. It's not just a store where groceries are sold.

It's a place where everything is done to make buying groceries a real pleasure.

A telephone that is always open to you.

A place where you can have a charge account.

A store that sells quality goods which it can recommend without the slightest fear or hesitation. To illustrate what we mean, just consider he question of baking powder. It's only a small part of our entire business but we consider it a most important feature.

Because baking powder plays such a vital part in the preparation of food in your home. If it isn't good it can ruin a great amount of good material. Therefore the baking powder we recommend must be good—so good that we won't have the slightest chance of displeasing a customer.

Pyzon is such a baking powder. It's pure, it's always uniform, always efficient and it will do anything any other baking powder will do. It's priced fairly and honestly, too, 40 cents per tin.

MR. GUY H. DESHAZO WRITES IN FAVOR OF REYNOLDSES

Maplesville, Ala.

Editor Union-Banner:

Will you kindly allow me space in your valuable paper to say a few words in reply to some letters that appeared in the last few issues of the Union, written or at least signed by one Mr. F. B. Collier.

Mr. Collier seems to have his "dander up" considerably because three of the Reynolds family were either elected or appointed to office in the county. Now, if Mr. Collier does not fancy the idea of the Reynolds family having these offices, why does ne not get in the race for them and get himself elected to one of these offices that he seems to be so mad about because a Reynolds holds it. If he could manage to get in and get some "pie" I think that he would hear no more of him, he is hungry for "pie" and can't get it, is all that is the matter with Mr. Collier.

In regard to the judge feeding him, Mr. Collier says first: "I am capable of feeding myself." Now, if Mr. Collier's capability along that line is so strong, why is it that he is so mad because the county has not given the Insurance business, and let him get the two hundred this time? I wonder what he wants with that two hundred dollars any way. Do you suppose that he would turn about and give it to someone else should he be so fortunate as to get it? No, of course he would not. He would keep it to buy something to eat. I don't suppose that Mr. Collier would consider that as being fed by anyone, but I will say that the county at large would be helping to feed him should he get this money. I see very plainly why he does not want the judge to feed him—he wants all the folks over the county to have a hand in the job.

Mr. Collier gets as "mad as a wet hen" when it is intimated to him that the commissioners think that they ought to give the new business to the same company that had to pay for the old court house, and because Mr. L. C. Reynolds was that company's representative and wrote the insurance on the old court house, and is their representative at the present time. Mr. Collier gets up on his "hinder parts" and paws up the earth about the Reynolds family controlling the county's financial affairs. Simply because one Reynolds is Probate Judge, another county treasurer, and a third county Representative in the State Legislature, does not substantiate Mr. Collier in his statement that the Reynolds family have the county affairs "by the tail with a down-hill pull." We have in this county a board of commissioners whose duty it is to manage the county's business, and the fact that Hon. L. H. Reynolds is the Judge of Probate is no sign that he runs that court his way altogether, for the commissioners have heads of their own and they usually "butt" with them, and the Judge only has a chance when a tie in the vote occurs. As Mr. Collier is a lawyer he should know better than to say that the Probate Judge has the thing by the tail and a down hill pull, for as a lawyer he knows that the Judge only has a say when a tie occurs.

Mr. Collier thinks that he has hit the "high key" on the organ of criticism when he says that the "arch enemy"—"the Democratic leader," was employed by the Judge and his son in a recent case against the county. Well, now, Mr. Collier knows that the Judge nor his son neither can employ counsel for the county. That power lies with the commissioners court only. And besides thae, when anyone employs counsel they usually get the man that they think is the better qualified for the work that will come before him in their particular case. They want a man that has sense enough to do what has to be done and do it to the best advantage of the client.

Mr. Collier gets "down on his hunkers" because Mr. Grady Reynolds copied the road law. He claims that Mr. Reynolds changed the road law so as to be in conflict with the State law. He also says that he will defend anyone free of charge who violates that section, and if Supreme Court should uphold conviction that he will pay the fine or serve the sentence. From this, one can see very plain what Mr. Collier is trying to do. He says he will defend such persons free and pay fine. So what other effect could that have other than to encourage people to break the road law, knowing as they do that there is a lawyer standing ready to defend them free and pay their fine. And then, too, who ever heard of a lawyer advertising for business? According to my information that is against the policy of the profession.

Now, who is this man Collier, any way,—who has took upon himself the duty of trying to paddle the canoe of the Republican party of Chilton County. I would like to know by what right he has become in possession of the rudder.

Mr. Collier says "one family rule" is "most pronounced" in the county court. He says the Judge's son gets up and "axe's his pa" to turn his client loose. Judge Reynolds nor his son are to blame because Mr. Collier's "pa" was not a judge and juror so that he could get up and plead with HIS "pa" to turn his clients loose. If the system that allows one man to be the Judge and the juror and the son the defending attorney is so rotten, why does Mr. Collier jump on the man and his son?—why does he not get after the ones who made the system? Mr. Collier says that he has told prospective clients that it would be best for them to employ the judge's son as counsel. Now, if Mr. Collier had been a good lawyer he would have held this business for himself and then he would not have had to be "busting" all the buttons off his cloths about a little insurance premium.

Mr. Collier, in conclusion, says that the "sunlight of publicity is a panacea if not a cure for the evil." The sunlight of publicity may burn the "panacea" or "pancake" until the "panacea man" may rot also, as well as the prompt and greed that he speaks off.

Now, in conclusion, Mr. Editor, I wish to thank you for your kind attention, and to wish you and the Union-Banner the best of success, and that we all may stand pat behind the true-blue Republicans of the county and nation in the coming elections,—that we may elect a full ticket from oresident to constable. I remain,

Yours for true-blue Republicanism,

GUY H. DeSHAZO.

MR. J. S. JONES REPLIES TO LETTER OF MR. EDWARDS

Cooper, Ala., Sept. 9, 1919.

Editor Union-Banner,

Clanton, Ala.

My attention has been called to some correspondence in your paper by Mr. G. W. Edwards and others, and I thought it was nothing but fair that the people know some facts that I am in possession of. I make this statement alone in the interest of the Republican party:

In 1908 I was a manager at the general election at Cooper, Ala., Beat 10, and the true-blues as they termed themselves,, had in independent ticket. Mr. G. W. Edwards was a candidate on this true-blue independent ticket for tax assessor, and was a voter at Cooper, and did vote in the election; and the count shows that he did not receive a single vote at Cooper, neither any other candidate on the true-blue Republican ticket received a vote.

Mr. G. W. Edwards' ticket showed that G. W. Edwards voted a Democratic ticket. I think the people that are honest and want to see the Republican party succeed should take notice, and ought to know who the parties are in this county, that are trying to divide the people and stir up strife. Just such correspondence as has been going on is nothing else and was started for nothing else but for the purpose of dividing our people. We can look back on the past and we have just such kicks as is being made now, and where are the parties that made them?

I hope our people will stay together and not let a few designing men mislead them. All we have to do is to watch the strawss omoithe.Aug.—C watch which way the straws point to see where the wind is blowing.

Yours very truly,

J. S. JONES.

The Wonder Medicine Of the Age

Positively Marvelous Results Follow the Use of Sulferro-Sol In Cases of Rheumatism, Indigestion, Eczema, and Other Skin Troubles.

People call Sulferro-Sol "The Wonder Medicine." It produces most surprising results in Rheumatism, Indigestion, Eczema and other skin and blood troubles.

"It makes you all over again," is one comment from a lady who won her fight for health by taking it. Sulferro-Sol is Nature's own remedy. It comes right out of the earth—a solution of sulphur and iron with other minerals and salts that are beneficial to the system. Thousands have used it and many have testified under oath that it has wonderful healing power. It contains no alcohol or dope, and therefore gives no artificial stimulation. If you suffer with any of the diseases named, or if you feel generally run down or weak, try Sulferro-Sol and find out what it will quickly do in improving your condition. Your druggist can supply you. Refuse any substitute. There is no medicine like Sulferro-Sol—nothing "just as good."

KENYON DENOUNCES WILSON AND FLAYS THE PEACE COVENANT

Says the Peace Treaty Has Put the Whole World in Mess and a Muddle.

Washington, Sept. 11.—Declaring that a vote for the league of nations in its present form would be "close to treason to my country," Senator Kenyon yesterday in a speech to the senate answered President Wilson's DesMoines speech.

Replying to the Preident's' charge that the senate's delay in ratifying the treaty is in part responsible for the high cost of living, Kenyon said:

"Now we are hearing that the high cost of living is due to the senate delay; also that bolshevism is beginning to start as a result of the senate delay. I suppose of there is a drouth Texas it will be due to this delay. The great delay has been in the peace conference and the senate is not responsible for that. Nonsense, even if uttered by a president, is still nonsense."

Kenyon said the intertwining of the treaty and the league have put the world "in a mess and a muddle," and now has the United States in the same mess and muddle.

Kenyon served notice that the senate "is not going to be bulldozed." He came out for a program of reservations on withdrawal, article 10, the Monroe Doctrine and domestic questions.

The president, Kenyon said, may ride through the country in his luxe train at the expense of the public and tell the people that section 10 does not mean attempting to send the boys of this country to fight for some boundary line in the Balkans or repel an invasion of the kingdom of the Hedjaz, but the people are perfectly able to read section 10 and able to understand what territorial integrity and existing political independence, and external aggression means.

"And mark it, presidential word or not, these men who have something to say about their own life, will not be coerced into fighting other nations battles. 'Our men,' as the president calls them, are not merely awaiting around to be told to go hither and thither wherever some foreign ruler may think it desirable."

Kenyon declared that those standing for reservations are not "contemptible quitters."

"They are trying to Americanize this league. They may reply to presidential billingsgate, to the charge of 'contemptible quitters' that the most contemptible quitters in the history of the world were those who assembled with high ideals at the Paris conference and permitted Japan to take over Shantung in violation of some of the 14 points and in violation of the doctrine of self-determnotion, and in violation of God's eternal justice."

To the president's "gibbeting" threat, Kenyon declared that "there will have to be a very large number of gibbets erected."

"Have we really reached the one man power in this country? Are the people really to be awed by such a presence of greatness? Possibly a few of them but not many. To deliberately put the situation in the condition it now is and then tell the senate what they must do, and go out to the country with provate trains at public expense to star a backfire upon senators does not sound like good Americanism. Nor do the speeches now being made by the president in the west indicate that calm deliberation that should characterize one in such exalted position. They indicate rather that wrath has taken the place of sound judgment on the throne of his mind."

BURLESONED

"Burlesons—That's the new name for the usual "rapid" mail service from our present post office department. The Philadelphia North American notes that a banker wrote a letter on July 3 to a friend at White Sulphur Springs, West Virginia. The Philadelphia postmark was dated July 31. The receiving stamp at White Sulphur was dated July 19th. and the letter was returned to him September 6. Another letter sent from Thetford, Vt., to Villonova, in Southeastern Pennsylvania, arrived somewhat late, having crossed the state for a visit to Pittsburgh.

WILSON'S TRIP HANDICAPS EFFORT OF LEGISLATORS

President Lectures About the League While Congress Works for People.

MIGRATORY HABITS INJURIOUS

Washington, Sept. 16.—Representative Rodenburg, of Illinois, author of the resolution urging President Wilson to postpone his tour of the country took occasion, upon the eve of the president's departure, to call his resolution to the attention of the House. Mr. Rodenburg commented upon the president's renewed absence from the capital, and the consequent retarding of the present campaign to lower the cost of living. Referring to the president's letter asking Congress to give immediate consideration to this subject, Mr. Rodenberg said:

"The situation, gentlemen, has not changed since that letter was written. Condtiions are even more critical today than they were on the first day of August. Thousands of railroad shopmen are out of employment, have quit their job, and there is a general feeling of unrest permeating every branch of that important service. And added to this there looms on the horizon the possibility of a very great strike in the steel mills of the country. While there is chaos and confusion in the industrial world, the cost of living continues to soar.

And, now in the face of this critical, this serious, and, may I not say, this desperate situation, the president starts out on a political tour, and the expenes of that tour are to be paid out of the Federal treasury at a time when he admonishes us to practice the most rigid economy. He intends to absent himself for another month from the nation's capital, where his responsibilities and duties are centered.

"Now, gentlemen, in the hope—vain though it be—of directing the attention of the president, whose migratory habits are proving not only an embarassment, but a positive injury to the best interests of the nation, to the serious mistake that he is making, I have introduced the resolution that is before you."

AMERICA'S BEST BAND TO PLAY AT STATE FAIR

Seventy-first Regiment Organization Booked For Concerts at Alabama's Big Show.

The musical program is always one of the big features of the Alabama State Fair, which is scheduled to begin in Birmingham Oct. 6, running for a week. This year the musical program is to surpass anything ever attempted by this amusement organization before.

In fact it might be stated that the management has contracted for its music by the wholesale this Fall, and the idea is to have continuous free concerts throughout the day, and into the night until closing time.

This year, the topliner in a musical way, is the 71st Regiment Band of New York City with Lieut. Lambert L. Eden, the world renowned director in charge of the baton. The 71st regiment band is not only known throughout the length and breadth of America, but has gained fame in the European countries, as well, and is justly billed as "the hit of the musical world.

Lieutenant Eben is recognized now as the peer of American directors. Under his masterful hand these celebrated musicians, gathered from the earth's four corners, have been combined into the most perfect band organization ever introduced to the American public. Besides Lieutenant Eben and his 35 talented musicians the organization also has one lady vocalist who sings "to beat the band."

The management made a ten strike when it arranged to have the 71st Regiment Band at the fair this Fall, and when announcement went forth that the band had really signed a contract to come south, Alabamians were surprised, as it had been figured that no offer would be enting enough to take them away from their concert work in the metropolis.

But having signed the best available band, the state fair management did not stop. It went after another as well to insure the fair patronage that there would be music at all times upon the grounds throughout the week.

McKay's Scotch Revue was also booked for the Fair. This organization is made up of a jazz, bagpipe and drum band, and is hailed by the press as a production of class and originality. It is absolutely new in conception, replete with terpsichorean effects and novelties, and jazz music on bagpipes and drums is served with a real Scotch flavor. This band furnishes comedy, singing and dancing.

With this band to assist the 71st Regiment band in entertaining the thousands that will flock to Birmingham beginning Oct. 6, and the bands from Johnny J. Jones Exposition shows, to help out also, the Alabama State Fair is assured more music this Fall than it has ever had before.

JUDGE REYNOLDS MAKES RED HOT ANSWER TO HIS CRITICS

Proves Good Record of County Court and Makes Explanation of Bill to Raise his Salary. Asserts Determination to Stand by Party.

Clanton, Ala., Sept. 16, 1919.
Editor Union-Banner:

Several articles have apeparad in your paper recentiy, mostly about me. I wrote an article which explained my position to the people as best I could, and I have not got the time to be answering letters every day. The parties that are doing the writing have nothing to lose—they have nothing to do, they have no friends to loose, hence, they can afford to write every day. Why, they would write two letters a week before I had time to answer one, and they would never miss the time from their business.

I will say this, that I can think of no higher compliment that could be paid to me, than for those that have tried in the past to destroy the Republican party to be always jumping on me. Of course, they feel sore because I have always stood ready to fight for my party and help defeat what they were trying to do, and they will not now stop my feeble efforts in whatever I can do to keep the people together. They have openly here in Clanton said that if enough would jump on me to make me quit fighting for the party, they they could destroy it.

People of the county have beengood to me, and I have tried in return to give them the best there was in me, politically, and officially, and if any Republican that has ever done any thing for the party were to kick I would feel bad, but so long as only those kock that want to destroy the party, it makes no difference with me, as I have said I consider it a compliment for those that want to destroy the party to first jump on me.

Some folks are so sorry I do not feel called on to even mention their names, but F. B. Collier is growling about a bill that has just passed the Legislature. I will explain it, as he has said he was through and was not going to write any more, or at least I have been informed he said this, he also said the first day after he wrote his first article, that fifty men had come to him and said they approved of his course. I reckon they number by thousands by now. He said he had the names of every one of them. I wish he would publish them. I will pay the expense of the publication and then some to see them published. The bill that is now before the Senate and has passed raises my salary to $1,200 per year as the County Court Judge. They are talking it on the streets that this is the only County that has been raised; they know this is a lie. Shelby has been raised, Macon County, and many others I could mention.

They are telling that I now get over three hundred dollars per month clear as Judge of Probate; they know this is a lie. The fees in the office have fallen off nearly one-third, the recording of mortgages has been reduced considerably, but this is a good thing for the people.

Collier and a few followers (but they always stay in the dark) are trying to make it appear that the bill is being kept a secret. W. A. Reynolds told a crowd from Clanton a few days ago that the bill had passed the House,—no one has been trying to keep it a secret. It was duscussed in my office last winter in the presence of several people. I have not tried to keep it a secret, and anyone that states that I have lies like a dog and they know it.

The Commissioners Court transferred July 22, 1918 from the fine and forfeiture fund to the road fund $1,500.00, and September 2, 1918 $500.00. There is now in the fine and forfeiture fund $2,690.72, and thec lerk has now on hand to report to the treasurer $410.00. This makes a total of $3,100.72 to the credit of the fine and forfeiture fund. The Circuit Court has only put into the fine and forfeiture fund last year and this year $565.000 and has drawn out over twice that much in expense, and perhaps three times as much, which the county court had to take care of. The county judges' salaries are not the same as fixed by the law in 1915, and any lawyer that does not know this ought to be sent back to school. While I got $300.00 under the same bill some county judges got as much as $1,200, some $600 and some as high as $900.

Collier raves about how the County Court is managed. I will pay all his expenses if he will find another County Court in the State that has done as well as this county court has done. This is a broad offer, as we have some mighty smart men as judges of some of the County Courts in Ala.

Collier complains of his practice in the County Court. If anyone will go to Mr. M. D. Foshee and see the records in the Circuit Court, they will find out his practice is just about as good as it is in my court. I wonder who is to blame for him not getting any practice up there—surely not me.

I hold county court every first Monday in each month, and I would be glad for every citizen of the county to come and see how it is held. If anyone that is tried in my court is not satisfied they can apepal to the Circuit Court and be tried by a Jury.

The Commissioners have already agreed to transfer $2,500.00 or $3,000.00 into the general fund at their next meeting to help pay the debts of the county. You had $2,000 transferred into the road fund to help you work your roads last year. All this comes from your county court, and yet your "new boss" does not like the management of it.

I have wondered whether Collier would call the Republican Executive Committee together to take charge of the party, or would just take charge and dismiss the committee.

All I ask is for the people to investigate for themselves and they can find out what the trouble is. If any one doubts, watch the connections. At the right time I will be glad to tell the people some things that have happened in connection with this attack on me, who started it, who has been advised with, who was in sympathy with it at the start, but now who would run if anyone were to see them talking to Collier. If he should go in at their front door they would jump out at the back window for fear someone would see them talking to him.

I beg pardon for this letter, but as it was being talked on the streets, I thought I would explain the bill raising my salary. Why don't they jump on the Democratic counties that have had their salaries raised? What about Shelby County right at us. Show one county that has done better than this county court has done.

Read Collier's letter in which he offers to defend any road hand who will not work the public roads. He offers to pay all cost if the case is lost. What does this mean? It invites every road hand in the county not to work the public roads. What would be the condition if all hands were to quit working the public roads? Is the offer made in the interest of the good of the county? Who ever heard of a lawyer advertising for cases, and proposing to take them for nothing, just to help destroy the public roads?

Respectfully,
L. H. REYNOLDS.

CIRCUIT COURT TO BE HELD SEPTEMBER 29.

The announcement has been made by Mr. M. D. Foshee, Clerk of the Circuit Court, that the next term of the Court for Chilton County will be held at the new courthouse, beginning Monday, September 29th, 1919.

This will be a Jury term of the Court, and the county Grand Jury will also sit in its deliberations.

The court has been delayed on account of the courthouse not being completed and there is quite a large docket of business accumulated.

NOTICE BANK ORGANIZATION

Notice is hereby given of the intention to organize and incorporate a Bank for the purpose of engaging in the banking business under the laws of the State of Alabama.

The names of the proposed incorporators and stockholders are as follows: D. I. Deramus; S. L. Gibson; H. B. Oliver; W. A. Gulledge; H. T. Williams, and associates. The name of the corporation is as follows: "Bank of Verbena;" the place where said corporation proposes to do business is Verbena, Chilton County, State of Alabama; the amount of capital paid in with which the said bank will commence business is Fifteen thousand ($15,000.00) Dollars.

This, the 6th day of Sept., 1919.

Tom Rockett of Cooper was in Clanton on Monday morning attending to some business maters.

FIRST NATIONAL BANK TO OPEN IN CLANTON SOON.

We are pleased to carry to our readers this week the gratifying news that Clanton is soon to have a National Bank opened here for business with our farmers and merchants. The Institution is to be under the management of the Grimsley interests associated with some of Clanton's best local business people.

Mr. Grimsley was here one day this week and stated that he intends to build up an institution here that will stand back of our farmers, promoting better agricultural conditions. He says he wants to help the farmers to build in Clanton a monument to the boll weevil.

Mr. Grimsley will also establish banks at Maplesville and Thorsby. Chilton County will be the recipient of untold advantage by the coming of these financial institutions.

JAPAN WINS AMERICA'S TRADE

To those who think that there is no need to fear trade rivalry following the war, and that the United States may safely pursue a watchful waiting policy the latest statistics of trade with the Orient are respectfully referred. These figures indicate that Japanis not only vigilant in international politics but in international trade. And she has not neglected her opportunities offered in America under the Democratic tariff law.

In June last, we imported from Japan goods to the value of $29,000,000 and in July to the amount of $39,000,000. In the same month we suffered a loss of exports to Japan to the amount of $19,000,000, showing a total change in Japan's favor to the extent of $29,000,000 to balance the account for the month of July. Manifestly, American producers cannot compete on even terms with the Japanese.

But that is not all. In our trade with China and India we suffered similar reverses, with the result that our total debt to the Orient on account of trade balances for July was $70,000,000. If that trend of affairs shall keep up, we shall soon have an adverse trade balance with the Orient of more than $100,000,000 per month, which would mean that every man, woman and child in America would, on an average, send a dollar a month to the Orient to pay the difference between our imports and our exports to that portion of the world.

League or no league, if Japan can keep up the July record, we shall not break her heart, however badly we may treat the "heart of the world."

MAMMOTH LIVE STOCK SHOW WILL BE GIVEN

This Year's Exhibits at Alabama State Fair to Eclipse All Past Achievements.

Visitors to the Alabama State Fair the past few years have seen some wonderful live stock shows and exhibits but they are to see the most splendid live stock show ever held in the state when the Alabama State Fair is opened to the public beginning October 6, for the management has arranged for the most gigantic exhibit of live stock ever held in this state, or any other state in Dixie.

The live stock feature this year will lay anything ever attempted before in the shade, and the directors are all smiles over the mammoth live stock show that this year's program calls for.

Frank Curtis, Hamlin L. Brown and G. P. Walls have been placed in charge of this department for 1919 and they have moved heaven and earth in an attempt to make this year's live stock eclipse all past achievements. Secretary J. L. Dent, who has looked over their program admits that they have succeeded.

The live stock program for the entire week of the Fair will be as follows:

Judging to begin each morning at 11:00 o'clock and continue until the program for the day is completed.

Monday, October 6th.
Swine—Berkshire.
Beef Cattle—Fat Steers.

ALFRED BAKER NOW AHEAD IN POTATO CHAMPIONSHIP RACE

His Exhibit Weighed Eight Lbs. and Six Ounces When Presented last Saturday.

Our potato contest, which started a week or two ago has taken on a very interesting aspect. Robert Bean started it off with o ne that weighed two pounds and ten ounces. Uncle Moses Robinson saw what Bob had produced and when he found one in his patch that looked like it might possess some champion qualities he sent it to us. This one weighed three and one-quarter pound.

Now, Mr. Alfred Baker, seeing he interest that was growing in our potato race went out to his patch and was greeted by a big Porto Rico Yam which he thought big enough to show Bob and Uncle Mose what a sure-enough potato looked like. Mr. Baker's exhibit was brought to The Union-Banner Saturday and weighed 8 pounds and 6 ounces when he got here with it. He stated that it weighed nine and a quarter when he first took it out of the ground.

But that is not all of the story. Mr. Baker says his wife dug the potato which he brought us, and that there were two others about the same size in the same hill.

So far as we know now this potato brought by Mr. Baker is the champion Union-Banner will be glad to have reports from anyone who has a champion potato. We will decide the con- of the county this season. The Untest with only one condition—that the editor have the privilege of eating all potatoes that are entered in the race.

When the contest closes, we will give a year's subscription to the person who has produced the biggest potato.

"GREATER THAN THE GOVERNMENT."

The cause of the league of nations is "greater than the government," say the president. We always thought the league would overshadow the government if it ever got started, so we are rather anxious to have its limits carefully prescribed before it gets going. And perhaps, we'd better take more time to study its limitations, and in order to do so, eliminate it from the peace treaty and take it up as a separate subject.

The Railroad Brotherhoods had to back dawn on their threat to strike when the public gave notice of its intention to strike back.

LOOKING BACK

At Columbus, Ohio, President Wilson asked if anyone believed that Germany would have gone to war if she had known that Great Britain would fight; and he added that certainly Germany would not have started the war if she had believed that America would fight. This was used as an argument for the league of nations backed by force, while at the same time the President is telling others that there is none other than moral force behind it. The truth of the mattes is that Germany learned Great Britain would fight. Lord Grey made that plain. Yet Germany went in. The first public utterance that can be found on the part of Mr. Wilson concerning America's attitude toward the war was in an address to Congress about four months after the war would begin, in which he boasted that "we are at peace with all the world. . . We mean to live our own lives as we will; but we mean also to let live." And a month later he murmured to the good people of Indianauolis: "Only America is at peace! Among all the great powers of the world only America saving her power for her own people!" Germany must have got sort of idea that America didn't have the nerve to go to war after that sort of talk, and more especially so, when one week after the sinking of the Lusitania, Germany was informed we were "too proud to fight." It will be curious to learn, as reports filter through the mass of press agent material now being hurled into the administration newspaper columns, just how far the American people of today permitted themselves to be blarneyed by a gentleman who has twice fooled them to the limit of the ridiculous. But we will lay odds that Lincoln was right and that this time Barnum's assertion will not prove itself.

Roman Catholics Seeking to Capture the Boy Scout Movement in America.

What would be the ultimate consequence to the movement of the Boy Scout organization of America, if the same should come under the control and dictation of the Roman Catholic Church?

This is one of the most burning questions of the present day, and one that should interest every parent in our country; and especially the ones who have boys enrolled in the Scout movement.

It has for some time been the opinion of the writer that such a scheme was being contemplated if not actually laid by the Catholics. We are now ready to assert that we see clearly that such a design is being planned. Our reasons for believing such will be found in the following quotations from an article entitled, "Catholics Heartily Endorse Scout Program," published in 'Scouing,' a weekly publication gotten out at National Headquarters of the Boy Scouts of America.

> Scouting is being brought to thousands of Catholic boys throughout the country, and the aim of the National Catholic War Council, in cooperation with the National Council of Boy Scouts of America is to increase the number of troops in Roman Catholic Churches to at least 1,000 within a year. There are now approximately 300 Catholic troops, the achievement of six years.
> The Catholic War Council, finding in the Boy Scout movement an excellent reconstruction method, has set aside suffidientfunds to put fifteen men in the field for one year or more to devote themselves exclusively to the organization of Catholic troops throughout the country. These men will work in cooperaion with our own organized field force and the chartered councils.
> The Catholic Church now has 500 or more units and it intends to organize immediately a troop for each existing unit and for every Catholic parish in the country. There are now 587 troops under the leadership of Roman Catholic scoutmasters, but only a few more than 300 are specifically recorded as connected with churches.
> A statement from the Council says:"There is no reason why the number of troops in Roman Catholic churches should not be doubled, not only for the sake of our boys themselves, but because, by its program and methods, the movement offers a channel for patriotic activities on the part of our Catholic youth."

The officials of the Scout movement seem to take it as a compliment to the work that it recives the endorsement of the Catholics. But they should reflect upon the designs of the Catholics here a bit and see what may be deducted. Do the Catholics heartily endorse the Scout movement alone for what the Scout movement within itself offers its boys in training and education? We venture to assert that they do not. On the other hand, we charge that the Catholics are preparing this great drive in the Scout movement to control it and dictate its activities in the interest of the Catholic supremacy in this country. The reason we apprehend such on the part of the Catholics in regard to the Boy Scout movement is because that is their avowed purpose in every activity they engage in. They have never engaged in a movement of any kind where there were protestants without scheming to eliminate Protestants and get all the favor for the Catholics. They would not support a school, a lodge, the Boy Scouts, nor even a government unless it be controlled, owned and operated by the Catholic influence. As an attest to this principle we cite you to the way they have strangled the government of our great country with their death grip. Also we recall the manner in which our army was dominated during the war and made subservient to the whims and undemocratic notions of Catholic influence.

Perhaps the greatest stride toward controlling this country was made by the Roman Catholics when they accomplished their porposes of controlling our military organization. The Boy Scout movement savors of the military spirit, and in keeping with the designs of the Catholics they desire to have it controlled by their power.

The Scout movement is purported as nonsectarian. Now we ask how do the Catholics feel about it in this respect? The plan is to increase the number of troops in Roman Catholic churches to at least one thousand within a year. The intention is further stated to organize a troop for each existing unit (Catholic unit) and for every Catholic parish in the country. What will be the procedure where the Catholics take over the organization of a Scout troop under auspices of the Catholic church? Will it be upon non-sectarian lines? Will they go to the homes of Baptist and Methodist parents and invite their boys into the formation of the troops with the assurance that the administration of maters in the work shall be done without regard to religious inclinations? Do the Catholics have a record of doing things in that way? No, they do not. They go along and do things in their own way and behind closed doors until they have got the hold they want. Then they do not invite other people to join them. They go to the people with on open and brazen demand for what they want done.

We can see clearly, and have seen for a long time, that the Catholic way of doing things will not mix with the ideas of plain old everyday American principles. Their methods are alien and foreign to America in every application of their activities. Their religion is foreign; their schools are foreign; they are not American in a single idea we ever saw them advance.

We see the ultimate disruption of the splendid Boy Scout movement in its control by the Catholics. The movement has become a powerful force in designing the lives of our future men and hence the reason why the Catholics desire to control it. The program of Rome is to make America Catholic; and in their hearty endorsement of the Scout Program we see another effort they are making toward the final consummation of their purposes to control this country.

A FEW PERTINENT QUESTIONS.

We went to war because "the Imperial German government has committed repeated acts of war against the Government and the people of the United States of America." as sated in the war declaration itself. We were associates but never allies of the nations at war against Germany. In view of that fact

Why is the United States embroiled in a controversy between Japan and China over the disposition of a portion of the latter's territory?

Just why should America be a party to the formation of the new Czecho-Slovak State, appoint a commissioner for tracing its boundaries on the ground, etc?

In spite of our love for the music of President Paderewski, would Americans lose any sleep if the boundaries of Poland did not follow the line Kreise of Leobschutz, Katscher, Ratibor, Oderberg railway, and Kranowitz?

What interest have we in the establishment of the Free City of Danzig, and do more than one per cent of our people know where it is or care why it is to be free?

Of what interest is it to America that Germany should give to England its former property at Shameen at Canton?

Although we have unbounded sympathy for Belgium why should it take the form of guaranteeing that she shall receive "200 stallions, 5,000 mares, 5,000 fillies, 2,000 bulls, 50,000 milch cows, 40,000 heifers, 200 rams, 20,000 sheep, 15,000 sows?"

Did we go to war in order to compel Germany to surrender her cables from the Straits of Dover to Fayal, from Dunkirk to Teneriffe, or from Constantinople to Constanza?

Do we particularly care whether or not the King of the Hedjaz recovers the original Koran of the Caliph Othman?

Is the final disposition of the skull of the Sultan Mkwawa of moment to America?

What business is it of ours where the triptych of the Mystic Lamb finds repose?

What advantage does America derive from compelling the Germans to fit their freight cars with apparatus so as to allow their inclusion in "good trains" of the allies?

Why should we guarantee the right of the Czecho-Slovak State to construct a railroad to Nachod from Schlauney—wherever that may be?

Yet, we are asked to become a party to a treaty that includes all of these maters—matters utterly foreign to our national welfare. The state of war is actually being prolonged while Senators wrangle over Shantung. Why not junk the whole unsavory mess, and either declare the war ended or write a separate German-American treaty that will include only the subjects in dispute between the two countries?

The Southern Democrat says that Mr. Kennamer in his Oneonta speech failed to state any constructive legislation that he will favor if elected to Congress, but that his policy seems to be to tear down what the Democrats have done. The Democrat is right for once. If Kennamer can knock out what the Democrats have done in the past six years, he will have accomplished a lot, especially the vicious, un-American legislation that has been put over by Woodrow Wilson and his gang of rubber-stamp statesmen.—Collinsville Courier.

Paid $105.00 for a Studebaker wagon 38 years ago

IN 1876 Mr. R. F. Dewey of Millersburg, Ind., bought a Studebaker farm wagon for $105. Dividing $105 by 38 years it will be seen that Mr. Dewey's Studebaker cost him—to date—$2.77 a year.

—and, as the wagon is still giving good service, every additional year that Mr. Dewey uses his wagon still further reduces the cost per year.

You can't beat this for an investment.

We carry a line of Studebaker wagons just as strongly made, just as reliable, as the Studebaker wagon Mr. Dewey bought 38 years ago,

THORSBY ITEMS

A mass meeting is to be held in Bates Hall Saturday evening, September 20th, at 8 o'clock in the interest of the Alabama Memorial Fund concerning which we are hearing so much these days. It is hoped that Prof. Howard L. Foshee, the County chairman of the Memorial Commission, will be present to present the cause. Rev. James W. Davenport will preside at the meeting. It is desired that every resident of the Thorsby school district shall make it a point to be present at this meeting if possible, and show his interet in the proposed Memorial to the soldiers and sailors of Chilton County and Ala.

Sgt. G. C. O'Kelley, recently visited his brother, J. H. O'Kelley. Sgt. O'Kelley was a member of the 6th Reg. Marine Corps and was overseas nearly two years. He participated in the battle at Chateau Hhierry, was taken prisoner by the Germans July 8, 1918. He was the only member of his company left alive. Sgt. O'Kelly spent six months in a German prison. He stated that the prison fare was very poor, the food very scarce, but aside from this, he was treated very well. After getting back to the allied lines he was sent back to Germany with the army of occupation and remained in service there until August, 1919, when he received his discharge and returned to the United States. Sgt. O'Kelley was enroute to Birmingham to enter Howard College.

Miss Orra A. Angell of Greenville, R. I., former librarian at the Institute, returned to Thorsby Monday and will spend several months here. While in Thorsby Miss Angell will have charge of the library.

Mr. E. R. Pyper, has purchased the Stanley property and will move there some time this month.

Mrs. Anna Villadsen is having a neat little bungalow builded near her residence. When completed, it will be occupied by Mr. Goodgame and family of Birmingham.

Zell Pope of Greenville, Ala., a former student of Thorsby Institute, was here on Monday of this week. He has just been discharged from the navy and was enroute home to spend a few days with his folks. He plans to return to Thorsby next week to resume his studies at the Institute.

The Institute opened Monday morning at 9:30 with an enrollment of sixty young man and women. Miss May Stoddard presided over the opening exercises. Splendid talks were made by Rev. Davenport and Prof. Lawrence Wild. Several new students have come in during the week.

The public school opened on the morning of the 11th with a good enrollment. Prof. Crumpton, the principal, is to move his family to Thorsby at an early date.

MR. G. W. EDWARDS COMES BACK REPLYING TO MR. J. S. JONES

September 12, 1919.

Editor Union-Banner:

You were so kind to give me space week-before-last, I will ask for a little more this week, to reply to one J. S. Jones who has bobbed up to bear the Judge's cross through the dark valley of ignorance.

First, we want to know who J. S. Jones is. Is he the same J. S. Jones that lay in the Montgomery jail for making licker till he lost his senses and then fell in company with the Socialists, Populists, Bullmoose, Republicans? Is he that same fellow that we saw following the above named crowd in 1908 slapping his hands and hollering his throat sore when the speakers were demoralizing the Republican party for the benefit of the leading socialist in the county—a man who hated the Republicans so bad that he would not let his name go in a Republican primary? Did we see him again in 1912 with the same old crowd slapping and squalling when his boss would tell the people that the Republican party was as black as h——itself, and the only hope for this country was the success of the Bullmoose?

To sum it up in a nutshell, isn't he the same J. S. Jones that has been barking around the Reynolds cesspool ever since he got out of jail and gets a little whay off of the political clabber, such as being appointed election manager and such like?

But it don't make any difference whether its that J. S. Jones or one raised from the bottomless pit for the express purpose of raising h—— among the Republicans. His own letter is the proof that he has no respect for truth or honor.

Now, we want to analyze a little of Mr. Jones' letter and see if I am not right. He says that Mr. G. W. Edwards' ticket showed that G. W. Edwards voted a Democratic ticket. Mr. Jones was a manager at that time and took the oath of a manager. Now how does Mr. Jones know what my ticket showed unless he swore a falsehood and violated the law? Then if Mr. Jones went that far to get the facts that he claims to be in possession of, he must have them facts now as ge got them. He knows the people can't take his word for anything after getting said facts the way he did. We all know that an honest man will not destroy the real evidence and wait twelve years for the verbal evidence to pass away and then bob up.

Now, Mr. Jones, if you have the ticket that I voted in 1908, bring it to Clanton and if it don't say that I did get a vote at Coopers, I will pay you one hundred dollars. Bring the ticket and get the cash, or tuck your tail and go under the house. I want the people to know the truth. If I had voted a Democratic ticket in 1908, I am a free man and had as much right to vote that way as Mr. Jones ever had to vote for the Socialist, Populist, and Bullmoose. I am willing to examine all the elections for thirty years past, and if I have not voted more Republican tickets than J. S. Jones, I will never bob up again.

I agree with Mr. Jones when he says that just such correspondence as has been going on was started for nothing else but for the purpose of dividing our people. And if Mr. Jones wants harmony in the party, why did he take it up after the starter went as far as he could shut up. We know the tree by its fruit. Why was this controversy raised with the true-blue Republicans? We were not troubling anybody and were not thinking of anything but harmony when we were attacked by Reynolds.

Now, I am willing to leave it with the people to say who is right.

G. W. EDWARDS.

The Birmingham News tells its readers that the Republicans in the Seventh District are actually , brazenly opposing the league of nations and criticizing the administration in their attempt to elect a congressman" You know it! You certainly don't think they would endorse this un-American monstrisity, which was hatched up maybe in the Vatican at Rome, do you? You certainly ought to give the Republicans credit for having too much sense to delegate the right to declare war to a comglomeration of Wops, Huns, Frogs, Chinks, Japs, Bohunks, and Niggers when the constitution gives the power only to congress, do you? That doctrine may suit Woodrow Wilson and a few idol worshipping Democrats, but sonny, no red-blooded American follower of Washington, Jefferson, Lincoln, and Roosevelt will swallow it. You have not yet seen the fight on those un-American policies started. Wait a time with patience until the campaign of 1920 opens up and then you will see the fur fly. It will look like where a hawk had caught a rabbit.-Collinsville Courier.

COLLIER STRONGLY AGAINST INCREASING REYNOLDS' SALARY

Says County is Bankrupted, and Now is Time to Preach and Practice Economy.

Clanton, Ala., Sept. 13, 1919.
Editor of the Union-Banner:

I desire to call the attention of the people of Chilton County to a Bill recently introduced in the Legislature of Alabama, by our Representative, Hon. W. A. Reynolds, which fixes the salary of the Judge of Probate, while acting as Judge of the County Court, at $1200.00 per annum—an increase over the present salary of $900.

I have reference to House Bill No. 762, which has already passed the House of Representatives and will be up for consideration before the Senate at an early date. This bill, I am advised, applies only to Chilton County, but it is being put through as a General Bill. A special bill or a bill relating to only one county ordinarily has to be advertised for a certain time, in order that the people of the county affected thereby may be advised as to the proposed measure. But the promoters of this bill, apparently, did not desire the people of this county to know about it, and, therefore, did not advertise the bill as a special bill, but got around the law by making the bill a general bill affecting all counties having the same population as Chilton has. But no other county in the state has the same population as Chilton County, hence it is a bill that applies to Chilton County alone. This is quite a shrewd trick—though one often resorted to by those who are well versed in political trickery.

I believe the people of the county are against increasing Judge Reynolds' salary at this time. I also believe they are against the methods employed to keep the people in the dark, and thereby keep down opposition to the bill, until it is assured of passage by both Houses of the Legislature. I call upon the people of the county, regardless of political affiliation, to use their best efforts in defeating this bill.

Judge Reynolds is no more entitled to an increase in salary than the other probate judges of the State. The present salary of $300.00 per annum for holding the County Court is ample for the work done. Only one or two days of each month are devoted to County Court work. The judge's fees as Probate Judge continue just the same. I dare say the Judge's fees will amount to more than $300 per month, and during these hard times, when the county is afflicted with the worst kind of financial ailments, $300 to $350 per month is enough for the judge. For the past several years $300 per year has been the salary for performing the work of the County Court, including the work now done by the Clerk of the Court. Only recently the Judge and other Probate Judges of the State were relieved of the work now falling on the clerk of the County Court. The judge has less work to do than ever before, yet he wants more pay.

It seems to me that now, of all time, is the time to preach and practice economy. Judge Reynolds has preached economy—and has frequently told the people what a hard time he and the Commissioners have had in financing the County, and many people thought he was in dead earnest about wanting to save the county. But now we find him busy at Montgomery, trying to put one over the people, by the aid of his brother in the Legislature, in slipping a bill through the House that increases his salary $75.000 per month. I say to the people that it is not only extremely inconsistent on the part of the Judge to ask for this increase, but the method used to get the bill thru and to keep down opposition is an out-rage, pure and simple.

If the salary should be increased, is the county able to pay it? I say that the county is now bankrupted. The constitutional debt limit has allready been exceeded many thousand dollars, and there is no money in the treasury with which to take care of any of the obligations of the county. It is my honest opinion that the warrants now being issued by the Judge and County Commissioners are absolutely worthless and void. If any one doubts what I say, go to the records of the county and ascertain the assessed valuation of the property of the county, multiply it by three and one-half per cent, and then subtract the result from the county's outstanding indebtedness, and you will find that the county is now in the hole many thousand dollars beyond that which Section 224 of the Constitution and Section 155 of the Code provide as a limit of indebtedness a county may incur.

Mr. Editor, the old county cow is about dry. The "milk" is not flowing as it once flowed. But it seems that "Bro. Will" and the Judge have made a valiant effort to devise ways and means to increase the flow of "milk" and apparently they have decided to let "Bro. Will" "hunch" the Legislature, to see if the old cow won't let more "milk" down.

I predict, Mr. Editor, that the old cow, "aint" going to give no more "milk."

As to Mr. Guy DeShazo.

In passing, it will suffice to say that I have no controversy with this young advocate of one family rule. It is very natural for him to feel kindly towards the Judge and the county treasurer. He was given a job Monday morning running one of the county trucks at about $4.50 per day. His father is tick inspector and draws down a salary of about $75 per month. You, see, it is ntural and human for all the members of the "Teat Suckers Union" to stand together.

Yours very truly,
F. B. COLLIER.

P.S.—Below is a copy of the Bill referred to above:

The Bill:

House Bill No. 762.
By Mr. Reynolds.
Referred Finance and Taxation.

AN ACT

To fix the salary of the judge of the county court in all counties having a population of not less than twenty-three thousand one hundred and fifty (23,150) and not more than twenty-three thousand two hundred and fifty (23,250) according to the Federal census of 1910 and provide for the payment of the same.

BE IT ENACTED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF ALABAMA:

Section 1. That all counties having a population of not less than 23,150 and not more than 23,250 according to the Federal Census of 1910, there shall be paid of the county treasury to the Judge of the county court of such counties, an annual salary in equal monthly installments, twelve hundred dollars ($1200); the payment of such salary to be by warrant of such judge drawn of the treasury of the county.

Section 2. That all laws and parts of laws in conflict with the provision of this act be and the same are hereby repealed, but only to the extent of such conflict.

Section 3. The provision of this act shall take effect inmediately on its approval by the Governor.

(The population of Chilton County is 23,187, according to 1910 census.
F. B. COLLIER.

STATE FAIR TO ECLIPSE ALL PAST EFFORTS THIS YEAR

Greatest Program Ever Assembled To Be Offered Patrons of Alabama's Great Show Beginning October 6.

The Alabama State Fair throws open its doors in Birmingham Oct. 6, for the start of what will be the biggest week Birmingham and Alabama has ever seen. On that date the biggest exposition the South has ever seen, will get going in Birmingham, and due to the fact of the greatness of the attraction and also because low rates have been granted on all railroads, it is safe to predict that the crowd record for all time at Alabama State Fairs will have been shattered before the week is over.

Every department at the State Fair has been increased this year, many new departments have been added on, the amusement program has been doubled, the race cards have been increased in both quantity and quality, the fireworks displayes augumented, more musical attractions booked than ever before; more exhibits contracted for industrially, agriculturally, in livestock and other exhibit departments. In fact it is safe to say that this year's fair will eclipse anything ever attempted in the state before in the way of an amusement or educational enterprise.

So, Monday morning October 6, the gates will be thrown open amid the blare of trumpets and the hub-bub of thousands of eager voices who are eager to swarm through the gates to get a first glimpse of Alabama's phenomenal show for 1919.

Circus day is always a pretty big episode, but circus day can never compare to fair week. The Alabama State Fair is so much bigger than any two circuses in existence, that there is no comparison whatever, the Fair furnishing educational and inspirational knowledge as well as amusement to the visiting thousands.

They're going to have some of the world's best automobile race drivers at the Fair this Fall. They're also going to have some of the country's best race horses to compete in the daily events. Then, too, there are the motorcycle races between America's most daring speed fiends.

In the free attraction Lieutenant Locklear, who changes airplanes while in mid-air, going 80 miles an hour, is a big feature. With auto polo another thriller, again booked this year, and dozens of free acts in front of the grand stand, coming direct from the Hippodrome in New York. The free acts and amusement end of the fair has for this year, never been equaled before.

Then there are the live-stock exhibits, which will crown all past achievements, the swine show, the cattle show, the poultry show, the woman's department, the educational department, and a thousand and one wonders and attractions and exhibits that cramped space will not allow one to mention.

In the fireworks display this year, scenes from the world war will be given and the people back home will be shown in the blazing rockets and burst of amunition how our boys stormed through Chateau Thierry and how they smashed the Huns in the Argonne. The firworks display this year is the most spectacular ever attempted.

One can't go into detail over the many attractions at Alabama's Big Show this year. It would take a book to enumerate on all the wonderful attractions and amusement and educational devices that will be brought to Birmingham. Suffice it to say that those who have visited the Alabama State Fairs in past years may rest assured that on their past visits they did not see anything like the stupenduous show that will be given, starting Oct. 6.

It's to be an eventful week for Alabama, and every true and patriotic Alabamian should show his true colors by taking in his state's own show, in order to demonstrate to his state that he's behind old "Here We Rest" for a Bigger and better Alabama. The State Fair has done more for progress in Alabama since its organization than any other one institution.

AUTO AND TURF FANS WILL HAVE GREAT WEEK AT THE ALABAMA STATE FAIR

Famous Dare-Devils of Dirt Tracks And Star Horses of Turfdom Are To Compete.

Attendance at the Spring automobile races and baseball games, indicates that the "army that remained at home, buying bonds, and doing their bit in many other ways," is just as anxious as the soldier to forget the horrors of the war. At the San Monica road race in California in March, and at track events in Birmingham, Atlanta, Shreveport, Nashville and Ascot speedway, Los Angeles, thousands paid admission to see the gas-monarchs battle for the prize money, and the spectators were treated to greater speed and competition than in the last several years.

The turf program for the week and the purses offered follow:

Monday Oct. 6.

HARRIS - GRAVES

The following wedding announcement published in the Birmingham News of last Sunday, will be of much interest to people in Clanton:

"Mr. and Mrs. James D. Graves announce the engagement of their daughter, Margaret, to Mr. Julius Leonard Harris, the wedding to take place October 23."

Both these young people formerly lived in Clanton, and they have many friends here who will learn of their engagement with much interest.

"THE STATE! I AM THE STATE!"

It would seem that Mr. Wilson's enthusiasm for the league of nations has carried him beyond the point of sane, sound argument. To employ abuse, bitterness, and every trick known to the demagog, is unbecoming to the position of chief executive. "Have the American people quit electing presidents and begun to elect kings? asks Senator Sherman when severely criticizing the president for his statement that he would call the labor conference in Washington provided for by the treaty whether the treaty is ratified or not. "Public officials," added the Senator, "have been impeached for less flagrant violations of the laws of their country than this." The president is being answered at every turn in his undignified fight for an ethereal hobby. Abuse never won an argument. It has never even won a point. The American is a true sportsman and wants to see the game played fairly. Mr. Wilson said he was making a trip through the country to tell what is in the treaty. We are still waiting to hear. More information and less abuse of his opponens and the matter will come nearer to settlement. At times it would almost appear that there is a hidden motive on the part of those strongest supporters to defeat the treaty themselves.

WORLD'S MOST FAMOUS DARE-DEVIL ORMER LOCKLEAR WILL BE AT FAIR

The greatest flying show in the history of the amusement world will be given, starting Oct 6, at the Alabama State Fair, when Lieut. Ormer Locklear and his 3-ring aerial circus are scheduled to do all the amazing things known to the flying game, including the trick that not even France or England, with all their caunted superiority in the flying sport has seen, Locklear's feat of changing airplanes a few hundred feet above the race track center.

Locklear will also present his aerobatic act of scampering from the seat of his plane to all other parts of the craft. No magician or juggler works with a quicker hand nor keener eye than does Locklear when he starts in to do his wonderful stunts.

Aerial Combat Promised.

The comes the aerial combat between Locklear's assistant pilots, Lieuts. Shirley Short and Milton Elliott. It was this pair which was with the peerless Locklear when he first pulled the plane-changing feat while they were all instructors at the Government field at Fort Worth, Texas.

They are the fellows who hold Locklear's life in their hands every time he essays his daring work. He declares they are more essential to the act than he himself. For Locklear is the only man in the world who ever changed planes and these two pilots are the only ones who ever flew his "ships."

During the aerial combat the two pilots fly almost against each other before turning into a spining nose dive, side slip, Immelman turn, upside down flight or other trick to avoid the rapid fire gun on the other machine. This act was termed by the New York Times aviation writer as the cleverest bit of "sky vaudeville" ever witnessed.

The two assistant pilots will make individual trick flights during the day, and if anyone in this section thinks he has seen real fancy flying before he will doubtless change his opinion after he witnesses these two air masters at work.

Silence Grips Spectators.

"Something doing every second" is the manner in which the flying end of the fair's program may be described.

Locklear's plane-changing feat requires about ten minutes time from the moment the machines begin to jockey for position until he is safe in the seat of the other airplane. During that time absolute silence prevails among the crowd, no matter how huge. It seems as though everyone holds his breath. As he makes the change the crowds bursts into a spontaneous cheer that does not die until the intrepid fellow is landed in front of the grandstand.

When the bowels feel uncomfortable and you miss the exhilarating feeling that always follows a copious morning operation a dose of HERBINE will set you right in a couple of hours. If taken at bedtime you get its benificial effect after breakfast next day Sold by Upchurch Drug Company.

Hand in Hand

One of the main reasons why there has been such a marked improvement in the wholesomeness and healthfulness in food products the last ten years has been on account of the co-operation between pure food officials and domestic science teachers. These two elements have been working toward a common end—our protection against unscrupulous manufacturers who have not based their claims to business on the quality, but rather on cheapness and who, in their endeavor to market their products on price or quantity, have often resorted to substitution and to the use of unwholesome material. Though progress has been made, yet much remains to be done.

Mr. Harry L. Eskew, Food Commissioner of Tennessee, has been very active in his efforts to safeguard the health of the people of his State. In the New York Journal of Commerce he has the following to say about so-called Self Rising Flour, which is used in certain sections:

"I would not tolerate flour products like some of the 'self-rising flour' sold in a large part of the South, the concomitants of which are alike unknown and not to be ascertained by the consumer and whose purity in the matter of phosphate is open to serious question as a deceptive agency."

When the need of improvement of certain food products is pointed out so definitely and at the same time is backed up by thousands of domestic science teachers throughout the country, it is quite natural that American housewives will gradually become schooled in the proper selection of food products, and at the same time demand proper labeling of all food products.

COMING TO CLANTON

The Associated Doctors Specialists Specialists will be at the Wilson Hotel, Saturday, Sept. 20, for One Day Only. Offer Services Free of Any Charge.

Convincing Evidence for the Sick—How Chronic Sufferers are Being Restored to Health thru Associated Doctors System of Treatment.

The Associated Doctors, Specialists, licensed by the State of Alabama, and who have met with such phenominal success throughout the entire Southeast, will be in Clanton on Saturday, September 20, for one day only to demonstrate their new system of treatment of chronic diseases cases. These regular, reputable physicians believe that the combined skill of several well trained specialists in chronic disease cases can accomplish more than one doctor alone—in other words, in unity there is strength.

The offer to treat all who call on this visit absolutely free, is their original method of getting their system of treatment before the public quicker, and no one, rich or poor, white or colored, should neglect to take advantage of their very liberal offer—absolutely frraillleasek ero.|H te,emb ABSOLUTELY FREE (medicine excepted). No cutting—No Knife.

It makes no difference how many doctors you have consulted or how many patent medicines you have taken, you cannot afford to miss this opportunity of acsertaining your exact condition and be honestly advised. No one should require further evidence of the skill of these specialists than the following

Testimony:

Squire Cheatham, Bollling, Ala., writes: "I had rhumatism for over two years and walked with a stick. After taking the first dose of your medicine I threw away my stick. Your remedy has done the work and I am now a well man, thanks to the Associated Doctors."

Irt Craig, Greenville, Ala., writes: "I am doing very well. My foot is healing, although I am compelled to walk on it."

J. L. Redding, Saginaw, Ala., writes: "I am free from rhumatic pain since commencing your treatment."

Thomas Marshall, Chapman, Ala., writes: "I can truthfully say I am a new man. I feel I don't need the full eight weeks you prescribed."

Mrs. Margaret W. Rogers, Georgiana, Ala., writes: "I have been using your remedies prescribetd near three weeks and am feeling muchc better."

Now, that you know the truth, you have only yourself to blame if you continue to suffer from Piles, Kidney and Bladder Troubles, Discharges, Bed Wetting, Blood Poison, Skin Eruptions, Rhumatism, Epilepsy, Uric Acid Poisoning, Paralysis, Nervous Troubles and Debility, Neuralgia, Stomach and Liver Troubles, Catarrh, Asthma, Bronchitis, Pleuricy, Tumors Indigestion, Constipation, Gall Stones, Ovarian and Female Troubles, Enlarged Glands and reflex condition of the nervous system, and those diseases about which most people dislike to consult the general practitioner.

Bear in mind that this will likely be the last visit when the specialists extend their services FREE.

Hundreds have been restored to their perfect good health, with rosy cheeks and sparkling eyes—so may you. The specialists are too well known throughout the State to require further mention.

Married women should be accompanied by their husbands and children by their parents.

Remember the hotel, day and date—one day only.

Hours 9:00, a.m. to 4:00, p.m.

Associated Doctors Specialists offices and Laboratories, 511 - 12 - 13, Lyric Building, Birmingham, Ala.

Just What She Needed.

"I used a bottle of Chamberlain's tablets some time ago and they proved to be just what I needed," writes Mrs. Volta Bankson, Chillichote, Mr. "They not only relieved me of indigestion but toned up my liver and rid me of backache and dizziness that I had been subject to for some time. They did me a world of good and I will always speak a good word for them."

Camel CIGARETTES

If you want to know what rare and unusual enjoyment Camels provide smoke them in comparison with any cigarette in the world at any price!

CAMELS are a cigarette revelation any way you consider them! Take quality, or refreshing flavor and fragrance; or, that wonderful mellow-mild-smoothness you never before got in a cigarette smoke! Yet Camels are so full-bodied and so full-of-satisfaction you marvel that so much delight could be put into a cigarette!

Camels expert blend of choice Turkish and choice Domestic tobaccos makes them so irresistibly appetizing! And, the blend explains why it is possible for you to smoke Camels liberally without tiring your taste! You will prefer Camels to either kind of tobacco smoked straight!

You'll realize pretty quick, too, that among the many reasons you smoke Camels is their freedom from any unpleasant cigaretty aftertaste or unpleasant cigaretty odor!

Once you know Camels you won't take much stock in premiums, coupons or gifts! You'll prefer Camel quality!

Camels are sold everywhere in scientifically sealed packages of 20 cigarettes; or ten packages (200 cigarettes) in a glassine-paper-covered carton. We strongly recommend this carton for the home or office supply or when you travel.

THE BEST FICTION EVER PUBLISHED BY A DAILY NEWSPAPER

The Birmingham News Will Print Complete Short Story By Master Writer Every Sunday For Year.

The Birmingham News, at enormous expense, has just obtained the rights to the biggest fiction "scoop" ever scored by American newspapers. Beginning Sunday, September 21, The News will print every Sunday for a year a complete short story by a master writer of American fiction. Each story will be brand new, never before published anywhere, and each will be beautifully illustrated by an artist of standing and reputation. Each story will be written by a man who has never before written for a newspaper. Newspapers have printed stories written by these men before, but they have all been stories that had appeared in magazines. All of these writers' first work has been published in the high-priced magazines, but The News, in conjunction with a limited list of the leading papers in America, has obtained, the first publication rights to fifty-two stories, each one different from the others, each one a masterpiece.

The first story will be printed Sunday, September 21. It will be written by Will Payne, and its title will be "Providence." Some of the others now ready to be announced are:

Sept. 28, "The Voice In the Dark," by Holworthy Hall.

Oct. 5, "Sydney of Red Mountain," by Vingie E. Roe.

Oct. 12, "Now," by Frederick Orin Bartlett.

Oct. 19, "Identified," by Richard Washburn Child.

Oct. 26, "Arabella Dart, Man Hater," by Elizabeth Jordan.

Nov. 2, "The Bridge," by Jennette Lee.

Nov. 9, "Green Lanterns," by Mary Synon.

Nov. 16, "Levy," by Bruno Lessing.

Nov. 23, "The Curse of a Thousand Kisses," by Sax Rohmer.

Nov. 30, "Lover's Reckoning," by John Fleming Wilson.

Dec. 7, "Perdita," by Dana Gatlin.

Dec. 14, "You Can't Tell," by Clarence Buddington Kelland.

Dec. 21, "Her Only Husband," by Fanny Heaslip Lea.

Dec. 28, "The Legacy of Ebenezer Chance," by E. Phillips Oppenheim.

Jan. 4, "The Picture Maniac," by E. Phillips Oppenheim.

These and many others written by authors as famous, some of them even more famous than any of these, will make The Birmingham News the greatest fiction medium in all the South for the next year.

If you are not already a subscriber to The News, order it now either from your local newsdealer, or direct from the Circulation Department of The Birmingham News.

The News will be delivered to you by carrier seven days a week for 20 cents a week, in the territory served by carriers.

The mail subscription rate on rural routes and in towns where there is no carrier delivery service, daily and Sunday, one month 85c cents; three months, $2.25; six months, $4.50; one year, $9.00.

The Sunday edition only will be mailed you, single copy, 7 cents; three months, 75 cents; one year, $3.00.

COULD HARDLY STAND ALONE

Gonzales, Tex.— Mrs. Minnie Philpot, of this place, writes: "Five years ago I was taken with a pain in my left side. It was right under my left rib. It would commence with an aching and extend up into my left shoulder and on down into my back. By that time the pain would be so severe I would have to take to bed, and suffered usually about three days ...I suffered this way for three years, and got to be a mere skeleton and was so weak I could hardly stand alone. Was not able to go anywhere and had to let my house work go...I suffered awful with a pain in my back and I had the headache all the time. I just was unable to do a thing. My life was a misery, my stomach got in an awful condition, caused from taking so much medicine. I suffered so much pain. I had just about given up all hopes of our getting anything to help me.

One day a Birthday Almanac was thrown in my yard. After reading its testimonials I decided to try Cardui, and am so thankful that I did, for I began to improve when on the second bottle...I am now a well woman and feeling fine and the cure has been permanent for it has been two years since my awful bad health. I will always praise and recommend Cardui." Try Cardui today. E 78

FAIR PRICE COMMITTEE FOR CHILTON COUNTY

Judge L. H. Reynolds, the County Food Administrator for Chilton County, has addressed the following letter to the people of Chilton County in regard to the Fair Price Committee, and its work in Chilton County in regard to profiteering on food products:

He says the following: "Under the instructions of Hon. R. M. Hobbie, State Food Administrator, I have organized the following Fair Price Committee for Chilton County:

C. F. Jones, Chm., Clanton;
W. M. Wyatt, Secy., Clanton;
T. A. Curry, Clanton;
J. D. Collins, Clanton;
W. D. Driver, Clanton;
H. B. Oliver, Verbena;
J. H. Ramsey, Maplesville;
R. B. McNeill, Jemison;
C. M. Foshee, Maplesville.

"Any one having any complaint to make in regard to unreasonable and unfair prices on food products, will file such complaint with any member of the Committee; the committeemen will file the complaint with the Chairman or Secretary, whereupon a meeting of the whole committee will be called to consider the complaint. If it is decided upon investigation of the complaint that anyone has been profiteering, such party will be notified of the decision of the committee. If the violator then persists in further actions disregarding the protest of the committee then the case will be referred to the State Food Administrator, or to Hon. W. H. Samford District Attorney.

"L. H. REYNOLDS,
County Food Administrator.

SINGING CONVENTION

The county singing convention at Bethel Church Saturday and Sunday was a great success—one of the best, was largely attended. The kindness of the community was unbounded. A large number of directors were present. Among the finest directors were four young ladies, Miss Brown, Miss Scott and Misses Sanders.

The memorial service was conducted by Mr. J. W. Hays, T. C. Jackson and Miss Era Sanders. We never have noticed a service rendered more beautifully. The music of the convention was rendered nicely. A very nice collection in cash and subscriptions was secured for the new music hall in Birmingham.

Among the prominent people present we noticed the popular W. H. Gillespie, Ex-Sheriff Harris, Mr. J. W. Hays, Mr. Popwell and our Tax Collector and Assessor. Mr. J. N. Dennis and Mr. Popwell of Clanton are entitled to honorable mention for their great kindness to the visitors.

The convention is invited to the Soldiers Home next Sunday.

Robert Bean will have to take down his sign on the potato business or else produce something bigger than two pounds and ten ounces. J. E. Robinson brought us one from Uncle Mose's the other day that weighed three and a quarter pounds. Who can beat that? Alfred Baker.

Prof. Judson Strock of Verbena was in Clanton last Saturday.

MARS HILL

The singing Sunday p.m. was well attended. Behavior was excellent.

Sunday School announced for next Sunday a.m., 10:00 o'clock.

The literary school ends this month.

The many friends of Mr. John Cofer are more than glad to welcome him back home. He's the last of our boys in this vicinity to return.

Let everyone remember next Saturday, 20th is day for cleaning off the cemetery at this place. Those who are interested come or send some one to help, thereby showing proper respect for the dead.

Cotton picking and 'lasses making is order of the day.

Friends of Mrs. A. J. Scitt are glad to know she is recovering.

DR. O. C. McGEHEE,

The Presiding Elder of this District of the Alabama Conference, will occupy the pulpit of the First Methodist Church, Clanton, next Sunday, September 21st, at 11, a.m. and 8, p.m. A cordial invitation is extended to all to come and worship with us.

Squire John S. Dennis of Beat 11 was a visitor to Clanton last Saturday.

COULD TALK FOR HOURS ABOUT IT

Declares Change is Marvelous Since Taking Dreco, the Great Root and Herb Remedy. Relieved Stomach and Liver Troubles, Also Constipation.

"Honestly, I thought I had the worst liver and stomach in the State," says Mrs. Fannie E. Norris of Route 5, Montgomery, Ala.

"It seemed like there was a big lump in my throat; my bowels were constipated, so I had to take something every night. I often had sick headache, and my liver was lazy. Pains in the small of my back and in my limbs caused me much suffering, and it seemed I could not sleep.

"I have been taking Dreco now for some time, and it sure has brought a change in my condition. My food digests as well as it ever did in my life, without any gas at all. I never have a headache nor pain in my back, and I lie down at night and go right off into a restful sleep. Dreco has done me a lot of good, and I could talk for hours about the good it did me, and then not tell half."

Many people are daily testing the merits of Dreco in cases of gastritis, pains in back and limbs, catarrh, headaches, rheumatism, constipation and general debility. It increases the appetite, soothes tired nerves, arouses sluggish liver and kidneys, and drives the impurities from the blood. Being made of juices of roots, herbs, barks and berries, it does not contain any mercury, potash, or other harmful minerals.

Upchurch Drug Company.

The Senior Class was organized on September 4, 1919. Miss Preston acted as Chairman until the President was elected. The following officers were elected:

Class No. 2.

The Junior Class of the Chilton County High School was organized September 3. The following officers were elected: President, Annice Kemp; Vice-President, ————; Secy-Treas., Lucile Attoway; Treasurer, ————.

The manual training boys are going to make some boxes for our window and the girls are going to plant the flowers. We want to have our flowers in the class colors, which are yellow and white. We want the Junior Class to be the best class in school.

Class No. 3.

The Sophomore Class had its first meeting Monday, September 8th. The following officers were elected:

President, Jennye Robinson; Vice-President, Gladys Mae Nix; Secy-Treas., Gladys McCain; Goat, Alline Taylor; Class Reporter, Sallye Parrish.

Class No. 4.

TheFreshman Class was enrolled and organized September 8, with an enrollment of sixty-three. It took us several days to get used to the place, which was new to us; and especially our initiation, which was methodically performed. The following officers were elected: Eloise Kemp, President; Cecil Armstrong, Vice-President; Norma Attoway, Secretary; Louise Popwell, Treasurer; J. D. Collins, Goat.

With such a large class as ours, we cannot fail, and we are confident that we shall be in the front rank of everything in the year to come.

Boys Athletics.

The boys of the school met last Friday with Coach Helms, and organized the Athletic Association with a large enrollment. Two teams were organized, and we have been having some scrimmages every Friday afternoon. There will be a game between Varsity and Scrubs. Also a game was scheduled with Marbury High School for Friday, October 3. We ask the support of the town by coming and bringing somebody with you, if you are interested in the success of our school.

Girls Athletics.

On September 5th, the girls of the high school met with Miss Williamson and organized an Athletic Association. In this meeting we elected the following officers:

President, Myrtle Roberts; Vice-President, Zebie Robinson; Secretary and Treasurer, Annice Kemp. We hope the girls athletic association will become a branch of study, and will be a success. The girls are taking a great part in this organization and we are sure that we will have a team that will "lick 'em."

Miss Williamson reports that she wishes to see all the girls out in uniform ready for playing next week.

Literary Society.

The Literary Society, Philomathean of Chilton County High School, met with Miss Preston on September 16th to organize. The following officers were elected:

President, Herbert Davis; Vice-President, Warrene Spigener; Secretary, Lucile Attoway; Treasurer, Garland Foshee.

We want our society to be better than Society No. 1.

There can be no doubt that feed of every kind will be high priced throughout the ensuing winter and spring Therefore, winter and early spring pastures become of greater importance than usual.

One of the most reliable plants for winter pasturage is rye. This has the advantage over oats of being hardier, or practically proof against winter killing. Rye may be sown at any time from the latter part of August to the latter part of November. Only the earlier sowings produce satisfactory amounts of pasturage. Rye sown early on rich land may afford some pasturage even before Christmas.

A small plot of rye drilled on a rich lot for small-scale use may be cut even as early as December, just before heading, and may again be cut at least twice for feeding green to the family cow during January, February, and March.

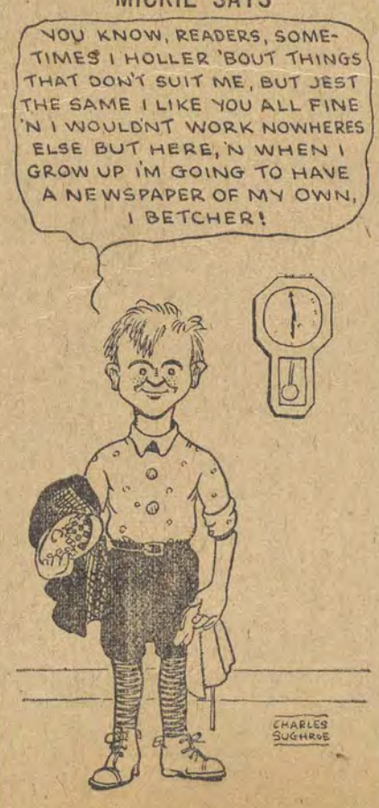
The most important matter connected with sowing rye for pasturage is to sow early, and to obtain the proper kind of seed.

Tests of varieties of rye from different latitudes have been made by the Experiment Station at Auburn for more than twenty years. These invariably show that rye from the middle or southern parts of the cotton belt affords a much greater amount of pasturage, and usually also of grain, than does rye from the northern part of the Cotton Belt, and from still higher latitudes.

Abruzzi rye, introduced from Europe, is now the most popular rye, by reason of its earliness and reputed large yield of grain. From the Auburn experiments we conclude that native, fully acclimatized, rye, generally known as southern rye, is just as early in maturing, and about as productive of forage and grain as is Abruzzi rye. However, Abruzzi makes a more rapid and erect growth during its first few months of life, and hence affords somewhat earlier winter pasturage. This is counter-balanced by its being more tender towards frost, especially when it has reached the booting stage, than is Southern rye.

What is often sold as Tennessee rye, and sometimes as North Georgia rye has usually proved inferior in amount of pasturage and in yield of grain.

Alabama farmers are advised to sow as early as practicable acclimatized Southern rye or Abruzzi. It will be worth while to give preference to these varieties, even if the seed should cost considerably more than rye grown in higher latitudes.



For production of grain there is needed about one bushel per acre, whether sowing be broadcast or with a grain drill. For affording the maximum amount of pasturage thicker sowing,—at least five to six pecks per acre,—is preferred.

In some parts of the South it is becoming customary to sow rye in cotton middles, drilling in about one-half bushel per acre at any convenient time in the fall. Where it is intended to utilize this for pasturage, farmers are urged to make this sowing in cotton fields immediately following the first picking. Preference should be given to those cotton fields where the soil is of fair or medium fertility. The full amount of pasturage per acre should not be expected from this scant seeding.

Dr. R. G. Stone of the Old Soldiers Home was in Clanton Tuesday. He says the Home is getting along fine, with plenty of visitors to sing for them every Sunday. All the old vets are looking forward with much pleasure to the singing next Sunday. Everybody is invited.

An item of general news interest at the home is the change of adjutant. Mr. George Israel succeeds Mr. Cleve Kicker in that position.

IOWA SENATOR FOR HIS COUNTRY FIRST LAST AND ALWAYS

IN STIRRING SPEECH KENYON DECLARES VOTE FOR TREATY IS NEAR TO TREASON.

DERIDES WILSON'S STATEMENT

In Sharp Criticism of Chief executive Says Nonsense is Always Nonsense.

Washington, Sept. 22. — Senator Kenyon of Iowa in a speech which stirred the Senate and moved the galleries to vigorous applause declared that a vote for the league of nations in its present form would be "close to treason to my country." Senator Kenyon announced his purpose to vote for reservations to the covenant for the league which would protect the rights of America and said that without reservations and these of a strong and positive character, that he would not support the covenant.

Moreover, Senator Kenyon announced that he would vote for an amendment to equalize the voting power of the United States and Great Britain, and this without sharing in any attempts to create a feeling in this country against Great Britain.

Senator Kenyon came out emphatically for the reservations endorsed by the Foreign Relations Committee either in their exact form or in substance.

Like the speech of Senator Spencer of Missouri, the address of Senator Kenyon was in part a reply to the President who recently spoke in Des Moines. Senator Kenyon was sharp in his criticism of the President and in this connection delivered a number of epigrams which will not soon be forgotten in the Senate.

Defending the Senate from charges of delay and the President's statements to the effect that such a delay is in part responsible for the high cost of living, Senator Kenyon said: "Now we are hearing that the high cost of living is due to the Senate delay; also that Bolshevism is beginning to start as a result of the Senate delay. I suppose if there is a drought in Texas it will be due to this delay, and an early frost on the corn certainly would be attributable to it if it should fit the particular locality in which the president happens to be speaking. The great delay has been in the peace conference and the Senate is not responsible for that. Nonsense even if uttered by a president is still nonsense."

Senator Kenyon denounced the Shantung trade as "infamous and unholy," called the American peace commissioners who went to Paris with the President "stool pigeons, sharing an extensive account," declared the Senate could not be "bulldozed," and asked since when it had been established that men were to be "gibbeted" who did not agree with the President.

"Whose men are these," asked Senator Kenyon, "that he talks about sending abroad to fight the battles of other peoples?"

CHILTON COUNTY ASSOCIATION

The Chilton County Association will meet with Bethsalem Church on October 15 to 16. Those who have reports to make at the association will please have them ready and be on hand with a good report. Here are the names of those who have reports to makke this time, as follows:

State Missions, Dr. G. E. Hyman, Jemison; Home Missions, F. W. C. Bice, Billingsley; Education, J. D. Collins, Clanton; Sunday Schools, Ed Giles; Temperance, W. P. Lowery, Thorsby; Orphans Home, R. N. Wilkins, Billingsley; Womans Work, Mrs. J. A. Cleckler, Jemison.

We especially request each church to be represented at this session of the county association. We want to make the meeting the best of all.

ATTEMPT TO TERRORIZE PEOPLE IS RANK DECEIT

Senator Poindexter So Says of President's Assertions Regarding Shantung Settlement.

Washington, Sept. 22.—"If President Wilson has a promise from anyone," said Senator Poindexter, "that Shantung will be restored to China within any definite time known to man, will he advise the people whom he is addressing on that subject when that time will arrive? That particular time will never arrive because there is no particular time; it has not been designated, and the promise, if it were made, is perfectly worthless, in the first place, because the man who made it had no right to speak for the Japanese government, and in the second place, because the promise to do something when you do not fix a time for doing it amounts to nothing.

"The President asks, "Will we go to war with France and Great Britain for Shantung?" Does the President think we will have to go to war with France and Great Britain if we keep our fingers out of this dirty business? In other words, did the President sign the agreement to give part of China to Japan under compulsion, in order to keep the United States out of war with Japan, France and Great Britain? How could there be a war as long as we are going to have a league of nations to enforce peace? Was it for the same reason we gave Great Britain equal rights with ourselves in our own Panama Canal?

"The attempt to coerce and terrorize the public opinion of the United States on this great question by the false assertion that we are liable to have war with Japan or with France or with England if we do not join in the rape of China is a rank deceit attempted to be practiced upon the people. There is no such danger."

THE HIGH GIBBET FOR JEFFERSON, IF ALIVE

Would be in Class with Men Opposing Treaty Without Ample Reservations.

Washington, Sept. 22.—Americans, whether they are followers of Jefferson or otherwise, will find interest in examining today the views of this great American on the subject of foreign entanglements.

Senator Lodge recently put into the record in Congress a letter from Charles Stewart Davidson, a lawyer of New York, in which Mr. Davidson has brought together extracts from the writings of Jefferson.

These extracts make it quite plain that if Jefferson were alive today he would, at least, want to make some very pronounced reservations to the league of nations covenant as it is brought home from Paris by Mr. Wilson before he would be willing to accept it. In other words, Jefferson would probably be in the class of men who in administration eyes ought to be "gibbetted."

People Would Be Against Proposed League if they Knew What it Means Said Secretary Lansing when at Paris

Witness before the Senate Committee said Lansing Stated that these two Republican Leaders Would Understand the Treaty—Gen. Bliss and Mr. White also expressed Strong Objections to Treaty President is trying to Force on U. S.

Washington Sept. 22, Inside facts of an astonishing character with regard to the league of nations and the Paris negotiations were brought out before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee in testimony of William C. Bullitt of Philadelphia, formerly attached to the American peace commission at Paris.

Mr. Bullit filed with the Committee President Wilson's original proposition on the league of nations, the copy having been presented to Mr. Bullitt by Colonel House and bearing an inscription of appreciation by the latter.

In answer to a question of Senator Knox, Mr. Bullitt said that in the final form of the covenant the only proposal by the President that remained intact was Article X. Article X, Mr. Bullet made plain, was the contribution of the President.

Mr. Bullitt declared that Secretary Lansing told him in Paris last May that if the Senate and the American people know what the treaty meant, it would be defeated."

"Mr. Lansing told me the day I resigned," said Mr. Bullitt, "that he was opposed to that part of the league covenant relating to a mandate for Armenia. He said he cansidered the Shantung award and the league of nations bad—that the league would be entirely useless; that the nations had arranged the world to suit themselves and that England and France got what they wanted."

Mr. Bullitt also quoted Secretary Lansing that he believed that Senator Knox and Senator Lodge would understand the treaty. He said further that Secretary Lansing, Henry White and General Bliss all expressed vigorous opinions about the treaty. Senator Lodge asked if their opinions were enthusiastic.

"I regret to say they were not," said Mr. Bullitt.

He asserted that is was no secret in Paris that Secretary Lansing, Mr. White and General Bliss objected strongly to numerous provisions by the treaty.

Mr. Bullitt was sent to Russia by Secretary Lansing in February to obtain from the Soviet Government a statement of terms on which it would agree to stop fighting. Before going Mr. Bullitt said he asked Colonel House a number of questions and House told him that if the Bolsheviki were ready to stop fighting and declare an armistice the United States would approve. Mr. Bullitt went to Russia and found Lenine and others associated with him ready to pay their foreign debts and make peace. Mr. Bullitt and Colonel House were in favor of making peace on the Soviet proposal and Lloyd George urged Mr. Bullitt to publish his report on Russia which gave first hand information of the situation under the Bolsheviki agreement. The President said he did not want it printed at that time. The President made an appointment with him, Mr. Bullit said, but canceled it because of a headache.

"Later Colonel House explained to me," said Mr. Bullitt, "that the President had a 'single track mind' and as he was dealing with Germany, he could not bother with Russia."

THORSBY ITEMS

Mrs. S. H. Herbert and two little boys left Thorsby last Thursday for Ft. Lyon, Colo., where Mr. Herbert is stationed as a worker in the American Red Cross Hospital. They were accompanied as far as Kansas City by Mrs. Herbert's mother, Mr. E. C. Dippery, where they will visit relatives for a few days. Mrs. Dippery will return to Washington, D.C. to be with her daughter, Miss Alma for the winter.

The Baptist Ladies Aid met at Mrs. Davenport's Thursday of last week. There was a good attendance and a very enjoyable meeting.

Mrs. J. P. Sorensen is in Chicago for a six-weeks visit with relatives and friends.

The Ladies Guild will meet Thursday afternoon of this week with Mrs. A. K. Horn. A cordial invitation is extended to all to attend this meeting.

Mrs. Ola Gibbons has as her guests her son, Mr. Ivan Gibbons and his family from Leola, Ark.

Miss Alma Lefstead, who has been spending her summer vacation at her home, returned to Marengo County last week, where she will teach again this year.

CALLS PRESENT LEAGUE PERIL TO THE REPUBLIC

Senator Harding Demands That Covenant Be Freed From Menace To America.

Washington, Sept. 22.—Calling for the freeing of the covenant of the league of nations from the perils that menace American independence, Senator Harding of Ohio discussed the treaty and the league in the Senate.

He called the league of nations covenant in the form in which it is written "a peril to the republic."

"I can never vote to ratify without safeguards," said the senator, "and I mean to vote for the amendments proposed by the committee. If the President is correct in declaring the proposed reservations will send the treaty back, then amendments will not unduly delay. If the world is to with a square deal. The treaty has not written it; the square deal was reserved for informal purposes.

Senator Harding said if Europe "will barter in territories and peoples we cannot hinder, but we need not approve and surely we need not guarantee."

"It is my deliberate conviction," he said, "that the league of nations covenant, as negotiated at Paris either creates a super-government of the nations which enter it or it will prove the colossal disappointment of the ages. I cannot believe this republic ought to sanction it in either case."

"It will not make the covenant right, or at least free from perils that would endanger American independence, but it were better to witness this rhetorical tragedy than destroy the soul of this great republic."

ROYAL SPLENDOR MARKS PRESIDENT'S JOURNEY

Palatial and Pretentiousu Are Trappings and Goings.

Washington, Sept. 22.—The President's train, on which he is touring the country, for the purpose, in part, of dealing with the high cost of living, is described by admiring chroniclers as the most pretentious" train that has left the Union Station in Washington for many years.

This is in harmony with the palatial character of the George Washington on which the President went to Europe and in keeping with the fact that the American peace mission at Paris consisted of 1,300 persons and and had an expense account which has dazed Congress. Likewise, it is in consonance with the fact the railroads of the country are now in control of the President and the railway deficit ascends while the cost of living does not diminish.

The Czar of all the Russias or the Potentate of India never aspired to the costly trappings that ... progress ... the world.

DECLAR... RATIF...

Senator ... qu...

Wa... and ... led t... leagues ... ...use from the galleries, Senator Spencer of Missouri declared strongly for such reservations to the covenant for the league as will safeguard the essential rights of America.

"I say, with all the conviction in my power," said Senator Spencer, "that the treaty of peace as it is now written will never be ratified by the Senate of the United States, and that before it ever receives the sanction of the representatives of the people here assembled, reservations similar in effect to those which the Committee on Foreign Relations have already reported, must be inseparably interwoven with the ratification itself."

MR. WILSON'S VIEWS AS TO STANDING PAT

As on Many Other Subjects, He Shifts Ground with Airy Grace of Dancer.

(From N. Y. Herald.)

In his Des Moines speech Mr. Wilson said:

"I had heard of 'standing pat' before, but I never had before heard of standpatism going to the length of saying it is none of our business, and we do not care what happens to the rest of the world."

In his Indianapolis speech made January 18, 1915, talking about Mexico, Mr. Wilson said:

"It is none of my business and it is none of yours how long they (the Mexicans) take in determining it. It is none of my business, it is none of yours, how long they go about the business. The country is theirs. The government is theirs. The liberty * * * is theirs. And so far as my influence goes while I am President nobody shall interfere with them."

In an address to the Daughters of the American Revolution in Washington on October 14, 1915, Mr. Wilson said:

"America has a heart and that heart throbs with all sorts of intense sympathies, but America has schooled its heart to love things that America believes in and it ought to devote itself only to what America believes in; and believing that America stands apart in its ideals, it ought not to allow itself to be drawn, as far as its heart is concerned, into anybody's quarrel. Is it America first, or is it not?'

In his third annual message to Congress, December 7, 1915, Mr. Wilson said:

"We have stood apart studiously neutral. It was manifestly our duty to do so. Not only did we have no part or interest in the policies which seem to have brought the conflict on," etc.

When did he change his mind as to what "standing pat" means and when it should be and should not be applied?

REV. H. G. WILLIAMS AT THE CLANTON BAPTIST CHURCH

We were delighted to listen last Sunday to two sermons at the Clanton Baptist Church, delivered by Rev. H. Greely Williams, who is now pastor of the Baptist Church at Hartselle, Ala.

Rev. Williams is a native Chilton County boy, reared here, and attended the Clanton Schools until a few years ago when he entered Howard College for education and training as a minister of the Gospel. He has a great many friends in Clanton who were indeed glad to have the privi... of hearing him preach here for ... first time since he completed his ...urse at Howard College.

Both his sermons were excellent, ...d filled with profoundest inspira... of spiritual truth. His delivery ... simple, candid and thoughtful, al...ys gripping the hearts of his lis...ers with a deep impression of the ...ble teaching as revealed by his ...stematic study and his faithful re...arch.

Everybody in Clanton is justly very proud of Rev. Williams, and we hold out the sincerest hopes that he may prosper in the work of the Master, reaping ample reward for his efforts. He enters the seminary at Louisville this session to complete his study.

FREE ACTS AT FAIR TO SURPASS ALL OTHERS

Great Outlay of Cash Expended To Assemble Famous Artists.

The Alabama State Fair, which opens in Birmingham, October 6, has always been famous for the free acts it stages in front of the grand stand. These acts make up a bigger and better program that is to be seen in the largest three-ring circuses of America.

No matter the collosal cost in assembling these attractions the Alabama State Fair management's policy has always been to go out and get the best. This year the policy has not only been to go out and get the quality attractions of the amusement world, but the quantity, too, has been increased, as will be noted by a review of the wonderful free acts that are to be seen by the multitudes which will start pouring Birminghamward Oct. 6, and which will continue their entrance into the Magic City throughout the week.

The following free attractions are to be offered fair patrons this year, with other added attractions to be announced later:

Seventy-First Regiment Band.—The hit of the musical world. Positively the biggest musical attraction on tour this fall.

Auto Polo.—This is the most thrilling, exciting and sensational sport the world has ever seen. Autos crash into each other, wheels are ripped off and players and drivers buried beneath the wreckage, but still the game continues.

Lieutenant Ormer Locklear.—Lieut. Locklear is the only man who has ever changed from one plane to another in mid air. The machines are going eighty miles an hour when he makes the change.

The Four Paldrens.—Executing the world's most marvelous balancing acts. The laws of gravitation are violated times without number.

The Choy Ling Hee Troupe.—Oriental marvels from the celestial empire with a score of stunts absolutely new to North America.

Leach La-Quillan Trio.—Stupenduous aerial wire exploits. More sensational than flying, for they are kept aloft only by their wits.

McKay's Scotch Revue—Jazz, Bagpipe and drum band. This is a production of class and originality and is the only band of its kind in existence.

Johannes Joseffson's Icelandie "Glima" Troupe.—Almost incredible in its sensationalism.

Motorcycle Races.—A splendid program has been arranged and well known riders from all over the country will participate.

Auto Races.—World's famous drivers of the dirt tracks in most costly speed chariots.

Fireworks.—The Battle of Chateau Thierry. Demonstrations of modern war. Bombardment of the historical city. Destruction of forts.

Johnny J. Jones Exposition.—With 25 attractions, five bands and five rides. The midway this year will be better than ever before.

No one can question the volume of the bankroll that it took to assemble these attractions for this year.

CIRCUIT COURT PUT OFF ANOTHER WEEK

The Circuit Court of Chilton County will convene on Monday, October 6th instead of September 29th, as announced last week. This delay of another week was caused by the fact that it was found impossible to have the new courthouse ready for next Monday. Judge McCord has already come here and drawn the jury. The witnesses are being summoned, and on the sixth of next month the wheels of justice will begin to grind out the portion that is allotted to those who have indulged a breach of the law in Chilton County recently.

Judge S. M. Adams went out to Mulberry Church last Sunday, and preached. This was Rev. Connell's regular appointment at Mulberry, but Judge Adams agreed to preach in his stead.

PREPARE FOR WINTER GRAZING.

By D. J. Burleson, Agronomist for Extension.

There is no permanent pasture crops which furnish an abundance of grazing during the late fall and early winter. Burr clover is one of our best winter growing permanent pasture crops, but it rarely furnishes appreciable grazing before the latter part of winter. To have grazing in late fall and early winter, we must resort to some crop suitable for the production of temporary pasturage. Rye is well adapted to this purpose.

Rye may safely be planted through a longer period than either of the other small grains. When planted in the latter part of August or in September, it is one of our most dependable crops for furnishing fall and winter grazing. When the object is to supply grazing, rye should be planted early. It is also well to make a heavier seeding when the crop is to be used for grazing than when it is intended to produce seed. Five pecks per acre will give good results. For seed production smaller amounts should be planted.

An excellent place to plant rye for winter grazing is in cotton middles. Very little injury will be done the rye from tramping by the cotton pickers. An ordinary three-row one-horse drill is a satisfactory implement for planting, but the seed may be sowed by hand and covered with a cultivator.

Apart from the grazing furnished by rye and oats these crops protect the land from washing and leaching. Cover crops are much more needed in the South than in the North. Our winters are comparatively warm and our heavy winter rains leach out the dissolved plant food, if no crop is growing on the land to take up the food.

VICTORY SHOW WILL BE BIG FEATURE AT FAIR

Uncle Sam Joins Directors In Making Alabam Exposition Best Ever Held.

"Victory Show"—the name that has been unofficially conferred upon the combined United States Government exhibits to be shown at the Alabama State Fair beginning October 6—means all of that displays of the fighting Added to displays of the fighting equipment with which the army and navy did their full share in winning the war, will be displays of the improved farming methods, which enabled American farmers to work toward maximum food production, and which they are now using to help feed a large part of the world.

There will be displays, also, of other Government work, that tends toward the peaceful prosperity and well-being of Uncle Sam's hundred million sons and daughters and nephews and nieces. Altogether, the combined exhibits should give every person who sees them a new idea of the extent and the importance of the work being performed by various Government agencies. And there are few persons who can not find in such an exhibit ways in which he can call for and obtain the help that the Government offers free of charge to all American citizens.

The departments co-operating in the exhibits are: Agriculture, War, Navy, Commerce, Interior, and Labor.

Each exhibit requires approximately 8,000 square feet for its proper installation.

The object of the exhibits is to bring the general public into close contact with the work of the Government so that the public can make use of it, and to do it in a way that will transmit valuable information without exhaust needed by visitors at the big expositions.

To give an itemized list of the exhibits would require much space. It is possible in this article only to mention some of the more outstanding displays:

Of transcendent interest will be an exhibit of war trophies captured by American soldiers on French battlefields. These trophies, which include hundreds of articles—from a big trenching the nervous energy that is greatly mortar to German mess kits—have just arrived in this country and have never before been on exhibition. The captured enemy equipment icludes machine guns, anti-tank guns, hand grenades, helmets of several kinds, trench periscopes, smoke pots, and many other articles used by the Germans in their losing fight to dominate the world.

By their side will be shown the tools used by the Americans in stopping their onslaught. This exhibit also includes hundreds of articles—for instance, field guns, machine guns, aircraft guns, rifles, trench helmets, live carrier pigeons which saw service on the firing line in France, wireless telephone apparatus, airplane equipment, gas masks, national and regimental colors, signal corps equipment and engineering equipment.

A remarkable set of 32 enlarged photographs will be shown by the War Department. They were selected as being the best of the 20,000 taken by the army photographers in France. The 20,000 were first culled to 200, and then 32 were chosen because of their outstanding excellence.

Prominent in the navy display will be complete exposition models of fighting ships of the navy, as well as five small models showing the application of camouflage. The exposition models were never out of Washington until last year, and this will be the first year of the display of the camouflage models

A YEAR LATE

"Every effort is being made," says Director General of Railroad Hines, "to speed up the construction of the 100,000 freight cars ordered last year." How typical of everything the administration has attempted—our war preparations, our entrance into the war, delayed intervention in Mexico, steps to check the high cost of living—everything has been delayed until a crisis was upon the country and action could be no longer postponed. With a coal shortage impending because of lack of cars, and with the movement of crops seriously impeded for the same reason, Mr. Hines tells the country that every effort is being made to build cars—one year after they were ordered.

Lady Overcomes Use of Morphine

"Troubled about ten years with what the doctors called gall stones, often I thought I would die before the doctor could get here,w hen he would give me a hypodermic of morphine and advise an operation. A neighbor told me about Mayr's Wonderful Remedy for stomach trouble, and since taking the first dose 2 years ago I have not had an attack nor needed a hypodermic." It is simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflamation which causes proctically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Sold in Clanton by Alred Drug Co., and by all druggists everywhere.

DELIGHTED WITH WHAT DRECO DID

Suffered For Years With Stomach Trouble, Nervousness, Pains in Back and Limbs, Dizziness and Constipation. All Gone Now

"I have just finished taking a bottle of Dreco, and it has made me feel so much better and stronger that I can do all my own housework," said Mrs. M. Blair of Route 1, Huntsville, Ala.

"Before I began taking Dreco," she continued, "I was in a terribly run-down condition; couldn't eat anything, hardly, and didn't sleep much. My trouble started several years ago, and although I tried many different things, nothing prescribed for me seemed to do any good, and I was almost a physical wreck.

'After eating I would feel all bloated with sour gas, and my heart would beat so fast sometimes I would think it was going to jump out of my body. This made me very nervous and I was easy to get excited. I felt so bad that I couldn't take any interest in things. Nearly every day I would read in the newspapers about what Dreco had done for others, and many cases just fitted my symptoms exactly, so I talked the matter over with my husband, and we decided to give Dreco a trial. After a few days it began to brace me up, and I knew I had at last found the right thing my system needed.

"I am now so much better that I can eat most anything I want, and as much as I want, and do not feel any bad effects at all. My husband says I sleep like a log, and he can hardly wake me in the mornings. I never have a headache now and feel strong and well. I am delighted with what Dreco did for me."

When the liver, kidneys or bowels become inactive the system fails to throw off the poisons, and slowly, day by day, we are weakening our bodies till a breakdown comes. Sometimes it takes the form of the above case. Dreco causes the organs to carry off these toxins and waste matter and keep the system free of these poisons.

HOW MANY KINDS OF CORN BREAD CAN YOU MAKE?

By Helen Johnston, Assistant, State Home Demonstration Agent.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

Here are recipes for six kinds:

Delicate Spoon Corn Bread.

One-fourth cup corn meal.
1 teaspoon butter.
1 tablespoon sugar.
1 teaspoon salt.
2 eggs.
2 cups milk.

Mix the corn meal and milk and bring slowly to the boiling point and cook a few minutes. Add the butter, sugar, salt, and yolks of eggs. Lastly, fold in the whites of eggs beaten stiff. Bake in a hot oven 30 minutes. Serve in the dish in which it is cooked.

This serves six people.

Spider Corn Bread.

1½ cups corn meal.
2 cups sour milk.
1 teaspoon soda.
1 teaspoon salt.
2 eggs.
2 tablespoons butter.

Mix the dry ingredients. Add the eggs well beaten and the milk. Place the butter in a frying pan, melt it, and grease the pan well. Heat the pan and turn in the mixture. Place in a hot oven and cook 20 minutes.

This serves six people.

Corn-Meal Muffins.

One-half cup corn meal.
1 cup wheat flour.
3 teaspoons baking powder.
2 tablespoons sugar.
1 tablespoon melted butter.
1 teaspoon salt.
Three-fourths cup milk.
1 egg.

Mix and sift the dry ingredients; add the milk gradually, the egg well beaten and the melted butter; bake in a hot oven in buttered gem pans 25 minutes.

This serves four people.

Apple Corn Bread.

2 cups white corn meal.
2 tablespoons sugar.
Three-fourths teaspoon salt.
1 teaspoon soda.
1 teaspoon cream of tartar.
1 2-3 cups milk.
3 tart apples, pared and sliced.

Mix the dry ingredients, add the milk, and beat thoroughly. Add the apples. Pour into a well-buttered shallow pan and bake 30 minutes or longer in hot oven to soften the apples.

This could be made with dried apricots cooked in the usual manner by soaking and cooking slowly and adding a little sugar. The juice may be used as sauce.

This serves six or eight people.

Crackling Bread. ..

1 quart corn meal.
1 pint cracklings.
3 teaspoons salt.
Boiling water.

Mix the corn meal and salt; pour over this mixture enough boiling water to moisten but not enough to make a mush. When the meal has cooled, work the cracklings into it with the fingers. Form the dough into cakes about 4 inches long, 2 inches wide, and 1 inch thick; bake for 30 minutes. This bread, because of its large percentage of fat, is eaten without butter, and should be served very hot.

Sour-Milk Corn Bread.

2 cups corn meal.
2 cups sour milk.
2 tablespoons butter.
2 tablespoons sugar, white or brown.
1½ teaspoons salt.
2 eggs.
1 teaspoon soda.
1 tablespoon cold water.

There are two ways of mixing this bread. By the first the meal, milk, salt, butter, and sugar are cooked in a double boiler for about 10 minutes. When the mixture is cool, the eggs are added well beaten and the soda dissolved in the water. By the other method all the dry ingredients, including the soda, are mixed together, and then the sour milk and eggs well beaten and the butter are added. If the second method is followed, the cold water is not needed. The bread should be baked in a shallow iron or granite pan for about 30 minutes.

CANNOT STAMPEDE PEOPLE

The president's scheme for artificially reducing the cost of living is meeting with poor success. The postmaster in the city of Washington, through whom sales to citizens of the Capital are being made by parcel post reports the sale is dragging. Discerning people are not going to abandon their usual sources of supplies merely to make an isolated purchase of any goods the quality of which they are not allowed to inspect and know only by hearsay. At best such relief is only temporary and does nothing at all to remove the basic faults responsible for high prices and defective methods of distribution. It is merely spectacular, and as such, was utilized by the President as a means of self advertisement.

Tom Heflin Still Trying to Fool the People.

Have you heard the latest gag? Tom Heflin is telling the people that if the League of Nations is ratified the price of cotton will at once go up $50.00 a bale; and if the League is rejected the price will go down to nothing. Have you ever heard a bigger mess spoken by one who claims to be as sensible as old Cotton Tom cracks himself up to be on the cotton question? We believe if the Senate would put that League of Wilson's in the waste basket where it belongs and declare the war between Germany and the United States ended, thus opening up the markets for cotton in Germany, then the price would go up $50.00 a bale. If Wilson would have let them do that eight months ago instead of trying to gag us on his League fake, the price would have gone to forty cents in time to save the millions of dollars that our farmers were forced to lose on the last year's crop. But go ahead, Tom, and tell them about it. You know the South votes her straight, even if it does mean cheap cotton, patched breeches and shoes run-down at the heels.

Alabama Laws Continue to Protect the Rich Tax-Dodgers.

The Senate of Alabama has refused to repeal the tax exemption statutes of 1907. This vexing feature of Alabama's undemocratic taxing system is to remain in force. It is a system that is altogether wrong and no one can offer any reasonable excuse for its existence. It is a camouflage behind which large money interests conceal their purposes of dodging taxation. It is as unjust as if our state were to come out openly and declare for class taxation wherein the poor manwould be taxed and the rich exempted.

Our present legislature has done nor undone anything that so disappoints the people of the State as much as their inactivity in dealing with this pernicious scheme of wealthy corporations to cheat the State out of tax money that they ought by all means to pay ino the public treasury. The people have been sorely wronged and utterly disappointed at the way our legislature has been controlled by the money interests that operate in our State. How long, oh how long, must the common man be ground in the dust under the oppressive heel of moneyed men.

Wilson is Biggest Democrat; Also A Mighty Little American.

The Birmingham Ledger says the reason the Senate Republicans center fire on President Wilson is because he is the biggest thing the Democratic party has. Right you are buddy. He is the biggest thing they have, but he can hold that distinction and yet be a mighty little light. The whole Democratic party, Wilson thrown in, is like the nigger's mule which he fattened on fodder. It is all swelled up to nothing. During the war the Democrats got so fed up on 'fodder' that they swelled up mighty big. But now since they have been punctured by the guns of the Senate Republicans, you see them chasing their shadows around over the country after this, that and the other, just empty old blatherskites that have had all the gaff knocked out of them by the staunch Americans of the Senate who dared to stand up and demand that this country get a square deal in the settlement of the questions involved by the war. When Wilson is handed a few more punches from the League opponents, he will be smaller than he is now.

No people ever had a more fitting opportunity to rebuke the sins of a merciless administration than the people of the Seventh District now have to hand it to Mr. Wilson and his layout of cut-throat political howlers who are trying to cram the League of Nations down the throats of those people on top of the gaff that has already been choked down them by the administration during the war. They deserve to get it in the Seventh Alabama just like Swope gave it to them in the Eighth Kentucky. Here's hoping hat Kennemar, by the aid of his staunch friends up there, may be able to turn the trick.

It is a regrettable thought, yet it looks like it is going to be a fact that the present legislature will adjourn without calling up the convent inspection bill for passage.

Went to Europe as a Messiah; Returned an Intruder.

One European newspaper has this to say about Mr. Wilson as he left Paris to return to Washington: "Seven months ago an immense halo of popularity surrounded President Wilson. Europe awaited him as the Messiah in a new era of history, now he leaves amidst almost general indifference, appearing as an intruder in our continental history, our European civilization and our sacred ideals."

Those folks over in Europe had heard so much of Wilson's gaff about making the world safe for democracy that they were expecting him to be a Democrat when he got over there. But the first thing they found him doing was going into secret with Pope Benedict, to get orders about how peace was to be made. The next thing they saw him do was to get behind the doors with Lloyd George and find out how the League of Nations should be made to take care of England's interests. Then he pulled a few more bones such as the Shantung and Fiume deals and everybody was disgusted with Wilson the first thing he knew. Instead of making the world safe for democracy and free people, they saw him doing things that would make the world slave to kings, emperors, popes and tyrants. Consequently when he left there he had got down to the same level as the people here recognize him, as one against the interests of the plain people rather than for them. Yet you still see some yaupers who persist in telling you that Woodrow is a political God.

Austria, for the first time in her history, is to have a navy. It will include, according to the present program laid down by Admiral Sir John Jellicoe, 8 modern battle cruisers, 24 destroyers, 12 submarines, and the necessary supply ships. The program calls for completion in 1923 at a cost of $25,000,000 annually. "The league of nations proposes to organize the nations of the world for peace whereas they have always heretofore been organized for war," declared Senator Hitchcock in his minority report on the peace treaty, in which he demanded ratification without reservation. Australia is a small sample. Was ever such hypocrisy as the world is now witnessing? And we would be parties to it if we accepted the Wilson league. Consider the recommendations of Secretary Baker for a huge army, and of Secretary Daniels for a super navy. England is building two warships where she built one before, and she is raising one million men for her standing army where she formerly had 100,000, and she is raising the million by conscription in time of peace! Organizing the nations of the world for peace?

There are yet at large a few small-brained fellows around here who have little enough sense to stand up and argue their rot about Woodrow Wilson being a political God. They have not got sense enough to realize that all informed people are amused at the way they expose their ignorance. For indeed, it is common knowledge nowadays that none but the simple minded are clinging to the great globe trotter in his wild cavorts to sift all the Americanism from the minds of the people and plant therein the germs of his new-born ideas of international socialism.

In Helena, Montana, Mr. Wilson condemned the action of the Boston police as "a crime against civilization," declaring a policeman to be "a public servant, not a private employee." Three days before that he wired Commissioner Brownlow of Washington, D.C., the nation's capital, to withhold action relative to the Washington police, until after the labor conferenee. Brownlow had refused to recognize the policemen's union, and they were threatened with dismissal. Just the usual line of inconsistency from the most vagrious president who ever sat in the White House.

The writer had the pleasure of a trip to Mineral Springs with Dr. Gragg Monday afternoon. And we were particularly impressed (and also bumped) by the bad roads over which we traveled. The heavy traffic over the roads out that way has completely worn the road out. Several big motor trucks are constantly engaged in hauling lumber over the road day and night. Since the road was never very extra good to begin with, it has now gone to the bad from the wear of the lumber traffic.

Why should the United States, the greatest of all the nations of the world, surrender its sovereignty to a job lot of foreign powers composed of dagoes and jew-talians, and fawn at the feet of kings, emperors and popes? We have never in the past had to do such things. And we have always been recognized as a nation that stood our hack so far as world matters were concerned, and we were never charged with being greedy or oppressive toward any other nation. Now, why do we need Wilson's league to make us take our part in the world's affairs? Truth is we don't need the darn mess. It's all a fake.

It remained for William C. Bullitt to shoot President Wilson's Americanism and "Democracy" full of holes.

SINGING AT THE OLD SOLDIERS HOME LAST SUNDAY WAS FINE

By the kindness of Uncle Tom and his faithful flivver, we were again accorded the very great pleasure of another visit to the Soldiers Home on last Sunday, to hear the old time singing. And together with the pleasure of hearing the singing we saw numbers of friends there, among them several of the old veterans of the Home. The other time we went to hear Mr. John Hays sing at Baker Schoolhouse we got into a very large and exceedingly wet rain. This time our trouble on the way was a puncture. Since everybody is well acquainted with Fords nowadays, and from the further fact that one does not get acquainted with Fords without also knowing some things about punctures, it is of no use for us to dwell on the subject of the puncture very lengthy. Suffice it to say that we arrived at the Home just as the singers were getting well under way after dinner.

As we entered the big auditorium, we saw the following singers in the class enjoying the singing themselves and also entertaining the congregation with their splendid rendition of the old familiar hymns: W. H. Conway, county farm agent, Frank Culpepper, the Standard oil man, J. Bice, ex-county treasurer, J. L. Johnson, principal of Clanton Grammar School, E. H. Lowe and John Hays, who if they enjoy anything as well as singing those old songs, it must be fishing. But we think they prefer to mix the two favorites for they go all over the country to singings on Sundays and fish through the week—and as they fish they also sing. Others besides those named above, we noticed Dolby Robinson, Tax Collector and Assessor Collins and Dennis, R. J. Downs, Jack Langston, Mr. Little, Jeff Baker, John Rogers, S. M. Yates, Jr., E. L. Jones, and last also least, but perhaps the greatest among the number were the two Sanders girls. We say the greatest because we think it will be readily conceded by everyone present that their splendid singing was nothing less than the wonder of the day.

Mr. Hays, by special request of the editor, led the class in singing that best of all songs which makes the touching heart appeal to the angels in these words: "Oh bear me away on your Snowy Wings." A greater appeal has never been uttered by human tongue than the words of the old melody. And as the blend of old and young voices rang out its notes in that big old hall we fancied we could almost hear the flapping of the angels' wings which will soon bear away the spirits of many of the good old hearts that then were engaged in the singing. We are indeed grateful to Mr. Hays and all the class for singing this song at our request. Following the rendition of this special request Miss Era Sanders astonished the congregation by taking the floor and leading "Easter Anthem." Those who claim to be expert in the modern methods of music would find themselves baffled in attempting what this sixteen-year old girl did with all ease. She deserves special mention and well-earned credit for her skill as a director.

At the close of the services in the auditorium the class went down to the hospital to sing for those old soldiers who were not physically able to be out. A few songs were sung for them and the program for the day was brought to a close. Everybody enjoyed the day and especially were the old soldiers delighted with the occasion.

After the singing was over we were guests for a short time at the room of Dr. Mack Stone in Moore Cottage. It was a delightful visit, and we greatly enjoyed the courtesy of this good old friend of ours. Dr. Stone os one of the most likable men we ever met and we are proud to number him among our friends. He especially expressed his great delight in the singing and in seeing his friends from over the county.

We missed Mr. Z. J. Jones of West Chilton. It was our hope that he might be there to enjoy the splendid songs and lend his voice to the concourse of notes which sounded so sweetly to us who did not sing.

While there we observed Dr. Eiland as he went about among the visitors and veterans looking after the comfort and conveniences of his charge. Dr. Eiland is loved by the old veterans and receives the friendly admiration of all the visitors who are accustomed to frequent the place.

VITAL FIGURES OF ALL WAR LOSSES ARE GIVEN OUT

Washington, Sept. 22.—Battle deaths in the American army on all the fronts including Russia and Siberia, to last September 1, were announced today by the war department at 50,327 while deaths from disease, accidents and other causes totalled 66,165. The number of soldiers wounded in combat was 205,590, bringing the total American casualties in the world war to 322,182.

NOTICE TO VAT INSPECTORS

Gentlemen:

I feel it an indispensible duty we owe to the people of Chilton County to make an effort to have the Federal quarantine removed from the cattle that are not now in special quarantine pastures.

I have decided to write Dr. Jackson a letter asking him to use his office and influence in getting the quarantine raised from the cattle that have been free from ticks since September 1, at the end of the fourteenth dipping.

I would like to have as many county inspectors as feel disposed to do so, to sign this letter or write one themselves.

If anyone wishes to sign it they may do so by seeing me or writing me authorizing me to sign for them by Saturday, Sept. 27th.

Yours truly,
J. Z. MIMS, Co. Inspector.

THE EMBROIDERY CLUB

Mrs. Splawn was the gracious hostess to the Embroidery Club on last Thursday afternoon at her home on Third Avenue.

After spending two delightful hours plying the needle and chatting, Mrs. Splawn assisted by Mrs. Martin Nix, served a most delicious salad course.

Those present besides the members were Misses Williams, Timmerman and Mrs. Martin Nix.

Mr. Prince and Miss Lake Jones and Mr. Leonard Farley and Miss Rosa Parrish spent last Sunuday at the Soldiers Home at Mountain Creek.

Uncle Alf Popwell has had a great crop of pears to put on the market here this season. He also ships a great many pears away to other counties. There is good money in a pear orchard in this section of the country where one is equipped to properly care fo r them.

PARADOXICAL

The War Department has ordered the reparation of all prisoners of war. Approximately 1,350 of them are in the United States and will be deported at once. How does this square with the President's declaration that the United States remains in a state of war until the treaty is ratified by the Senate?

NOTICE

I will be at Mt. Creek Wednesday and Friday, at Coopers Thursday, at Thorsby Monday, Tuesday and Saturday. Nerve blocking, Porcelain fillings, Lingual bar plates, crown bridge work, at reasonable prices.

HIGH SCHOOL NEWS
By Luby Mahan.

The following program was rendered by the Lanierian Literary Society Tuesday morning in chapel:

Song, "Blest be the Tie," by school;

Life of Sidney Lanier, Zebie Robinson;

Piano solo, Mary Upchurch;

Jokes, Claudie Pipes;

The Lanierian Journal, Leon Evans;

"What we would like our Society to be," Marzelle Mullins.

Next Tuesday the Julia Tutwiler Literary Society will have charge of the Chapel exercises. We are looking for a splendid program.

Jokes.

Miss Preston: "Is everybody sick? You are mighty quiet. Observing Leon coming in the door, she said: "Oh, I see; Leon was out."

Miss Preston: "Chester, what is a circle?"

Chester: "A circle is a line that meets itself coming back.

A new principle in geometry has been shown. When the teacher asked about the sides of a triangle a certain pupil said that one leg equals to the other.

A new dance has been introduced known as the Thompson Glide.

A freshman asked the English teacher if "mule" was the feminine of horse.

"Germany is not crushed; her armies are defeated; her arms are laid down; but the Prussian spirit survives," declared Cardinal Mercier, of Belgium, in Baltimore recently. And Senator Hitchcock wants to hustle the day when we can trade with Germany by jamming through the treaty which would give her entree to the league of nations.

CURIOSITY

It is said that great throngs of women voters attend the President's speeches to view Mrs. Wilson's Paris hats. It might be added that throngs of men voters attend the meetings to see what type of man it is who can bronzly advocate the abandonment of a Constitution that he has taken a solemn oath to "preserve, protect, and defend."

N C FOUR WAS DRIVEN BY A FORD MOTOR

"Engines functioned perfectly,'" said Lieutenant Commander Read, who commanded big seaplane.

The Ford Motor Company has just received official advice from the navy department that it was four Ford liberty motors—all built in the Ford Motor Company's shops at Detroit,—which furnished the power that drove the N. C. Four to victory in its recent record breaking flight across the Atlantic from Trepassey, Newfoundland to Plymouth, England, a distance of 4,000 miles. They were regular stock motors built during the war as a part of the Ford Liberty Motor production.

Upon his arrival in Lisbon, Portugal, Lieutenant Comm. Read said "the engines functioned perfectly all the way from America to Portugal." And American naval officers who thoroughly inspected the N C Four upon its arrival at Plymouth, England, stated that the big seaplane was in even better condition than when it left America.

The N C Four flight, which has meant a triumph for American engineering skill, also adds another record to Ford achievement.

Sheriff Harris and W. O. Rich went to Coopers to attend an Odd Fellows Lodge last Saturday night.

MICKIE SAYS

Mr. John Farley states that he has a proposition to make to the Peoples Telephone Company in regard to the upkeep of the lines of the company in Clanton and over the county. The matter is to be brought before the next meeting of the directors, and it might be well for the people to take the matter under consideration now in order that they may be prepared to act when the proper time arrives. If you are interested in it, speak to Mr. Farley about it and let him go over his plans with you. We need to hit on some scheme that will make our telephone system produce better results.

Studebaker

WAGONS BUGGIES HARNESS

Paid $105.00 for a Studebaker wagon 38 years ago

IN 1876 Mr. R. F. Dewey of Millersburg, Ind., bought a Studebaker farm wagon for $105. Dividing $105 by 38 years it will be seen that Mr. Dewey's Studebaker cost him—to date—$2.77 a year.

—and, as the wagon is still giving good service, every additional year that Mr. Dewey uses his wagon still further reduces the cost per year.

You can't beat this for an investment.

We carry a line of Studebaker wagons just as strongly made, just as reliable, as the Studebaker wagon Mr. Dewey bought 38 years ago.

Come in and look them over. We will demonstrate to you that a Studebaker wagon is an investment that pays every time.

(Section 18, Acts 1911:)

Every motor vehicle operated or driven upon the public highways of this State shall be provided with adequate brakes in good working order, and sufficient to control such vehicle at all times when the same is in use, and a suitable and adequate bell, horn or other devise for signaling and shall during a period from one-half hour after sunset, to one-half hour before sun-rise, display at least two lighted lamps on the front and one on the rear of such vehicle, which shall also display a red light from the rear. The rays of such rear light shall shine upon the number plate carried on the rear of such vehicle in such a manner as to render the numerals visible at least fifty feet in the direction in which the motor vehicle is proceeding. Provided, that the lamp on such vehicle need not be lighted when the vehicle is standing under the rays of a light and can be plainly seen. Every person operating or driving a motor vehicle on the public highways of this State, shall also, when approaching a crass- road outside the limits of a city or incorporated village, slow down the speed of the same, and shall sound his bell, horn or other device for signaling, in such a manner as to give notice and warning of his approach.

Sec. 19.—A person operating or driving a motor vehicle shall on signal by raising the hand from a person riding, leading or driving a horse or horses or other draft animals, bring such motor vehicle immediately to a stop, and if traveling in the opposite direction, remain stationary so long as may be reasonable to allow such horse or animal to pass, and if traveling in the same direction, use reasonable caution in thereafter passing such horse or animal, provided that in case such horse or animal appears badly frightened or the person operating such motor vehicle is so signaled to do, such person shall cause the motor of such vehicle to cease running, so long as shall be reasonably necessary to prevent accident and insure the safety of others. In approaching or passing a car of a street railway, which has stopped to allow passengers to embark, the operator of every motor vehicle shall slow down, if it be necessary for the safety of the public, he shall bring said vehicle to a full stop. Upon approaching a pedestrian, who is upon the traveled part of any highway and not upon a sidewalk, and upon approaching an intersecting highwty, where the operator's view is obstructed, every person operating a motor vehicle, shall slow down and give timely signal with his bell, horn or other device for signaling.

Sec. 20.—Whenever a person operating a motor vehicle shall meet on a public highway, any other person riding or driving a horse or horses or other draft animals, or any other vehicle, the person so operating such motor vehicle shall reasonably turn the same to the right of the center of such highway, so as to pass with out interference.

Any person so operating a motor vehicle shall, on overtaking any such horse, draft animals, or any other vehicle, pass on the left side thereof, and the rider or driver of such horse draft animal, or other vehicle, shall, as soon as possible, turn to the right, so as to allow free passage on the left. Any such person operating a motor vehicle, shall, at the intersection of a public highway, keep to the right of the intersection of the center of such highway, when turning to the right, and pass to the right of such intersection when turning to the left.

Sec. 21.—No person shall operate a motor vehicle upon a public highways of this State recklessly, or at a speed that is greater than is reasonable and proper, having regard to the width, traffic and use of the highway or so as to endanger the property or life or limb of any person, provided that a rate of speed in excess of thirty miles per hour for the distance of a quarter of a mile, shall be presumed evidence of traveling at the rate of speed which is not careful and prudent.

Sec. 22—No person, neither the owner, chauffeur of other authorized driver of any motor vehicle shall operate any such vehicle upon the public highways of this state who is under the age of 16 years, unless accompanied by an adult person, and any person allowing such vehicle to be operated by any person under the age of sixteen years, shall, unless accompanied by such adult, be punished by a fine not exceeding one hundred ($100.00) dollars.

Sec. 7745.—Any driver of any carriage or other vehicle, whether of burden or of pleasure using any public road who willfully and without good cause, fails to keep to the right hand when met or overtaken by another carriage or vehicle, so as to permit the carriage or vehicle so meeting or overtaking to pass freely and uninterruptedly, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction, shall be fined not more than one hundred dollars.

Season Book Tickets at $2.00 each are on sale for the Alabama State Fair, and will be taken off sale Saturday night, Oct. 4th. They will be mailed to anyone upon receipt of $2.00.

MASTER TOUCH APPLIED TO EXHIBITS AT THE FAIR

Greatest Array in History of Organization Promised When Curtain Rises October 6.

Never before in the history of the Alabama State Fair has so much time, care and attention been given to the exhibits as is evidenced this Fall and when the curtain is lifted on the wonderful exhibits at the State Fair, beginning Monday, October 6, those who see the wizardry of those in charge of exhibits will vote it the greatest array of talent ever shown in Alabama.

In agriculture and farm products, in horticulture, some wonderful exhibits have been prepared. Those interested in beef or dairy cattle will see a revelation in the exhibits offered to them this Fall. Special arrangements have been made for a bigger show of swine, sheep and goats than ever before and the same may be said for the poultry and pet stock departments. The woman's and floral departments will surpass anything ever attempted before in the way of individual or collective booths and displays.

The management announces that the educational display this year will be more thorough than ever before and that mines, minerals and industrial art displays have been augumented especially for the big show starting October 6.

The different department superintendents for this year's Fair have been carefully selected and a review of the list will convince all that a wise selection has been made. The superintendents for this year follow:

Department Superintendents

Agriculture, Vegetable and Farm Products—J. A. Wade.
Horticulture—C. E. Isbell.
Beef Cattle—Frank Curtis.
Dairy Cattle—Hamlin L. Brown.
Swine, Sheep and Goats—G. P. Walls.
Poultry and Pet stock—Jere C. King.
Woman's and Floral—Mrs. J. B Reid.
Mines, Minerals and Industrial Arts—N. G. Bradford.
Director of Amusements—E. F. Carruthers.
Gates and Admissions—H. G. Hubbard.
Girls' Canning Club—Miss Marion Walker.
Speed—R. W. McElroy.
2:17—Pace; purse $500.

From this list it can be seen that the Fair patronage is in for some great racing during Fair week. It has also been announced by those in charge of the racing that $100 will be paid the driver driving the fastest mile during the week.

PLAYING WITH FIRE

For six years President Wilson has been sowing to the winds. The country is reaping the whirlwind. The coddling of Bolshevism served only to increase the spirit of Bolshevism. Yielding to the brotherhoods in their inequitable demands in 1916 encouraged the framing of the Plumb plan in 1919. The President may hope to divert attention and escape responsibility, but the people will remember.

D. F. Jones of Clanton Raute 5, was here Saturday.

Despondency.

Sufferers from indigestion are apt to become discouraged and feel that complete recovery it not to be hoped for. No one could make a greater mistake. If you have not tried them do so now.

SOUTHERN BUR CLOVER FOR SOIL IMPROVEMENT AND EARLY SPRING PASTURE.

By E. F. Cauthen.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

Southern bur clover should be grown on most farms for soil improvement, winter cover crop, and early spring pasture. During the fall and winter when the weather is warm, it makes considerable growth; masses of fine roots penetrate and hold the soil together during the heavy winter and spring rains; and it checks surface erosion and leeching. In the spring, the roots rapidly decay and put humus in the soil. A heavy crop of stubble and roots adds about 20 pounds of nitrogen or the equivalent of 133 pounds of nitrate of soda per acre.

In the spring when green vegetation is scarce, stock graze bur clover rather freely. It helps to tide the stock over until grass becomes abundant.

The time to plant bur clover is August or September. It may be planted later if the seed is treated with hot water to bring about quick germination. For method of treatment to hasten germination, see Circular No. 29, Alabama Experiment Station, Auburn.

When the burs with the litter gathered at harvesting are sown, no artificial inoculation is required. If inoculation is needed, mix 400 or 500 pounds of soil from bur clover, melilotus, or alfalfa fields and sow broadcast with the bur clover seed. Inoculation is necessary to secure a good healthy growth. Southern bur clover grows on almost any kind of well drained soil.

For cover crop or pasturage, sow from 2 to 6 bushels of seed (in burs) per acre. If planted on plowed land, the seed may be covered with harrow, heel scrape, or some shallow cultivating implement. If planted on a sod, the seed may be scattered in open furrows 4 or 5 feet apart made with a scooter plow, and covered lightly by dragging a brush or harrow across the furrows. Fairly good results have been secured by sowing seed broadcast on the sod leaving them for the the rain to wash into low places or pockets where they germinate and grow.

COULDN'T WALK TWO BLOCKS

Wonderful Recovery of Real Estate Man From Rheumatism After Taking Sulferro-Sol, "The Wonder Medicine."

"In the interests of my friends and mankind generally," writes Mr. James H. Stephens, Jacksonville, Fla., "I wish to state how much I have been benefited by Sulferro-Sol. For several years prior to 1915, I had suffered with stomach trouble, rheumatism and other complaints, being reduced in weight from 165 lbs. to 139 lbs., and so weak I could not walk two blocks without being exhausted. While on a visit to Mr. Stanley Stanton Stephens in September, 1915, at Ramer, Ala., he introduced your medicine. I took it and soon my troubles left me, my appetite became good. Being able to eat solid foods, I commenced to regain my weight, and on 15th of August, 1916, I tipped the scale at 166 lbs. Now, and for two years, I can walk from my home, 1714 Liberty street, to my office, 54 Buckman Building, one and one-quarter miles, without fatigue; notwithstanding the fact that I am seventy-six years young."

This is one of hundreds of letters that have been written in praise of Sulferro-Sol, Nature's medicine that has done so much good in the world. Take it for Rheumatism, Indigestion, Eczema or any other nerve or blood disease. You will not be disappointed. Druggists sell it.

J. S. JONES POPS A FEW QUESTIONS TO MR. G. W. EDWARDS

Cooper, Ala., Sept. 22, 1919.
Editor Union-Banner:

I desire to write another letter in regard to the matters of past political happenings which are under controversy by Mr. G. W. Edwards. But I wish to assure you and your readers from the beginning that I will not use any words or make any assertions that are not perfectly becoming to a gentleman.

I will remind my readers first, that they can observe that it is and has ever been the policy of Mr. Edwards and those who are associated with him in his political manouvers under the cover, to pick up immaterial personalities and entirely dodge the question that are to be determined.

In regard to the vote of Mr. Edwards of Coopers in 1908 (when he himself was a candidate for Tax Assessor on the "true blue" ticket). I wish to reassert that neither Mr. Edwards nor any other candidate on his ticket got a single vote at Coopers, which was Mr. Edwards' voting place; and Mr. Edwards voted at Coopers on that day. As to how I know that Mr. Edwards voted the Democratic ticket instead of voting the ticket which he was leading, that part is perfectly legitimate. When a man does a thing in front of your own eyes, have you not a right to look at him? That is what I did for Mr. Edwards when he voted. As he folded up his ticket in my plain view I saw his cross mark under the rooster. I am not the only man who saw this. The other managers of the election saw the same thing when I did.

As Mr. Edwards seems to want to conduct his argument along the line of asking questions, I will also meet him with the same weapons. I will answer questions by asking some myself:

Is it not a fact. Mr. Edwards, that you entered this controversy without your name having been called, and at the suggestion of some others who were being prompted by the Democrats in Clanton toward some evil design directed at the Republican party in this county? Isn't it a fact that there are at least three Democrats in Clanton whom you know to be backing you and other writers at this time in your efforts to cast a shadow of ridicule upon some of the county officials and their administration of the affairs of the county and thereby defeat the Republican party by disrupting its organization?

Is it not a fact that your motive and the motive of other writers now and in the past is and has been to tear up the Republican organization in this county? Were you not a candidate in the Republican primary in 1918 and voted a Democratic ticket in the general election? Did you not as a matter of fact vote the Democratic ticket in 1910, 1912, 1914, 1916 and 1918?

Did you or did you not, vote for W. A. Reynolds when he was nominated last year, and then vote for Mr. Parrish on the Democratic ticket in the general election?

If you are such a good Republican, having such a laudable record for party loyalty, won't you please answer the above questions?

In 1911 when the party was in a struggle, and had just suffered defeat, will you tell us who paid your railroad fare to Thorsby to get you to help the Democrats capture the organization? Isn't it a fact that Felix Dudley paid you a dollar a day to go to Thorsby to the convention to help a prominent Democratic lawyer of Clanton to capture the Republican organization?

Now, Mr. Edwards, I would like to know if your motive now is not the same as it has ever been?

When you answer these questions Mr. Edwards, I have some more questions to ask you in regard to your affiliation with a present existing secret organization centered in Clanton, having the purpose of defeating the Republican party.

Respectfully,
J. S. JONES.

AUTO POLO THAT DAZZLED WORLD WILL BE STAGED AT THE STATE FAIR

The triumph in the art of dare-devilry was reached, when some fearless genius invented the game of auto polo. The crest in amusements was reached when the Alabama State Fair, which opens October 6, booked this world's famous spectacular attraction for the fair this fall.

Auto Polo was first introduced to Alabama last year, when the speed-mad demons opened an engagement at the Fair grounds. All Alabama began to sit up and hold its breath over the weird and wonderful stunts displayed in this great and most perilous of all games. Then came the influenza scare after the men who laughed at death had held audiences breathless for two days.

But Secretary Dent was not disheartened. He again tried for this most expensive and most dazzling of all attractions this year, and by expending a huge sum of money he brings Auto Polo back to Birmingham and to the State Fair for a week's run starting October 6.

It is not necessary to stretch the truth in commenting on this wonderful attraction or the wizardry or fearlessness of the galaxy of dare-devils who compete in this, the most hazardous game of all time. Last year women turned their backs and fainted; strong men almost suffered nervous prostration as the lightning like game continued, which was full of thrills and spills.

Auto Polo is without a peer. It has no equal for sensationalism or hair-raising moments. The participants ride in automobiles, going at lightning speed, ducking, bucking, crashing into each other, causing cars to turn turtle while going at break-neck speed, ripping wheels from their mooring, smashing into fences, and burying at times the speed-mad drivers beneath the debris of a wrecked car.

All these things take place during the course of a game of auto polo, which is played in front of the grandstand and which is a feature free attraction at the Alabama State Fair.

This renowned thriller is only one of the many that will be staged at the State Fair Grounds, beginning October 6, when the greatest Fair the South has ever seen gets under way. They are going to flock into Birmingnam from all over the state to set auto polo, to see Lieutenant Locklear change planes in mid-air, to see the great auto and horse-racing cards, the wonderful exhibits, the great midway shows and the scores of other attractions that have been booked for the Alabama State Fair this fall.

Such a great array of amusements have been gathered together at such a voluminous outlay of cash that it is safe to predict that the attendance record for all previous fairs will have been smashed by the middle of the week. The people of Alabama know quality and class and they have a good enough idea of values to realize that the State Fair this year has the largest and most costly alaxy of attractions ever brought to Alabama for any occasion.

FROM OUR GOOD FRIEND, L. P. MARTIN, DORA, ALA.

Dora, Ala., Sept. 18, 1919
Editor Union-Banner:
Dear Sir:

I would like to have space in your valuable paper to say a few words to the people of Chilton County in my behalf.

As I am sure of the fact that since leaving Chilton County I have past from death unto life, and I am now doing all I can for the Master's own cause and I am not ashamed for the world to know it. To say nothing about having that assurance of heaven when you die, it is nothing more than a matter of intelligence for a man or woman, boy or girl, to do the right thing in this world. Of course my past record in Chilton has been such that some people, no doubt, will have no confidence in this letter or me either for that matter.

But friends, when you have the love of God in your heart just right, it will make no difference with you what people may think about you, you will keep pressing forward in the Master's cause.

I cannot think of anything in this world that compares my past life more than that good old song, "I was once far away from my Savior and as vile as a sinner could be, but now unto others I am telling how he saved a poor sinner like me." If everybody could feel in their heart and actually know what the Lord has done for me, they would say yes, there is reality in the religion of the lord and Savior Jesus Christ.

The Lord has wonderfully blessed me all my life and to think how little I have done for him, it is enough to cause me to wonder why he let me live. It must have been the prayers of some good people in the world that were sent up for me that saved me, and now I feel like it is time for me to repay the debt. May the love of the Lord and Savior abide with you, Mr. Editor, and all the people of Chilton County, forever.

Yours in Christ,
L. P. MARTIN,

THE UNION-BANNER

VOLUME VIII. CLANTON, CHILTON COUNTY, ALA., OCTOBER 2, 1919. NUMBER 27.

TWO NEGROES ARE LYNCHED BY MOB OF MONTGOMERY MEN

Montgomery, Ala., Sept. 29.—Within a stone's throw of the State convict farm where negro prisoners were being worked by guards, Retious Phifer and Riobert Crosky, negro ex-soldier, were taken from three deputies by a small band of masked men and lynched at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon about four miles from Montgomery.

Phifer was dressed in the regulation uniform of the United States army.

Thirty minutes after the mob disbanded Crosky was taken to a hospital for treatment, but the name of the hospital was kept secret as the report was circulated the mob would take him from the optrating room to complete the job.

The lynching and shooting was the culmination of a series of attacks negroes have made on white women in Montgomery the past month. Phifer assaulted a white girl about a month ago, according to a confession he made from the witness chair on Monday, when he was arraigned after being brought from the county jail at Mobile at 3 o'clock in the morning.

Crosky, whose body was riddled with bullets and whose skull was fractured by the mob, also is said to have confessed to attacking an aged white woman a month ago.

Montgomery never before has witnessed such sensational happenings as those of the past week, when a telephone operator was attacked as she went to her work. The negro who is alleged to have attacked her is now said to be in the penitentiary for safe keeping. Street corner indignation meetings were held during the week and the newspapers received many calls from persons claiming to know that "there will be a lynching or two during the night."

Phifer and Crosky were arraigned in court Monday. Twenty special deputies guarded the courtroom as the trial was in progress. At 3:30 o'clock, when it was announced the negroes would be held for action by the grand jury, Governor Kilby was asked over the telephone what should be done with them.

Deputies Hear Shots.

He is said to have advised that they be taken to the penitentiary, about 12 miles from Montgomery. Deputies were carrying out the instructions of the chief executive when the masked band, at the point of pistols and shotguns demanded the negroes. While the deputies were covered with the guns, other members of the masked band dragged the negroes into a ravine about 100 feet away. The deputies could hear the pistol shots and the disorder as the mob clubbed the negroes with pieces of wood.

Phifer was dressed in a full uniform of the army. He is said to have served overseas. Crosky recently was released from service, having been in a training camp in the north.

Reports that a mob would stop the deputies came to the newspaper offices 15 minutes after the automobile with the prisoners left the courtroom. The newspaper men reached the scene shortly after the mob had disbanded.

Scores Visit Scene.

Within 30 minutes after the report scores of automobiles were soon on the road leading to the scene, only a few miles from the city.

The many friends of Rev. Bob Aldridge will be glad to learn that he is planning to remove his family to Clanton to live again. For the past few years he has been living in Birmingham where he was engaged in the garage business. For the past few months he has been doing some special work for a railroad in the East. Bob is a citizen of whom any community should be proud, and we are glad to welcame him back to Clanton, his old home.

MONTGOMERY POLICEMAN AND NEGRO KILL EACH OTHER IN A REVOLVER DUEL MONDY NIGHT

Montgomery, Sept. 29.—J. B. Barbaree, a member of the Montgomery police force, was shot and fatally wounded shortly after 11 o'clock tonight and Will Temple, a negro, charged with the crime, was mortally wounded by a bullet from the gun of the officer before he fell to the ground and died two and half hours later.

Patrolman Barbaree was carried to a local hospital where he died an hour later from four gunshot wounds, two bullets having penetrated the abdomen, a third passing into the right lung, while the fourth was through the thigh. Temple was shot through the head.

The shooting occurred in the southeastern section of the city and was the result of the officer arresting three negroes, Bert Asbury, Edna Leonard and Temple, it is said, were returning from a dance when Asbury met them and started and altercation which brought the policeman to the scene. He ordered all of them under arrest, but Asbury started to run, and when the officer called to him Temple opened fire. The policeman returned the fire before falling to the ground mortally wounded.

The negress was arrested by patrolmen in the same district and placed in the city prison, while a posse was formed and is now searching the negro quarters for Asbury.

NATION'S VOTERS WILL HEAR ISSUES IN HOMES

Republicans Plan to deliver Campaign Speeches Via Phonograph Records.

The Republican National Committee will make a campaign of direct appeal to the voting millions of the country through the agency of more than 2,000,000 standard tallking machines. Cooperating with the Committee is the Nation's Forum, founded by Guy Golterman, of St. Louis. During the war the Forum compiled the speeches and messages of great leaders on phonograph records which are preserved for the enlightenment of future generations.

Political meetings during the coming campaign will not only hear the local orators and national speakers who "swing around the circle" but will also listen to the voiced opinions of statesmen whose duties preclude their journeying over tremendous distances.

Beginning with a rousing talk by Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, these five minute phonograph talks will bereleased at the rate of one each month and will comprise speeches by Senator Philander C. Knox, Speaker Gillette of the House of Representatives, former Senators Chauncey M. Depew and Elihu Root, Justice Hughes and many others whose messages of patriotism will be cerried directly to the people by means of the phonograph record.

Chairman Will H. Hays of the Republican National Committee has indicated his intention to make a record of a five minute on "Citizenship" epitomizing his trenchment views that have become familiar through more extended addresses on the subject.

Last Saturday afternoon the little six-year old son of Zed Mahan fell out of a tree and broke one of his arms. The injury was a very painful one. Drs. Gragg and Marcus were called in and administered surgical aid to him at once.

M. D. Foshee has sold his home on Ninth Street to Mr. B. L. Jones. Mr. Foshee has bought the Upchurch place, his former residence on Eighth Street, and will remove there.

C. B. Huett of Billingsley brought a bale of cotton to Clanton Tuesday. He came to the Union-Banner office and subscribed for his son who lives in Kansas City, Mo. Mr. Huett is one of our old faithful subscribers. He has been on our list ever since we can remember.

W. B. Jones of Verbena Route 2 was a visitor to Clanton Wednesday.

CONTEMPTIBLE QUITTER!

President Wilson's allusion to certain Senators as "contemptible quitters" because of their steadfast Americanism, makes it appropriate to call attention to fourteen points in his own quitting record:

He was elected on a pledge for free tolls for American coastwise shipping through the Panama Canal, but demanded repeal of the provision for reasons never disclosed. Contemptible quitter!

He pledged pitiless publicity regarding public affairs but no administration ever equalled his in secrecy. Contemptible quitter!

He assured the country that no legitimate business would be injured but his tariff legislation paralyzed American industry until war orders restored trade. Contemptible quitter!

He promised that merit rather than political service should govern Federal appointments, but has consistently violated the spirit of the Civil Service law. Contemptible quitter!

He promised that the rights of American citizens would be protected at home and abroad, but three hundred Americans have been murdered in Mexico while he watchfully waited. Contemptible quitter!

In his first campaign, reduction of the cost of living was the paramount issue, but there has not been a day since his election that the cost of living has been as low as before. Contemptible quitter!

He promised that there should be no "usurpation of governmental instrumentality by special interests," but he co-operated with the labor union interests which forced inequitable raising of wages through governmental instrumentality. Contemptible quitter.

He promised economy in govermental administration but no previous administration was so extravagant and inefficient. Contemptible quitter.

He was elected in a campaign in which his publicity agents assured the country of his "approachability," but no other President has been so secluded. Contemptible quitter!

He told Germany she would be held to "strict accountability" and then entered upon a series of note-writing which won contempt. Contemptible quitter!

Three days after the Lusitania was sunk, he told the world America was too proud to fight. Contemptible quitter!

In 1916 he insisted upon maintenance of the Washington policy of non-interference in European affairs. Contemptible quitter!

He stood first for self determination and then for the theft of Shantung. Contemptible quitter!

He promised "open covenants openly arrived at" and then was party to negotiations unprecedentedly secret. Contemptible quitter!

WE WANT HOG SALE DAYS FOR CHILTON COUNTY

Tax Collector J. D. Collins, who is also a profitable hog raiser, wants to get the people of Chilton County more interested in their oportunities to make money out of hogs. He has asked The Union-Banner to help him arouse the interest of the folks in this respect, and right here is where we start.

If anybody makes hogs pay, they must certainly have market advantages to dispose of their hogs. Other counties have put on organized hog sales days at some central point and have reaped a tremendous success from their efforts. Experienced experts tell us that the hog sale day for counties is the way to get money out of them and the best way to dispose of them.

Chilton County hog raisers should have an organized and systematic plan of marketing their hogs. What we want is to get the plans all laid for the sales here this fall and winter and have buyers here to buy the hogs.

Mr. Collins will furnish you with the details of the plan. And you will see more of it in The Union-Banner from time to time.

Let us all pull together and do for Chilton County what has been done for other counties. We can do it easily.

REPORT RAINEY ELECTED.

Early reports coming from the Seventh District through the Democratic daily papers of Alabama, say that Capt. Rainey, the Democratic candidate for Congress has been elected over Kennemar, the Republican. We are not going to believe it till we see it in the Collinsville Courier.

CONVENT INSPECTION BILL IS MADE INTO STATE LAW

There are many people in Chilton County who have been anxiously watching the progress of Senator West's Convent Inspection Bill in the Alabama Legislature. These people will be pleased to learn of the passage of that bill last Thursday. It was feared that the rush of other important legislation would crowd this bill out and cause it to die on the House Calendar. It had been passed by a vote of the Senate several weeks ago. But the House came to our rescue on next to the last day of the session by calling up the bill and voting it favorably.

HOLLY SPRINGS, COOSA COUNTY

Editor Union-Banner:

Please give us space in your paper for a few words in regard to our singing here last Sunday.

We met and elected W. J. Honeycutt chairman. Committee on arrangement of program were W. H. Blankenship, Tom Liveoak and V. B. Joiner.

The leaders were G. W. Melton, J. W. Morris, W. S. Stanley, W. J. Brasher, W. B. Fowlelr, Lonnie Clifton, before noon; G. W. Melton was called to sing 280 in the Christian Harmony and we were dismissed for dinner. Penty of dinner and some to spare.

At one o'clock we were called back to the house by the chairman. Following lead lessons: G. W. Melton, W. J. Morris, W. S. Staney, W. J. Brasher; Recess 15 minutes.

Then the old folks gave way to the young folks to sing in the new books. W. J. Brasher, W. C. Fowlelr and G. W. Melton lead lessons.

Dismissed at 4:30.

ENTERPRISE—NOTICE

There will be a school meeting at Enterprise Schoolhouse on Friday, October 10th, at two O'clock, p.m. for the purpose of consolidating district 13 and a portion of Evergreen district and a portion of Eastview district. All who are interested please come. We are expecting Prof. W. T. Bean to be with us. Our aim is for better schools. C. B. HUETT.

George Pok has rented the Ernest Mahan place in the Gowan Addition, where he will live for the next year.

Robert Bean started out in our potato contest with a specimen that weighed two pounds and ten ounces. He was topped right away by potatoes that weighed frm three to nine pounds. He says he don't intend to be bluffed clean out, so on Tuesday he brought along a sample that weighs five pounds. He says he is going to get the prize with the next one he brings.

50 ALLEGED OMAHA RIOTERS ARRESTED FOR VIOLENCE

Omaha, Neb., Oct. 1.—Fifty men and boys were under arrest today in connection with the rioting of last Sunday night, when a negro held for attacking a white girl was lynched, the Mayor dragged through the streets with a rope about his neck and the county courthouse badly damaged by fire, set by the mob.

Among the prisoners is Sol Francis, 12 years of age. All of those under arrest are held for either murder, inciting to riot, or assault to commit murder and wilful destruction of public property.

The physician attending Mayor Smith, who was seriously injured by the mob, stated this morning that his condition was such that he thought all danger past.

The negroes were arrested in Council Bluffs, Iowa, just across the river from here late yesterday when the discovery was made that they had a stock of guns and ammunition.

RETURNED LOADED WITH RICH GIFTS OF HIS BIG ROYAL PALS

Every Dollar of People's Money is Gone but Wilson's Present Chest Full.

IN RETURN HE EXALTS LEAGUE

Washington, Sept. 29.—Referring to the enormous expense account of the President and his retinue at the peace conference and to the European gifts which were lavished upon the President by royalty and others, Senator Sherman of Illinois said:

"There has been filed a general expense account, which reminds me of the general prayef at the conclusion of a bill of chancery, and your orator prays such other and further relief as the court shall seem meet. There is not anything in the report that gives any information. Whose names are on the pay roll? Only rumor hath it so far, somewhat buttressed by a vigilant press. I understand that Col. House's brother-in-law is on the Commission; that his son-in-law has been present in Paris and also his son-in-law's partner. If there are any uncles and cousins and aunts their names have not yet been divulged, but I have no doubt that the ancient play of "Pianfore" will be rivaled when the truth is known.

"Whose names are on the pay roll? What is their compensation? What have they done? What were their qualifications when they undertook to perform the service? Were they experts? No doubt they were. This country swarms with fiat experts, made overnight by passing resolutions; but we wish to know whether they are real experts or whether they are those created by the breath of potentates or executives.

But the President returned to our shores—we are all agreed on this—with every dollar of the fund spent. He brought with him gifts presented him in Europe besides which the generosity and glory of Solomon and Croesus seem a beggar's pittance. The golden sands of Pactolus never poured down greater wealth for the sovereigns of an antique age than that given by the American Republic to its President. In return for all this he exalts this alien league exotic above the Government of his own country and swears allegiance to a hybrid power across the sea. If this be his conception of officiall duty, fortunate indeed would it have been for this Republic if he had never returned to his native shores but had remained in the arms of his foreign friends and associates."

J. P. Dykes of Dry Valley was in Clanton on Wednesday attending his duties as a member of the county board of education.

Tom Wyatt from Coosa County, was in Clanton Tuesday and Wednesday, looking out for a home in or near Clanton.

Work was begun on a big scale Wednesday morning clearing away the debris from around the court house. Commissioner A. P. Vinson with several men and teams and a county motor truck was in charge of the work.

J. Lee Yates has removed from Birmingham, and is now engaged in the saw mill business with Mr. Lambert west of Thorsby.

W. A. Kemp has occupied the extensive addition to his store. His space is almost doubled by the addition, and he is now able to give his customers the advantage in much better trading facilities.

Residence property in Clanton is going at a premium now, and many sales are being made. In the last week Mr. G. O. McKee, the meat market man has bought the property of D. C. Alred on Eighth Street north, and will live there in future. W. M. Wyatt also bought the Shivers place on the same street.

FOUND RELIEF FROM CATARRH

Nose and Head Stopped Up Every Morning. Drippings From Back of Nose Got Stomach Irritated. Dreco, the Great Herbal Remedy, Gave Relief.

A famous doctor, writing about catarrh, says: "When the nose is stopped up, as by a cold in the head, or when the bad habit of mouth-breathing is indulged in, the air we breathe is only partially warmed, moistened and otherwise prepared for contact with the deeper tissues; therefore, diseases of the throat, windpipe or lungs are very apt to develop."

"I have been a sufferer from catarrh for a long time," says Mrs. L. T. Bowen of 402 Eugene St., Montgomery, Ala. "There seemed to be a constant dripping into my throat from the back of my nose. Upon rising in the morning my head and nose would be all stopped up, and it would take some time to get them cleared. My breath most of the time was foul, and my breathing was heavy and difficult. I knew of the benefits people were receiving from taking Dreco, so bought a bottle. At the end of the first bottle I felt that my condition was much improved. On rising I was not nearly so much stopped up; my breath was sweeter and the dripping much less. I am continuing the treatment and feel that I will get a permanent cure, and do not hesitate to recommend Dreco to anyone suffering as I was."

Dreco acts directly on catarrhal conditions of the nose, head, throat and stomach, as it is quickly absorbed by the blood and circulated to the affected parts, where its tonic action is soon felt, giving prompt benefit, and if the use is continued, often effects permanent relief.

MR. G. W. EDWARDS ANSWERS SOME OF JONES'S QUESTIONS

Mr. Editor:

By your kind permission, I will answer Mr. Jones' questions.

When I saw his first letter I thought he was full of information, but when the test came he seemed to be blank, and now wants me to advise him. I can't understand why Mr. Jones wants to mislead the people about what happened in 1908.

That is the year that Mr. Jones and his leaders quit the Republican party and nominated their ticket in a populist primary. The people that would not follow (called the true-blue Republicans) organized and nominated a ticket.

I was nominated for Tax Assessor on the ticket. After the Populist primary the old Republican Committee that voted in the Populist primary met and nominated the same ticket the Populists nominated. I learned that that ticket would go under the Republican emblem and our ticket would be as an independent ticket. I would not have that; so I gave notice in The Union that I was no longer a candidate. For some cause my name went on the ticket and I got some votes, but it was well known that I was not a candidate.

It is misleading to say that I was a candidate at that time. That independent ticket had no manager and their case was left at the mercy of the enemy.

As for the charge brought against me in that election, I am willing for the people to be the jury and just ask that they consider the source the evidence came from. In 1910 I voted a Democratic ticket and helped defeat L. H. Reynolds; and the greatest regret of my life is that I didn't do the same thing again in 1916. It would make a buzzard puke to hear Mr. Jones talk about me disrupting the Republican party. It is known that I stood by the Republican party when all but a few had fleld. When the crowd that is using Mr. Jones as a cat's paw was cussing the Republican party and all that would not follow them. In 1912 and 1914 and 1916 I voted the Republican ticket. In 1918 I was in Montgomery on the Federal Jury (not in jail) and didn't vote.

I answer these questions to let Mr. Jones know that I can vote a Democratic ticket when the good of the Republican party and common people demand it. His other questions are self-explaining and I will not comment on them.

Now, if Mr. Jone's bunch have the good of the Republican party or the good of the people at heart, why don't they jump on me about the things I stand for or against, that effect every man, woman and child in the county. Such as the amendment, the bond issue, the cow dipping, paying men and women salaries for work that was not worth anything to the common people out of the county treasury. It would be easy to show the peopde where I stand on such things as that. But when old sister tattler starts to raise confusion and strife in a party she starts something very insignificant that happened in some secret place where no one but her and brother Bill and sister Polly knew anything about it, and they can chew on that forever.

Now, Mr. Editor, I am not going to worry you over old sister tattler's 1908 lies any more. She must start a new one for me to notice it.

It is a fact that I entered this controversy without my name being called, but not at the suggestion of others. The true-blue Republican paray was attacked and when a party is attacked every member of that party is attacked. And the way L. H. Reynolds and J. S. Jones attacked that party is an insult to every Republican in the county.

It's not a fact that there are any Democrats backing me in any thing. It is not a fact that my motive is to tear up the Republican organization in this county.

I would be glad to reform it. I have never been to Thorsby to help the Democrats capture the organization. Mr. Dudley has never had me employed to do anything. My motive is the same now as it has ever been, that is, to perpetuate the principles in the county, state and nation; and dislodge the bunch that is in and out, and ready at any time to sacrifice the principles of the Republican party to satisfy their own political greed. Now, let us have the questions about that secret organization. I would ask Mr. Jones some questions, but I bursted his information box with my first letter and it would be like going to a dry pond for water to ask him questions.

I want to thank you, Mr. Editor, for giving both sides in this controversy.

I am as ever, yours for Republicanism, G. W. EDWARDS.

Now Is a Good Time To Drive Out Catarrh

The Trouble Is In the Blood.

Summer catarrh, with its nauseous discharge, stuffed up glands, difficult breathing, and summer colds, is bad enough, but the worst of it is yet to come if you neglect to check the growth that is forming to attack you with ten-fold greater power during the winter.

That's why it is so important to treat catarrhs and other blood disorders with S. S. S. during warm weather, and thus free the system from all impurities.

It is now an established fact that catarrh is in the blood and that lotions and salves do not give relief. The experience of others has proven that S. S. S. strikes at the very root of the trouble and eliminates it. Waste no time in this matter, for it is of the utmost importance. Write to our Medical Advisor about your case. Address Swift Specific Co., Dept. 53, Atlanta, Ga.

PENITENT ACCOMPLICE

President Wilson now takes the attitude that he helped to drug and kidnap Shantung, but maybe, if the league of nations is adopted as written, the poor thing can be brought to life, and restored to its rightful parents. Therefore he asks the United States to compound the felony in the hope that his miserable league will effect the reform. But the kidnapper took the precaution to get the consent of at least three of the leading nations of the league, before the president was dragooned into acting as decoy. Even the courts look with suspicion at a purveyor of States evidence.

REV. GABLE BIDS US FAREWELL CLANTON

CLANTON BAPTIST CHURCH

As retiring pastor of the Clanton Baptist Church, I wish to return my heartfelt thanks to the people of the Town for their universal courtesy during my stay of nearly two and a half years among them; but especially for the unnumbered kindnesses shown to my family am I sincerely grateful. The cost of all things has been extremely high and last winter was quite a trying period, but merchants and people have been accommodating and thoughtful in a high degree. However, at this wrinting I am not conscious of owing any man a dollar.

To the members of the Clanton Church and their friends who have so faithfully sustained my efforts, and to the Union-Banner for continued courtesies, I wish again to publicly express my appreciation. Lifelong affection has been engendered in the hearts of myself and family for a goodly number of the people, and the period of our residence in Clanton will never be forgotten.

Sincerely and fraternally,
JNO. F. GABLE,
Ex-Pastor.

HAL'S BIRTHDAY PARTY

Master Hal Broadhead celebrated his third birthday on last Thursday afternoon at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Broadhead.

The house was elaborately decorated with ferns and cut flowers. The color scheme of pink and white being carried out.

After a number of games the little guests were invited into the dining room where everything was aglow with candles. The table was centered with a large cake embossed in pink roses and buds with three small candles. Pink and white ribbons were strung from the chandelier to the table. An ice course and bon-bons were served. A whistle was given the boys for a favor while the girls received a dainty little doll in pink and white.

About twenty-five little ones enjoyed this hospitality.

MIXING BREEDS OF HOGS

If one travels the state of Alabama and discusses swine problems with the farmers he will find great differ; ence of opinion as regards the advisability of crossing pure breeds of hogs.

Many do not hesitate to indicate the exact cross that has been most successful. Such a one insists that he gets increased vigor and growth by crossing breeds. Pure breds may be all right, in his opinion, for the rich man who follows the shows and sells breeding stock, but the common farmer should cross them.

Others argue with equal zeal for pure breeds even for pork production. The advocate of the pure bred sees little force in the argument that crossing adds vigor. Of course, cross breeds are pretty good hogs and he has seen some of them that were outstanding individuals, but he would just like for somebody to show him a herd that will average as good for their age and chance as his pure bred beauties. Then such lack of uniformity! Some are big and some are little, some one color and some another. If he is going to raise hogs he wants something he will not be ashamed for his neighbors to see—no cross breds for him!

In this connection it will be of interest to study the results secured by the pig club boys of Alabama. There are three phases of the club work, the raising of a meat hog, the raising of a gilt for a brood sow and the raising of a litter of pigs. In each phase of this work, the best record was made by a pure bred, notwithstanding the fact that only 27 per cent of the members raised pure breds. Some most excellent records were made with grades and croosbreds, but in no case were they able to take the lead. That crossing does at times give increased vigor and growth cannot be denied by the best hog raisers. Why is it that pure breds are sometimes more vigorous and sometimes less vigorous than crossbreds?

There seem to be two main reasons. One is that many people do not realize that there may be a difference between pure bred hogs and good hogs. Some pure breds are very inferior individuals, lacking in constitution and capacity for rapid development. If two such animals are mated, the offspring will be less worthy than if either of them had been mated with a better individual of another breed. It takes good parents to produce good offsprings. The fact that they are pure bred, or even registered, is not enough.

The other reason for lack of growth in pure breds is that they are frequently inbred till their vigor is seriously impaired. If animals have been injured by inbreeding, new blood, whether from another breed or from the same breed, will give increased vigor, sometimes to a very striking degree.

For the production of meat hogs, there can be no particular objection, except lack of uniformity, to the first cross between two breeds. The gilts from such a cross may be safely used for brood sows if they are mated with pure breds of either of the original breeds. The big trouble with using cross breds for breeding purposes is that the stock "runs out" rapidly so that the animals soon resemble the old scrub stock.

Probably the best policy for a period of several years is to stick to pure breds of one breed, selecting only the most growthy for breeding purposes and avoiding inbreeding entirely.

The Clanton Boy Scouts Band is receiving the praise of all who have heard them plaly recently. The boys deserve much credit for the excellent music which they have learned to play. It is a surprise to see the way they play when we remember the short time they have devoted to their study under Mr. J. O. Johnson.

BUY FEED AND OTHER PRODUCTS THAT ARE GROWN AT HOME

Human nature is the same in every age. Centuries ago when his message was rejected in Nazareth, his boyhood home, Jesus Christ uttered a truism in saying "A prophet is not without honor save in his own country." As of people, so of things, and today this thought is expressed in the phrase 'Distance lends enchantment." To make a material application, Alabama today is sending vast sums of money into Western and Northern States for the purchase of feeds which are no better or even inferior to those being produced right at home.

In cottonseed meal, peanut meal and velvet bean meal the South has feed for dairy stock, cattle and hogs that no other one section can rival. For years the merits of cottonseed meal as a cow feed has been recognized in its large exportation to Holland, Denmark and dairy sections of France and England. Peanut meal, though a newer product, is also gaining a strong foothold in Europe—as witnessed by the purchase of many thousand tons of both meal and cake within the past month for export trade. Foreign feeders have been studying this matter of feeds for generations and have reduced it to a science. With a world-wide choice permitted them, they are preferring Southern grown products.

And yet in spite of this convincing testimony from a recognized authority, carload after carload of wheat products, shorts, bran and mixed feeds are being shipped every day into all sections of Alabama and the South for feeding to dairy and beef stock. This transaction sends out of the South vast sums of money which we never see again; stimulates a trade with which our own products are in direct competition and builds up and prospers a far distant section.

Again we must more generally purchase pork produced from peanut fed hogs. If we propose to continue to market a large portion of this valuable feeding crop through the hog as an intermediary we must stand ready to purchase the pork so produced and establish for the packers the ready market desired. If this is more generally done, we will again be beneficiaries in keeping at home for local use and demands, thousands and thousands of dollars sent West and North for corn fed pork.

KEEP UP THE MILK FLOW DURING LATE SUMMER.

By W. H. Eaton, Assistant, Dairy Husbandman.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

During the early spring and summer months Mother Nature is kind to the dairy cow in supplying green pasturage and other green crops to stimulate the milk flow. With the approach of late summer the average pastures begin to fail, due to dry weather and other conditions, and the dairy farmer should begin now to plan to hold the milk flow up as the pastures go down.

The dairy cow should be well fed in the fall for three reasons:

1st. When the cow fails in milk production for a few weeks it is difficult to get her back to a maximum flow by any system of feeding.

2nd. Dairy products advance in the fall and winter. Produce milk when the demand for it is heavy.

3rd. Feed the cow well in the late summer and fall in order to have her go into winter quarters in the best possible condition.

The following grain mixtures are being used by successful dairy farmers of Alabama:

Grain Mixtures.

No. 1—
100 pounds cottonseed meal.
300 pounds velvet beans.

No. 2—
100 pounds cottonseed meal.
100 pounds corn and cob meal.
200 pounds velvet beans.

No. 3—
100 pounds cottonseed meal.
100 pounds wheat bran.
200 pounds velvet beans.

No. 4—
100 pounds cottonseed meal.
100 pounds peanut meal.
200 pounds velvet beans.

Feed the cow one pound of grain mixture for every three or four pounds of milk produced, and all the roughage she will consume.

THE DAIRY COW.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

The Dairy Cow is a thing of charm; she lifts the mortgage from the farm she makes the farmer's life more sweet, and sets him down on easy street. Where'er the dairy cow is queen, a prosperous country may be seen, and Dairymen in joyful ranks are packing money to the banks. Why plug along the old sad way, producing cotton and no hay, and putting up a bankrupt wail if one year's crop should chance to fail? There is a better method now, the method of the dairy cow; this critter always earns her keep, and piles up riches while you sleep, and pays the taxes and the rents; and here in Alabama, Gents, we have the climate, as you know, to make the dairy business go; we have the grass and other feeds, and all conditions dairying needs. So let us boost the Jersey cow, which beats the old breech-loaded plow; the Guernsey and the Holstein too, as smooth as any cows in view. Let's take up Dairies, Milk and Cream, the safest money-making scheme.

GOT WILSON'S GOAT

President Wilson has made another flash in the pan and gone home playing off sick. The truth of the business is that his goat has been "got" and he has found it out. The people have put it up to him straight that they are not going to fall in with him on his League of Nations ideas, and it has knocked the old boy into a cocked hat; one of these cocked hats with which Billiam Jennings Bryan is so familiar.

Wilson stood the racket with the Republican Senators in Washington as long as he could. He saw they were going to run him to the tall timber on his league proposition. He then conceived the idea that he would take a swing around the country and get a dip in the great gulf of consolation which the daily papers had led him into believing the people were holding ready for him. So here he goes out through Ohio and Indiana, Illinois, Misouri, Nebraska and across the Rockies into the Pacific Coast States, and lo, and behold, he finds nothing that has the color of consolation to his blurred and weary eyes. Instead of extending him the hand of sympathy and consolation the people have shown him to his face that they are everything besides sympathetic and favorable to the league. They have shown him that the daily papers and press agents who have been crying aloud that people were clamoring for the league have been deliberately falsifying and coloring the real situation.

Seeing his dream of consolation from the people gone glimemring, Mr. Wilson decided that it was useless to argue further with them. Then rather than admit the truth of the matter he puts up a tale as being seriously sick and forced to cancel all his other engagements.

Now, he goes back to the capital disillusioned as to the country's attitude with regard to the existing covenant of the league. He has now found out how the people of America estimate his abandonment of Americanism for internationalism. He has as he returns to the cover of some isolated retreat to recover his shock, the realization that he has failed completely to revive the fortunes of the league.

If the president hoped to sweep the country with enthusiasm on the league of nations, he must be a sorely disappointed man. He must look for a new issue if he would gain a hold on the minds of people of this country.

It will be interesting to see what he will grasp at next when he regains his composure from the shock he received on his recent tour.

WHEN THE TIDE TURNS

Nearly a million and a quarter immigrants came to America in the year before the war, and ten millions of immigrants came during the decade before the war.

With the countries of the Old World in turmoil, the tide will turn again to our shores, and yet more millions will come to us for refuge.

There are more Irish in the United States than in Ireland, and fifteen times as many Jews in New York City as in Palestine. We have some 8,000,000 immigrants from Great Britain and 6,000,000 from Germany. Our Italians would fill a city five times as large as Rome. We have twice as many Greeks as Athens, more [illegible] than Warsaw and more Scandanavians than Stockholm.

There are in use today in this country seventy-seven languages and dialects.

This is not Americanism!

As long ago as 1894, Theodore Roosevelt said: "Where immigrants or the sons of immigrants do not heartily and in good faith throw in their lot with us, but cling to the speech, the customs, the ways of life and the habits of thought of the Old World which they have left, they thereby harm both themselves and us. If any remain alien elements, unassimilated, and with interests separate from ours, they are mere obstructions to the current of our national life, and, moreover, can get no good from it themselves.

With the exception of the North Italians, no group of immigrants with a period of residence of five to nine years has as yet naturalized as much as ten per cent of its number.

This is no Americanism!

Who is the blame?

At least half, and more than half, is our own.

What then, must we do to absolve America to the charge that the men and women who come to her from foreign countries do not receive from us what they should receive?

To begin with, assimilation works both ways. We must take the immigrant out of the slums. The worst part of every city is given over to the foreign element, and it is to his racial group that the newcomer is inevitably drawn. We must put them where they can have decent surroundings and where, above all, they can mix with real Americans; where they can see the advantages of their new country, and where their own interest will make them learn the language and the customs of the people by whom they are surrounded.

Second, the huddling together of racial groups must be discouraged; no city should have a Little Italy, or a Ghetto. This last is as necessary as the first. If there is to be assimilation, there must be contact; there must be sympthy instead of indifference. In the "Streneous life" Roosevelt said, "Fellow feeling, sympathy in the broadest sense, is the most important factor in proudcing a healthy political and social life. Neither our national nor our local civic life can be what it should be unless it is marked by the fellow-feeling, the mutual kindness, the mutual respect, the sense of common duties and common interests, which arise when men take the trouble to understand one another, and to associate together for a common object."

No one more than Theodore Roosevelt was gifted with this "fellow-feeling that makes us wondrous kind.' What the immigrant needs from us, and what we owe him, Roosevelt preached.

The nation-wide campaign of the Roosevelt memorial Association for the spreading of his staunch Americanism, and for memorials that will perpetuate the ideals Roosevelt stood for, will fill the week of October 20 to 27. This very campaign is in the nature of things a plea for the American immigrant. And those of us who revere the memory of a great man can serve that memory no better than by bearing in mind the needs of those who seek refuge on our shores and our obligations to them.

IGNORING THE ALMIGHTY

Did you know that the recent peace conference at Versailles did not reverence the power of the supreme being enough to open its deliberations with prayer. Imagine a document like the proposed League of Nations being as they tell it, a law unto the world that will keep down all the future conflicts of mankind in the world and that same document framed and fostered by a council of men, some of them pagan worshipers, who never one time called upon the Almighty God to guide and direct and bless the work which they were doing. It is no wonder that such a thing is producing turmoil in the world even at the thought of its becoming a law of the nations. If God has been left out of its formation, He will surely not rush in to surpervise its effects after it is put to work. And the result will be, instead of universal peace to the world, a ceaseless turmoil, profane in the sight of God and cursed by the souls of men who must groan under its yoke.

Come Take a Stroll With Me Thru Our Fine New County Court House.

As the Circuit Court of Chilton County will convene at Clanton in the new court house next Monday it will, no doubt, be of interest to the many people who will come here to know just where they can find the various offices in the new building. Well, now, if you will come with us for a stroll through the building we will point out the most important things you should know about it.

As we pass up the big stone steps in the front and between the stately marble columns, we enter thru the big door into a spacious hall from which leads up two stairways, one on the left and the other on the right. But we will not follow the stairways just now. First we shall see what we may find on the first floor. In a conspicuous place on the wall there is a large directory, serving as an index to the various parts of the building. We note that it tells us the number of each officer's quarters, and further observance proves that the same number given on the directory appears on the transom over each door, together with words that give the officer's title.

For example, right here to our left is the room of the Commissioners Court. Here is where the Commissioners sit in their deliberations and wrestle with problems of the county's finance, public road matters, cattle dipping and the thousand and one other things with which they are constantly confronted. As we enter we find it is a spacious well arranged room that will accommodate quite a number of spectators upon the court.

Proceeding back into the hall and immediately across from the Commissioners Court room we find the Circuit Clerk, Room No. 2. Here the affable and efficient Clerk, Mr. M. D. Foshee, assisted by his studious clerk, Miss Dewey Branch, keep the records and attend the manifold buties of the Circuit Court business. Mr. Foshee is also the Clerk of the County Court.

Now, we will go back out into the hall. The second door down to the left, Room No. 3 is the private office fice of the Probate Judge. The third door on the same side, Room No. 5, is the public office of the same official. In all the quarters of the Probate Judge include a private office, a public office, and the vault containing county records. Here we find Judge Reynolds with his coat off busily engaged dictating letters and giving instructions that cover perhaps everything from building a culvert across Hog Creek to the selling of twenty-five thousand dollars worth of county bonds in New York City. He is ably assisted by Miss Gertrude Popwell, who has been Chief Clerk in the office for quite a long time. And if Judge Reynolds happens to be called away from his office for a day or a week Miss Popwell sees that the office is taken care of in the proper way.

Right across the hall here we will drop in at Room No. 4, and have a look at our Tax Assessor, Mr. J. N. Dennis. We find a mass of tax records all about us and possibly a number of farm magazines on his desk. For in addition to being Tax Assessor Mr. Dennis is well known over the county as a most successful farmer. He will not admit being a successful farmer if you accuse him of it; but if you don't believe it just run down to his farm a mile south of town and you can readily see that he is a success in that line. Miss Mollie Murrah is the potent clerk in Mr. Dennis's office. We say potent because it certainly requires much patience to sit for days and weeks and months and copy endless pages of the northeast quarter of the southeast quarter, and so forth and so on, till all the work of the tax assessor is completed ready for the Equalization Board to come along and change all up again.

Down at the next door on the right Room No. 6, we peep in and see Tax Collector J. D. Collins all ready and fixed up ready to start out on his rounds of collecting taxes again. If you go in he will greet you heartily enough and about the second thing he will tell you is some one of his pet reasons why the Red Jersey is a better hog than the Poland China. Dudley is the best success we have had in some time both at collecting taxes and raising hogs. He is right now interested in getting up a hog sale day for the farmers of the county. When he comes around to collect your taxes ask him about it. We want it put through.

The next door down on the right of the hall we find the sheriff's office, Room No. 8. Mr. Johnnie Gore is boss of that department now, most ably assisted by Mr. W. G. Culp. John and Will have made mighty good records in past years as singers, but right now they are engaged in making themselves a good record as Sheriff and Deputy Sheriff. They are makinkg a decent success at the job too.

On down the right side of the hall to Room No. 10 we find Major Simpson, whose title is Register of Circuit Court in Equity, alias, Register in Chancery, alias, Clerk of the Town of Clanton, or otherwise known to the Grand Jury. Hugh is one of the most likable fellows in the Courthouse, and if we had Dick Jones with us we would go in and hear them match yarns on the fishing subject for a while. But we must hurry on.

Down the hall a step or further and across to the other side is another room that is not labeled nor numbered. They tell us it is Howard Foshee's office as County Supt. of Education, but he denies the charge. It is a snug little office all right, though it may be a little small for the Supt., it is true. If Howard can not use it, we venture it would be an ideal place for Judge Gulledge, the Justice of the Peace.

A smaller hall leads us out from the left side of the main toward the street where we notice the Ladies Rest Room, No. 7. This is a valuable addition to the new court house as conveniences for ladies are very much needed in such a public building.

Now, we will go back up to the front end of the hall and proceed up stairs to see what we may find of interest. Both the stairways lead us up into a beautiful corridor which adjoins the main court room.

Before we enter the court room we will go in the door to the right, Room No. 12, which is the office of County Treasurer Grady Reynolds, Mr. Reynolds, in addition to looking after Chilton County's finances also practices law for a side line; or maybe it is just the reverse. Assisting him in his office we find his capable and efficient stenographer, Miss Cuba Keith.

Across the corridor to the left of the entrance to the court room is tslthe Grand Jury, Room No. 11. Now remember where this place is for it will possibly be a popular hangout for some of us in the next few days. Don't you forget that the Grand Jury this time will be up stairs to the left at the front of the main court room.

Straight ahead now from the corridor we enter the court room which is now being furnished into shape for court next week. The seating has been put in and is of comfortable opera chairs instead of the old hard benches. At the rear end of the court room will be the Judge's rostrum in the centre as it was before, while there are jury boxes on both the left and right. For each of the jury boxes there are separate witness and jury rooms further on in the rear. The court room is much better than it was in the old building, as indeed the whole of the new structure is far ahead of the old one.

The entire building is to be heated with a hot water radiator system. A modern heating plant has been erected in a small but adequate annex at the rear of the building.

As a whole it a thoroughly modern structure, exemplifying a high class of workmanship and comparing favorably with any court house in the State of Alabama.

How About an Old Line 20-Payment Special?

With Disability Clause, providing monthly payments of $10.00 for each 1,000.00 for life in case of total disability, with no further premiums to be made, and the full face of Policy at death, which case only

At age of 16, for each $1,000,	$23.17
At age of 20, for each $1,000,	24.49
At age of 30, for each $1,000,	28.72
At age of 40, for each $1,000,	35.74
At age of 50, for each $1,000,	48.52

Premiums vary according to age.

These policies also pa ydouble in case of accidental death to all classes "ordinary" and above.

The ordinary life policies, that is to pay all your life, comes much cheaper, and those I would recommend after reaching the age of fifty, for at this age, if in good health, you have only about twenty years to live, according to the American experience table of mortality.

These policies are issued by a regular Old Line Company, and is backed up by many hundred millions of assets, and surplus.

Sub-agents wanted in every Beat in this County.

OF INTEREST TO FARM READERS

An examination made recently of a healthy seedling pecan grove of eighty-eight trees disclosed the fact that only eight trees had a crop that could be classed as worth while commercially. Eighty of the trees had practically no nuts. The land was rich, moist and in the best pecan territory. The trees were twenty-five years of age. No evidence could be found that these trees had ever borne better crops than they had the present year and this year's crop throughout the state is probably larger than ever. This is only one instance in hundreds that may be found in Alabama of the unprofitable character of seedling pecan trees. Another large orchard, visited last year, comprising about sixty acres of seedling trees, did not show an average production on each acre of sixty trees as great as each tree should have produced if they had been standard budded varieties.

The writer was asked a few days ago to name all of the arguments for and against seedling pecans. The following is a list against the seedling pecan:

First: The trees are no more hardy than standard trees and probably not as hardy if one considers such trees as Stewart in comparing with general seedlings.

Second: They are not as disease rasistant in general as our most disease resistant standard varieties.

Third: They are not as beautiful on the average as our best varieties of standard trees.

Fourth: They often prove sterile, thus discouraging the planting of pecans of any sort.

Fifth: If they do prove productive, the quality of nuts may be so poor as to discourage anyone purchasing improved sorts on the markets.

Sixth: Varieties of high quality nuts, especially adapted to northern territory, are being developed and we want to leave the field open to such a horticultural movement. Therefore, seedling trees should not be grown for shipment to any territory.

Seventh: They are not sold at prices cheaper than growers are willing to sell first-class budded varieties.

The arguments for seedling pecan trees were summed up as follows:

"In fact, there is not one atom of argument in favor of permitting the sale of seedling pecans. Therefore, I am not able to give you any argument on the other side. Probably you will not agree with me that it is such a one-sided question but my mind, after three years residence in Alabama, is very decidedly made up."

A strong effort is being made to persuade the Southern Nurserymen's Association to out-law seedling fruit and nut trees. It is hoped that the measure will be adopted by this association at its meeting to be held in Atlanta soon. The same general arguments that are quoted above against seedling pecans applies with practically equal force against seedling peach, apple and other fruits.

In other words, when the fruit tree agent comes to your place purchase from him only standard varieties of fruits and nuts. If you do not have a list of these, write the Department of Horticulture, Auburn, Alabama, and a list will be forwarded to you at once.

The success of any orchard depends on the nursery stock that is purchased. The most excellent care cannot make an inferior variety produce good fruit. Any one who plants a tree should make absolutely sure that he has purchased the very best stock obtainable. Having obtained this first-class stock, the orchardist has an incentive to give his trees the best of care for he is sure of the results. If trees are bought from an unreliable nursery or agent, fruit growing becomes a most hazardous proposition for after years of hard work and expense you may find your trees to be worthless seedlings. Stock should only be purchased from a reliable nursery which is using bearing trees of known merit for propagation stock.

Standard varieties of proven worth, that are adapted to your section, or your particular soil, should be selected. Valuable information on this point can often be gathered by observing varieties that are growing in your neighborhood. The reliable nurseryman can also help you along this line, but make absolutely sure that his reputation is beyond reproach.

Only trees that are free from fungous and insect injury should be accepted for planting. Injury from these sources are often permanent or may kill the tree after being planted.

The Fall planting of your stock will give the better results in the long run. The trees have a good chance to become established before Spring growth begins, and a young tree does not receive the set-back in transplanting that takes place in moving an older tree. The possible higher price of the best trees should not influence the grower to purchase the cheaper stock for in this case the best is the cheapest. If a large commercial orchard is to be planted, the orchardist should visit the nursery, see the stock and meet the nurseryman, so that he will know in advance what he is getting.

There are four points one should keep in mind in purchasing nursery stock:

1. Trees from certified stock.
2. Trees free from fungous or insect injury.
3 Trees of standard varieties adapted to your section.
4. Trees that are young and thrifty and to be planted in the Fall.

The Alabama Extension Service, Horticulture Department, Auburn, Alabama, is especially anxious to increase the planting of orchards throughout the state and stands waiting to help the fruit grower in every possible way.

Fall plowing is not recommended for all soils and climates, but as a general proposition it pays, and should be more generally practiced. Deep fall plowing will increase the seed bed as well as improve the soil texture and structure, which improves the water holding capacity. It also assists in combating grubworms, cutworms and corn-root worms which are often very destructive to corn.

The fall of the year is the logical time for deep plowing and, if necessary, subsoiling. At this season the land is, unlike spring, usually dry and will not puddle or be otherwise injured from deep plowing.

Those who are planning and working for a big profitable yield next year should select an acre that will be cleared of crops early in the fall and break it deep. Eight inches or more is considered deep plowing but if a turning plow is used it should not go more than two inches below the previous seed bed. That is, land that has been plowed four inches will not stand over six inches this year with a turning plow, eight next year, and so on for fall plowing. Greater depths may be reached with a disk or any plow that does not bring the subsoil to the top.

Not only is fall a good season for seed bed preparation, but it is an excellent time for working into the land organic matter which is so badly needed by most Alabama soils. Corn stalks, cowpea and velvet bean vines, and other litter if turned under early in the fall will be rotten by spring.

Just before the fall plowing ten or more two-horse loads of manure to the acre should be broadcasted. Applied at this time manure will be thoroughly decayed by spring and ready for plant use.

The last step in fall preparation is a winter cover crop. Rye is the safest and surest one and will do well on nearly any kind of land. A fresh deeply broken seed bed is not best for rye or other small grains, but in spite of this, rye will make a good spring pasture and much green organic matter to turn under. It may be sowed from the middle of summer to late October. Oats and vetch are also good cover crops, but not so sure as rye. They do well together.

Miss Sarah Adams went to the State University during the past week, and entered the Freshman year. Miss Adams was accompanied by her mother and father.

REED APOTHEMS

Asserting that the league will bring universal peace, the president yet demands a standing army of a half million men.

Insisting that war will be no more, he urges the doctrine of universal military training.

Proclaiming that the day has come when swords are to be beaten into plowshares, he demands millions for the navy.

He advocates freedom of the seas, but consents that England shall remain mistress of the waters of the world.

He chafes at being kept at his presidential duties in Washington and he has been in this country only 60 days in the past nine months.

He makes a speech declaring his own opinions and the next day asserts that his own speech is a solemn instruction by the people which he is dutifully carrying into effect.

He hears the echo of his own words, and the next day proclaims them the voice of God.

He denounces secret treaties, yet seeks to engage his country in a contract ratifying and confirming secret and cruel treaties by which our own allies have been despoiled.

He preaches upon covenants, openly arrived at, yet goes into secret conclaves and seizes cable lines and permits a censorship of European news.

He refuses to inform the Senate concerning his vote on racial equality, pleading that he would thereby disclose secrets which would cause international embarassment, although the public statement of Japanese statesmen Barton Goto that Wilson and Mr. House had both voted with Japon on racial equality has for weeks gone unchallenged and undisputed. I shall insert that interview as a part of my remarks.

Because the members of the Senate have not in answer to his dictation immediately approved the treaty he has in substance charged them with treasonable practices by intimating that they are now conspiring with Germany, a country with which we are still technically at war.

The statement is as false as it is infamous.

He goes about the country denouncing the Senate for the delay in passing upon the treaty, yet he refused to give to the Senate the practically completed draft of the treaty, although is was in the possession of all the chancelleries of Europe and was being sold upon the streets of Berlin and authenticated copies of it were in the hands of the great bankers of New York City.

He complains of delay, yet his adherents in the Senate conducted a filibuster to prevent the publication in the Congressional Record and to the country of an advance copy of the treaty.

He complains of delay, yet he withheld from the Senate the French treaty, which by express terms was to be laid before the Senate at the same time the German treaty was submitted.

He complains of delay, yet he even now withholds documents important to the proper understanding of the treaties pending before the Senate.

The president talks much of "duty of sacrifice," but even while he speaks he at government expense, rides on special trains; sails upon magnfiicent ships fitted with special glass pavilions; lives in the palaces of princes; receives presents from foreign nobility worth hundreds of thousands of dollars; commandeers entire hotels; summonses armies of retainers; creates diplomats without law; and he wages war without authority.

Out of the public funds he provides the keep of his retainers. He compels the American taxpayers to furnish their food and to wash their dirty linen. He talks of sacrifices, but the sacrifices are to be made by American boys who perish in the snows of Siberia of who are yet to die beneath the suns of the Equator.

The time has come when we will determine whether the Senate of the United States is a part of the government set up by the people of the United States, and whether it shall proceed to exercise its functions without fear or favor, without coercion, and without abuse.

TO SCHOOL PATRONS TEACHERS AND THE TRUSTEES

The county board of education at its meeting Wednesday agreed that all public schools of the county that are supplied with teachers shall begin not later than October 15th. All schools that are now in sesison shall begin October 6th, to enforce the compulsory attendance law. And all schools opening from this time on shall enforce compulsory attendance from date of opening, on.

The new law names the compulsory attendance period cover the entire term of 120 days and the board has no power to reduce the number of days requird below that amount.

Mr. G. C. Walker, Clanton, Ala., has been appointed attendance officer for the county, and all teachers should report all delinquent pupils to him. I will announce through the paper and by letter to the teachers the details of the new law relative to attendance next week.

MIDDLETON MAKES MEMORIAL ADDRESS

CELEBRATE BIRTHDAY OF ADMIRAL SEMMES

Mobile, Ala., Sept. 29.—The celebration given by the Electra Semmes Colston Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, in honor of the birthday of Admiral Raphael Semmes at the Cawthon Hotel last night was largely attended. The room where the meeting was held was tastefully decorated with Confederate and United States flags. The large flag of the Raphael Semmes Camp, United Confederate Veterans, was displayed next to a large flag of the United States. The members of this camp were the guests of honor. The room was filled with guests who were given an enjoyable time and were served with delightful refreshments.

Mrs. W. S. Pugh had charge of the meeting, which was opened with all singing "America." There was a vocal solo by Miss Lenna Prichard, entitled "Goodbye, Sweetheart, Goodbye," This was received with considerable applause and she was called back, singing "Whistle and I will wait for you."

Middleton Makes Speech.

Hon. J. O. Middleton, a prominent young attorney, delivered an address on the life of Admiral Semmes. which was enthusiastically received. Miss Olive Austin read a poem "The Dream of the Alabama," which was written by Mrs. Virginia Frazier Boyles. Miss Marie Benson sang a solo which was much enjoyed. The program ended with all singing the "Star Spangled Banner" and then "Dixie," The accompanist was Mrs. Geo. Moulton. After the program had been completed all were invited to remain and participate in the refreshments.—Mobile Register.

Constipation.

The beginning of almost every serious disorder is constipation. If you want to enjoy good health keep your bowels regular. This is best accomplished by proper diet and exercise, but sometimes a medicine is needed and when that is the case you will find Chamberlain's Tablets are excellent. They are mild and gentle in their action, easy and peasant to take. Give them a trial. They only cost a quarter.

You are Losing Money

SELECT SEED CORN WHILE IT IS IN THE FIELD.

A glance at a corn field at this time of the year, no matter how good the corn is, will show that some stalks are good producers, while others with the same chance are poor producers. To use a livestock term these poor producers are "scrubs." A scrub plant may produce one good ear, while another plant with the same chance produces two good ears.

Now of course we want next year's crop to resemble as nearly as possible the heavy producer. To do this we must plant the seed from the stalk that has proved its power to yield corn. We want seed from the good stalks. To be sure that our seed comes from heavy yielding plants we must select seed in the field. If we mix all the ears together and go to the crib to select seed we can never know on what kind of a stalk our good seed grew.

Every corn grower should go into his corn field this fall before the crop is harvested and select his seed for next year's crop. It will pay handsomely. The Alabama Experiment Station, by proper selection, increased the yield of one variety 19.6 per cent in three years. Of course, a variety which has already been bred up to high production cannot be improved at that rate, but it requires careful selection to keep a good producing variety from becoming poorer.

The following points should be remembered when corn is selected in the field:

1. Large yield is the most important characteristic to look for. But do not select a high yield stalk if it has more space or grows on richer soil than other stalks. Such a stalk has a location advantage which cannot be transmitted, and it may be unable to yield well under ordinary conditions. What you want is a plant that is able to produce well under average conditions.
2. Very tall stalks are objectionable. A rather short, thick stalk with the ears about one-third as high as the plant is best.
3. Select ears with short shanks, just long enough to allow the ears to hang down so as to shed water.
4. Good shuck coverings should be sought in order that the grain may be protected from weevils.
5. Ears growing near barren stalks should be rejected, since the pollen from the tassel of the barren stalk may have fertilized the nearby ears, thus transmitting the quality of barrenness.
6. Select at least twice as much corn as you think you will need, so that inferior ears may be rejected.

GOT THE HABIT

With 47,000 surplus motor vehicles in stock, 12,000 of them going to ruin at Camp Halabird, the administration has accepted since the armistice was signed $175,000,000 worth of motor vehicles from manufacturers, according to Representative Reavis of Nebraska, who appears to have the figures to back up his statement. The public may as well become reconciled to adding this sum to the $3,500,000,000 deficit which the Democratic administration can point to with pride in 1920 as the fattest deficit is has ever rolled up.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

This remedy is intended especially for coughs, colds, croup, and whooping cough. From a small beginning its sale and use have extended to all parts of the United States and to many foreign countries. This alone ise enough to convince one that it is a medicine of more than ordinary merit. Give it a trial and you will find this to be the case.

LOBBYING FOR MARCH

Washington, Sept. 30—Secretary Baker is taking a very keen personal interest in the elevation of his friend Chief of Stall March, to the grade of permanent general. He is at the present engaged in lobbying with members of the House in an effort to persuade them to put through the necessary legislation. Remembering the demonstration or a few weeks ago when an attempt was made by the administration to honor both Pershing and March in the same bill, leaders of the House see little chance of the Chief of Staff attaining his ambition. At that time the motion of Pershing's name was greeted with great applause, but when the attempt was made to include Gen. March in the bill cries of "No, No," came from many members. The result was that the measure went through providing only one permanent generalship, to which Pershing has been appointed.

An Agreeable Surprise.

"About three years ago when I was suffering from a severe cold on my lungs and coughed most of the time night and day, I tried a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and was surprised at the promptness with which it gave me relief," writes Mrs. James Brown, Clark Mills, N. Y. Many another has been surprised and pleased with the prompt relief affirded by this remedy.

ROLLICKING ROBERT

Senator Sherman of Illinois has discovered that Robert McAdoo, son of the former Director General of Railroads, is the possessor of a pass that entitlels him to ride free over all the railroads of the United States. Not only that but he has a Pullman pass that places every lulxury of the rails at his disposal. So far as the Senator is aware, young McAdoo is not connected in any way with the railroad administration, and he is wondering by what authority Robert has been singleld out for such unusual favors.

WANTS U. S. POST OFFICE DEPARTMENT OVERHAULED

An investigation of the administration of the Post Office Department under Mr. Burleson is proposed in a resolution introduced by Senator Geo. W. Norris of Nebraska. Special reference is made to the charges that the Postmaster General has debauched the civil service in the appointment of postmasters. The resignation not long ago of the civil service commissioners, and the rumors that were prevalent at that time that Mr. Burleson was behind the matter, have led to the belief among Republicans that he has had little regard for the law in making his appointments. Senator Norris's resolution seeks to get at the facts in the case.

SPECIAL NOTICE TO CATTLE OWNERS IN REGARD TO DIPPING

Owing to the considerable amount of infestation in the several portions of Chilton County, of the Texas Fever Tick, the U. S. Department of Agriculture has allowed the Inspector in charge of Tick Eradication Work in Chilton County the privilege of continuing the routine dipping up till November 1, 1919, with the view of eradicating the last fever tick in Chilton County, and enabling the Inspector in charge to make recommendation for the release of the county from the Federal Quarantine, which is now on the county, by about December 1, 1919, providing 100 per cent of all cattle are dipped in the standard strength solution.

By dipping the extra amount of times this year it will prevent having to dip several times next year.

Your attention is called to Section 5, of the State-wide Tick Eradication Law enacted by the Legislature last Febryary, as follows:

Sect. 5. That every person, firm, company or incorporation, having in possession or in charge as owner, agent or otherwise, one or more cattle in tick-infested or a quarantined county, or on a tick-infested or quarantined premises, range, farm or pasture, that has not been released from State and Federal quarantine, shall dip the cattle regularly once every two weeks, on the day and at the vat specified by the Inspector in charge of the vat most convenient or nearest to the cattle. One either printed or written dipping notice, given by the inspector to the person or persons in charge of or in possession of the cattle, shall be legally sufficient to require the owner, agent, firm or person in charge, to dip the cattle regularly every two weeks until released from quarantine.

Very Respectfully,
B. A. TAYLOR,
U. S. Inspector in charge.

TREATY DELAY NO HINDRANCE

The officials of the Kerr Steamship Company, owners of the ship Jason, which recently docked in New York with the most considerable cargo that has come from Germany since the war, say that "such business as we have done has been done without a hitch despite the fact that the peace treaty has not been ratified." A sober statement from practical men. Compare it with the howling of the internationalists who want the peace treaty ratified before some more jokes are found in it. Why, the necessity for a protective tariff law is more pressing than the treaty ratification.

RELIEF FOR OLD SOLDIERS

The House has before it a favorable report on a bill materially increasing the pensions of Civil War veterans and widows. As recommended by the Pension Committee the bill provides a minimum rate of fifty dollars for the old soldiers and thirty dollars for widows. As the law now reads the minimum is thirty dollars and twenty dollalrs, respectively.

SAYS SHE WOULD HAVE BEEN DEAD

If Sulfero-Sol, the Wonder Medicine, Hadn't Relieved Her of the Horrors of Pellagra as Well as Other Diseases.

Hers was a pitiable case. And she made a remarkable recovery. Mrs. Mattie Boren, of Sallisaw, Okla., suffered with the horrors of pellagra more than two years. The children had it, too. She was also afflicted with kidney and bladder trouble and diseases peculiar to her sex. Now she is well. She attributes her recovery alone to Sulferro-Sol, "The Wonder Medicine," because while she was taking it she took no other. "I would have been in my grave today," she says. "Me and my three children had the pellagra. Doctors said we would never get well. But Sulferro-Sol cured us."

Sulferro-Sol is a medicine of marvelous power, which is even recognized by physicians. It is a natural nerve tonic and blood purifier, relieving not only Pellagra, but also Rheumatism, Eczema, Indigestion and Diarrhoea.

Try a bottle and be convinced of its wonderful power. After a few doses you will praise it. Get it at your druggists.

WHILE PRESIDENT MAKES HIS DENIALS FRIENDS WOULD SEND TROOPS ABROAD

REPUBLICANS IN OPPOSITION

Washington, Sept. 29.—Democratic members of the Senate Committee on Foreign relations have insisted upon an early hearing upon a resolution which is backed by Senator Hitchcock of Nebraskak, the administration's spokesman in the treaty controversy, giving the president the power to send troops and a protion of the navy to Armenia to restore order. Although President Wilson and other members of the administration have given almost daily assurances that no more American soldiers will be sent overseas for police duty there can be no doubt that the present resolution is being urged upon the Senate at the direction of the President, and that it foreshadows an assumption of responsibility upon the part of the United States to maintain order in Armenia, following the withdrawal of British troops.

Republican leaders bitterly opposed to the further employment of American troops for police duty in foreign lands. The resolution leaves to the President's discretion the number of troops to be sent to Armenia, but it is estimated that 150,000 would be necessary to protect the Armenians against the Kurds and Turks.

The Armenian resolution is looked upon by the Republican leaders as eloquent evidence of their contention that America's troubles abroad would be just beginning, if the League of Nations were to be adopted as demanded by President Wilson, and that this country would shortly have our troops scattered to the remotest corners of the world.

GAVE WRONG IMPRESSION

In Speech at Sioux Falls Words of President Misleading.

Washington, Sept. 29.—Why did President Wilson in his Sious Falls speech try to convey the impression to his hearers and to the American people that if the Senate put reservations on the covenant for the league of nations they would have to be sanctioned by Germany before they would be effective?

Without going into the matter as to what they have been the motive for the President's Sionx Falls utterance it is sufficient to recall that the President himself on August 20 admitted that modifications of the league covenant would not have to be submitted to Germony.

GARRICK - WILSON WEDDING ANNOUNCED THRU PAPER

The Birmingham Ledger of last Saturday carried the following interesting announcement:

"Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Garrett of Senoia, Ga., announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Inez, to Dr. O. E. Wilson, the wedding to take place in the near future."

The many friends of Dr. Wilson will read this announcement with much interest. He is a Clanton young man, the son of Mr. G. W. Wilson, and has just returned from several months service with the army in France in which he held a commission as First Lieutenant in the Medical Corps.

THOMPSON - GORE

On last Monday afternoon at 6 o'clock, a few intimate friends and relatives assembled at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Gore, to witness the marriage of their daughter, Rubie, to Mr. T. L. Thompson, of Wilton, Ala.

The parlor had been tastefully decorated for this occasion with smilax, cut flowers and ribbons in tones of pink and green. The wedding ring encased in the petals of pink lily was gracefully borne by little Miss Jewel Gore, sister of the bride. Miss Inez Parrish rendered an appropriate musical program.

The impressive ceremony was performed by Rev. J. F. Gable.

Light radiated through a pink wedding bell and shed a roseate glow over the marriage scene.

Immediately following the ceremony and the bestowal of the good wishes, Mr. and Mrs. Thompson left for a tour that will include Washington and New York City. They will upon their return reside in Wilton, where for a number of years the groom has been in the employ of the Southern Ry.

The bride was reared in Clanton. She received literary and musical training at the A. G. T. I., Montevallo. Both are well and favorably known by a large arch of friends who wish them much happines.

Fiume Situation Points To Grave Peril for U.S.

Is none of Our Affair Yet, Under Wilson's Plan, We May be Forced into It.

DANGER LIES IN ARTICLE X

Washington October 3.—The situation which is developing at Fiume has served to emphasize, in the opinion of many public men here, some of them men who were at first willing to accept the league covenant without any protection of American rights, the dangers and difficulties into which the United States will be tions. Following that he would take the position that the Senate in effort had rejected the treaty, he would demand another nomination at the hands of his party and would carry the issue into the 1920 campaign, hoping to insure himself a re-election.

This information has not caused any particular surprise in Washington. Nor will it in any way alter the position which is being taken by Senators who are insistent that the rights of America be preserved. In one sense the statements, which it is not doubted are inspired either by the President himself or by his secretary are looked upon as a threat to induce Senators to abandon the idea of reservations. In other words the assertion that the President will carry the league issue into the campaign if reservations are attached are susceptible of the construction that they are meant to reach to Senators who are particularly desirous of having nothing interfere with getting the treaty and covenant out of the way.

However, the third term talk is given a different construction by many public men. It has long been believed in many quarters that the president has been manouvering about to find what he regarded as an excuse for making the campaign for a third term on the league issue. Those who have believed that this was his purpose from the outset see in the present stories clear evidence that what they expected to occur is actually occurring. They point out that the president has mysteriously refrained from saying anything that could be regarded as implying he did not want a third term.

The president professes to believe that 80 per cent of the people are back of him in his insistence that the league be adopted without the crossing of a "t" or the dotting of an "i". If the President actually believes that this is true, then it follows that he believes if he runs in 1920 on the issue of forcing the league covenant through unchanged, he is certain to be overwhelmingly re-elected. Bearing these things in mind, and knowing how completely the President is wanting to turn the United States away from the paths mapped out by George Washington, who was not only against entangling alliances with the foreign nations, but also against third terms, it can readily be understood that there is a substantial basis of fact for the predictions of correspondents concerning the President's purposes and plans for 1920.

Editor Union-Banner:

Permit me to give a short sketch of my trip to Albany, Ala., where I have been for a few days visiting my daughter, Mrs. T. E. Williams and looking over the country.

That Tennessee Valley that we have been hearing so much about is all that we have heard, and then some. Most of the soil is red, and produces good crops with very little fertilizer. The farmers there think they are "pouring down" the fertilizer, if they use as much as 300 pounds per acre. I saw one 20 acre field in cotton from which had already been gathered 10 bales, and it looks as if he would get 10 more. He used 300 pounds of fertilizer per acre.

The town is not far north, but there are farmers there who have never seen sugar cane growing. What we call Sorghum, they call cane.

Albany has 14 churches, a good system of public schools, a creamery, two cotton oil companies, one silk mill, the L. & N. Shops, which is working about 2,000 men, and the second largest tannery in the country. All of this makes Albany one of the best markets in the State.

Butter is now selling for 60c and butter milk 30c per gallon. Sweet potatoes, peas, beans and turnips, in fact anything that a farmer can raise can be sold there.

Best of all is the good roads leading to town, and in the place of the streets being worse than the roads, like they are here in Clanton, they are paved.

These and many other good things go to make up the town of Albany, Alabama.

THE NEW SCHOOL LAW EXPLAINED BY CO. SUPT.

Clanton, Ala., Oct. 6, 1919.

Editor Union-Banner:

Please allow me space to more fully explain some of the new features of our school law. The entire school law has been changed and it will be some time before the new code will be published, but some of the more important features are as follows:

Provisional Licenses.

A provisional license may now be issued by the State Department of Education upon the request of the County Superintendent, that the applicant is needed to fill a specific vacancy. They will not issue to an applicant who has been rejected during the past twelve months, except that a lower license than the one stood for may be given. They may be given to high school gradates, normal or college graduates or to the holder of an Alabama certificate who has allowed it to expire. I will gladly furnish any additional information to anyone interested.

School Age.

The new law provides that six years instead of seven will begin the school age. In order to be eligible to enter this term the child must be six years of age on or before October 1. His legal age, in other words, for any fiscal year is his age on the first day of October of that year.

Compulsory Attendance.

The compulsory attendance period is for the entire term but may be reduced to 100 days by the County Board, and must begin with the beginning of the school term. In cases where the length of the term is less than 100 days the compulsory attendance term is limited to the number of days the school is in session. The law requires that all pupils who are eight and not more than fifteen yeare of age, shall attend during the compulsory period, the child's age on the first day of October being his legal age for that fiscal year. G. C. Walker of Clanton is Attendance Officer and any matters concerning delinquent pupils should be referred to him.

Incidental Fees.

The Board of School Trustees for any school, with the approval of the County Board, have the right to fix a reasonable incidental fee, but this fee must not operate to exclude pupils from school during the compulsory attendance period.

Town Schools.

All funds apportioned to cities and towns of less than 2,000 inhabitants that have not qualified by electing a board of education under the new law, shall be paid out on regular pay rolls to the individual teachers just as the funds are paid to the rural teachers. This means that the town pay rolls heretofore used are discontinued.

School Registers.

School registers will be furnished all teachers by the County Board, but are the property of the county board and must be kept neatly and accurately during the term and filed with the County Superintendent with the last monthly report.

Teachers' Contracts.

Each teacher must properly fill out his contract and get same to me before the close of this month.

Thanking you for this space, Mr. Editor, I am, yours truly,

HOWARD L. FOSHEE,
County Supt. Education.

RESOLUTIONS FROM COUNTY BOARD OF EDUCATION

Whereas, the term of W. T. Bean as County Superintendent of Education has expired, and,

Whereas, he has retired from the teaching profession, therefore,

Be it resolved, by the County Board of Education that we express our sincere thanks for the courteous manner and consideration shown to this Board during the six years he has been County Superintendent, and,

Be it further resolved, that we express our hearty appreciation of the most earnest efforts that he has put forth in laboring for the betterment of the schools, and we feel that he has done a great and lasting good in raising our standards of education in the county, and that he has created a more wholesome interest in educational matters in general. We regret though, to lose him from the profession, in which we think he has attained a high degree of success, but we hope for him the same success in future business that he has merited in his educational work, and,

Be it further resolved, that a copy of this resolution be spread upon the minutes of this Board, a copy given Mr. Bean, and a copy furnished the local papers for publication.

THREAT OF WILSON'S 3RD TERM CAUSES NO WORRY

SENATORS WHO ARE UPHOLDING AMERICAN IDEAL WILL NOT BOW TO BUGABOO.

HAS BEEN HUNTING AN EXCUSE

Inordinate Ambition to Overthrow the Precedent Established by George Washington.

Washington, Oct. 5, 1919—Reports are now being put out from newspaper correspondents on President Wilson's special train that the President will seek a third term in case the Senate adopts reservations to the league covenant. It is being freely asserted by gentlemen in a position to know what the President has in mind, that if serious reservations are attached to the covenant the Preident will pigeonhole the treaty and refuse to resubmit it to the other nathrust in Europe if its interests are not safeguarded in the most careful and vigilant fashion.

Signs are not lacking that the administration is lending a willing ear to the talk that the United States is obligated—morally or legally it is not clear which—to send an American force to interfere in the trouble at Fiume, provided it is not composed. Indeed, it is reported that American marines are already in that region.

The controversy over Fiume is not one which involves the enemies of the United States, that is, Germany or Austria. It concerns Italy and the Jugaslavs. Both the Italians and the Jugoslavs are the allies and friends of this country.

The question which is being freely asked here and will be asked still more freely if American forces are permitted to become involved in the Fiume controversy is what is the authority for such a thing and what posible sense there can be in allowing American troops to be used or causing them to be used in such a quarrel.

If cables speak correctly, the Fiume controvery, though it may be settled may also develop into a war between Italy and the Jugoslavs.

It is certain that if American forces are thrust into any such entanglement there will be an outburst of indignation in Congress even more bitter than the one over the relation of American emergency men in Siberia and the sending of American troops into Serbia.

If the administration saw fit to do so, it could, of course, put American forces into the Fiume region and congress would have nothing to say about it until after it had happened—after it was too late. The examples of such action are numerous enough so that it is not necessary to cite them.

What is going on at Fiume and the dangerous possibilities of the situation illustrate why it is senators are insisting that Article X of the covenant for the league be so safeguarded by reservations that it will not be possible for any authority but Congress to say that American forces shall be used in such a controversy. If American forces can be thrown into a quarrel of this nature, then the power of declaring war, obviously, has passed from Congress, and the American people could be pitched into a war overnight without having a word to say about it and without Congress having a word to say.

Whose sons then would have to do the fighting? Would the gentlemen who are taking the lead in trying to prevent reservations on the covenant to protect American sovereignty be at the front where the bullets fly? Or would they be safe at home, looking out for soft spots for their sons and relatives?

HIGH SCHOOL NEWS
By Luby Mahan.

Clara Millsap has been elected secretary of the Tutwiler Literary Society, since Lucile Attoway has "retired."

Perhaps some of you would like to know that Marbury did not beat us on last Thursday. We were glad that our boys "tied" with them but we do wish that they had made one other point if no more. The game ended 7 and 7.

We are sorry indeed to lose one of our students, who sailed away on the sea of Matrimony: Miss Lucile Attoway, who departed October 5, on the fast liner, "Raymond Hubbard," for lands unknown.

Jokes.

One of my reporters says that Mr. Holmes is passing around and collecting gum that he has given to certain girls. For further information see Miss Anice Kemp and Miss Birdie Teel.

Mr. Thompson says that he has been a husband once and doesn't mind telling that he expects to be one again. Say, it is strictly forbidden that you tell anyone that he has been conversing with Mrs. L. J. Duncan.

Perhaps the school, especially the girls, "weep" over the departure of "Sampo" Mims.

CONGRATULATE PRESIDENT ON COLLAPSE OF HIS TOUR

The whole country will congratulate itelf and the President upon the termination of his big speaking tour, which had taken a painful, almost an alarming, turn of late. It is a pity the unwise enterprise was not abandoned before some of its most disquieting phrases developed. Of course, its close means the abandonment of the fight against reservations in the ratification of the treaty; but, paradoxical as it may be, the President is likely to gain far more personal consideration through cessation of open war on the Senate, and his pride will probably be more tenderly dealt with than had he persisted in a perverse policy of belligerent agitation.

Mr. Wilson, as his speaking tour went on, had apparently broken away completely from his advisers. He had apparently diverted himself of much of his usual self-control; his sometime political shrewdness deserted him. He seemed to be losing his head as well as his temper. He made rather a pathetic figure in his angry and surprised disappointment at finding that his will was not the universal law.

He was plainly in need of rest and quiet communing with himself and his real friends. We hope the cessation of the racking excitement to which he has of late subjected himself will result in a speedy moderation of his tone and position and a return to a workable and constitutional attitude toward his partners in the rulership of the country.

CIRCUIT COURT

After a delay of weeks and months on account of the court house being incomplete, the Circuit Court of Chilton County was called on Monday by Judge Leon McCord and the Grand Jury empanneled and set out on the executive of its duties. Owing to the fact that the county court was in session, the docket for Monday in the Circuit Court was set aside till Wednesday, and Judge Reynolds went on and completed the docket in county court.

The following men were selected as the Grand Jury by Judge McCord:

County Court In Session Monday

A large number of citizens of Chilton County were in the new court house on Monday morning, as Judge Reynolds opened the October term of the County Court, the first session to be held in the new court room.

Before the docket of the court was taken up Judge Reynolds called on a number of the leading citizens present to say a few words in regard to the new court house. Hon. Thomas A. Curry, one of our leading lawyers, was the first to respond. He spoke words of praise for the neatness and accommodating features of the new building, laying due emphasis on the commendable efforts that have been shown by the Commissioners in their hard struggle to build the structure. Mr. Curry said that the officers in charge of the building of the court house house, have succeeded well in making us a court house of which the county can be justly proud. He closed his remarks with an earnest and patriotic appeal to the citizens to aid in keeping the building clean and unspotted from the thing that would show disrespect of the laws of decency and refinement.

Following Mr. Curry Judge S. M. Adams made a short talk along the same lines pursued by Mr. Curry.

Judge Reynolds, before taking up the docket, reviewed shortly the hard struggle that the county has been in to get the court house finished and appealed to the people to heed what Mr. Curry and Judge Adams had said in regard to caring for the building. An open expression of thanks was made by Judge Reynolds to Mr. W. T. Callen, Dr. E. E. Upchurch, Mr. W. A. Reynolds, Mr. H. B. Oliver and Mr. C. F. Jones for the financial aid these gentlemen have extended the county in the building of the court house. After his short speech to the people, the court was called to order and the following cases disposed of:

Irby Webb, charged with assault and battery; plead guilty and was fined $10.00 and costs.

W. H. Killingsworth, charged with hitting a minor, on motion of the solicitor this case was nolle prossed.

W. H. Killingsworth, charged with assault and battery; in this case the prosecutor was taxed with the cost.

Joe Wright, charged with making liquor; bound over to Grand Jury and bond fixed at $500.

J. C. Edwards, charged with assault and battery; defendant plead guilty and was fined $5 and costs.

J. C. Edwards, charged with assault and battery; case continued.

Mrs. Ought Payton, charged with making use of obscene language; defendant plead guilty, fined $25.

Dave Bates, charged with violating prohibition laws, convicted.

Jeff Archie, charged with violating the prohibition laws; defendant plead guilty and fined $50 and costs.

J. R. Busby, Jr., charged with violating prohibition laws; forfeiture and alias warrant on failure of defendant to appear in court.

Bill Mims, charged with violating prohibition laws; plead guilty and was sentenced to six months hard labor for county.

WEST CHILTON

Mr. W. R. Redden is still sick with throat trouble, but is now improving.

Mr. Newt Atchison of Ensley visited the home folks here last week.

Your correspondent was invited Sunday to a song and anniversary service at Rehoboth, Bibb County. Arriving, among the first we met was Judge Adams of Clanton. The congregation was quite large. Prof. M. V. Lawley of Shelby called the people to order and directed a music lesson in the Christian Harmony. At eleven o'clock Judge Adams was called upon the rostrum and delivered a fine sermon, on the "Fundamental Doctrines of the Church." It was a fine effort; the peoule gave marked attention. The Judge was at his old home, among his many friends. He is one of the ablest exponents of the fundamental doctrines of the church in the county.

At noon a bountiful dinner was spread free for all.

This is the one-hundredth year of Rehoboth Church's existence. The Judge in his discourse paid a nice tribute to the Primitive Baptists.

The editorial in last week's Banner, "Ignoring the Supreme Being," was good. Just recently, a noted attorney, one of the ablest Biblical expositors of our day brought out the same thought, saying, "A League of Nations would probably do good, but would eventually be visited by the Judgments of the Supreme Being, because His name was disregarded."

Judge Adams' remarks Sunday on the Peace Treaty were along the same line.

WHY NOT GOOD ENOUGH?

The American Red Cross, the Y.M. C.A. and the Salvation Army are international institutions. If they are good enough for ordinary loyal American citizens, why are they not good enough for Catholics? Why did the Catholics have special plans for their own exclusive Catholic people in war aid through the Knights of Columbus? We found Methodists, Baptists, Presbyterians and men and women of various faiths working for the aid of our soldiers through the Red Cross, the Y. M. C. A. and the Salvation army. Now, why were these agencies not good enough for the Catholics? None of the Protestant Churches were seeking any glory as a reward for its services in the war. Can we say too that the Catholics were not looking for any glory as a reward for what they did? Yes we can say it if we want to; but if we do say it we tell an emphatic lie.

The very reason that the Catholics must have had their own individual schemes for war aid was because they thought themselves better than any body else. And they were so narrow in their patriotism that rather than run the risk of somebody else getting any of the credit for what they might do, they preferred not to do it at all.

The subsidized and frightened daily press of this country prate and sport about Catholic loyalty during the war. Yes, they were loyal and fought alongside Protestants in the battle line. But what made them loyal? Here's what made it. They went up to Washington and through Pat Tumulty and Newt Baker they got Wilson told that if he didn't show the Catholics ample reward for their loyalty in the war, there might not be much stirring. Forthwith, Wilson takes Tumulty in private and assures him that the Catholics can have anything and everything they want. "Tell them," we imagine he said, "to go ahead and help us out in this war, and they can have whatever they want in the land of the U. S. A."

Straightway, came the demand of Catholics that all organizations but the Knights of Columbus be kept out of the training camps. Why this? They knew there would be vast work of keeping and aiding the soldiers in the camps and the Catholics wanted to grab all the honors for doing it.

The great loyalty of Catholics in the war was bought by this country. We don't know the exact price Wilson and Baker paid them. In fact, the debt has not been paid in full yet. There is no telling what may yet be handed over to the vultures in fulfilment of all of the promises of the contract. Instead of feeding the rascals out of a silver spoon and buying their loyalty to our government we ought to put them in shackles and show them that American liberty is in itself enough reward for a decent white man in supporting and fighting and even dying for the flag of Old Glory.

CHANGES IN SCHOOL LAWS

We call the attention of our readers to the letter of County Superintendent of Education Howard L. Foshee, in this week's paper, regarding the changes that have been made in the laws of Alabama relating to the government operation and maintenance of the public schools. The laws have been more than changed. The old laws were put in the waste basket and a new set made from the ground up. Mr. Foshee gives a good summary of the most important features of the laws and we hope our people will read his timely article. He is in Montgomery this week attending a conference of all the County Superintendents of the State. The purpose of this conference is to make a study of the new laws, and by so doing the Superintendents can get a good working idea of the laws that will suffice them for the few months they must wait yet till the laws are printed in book form.

HAND IN HAND

One of the main reasons why there has been such a marked improvement in the wholesomeness and healthfulness in food products the last ten years has been on account of the co-operation between pure food officials, domestic science teachers, and the medical profession. These three elements have been working toward a common end—our protection against unscrupulous manufacturers who have not based their claims to business on the quality, but rather on cheapness and who, in their endeavor to market their products on price or quantity, have often resorted to substitution and to the use of unwholesome material. Though progress has been made, yet much remains to be done.

Mr. Harry L. Eskew, food commissioner of Tennessee, has been very active in his efforts to safeguard the health of the people of his State. In the New York Journal of Commerce he has the following to say about so-called Self-Rising Flour, which is used in certain sections:

"I would not tolerate flour products like some of the 'self-rising' flour sold in a large part of the South the concomitants of which are alike unknown and not to be ascertained by the consumer and whose purity in the matter of phosphate is open to serious questions as a deceptive agency."

When in need of improvement of certain food products is pointed out so definitely and at the same time is backed up by thousands of domestic science teachers throughout the country, it is quite natural that American housewives will gradually become schooled in the proper selection of food products, and at the same time demand proper labeling of all food products, and to gain this end, the medical profession will continue to play an important role.

A subject of the Pope of Rome never was, is not now, and never can or will be a loyal American citizen. One cannot be an American citizen and a subject of the Pope of Rome at one and the same time. It is a moral impossibility. All subjects of such alien potentates as the Roman Pope, should be chased out of the United States with appropriate ceremony. This is putting it a bit strong for our Catholic "friends," but we believe it is the truth and therefore we say it from the housetop.

Judge Adams says he never had a more purely delightful time in his life than he did last Sunday over at Rehoboth in Bibb. Elsewhere our correspondent, Mr. Z. J. Jones gives a good account of the occasion.

If anybody chooses to spit tobacco juice or any other kind of juice on the floors and walls of Chilton County's new court house, they are apt to have to pay the fine for it. Timely warning has been given by Judge McCord, Judge Reynolods and Sheriff Gore.

GRAND JURY REPORT

The Grand Jury completed its labors on Wednesday afternoon and prepared its report to Judge McCord on Wednesday night, to be presented to the court on Thursday morning. We would have liked very much to publish the report this week, but we could not arrange to do so without coming out late with the paper. So, therefore, we concluded it best to wait till next week to publish the report.

FACTS OF INTEREST TO CHILTON COUNTY FORMERS

In discussing this subject, briefly various details will be taken up in the same order in which, according to the consensus of opinion of practical breeders, a beginner in the beef cattle business should consider them.

The first consideration would be that of good and sufficient permanent pasture for the number of animals to be maintained. The improvement of the natural pasture should be looked after at the very beginning, so that the pasture may be made to furnish sufficient grazing for the pasture season. Find out the kind of grasses especially suited to the locality, and the most practical way to get the pasture covered with them. Do not overstock the pasture, and keep weeds down by mowing or cutting with the hoe.

The next consideration should be the winter feed supply. Plan the cropping system that a minimum production of crops will always be ample to maintain the cattle through the winter. Plant the varieties of feeds that will be the most economical when fed to beef cattle. Investigate the silo as a means for furnishing roughage for cattle; use all the unsalable products, such as corn stover, the aftermath of the hay field and unsalable hay.

Following this, a man should look to his equipment. He should have enough pasture well fenced to keep different grades of cattle separated; keeping young heifers in one, young steers in another, and the breeding herd in the third. Also have sufficient pens and shelter for these different classes of cattle in the winter. An open shed with a windbreak is sufficient for the protection of cattle in this climate.

As to the herd itself, if forced to buy cattle, buy as high grade individuals as possible, provided the price is not exorbitant. Usually for a small premium above market price, a grade of cattle can be bought which would take several generations to reach in grading up. If you already have native or scrub cattle, weed out and sell your poorer individuals. But in either case, always use pedigreed or registered bulls to sire your calf crop.

Other details that are worth mentioning are as follows:

1. Do not breed heifers before they are two years old.
2. Confine your bull so that calves will come in the Spring, preferably March or April.
3. Dehorn and castrate calves when they are young.
4. Disturb cattle as little as possible by handling, but see them every few days.
5. Consult your Agricultural College for help when confronted with problems you cannot solve.

A splendid way of growing this crop for Winter use, is to mix with Crimson Clover, using about six to eight pounds of clover and two pounds of turnip seed per acre. The clover does not interfere with the growth of the turnips as it grows so very much slower, but it protects the turnip to a large degree from injury by freezing.

The varieties used should be to the grower's liking, if grown for home use. If for market, one should grow what the market demands. The market prefers the Globe type, such as the White Globe, Red Top Globe or Purple Top Globe. But for home use, the White Flat Dutch, the Purple Top Globe. The Cow Horn and Swede rutabaga are the most popular. The Cow Horn is especially fine as it grows so deep in the ground that it is protected from freezing and, therefore, often goes through the Winter and is in good shape for use as late as March.

The soil selected should be a rich, garden loam, full of organic material, not wet, but retentive of moisture. It should be thoroughly prepared by first plowing, then harrowing and finally pulverizing the particles of soil. If you do not have a soil of the above type, select as good a piece of land as possible, preferably second bottom soil, a nd if manure is available, apply a liberal quantity.

The seed is best sown by mixing with some material such as cotton seed meal or other fertilizer. It requires about two pounds of seed to the acre. The seed being so small when sown by itself one is liable to get it entirely too thick. For early plantings I would recommend sowing in drills, making the drills about eighteen inches apart so that cultivation may be used if the crop becomes grassy, but when sown as late as the latter part of August broadcast sowing is the best. After the seed is sown, brush in with a very light harrow or by dragging a brush over the ground.

Do not neglect your turnip patch. It will furnish food for you and your live stock. Much attention should be given this crop, especially to the time of planting, selection of soil and varieties. Turnips may be sown from July to September for a Fall crop. Those sown in July usually get too strong before the cold weather, but make a splendid stock feed. A succession of this crop should be sown until the second week in September. In The South end of the State it may be sown a little later. The main crop, however, should be sown from the 15th of August until the 1st of September.

There are a few pests that effect the turnips, such as Aphis and the Army or Grass Worm. The Aphis may be controlled by spraying with a tobacco decoction known as "Black Leaf 40," as per directions on the package. The Army or Grass Worm can be controlled by spraying with arsenate of lead, one and one half pounds, powdered, to fifty gallons of water

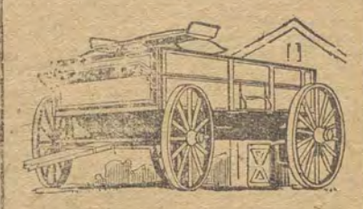
HARRIS CASE TODAY



The case of Sheriff H. A. Harris against the Birmingham and Montgomery daily papers comes up today in the Circuit Court. Sheriff Harris is sueing those papers for alleged damages done him while he was the executive of the Chilton County War Draft Board, by the publication of some erroneous reports about his work. Quite a great deal of interest hinges on the case in this county.

Take a simple thing like a dozen eggs.

You pick up your telephone and tell us you want a dozen eggs.

That's all we ask you to do.

Then, think what we do.

We buy the eggs—which takes considerable knowledge of eggs—and we hold them for you.

We deliver them to you. We guarantee every egg to be perfect when it arrives at your door. We don't ask you to pay for them until you receive your bill at the end of the month.

It's the same with every purchase you make.

And we are mighty glad to perform these services for you because we know you appreciate them and in return for them you make a regular practice of buying eggs and other things at our store.

You like to deal with us because you feel that we are doing everything we can to make your buying pleasant and profitable. You feel that we are honestly trying to serve you and you have faith in us. So that when we tell you about new things from time to time you take our word as a matter of course.

Because of this faith you have in us you can readily see how careful we must be that the things we recommend are good. We have no fear, however, in recommending RYZON Baking Powder.

It's a pure baking powder—efficient, economical, and always uniform. And it's fairly priced, 40 cents per pound. Ask us about other new and good things.

Constipation.

The beginning of almost every serious disorder is constipation. If you want to enjoy good health keep your bowels regular. This is best accomplished by proper diet and exercise, but sometimes a medicine is needed and when that is the case you will find Chamberlain's Tablets are excellent. They are mild and gentle in their action, easy and peasant to take. Give them a trial. They only cost a quarter.

I WISH EVERYBODY COULD KNOW

Suffered From Acute Indigestion, Gastritis, Constipation, Headaches and Other Troubles, Which Dreco, the Herbal Remedy, Overcame.

"This is the first remedy I have ever found that did me any good," states Mr. O. R. Booker of Route 2, Gadsden, Ala. "I admit that when I began taking Dreco I had no confidence in it, for I had already tried so many of them, but the improvement is so marked that I am convinced of its merits. I used to suffer from gas on my stomach and bowels after eating; I would be all bloated up and very uncomfortable. My bowels were habitually constipated. I was billous and had to be taking medicine constantly. My appetite was poor, and I became extremely nervous, so that I could not sleep much.

"I have taken a treatment of Dreco, and now my stomach digests the food without those distressing after-effects I used to have, such as pains, uneasy feeling, belching and gastritis. My appetite has increased; I sleep sound; my bowels act regularly every day, and I have no more backache nor dizzy spells. You have my permission to publish this letter."

It has become a custom with many persons to take a good system tonic each year, something that cleans out the system, purifies the blood, gets the liver and kidneys in good shape, and tones up the stomach. Such a tonic is Dreco. Being made of roots, herbs, barks, berries and leaves from medicinal herbal plants, it is truly Nature's own remedy, and that it really accomplishes these results is proven by the many endorsements given it by well-known and reliable people.

ANOTHER AFTERMATH OF WAR

There is one class of rgarters who should be dealt with by law of possible and by public opinion in any event—those who seek to make financial gain by lobbying or pretending to lobby in behalf of the veterans of the European war. Neither the returned soldiers nor the relatives and friends of the soldiers should permit themselves to be victimized by men who seek to profiteer by becoming active in the interest of the men who served in the A.E.F. Congress and the committees of Congress, will give abundant opportunity for submission and consideration of every fact and argument in support of any plan or claim in behalf of the soldiers, and this can be done through truly representative soldier organizations. The man who would profiteer upon public appreciation of the service rendered by the soldiers is a form of parasite with which the cootie makes favorable comparison.

Mr. G. W. Frith of Route 3 was a visitor to The Union-Banner Monday. He requested the Editor to publish the federal law on cattle dipping, which we shall do as soon as we can obtain a cony of the same.

Watch the Little Pimples; They are Nature's Warning

Unsightly and Disfiguring Signals of Bad Blood.

Pimples on the face and other parts of the body are warnings from Nature that your blood is sluggish and impoverished. Sometimes they foretell eczema, boils, blisters, and other skin disorders that burn like flames of fire.

They mean that your blood needs S. S. S. to purify it and cleanse it of these impure accumulations that can cause unlimited trouble. This remedy is the greatest vegetable blood purifier known, and contains no minerals or chemicals to injure the most delicate skin.

Go to your drug store, and get a bottle of S. S. S. today, get rid of those unsightly disfiguring pimples, and other skin irritations. It will cleanse your blood thoroughly. For special medical advice free, address Medical Director, 41 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.

The quarterly meeting of the Board of Trustees of Thorsby Institute will be held at Bates Hall on Thursday of this week. Revs. Eaves and Graham of Birmingham will come down Thursday for the meeting, and it is expected they will also speak at the chapel exercises at the Institute on Thursday morning.

Edward Howard was in Thorsby last week on a three-day's furlough. Edward is in the navy now, stationed at Hampton Roads, Va., and is expecting to enter a naval electrical school on his return to camp.

Miss Olga Soberg is rapidly recovering after an operation for appendicitis. She was taken from the hospital to her boarding place on Monday, and will come hame soon for a few weeks visit with hime folks.

Will Scott, who has been in the navy for about two years, has received his discharge and is home now.

The athletic association of Thorsby Institute organized last week, the following officers being elected for the year: President, Waldemar Lefstead; vice-president, George Tuck; secretary-treasurer, William Beasley. A good strong football and basketball team is being organized and it is hoped soon to have some match games.

Friends of Seagle Ekblad are glad to welcome him home, after a year's absence in overseas service.

Uncle Dock Wells has just returned from a two-week's visit to his son in law at Shannon. He says he enjoyed his visit by attending a protracted meeting while there.

E. L. Jones and E. A. Norris of Corinth were in Clanton Tuesday.

Lewis T. Dennis of Mt. Creek was among the visitors to Circuit Court here this week.

J. M. Gearing of Marbury was a visitory to Clanton Monday. He is going to pull off a big auction sale soon. Read his advertisement elsewhere in this issue of The Union-Banner.

An Agreeable Surprise.

"About three years ago when I was suffering from a severe cold on my lungs and coughed most of the time night and day, I tried a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and was surprised at the promptness with which it gave me relief," writes Mrs. James Brown, Clark Mills, N. Y. Many another has been surprised and pleased with the prompt relief affirded by this remedy.

BRAZIL AND TARIFF

"It will never be possible," says Trade Commissioner H. G. Brock, in his report on the Brazillian market for shoes, "to sell cheap foreign shoes in Brazil again, because of the high tariff and the excellence of the footwear produced in domestic factories." The commissioner discovers that Brazil has become practically independent of imported footwear because of a protective tariff which has developed her shoe industry to a point which capacitates her to provide enough footwear for her own people. Brazil has no illusions respecting the tariff. She is for protection, as we were before Mr. Wilson came in.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

This remedy is intended especially for coughs, colds, croup, and whooping cough. From a small beginning its sale and use have extended to all parts of the United States and to many foreign countries. This alone ise enough to convince one that it is a medicine of more than ordinary merit. Give it a trial and you will find this to be the case.

HANDS, ARMS, LIMBS ASLEEP

And Was Run-Down, Weak and Nervous, Says Florida Lady. Five Bottles of Cardui Made Her Well.

Kathleen, Fla.—Mrs. Dallas Prine, of this place, says: "After the birth of my last child...I got very much run-down and weakened, so much that I could hardly do anything at all. I was so awfully nervous that I could scarcely endure the least noise. My condition was getting worse all the time...

I knew I must have some relief or I would soon be in the bed and in a serious condition for I felt so badly and was so nervous and weak I could hardly live. My husband asked Dr. ——— about my taking Cardui. He said, 'It's a good medicine, and good for that trouble', so he got me 5 bottles...After about the second bottle I felt greatly improved...before taking it my limbs and hands and arms would go to sleep. After taking it, however, this poor circulation disappeared. My strength came back to me and I was soon on the road to health. After the use of about 5 bottles, I could do all my house-work and attend to my six children besides."

You can feel safe in giving Cardui a thorough trial for your troubles. It contains no harmful or habit-forming drugs, but is composed of mild, vegetable, medicinal ingredients with no bad after-effects. Thousands of women have voluntarily written, telling of the good Cardui has done them. It should help you, too. Try it. E 74

AROUND THE WORLD WITH THE AMERICAN RED CROSS.
Junior Red Cross.

Early in the participation of the United States in the world war, the American Red Cross perceived the value of mobilizing the school children of the country and the Junior Red Cross was organized. Before the war ended nine million children were enrolled and helped in the war fund and membership campaigns, in chapter production of relief supplies and manufacturing furniture for the refugees whose homes and household goods were destroyed.

Children everywhere in the United States responded to the call to service sounded by President Wilson as head of the American Red Cross. This photograph is that of an enthusiatic young Japanese member of the Junior Red Cross of Spokane, Wash., starting out on the ambitious undertaking of collecting "a mile of pennies" for war relief. A comprehensive peace program is now being worked out for the Junior Red Cross, which is being held intact.

My Mother used
MOTHER'S FRIEND
before I was born

26 years ago and my birth was practically a painless one," writes one enthusiastic mother. How very natural then, that her own mother, whose experience had unqualifiedly proven the virtue of Mother's Friend would have her daughter enjoy the same benefits. Mother's Friend is used externally.

UNCLE SAM CALLING FOR CENSUS TAKERS

The Director of the Census, Hon. Sam L. Rogers, anonunces that 80,000 enumerators will be needed to take the next census. The work begins on January 2 and will last about two weeks in cities, and a month or more in rural districts. Rates of pay will vary, depending upon the locality and character of the district to be canvassed. The average pay per enumerator at the census of 1910 was about $70. At this coming census it will probably be not less than $100.

"Active, intelligent, and reliable men and women, not less than 18 years of age, are needed for this task," said Director Rogers, "and, in a sense, this is a call for volunteers. The importance of a complete and reliable census, especially in these critical times when more than ever before perhaps we need complete data regarding population, conditions tendencies and resources, can hardly be over-emphasized. The reorganization of the social and economic structure and the readjustment of international relations necessitated by the war, must be based on accurate knowledge if we are to act wisely and deal justly with all classes and interests. It is hoped therefore, that public-spirited energetic people throughout the country will volunteer to act as census enumerators even though they may not care for the positions so far as the pay is concerned. I should be sorry to think and I do not believe, that all our patriotism was used up by the war and none left over for public service in times of peace."

Mr. William J. McLeod, Supervisor of the Census for the Fourth Alabama District, which includes the counties of Cleburne, Calhoun, Talladega, Shelby, Chilton and Dallas, states that he will need about 250 enumerators for this district. Applications or requests for application forms should be sent to him on or before October 22nd. His address is Sylacauga, Ala.

As a test for their fitness for the work applicants will be required to fill out a sample schedule and will be duly notified of the time and the place for this test. So far is practicable, the place selected will be one which is easily accessible.

The progressive farmers of Alabama will soon have an opportunity to organize themselves into a seed breeders' and growers' association. The Alabama Extension Service offered them this opportunity late last winter, but on account of the pressure of farming business at that time many farmers could not attend the meeting, therefore it was deemed more suitable to call a meeting for this purpose in mid-summer.

Farmers of Alabama are suffering immense loss of crops from the use of seeds of bad quality. The poor stand of peanuts and velvet beans now existing in south Alabama, is due to the use of seeds of bad quality. There may be seen at this time many cotton and cowpea plants dead or dying in different parts of the fields from the attack of wilt diseases and nematode worms. These facts and experiences show very impressively the importance of controlling in some manner the supply of planting seeds.

A Seed Breeders' and Growers' Assocition will make it convenient for every farmer of Alabama to obtain all kinds of planting seeds of the highest grade and at the most reasonable price. On the other hand, the seed breeders and growers will increase their income, and interest in the farming business by making seed improvement a part of their farming operations.

The Extension Service at Auburn, with other interested parties, has been working for some time toward the organization of a State Seed Breeders' and Growers' Association. It is planned to call a meeting at Auburn the latter part of July for the purpose of organizing and starting operation of such an association. Why not plan at once to get into this movement with full force and make it a success?

STATEMENT

Of the Ownership, Management, Circulation, Etc., Required by the Act of Congress, of August 24th, 1912,

Of "The Union-Banner," published weekly at Clanton, Alabama, for October 1, 1919.

State of Alabama, Chilton County

Before me, Clerk of the Circuit Court in and for the State and county aforesaid, personally appeared W. M. Wyatt, who, having been duly sworn according to law, deposes and says thae he is the Editor of The Union-Banner, and that the following is, to the best of his knowledge and belief, a true statement of the o wnership, management, etc., of the aforesaid publication for the date in the above caption, required by the Act of August 24th, 1912, embodied in Section 443, Postal Laws and Regulations, printed on the reverse of this form, to-wit:

1. That the names and addresses of the publisher, editor, managing editor, and business managers are:—Publishers, W. M. Wyatt and T. E. Wyatt, Clanton, Ala.; Editor, W. M. Wyatt, Clanton, Ala.; Business Manager, T. E. Wyatt, Clanton, Ala.

2. That the owners are: W. M. Wyatt, Clanton, Ala., and T. E. Wyatt, Clanton, Ala.

3. That the known bondholders, mortgagees, and other security holders owning or holding 1 per cent or more of the total amount of bonds, mortgages, or other securities are:

Merganthaler Linotype Co., New York, N. Y.; Peoples Savings Bank, Clanton, Ala.

4. That the two paragraphs next above, giving the names of the owners, stockholders, and security holders, if any, contain not only the list of stockholders and security holders as they appear upon the bookks of the company but also, in cases where the stockholder or security holder appears upon the books of the company as trustee or in any other fiduciary relation, the name of the person or corporation for whom such trustee is acting, is given; also that the said two paragraphs contain statements embracing affiant's full knowledge and belief as to the circumstances and conditions under which stockholders and security holders who do not appear upon the books of the company as trustees, hold stock and securities in a capacity other than that of a bona fide owner; and this affiant has no reason to believe that any other person, association, or corporation has any interest direct or indirect in the said stock, bonds, or other securities than as so stated by him.

Sworn to and ubscribed before me, this 29th day of September, 1919.

COMMISSIONERS CHANGE COUNTY SUPT.'S ROOM

At a meeting of the Commissioners Court last Saturday, it was agreed to change the office of the County Superintendent of Education. Instead of being down stairs the office of the school executive will be up stairs in the grand jury room till the first of January next. After that time he will occupy the present room of the County treasurer, also up stairs. It may be that after the term of the present county treasurer, expires the office will be taken over by a bank as provided by the law in cases where a bank will agree to handle the county funds.

This arrangement will give the county superintendent of education the advantage of more convenient and commodious quarters than is available in the room down stairs that was originally designated for him in the plans of the new court house.

We are sure it would be an enjoyable occasion, and one which many people would like to have the pleasure of attending.

THE UNION-BANNER

VOLUME VIII. CLANTON, CHILTON COUNTY, ALA., OCTOBER 16, 1919 NUMBER 29.

LAW CONDEMNS ALL DOGS TO BE KILLED

They Should Have Been Registered With Circuit Clerk Before October 15th.

On account of negligence or misunderstanding somewhere up the line Chilton County's dog business stands in a delinquent state, and if the letter of the law should be demanded today, it would take the head of every canine in the county. Somebody is responsible for the fact that the demands of the law have not been made known to the officials whose duty it is to execute the laws, and also to the people who are to abide by them.

The first that was known here of the law was found in an article in the Montgomery Advertiser of last Saturday. It had the following to say in regard to the new dog tax law of the state:

"Under the new statute all dogs must be registered with the clerk of the circuit court between October 1 and October 15th. The registration fee for a male is $1.25, for a female $2.25 annually, and in return for the money the owner gets a tag and a receipt.

The dog taxes will become delinquent after October 15th, and the fee will be doubled. The sheriff and constables are required to kill on sight dogs not officially tagged, and the officers can be fined from $5 to $25 if they fail to slay an unregistered animal. However, if they can locate the owner, they may give the owner an opporaunity of paying the tax, and an extra fee of $2.50.

The law requires that all dogs must wear muzzles except when accompanied by the owner or his agent, and that dogs must be locked up or tied from sundown to sun up. The enforcement of the law is placed in the hands of the sheriff, constables and county license inspector.

The funds derived from the tax are to be used for the upkeep of the state pasteur institute, and to defray the expenses of poor persons who have been bitten by mad dogs and need treatment."

The Circuit Clerk, Mr. M. D. Foshee whose duty it is to register the dogs in Chilton County, has called on the Secretary of State for information about the operation of the law. As it now stands, the dog taxes are delinquent, and the Sheriff or constables are required to kill all dogs not officially tagged, or be fined for not doing so.

It has brought about a rather complicated situation here in the county. Those who have dogs had better keep their eyes open and be ready to comply with the law as soon as the opportunity presents itself. Otherwise the officers will be compelled to slay the dogs when they find them not officially tagged.

A meeting of the Preachers and Deacons Conference of Chilton County and Unity Baptist Associations was held at the Clanton Baptist Church on Monday. A goodly number of the ministers and deacons of the county were present.

The county board of education was in session at the court house Monday. All the members of the body were present. The Board is having quite a task to get the new school laws all straightened out and in working order for the county.

DISTRICT SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION

On November 2, 1919, we will hold our District Sunday School Convention, at Shady Grove, three miles east of Verbena. We hope to have every one of our department Superintendents and county presidents with us. And we urge every School to be represented. You will get something worth while and it is our desire to make our district a golden star district. To do this we must have the co-operation of every school. So don't forget to come November 2.

W. A. CALLOWAY, Pres.
LEE ROBINSON, Secy.

MT. PLEASANT

Our school opened Monday with an enrollment of sixty-four. There will be over a hundred when all come in. We have for our teachers Miss Lessie Reynolds and Miss Irene Jones. Miss Reynolds taught for us last year so we feel safe in saying that we are sure of a very successful term.

Emmett Blankenship and family spent Sunday with Mrs. Minnie Evans.

Arthur Neilly spent Saturday night at D. T. Melton's.

Mrs. Willie Love and Miss Irene Love of Wylam were visitors at L. M. Rowell's Saturday and Sunday.

Miss Mary Collins of Collins Chapel spent Sunday with Misses Lillian and Ruebelle Collins.

Quite a crowd attended the singing at G. W. Melton's Saturday night.

H. P. Handley and wife are visiting at L. M. Rowell's.

Will Brasher and wife of Coosa County spent part of last week at G. W. Melton's.

A. D. Duke and wife recently visited their son, C. D. Duke.

W. A. Blankenship and family were recent visitors at Jake Plyer's.

J. A. Duncan and family and Mrs. Katie Duncan spent part of last week in Birmingham.

Besides bringing us a bunch of sugar cane, Mr. E. L. Jones brought us another good subscriber Monday, in the person of Rev. J. D. Hughes. Mr. Hughes is one of our old stand bys in the preaching business, and we are mighty glad to number him among our readers.

Squire A. F. Childress of Thorsby passed the Union-Banner office Monday and hollered howdy to us.

Uncle George Mims of Collins Chapel, was a visitor to The Union-Banner office last Monday.

Our good friend, Mr. E. L. Jones, of Corinth, was a visitor to Clanton Monday. He came here to attend the Preachers and Deacons meeting at the Baptist Church. Mr. Jones is not a preacher, but he is one of the best deacons you ever saw. And he is a friend worth while, along with it all. He brought The Union-Banner force four big long stalks of sugar cane. As a consequence we quit chewing the rag for a while and chewed cane.

The many friends of Ed Wagoner are glad to see him back at his chair in the Sanitary Barber Shop in Clanton. And, judging from the big healthy smile he wears, we would conclude that Ed also is glad to be back in the old home town. He has removed his family here from Montgomery and is living in the Gowan Addition, where he purchased the Claud Reynolds place recently.

REPORT RENDERED BY THE GRAND JURY

Sixteen True Bills Found for Law Violations—The New Court House Highly Praised.

COUNTY DEBT ITEMIZED.

State of Alabama, Chilton County:

To the Hon. Leon McCord, Judge Presiding of the Fall Term, 1919, of Chilton County Circuit Court:

We, the Grand Jury, duly empannelled, for the Fall Term, 1919, of the Circuit Court of said county, beg leave to submit to your honor the following report:

We have investigated 40 cases or more, and examined a great number of witnesses that have been brought before us, and diligently sought for violations of the criminal laws in this county, and as a result of our investigation we herewith return 16 true bills.

We are sorry to report that in our opinion the prohibition laws in the county are still being violated in many instances. We have called and caused to come before us a great number of witnesses endeavoring to find out who these violators are that they might be indicted and brought to trial. We have in all other violations of the Criminal Laws brought to our knowledge and in all cases where the evidence warranted and the good of the county would be subserved returned true bills.

We have investigated the books, bonds and officers of the various county officers and find the books neatly and properly kept so far as we could ascertain.

We hereto attach the report of the county treasury, marked "Exhibit A," as a part of these general presentments.

We desire to congratulate the county on our recently constructed court house. We think that it would be a credit to any County in the State. It shows a pride among our people that is very commendable. We desire to thank our commissioners and a few very public spirited men who gave so much of their time and their means to its achievement. And we suggest to those that have control of it to leave no effort undone to keep it the thing of beauty it now is.

We have examined the jail and find it in good condition and neatly kept. We congratulate the sheriff in the manner, neatness and cleanliness in which it is kept.

We find in jail five prisoners—3 whites and 2 colored. They inform us that they are sufficiently fed and comfortably cared for.

We have examined the County poor house and find twenty inmates—7 males and 13 females, all white. And from their appearance they are provided for and have every necessity that their condition would require. We find some repairs necessary for the building, in the way of fixing the roof, screens, windows, steps, floors, chimney and well; and suggest that addition of two or three mattresses for the beds.

We find the roads in the County in average condition, but not as good as they should be. We recommend and insist that the commissioners court carry out the road law implicitly. We believe that if they will do so our roads will be greatly improved.

We desire to thank your honor for the able charge you gave us which materially assisted us in our deliberations. We wish to thank our solicitor for the able and faithful assistance renderd us. Also to express our appreciation of the efficient work of our Sheriff and his deputies. And our bailiff for his faithful and courteous assistance.

Having concluded our labors, we ask that we be allowed to recess, subject to the call of the court.

Respectfully,
JESSE BAKER, W,J, ARMSTRONG Foreman.
W. T. WHITE,
Clerks.

The above estimate does not include warrants issued within the last sixty days for current expenses of the county that have not been presented to the treasurer, amounting to probably $2,000.00.

Respectfully submitted,
GRADY REYNOLDS, Treas.

LADIES WILL HAVE BAZAAR ON FRIDAY DECEMBER 12TH.

The ladies of the Embroidery Club have been very fortunate in being able to have Wander, the famous gypsy fortune teller with them at their Xmas. Bazarr. Don't miss a chance to see what the future holds for you, Friday, December 12, 1919, from 6 to 11, p.m.

Buy your Christmas gifts at the Xmas. Bazarr, given for the benefit of the Grammar School. Needle work of all kinds—toys for the little people, and especially dolls and candies and cakes made by the best cooks of Clanton. You will be able to find anything you want for Christmas at the Xmas. Bazarr.

A cake will be given for the prettiest girl, so we all want to vote for that girl, Friday, Dec. 12, 1919.

HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

By Clyde Foshee.

Athletic News.

The members of the football team, accompanied by some of the students motored to Columbiana and played Shelby High School a game of football.

Although we were out-classed in both weight and teamwork, as three of our backfield men were out and we had to play some green men. Leon Kemp, Joe Mullins and Pink Cooper starred for Chilton.

We have a game schedulled with Dallas High School at Plantersvillle Friday. We hope that some of the town people will go out and back up their team and encourage them instead of knocking them. Heretofore you have acted the part of "misers" and very few of you care anything about the boys—whether they win or not. Now I hope that all the town people will show more interest hereafter.

The Julia Tutwiler Literary Society gave a very enjoyable program Tuesday morning. The most interesting and instructive part of the program was a letter read by Mr. Thompson. It was a letter he wrote to his family while he was attending the University of Chicago.

Margaret Hester rendered a beautiful piano solo. Era Owens gave something of the life of Julia Tutwiler. Clara Millsap told the "Aim and Purpose of the Julia Tutwiler Society."

Willie Murphy and "Shortie" Sims cracked some good jokes.

Jokes.

Mr. Holmes: Harold, what is the color of a red poll cat.

Harold: (instantly) Black.

Senior News.

Due to the State Fair and the football game between Columbiana and Chilton, there were only two seniors present last Friday afternoon, but they "stuck."

Monday Prof. Thompson delighted the class by giving a little reading just after roll call.

Prof. Thompson delighted the entire student body Wednesday morning by announcing a holiday for next Monday and Tuesday on account of the teachers institute which is to be held in the high school building.

Junior News.

The Junior President called a class meeting Tuesday morning and elected a new secretary, Everett Doggrell, after losing our other one, Lucile Attoway in marriage. We are making plans for beautifying the Junior Class room.

ROOSEVELT MEMORIAL CAMPAIGN OCT. 20 TO 28

The campaign for raising subscriptions to the Roosevelt Memorial fund, in Chilton County, has been placed in the charge of Sheriff H. A. Harris as county chairman. The purpose of the movement is to create a campaign for five million dollars to be raised in the United States for the purpose of erecting and maintaining suitable memorials to the honor of Col. Theodore Roosevelt. The necessary funds will be provided by a great national free-will gift, and the purpose of the campaign in Chilton County is to inform the individual subscriber as to how he may contribute what he may wish to toward the memorial to our great president who has passed to his reward. No pressure is to be brought to anyone in securing a subscription. It is a voluntary matter with those who wish to do Roosevelt the honor of contributing to his memorial with as much of their means as they may desire.

Mr. Harris is the chairman for this county, and has appointed a committeeman in each beat to assist in the campaign. Following is the list appointed:

Beat 1;—W. L. House, Clanton, R. 1; Ben Vines, Clanton, R. 5.
Beat 2—J. A. Rogers, Jemison, R. 2; B. L. Cobb, Jemison, R. 2.
Beat 3—W. F. DeShazo, Maplesville; H. J. Grooms, Maplesville.
Beat 4—T. G. Wyatt, Clanton, R. 5; Will G. Culp, Clanton.
Beat 5—E. A. Norris, Verbena, R. 2; W. S. Clark, Mountain Creek.
Beat 6—M. F. Lett, Clanton, R. 3; J. Z. Mims, Clanton.
Beat 7—W. Y. Nix, Maplesville; C. T. Walker, Lawley.
Beat 8—D. M. Apperson, Maplesville, R. 2; T. G. Milling, Stanton.
Beat 9—T. J. Martin, Jemison, R. 4; Wm. Benson, Clanton, R. 4.
Beat 10—J. T. Rockett, Cooper; J. H. Gillespie, Clanton, R. 6.
Beat 11—W. J. Gentry, Clanton, R.5; E. N. Tracy, Clanton, R. 8.
Beat 12—J. P. Bean, Clanton, R. 8; D. P. Martin, Jemison, R. 4.
Beat 13—J. P. Dykes, Calera, R. 1; J. B. Wiggins, Montevallo, R. 2.
Beat 14—Z. J. Jones, Jemison, R. 2; T. J. Hubbard, Jemison, R. 2.
Beat 1 5—J. R. Short, Maplesville, R. 2; J. C. Culp, Clanton, R. 6.
Beat 16—Jasper Robinson, Verbena, R. 3; G. C. Powell, Clanton, R. 1.
County At Large—Charles Howard, Thorsby.

In the next few days these committeemen will be furnished with literature explaining the campaign in details. And anyone in any beat who desires to contribute anything may do so through these men.

Remember the date of the campaign is from October 20 to 28th. There are many admirers and close followers of Col. Roosevelt in Chilton County, and it is expected that a good contribution will be made from this county to his memorial.

HE MAY EXPECT TO BE PRESIDENT OF WORLD

(From the Rochester (N.Y.) Democrat-Chronicle.)

Political observers in Washington are much more interested in President Wilson's political plans than are they in the avowed purpose of the swing around the circle. Some of the gossip in circulation there must be decidedly interesting to the average American citizen, who is more desirous of seeing the restoration of normal industrial and business conditions than he is of watchcing the President paint glowing pictures of an imaginary and illusory Utopia.

Two schools of thought have developed, one of which is firmly convinced that the President has been led by flatterers into believing that he can be elected for a third term, and thus shatter all precedents of the tenure of the presidential office and throw into the background the fame of every other president from Washington down.

The other school, which professes to be in possession of hints thrown out at Paris, believes that the President's zeal for ratification of the treaty exactly as he presented it to the Senate, regardless of the merits of the reservations and amendments suggested, can be explained only on one ground. Mr. Wilson has been inspired with the idea of rounding out his career by serving as president of the League of Nations; in other words of enjoying the high-sounding title, "president of the world."

REGISTER YOUR DOG BEFORE DECEMBER 1

After That Time They May Be Killed if they do not Wear Official Colar.

Circuit Clerk, M. D. Fohee, whose duty it is under the new law, to register all dogs, has been advised that time for registration of dogs has been extended from October 15 to December 1st.

The following is what the State Tax Commission writes Mr. Foshee in regard to the matter:

"By reading the dog registration law, you will observe that same took effect October 1st. and that owners of dogs not registering same by Oct. 15th become delinquent. In view of the fact that the supplies could not under any circumstances, be furnished within the time required for registration, we think you will agree with us that as a matter of common sense, and justice to those who own dogs, no steps should be taken in the matter of enforcement of the law until some time after the necessary supplies have been delivered to you. In line with this, we would suggest that action against delinquents be deferred until December 1st."

Just as soon as the necessary supplies arrive, Mr. Foshee will begin the registration of dogs, and he wishes it known among the people that all dogs must be registered in accordance with the state tax board by December 1. Otherwise, the dogs will be treated as provided in the laws published elsewhere in this issue of the paper.

WOMEN IN CALIFORNIA CHEER RESERVATIONS

Applaud Condemnation of League Provisions Inimical to American Honor.

More than a thousand women, representing the women leaders in professional, business and social life of San Francisco and Oakland, rose en masse at a luncheon recently given in honor of Senator Hiram Johnson, Republican, cheering and applauding his speech against the League of Nations. Senator Johnson referred to the peace treaty with its Shantung provision as a "blot on American honor," and said that the league of nations as now constituted would make America a party to perpetrating this and other wrongs.

In a discussion of the Shantung settlement he said: "The president talked to you concerning Shantung in a fashion which he has never used before. In Paris, to use his own words as related to us, the Shantung decision was 'shameful'. In Washington he described it as 'abominable and detestable'. The Shantung decision, when it reached San Francisco, was not only justifiable but justified by him. It was justified by him upon the theory that in the past China had been despoiled. What a strange mind it is that can describe the same act as 'shameful' and detestable in Washington and as justifiable and justified in San Francisco. And what a very strange mind it is that calmly and naively presents what it terms a former despoiling of China in justification of present robbery."

THE DEACON'S NON-ARRIVAL

A deacon in an Ohio Church was seriously ill. He was a popular man, so a bulletin was posted at the church regarding his condition. It read:

"1 o'clock—Deacon Jones very ill."
"2 o'clock—Deacon Jones worse."
"3 o'cock—Deacon Jones dead."

A traveling man read the bullletin and added:

"7 o'clock—Great excitement in heaven; Deacon Jones not yet arrived. The worst is feared."—The National News.

WE DIDN'T SEND WILSON TO THE PEACE CONFERENCE.

The League to Enforce Peace, in one of its misty squawks against the amendment to the League of Nations soulfully declares that "America sent her President to Versailles." America did nothing of the sort. America's president went to Versailles of his own will and determination when he ought to have stayed in Washington and 'tended his own business as he was elected to do. He went over the protests of the entire country, except a few Catholics who wanted him to get away so Pat Tumulty and the Knights of Columbus could take care of things in Washington as they wanted to.

Wilson simply appointed himself a group of rubber stamps, and went flying into the peace conference to do the biddings that Pope Benedict gave him when they were in secret conference in the Holy Room of the Vatican. He made great promises of things impossible, and supplemented his promises with dire threats of disaster to come to America if his quixotic ideas were not recognized.

The result was that he made a miserable mess of the whole thing. He went proclaiming himself the second Messiah, and came back with all Europe kicking him off their shores as a fake. Now he goes about trying to choke the American people on his miserable mess. The stuff he was dealing out to us was so stale and sickening that it even made him sick and he had to give up the job and go to bed.

WASTEFUL WOODROW

The real American who does not feel like cussing Woodrow Wilson is not healthy. He's aenemic and all run down at the patriotic heel. After breaking the record of extravagance and neglect of his duties at home Wilson rushes back to Washington from knee-bending to the British barons just long enough to present his expense bill to the tax-payers and then starts ostensibly on a tour to explain his League and Peace treaty, but in fact, for no other purpose than to cinch the presidency a third term. With wasteful Woodrow precedent is nothing but being president again is everything. With this nation about to go to war with the Greasers; with our spotless Stars and Stripes sullied by the spittle of Cactus-eating Mexican half-breeds; with Germany overflowing Mexico with her hired assassins, and Carranza breathing defiance to our demands for fair play to our citizens below the Rio Grande; with strikes tying up every industry and mobs running amuck with the firebrands of red Anarchy and the law-defying I.W.W.'s—the President now locks up his office, quits the job to which the people elected him under false pretense, gallops over the country dickering with Democrats and is nailing down delegates for the next national convention, and the blue dickens is to play and no pitch hot.

And of course, the tax payers, Republican as well as Democrats, as usual, pay the freight.

Mr. American Citizen, how much longer do you propose to stand for having a dictator make rubber-stamps of genuine Americans while you dig down into your jeans and cough up the cash to pay the fare of the man who "kept us out of war" while he campaigns for another term of his infernal insilence?—Yellow Jacket.

FARM TRACTOR COMING

The farm tractor is a coming power on the southern farm. It is at present already an established utility in the north and northwest. The machines are being built so as to combine several different uses for farm power development, such as pulling a gin, shelling corn, sawing wood, moving buildings, feed grinding, filling silos, threshing grain, and dozens of other uses. But the above named uses are aside from the main purpose of the tractor which is plowing. Just as the motor-driven vehicle has replaced the horse and the mule on our roads and streets, so will the same replace the horse and the mule on the farm, and the tractor is the machine that is going to bring about this change.

There are several companies in the United States making different kinds of tractors. One of the oldest and most successful of these is the Hart-Parr people of Charles City, Iowa. In fact, they claim to be the founders of the tractor industry. They have recently established headquarters for Alabama in Birmingham and are planning the establishment of an agency at every county seat in the state. Their representative has been in Clanton this week looking after the establishment of an agency here.

When our farmers have an opportunity to study the tractor at a short range, many of them will see the advantages of it and apply it to their farm uses.

PURE FOOD

Our pure food laws have three purposes:

1. To prevent the use of unwholesome material.
2. To prevent fraudulent substitution.
3. To inform the purchaser what she us buying.

Every doctor can help in making these purposes realized facts.

Most foods are labeled that the purchaser knows exactly what the product is, and can exercise judgment in the purchase of them. Some products are so well known to the housewife that from the class name under which they are sold she can tell the ingredients contained therein. With others, such as baking powder, all the ingredients are named on the label, and as a resullt the most healthful, economical and desirable kind can be selected.

There is one class of mixture, however, which are still bought blindly without knowledge of the ingredients. These are the so-called self-rising flours. Read the label on the package of self-rising flour and there is seldom found either the statement, "this package contains the following ingredients and none other," or any equivalent statement. One cannot determine upon the label either the quality of the flour or the nature of the other ingredients mixed therein.

The housewife is very particular as to the quality of the flour when she buys it unmixed, but can exercise no discretion in the purchase of self-rising flour because of the effect produced by the added chemicals.

In the selection of baking powder, the housewife is very particular; but in self-rising flour she takes whatever sefl-rising ingredients are handed her without asking questions and in an equal state of ignorance with the dealer who is selling to her, as to what these ingredients are.

It has been admitted by the manufacturer of acid phosphate that the phosphate used in self-rising flour frequently contains 25 per cent or over of calcium sulphate (gypsum). Physicians know the objections to introducing such an amount of unnecessary inedible material into the system.

The physician can do much toward the enactment of laws that will forbid the use of such material in the manufacture of self-rising flour and that will require a statement on self-rising flour of all the ingredients contained therein.

Such laws will protect the health and the pocketbook.

Keep Well

Do not allow the poisons of undigested food to accumulate in your bowels, where they are absorbed into your system. Indigestion, constipation, headache, bad blood, and numerous other troubles are bound to follow. Keep your system clean, as thousands of others do, by taking an occasional dose of the old, reliable, vegetable, family liver medicine.

Thedford's

Black-Draught

Mrs. W. F. Pickle, of Rising Fawn, Ga., writes: "We have used Thedford's Black-Draught as a family medicine. My mother-in-law could not take calomel as it seemed too strong for her, so she used Black-Draught as a mild laxative and liver regulator . . . We use it in the family and believe it is the best medicine for the liver made." Try it. Insist on the genuine—Thedford's. 25c a package. E-75

Constipation.

The beginning of almost every serious disorder is constipation. If you want to enjoy good health keep your bowels regular. This is best accomplished by proper diet and exercise, but sometimes a medicine is needed and when that is the case you will find Chamberlain's Tablets are excellent. They are mild and gentle in their action, easy and peasant to take. Give them a trial. They only cost a quarter.

INFORMATION TO FARMERS—INTERESTING FACTS

STATE SHORT COURSE FOR CLUB BOYS AT AUBURN, ALA.

By L. N. Duncan, Supt. Junior and Home Economics Extension Work.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

At a convenient time during each summer the corn, pig, peanut and calf club boys from the several counties of the state are called together at Auburn for a course of special intensive training. Plans are being made now for this course for the present season.

The boys attending the Short Course receive a series of lectures and demonstrations each day along many lines of scientific agriculture. The lectures and demonstrations are given by our foremost leaders in agricultural work. Each night a series of lantern slides and moving pictures of educational value are shown the boys. During the school a number of speakers talk to the boys. The purpose of this is to enlarge the ideas of the farm boys, broaden their horizon and give them new inspiration, encouragement and hope.

This school is so organized and conducted as to give practical information, pleasure and recreation, encouragement and inspiration. In other words, we endeavor to touch every side of the lives of these farm boys and to make them fully realize the very great opportunities in farming when properly followed. We also endeavor to show them that farming is a noble profession where wealth, happiness and contentment may be found.

In developing the wealth of our agricultural lands and our rural communities it is of prime importance to have leaders on the farms. The best source of leadership is the strong and vigorous young manhood now on the farms, and this should be developed. Such a school sends back to the farms in the several counties each year a large number of fine young men filled with a new desire to make the old farm what it should be. They will be the centers for the radiation of new thought and ideals for the farming community.

The farm demonstration agent in each county has this matter in charge and arranges for the county delegation to attend this school. The business men of the county should rally to the support of the county agent and aid him in every way possible in making plans for carrying a number of boys to this State Short Course.

PURCHASING FEEDER STEERS

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

By K. G. Baker, Beef Cattle Specialist.

There are several important points for men to consider who intend to buy feeder steers this fall to feed out for the market next spring. Every man who intends to feed out cattle should be sure that he has tough feeds, especially roughage, to finish the number of cattle that he buys. One of the most common, as well as the most serious mistakes, has been that of buying a number of cattle to fatten and have the supply of roughage give out before the cattle are ready for market. This forces the man to either sacrifice his cattle in a half fat condition, or to buy feeds at a price that will not permit of a profit.

As a rule, feeder cattle are cheaper on the market from September until Novembr, this bing the period in which the heavy run of grass cattle comes on the market. The profit derived from cattle feeding operations is governed largely by the following points: (1) Quality of cattle; (2) Condition; (3) Age; (4) Price.

By quality of cattle is meant the amount of beef blood which the animal has. You cannot afford to feed low grade cattle for a long period. When such cattle reach the point where they fail to put on gain economically, they will be forced on the market regardless of prevailing prices at that time; while if better bred stuff is fed, they may sometimes be carried along with a profit, until any temporary depression in the market has passed. You may expect a better gain per day and a better price for finish, on good quality steers than on common quality.

The condition of the cattle at the beginning of the feeding period will govern largely the cheapness of gains. Steers should be in a good, thrifty strong condition, but should not be fat, because steers that are in a good, thrifty condition will gain much more rapidly and cheaply than those that already carry a good deal of flesh.

Other important items are the age and weight of the cattle to be fed. It is conceded that it requires a much longer feeding period to fatten calves than it does to fatttn three year old steers. If you intend to feed these cattle from 100 to 120 days, by all means buy two to three year old steers, as they will acquire the same degree of finish that calves would reach in 180 days. However, if the time devoted to the proposition is of no importance to you, you might make just as much profit on good calves as on older steers. Calves will require a much higher percentage of concentrated feeds in their rations than older cattle will require. So if you produce a large amount of rough feeds and are forced to buy concentrated feeds for your cattle, in most instances the older steers will return a larger profit. It requires more experience and skill to feed calves than it does to feed older cattle.

As to the place to buy cattle for feeding, of course the price should govern that. If you can buy cattle in your immediate vicinity as cheaply as you can buy them on the market, by all means buy them at the nearest place, remembering that cattle bought on the market at this season, should be grass cattle and at the time of weighing up to you usually carry a big shrinkage.

FINE TURNIP GREENS

The editor of the Union-Banner is greatly indebted to Mr. Albert Gore for a "mess" of fine turnip greens, which he brought us on Monday morning. They were the first we have seen, but in spite of the dry weather, they were fine. The turnips on them were big as your fist. They made a fine dinner, and we thank Mr. Goore most heartily for them. Mr. Gore says some people don't believe he has got any turnips, but he has. We are witnesses to that fact.

TEACHERS INSTITUTE

School teachers of Chilton County are urged to attend the County teachers institute which is to be held at the county high school building in Clanton next Monday and Tuesday. The time is short for informing all the teachers of the county, and Supt. Foshee is using every means at his command to inform them in the short time he has and impress them of the urgent necessity for their attendance in compliance with the requirements of the new State Educational Code of Laws.

The following letter has been sent to all the teachers by Mr. Foshee:

"Dear Teacher:

This is to give you official notice that the next Teachers Institute for Chilton County will be held in the county high school building at Clanton next Monday and Tuesday, Oct-20-21, beginning at 9 o'clock Monday morning.

In the school code, approved Sept. 27th, it is specifically stated that all teachers are required to attend the institute. I quote from the law as follows:

'Any teacher or supervisory officer who fails to attend an institute called in accordance with Section 1 of this article, shall forfeit his or her contract with the respective county or city board of education, as the case may be, and shall be ineligible to teach in the public schols of the state for a period of six months from the date of such delinquency, unless excused as provided in Section 3 of this article.'

Please notify your principal or assistants as the case may be, so that if they fail to receive their notice they will not miss the institute.

Mr. Clark of the Department of Education will pe present to dicuss the new laws, etc.

Yours very truly,
HOWARD L. FOSHEE,
Sounty Supt. Education."

It will be seen by the extract from the law as cited by the Supt., in his letter, makes it very urgent that all teachers attend the institute. Therefore, it is hoped that all teachers in the county will get information about it and be on hand at the proper time.

It is going to be a very important session as the new educational laws are to be taken up and explained by a competent person, from the state department. These laws are all new and it is very vital that all our teachers and educational workers be posted on the details of the same.

PRINCE ALBERT

Copyright 1919 by R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co.

YOU certainly get yours when you lay your smokecards on the table, call for a tidy red tin or a toppy red bag of Prince Albert and roll a makin's cigarette! You'll want to hire a statistical bureau to keep count of your smokestunts! Why, you never dreamed of the sport that lies awaiting your call in a home rolled cigarette when it's P. A. for the packing!

Talk about flavor! Man, man, you haven't got the listen of half your smokecareer until you know what rolling 'em with P. A. can do for your contentment! And, back of P. A.'s flavor, and rare fragrance—proofs of Prince Albert's quality—stands our exclusive patented process that cuts out bite and parch! With P. A. your smokesong in a makin's cigarette will outlast any phonograph record you ever heard! Prince Albert is a cinch to roll. It's crimp cut and stays put like a regular pal!

Prince Albert upsets any notion you ever had as to how delightful a jimmy pipe can be! It is the tobacco that has made three men smoke pipes where one was smoked before. It has won men all over the nation to the joys of smoking.

Awaiting your say-so, you'll find toppy red bags, tidy red tins, handsome pound and half pound tin humidors—and—that classy, practical pound crystal glass humidor with sponge moistener top that keeps Prince Albert in such perfect condition!

NOVEMBER ROLL CALL

To Establish Red Cross Community Welfare Work.

STATE CHAIRMEN AND QUOTAS FOR ALABAMA, LOUISIANA AND MISSISSIPPI.

New Orleans.—There will be two victories celebrated on Armistice Day, of 1919. First there will be the anniversary of the Germans' last "Kamerad," of course. Next, there will be at the same hour of the same day, the successful termination of the Third Red Cross Call which will be conducted, according to an announcement made Saturday at the headquarters of the Gulf Division here, from November 2 to 11.

The State Chairmen and the state quotas were also announced. For Alabama, Lloyd M. Hooper, of Selma, will head the drive. In Louisiana, Judge E. H. Randolph, of Shreveport, will mobilize the Red Cross forces. Thaddeus Lampton, of Jackson, is Chairmen for the State of Mississippi. The national goal is for $15,000,000, and 20,000,000 members. Alabama is asked for $73,060 and 84,150 members. The Louisiana quota is $130,000 and 149,600 members, and the Mississippi mark is $56,940 and 65,450 membership.

The campaign is to supply the American Red Cross with the men, women, and money needed not only to complete wartime activities of the Red Cross, but to establish in local communities the newly-formulated peace program of which work such as that now being done by the Red Cross in the stricken areas around Corpus Christi, is one branch.

Other branches of this peace-time program are the Home Service Department, which gives help and advice to the needy, works for better schools, playgrounds, recreation and social centers, and community clubs; a Nursing Department, whose aim it will be to provide a Public Health nurse in every Chapter, and to do emergency nursing in times of epidemics; a First Aid Department, to give training in emergency treatment; and a Department of Disaster Relief.

In addition to this peace program, the completion of the present war program includes the care and service to American soldiers in Russia, Germany and in France; the continuation of the disease fight which is being waged in Siberia, Poland and the Balkans; and contiued care, assistance and service to the 30,000 American soldiers still in military hospitals, and the several hundred thousand who have been discharged disabled.

One of the high lights of the campaign here in New Orleans will be the visit of Dr. Livingston Farrand, Chairman of the national central committee of the American Red Cross, will pay the Crescent City. Dr. Farrand will reach New Orleans on October 8, in the swing he is making about the country in the interests of the Roll Call, and will make an address here the same night. He will leave on the following morning for Jackson, where he will speak that evening. On the tenth Dr. Farrand will speak in Birmingham, Alabama.

Incidentally, there is one chapter in the American Red Cross which has already far exceeded its quota, despite the fact that the roll call will not be completed until the eleventh hour of the eleventh day of the eleventh month, and that Chapter is Honolulu.

According to a telegraphic announcement from Washington headquarters immediately upon receipt of the campaign plans, the Hawaiian branch cabled a subscription of $75,000. This sum was much larger than the quota which would have been assigned the Honolulu Chapter.

When the Grocer's Boy Says: "A Dollar-fifty-three!"

Of course you never have the even money—and the boy never has any change.

You rummage everywhere for pennies.

Or you run around among the neighbors—of the boy goes off with your five dollar bill.

Or he takes back the groceries.

It's always annoying, isn't it?

And so unnecessary. When you open a charge account at our store your grocery troubles will stop and we will be mighty glad to have you among our hundreds of satisfied customers.

We have built up this large business because we have always believed in giving real service. Quick deliveries, prompt and correct filling of telephons orders, honest, fairly priced merchandise and our thorough knowledge of the grocery business. We wrap up a generous amount of service with every package we sell.

An example of this service is our recommendation of RYZON Baking Powder.

We offer it to you because we know you'll be delighted with it, because we know it's pure, because we know it will do everything any other baking powder will do. The price is fair too, 40 cents per full pound tin.

We also recommend the Ryzon Baking Book, one of the best and most complete recipe books on modern baking we've ever seen.

CALL FOR TAXI Night No. 22-36. Day No. 111-48;

THORSBY ITEMS

Mrs. Carl Peterson and little daughter, Dorothy, of La Porte, Ind., who have been visiting relatives in Thorsby for about two months, returned home last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ollie Camp and children, were in Thorsby on a visit to friends last week. They formerly occupied one of the little cottages owned by Mrs. Villadsen, but are now living in Trafford.

Mrs. L. A. Gree of Griggsville, Ill., is visiting her sister-in-law, Mrs. M. E. Tupper.

Mr. G. T. Harper of Wilsonville, Ala., has purchased Mr. J. J. Stanley's stock of goods, and will carry on a general merchandise business in the same building the Stanley store has occupied for several years. Mr. and Mrs. Harper expect to come to Thorsby soon to make their home here. They have bought the Stanley residence which is now occupied by Mr. G. D. Edwards and family.

Among those attending the State Fair in Birmingham last week were, Mrs. Littleton, Misses Bertha and Versie Littleton, Mr. Wilson and little daughter, Frances, Misses Louise Adams, Essie Parker and Lena Franklin; Mr. Relou Rranklin, Earnest Eiland, Hiram Hayes and Fred Boggan.

Misses Ida Lockwood, Dagmar Larsen, Alice Sharp and Mr. Olaf Larsen were guests of Mrs. M. Larsen in Birmingham during the fair.

There have been many changes in residences in Thorsby recently. Rev. Chas. T. Rogers and family have moved back to their farm and Rev. and Mrs. Davepnort have moved into the Lloyd house, they have been occupying for more than a year. Mr. J. W. McCain and family have leased the Pypan form and moved from the Rogers farm to their new home some ten days ago.

Miss Lillie Garner of Randolph, who is a student at T. I. spent the week-end with her brother in Birmingham.

Miss Naemi Turnquist left Thorsby last Thursday for Waseca, Minn., where she will spend part of the winter visiting her sister.

Mrs. G. T. Harper of Wilsonville is spending a few days with Mrs. Billingsley. The Harpers will occupy the house formerly owned by the Stanleys.

Miss Stella McCain has accepted a position as teacher in the school at Collins Chapel.

Mr. Walter Morgan of Birmingham was a visitor in Thorsby Sunday.

Miss Olga Soberg is at home on a visit.

Miss Lucile Adams will visit home folks next Sunday.

The pie social given by the Thorsby Institute Athletic Association was a success in every way. The proceeds will be used for furthering athletics at T. I. and Thorsby public school.

A meeting was held on Wednesday afternoon at the public school building, the purpose of which was to organize a School Improvement Association. It is hoped by those promoting the organization, that telling work will be done during the school year, and some much needed improvements will be made. All patriots and friends of the school are urged to attend the metings of the association.

Rev. James M. Graham of Birmingham delivered a stirring address last Thursday night at the Congregational Church on the subject "The war is Over—What next?" Mr. Graham is assistant secretary of the Alabama Anti-Tuberculosis League, and in his address told of some of the constructive work that is now being carried on in Alabama by this organization. Plans are being made to organize the people of Chilton County during the coming month in an effective way to fight the tuberculosis menace.

Mr. Cowan Woodham of Ozark, a former student of Thorsby Institute is a visitor in Thorsby this week. Mr. Woodham has been in the army since 1917. He enlisted early in May of that year and has been much of the time in overseas service. He participated in several of the big battles of the war. He received his discharge in July and returned to the U. S. about the middle of that month. He re-enlisted for a short period and a part of the time since his return has been on duty at Camp Merrit, N. J. He expects to enroll soon as a student at T. I.

The Helen Keller Literary Society will hold its next meeting on next Saturday night, October 18, beginning promptly at 7:45. An interesting program is being prepared.

Warmy children are unhappy, puny and sickly. They can't be otherwise while worms eat away their strength and vitality. A few doses of WHITE CREAM VERMIFUGE performs a morvelous transformation. Cheerfulness, strength and the rosy bloom of health speedily return. Sold by Upchurch Drug Co.

FOURTH QUARTERLY MEETING

The fourth quarterly conference of the First Methodist Church charge, will be held at the Parsonage in Clanton on Tuesday night, October 21st, at 8 o'clock. A fine attendance of all the official members especially urged, as reports from all departments of the church will be read. Officers of church and Sunday School will be elected for another year, 1920.

The pastor will be very much gratified to hear full reports made from the officials, on this occasion, as this will be the last financial meeting of the official board for this conference year, which closes Dec. 1, 1919. A most cordial invitation extended to the public to come worship with us on Sunday. Pastor will preach 11 a.m. and 8 p.m., Sunday, October 19th. Come!

HORSE FOR SALE—Five Years old, weighs between 900 and 1000 pounds, guaranteed to work at any place. Will take $150 to get him.

ALL DAY SINGING SCHEDULED TO BE AT COUNTY HIGH SCHOOL

Mr. J. M. Smith, the Secretary of the Chilton County Singing Convention, was in Clanton last Saturday, and informed The Union-Banner that arrangements have been completed for the holding of another big all day singing in the auditorium of the Chilton County High School. The date of the singing is fixed for the Third Sunday in November.

This occasion bids fair to be the biggest singing event that has taken place in Chilton County for a long time.

At the time the singing is to be held Prof. J. D. Patton will be teaching a singing school at Liberty Hill and Prof. H. M. Eagle will be teaching at Union Grove. Both these distinguished singers, together with their classes from their schools will be here. These among other prominent singers from all over the county, who will be here, assures us that this will be one of the very best of singings.

As the event is to be under the auspices of the Chilton County Singing Convention, it will elicit the interest of every singer and music lover in the county. And it is hoped that all will co-operate earnestly in making the day a highly successful one for the advancement of the cause of music in our county.

Mrs. H. B. Roper has gone to Macon, Ga., to visit relatives and friends.

WEST CHILTON

Having some welcome showers just now.

The autumn days with the sear and yellow leaf are on us again. Some one has said in the long ago, "The falling leaf is a whisper to man." The dying year with the quiet days and inanimate nature produces a sad thought in striking season soon to follow. What a picture of human life and destiny! This is the time of year when our Fathers would hold revival meetings. Ah, we suspect some readers' heart experiences a thrill as they think of those days in the sweet long ago, when youthful hearts would beat as one as they rehearsed the old old story.

Rev. Dunlap of Lawley has again been called to the pastorate of Macedonia Church.

Joseph E. Jones of Adamsville made a flying visit here Saturday.

Mr. Lon Brown is erecting a new residence just south of the bridge across Six Mile Creek on the Selma Road, where he will soon build a new mill.

H. H. Devenport and family of Randolph visited here Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. Crumbles, who has been spending some time with S. N. Waldrup returned to Selma last week.

Mr. A. J. Eshleman of Maryland will deliver a series of lectures at Waldrup's School House on October 22, morning and night. He is a young man of fine ability, a member of the International Bible Students Association.

Our people are smiling now over the thought that the quarantine on the cattle will soon be lifted from this part of the county.

Success to the Banner—long may it wave.

"I AM A NEW MAN"

Montgomery Man Got Back All His Old-Time Health and 'Pep' by Taking Sulferro-Sol, "The Wonder Medicine."

Used to get up mornings always tired. No energy whatever. No vim. No push. Wanted to sit down and rest all the time. Least exertion caused fatigue. For more than a year suffered terribly with bladder and kidney trouble. That was the condition of Mr. Archibald McKenzie, corner Bell and Whitman streets, Montgomery, Ala. Then somebody recommended Sulferro-Sol. Mr. McKenzie began taking it. He took two bottles. Now listen to what he says: "I can't say too much in praise of this wonderful nerve tonic and blood purifier. I am a new man now, full of the old-time energy which I began to think I had forever lost. To all persons who suffer from like conditions to what I did, I simply say, Give Sulferro-Sol a trial and receive the benefit I derived from it."

Sulferro-Sol is absolutely free from all poisonous or dangerous ingredients, contains no alcohol nor "dope," and may be taken by any one with safety. This medicine has meant many a man's physical salvation. Try it. Your druggist can supply you. Refuse all substitutes.

Manufactured by the Sulferro-Sol Co., Montgomery, Ala.

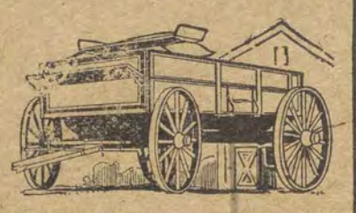
TIME TO WAKE UP

Had you thought about this being the vital time for Clanton to wake up and get after the Alabama Power Company if we expect any juice from the line that is being built from Lock 12 to Selma, Why can't we have a meeting of the public with the Town Council and Mayor, and get some line of action upon which to proceed in this most vital matter. Let's start to talking for this proposition. By so doing, we can hit on somebody tha twill help us out.



Attorney R. Nelson Brassell of Montgomery was in Clanton this week attending the Circuit Court.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Catarrh being greatly influenced by constitutional conditions requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Medicine is taken internally and acts thru the Blood on the Mucous Surfaces of the System thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in the curative power of Hall's Catarrh Medicine that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

SUGAR SCARCE

They tell us there is a sugar famine on. If Clanton had the sugar that has been hauled away from here in the last twelve months and carried to the woods and made into wild cat whiskey, it would be enough to legitimately supply the Clanton trade for at least a year.

YOU NEED NOT SUFFER FROM CATARRH

But You Must Drive It Out of Your Blood.

Catarrh is annoying enough when it chokes up your nostrils and air passages, causing difficult breathing and other discomforts. Real danger comes when it reaches down into your lungs.

This is why you should at once realize the importance of the proper treatment, and lose no time experimenting with worthless remedies which touch only the surface.

To be rid of Catarrh, you must drive the disease germs out of your blood.

Splendid results have been reported from the use of S. S. S., which completely routs from your blood the Catarrh germs, for which it is a perfect antidote.

If you wish medical advice as to the treatment of your own individual case, write to Chief Medical Adviser, 42 Swift Specific Co., Atlanta, Ga.

WHEN DUTY IS HARD

Charles E. Hughes was urging a group of soldiers to keep up their war insurance polices.

"I know it's hard," he said. "Of the 4,000,000 policies written during the war over 3,000,000 have lapsed. This shouldn't be.

"Duty is always hard, boys. Yet we must do it. A little lad entered a general store the other day.

"Well, son, what do you want to buy today—candy?" said the keeper.

"You bet I do," said the urchin, "but I've got to buy soap."

AROUND THE WORLD WITH THE AMERICAN RED CROSS.
In Serbia.

As far back as the first winter of the war, the Red Cross sent to Serbia a sanitary commission that effectively checked the scourge of typhus, but after the United States entered the conflict, the Red Cross was able, in August, 1917, to send a full commission that carried on extensive relief operations among the suffering refugees of the tortured nation. Hospitals were established, the refugees fed, clothed and given medical attention, the army supplied with much needed dental treatment, farm machinery, and seeds provided to help the Serbs redeem their land to productivity, and, not least, measures undertaken for the succor of the children. The terrible condition into which these helpless victims of the war had fallen is well portrayed by this photograph of a little Serbian girl wearing the rags and expression of hopeless dismay that were all she possessed when the Red Cross came.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

This remedy is intended especially for coughs, colds, croup, and whooping cough. From a small beginning its sale and use have extended to all parts of the United States and to many foreign countries. This alone ise enough to convince one that it is a medicine of more than ordinary merit. Give it a trial and you will find this to be the case.

RER CROSS TASK UNFINISHED.

The Armistice did not put a stop to Red Cross activities in the camps and hospitals of the Gulf Division, comprising Alabama, Louisiana and Mississippi. During the past six months, the seven Field Stations in the Division have performed many services: 4,151 men were helped to straighten out difficult home problems; 7,000 were given information and personal advice; 69,844 men attended 371 different entertainments. The Red Cross workers made 11,828 personal visits to hospital patients; and in addition, $9,000 worth of comfort kits, cigarettes, etc., were distributed, and 383 men were helped financially, $5,000 having been used for that purpose.

VOLUME VIII. CLANTON, CHILTON COUNTY, ALA., OCTOBER 23, 1919 NUMBER 30.

DOINGS AT TEACHERS INSTITUTE THIS WEEK

OVER A HUNDRED TEACHERS OF THE COUNTY WERE IN ATTENDANCE.

The school teachers of Chilton County held a short but very interesting institute at the County High School building in Clanton Monday and Tuesday of this week. But the shortness of the session did not detract from the importance of the work done in the time consumed.

Under direction of Prof. Howard L. Fishee, the County superintendent, the new school laws of Alabama were taken up and much of the session was devoted to the discussion of those laws and their relations to the teachers and schools. The laws are new and it was very valuable for the teachers to go over them and study them in their different phases.

Aside from the local speakers the institute was given a special treat in the address of Mr. John B. Clark of the State Board of Education. Mr. Clark emphasized four things that never return to us, namely: the spoken word, the sped arrow, the past life and the neglected opportunity. Much enthusiasm was arousad among the teachers by his masterful address. He also included in his speech some valuable remarks on "What the Teachers should be."

Another thing of note that was done at this session of the Institute was the dividing or placing of the various schools of the county into four different groups, with headquarters at Jemison, Maplesville, Verbena and at Clanton. On a Friday in each month the county superintendent will hold meetings at the above named places with all the teachers of each group for the purpose of doing reading circle work and professional study. The first book to be used in this work will be "The Rural Teacher and His Work." The dates of the first round of meetings are as follows: Jemison, November 7; Verbena, Nov. 14; Maplesville, Nov. 21; Clanton, Nov. 28.

The teachers at the Institute this week requested that The Union-Banner publish the compulsory attendance law for the benefit of the people. It is a good idea to do and we are glad to comply with their request. The attention of patrons and the public is hereby directed to the law as it appears elsewhere in this issue of the paper.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

This remedy is intended especially for coughs, colds, croup, and whooping cough. From a small beginning its sale and use have extended to all parts of the United States and to many foreign countries. This alone ise enough to convince one that it is a medicine of more than ordinary merit. Give it a trial and you will find this to be the case.

J. H. VINSON BRINGS BIGGEST AND UGLIEST POTATO YET

We offered a prize of a year's subscription for the biggest potato that was brought to us. And it now looks like Mr. John Vinson will take the prize, for he has not only brought the biggest yam but also the ugliest one. As he came along up the street with it first one and another were taking a look at it and some fellow dropped it and broke a big piece off of it. But when he got here there was enough of it to weigh eighteen and a quarter pounds.

We feel reasonably sure that this is the prize winner for the potato contest. But we will wait a while longer for somebody else who may hope to beat this one. If a bigger potato doesn't show up in a few days we will close the contest and award the prize to Mr. Vinson. Bring them in if you have got anything that will beat eighteen and a quarter.

FARMER WANTED

Would like to get in touch with a good farmer who would like to farm of lavles next year. Can furnish a 1 or 2-horse crop, and will guarantee anyone a fair deal. Have plenty of winter work to do. S. M. EDWARDS,

NOTICE.—I will have my horse in Clanton every Saturday for the fall Season. All who are interested may see me in regard to same. H.H. HAYS
8- 21-8t. Clanton, Route 4.

We thought since the dry weather hit this country that the potato prize would go to Mr. Alfred Baker with his eight pound specimen, but Mr. John Vinson has beat him by ten pounds Mr. Vinson must have kept his potato fed and watered to make it grow so big. And besides so big it is equally as ugly. It has a couple of cracks across one side in which you can hide a peck of ordinary potatoes.

MAY BE A SCRAMBLE IF WILSON DON'T RUN

Receptive Democrats Ready to Assume Crown Should their Leader Abdicate.

Washington, Oct. 20.—Based on the assumptions that President Wilson will not be a candidate for a third term, political gossip is rife in Washington and elsewhere concerning the various Democratic aspirants for the presidency. While it is quite true that the President's western trip led to much third term talk, it is assumed quite generally that, although he is improving from his recent illness according to latest bulletins, he will not under any circumstances care to plunge into an arduous political campaign next year.

Under such conditions Democratic politicians are turning their attention toward various candidates or receptive candidates who have been mentioned as aspiring to the presidential nomination in the event Mr. Wilson does not allow his name to be used. In the list are William G. McAdoo, Attorney General Palmer, Governor Cox of Ohio, Senator Owen of Oklahoma, Vice President Marshall, Secretary of War Baker, Senator Pomerene of Ohio, Senator Chamberlain of Oregon, Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, Governor Smith of New York, and several others. Perhaps William J. Bryan ought not to be omitted. Former Speaker Champ Clark is looked upon as again aspiring to the nomination and there is mention of Senator Underwood of Alabama.

The gossip here is that Mr. McAdoo and his friends have been careful to get as good grip on the Democratic organization. The McAdoo influence is reputed to be dominant in the National Committee organization and there seems to be no doubt that Mr. McAdoo's friends have been posted about in this organization with considerable forethought. This is so far true that there is noticeable coolness on the part of some Democratic leaders to the plan of the National Committee to raise a monster campaign fund of between $5,000,000 and $10,000,000, there being a suspicion that it is to be used in a large degree to boost along the political fortunes of the former Secretary of the Treasury. Attorney General Palmer's friends are also credited with much activity, although it is conceded that unless the Attorney General makes more of a showing in his alleged war on the high cost of living than he has up to date he is likely find himself much handicapped. Altogether the signs are that it will not be long until the activities in behalf of each of a long list of Democratic possibilities become plainly discernible.

PERRY GLASS SENTENCED FOR TEN YEARS IN PEN.

The jury in the case of Perry Glass last week found him guilty of murder in the second degree and sentenced him to ten years in the penitentiary. This is the third time Glass has been tried in the courts of this county for the killing of Jim Campbell out in Stumps Hills a couple of years ago. Ten years sentence is the lowest term a jury has yet given him.

The case of Arthur Hall, the negro boy charged with murder was not tried this time.

Y. M. C. A. SUPPER.

Cards have been sent out inviting a number of the representative citizens and business men of Clanton to be the guests of the Alabama State Committee Y. M. C. A., at a supper at the Exchange Hotel, Clanton, Thursday evening, October 23. Mr. W. M. Lee, the State Secretary, will be present to explain any criticism of the Y. M. C. A. and outline its home program in Alabama.

VALUABLE POINTS ABOUT PLANTING OF FALL OATS.

Suggestions From the Alaama Experiment Station at Auburn.

In many sections of Alabama there is an evident need of more feed. To meet this need, a fall planted crop of oats should be made, especially in those sections, where this crop does not frequently winter kill.

Varieties.

For fall seeding, plant Culberson, Appler, Bancroft, Cook, One-Hundred Bushel, Texas Red Rust Proof, Fulgham, etc. Of these varieties Culberson is the most resistant to winter killing. It is medium tall, ripens about the time of the ordinary Red Rust Proof, and has rather long beard. The Fulgham variety is a good winter oat, has not many beards, and resists cold very well. It's seed are bright yellow, and weigh about 36 pounds per bushel

Planting.

The time to plant oats is the middle fall, not the late part of fall. The seed must have time to get up and establish a strong root system before the winter freezes come. They may be planted as early as the latter part of September, but for the central part of Alabama the best date seems to be about the middle of October. South of the middle section they might be planted later.

At the Alabama Experiment Station, the average yield of fall sown oats for a thirteen year period was 36.1 bushels per acre, while the average yield for February sowing for the same period was only 16.5 bushels. Fall plantings are earlier and more desirable in other ways, where the risk of winter-killing is not too hazardous.

Plant in the open furrow and thereby insure a crop.

Fertilizer.

Experiments show that oats well fertilized are able to withstand a great deal more cold than when they are poorly fertilized. On lands deficient in phosphoric acid, an application of 200 pounds of acid phosphate and a light dressing of barnyard manure or one hundred pounds of cottonseed meal distributed in drill or broadcast at planting time are suggested. When a good crop of summer legumes is plowed under for soil improvement, the nitrogenous fertilizer applied at planting may be omitted. 75 or 100 pounds of nitrate of soda per acre shoud be applied as a top dressing early in March.

Soils.

In selecting land for fall oats, don't pick out the poorest, but select that which will make 15 or 20 bushels of corn or more per acre. Good soils pay best.

The clay soils seem to heave from freezing more than the sandy or sandy loams, and therefore are more liable to winter-killing. Lands that are poorly drained are not safe for fall planting. Probably the safest type of soil is a well drained loam.

If the soil is soft, the seed may be planted without plowing; but, if it is hard or if it has a great deal of vegetable matter on it turn the soil and vegetable matter deeply, and make a good seed bed. Disking before plowing often makes possible better plowing with better seed bed.

Mr. H. G. Carter, teacher of Rockymount School, was a visitor at The Union-Banner office Tuesday. He did what all the school teachers ought to do—subscribed for The Banner.

REPUBLICAN TIDE IS SWEEPS TO VICTORY

In Spite of Gerrymandering in South Party Surges Above the Danger Mark.

BATTER DEMO. BREAKWATER

Washington, Oct. 21.—The recent special Congressional election in the seventh Alabama District, where the Republican candidate failed of election by only 408 votes, has served to reveal the desperate steps which the Democrats have had to take in that section for many years to prevent the election of a Republican to Congress. Even after the most flagrant gerrymandering so recently as 1915, by which it was thought that the seventh district had been assured a safe Democratic maority of 3,500 votes, it was necessary, in the recent election to call upon the services of almost the entire Alabama delegation in Congress to stem the tide of Republicanism which is now so strong in that state, and which reduced this supposed majority of 3,500 to the threatening margin of only 408.

Prior to 1915, Congressional elections in this district had become uncomfortably close, and it was decided by the Democratic leaders that something must be done to remove the element of uncertainty which had come about through the growth of Republican sentiment. Consequently in that year the State was redistricted. Franklin and Winston counties, strongly Republican, were lopped off of the offending seventh district, and the Democratic county of Blount was added, and with these changes the district showed a normal majority of about 3,600. But this majority didn't hold up very well. It showed a constant inclination to decline, in favor of the Repubuicans, with the result within four years after the district had been "doctored up" by the Democrats, they were only able to muster a majority of 408 in one of the most hotly contested campaigns between the two parties that any State in the "Solid South" had ever seen.

The Democratic leaders in Alabama do not deny the peril which threatens them in this section. In a discussion of the recent election on the floor of the House a few days ago, Congressman Heflin, of Alabama, explained matters as follows:

"While the Democratic majority in the district is not always as large as we would like for it to be, the district is safely Democratic. I made twenty-one speeches in the district in the campaign just closed, and I enlightened the Republicans as best I could all over the district."

"If the district was safely Democratic," inquired Representative Smith, Republican of Idaho, "why was it necessary for the gentleman to make twenty-one speeches?"

HOW THE PEOPLE FEEL

I suggested months ago that if the Republicans would make a real fight in the interest of economy, honesty and common sense they could sweep the country. At Chicago, on the 12th of September, Senator Johnson handled President Wilson roughly, and a tremendous audience went wild. Cries of "impeach him!" were so numerous that they became an uproar; and millions who read of the proceedings at Chicago will thrill over those two words as they have not thrilled over any other short sentence uttered in recent years. The cheering also became an interruption, and there was the marching up and down the aisles which distinguishes an enthusiastic national convention. Sentor Johnson referred to the President's "celestial phrases," his desertion of beautiful promises and the enthusiasm was tremendous. The crowd was so great that overflow meetings were held in the streets, where the same enthusiasm was exhibited. And the great crowd collected in reponse to an announcement that the President was to be skinned. A blind man should be able to see that the President, with all his oratory, literary ability and college education, is tremendously unpopular. Practical, sensible people are disgusted because of Mr. Wilson's sentimentalism. Pretty phrases have got us into trouble and common sense is in open revolt. Gentlemen, talk of possibility that Mr. Wilson will be a condidate for a third term. I hope he will be; it will give me opportunity to bet he will receive a smaller vote than Greeley received.

Our old friend, J. H. Anderson of Calera was here this week at the Teachers Institute. Anderson is one of the old reliable school teachers.

"OUT OF THINE OWN MOUTH WILL I JUDGE THEE"

Shall partisan politics or patriotism be paramount? That is the question that must be decided by the Democrats of the Senate when they cast their votes on the league of nations. Some of the leaders have had the courage of their convictions, and have declared their position in unmistakable terms. Members of their party throughout the country should ponder their declarations, and ask themselves the question whether it is now or ever will be expedient to discard the principles upon which this nation was founded and that have guided its prosperity to the present day.

Senator Thomas of Colorado, one of the best minds in the Upper House has this to say: "I love the Democratic party; I have been a humble member of it since my majority; I have fought many of its battles and it has honored be far beyond my deserts; but in a matter of this importance, presenting problems not only of a national but of an international character, affecting American institutions and American destiny, fraught with possible benefits and equally possible evils which we can not wholly conjecture, I am obliged to follow the dictates of my own judgment and my own conscience, regardless of consequences to myself, to the Democratic or any other political organization."

Senator Shields of Tennessee is convinced that the leagoe in its present form would bring the United States into a foreign war within a year. "I would be glad," says Mr. Shields, "to contribute anything reasonable to abolish war and secure peace upon earth, but I can not sacrifice American sovereignty and the interest and lives of American people for that purpose."

Senator Walsh of Massachusetts: "I love the Democratic party. I have served it for 25 years. It has honored me beyond my humble deserts. But I am an American first, and I am not unmindful of the fact that I have a solemn oath to preserve the Constitution of my country. If choice must be made between a league of nations and the Constitution of the United States, I am first and last with the Constitution."

Senator Gore, the blind Democrat from Okla., has visited consistently to maintain the independence of his rountry from foreign intrigue, although to do so meant a separation from the majority of his party colleagues. "I desire, as far as possible" declares Senator Core, "to have the United States withdraw from European uolitics and European quarrels."

Senator Reed of Missouri has no hesitation in putting country above party. He has made scores of addresses throughout the Democratic South warning the people against the impending danger. These are the words he addressed to his colleagues in the Senate Chamber: "If a Republican President had brought the league of nations here; if Roosevelt had brought it here, there is not a Democrat who would not have been standing by my side fighting to the last ditch to rescue the country from the threatened danger, and all these eloquent voices would have been raised, and from your brains would have come those sparks of eloquent fire that would have set a conflagration in the very hearts of all Democrats in this country and brought them with burning haste to your side to save this country from so monstrous and so cruel a fate."

WILSON BEFORE ELECTION AND WILSON AFTERWARD

Before he was elected Mr. Wilson pledged himself to a program of pitiless publicity regarding public affairs. The ins and outs of doings at Washington were to be made as an open book laid before the eyes of all people. But after he has been president for three years we see that no administration ever equalled his for secrecy. With Pat Tumulty the arch traitor and K. of C. guarding the approaches to the White House, Mr. Wilson has juggled around the corner with the Catholics and betrayed all confidence of loyal Americans.

He assured the country that no legetimate business would be injured by his administration. And his tariff legislation paralyzed American industry until war orders restored trade. The war is all that saved Wilson's administration from an economic disaster.

He promised that merit should govern federal appointments. But the Civil Service law has been constantly violated under his administration. Why has Clanton been for the past twelve months without a postmaster. If merit was to govern Federal appointments why was not the man who made the highest percentage on the examination appointed to the position of postmaster? He proved his merit. The trouble is that Wilson's administration is prostituting the Civil Service to the petty whims of partisan politics. Thats the answer to Clanton's postmaster question and hundreds of others similar to it all over the country.

He promised that the rights of American citizens should be protected at home and abroad. While three hundred Americans have been murdered in cold blood in Mexico and nothing has been done.

His party in 1912 and 1916 promised to reduce the cost of living. But they seem to have provided the thing with wings that it might fly even higher than ever.

He promised to introduce economy into government affairs. But no other administration in history has been so lavishly extravagant and utterly inefficient. The government pay roll was made a hobby horse on which to ride the host of loyal Democrats who followed him for the sole purpose of getting an easy job and a pension.

Before the peace conference he promised open covenants openly asrived at. But when he went to Europe he became a party to negotiations unprecedently secret, and alliances mischieviously entangling. He went into secret conference with the Pope of Rome, to the disdain of all who glory in American freedom.

A VISIT TO NEW SALEM

We had the pleasure of a visit to New Salem last Sunday afternoon. And listened to some songs from the Sacred Harp and Christian Harmony. Mr. John Hays was there. We might call him the ring leader. But he was not all the one who sung. Squire Childress, Mr. Collins, Mr. Bussie, Mr. Maddox, and several others comprised the class, and they rendered plendid support for the leaders. Those who led lessons were Mr. Hays, Mr. Morris, and the two Jackson boys. Miss Era Sanders and her sisters were on hand and they added much to the spirit of the service.

Oscar Bean and the Editor could not agree as to which song was the best one. He contended for "I don't want to stay here long," and I insisted on "Oh Bear me away on your Snowy Wings." Uncle Tom didn't believe either of us were right. He preferred "The Fair Fields of Eden."

However, that may be, all those old songs are good. They prove their worth by their long life.

Our attention was directed to the splendid appearance of the New Salem Cemetery. It was the nicest and cleanest one we have seen for a long time. We can't hardly say that a cemetery is a good looking place. But that one at New Salem shows that the people believe in keeping things in order in that community. Other places would do well to take a lesson from that one.

MORE EVIDENCE OF GREAT RELIEF

Was Dizzy, Nervous, Back Was Lame, Stomach Full of Gas and Bowels Constipated. Gets Unusual Results.

Dreco does its curative work in a simple, straightforward way. It wastes little time getting all its energies to work, feeding the tired, worn-out nervous tract, filling the arteries with rich, new blood, and building up the body for its fight against disease. Read what Mr. T. B. Menefee of 114 South Cedar street, Mobile, Ala., says:

"For some time I have suffered with nervous pains in my back and limbs, especially the joints. It struck me first in the hips, then the knees got painful, then the shoulders and elbows. My back gave me a great deal of trouble, especially when I got up in the morning, and also when I would make a quick move or bend. I was also troubled with constipation, headaches, nervousness, so I did not sleep well, and my appetite was about all gone. I was attracted by the statements I read in the papers about what Dreco had done for so many other people, and decided to try it, with the result that by the time I had finished one-half of the first bottle my pains had left me and the stiffness was wearing away. I can now jump right out of bed without the slightest pain at all; can stoop about and climb stairs without any trouble. The constipation is entirely gone. I never have a headache, and my wife says I am about to eat her out of house and home, since my appetite has improved so.

"I feel perfectly well now, but my wife insists that I keep it up, so I am going to take another bottle just to 'make sure I'm well.'"

Statements like this from persons right here in our home town should do much to convince people of the true merits of Dreco. This remedy does not contain any mercury, potash or other harmful mineral, nor anything that affects the heart, but is composed of the juices of many different roots and herbs.

REYNOLDS SUGGESTS NOV. 11 AS HOG SALE DAY FOR CHILTON CO.

Editor Union-Banner:

There are so many new licenses, and as there will be additional fees after the first day of November, I will be glad if you will publish the new schedules, as follows:

Garage, Garage Repairing, Automobile filling Stations, Barber Shops, Coffin Dealers, Shot Gun, Riffle, Ammunition, Soft Drinks, Vulcanizing, Pressing Clubs, Saw Mill, Cigar Dealers, Lumber Yards.

These are some of the new subjects that will have to pay license in the county.

I have talked to several parties about setting some day to be known as hog sale day. It has been suggested that we fix Tuesday, November 11, and all that have hogs, bring them here that day. We should advertise in the state papers so as to get as many buyers here that day s possible.

If the people want to fix this date or any other day, I will help advertise and try and get some buyers here. I see other counties are doing this, and they are getting much better prices than we are. We ought to have several car loads here by this date.

ZIRON Iron Tonic Makes Her "Old Man" Feel Young Again, Says Daughter.

To help repair the results of illness, old age, work and worry in your daily life; to help give strength to your run-down system and to help renew fagged forces and tone up the nerves—you will find a valuable remedy in Ziron.

Read what Ziron did for an old man, who had to stay in bed most of the time. His daughter, Myrtle Mills, of Pulaski, Tenn., says: "Ziron has helped my father wonderfully. He could not do anything before taking it. He was in bed most of the time, complaining with broken-down nerves and backache. He has taken three bottles and says he is as strong as when he was 17 years old."

If your blood needs iron, try Ziron Iron Tonic. What it has done for others, it may do for you.

Ziron is mild, harmless; does not discolor the teeth, and may be taken safely by young and old, men, women and children.

MIMS - McMURRY WEDDING IN JACKSONVILLE, FLORIDA

On Tuesday, October 21st., at 8:00 p.m., Mr. Jadie R. Mims and Miss Charlotte Elizabeth McMurray were married at the home of the bride in Jacksonville, Florida. The only attendant of the bride was her sister, Miss Mary Margaret McMurray, as bridesmaid. The groom had as his best man his brother, Mr. Whitt Mims.

Miss McMurray was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William B. McMurray of Jacksonville, where she has lived for about ten years. She is a charming young lady, a graduate of Duval High School. Since leaving school she has been connected in business with the American National Insurance Company. Since her engagement the bride has been delightfully entertained by her society friends in her home city..

Mr. Mims will be remembered as the son of Mr. E. J. Mims, who lived three miles east of Clanton. He enlisted in the army in 1916, served on the Mexican Border, and was stationed at Fort McPherson, Camp Wheeler, Camp Jackson and Camp Mills, successively in 1917 and 1918. In the latter part of September, 1918, he sailed for France. He returned to the States in January, 1919. After his return to America he visited his friends and relatives in Atlanta and Birmingham, and spent a part of last January at his old home in Clanton. From Clanton he went on to Jacksonville, Fla., to take up business connections with the American Bakeries Co. He has been continually connected with these people in a business capacity since leaving Clanton in 1909, with the exception of the time spent in the service of his country.

Immediately after the marriage the young couple left for their wedding trip. They will visit Atlanta, Birmingham and other points in Alabama. They will be at home to their friends in Jacksonville, Fla., after November 1st.

Many friends and acquaintances of Mr. Mims in Clanton will learn of the marriage with much interest, and extend good wishes.

PITTS - REYNOLDS

Th following handsomely engraved invitations have been received by many friends:

"Mr. and Mrs. William Archie Reynolds request the pleasure of your company at the marriage of their daughter, Myrtle, to Mr. Percy McGraw Pitts, on Wednesday afternoon, November fifth, at half past five o'clock, at home, Clanton, Ala."

LINEN SHOWER FOR MISS MYRTLE REYNOLDS

One of the most delightful affairs of the season occurred Wednesday afternoon when Miss Willie Bell Sartor charmingly entertained at a Linen Shower in honor of Miss Myrtle Reynolds, a recent bride-elect.

The hostess was assisted in receiving by Mrs. Barney M. Roberts. The Misses Annie and Lessie Reynolds gracefully presided over the punch bowl. Upon arrival the guests were presented with the bride's book and each very thoughtfully wrote her favorite recipe, after which the honoree, gowned in an exquisite dress of yellew georgette with chenile and fur trimmings, was shown into the dining room artistically decorated for the occasion in the bride's colors of green and white. Here a clothes line had been stretched, hanging almost to the breaking point it offered to the delighted guest of honor linen to satisfy the most fastidious taste.

The hostess assisted the honoree in taking the gifts from the line and placing them in a huge clothes basket procured for the occasion.

Following an exciting contest a delicious ice course, where again pervaded the color motif of green and white, was served to seventy guests.

Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Johnson of Montgomery were the guests of their daughter, Mrs. Claude Reynolds, on Tuesday, enroute to Tuscaloosa where they will visit their second daughter, Mrs. H. E. Tarpley.

Mrs. R. E. Luckie and son Robert, spent Friday in Montgomery.

The many friends of Mr. Julius Reynolds will be glad to know that he is rapidly improving at St. Marys infirmary in Montgomery, where he underwent an operation for appendicitis.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Miss Clara Crumpton delightfully entertained about thirty guests at her home on Tuesday Evening, in honor of her sixteenth birthday. The guests arrived about 8:00 o'clock.

Miss Crumpton was assisted in receiving by her mother, Mrs. Crumpton.

After an interesting contest the beautiful birthday cake was cut, the ring falling to Mr. Joe Higgins, thimble to Miss Inez Higgins, penny to Mr. Earl Henley and dime to Miss Clara Crumpton.

Games were enjoyed until a late hour after which a delicious course was served.

EMBROIDERY CLUB ENTERTAIN

Mrs. John VanDerveer delightfully entertained the members of the Embroidery Club at her home on Thursday afternoon.

The house was beautifully decorated with ferns and cut flowers.

Late in the afternoon an ice course was served to the following: Mrs. J. P. Hayes, Mrs. Lawrence Gerald, Mrs. Mack Wyatt, Mrs. Victor Heard, Mrs. F. B. Collier, Mrs. Grady Broadhead and Mrs. Robert Powe, of Birmingham.

METHODIST MISSIONARY SOCIETY ENTERTAINED

The Missionary Society of the Methodist Church was held on Monday afternoon with Mrs. R. E. Luckie.

The devotional was led by Mrs. Harvey Chandler, subject "Missions in China."

Mesdames N. S. Johnson and McSwain also read interesting papers on the subject. During the business meeting that followed Mrs. B. M. Roberts presided.

Later sandwiches and tea were served.

There were eighteen members.

Mrs. Robert Powe and children of Birmingham are the guests of Mr. and Mrs J. P. VanDerveer.

Miss Annie Reynolds spent several days last week in Montgomery.

Mr. J. W. Stanfield of Montgomery spent a few days in Clanton lately.

Mr. Julius DeGarrett of Sylacauga spent Sunday with friends in Clanton.

Mr. Ruben Reynolds of Montgomery spent Sunday in Clanton with his parents.

Master Sidney Lewis Reynolds is visiting his aunt, Mrs. H. E. Tarpley in Tuscaloosa.

Rev. F. A. Ellison has sold his farm out on the Lock 12 road and bought property in Clanton.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Gerald will regret to learn that their little daughter is quite ill.

SELECT SEED VELVET BEANS BEFORE FROST

Immature velvet beans like immature animals are unable to propogate by themselves. Velvet beans continue to grow and produce seed until frost kills them. Therefore, when frost kills the vegetative parts, there are many immature pods on the plants that will never reach maturity. However, when these immature pods and beans are subjected to freezing, thawing and drying for a few times they have the appearance of immature beans, The mature and immature beans are then harvested, stored, and thrashed together. The next season's crop planted from this lot of beans, results in a poor stand with a lot of weak plants that are not able to resist late cold and the attacks of disease.

The best and most convenient time to select seed velvet beans is during the last few days of October and the first few days of November. At this time cottonpicking and peanut harvesting are finished and corn harvesting can wait. One or two days during the period should be set aside for selecting and picking the seed velvet beans.

When going over the velvet bean fields to select seed for next year, mature beans are not the only things that should be looked for. There are many qualities of velvet bean plants that should be taken into consideration. If closely observed there might be discovered and isolated from the large acreage of beans, something altogether new. The Early Speckled velvet bean originated from a field of the old late Speckled beans and was discovered almost accidentally.

When selecting seed beans look closely for early high yielding plants, free from disease. There are other qualities which the individual grower of velvet beans will take a fancy to and as the process continues the interest will increase. If you select and care for your own seed then you are sure of what you are planting and what you are going to get. While, if you buy your seed you take a chance of getting bad seed and going to the trouble of preparing and planting for nothing.

"OUT OF THINE OWN MOUTH WILL I JUDGE THEE"

Shall partisan politics or patriotism be paramount? That is the question that must be decided by the Democrats of the Senate when they cast their votes on the league of nations. Some of the leaders have had the courage of their convictions, and have declared their position in unmistakable terms. Members of their party throughout the country should ponder their declarations, and ask themselves the question whether it is now or ever will be expedient to discard the principles upon which this nation was founded and that have guided its prosperity to the present day.

NEGRO SHOT AT L. & N. CONDUCTOR FOUR TIMES

About 5:30 o'clock Monday evening as his freight train was stopped at Minooka Conductor Bazemore put a negro hobo off his train. When the negro landed on the ground he drew a 38 pistol and opened fire on the conductor. Four shots were fired, but luckily none of them hit the conductor.

Sheriff Gore was wired instantly, and when he and his deputy reached the scene shortly after dark they found the negro, whose name was given as Henry Watson, sitting beside a tool house. He stated that he was waiting for the next freight south. He was taken in charge by Sheriff Gore and placed in jail in Clanton.

TWO CONVICTS CARRIED TO STATE PENITENTIARY

Officer J. H. Oswald of the State Convict department came up Tuesday from Wetumpka to get two Chilton County convicts, who were sentenced in the Circuit Court last week. He carried them to the penitentiary at Wetumpka.

He carried back with him Andrew Howard under a sentence of 18 months far grand larceny, and Perry Glass under a sentence of ten years for the murder of Jim Compbell. Glass has given notice of an appeal from the verdict of the court, but requested that he be allowed to go to the penitentiary and begin his sentence while waiting for a hearing on his apepal.

FROM REV. DEASON

In a letter to the Union-Banner Rev. T. J. Deason has the following to say:

"The Chilton County Baptist Association is over again. We had a good session. A number of visitors from the Unity and other associations were with us. We were very glad to have them. We received two new churches into the association—Refuge and East View.

"The Fifth Sunday Meeting will be held with Shiloh, 8 miles south of Clanton, Nov. 29th and 30th. The brethren will take due notice and be governed accordingly."

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Eubanks and children of Paducah, Ky., are visiting Mr. Eubanks' mother, Mrs. Jno. M. Robinson in Clanton.

Thoughts.

The eagle's a majestic bird,
And soars to dizzy heights,
Nor heeds the toiling world below
In his empyrean flights.

But when we chose the Eagle for
Our country's coin and seal,
Two bits would buy most anywhere
A fairly decent meal.

Still up and ever upward has
The cost of living gone
And bills of every household have Numerically grown.

And so be our nation's bird—
Most glorious post to fill.
"I dominate the pelican,
Because he's mostly bill."

What Is Rheumatism? Why Suffer from It?

Sufferers Should Realize That It Is a Blood Infection.

Doubtless like other sufferers, you have often asked yourself this question, which continues to remain unanswered.

Science has proven that Rheumatism is caused by a germ in your blood, and the only way to reach it is by a remedy which eliminates and removes these little pain demons. This explains why liniments and lotions can do no permanent good, for they cannot possibly reach these germs, which infest your blood by the millions.

S. S. S. has been successfully used for Rheumatism for more than fifty years. Try it to-day, and you will find yourself at last on the right track to get rid of your Rheumatism. For treatment of your individual case address Chief Medical Adviser, Swift Specific Co., Dept. 43, Atlanta, Ga.

MR. J. S. JONES WRITES AGAIN

Cooper, Ala., Oct. 20, 1919.
Editor Union-Banner:

When the last letter of Mr. G. W. Edwards was published in The Union-Banner on October 2, I did not at first think it worth while to make any answer. And I do not yet believe it needs answering for he has not advanced anything that the people do not understand. I am quite sure that everybody looks upon Mr. Edwards in his true light. Everyone knows that he is a character that is always out of joint raising objections to everything and giving to no movement of interest to the welfare of the people the undivided support that would become one who seeks to better the welfare of the county. This has been his method of procedure for many years past, and we all know it to be true.

I do not now intend to try to make any answer to what Mr. Edwards has written. It does not need any answer. But I merely want to call the attention of the people to a few of his recent assertions in order that you may give them especial attention and more accurately place Mr. Edwards in the position which he actually occupies with reference to the county affairs.

In the first place you will have to admit that Mr. Edwards stands convicted of the charge that he voted a Democratic ticket in the election in 1908, for he has never denied or attempted to prove that he did not vote it. Now I leave it to the people of the county as to what blame is to be placed upon Mr. Edwards for voting as he did in 1908.

I want to call your attention to his own words about the 1910 election. He says in his letter of Oct. 2: "In 1910 I voted a Democratic ticket and helped defeat L. H. Reynolds; and the greatest regret of my life is that I did not do the same thing in 1916."

I ask you to come back with me and let's see what happened to Chilton county as a result of the 1910 election. When Judge Reynolds was defeated in 1910 Judge Deason and his ring came into power in our county. We all know it was there our county fell from grace financially. Our money was all squandered in one way and another, and a debt of thousands of dollars was placed upon us for the building of roads that were never built. Everybody knows that by the election of Deason in 1910 and the defeat of Judge Reynolds our county was financially ruined.

Yet, I would have you remember that Mr. Edwards says he had a part in bringing about his defeat of Judge Reynolds and the consequent disruption of our county financial affairs. In my mind no man could make a more fatal admission than to say that he was a party to the things that brought on our county the awful conditions that came with Judge Deason's administration.

But that is not all. Mr. Edwards makes bad matters the worse by saying that he has a great regret that he did not do the same thing again in 1916. Think of it people. A man as Mr. Edwards does, saying that he hepled ruin this county in 1910 by voting for Deason, and then adding that he would have delivered us over again to the same preying vultures in 1916. My candid opinion is that there is no justification for such a man in the minds of the people of Chilton county. We all know too well the results of the 1910 election; and when a man rises up and openly acknowledges that he had a part in bringing those things upon Chilton county,we know that he cannot be trusted in anything. Mr. Edwards was a traitor to the county in 1908; he was a traitor in 1910; he was a traitor in 1916; and for aught we know he is a traitor now. By his own acknowledgement of his past record he thwarts all the confidence of reliable men.

Mr. Edwards may hope to justify his treachery of the past years by bringing in his record and standing on such matters as the amendment, the bond issue, cow dipping, etc. I would remind you that at the time Mr. Edwards was helping stab the life out of Chilton county in 1910 and 1908 such questions as these had never been raised. And even after they did come up in later years, nothing that Mr. Edwards could have done in regard to them could have saved him from the condemnation he brings upon himself by his fatal admission that he helped put Deason in in 1910, and wished he could have put the same crowd back in again in 1916.

Now, I will leave Mr. Edwards to the just measure of the wrath that is his by virtue of his own crookedness in the politics of Chilton county. I feel sure now that he will soon realize that he is buried never to rise again in the minds of the people. He has been a traitor so much that he can never muster any further confidence with the people.

Respectfully,
J. S. JONES.

"THE HEART OF HUMANITY" IS STRONG LOVE-DRAMA

Ideal to Show Photoplay Teeming with Romance, on Friday and Saturday, Oct. 31, Nov. 1.

"The Heart of Humanity," Allan Houlbar's stupendous production, featuring Dorothy Phillips, is one of the season's biggest offerings.

With an appeal that strikes deep into the emotions, deeper perhaps, than anything that has ever been presented to the people of the civilized world in cinema productions, "The Heart of Humanity" is a picture that will live forever.

Proclaimed by press, public and the clergy in every city that it has been shown as the biggest production the screen has ever seen, the story is of love, love of man and wife, love of mother, love of child, and love of humanity.

"The Heart of Humanity" is beyond description, with mere words, but if you really want heart thrills and entertainment, if you want to see a love story that continues over two continents, if you want the chilly feeling down your spine that comes when you see a dog defending the honor of a woman when she is attacked by a Hunnish brute—then see "The Heart of Humanity."

Love forms the central theme of "The Heart of Humanity," and, as the title implies it is the story of all the living, breathing world. It is the story of the love that lives in a mother's heart of the love that dwells in the hearts of all sweethearts; of the love that exists in the hearts of all husbands and wives. It is the story of the grand passion which prompts humanity to do and dare for what is good and right, even to the extent of sacrificing life itself.

Dorothy Phillips, as Nannette, gives a marvelously intelligent interpretation of the stellar role. Surely, this talented young actress has traveled far since the days when she appeared in comedy roles. We venture the assertion that her work in this production justly entitles Miss Phillips to be regarded as o ne of the screen's foremost artists.

The widow Patricia, played by Margaret Mann is satisfying in every way. She represents every mother in the land and the manner in which she meets the heart wounds which are inflicted upon her will endear her to every man, woman and child who sees the production.

LIBERTY HILL SINGING SOCIETY

The Liberty Hill Singing Society met Sunday afternoon with a large crowd. The singing was a success. Services were opened with a song by chairman, Prof. J. W. Lowery. The committee arranged the program and the following directors sung fifteen minutes each: Sam Henley, J. M. Smith, Glover Smith, William Cox, Calvin Parrish and J. W. Lowery. A Ladies Quartett was sung by Misses Gertrude Smith, Claudie Smith, Zelma Lowery and Blanche Riggins.

Organists for the afternoon were Misses Lillie Smith and Zelma Lowery.

We had several visitors with us which we were very glad to see. We invite them to come again. We would be glad to have all the singers who will to join in with us.

The society meets on the First and Third Sunday afternoon of each month. We are expecting Prof. Patton and Prof. Collins, and several others to be with us on the First Sunday afternoon, Nov. 2nd.

Prof. Patton's school will start at this place Monday, November 3rd. We hope to have a fine school. We are sure he will do his best to make it a good school.

Compulsory Attendance School Law

ENACTED BY THE STATE LEGISLATURE OF ALABAMA.

Section 1. Every parent, person or other guardian in the State of Alabama, having control or charge of any child or children, between the age of eight (8) and sixteen (16) years, shall be required to send such child or children to a public school or to a private denominational or to parochial school, taught by a competent instructor, and such child or children shall attend school for the entire length of the school term in every scholastic year, provided that the city or county board of education, as the case may be, shall have power to reduce the period of compulsory attendance to not less than one hundred (100) days for any individual school, unless the school term for any such school is less than one hundred day, in which event the period of compulsory attendance shall be for the entire school term. The period of compulsory attendance shall commence at the beginning of the school, unless otherwise ordered by the county or city board of education, as the case may be, with the approval of the State board of Education.

Section 2. Any child or children fourteen (14) years of age and upward, who have completed the elementary course of study or the equivalent thereof, or who are legally and regularly employed under the provisions of the Child Labor Law, shall be exempt from the provisions of this Article, and in case there be no public school within two and one-half miles by the nearest traveled road of any person between the ages of eight and sixteen years, he or she shall not be subject to the provision of this Article, unless public transportation to within reaonable walking distance is provided.

Section 3. Any child or children who are physically or mentally incapacitated for the work of the school are exempt from this Article, but the school authorities shall have the right, and they are hereby authorized when exemption under the provision of this article are claimed by any parent, guardian or other person having control of any child or children, to require from a pacticing physician a properly attested certificate, that such child or children should not be required to attend school for some physical or mental condition which renders attendance impracticable or inexpedient.

Section 4. That in any case where the court before which any prosecution is brought for the violation of the provision of this article shall, at the inquiry find it a fact that the parents, guardian or other person having control of the child or children, is unable to provide necessary books and clothes in order that the child or children may attend school in compliance with law, such parents or guardian, or other person having the control of the child or children, shall be discharged, and such child or children shall be turned over to the Juvenile Court, or to the State Child Welfare Department to be dealt with as a dependent child.

Section 5. The County Board of Education shall arrange the county exclusive of the city into one or more attendance districts, and said board shall appoint an attendance officer for every district created, who shall reside in the district, and who shall hold his office at the will of the county board of education, and the board of education of each city of two thousand or more inbahitants, according to the last or any succeeding federal census, shall appoint one or more attendance officers to serve at the pleasure of appointed board, provided, this article shall be so interpreted as to make it possible for city and county boards of education boards of revenue and courts of county commissioners to jointly employ any person or persons to carry out the provisions of this Article and such additional duties as may be assigned them by such board or governing bodies, in connection with the Juvenile Court of the county or the state child welfare department.

Section 6. At the beginning of the annual period of compulsory attendance, the county superintendent of education or the city superintendent of schools, as the case may be, shall supply to each principal teacher in each school a list of all children between the ages of eight and sixteen years, who shall attend such school. At the end of the fifth day of the opening of the school, the principal teacher shall report to the county superintendent of education, who in turn shall report to the attendance officer of the attendance district, the names and addresses of all persons between the ages of eight and sixteen years, who have not enrolled in said school, and thereafter throughout the compulsory attendance period, the principal teacher of each school shall report at least weekly the names and addresses of all pupils between the ages of eight and sixteen years, who are absent and whose absence are not satisfactorily explained by the parents, guardian or other person having control of the child.

Section 7. It shall be the duty of the attendance officer to investigate all cases of non-enrollment and non-attendance reported to him in accordance with Section 6 of this article. In all cases investigated where no valid reason for non-enrollment or non-attendance is found, it shall be the duty of the attendance officer to give written notice to the parents, guardian or other person having control of the child, and in the event of the absence of the parent, guardian or other peron having control of the child, from his or her usual place of residence, the attendance officer shall leave a copy of the notice with some person over twelve years of age residing at the usual place of residence, with instructions to hand such notice to such parent, guardian or other person having control of such child, which notice shall require the attendance of said child at the school within three days from day of said notice.

Section 8. If within three (3) days after date of service of the notice the parent, guardian or other person having control of the child, does not comply with the provisions of this article, then the attendance officer shall make complaint in the name of the State of Alabama, against such parent, guardian, or other person having control of such child in a court of competent jurisdiction, which court shall hear and try all complaints, inposed fines, enforce their collection by imprisonment, if necessary, and fully execute the provision of this Article.

Section 9. It shall be unlawful for any parent, guardian, or other person having control of a child to fail to send such child to school as required by the provisions of this Article, and any parent, guardian or other person violating the provisions of this Article, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be fined in the sum of not less than five dollars ($5.00) nor more than fifty dallers ($50.00), and may be committed to the county jail for a term of not to exceed thirty days. All fines collected shall be paid into the county or city treasury, as the case may be, and it is hereby made the duty of the city attorney in their respective cities, and of all county and circuit solicitors, for their respective counties and districts to prosecute all complaints filed and actions brought under this Article.

Section 10. All school officers, including those in private, denominational and parochial schools in this State offering instructions to pupils within the compulsory attendance age, are hereby required to make and furnish all reports that may be required by the State Superintendent of Education, and by the County Superintendent of Education, or by the board of education of any city, with reference to the workings of this article. Every teacher employed in the schools giving instructions to pupils within the compulsory attendance age, shall, after October 1st, 1920, hold a teacher's certificate issued by the State Department of Education. Every teacher in a public school is hereby required before receiving each month's salary, to make a report to the county superintendent of education, or to the city superintendent of schools, as the case may be showing the names and addresses of all pupils who have been truant or otherwise irregular in attendance during the previous month, and stating the reason for such truancy or irregular attendance. All such information shall in turn be brought to the notice of the attendance officer by the county superintendent or by the city superintendent of schools, as the case may be, and the same shall be investigated by the said officer.

Section 11. In case any pupil has become habitually truant or because of irregular attendance or misconduct has become a menace to the best interest of the school which he is attending or should attend, then, it shall be the duty of the attendance officer to report such facts and conditions to the parent, guardian, or other person having control of such child, shall be held liable under the provisions of this Article for the regular attendance and good conduct of such child, unless such parents, guardian or other person having control of such child shall state in writing to the attendance officer that he or she is unable to control such child, whereupon such attendance officer shall proceed against such incorrigibile pupil as a disorderly person before a court of competent jurisdiction, and said child upon conviction may be sentenced, if a white boy to the Alabama Boys Industrial School; or if a white girl, to the State Training School for Girls; if a negro boy, to the Alabama Reform School for Juvenile negro law-breakers; or a negro girl to such custodian institution in the State as the Judge may designate and for such time as the court may decide; provided, that the maintenance of such child in the institution shall be paid as the law provides for the maintenance of such as are committed to the aforesaid institution. And in all cases where the child is so committed it shall be placed in charge of some suitable person designated by the court and conveyed under his directions to the designated institution, and the actual necessary expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the board of county commissioners or the county board of revenue; provided that a woman shall always be sent to accompany a girl to be committed.

Section 12. The attendance officer whose appointment is by this article provided for, shall keep an accurate record of all notices served all cases prosecuted, and all other services performed, and shall make an annual report of the same to the county board of education or to the city board of education by whom he is employed. The attendance officers who are employed by the county or city board of education shall be paid by the respective boards of education, such salaries as may be required to secure efficient service. Said attendance officer shall be paid as other employees of the county or city board of education are paid, but no attendance officer shall receive any compensation under the provisions of this act until he shall have filed such reports as are required by the State Board of Education and by the board of education of the county or city employing him.

Section 13. In order that the provisions of this Article may be more definitely enforced, the county superintendent of education or the city superintendent of schools as the case may be, shall not later than ten days before compulsory attendance term is to begin, furnish to each principal teacher of every school under his jurisdiction a list of the children between the age of eight and sixteen years, who should attend the school or schools under the charge of said principal teacher, giving the name, date of birth, age, sex, race, the name and address of parents, guardian, or other person in parental relationship; provided in the case of pupils living in cities the street and house number shall be given and in the case of all other pupils the estimated distance from the school house by the nearest traveled road shall be given.

Section 14. The information required under Section 13 shall be prepared by the county superintendent of education with the assistance of the attendance officer for the even number of years, from the census booklet in file in his office. In the odd number years, the list shall be prepared by the county superintendent of education with the assistance of the attendance officers, by collecting and supplementing the lists prepared and furnished the preceding years. To this end, the county superintendent of education shall make use of the information contained in teachers' registers, and such additional information as he may require from school trustees. In the case of the city superintendent of schools, the list shall be prepared by the even number of year from the duplicate census booklet in his possession. In the odd number years he shall prepare it, making use of the information contained in teachers' register, and such additional information as he may require from the attendance officer.

Section 15. In all public schools conducted under this act, twenty days with five days each week shall constitute a school month, and a school day, not less than six hours of actual teaching, exclusive of all recess or intermision periods, unless otherwise ordered by a county board or city board in authority.

U. S. SENATOR MILES POINDEXTER MAKES BID FOR PRESIDENCY

PLACES HIS PLATFORM BEFORE THE PEOPLE IN A WAY NEVER DONE BY A MAN BEFORE.

To the People of the United States:

This government was founded on the principles that no special class should control it;

The absolute security of every man under the law in his person and property;

The safeguarding of the general welfare of our people by keeping the government at all times under their own control, both as against any special class at home, and as against any foreign power or combintion of powers;

And the active use by the government, in the sphere of its action, of the full powers of the nation to protect every citizen, of whatever station he may be, both at home or in a foreign land, or on the sea, from unlawful injury to his person or his property by any individual or special class, or by any foreign power.

Every necessary agency of the government should be used to give complete protection to the lives and lawful rights of American citizens in Mexico; and the international duties we have assumed as to that country, by reason of our proximity, and as incidental to the Monroe Doctrine, at once, should be performed. The setsing out and withdrawing, without definite purpose or result, of military expeditions to Vera Cruz and other portions of Mexico, also as at Archangel and other portions of the world are criminal in their reckless disregard of life and national treasure expended without the possibility of any benefits whatever.

Alien slackers, who renounced their "first papers" of naturalization in order to escape military service, should be denied citizenship in the future, and should be deported without delay to the several foreign countries from which they came to the United States, in order that the opportunities they enjoy may be left for loyal citizens and soldiers.

Revolutionary communism by whatever name it may be called, must be met and put down wherever it appears, as subversive of liberty. There can be no compromise with anarchy.

The attempt of certain radical labor leaders to coerce Congress to enact legislation proposed by them, if successful, would be government by a class, as in Russia, and not "by the people," as in the United States. The threat to tie up transportation until the railroads are nationalized and delivered to the control of the employees, is successful, would be government by terror, for a special class.

The effort of certain radical leaders of labor organizations to secure control of the police force of the various cities of the country, if successful, would give to a small special class absolute control of officers of the law. It would give a certain class control of the enforcement of the law, and of governmental agencies established to preserve the peace. Its success would mean the abdication of the government in favor of a class, and the immediate establishment of dictatorship. It should not be open to debate or negotiation.

This nation cannot be ruled by capital, and it cannot be ruled by labor. Both capital and labor must be subject to the rule of the people. The government must be supreme.

The just claims of labor should be recognized and every oportunity possible should be given to laboring men and their families for comfort and happiness. The laboring man, above all others, is benefited by the preservation of law and order, the security of life, person, and property against violence and arbitrary rule. But the effort of any labor leader to put labor in control of the government, by means of industrial blockade, economic pressure, intimidation of violence, or so-called direct action, cannot be tolerated, any more than such an effort on the part of combined capital would be tolerated. Either would violate the cardinal principles of free government.

Communism is inconsistent with the vested right of a laborer to the wages of his labor. The right to work, to join or not to join a union, and to accumulate, or to use as one see fit and to transmit to his children the wages of his work, is an essential part of "life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness."

These esential elements of liberty are menaced by revolutionary doctrines. This revolutionary movement is international in its scope and purpose. It has received powerful encouragement from the administration. Many of its advocates have occupied high places in the government. Instead of encouraging a class dictatorship it is the business of the government to preserve the ordered liberty of the people, and to protect by every means in its power the institutions on which it is founded. Defenders and advocates of those who have been convicted by due process of law of crimes of violence, committed in pursuance of a revolutionary and communistic program, should be dismissed from government service.

The process of making a supreme sacrifice of America, and of "joining our fortunes with the fortunes of men everywhere" should be stopped. The opposite and ancient policy of our fathers must be restored,—of saving instead of sacrificing our great institutions, and of promoting in evey honorable way the interests of our people. The process of internationalizing our fortunes must be reversed and the separate interests of this nation, with due regard for the rights of others, must be cherished again.

America, in her mighty separate station which the fathers gave her, leader and champion of the new world, the friend of the old, must preserve her sovereign independence, as the one secure seat and refuge of genuine liberty.

Extravagancies produced by war, and governmental waste, must give way to a wise economy. Direct taxes upon industry and consumption ought to be reduced and supplemented by increased duties upon imports, and surplus revenues derived therefrom should be expended in a liberal extension of land reclamation and international improvement.

Radio communication between the United States and the rest of the world should be under American control; and full co-operation by the Navy Department towards that end should be assured.

An ample merchant marine under the American flag is esesntial to national prosperity. The merchant service and the fisheries afford a training school for seamen; and every facility for the development of these great essentials of national defense should be provided.

I favor an extensive system of national roads—built on approved engineering prinpicles created with a view to military defense as well as civil and commercial use, co-ordinate with existing highways so as to form a nationala s well as local system.

Peace with Germany should be declared at once.

The peace treaty should be stripped of the extraneous incumbrances that have been placed upon it; and which have so long delayed it, and the permanent burdens which it is proposed to place upon the United States in the conduct of European affairs should be at once rejected.

Every American soldier, except those engaged in diplomatic or other peaceful service, should be at once withdrawn from Europe and the continent of Asia; and the work of recruiting and transporting military forces of the United States for service in Siberia and Germany, and the plans being made for sending an American army to Turkey should be at once suppressed. The resources of our people and the activities of their government should be devoted to their own interests instead of to those of foreign nations.

The proposal which has been recently presented to the American people that the United States should become a trustee for the world should be denounced as destructive of liberty and ruinous to the American people, as well as injurious to the peace and safety of the world.

The formal proposal recently laid before the Senate, by which in the case of future emergencies, the American people cannot increase their army and navy without the unanimous consent and permission of a combination of foreign powers would violate the Constitution and surrender the sovereignty of the nation. It should be denounced as treasonable.

The Monroe Doctrine should be re-established in its full vigor; and the participation which it is proposed to give Europe in the control of American affairs should be denied.

Should a future exigency in European affairs again arise of such proportions as to menace the interests of the United States, the American people must be entirely free to determine for themselves in their own generation the extent and manner in which they shall intervene.

The recent assumption by certain officials of our government of jurisdiction of the settlement of foreign controversies, which are of but remote concern to us, has engendered racial animosities against the United States. We should cease officious meddling with other people's affairs. The ancient American doctrine of confining our participation in governmental matters to the American continent, while we stand as a friendly neutral to all nations with which we are at peace, should be restored.

The ancient policy under which we have enjoyed peace and prosperity, and attained greatness, with honest friendship and intimate social and commercial intercourse with the rest of the world, should be re-established.

The war being over, our people should be allowed to enjoy the peace which their victory won.

There is no "royal road" to happiness, either in governmental or personal affairs. Success must come from struggle and "eternal vigilence." It is a mistake to assume that a remedy can be found for all the illls of mankind. Certain fundamental truths of government have been evolved by experience and are fixed as the foundations of our institutions. To them we must adhere, and working upon that basis, in a healthy evolution, and not by revolution, we can adapt our laws and administration to the needs of the people as conditions develop; cleaving to the ancient principles of the Constitution. By so doing we shall preserve for ourselves and our posterity that happy state which we have attained among the nations of the earth.

I stand upon these principles, and shall make an active campaign for the nomination by the Republican Party for the office of President of the United States in order to present these issues to the people, and to attempt, if successful, to assist in reetablihing these principles in our domestic and foreign policy.

Respectfully,
MILES POINDEXTER.

NOTICE TO TEACHERS IN REGARD TO SALARY PAY

Mr. John C. Page, the county treasurer of the public school funds, requests us to announce to the teachers of Chilton County that they will draw their next pay checks at the office of the county superintendent of Education. After the next pay day, the checks will be issued by him at the First National Bank.

If any teacher wants his pay check sent to him by mail, he should so inform Mr. Page, sending postage for the mailing of the check. If teachers want their checks deposited to their credit in the First National Bank, they can so instruct Mr. Page, whereupon he will indorse the checks and deposit them and mail the receipt for the deposit to whom the check is payable.

DEAD SHOULD BE RETURNED

Representative Bland Insists Bodies of Soldiers be Brought Back.

Washington, Oct. 28.—Contending that the American soldiers who fell in France should be returned to this country for final burial, Representative Bland of Indiana has introduced a bill for the appointment of a Commission to remove the bodies of soldiers and marines to the United States.

An Agreeable Surprise.

"About three years ago when I was suffering from a severe cold on my lungs and coughed most of the time night and day, I tried a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and was surprised at the promptness with which it gave me relief," writes Mrs. James Brown, Clark Mills, N. Y. Many another has been surprised and pleased with the prompt relief affirded by this remedy.

ARMISTICE DAY TO BE OBSERVED NOVEMBER 11

"The schools of Alabama are preparing for the observance of a new day—Armistice Day, November 11. At that time, it is contemplated that every school and every patron and friends of education, shall do his part; first, in participating in the program that will prove a fitting tribute to the sacrifices of our soldiers and sailors; and second, in guaranteeing that every county raise its quota for the memorial fund to be used in erecting a building that will fittingly commemorate their brave deeds, said Superintendent of Education, Spright Dowell.

Every county superintendent and every city superintendent in the State has pledged his personal interest and effort; every teacher has agreed to heartily co-operate; the boys and the girls in many sections are already enthusiastic; numerous inquiries are coming to the department daily for literature, and from all indications, the State will experience a patriotic outburst on that day, the like of which has not been seen since November 11, 1918.

These are two unanswerable reasons for the observance properly of the day this year: First, the schools have been given the place of honor—the leading place in the raising of the quotas of the counties for the erection of the Memorial Building; second, the task in hand is worthy of the best efforts of our entire citizenship.

There have been numerous drives, perhaps all of them worthy, but there has never been a drive which should appeal so strongly to every loyal Alabamian as this, and on the appointed day there ought to be in every schoolhouse in Alabama a community gathering in which the deepest meanings of patriotism and the war will be recited, and appreciated, and along with which all come an individual offering for the perpetuation in lasting form of the glorious deeds of the war in which Alabama played such a leading and conspicuous part.

The program prepared for observance of Armistice Day in the schools will be distributed in time for the schools to make necessary preparations for its presentation.

WEST CHILTON

Beautiful autumnal days—time of the harvest home. "Daylight Saving law" gone.

Cattle dippnig done—people are smiling.

Rev. Gothard filled his appointment Sunday at Union Springs.

Eddie Atchison looked happy Sunday, as he motored north.

Mrs. Charles Howard and Miss Larkin of Thorsby have the school at Freeman. We congratulate the community in securing such efficient teachers, Mrs. Howard having previously taught here. She is one of the best this community ever had.

As per announcement in the Banner, Mr. Eshleman of Maryland reached here on the 22nd inst., and delivered two of the most beautiful lectures we ever heard. His eloquence, diction and rhetoric were just fine; his Biblical knowledge seemed the acme of perfection. He made no attempt at oratory, yet his graceful and easy flow of language held his hearers as if spell bound. His subjects were "The Lord's Prayer" and "The True Church." It was a rare treat to hear him. He closed his lectures with a forceful allusion to the approaching kingdom—the beautiful day,—the restitution of every thing—the desire of all nations. He left on No. 19 for Montgomery.

UNION GROVE

The literary school at this place is progressing nicely with Prof. Orville Martin as principal and Miss Daisie Robinson as Assitant.

We were glad to see so many at Sunday School Sunday. Everybody come next Sunday and bring some one with you, and let's make it a success.

Mr. and Mrs. Nellie Shaw visited Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Dorminey Sunday.

Mr. Bob Cofer and family spent Saturday night with Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Chandler.

Miss Orelle Robinson and Miss Myrtle Dorminey spent Sunday with Miss Bessie Chandler.

Miss Matfie Dorminey spent Sunday with Miss Mae Dorminey.

Mr. and Mrs. Nat Smith visited Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Conway Sunday.

There will be singing here Sunday by Prof. H. M. Eagle. Everybody is invited to come.

With much success to the Banner and its many readers, will close.

Charley Cox, who is building power lines for the Alabama Power Company in north Alabama, is at home for a few days this week. He is stationed at Guntersville now.

BAPTISTS PART IN 100 YEARS OF ALABAMA HISTORY

Dr. Charley Stakeley, pator of the First Baptist Church of Montgomery, will deliver a centennial address at the annual Baptist convention which will be held in Birmingham, November 11-14. His subjects will be "Baptists' part in 100 years of Alabama History." The centennial also will be observed by many other churches and organizations holding their state meetings within the present year.

Captain William T. Shehan, editor of the Montgomery Advertiser, will deliver the centennial address before the Presbyterian Synod at its annual session in Montgomery November 11-14. This address will be an interesting feature of the luncheon to the Synod to be given by the pastor and congregation at the First Presbyterian church at noon November 14.

Hon. Oliver D. Street, of Guntersville, will deliver the centenary address before the Masonic Grand Lodge which convenes at Montgomery early in December, when he will review the century's progress of the order.

On Alabama Day, December 14, a stone will be unveiled at Tuscaloosa, marking the site of the old state capital, now the Central Female College. Dr. Thomas M. Owen will deliver the centennial address and Colonel. Thos. C. McCorvey, dean of the academic faculty of the University, will read an original centennial poem.

Patriotic societies of Selma and citizens of Dallas County, have made all necessary arrangements for the placing of a stone upon the site of the first permanent capital, at Cahaba, though the date for the ceremony of unveiling has not yet been announced. The stone marking the territorial capital at St. Stephens will be erected at "Lover's Leap" overlooking the river at few hundred yards from where the ancient capital building stood. Plans for marking the colonial site at Mobile, the temporary capital at Huntsville and the present capital at Montgomery, are said to be well under way.

Under the direction of the Alabama centennial commission, three tentative programs have been prepared for use in the schools. One of these is a pageant for pupils of the senior grades, another is designed for pupils in the elementary grades, and the third is a general program of songs and recitations for the use of the entire schools in celebrating Alabama Day.

FOUND FOUNTAIN PEN

During the teachers institute some one left a Fountain Pen in the office of the County Superintendent of Education. The owner can get same at the Union-Banner office by furnishing the proper description and paying for this advertisement.

RINGLING BROS. AND BARNUM & BAILEY

Mammoth Shows are now Combined and Announce Exhibitions At Early Date.

The world's biggest amusement institution, Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Shows Combined, is to exhibit afternoon and night at Montgomery, Thursday, November 13.

The consolidation of the world's greatest shows and the greatest show on earth, in one circus of colossal size, constitutes the amusement surprise of the country. Nothing to approach this gigantic, new circus has ever before toured America. It has been formed by merging the pick and the cream of all that was biggest and best in the two famous shows. It would be folly to attempt to enumerate its many wonders. Some idea of the enormous scale upon which features are presented may be had when it is stated that a quarter of a million pounds of elephants take part in a single act; in other words—six times as many of the big-eared giants than have ever been seen in one maintent exhibition. All else to be seen is in proportion. The arenic stars embrace all the world's foremost circus performers. There are three hours of novelties and big sensational acts. The menagerie is far and away the most colossal ever traveled. For instance—a herd of eight giraffes are exhibited in place of the two or three shown in the past. The great tournament which opens the main-tent program, is the most magnificent thing in pageantry yet produced in America. Hundreds upon hundreds of gorgeously costumed odd characters and beautiful horses take part in it. The morning street parade is the longest and most brilliant ever given anywhere. It is a stupendous super-circus that baffles any descpirtion.

POLITICAL TREND IS STRONGLY TOWARD REPUBLICAN PARTY

All Signs Point Unerringly to Popular Endorsement When Votes are Cast.

SOUTH FAST FALLING IN LINE

Democratic Strongholds in Many Sections of Country, Now Turning Safer Policies.

Mrs. Emma Foshe 10-28-19

Washington, Oct. 28.—Having won a notable victory in Kentucky thru the election of a Republican to Congress to fill a Democratic vacancy, and having thoroughly alarmed the Democrats by reducing their majority in the seventh Alabama District from 3,600 to 400, the Republican leaders are now confidently awaiting the outcome of the various state elections which are scheduled for November.

Perhaps, the greatest interest centers in the Kentucky situation. The election in the Blue Grass state occurs on November 4, and there is every indication that the state will be placed firmly in the Republican column through the election of the entire Republican ticket. There are ample facts to justify this claim. The first conclusive indication of the rapid growth of Republicanism in Kentucky was the election of King Swope to Congress from a district long under the control of the Democrats. Recently there have been developments which have proved beyond a question that the election of Swope was not merely a political accident, but was in fact the foreshadowing of statewide success for the Republican ticket. Recent dispatches from Louisville, one of the most important centers of the state, show that for the first time in the hisory of he party, the Republicans have succeeded in registering a majority of the voters of that city. It is estimated that 5,000 more voters have registered in Louisville for the forthcoming elections as Republicans than ever before, and that this means that Louisville is safely in the Republican column.

Other reports as to the manner in which the contending gubernatorial candidates are being received are taken as indicative of the result next month.

On October 11, Governor Black, the Democratic candidate, appeared in Vandring, Ky., and his audience consisted of only twenty-six citizens, although his apeparance had been widely advertised. On the same date Edwin P. Morrow, the Republican candidate appeared in Hopkinsville, and was greeted by an audience of 5,000, while hundreds of others were unable to crowd into the hall.Many incidents similar to this and the fact that a large majority of the returning Kentucky soldiers are registering as Republicans, have led Representative Langley, one of the Republican Congressmen from Kentucky, to wire to Republican leaders in Washington, that the Morrow ticket will sweep the state.

Governor Coolidge's re-election in Massachusetts by a substantial majority is assured.

The Republican are also confident of success in New Jersey. In that State it is reported that while the Democrats have come through a bitter factional fight with a great many sore heads, there is no such situation with regard to the Republicans. They are absolutely united, and are making a sturdy campaign on a platform of a thorough business administration of the state's afairs, similar to the Edge administration. It is believed that this is what New Jersey wants and the Republican managers are pinning their faith upon it. International affairs are not an issue in New Jersey for the simple reason that Republicans and Democrats alike are against the League of Nations as constituted in the original covenant.

Although the Republicans in Washington are extremely hopeful of the results in November, they believe that the victories then achieved will give conclusive proof to the country that the present political trend is decidedly Republican, and that this trend will manifest itself even more pointedly with the approach of the Presidential campaign of next year.

OF INTEREST TO FARM READERS

BULL ASSOCIATIONS GROWING POPULAR.

By W. H. Eaton, Assistant Dairy Husbandman.

Prepared by Extension Service. Auburn, Ala.

Within the past ninety days twelve high class, purebred, dairy bulls have been brought in to Alabama for use in co-operative associatons. These bulls are in associations located in Hale, Dallas, Macon and Lee counties. Definite steps have been taken within the past month for the organization of six new associations in the counties of Madison, Coosa, Tallapoosa, Talladega and Baldwin.

The association plan appeals to the farmer with one cow as well as to the dairyman with a large herd. Co-operative bull associations are formed by farmers for the joint ownership, use, and exchange of purebred bulls. The purchase price and cost of maintenance are distributed according to the number of cows owned by each, thereby giving the farmer an opportunity to build up his herd at a minimum expense. The organization also helps its members to market dairy stock and dairy products, to fight contagious diseases of cattle intelligently, and in other ways assist in improving the dairy industry.

The bull association does not give something for nothing, but with an outlay of $10.00 can furnish a share in five purebred bulls. These bulls can not increase the production of the cows in a herd, but they can double the production of their daughters. The daughters of association bulls and grade cows can never be registered, but in all other respects they may be the equal of pure breds.

For plans of organization, communicate with your county agent or the office of Dairy Extension, Auburn, Alabama.

GET SEED POTATOES NOW.

Throughout Maine and other northern potato producing States, harvest is now on full blast. As the northern potato crop is below normal, both in acreage and yield, specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture recommend that the southern planters stock up immediately on seed potatoes for next spring's plantings.

IT CAN BE DONE RIGHT HERE IN CLANTON, ALA.

If there is something going wrong inside of you now you don't have to go off some place to have yourself looked into. Dr. Gragg has got the wherewithall to do the job in the form of a thoroughly modern and up-to-date X-Ray machine; and he also knows how to operate it too.

By special invitation the editor went down to the doctor's office last week and witnessed the making of an X-Ray picture from start to finish. It is a most interesting, scientific process, and is being done every day right here just as well as it can be done in any city.

Clanton and Chilton County should be proud of Dr. Gragg's spirit. By doing that kind of work here he saves many people lots of expense that they would otherwise have to incur in going away for X-Ray work.

Mr. W. Q. Childress and his daughter were visitors to The Union-Banner office on Wednesday. Mr. Childress informed us that his wife died last Friday after an illness that extended over a period of thirty odd years. The deceased lady leaves only Mr. Childress and the one daughter.

Many people are interested in foreing lettuce for the home for winter use. This can easily be done if the following directions are carefully carried out.

You should first select a place for a cold frame, facing the South or South east. It should be rather elevated so as to have protectiton in case of heavy rains and afford good drainage. The frames should be made by using 12" boards on the back and 8" boards on the front, making the bed from 4 ft to 6 ft. wide. If the standard sash are to be used, the frame should be six feet wide and some multiple of three in length, as the standard sash is 3 ft. x 6 ft. Sash are rather expensive and a cheap grade of cloth may be used as a substitute. This cloth should be stretched on a frame and placed over the bed at nights and on cold days.

The soil should be rather rich, composed of about two parts of sandy loam and one part of well rotted leaf mold or barnyard manure, mixed thoroughly and finely pulverized.

The rows should be 8" apart and the plants should be 8" apart in the rows to produce the best quality of head lettuce. It is not necessary to trans plant lettuce as good results have been obtained by sowing the seed in drills and thinning to the desired distance.

The best varieties to use are Han son and Big Boston, the first being preferred as it produces the curly leaf and a rather compact head.

In case the season is dry at the time the seed is sown, the beds should be watered each day to insure a good stand. As soon as the plants have produced the third leaf, they should be thinned. They should be cultivated closely and kept clean of weeds.

In case the disease, known as "dampening off," occurs the plants should be dusted about the base with equal parts of lime and sulphur and the bed should be allowed to become comparatively dry. This disease is recognized by the young plantlets tumbling over and, when examined appear to be rotted off at the surface of the ground.

Another disease that gives trouble is known as the "lettuce drop," which occurs about the time the plant is nearly mature, when all the leaves appear to have dropped to the ground and when examined it is found that the roots have all dried and rotted. There is no cure for this trouble but it may be prevented by watering the plants between the rows and not allowing them to become wet about the base of the stem.

Lettuce sown in October should be ready for eating by mid-winter. In case the plants do not grow as rapidly as you would like, you will find it desirable to water about once in two weeks with a solution of nitrate of soda, made by disolving one ounce of nitrate of soda in a gallon of water, applying this to an area of about three by six feet. Not more than two or three applications should be made during a growing season.

Man's Trouble Arrested

HARVESTING AND STORING THE SWEET POTATO CROP.

By J. C. C. Price, Associate Horticulturist.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

It is essential that much attention be given to harvesting and storing sweet potatoes as it is a valuable crop. The potatoes should be allowed to mature in order to produce a maximum yield and to develop high quality. It is also difficult to cure a potato which has not thoroughly matured. If a potato is broken and the surface turns white and dries in a few minutes, the crop is ready to dig.

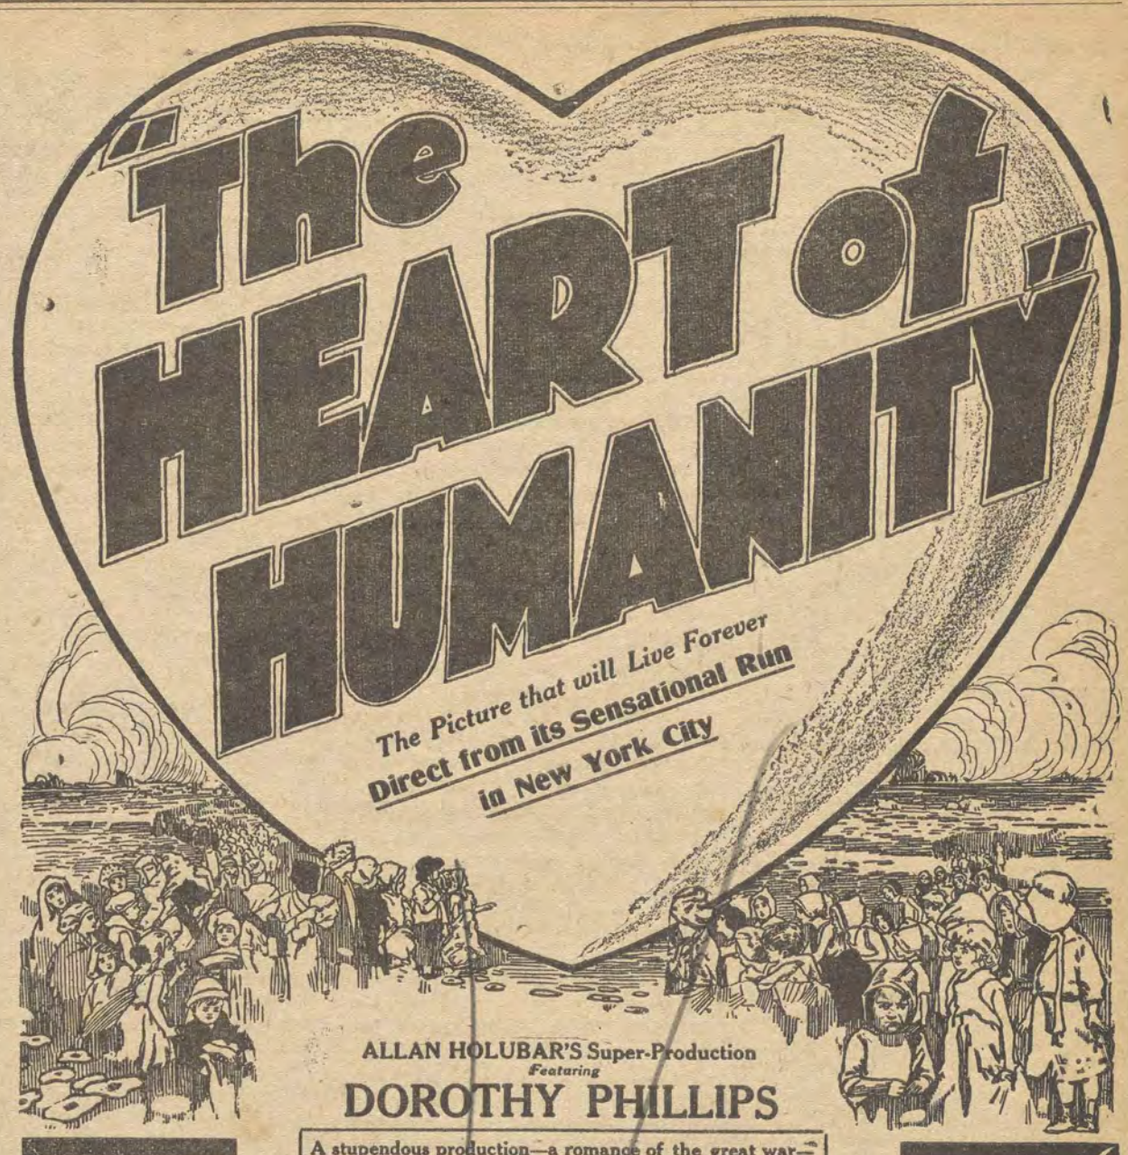
The old custom of waiting until frost kills the vines should not be followed as it is almost impossible to keep potatoes when the vines have been killed by frost and they are also dangerous for food. By referring to the annual killing frosts one can readily judge when he should get his potatoes out of the ground. The average killing frost for Alabama is about November 10th. This varies according to latitude, however.

In getting the potatoes out of the ground one should be careful not to bruise or cut them as any bruised or cut places make them more difficult to keep. It will be much easier to dig the potatoes if the vines are first removed, and this is easiest done by using a six foot McCormack hay rake, letting the mule walk between two rows and cleaning the vines from two rows at a time. A good digging implement should be used. The old method of using scooter plows or small turning plows should be abandoned and a large potato digger with pronged mould board should be used. If the above digger cannot be obtained one may get fairlly good results by using a good sized middle buster running deeply under the rows. In dry, hard ground sometimes the digging is made easier by first barring off the rows with a turning plow.

When the potatoes are turned out they should be picked up and placed in layers on the ridges so as to dry, making the soil easier to remove as often when the ground is wet it clings to them badly. Baskets lined with old sacks should be used in picking up the tubers, as when handled in this manner they are not so badly bruised. Careful sorting should be done in the field, all broken or badly bruised potatoes being left behind and only the good ones taken to the storage house.

If a storage house is used for storing the potatoes, the fire in the house should be started so as to thoroughlly dry it and raise the temperature to about ninety degrees with the doors, windows and ventilators open.

If you have more than one variety of potatoes to place in the storage house the juicy, or Yam type, potatoes should be dug first as they require more curing. If you have all of one variety the bins should be filled uniformly around each day as those in the bottom of the bin cure slower than those on the top.



All the time that curing is going on the temperature should be kept up, as stated above, with the doors and windows open. With a little experience it is easy to determine when the potatoes are properly cured. The skin will have a dry, spongy feeling, with the cut or bruised places well calloused.

When the potatoes are cured, the temperature should not be lowered immediately but gradually, extending over a period of about two days. If the temperature is lowered immediately and the house closed it will cause a sweating which is liable to start mould or rot. The curing period usually last eight or ten days. After the potatoes are well cured the temperature is lowered to fifty or sixty degrees and it should be maintained at this temperature, if possible, throughout the year. At no time should the temperature be allowed to drop below forty-five degrees and it is better if it is kept above fifty. The house ought to be visited frequently after the curing period and if the temperature is too low, raise it by opening the house on a bright, warm day or lighting an oil stove and letting it run for a few hours. The house should be ventilated or opened up at least once a week, that is if the weather permits. On cloudy, cold days it is better to keep the house closed and open only on bright, sunny days.

Many people claim not to be able to build storage houses or that they may have such small quantities that they do not feel justified in building a house. Quanities from a few to twenty-five bushels may be cured in their dwelling house by first drying the potatoe in the sun for ten days to two weeks and then carefully packing them into small boxes that have been lined with paper and setting them one on top of the other in the store room. In case of freezing weather, a small oil stove may be used to keep the store room sufficiently warm.

People desiring further information on this subject may write the Department of Horticulture, Auburn, Alabama, for Bulletin 197.

The C. C. H. S. foot ball team will play the Dallas County High School Team on the Clanton ground Friday afternoon. Come out and root for our home team.

RED CROSS GIVES FULL ACCOUNTING

War Council Tells How Millions Contributed by Public Were Used For Relief.

BIG TASK IS DESCRIBED

In Twenty Months $154,000,000 Was Spent Overseas and $119,000,000 in the United States.

Washington. (Special.)—Through a complete report of the work of the American Red Cross in the war by Chairman Henry P. Davison, on behalf of the war council, the organization on the eve of its annual enrollment of members during the Third Red Cross Roll Call, November 2 to 11, has rendered an accounting of the many millions given it by the American people to help our fighting men and our allies. The statement is, in part, as follows:

"The war council of the American Red Cross is now prepared to make a complete accounting to the American people of money contributed and expended, as well as the work done by the American Red Cross during the period in which the war council was in control of its affairs. The war council was appointed May 19, 1919, and went out of existence February 28, 1919.

"It was the practice of the war council to give complete publicity to its policies and finances, but it is only now that a picture of the war period as a whole can be presented. It is the feeling of the war council that a report in this summarized form should be made directly to the public which provided the money and gave the effort which made the American Red Cross a success.

"A statement of the American Red Cross effort and finances since the war council relinquished its control will be made to the public through the executive committee, and it is important, therefore, that the fact that this report covers the period only until March 1, should be carefully noted."

Following are certain round figures covering American Red Cross participation in the war, as revealed by the war council's report:

Constipation.

The beginning of almost every serious disorder is constipation. If you want to enjoy good health keep your bowels regular. This is best accomplished by proper diet and exercise, but sometimes a medicine is needed and when that is the case you will find Chamberlain's Tablets are excellent. They are mild and gentle in their action, easy and peasant to take. Give them a trial. They only cost a quarter.

SENATOR POINDEXTER ANNOUNCES FOR PRESIDENCY.

For the first time in American political history a man of high standing in public life has announced himself as a candidate for the nomination for the presidency of our country, and has placed before the people of the country a statement of the principles he supports. This was done by Senator Miles Poindexter, of the State of Washington, whose anouncement was given to the press a few days ago.

With due appreciation of this innovation, because it gives the people of the country ample opportunity to study and discuss the issues and the man presenting them, we have secured from Senator Poindexter copies of his platform, and are publishing same in this issue of The Union-Banner.

We hope other aspirants for either the Republican or Democratic nomination will pursue a similar course. Because government of the people, for the people and by the people, will be promoted by early and full discussion of the principles, official records and qualifications of men who are probable nominees for the highest public service.

It is our hope that there will be a frank and friendly discussion of the views of all active or tentative candidates—frank in the sense that Republicans will not hesitate to differ from those to whom they are personally friendly; and friendly in the sense that every effort will be made not to arouse animosities, but to nourish a spirit which will unify the party when the nominations have been made.

We refer our readers to Mr. Poindexter's platform in this paper. We want you to read and study it. We think the people should be glad that the time is coming when we shall all know what a man is before we fall in for him as our President. That is where we have suffered sorely in the past—by having men whom we did not know, nominated and elected to our highest office.

For this reason we commend the political innovation inaugurated by Senator Poindexter in announcing eight months before the national convention his candidacy for the Republican presidential nomination, accompanied by a frank and exhaustive statement of his political views. We believe that he is to be congratulated upon his courage, frankness and his thorough Americanism in an able and modest presentation of his views upon pending public questions.

THERE'S A REASON.

The election of the Democratic nominee at the special election held in the Seventh Congresional District of Alabama was heralded by the administration press as "clear cut victory, with the League of Nations as the issue." In the light of complete returns the Seventh Alabama District has been dropped by Democrats as it were a hot potato. There's a reason.

Representative Fess, chairman of the Republican National Congressional Committee, explains the why of the dropping. In 1915 that district was reshaped with a view to making it more comfortable for Democratic candidates. Two Republican counties, Franklin and Winston, were placed elsewhere, while Blount County, very strongly Democratic, was put in their place. As a result the Democratic maority in 1916 was 3,633. At the special election recently held the democratic majority was 406. The Democratic National Committee, according to Mr. Fess, placed its own man in charge of the campaign; five of the Alabama delegation in Congress as well as speakers from other Southern states, were sent into the district, and every effort was made to roll up a normal majority for the democratic nominee, which was to be heralded as a notable victory for the league.

The heralding came off all right, but the expected Democratic majority did not. With that dwindled from 3,663 to 406, there has been a let-up on heralding—and also of talk a bout the Seventh Alabama in administration and league circles—N. Y. Herald.

Some Facts About Clanton Which We Ought to be Ashamed to Admit

The community problem, or the town problem, is an inexhaustible source of thought for the mind that is given to the custom of meditating and pondering upon the same. However good we may think our town is there are some things about it that we are constrained to hold as more or less detrimental. And however bad we may have the town and its people calculated, there are always some redeeming virtues. Every bitter has its sweet and every rose its thorn.

We don't know how it would seem to live in a place where there were more roses than thorns. And we don't believe you know either. On the other hand most of us have had the visible experience of life in places where the bitter out-weighed the sweet.

It is not to be suggested or even supposed that anyone person could exercise the power to convert all the thorns in Clanton into roses; nor is anyone individual responsible for the existence of all the thorns. We do not expect ever to see this town, nor any other town on earth, shed all its bad qualities and turn into Utopia. But it is reasonable and right to hope and strive that we might attain that happy medium wherein it might be said of our town that the good and evil are proportionate. Now by good and evil we do not mean literally piety and crime as would be defined by the laws of morality. We mean the broader application as would be included in the term good of the community—moral, commercial, educational and religious progress. By our use of the opposite term we mean those stale reactionary unprogressive, out of date methods and ideas that some of us still labor under.

There are many things we might do and not do that would make Clanton a better place to live in. We ought to believe in ourselves and our town and our fellow townsmen. We ought to boost instead of knock.

Why, if a stranger should come into our town and ask some of our citizens if we have a high school here they would say no; and if they did say yes, they would not say whether it is a good school, a bad school, or neither good nor bad. They would not take the trouble to inform the stranger who the Principal is or where he could be found. It may sound unbelievable, but there are people right here in Clanton who are guilty of having done this very thing. Why they do it we do not propose to tell you.

And if our strange visitor should be one of those spiritually dejected looking characters, inquiring for a church at which he might attend the Sunday morning service, he could very easily find someone who could tell him there are a couple of churches here, but he would most surely be also infarmed that in the opinion of his informant neither one of them is worth attending. The pastors of the churches would be held up as worthless and the whole church business a farce. The result is that the stranger goes on in his evil mood and by the time he gets to the next town he is ready to plunder somebody's house; or maybe he knocks somebody in the head and commits robbery on the way.

How much better would it be for Clanton and those who come here from other places if we could meet the stranger on a Sunday morning, tell him what fine churches and what fine preachers we have and carry him out to one of the worshiping places with us. Of course he wouldn't be very highly impressed with our church houses but we could show him that we have the right spirit (if we had it ourselves.)

A few weeks ago when the Bonds Brothers came here to promote the sale of a certain farm near Clanton they inquired if there was a town band here. They always have bands at their sales to make a merry time for the visitors. Somebody here (we wish we knew who) told Mr. Bonds there was no band in Clanton. He said: "They tried to get up one here a while back but fell through like they fall through with everything in Clanton. The leader was no good, the boys did not take any interest and there was nothing to it."

Now can you imagine a man in Clanton telling a stranger such a thing as that, in the face of the fact that the Clanton Boy Scouts have had a band organized and practicing regularly for over six months? They played at the barbecue here July 4th, they have played on the streets and at the picture show numbers of times. What is the matter with a citizen who will tell such things as that fellow did about the band? We don't know what is the matter with him, but we do know that what is the matter with Clanton is that we have got too many people here like him. Those are the thorns we spoke about.

It is humilitating to our boys to have people right here in town show so little interest in the valuable piece of work they are striving hard to accomplish. And besides it add to Clanton's disfavor in the eye of the world.

If a fellow out in the country gets down with appendicitis and his own friends rush to Clanton to get a doctor, some city-wise guy meets him and promptly assures him that there is not a doctor in town that is capable of treating that ailment and succeeds in convincing him that said afflicted person must be carried to some doctor in Birmingham or elsewhere, or else he will die. You could find few who are ready to praise our doctors for the lives they have saved. It is always a cussing they get because somebody died.

If Mr. Comer comes along looking for a place to locate one of his cotton factories, some Clanton sage "shoos" at the idea and says it would never do because if we had a factory here our children would have to go to school with the tallow-faced children of the cotton mill people. The result is that Mr. Comer does just what any sensible man would do—builds his mill some place where the people appreciate the value of such an industry.

If the Alabama Power Company comes along and proffers to supply us with juice from Lock 12 about the first fellow they meet tells them that there aint no use to come here. He says, "Why, aint nothin doing here for the power business. That fellow Alvie Wade has been tryin it for years and has bout starved his wife and chillun to death dependin on it, when there's nothin to it. Nobody hardly uses the stuff and them that does use it don't pay for it. The town won't pay for its street lights and part of the time they don't have none." The result is that the Alabama Power Company goes on to Selma with its line, and the high powered juice passes Clanton up at forty to nothing.

A big lumberman comes along and wants to locate his mill here to cut the millions of yellow pines that cover the hills of the eastern part of the county. But he runs across one or two of the town grouchers and gets their story of the place. He inquires of some land owner about a location. The landowner says to himself: "Now is my time to make a killing. That guy is rich. His firm has got money to burn. I will grab my stake from him and be fixed up for the rest of my days." But Mr. saw mill man is not such a fool as he was calculated. The result is that he puts his mill up at Lomax, and all that Clanton ever gets out of it is a couple of telephone wires coming here to connect on to the Bell system.

A man comes to town to buy an article and fails to find it at the first store he inquires in. He asks the merchant where he can find it, and here is about what he is told: "You might find that down at so-and-so's store, but I want to tell you confidentially, you better mind how you fool around down there. The clerks ain't honest. They will short-change you. They have got shot in their scales and chalk in their flour. My advice to you would be to stay away from there. Just wait a few days and I will have in some of the things you want." The result is that the customer goes back home and sends the kids over to the neighbors to borrow the Sawbuck and Co. catalog. He sits down and looks up what he wants. He finds it and also many other things he had never thought about. Ever afterward that man's money goes via mail order route and skips Clanton clear light, except the three cents that Grover Harris gets for writing the money order.

A promoter of some kind hits the town and needs some means of advertising his business. The first leisurely person he meets he naturally inquires where the newspaper office is and is told: "Well, we've got a couple of 'em here, but one of 'em shut up long ago cause nobody would read the thing, and tother one aint no count. They don't print nuthin but lies and politics and everybody is quittin it too." The result is that said promoter, needing advertising matter in two days, remembers a friend in the city who can do that and sends it down to him in time for his needs. And so, there goes the order out of Clanton and when Saturday night comes the boss at the print shop has not got that ten dollars to pay the devil off with. And when the first of the month comes he has not got it to pay his grocery bill with. And something else is connected with this incident too. On Thursday night after supper that same leisurely person, who has our thanks for talking so nice about our newspaper stalks across the street to the neighbor's house "to borrow your Banner if you are through with it."

D. Norris of Marbury, Vice-President of the Coosa County Mica Co., was in Clanton Monday. Mr. Norris says his company is getting well organized for operations in the mining and manufacture of mica. They have mines near Dadeville, Alla.

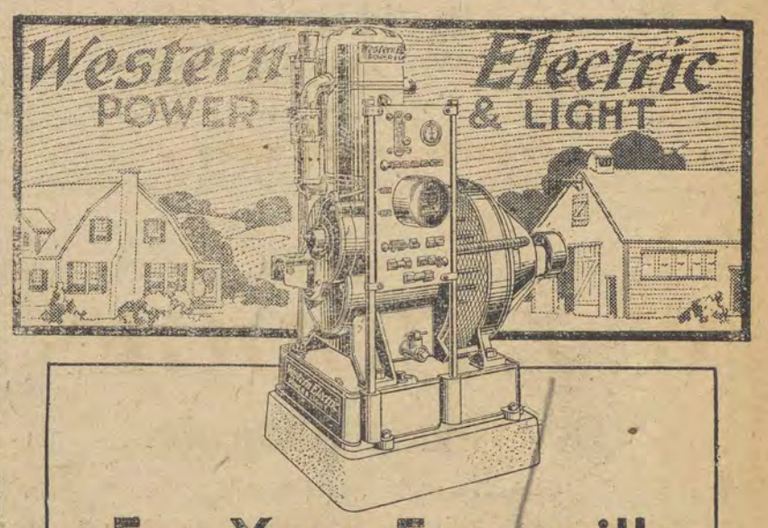
PALMER SEEING VISIONS

Attorney General's Statements Not Borne out by Statistics.



Washington, October 28—Attorney General Palmer continues to have visions of large declines in the cost of living. In Philadelphia this week the Attorney General insisted that throughout the United States the cost of food has fallen nearly 25 per cent.

Comment here is to the effect that the Attorney General to have discovered this phenomenon. It is not now borne out by the Department of Labor whose statistics convey a radically different impression, and in fact, in the case of many food articles, show increases.

THE HEART OF HUMANITY IS A STRONG LOVE DRAMA

Ideal Theatre to Show Photo---Play Teeming with Romance, on Friday and Saturday, Oct. 31st and Nov. 1st.

"The Heart of Humanity," Allan Houlbar's stupendous production, featuring Dorothy Phillips, is one of the season's biggest offerings.

With an appeal that strikes deep into the emotions, deeper, perhaps, than anything that has ever been presented to the people of the civilized world in cinema productions, "The Heart of Humanity" is a picture that will live forever.

Proclaimed by press, public and the clergy in every city that is has been shown, as the biggest production the screen has ever seen, the story is of love, love of man and wife, love of mother, love of child and love of humanity.

"The Heart of Humanity" is beyond description, with mere words, but if you really want heart thrills and entertainment if you want to see a love story that continues over two continents, if you want the chilly feeling down your spine that comes when you see a dog defending the honor of a woman when she is attacked by Hunnish brutes, then see "The Heart of Humanity."

Love forms the central theme of "The Heart of Humanity," and as the title implies it is the story of all the living, breathing world. It is the story of the love that lives in a mother's heart, of the love that dwells in the hearts of all sweethearts; of the love that exists in the hearts of all husbands and wives. It is the story of the grand passion which prompts humanity to do and dare for what is good and right, even to the extent of sacfiricing life itself.

Dorothy Phillips, as Nannette, gives a marvelously intelligent interpretation of the stellar role. Surely, this talented young actress has traveled far since the days when she appeared in comedy roles. We venture the assertion that her work in this production justly entitles Miss Phillips to be regarded as one of the screen's foremost artists.

The widow, Patricia, played by Margaret Mann is satisfying in every way. She represents every mother in the land and the manner in which she meets the heart wounds which are inflicted upon her will endear her to every woman, man and child who sees the reproduction.

FIVE AUTO ACCIDENTS IN CLANTON IN LAST WEEK

Last Saturday must have been the record day for automobile accidents in Clanton. We have recorded four happening here. Fortunately none of them resulted seriously, but some of them were very dangerous.

The first one we noticed was the little girl of Joe Baker driving a car, ran into another car in front of Taylor's store on Main Street. No material damage was done to the cars, and no one was hurt.

The next one on the list was Monroe Wyatt with his Ford and Elmer Harris on a bicycle, engaging in some kind of a mix-up. The damage in this case was not much. The bicycle seems to have got the worst of the deal, as the Ford got on top of it, no one being hurt.

About the most dangerous accident was when a Ford driven by Allen Mims hit Sheriff Gore and came very near resulting in something serious. It occurred in front of the post office. When the car struck Mr. Gore, he caught on to it in some way and kept himself from falling under the machine. He hung on to the side of the car and was carried several feet before it was stopped. Luckily, no one was seriously hurt, but the escape was mighty narrow.

Next thing was a car driven by Mr. Claud Baker, went wild and came very near running right through the plate glass front of Upchurch Drug Store. He was driving down Main Street when he lost control of the car and it turned right across the side walk and landed against the corner wall of the Drug Store. No one was hurt; slight damage done to the car.

On Sunday Frank Callen was cranking a car and it flew off the handle. He kept on cranking and cranked himself in the face. The result was a couple of teeth knocked out.

Tuesday Mr. W. M. Poole was slightly hurt when he was caught between two cars at the garage and mashed most too hard to be very pleasant.

This is an unusual number of accidents for such a short time, and is due to a lot of carelessness on the part of somebody. There ought to be more care exercised in the manipulation of cars here on Saturdays when the streets are crowded.

THOUGHT MY LIVER WAS ON STRIKE

Head Was Giddy; Spots Danced Before My Eyes; Breath Foul; Was Tired and Drowsy. Dreco Wiped It Out.

"I have suffered for quite a while with sluggish liver; at times I would get so dizzy I would have to stop and sit down; spots would dance before my eyes; I had headaches and a bad taste in my mouth; my appetite became poor, and my food did not digest nor give me strength; my stomach was often sour, while gas and bloating caused me much uneasiness. The pains often extended around to my back and limbs so that it was an effort to keep on with my work," says Mr. V. T. Burton of 1001 Lambert Ave., Mobile, Ala.

"There was so much talk about and praise being given Decro I decided to try it. The first bottle proved to me it was a good medicine, as it soothed my stomach and relieved the gas-forming. I continued the treatment, and never have a dizzy spell nor see the spots before my eyes; my bowels act regular; my appetite is fine, and the food digests and gives me strength. I don't have any more pains in my back or limbs, and haven't had a headache in a long time. Dreco is a good medicine, and I gladly add my words of praise for it."

Dreco acts on the liver in a smooth, gentle manner, gradually working off the excess bile day by day. It is neither strong nor harsh, and does not excite the muscles of the bowels, as strong cathartics do. It tones up the digestive organs and relieves gas on the stomach; puts an end to constipation; increases the appetite; gives strength to weak kidneys; restores tired nerves, and induces sound sleep. Dreco is a great blood purifier and system cleanser.

UPCHURCH DRUG CO., Clanton.

Why Suffer?

Mrs. J. A. Cox, of Alderson, W. Va., writes: "My daughter . . . suffered terribly. She could not turn in bed . . . the doctors gave her up, and we brought her home to die. She had suffered so much at . . . time. Having heard of Cardui, we got it for her."

CARDUI

The Woman's Tonic

"In a few days, she began to improve," Mrs. Cox continues, "and had no trouble at . . . Cardui cured her, and we sing its praises everywhere." We receive many thousands of similar letters every year, telling of the good Cardui has done for women who suffer from complaints so common to their sex. It should do you good, too. Try Cardui. E-77

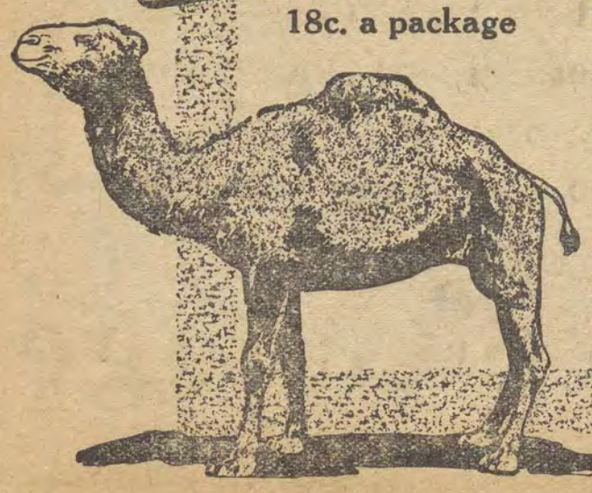
MICKIE SAYS

Camel CIGARETTES

CAMELS supply cigarette contentment beyond anything you ever experienced! You never tasted such full-bodied mellow-mildness; such refreshing, appetizing flavor and coolness. The more Camels you smoke the greater becomes your delight—Camels are such a cigarette revelation!

Everything about Camels you find so fascinating is due to their quality—to the expert blend of choice Turkish and choice Domestic tobaccos.



You'll say Camels are in a class by themselves—they seem made to meet your own personal taste in so many ways!

Freedom from any unpleasant cigaretty after-taste or unpleasant cigaretty odor makes Camels particularly desirable to the most fastidious smokers. And, you smoke Camels as liberally as meets your own wishes, for they never tire your taste! You are always keen for the cigarette satisfaction that makes Camels so attractive. Smokers realize that the value is in the cigarettes and do not expect premiums or coupons!

Compare Camels with any cigarette in the world at any price!

18c. a package

Camels are sold everywhere in scientifically sealed packages of 20 cigarettes or ten packages (200 cigarettes) in a glassine-paper-covered carton. We strongly recommend this carton for the home or office supply or when you travel.

HEALTH BONDS TO FIGHT THE PLAGUE

The Alabama Anti-Tuberculosis Campaigners Plan for Big Christmas Seal Sale.

GENERAL STEINER CHAIRMAN

Assurances of Support Beeing Received From All Over the State.

Birmingham, Ala.—"Buy a bond" will again be a slogan in Alabama this fall. Instead of Liberty Bonds, you will be asked to buy "Health Bonds," which, along with the Red Cross Christmas Seals, will be sold in the interest of the fight against the Great White Plague—tuberculosis.

"Health bonds," and Christmas Seals are expected to bring in a fund of $200,000 with which to combat the ravages of tuberculosis.

A $5 "health bond" will be equivalent to 500 Red Cross Christmas Seals, a $10 bond to a 1,000 seals, and so on in denominations of $25, $50 and $100.

"Monthly health coupons," which buyers may clip from their bonds, indicate some of the ways in which contributions will be used, among which are the maintenance of local anti-tuberculosis association, tuberculosis sanatoria, care of tuberculous soldiers, open air schools, preventoriums and children's camps, vocational training for cured and arrested cases, research work and tuberculosis surveys, tuberculosis clinics, tuberculosis visiting nurses, annual physical examinations, a modern health crusade and health education.

Gen. Steiner Heads Campaign

The Alabama organization for the sale of seals and bonds has been completed under the leadership of Gen. R. E. Steiner of Montgomery, general chairman of the campaign. Oscar Wells is state treasurer, Dr. George H. Denny of the university first vice-chairman, Mrs. W. P. McAdory, second vice-chairman, Dr. George Eaves, campaign secretary, and P. B. Warner, state campaign director.

Assurances of support on the part of various organizations have been received at campaign headquarters here. Charles T. Abrams, secretary of the Alabama Travelers' Protective association, has pledged the assistance of every member of the T. P. A. and of the United Commercial Travelers. Charles Pfiester, secretary of Magic City Camp No. 4, Woodmen of the World, declared recently that the 1,000 members of that organization here would help the cause. Dr. T. W. Palmer, president of the Alabama Girls' Technical Institute at Montevallo, has pledged the support of that institution and many similar assurances have been received from individuals and organizations.

Judge James Parrish of Montgomery has accepted the position of chairman in that county. The Fayette County organization will consist of Judge J. Alex Smith, chairman; R. L. Reeves, superintendent of schools, vice-chairman; and Turner A. Wilson, publicity director. In Lamar County, Judge J. T. Maddox will serve as chairman, G. S. Smith, superintendent of schools, vice-chairman, and L. C. Wright, publicity director.

150,000 DIE EVERY YEAR

Red Cross Christmas Seals Will Help Fight Plague.

Birmingham, Ala.—Doing its part in the greatest health educational campaign this country has ever known in an effort to check the increase of tuberculosis, the Alabama Anti-tuberculosis League calls upon people in every section of the state this year to help the cause by buying Red Cross Christmas seals and "health bonds."

There are 1000 local organizations in the movement, every one of them working with the National association in New York to combat the disease at every angle.

Tuberculosis has maintained its steady drain on the country in spite of the efforts of the National Tuberculosis Association and the allied local organizations, but next year, with the funds obtained from the Seal sale, it is planned to enlarge the scope of the fight in every way.

150,000 Die Every Year.

According to the announcement made by the National Tuberculosis Association, 150,000 persons are killed each year by the disease. Of this number 12,000 are children. It was also stated that $500,000,000 is wasted annually by the ravages of the disease.

There are, each year, more than 1,000,000 cases of tuberculosis reported throughout the country. That there are actually more victims is certain, however, for it is believed that state and city boards of health do not receive reports of anywhere near the number of cases in their jurisdiction.

NOT SICK AND NOT WELL

In The Peculiar Situation Described, ZIRON Iron Tonic Is Found Helpful.

It often happens that the organs of your body do not function properly, for some reason or other. There is nothing really wrong, and you are not sick. But certainly you are not well, either.

If you are in such a condition, read what Mr. Wm. M. Bass, Rt. 1, Crossville, Ala., did, and try Ziron Iron Tonic, as he did. Mr. Bass says:

"I am nearly always pretty well and strong and do not need much medicine excepting for headaches. But, recently, when I had not been feeling very well for a while, I knew I needed some sort of medicine to make me all right.

I took Ziron and it made me strong and well again."

Ziron puts iron into the blood, and, by doing this, may prevent a serious attack of illness, which you are liable to "catch" at any time if your system is weakened or your condition below par.

Ziron has well proven its value as a tonic. Try it when you feel the least bit out of sorts, not quite as good as usual, tired and weary.

WHAT THE PRESS AGENT SAYS ABOUT D. M. ATWOOD SHOWS

The D. M. Atwod Shows come here to play a week engagement, highly recommended. They have own train of ten cars and ten shows, that are claimed by Mr. DeHaver, their special agent, to be far superior to the average run of Carnival Shows. Many new and novel attractions that have been featureda t many State Fairs for the past three seasons. The merry-go-round has no equal to it. The latest, most brilliant, that is on the road.

The feature show is Roberta, the young lady who entertained the boys over there with her classic entertainment. They carry every thing to make a street fair a success, for the benefit of the Grammar School.

The Greatest Gift.

A woman's heart is a wonderful thing
It is made of molten gold.
It is is staunch and true
As the heavens blue,
And the love there never grows old.
Within this heart is an endless world
Of felt but unseen things—
They live and grow,
That we may know—
That love is the king of kings.

A woman's heart is a safety vault,
Where you deposit life, your whole
She turns the key
That none may see,
And guards it with her soul.
This same heart is an endless thing,
It grows and expands with years.
'Tit tender and strong,
Forging the wrongs
That brings the bitter tears.

A woman's heart is the greatest gift
God ever gave to man.
'Tis his strength, his life,
Through sunshine and strife,
His soul is in her hands.
I would rather have a woman's heart
Than all the world and its gold;
For 'tis staunch and true
As the heavens are blue,
And the love that never grows old.

EMBROIDERY CLUB ENTERTAIN

Mrs. Alva Wade delightfully entertained the members of the Embroidery Club last Thursday afternoon at her pretty bungalow in the Gowan Addition.

After all business had been transacted a social hour was enjoyed. A delicious salad course was served to the following: Mrs. Tom Wood, Mrs. Mack Wyatt, Mrs. John VanDerveer, Mrs. Eric Hart, Mrs. Claud Reynolds, Mrs. Victor Heard, Mrs. Grady Broadhead, Mrs. Ed Plier, Mrs. Philip Horn, Miss Williamson.

E. C. MAYE SUNDAY SCHOOL CLASS ENTERTAINED.

Mrs. John Armstrong was the lovely hostess Friday afternoon when she entertained the E. C. Maye Sunday School class.

The home was decorated with ferns and cut flowers, and a delightful program was enjoyed. There were three papers on the subject "Service," by Mesdames T. H. Neighbors, Barney Roberts, Macey Jones and McSwain. There were two songs by the class.

Aftter the program a delicious salad was served to the following members who were present: Mrs. Victor Heard, Mrs. Martin Nix, Mrs. E. C. Maye, Mrs. J. C. Jones, Mrs. Barney Roberts, Mrs. McSwain, Mrs. Hugh Simpson, Mrs. R. E. Luckie, Mrs John VanDerveer, Mrs. O. O. Roper, Mrs. Macey Jones. Invited guests—Mrs. S. A. Goodwin of Montgomery and Mrs. Clark Harper of Columbus, Ga.

LARKIN CLUB ORGANIZED

Twelve ladies met on Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. L. C. Reynolds and organized a "Larkin Club."

This Club will meet once a month and is unlike any club now organized in Clanton. Mrs. L. C. Reynolds was elected Secretary, there being no other officers needed. Refreshments were served to the following members: Mrs. R. E. Luckie, Mrs. McSwain, Mrs. L. H. Reynolds, Mrs. Ed Plier, Mrs. Victor Heard, Mrs. Eric Hart, Mrs. Lawrence Gerald, Mrs. Grady Boadhead, Mrs. Alva Wade, and Mrs. W. M. Wyatt.

Don't forget to have your fortune told by "Wonder," the great gypsie fortune teller who will be in Clanton on December 12, 1919, at the Exchange Hotel.

Rev. E. C. Maye was a visitor to the Capital City Tuesday.

Mr. M. D. Foshee spent Tuesday in Montgomery.

Miss Lola Roberts willl return home soon from Denver, Colo., where she has been for some time.

Miss Eatha Nix of Maplesvillle spent the week-end with Mrs. Ed Plier.

Mr. and Mrs. Grady Reynolds and two children motored to Montgomery Wednesday.

Dr. Lewis E. Sorrell has been discharged from the Medical Corps at Fort Sill, Okla., and is at his home in Jemison for a few days. He was in Clanton Wednesday. When we asked him if he were glad to get out he smiled and said: "Show me a fellow that aint glad to get out."

Lomer Giles of Warrior was in Clanton Wednesday visiting relatives and friends. He is still with the Alabama Power Company.

Z. J. Jones of West Chilton was here on Wednesday in the interest of the census enumeration work for his Beat.

Among others going from Clanton to Birmingham next Saturday to witness the University-Swanee foot ball game will be, Judge and Mrs. L. H. Reynolds, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Reynolds.

Miss Julia Hubbard of Lafayette, Ala., was the guest last Wednesday of Miss Myrtle Reynolds.

Mrs. Jane Murphy and Miss Annie Murphy of Birmingham are the guests of Mrs. McSwain.

Mrs. Harvey Chandler will entertain the Study Club at her home on Friday afternoon. All members are requested to be present as officers are to be elected for the coming year.

DON'T FORGET THE CHRISTMAS BAZAAR.

You need not worry about your Christmas presents, for the ladies of the Embroidery Clulb are already engaged in preparing them for you. They will be put on sale at the Bazaar Dec. 12 at the Exchange Hotel. The things to be sold are especially prepared for Xmas. presents and include fancy needle work, dressed dolls, candy, cake and many other things that will be suitable for presents. Hot chocolate and cake will be served at the Bazaar.

Everybody is urged to remember the occasion and be on hand to have a big time. The fortune teller will be there to tell you all the wonderful secrets about wourself.

THORSBY ITEMS

Among those from Thorsby attending the Teachers Institute held in Clanton Monday and Tuesday of last week were Miss May Stoddard, Miss Bertha Littleton, Mrs. Hattie Gerald, Miss Stella McCain, Mrs. Chas. Howard and Mr. Cowan Woodham.

Mr. W. A. McClain and family recently moved to Whistler, Ala., much to the regret of their many friends in and around Thorsby.

The boy scouts of Thorsby seem to be living up to their promise to do kind deeds in a very beautiful way. Aided by the generous grocers, and led by Mr. Davenport, Scoutmaster, they recently visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thatcher laden with a generous supply of groceries. Mrs. Thatcher has been sick for a long while and a few weeks ago suffered a severe burn from which she is slowly recovering. Mr. Thatcher, too, is in poor health, and this gift from the grocers and boy scouts was a very welcome and much appreciated one.

The Bank of Thorsby was organized here last Wednesday in the Town Council hall, by the election of a Board of Directors consisting of Mr. S. M. Pate, President; Chas. E. Lucas, Vice-President; J. R. Martin, G. L. Foshee, Felix Eiland. Messrs Martin, Foshee and Eiland are the Loan Committee. The question of a permanent cashier is not yet settled. Arrangements are being made for the vacating of the building formerly built for the Union State Bank and now occupied by the Thorsby post office, and the new bank will occupy this building. It is expected that the bank will be in operation within a few weeks.

Hiram Hayes is getting about on crutches as a result of adding another nail to his right foot.

The box supper given at the Baptist Church last Saturday by the young people of Mrs. Pyper's class, was a success in every way. More than $50.00 was raised. The money is to be used to furnish and decorate the class room used by this class.

Rev. John Benson, of Silver Hill, has been preaching ocasionally at the Swedish Lutheran Church, and will continue to do so until a pastor is secured. It is expected that he will speak both morning and evening on the 2nd Sunday in November.

The Thorsby Congregational church will entertain the State Conference of Congregational Churches next week. The first service will be on Thursday evening and the sessions will continue through Sunday. A full program of the Conference will be given in the Banner next week.

A short program was given last Saturday night by the Helen Keller Literary Society. This will be the last program rendered until Saturday, November 15th.

BOY SCOUTS BAND PUT UP DELIGHTFUL CONCERT

We feel like the Boy Scouts Band is due a great measure of praise for the splendid success of their first public concert which was given at the court house in Clanton last Thursday night. They indeed surprised their audience with their fine music. We have heard numbers of people say that they never dreamed that those boys could play so well.

We do not like to tell the unpleasant side of the occasion, but it is such a prominent feature with the band in Clanton that we can't avoid mentioning it at least. The part that we refer to as unpleasant is not any fault of the boys in the band. It is the fault of the people of Clanton. The people here do not show the proper appreciation for the efforts the boys have made to give Clanton a band. We ought to feel kindly toward the boys and encourage them in every possible way. But there are a few people here who show any measure of pride for the band. The boys have been knocked more than they have been praised. But thanks to their grit they have succeeded in spite of the impediments that have been placed in their way.

They demonstrated their success by the way they rendered their concert program last Thursday night.

We hope the next time anybody from another town comes to Clanton and asks if we have a town band, somebidy will have home pride enough to refer the inquirer to the Boy Scouts Band.

David Vines has at last got out of Uncle Sam's Navy and showed up in Clanton. His many friends here are mighty glad to behold his smiling face once more, and to grasp his friendly "paw." Before entering the Navy Dave was mail carrier on Route 5 from Clanton, and will soon resume his duties there again.

Neuralgia of the face, shoulder, hands, or feet requires a powerful remedy that will penetrate the flesh. BALLARD'S SNOW LINIMENT posesses that power. Rubbed in where the pain is felt is all that is necessary to relieve suffering and retore normal conditions. Sold by Upchurch Drug Company.

California Firm for Safe-guarding U.S. in Covenant

TREMENDOUS SENTIMENT FOR AMERICANIZATION OF THE TREATY DISCLOSED.

WRONG IMPRESSION CREATED

Naturally Respectful Greeting Given President Did not Mean Endorsement.

Washington, Oct. 4.—Private dispatches from California make it very plain that there is tremendous sentiment in that State in favor of the Americanization of the covenant for the league of nations. It is quite evident that Senator Johnson's speeches assailing the present form of the covenant are strongly endorsed on the Pacific Coast, and that many folks have gained a wrong impression about sentiment there simply because the President on his recent trip was well received.

John Francis Neylan, publisher of the San Francisco Call, sent this telegram to the Senate Press Gallery:

"San Francisco, Oct. 2—Johnson has had most wonderful home-coming ever accorded any one in California. In Palace Hotel court, where Wilson spoke, Johnson addressed a luncheon today. There was the wildest demonstration in the history of the Palace. At the Coliseum tonight 14,000 persons were in the building and thousands were turned away. When Johnson appeared, pandemonium reigned for a period of sixteen minutes."

The following telegram was addressed to Senator McCormick by Mr. Alexander McCabe, Insurance Commissioner of California:

"San Francisco, Oct. 2—This has been a great day here. Noon meeting at the Palace Hotel gave Johnson a far better reception than Wilson had, and in the best speech he has made he won them completely. He had personal triumph tonight at the Coliseum, holding 2,200 more than the Auditorium where Wilson spoke. Johnson received the greatest demonstration ever accorded any man in San Francisco. Any result Wilson accomplished in northern California is really of advantage to us now, as it accentuates Johnson's mastery of the situation in taking it away from him today."

TWO BOYS CAPTURE A WILD CAT STILL IN OPERATION

The following is the story of how two boys, Brown Woolley, age 17, and J. C. Woolley, age 15, captured a wild cat still lat week.

The boys had taken a wagon out into the woods to get a load of pine. As they passed up through the bushes alongside the branch they saw a small smoke rising near by. When they investigated the cause of the smoke they found that it was a whiskey still running at full blast, with a gallon jug sitting under the spout catching the fire water as it emerged drop by drop from the worm. It is believed that the operators were frightened away by the approach of the boys, and when they fled they left the outfit running.

The boys loaded up the outfit on their wagon and carried it to the house. The sheriff's office was notified and Deputy Culp went down to take charge of the situation. It was a genuine copper still of the box type.

The Woolley boys are the sons of Mr. J. C. C. Woolley, a mail carrier of Stanton. They are to be commended for the way they handled the situation.

THE SCHOOL CARNIVAL

The Grammar School Carnival has proven to be a success. Very fortunate in getting a clean up-to-date carnival. It is recreation for the old and a jolly good time ofr the young. The D. M. Atwood Show is what they represented, and more. We compliment the Royal Italian Band and we thank them for their daily concerts which they have rendered for the town's people.

The Midway of Shows are splendid. The merry-go-round is magnificent with its thousand lights makes one think themselves in a fairy land.

Mr. Atwood has been very careful in selecting his assembly of show and show folks. They are clean to the core. You can take the ladies and children and receive every courtesy possible from the show folks. Let all come out and make it one big success for the benefit of our Grammar School.

A very successful box supper was held at the Shoults School west of Maplesville Saturday night. The amount raised was one hundred thirty five dollars ($135.00). This will be used for improving the school house and for equipments.

HOG SALE DAY FOR CHILTON COUNTY WILL BE NOV. 25

Some half a dozen of leading Clanton business men have agreed to coordinate their efforts in establishing a hog sale day for Clanton and Chilton County, and we feel sure that the event will bring us the full measure of success here that has marked the advent of the movement in many other counties in Alabama. The plan is being backed by Judge Reynolds, J. D. Collins, C. F. Jones, J. N. Dennis and J. C. Jones. The date of the first sale has been set for Tuesday, November 25th, and on that day an organization will be completed for making the plan a permanent one for the county.

Hog raisers in Chilton County now should welcome the coming of the plan here. It means a system of marketing hogs that makes it possible for the little man who raises few hogs to get a market for what he does raise that is just as advantageous to him as the market which is the privilege of the man who sells hogs on a big scale.

The following schedule gives some idea as to how the hogs will be graded and put on the market here.

No. 1—Smooth, clean hog, weighing 175 pounds and up.

No. 2—Smooth clean hog, 140 and up to 175.

No. 3—Smooth clean hog weighing 100 pounds and up to 140.

Roughs—sows and stags are classed roughs. Piggy sows are classed roughs and docked 40 pounds. Heavy stags are docked 70 pounds; light stags are docked 40 pounds. Piggy gilts are graded one class back of the grade in which they weigh.

Skips—Aged thin sows or barrows or undersized sows in poor condition of flesh.

Anyone desiring any further information about this sale day can communicate with either of the above named gentlemen, who will answer any questions regarding the matter.

RESIDENCE LOTS IN CLANTON FOR SALE CHEAP.

We have now for sale 7½ acres of land, the old Middleton property, near the Clanton Grammar School, which is suitable for residence property. The same will be divided up into lots and sold. You can get a lot any size for cash or credit. It would be wise for you to buy one of these lots cheap now and later build on it for an ideal place to live. If interested, see either F. B. Collier or J. Hance Alred, Clanton, Ala. 10-9-tf

SCHOOLS OF STATE WILL CELEBRATE ARMISTICE NOV. 11.

State Superintendent of Education Spright Dowell is sending out programs for the observance of Armistice Day, Nov. 11 in all of the schools of the State. These pamphlets, ten thousand in number, will be distributed through the County Superintendents of Education and will be apportioned to the different schools in proportion to the number of teachers and pupils therein.

In some of the counties Armistice Day will be observed as a holiday, and in all of them it will be the occasion of a drive for funds for the Alabama Memorial Building wherein the theachers and pupils are expected to raise sufficient funds to complete the quotas in their respective counties.

Superintendent Dowell has received assurance that the Armistice Day program in the schools will be carried out with a good will. Patrons of the schools will be invited to attend the exercises on that day, and it is largely from the patrons and friends of the schools that the funds are expected to be raised.

The program is simple in form and patriotic in tone, consisting of songs, recitations and readings, that may be presented by the pupils of various grades with very little preparation or rehearsal.

At its initial meeting the State Board of Education created by an Act of the Legislature at its recent session, expressly urged all County Boards of Educataion, County and City Superintendents of Education and school trustees to assist in the campaign for funds which will be used to construct at the state capitol a building which will stand as a perpetual memorial to all Alabamians who have served their people and their state; particularly those who who were in the army, navy, or marine corps during the war with Germany.

Alabama's memorial campaign started in the spring of this year and its completion was deferred, as originally planned, until the schools be in session in the fall and until farmers might have an opportunity to harvest their crops.

Bob Bean of Collins Chapel was here Wednesday on business.

Republicans Pleased at Results in the South

CORRIDOR OPENING UP WHICH IT IS BELIEVED WILL BE A SPLIT IN THE OLD "SOLID SOUTH."

Washington, October 1—Republican leaders in the House have expressed the deepest satisfaction over the remarkable campaign recently waged by the Republican candidate in the seventh Alabama Congressional district, which resulted in the election of his Democratic opponent by only a few hundred votes. Together with the recent election of an additional Republican member of Congress from Kentucky in a normally Democratic district, the result in Alabama is taken to indicate that there is a sturdy "corridor" of Republican strength extending from Kentucky through Tennessee and Alabama to the Gulf, and that the day is not far distant when Republicanism will predominate in that zone.

SOME INTERESTING FIGURES ON COTTON PRODUCTION

Mr. J. D. Collins has just completed a demonstration test of cotton growing and the use of fertilizers that brings out some interesting figures and facts. He employed three pieces of land, each containing one-tenth of an acre, and worked them all the same.

Piece No. one was without fertilizer; No. two was with fertilizer, at the rate of 200 pounds per acre; No. 3 with 40 pounds of nitrate of soda and 145 pounds of 16 per cent phosphate.

Piece No. 1 made 13 pounds seed cotton; No. 2 made 41 pounds and No. 3 made 51 pounds. This cotton sold at 15c per pound.

The cotton on piece No. 1 brought $1.95; piece No. 2, $6.15, which leaves less fertilizer $5.30. On piece No. 3, the cotton brought $7.65, which leaves less fertilizer $7.18.

On one acre of No. 2 with 200 lbs. of soda alone per acre, would have yielded a profit of $44.50, and on an acre of No. 3, where 40 pounds of 7 per cent cotton seed meal and 40 pounds of nitrate of soda and 175 pounds of 16 per cent acid phosphate would have yielded a profit of $52.30.

MADAME GERTTA

Madame Gertta has amused the people of Clanton the same as she has throughout the United States, Mexico and Canada, at all the large fairs and exhibitions. The Madame has proven that she controls a master mind. She prophesied within 3 days of the U. S. entering the World War; then she astonished the public of New York and held them spellbound when she prophecied in three days of the end, and both were correct. She has made a study of the human mind and has helped many and many out of trouble.

Then the most interesting of all astrology is where she makes things clear and you must give her credit for being clever.

Madame Gertta was born under a veil the same as Madame Christian, the famous Swedish clavoyant knows all and sees all; reads your life like an open book, from the cradle to the grave. She is demonstrating with the D. M. Atwood Shows, for the remaining three days of this week.

Mr. Emmett C. Powell is moving his family to Tuscaloosa, where he has accepted a position with the mechanical department of The Tuscaloosa News as linotype operator.

ROOSEVELT ELECTED.

Lieut.-Col. Theodore Roosevelt began his career in the political world on Nov. 4, when he was elected as a member of the general assembly of New York State. This was likewise the way his famous father began his unparalleled record in American politics. Roosevelt was greatly elated over his victory over his Democratic opponent, and also because of the fact that he became the father of a son on the day he was elected.

REPUBLICAN VICTORY.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 4—Gov. Calvin Coolidge, Republican, was re-elected by an overwhelming plurality to-day over Richard H. Long, Democrat.

QUARANTINE TO BE LIFTED IN CHILTON DECEMBER THE FIRST

The cattle dipping season in Chilton county under the Federal regulations for eradicating ticks has been completed for this season, and we learn that the quarantine will be lifted on the first of December. All the vat inspectors have been discharged except H. O. Bean, W. A. Barnett and Mr. Deramus.

There are yet thirteen herds of cattle in the county that have some few ticks, and which will remain under quarantine strictly, until the ticks are removed by additional dipping next season. These quarantine herds cannot be moved about over the county under any circumstances unless they be dipped, and proceed immediately from the vat to wherever they are being carried.

Anyone moving any cattle in the county or out of it, must get a permit from one of the remaining inspectors, Bean, Barnett or DeRamus Everybody is urged to exercise judicious care in the matter of handling cattle in order to prevent having to dip again next season. The line men bordering on other counties should be very careful in regard to cattle coming into the county from places thate are undr quarantine.

The proper precautions used now in the handling of cattle will save the county the trouble of dipping again next year. Everyone should be very careful and keep in intimate touch with the inspectors in all matters concerning the management and handling of cattle. See them and know that what you are going to do is permissible before you go ahead and do something that is wrong.

THORSBY ITEMS

Prof. and Mrs. Chas. M. Williams, and little daughter, Martha, motored down from Calera last Tuesday and spent a few hours visiting friends in Thorsby. Prof. Williams has been re-elected to the Principalship of the Calera School, and reports that the school there is doing fine. There is a large attendance and a good school spirit.

There was much excitement in our usually quiet litle city on Monday, of this week, occasioned by the alighting of an airplane. It seems that the aviators were loooking for Clanton as a landmark and did not notice the place as they flew over it. They were on their way from Kansas City to Alexander City. Both of the men had been in the aviation service during the war, and one of them had lost an arm. The plane they were flying had been used by the government during the war and had been given the aviator who had lost his arm, as a reward for bravery in service. A large crowd gathered in the field near the home of Mr. Carlson to see the machine. Mr. Sam Goddard was among the number, and he was recognized by one of the men as an old neighbor and friend during Mr. Godadrd's residence in Nebraska. This goes to show that the world is not as big as it looks to be at times.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Goddard left on Monday night for a visit of several months with relatsives and friends in Ohio.

The Ladies Guild entertained with a Hallowe'en Social on last Friday evening at Bates Hall. There were various kinds of Booths and each one proved to be a popular resort. Perhaps the most popular of all was the fortune teller's booth around which the boys and girls gathered eagerly, each one anxious to know his or her future destiny. Judging from the smiling faces of those emerging from the booth one would think there is a happy future before the youths of Thorsby.

The Ladies Guild is a strong ally of the Institute both in a financial and a social way. This is the second entertainment they have given for the school since the opening in September.

Miss Helen C. Jenkins returned on Saturday evening from Grand Rapids Michigan, where she has been for the past ten days attending the National Council of Congregational Churches.

Miss Mary Goddard of Somerville, Mass., recently came to Thorsby Institute, and will give her services this year as a voluntary teacher. Miss Goddard has had many years experience in public school work in her own state.

Mrs. A. K. Horn spent last Monday and Tuesday in Montgomery.

It is learned that Mr. A. Franzen, who has been for some time visiting his sister in Portland, Oregon is sick in a hospital there. He would very much appreciate hearing from any of his friends in Thorsby. Address any communication to him in care of his sister, Mrs. Miller, 199 Monroe St., Portland, Oregon.

Mr. John C. Page and wife of Clanton, motored up to Thorsby Sunday and were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Foss in the afternoon. Mr. Page is the Cashier of the First National Bank of Clanton.

Rev. and Mrs. James Davenport were happily surprised a few days ago when a few of their friends presented them with a set of silverware.

Republicans Win Election In the State of Kentucky

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 4—Edwin P. Morrow, Republican, to-day was elected Governor of the State of Kentucky, over James D. Black, Democrat, by a majority estimated from fifteen to twenty thousand. Haynes Carter, personal manager for Governor Black, in a statement, conceded Black's defeat by eight to ten thousand votes.

Unofficial returns from eastern Kentucky, where it was expected that the Democratic nominee would cut the normal Republican majorities, showed Morrow holding his own and in some cases exceeding figures in the gubernatorial election four years ago.

In the west end of the state there was a considerable falling off of democratic normal majorities, while in Jefferson county, which includes the city of Louisville, the Republican candidate not only overturned a majority of 4063 for Stanley, Democrat four years ago, but turned it into a Republican victory by approximately 9,000 votes.

Figures on the two constitutional amendments were belated, but seemed to indicate that the state-wide prohibition amendment had carried by a large majority.

The issues in the campaign were local, the Democrataic platform pledging "an honest administration at Frankfort." the state capital, and the Republicans promising a "house clean ing."

During the campaign Governor Black made speeches favoring the League of Nations. Mr. Morrow was silent on the subject, but his managers in published statements, asserted that he opposed it.

EVERGREEN

Editor Union-Banner:

May I step in a moment and chat with you? Thanks.

Why, where's our good grandma and all our good old mothers now-a-days? Are they all sitting back and letting time and tide drift together?

O, wake up mothers and let me sit on the foot stool at your knees while I take your tired thin hands in mine and talk with you.

With you, sweet mothers, rest our future happiness as well as in the past.

Mothers, you all stood by us in the great conflict of the world war, and by your patient and loving toil kept the "Home Fires Burning," and administered to the needs of our dear heroes.

It was you who prayed for them by day and by night. 'Twas you who smiled through tears as you saw the boys marching away to unknown conflicts and turmoil, and never once complained even though your hearts seemed crushed.

Some of you have seen loved ones return to your arms. Some of you have a loved one across the briny deep sleeping calmly awaiting his Father's command on High. And your heart mourns for him; but cheer up sweet mother. His life was sacficed in a noble cause. He never shirked his duty; and why should we?

Sweet mothers, the conflict is over and our boys are again in the land of their fathers and freedom. Now lets don't be found napping. Our work has just begun.

Look around you. What do you see? Why a band of gay boys and girls romping gaily, with never a thought for anything but fun and play. See them? Yes. Then behold your future care. Mother, is your boy growing up to be a man you'll be proud of—one you wont hang your head in shame for when he is pointed out as your son? His life, his future is in your hands.

Mother, do you know your girl? Where is she—the darling of your heart? Will you be proud to fold her in your arms when she grows up and say, "my child, I am proud of you."

Are you asking God in your daily prayers to help you to set the example before them that they may some day call you blesed—that they may be proud to say, "I owe my life to my mo ther. To me, mother is the sweetest word in the language. In her face I can see the image of Jesus, because He was kind and loving, and on your faces I trace the lines of care and pain of a broken heart. Jesus wept when his people wept, and you weep when your children weep.

BACK ACHED ALL THE TIMF SAYS WELL KNOWN MAN

Kidneys Did Not Act Freely, And Rheumatism Attacked Him—Tells How Dreco, the Herbal Remedy, Gave Quick Relief.

To all who are troubled with the twisting, dragging pains of rheumatism, or the distressing, painful symptoms of kidney disorders, here is a message from a fellow-sufferer that will carry its own lesson.

This is what Mr. W. I. Morgan, foreman Woodstock Cotton Mills, Anniston, Ala., says:

"For a number of years I have suffered from rheumatism and awful pains in my back and limbs. Sometimes it seemed I could not keep at work for those terrible pains. My appetite fell off, I didn't sleep well, and was bothered with constipation very much. Recently my joints and hands began to swell up and were very painful, and my muscles ached. I had about decided that I couldn't ever get straight again, as everything I had tried failed. A friend asked me one day why I didn't give Dreco a trial, as it was working wonders with many people. I bought a bottle, and it helped so much I got the second, and it is truly wonderful the good it has done me. The swelling is all gone and the pains have left me. My appetite has returned: I sleep sound, and am entirely relieved of constipation. Dreco has surely helped me when other things have failed, and I don't hesitate to speak a good word for it."

Dreco is a combination of juices and extracts of many different roots, herbs, barks and berries, which act directly upon the liver, kidneys, bladder, stomach and blood, and banishes from the system many ailments, such as rheumatism, catarrh, biliousness, nervousness, headaches, loss of appetite, indigestion, gas on the stomach, eczema, skin eruptions, gout, epilepsy and constipation, when given a fair trial.

A FRENCH MOTHER.

(By Maj. Quimby Melton, 3rd. Bat., 325 Inf. 82nd Div. A. E. F.)

All night long the boys in khaki passed my door,
(The war is done; the victory's won.)
And soon they'll land upon their native shores.
My "garcon" was a soldier too;
He proudly wore the poilu blue—
He's gone!
He gave his all that right, not might should last;
He gladly went; his life was spent
That France might right the wrongs from out the past.
'Twas hard to see him go away;
It seems I still can hear him say:
"For France!"
O, mothers of the land across the sea!
Your sons were brave and many gave
Their lives that France might still be free.
Our boys are gone; their courage lives
And all the world proud homage gives
Our boys!
And if your son should not return to you,
Be not dismayed for he was laid
To rest with mine who wore the poilu blue.
They answered and they paid the price; tis good.
They fought and died as true men should,
For God!

BRILLIANT AND BEAUTIFUL MARRIAGE OF MISS MYRTLE REYNOLDS AND MR. PERCY M. PITTS OF COLUMBIANA HERE.

The handsome colonial home of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Reynolds was crowded on Wednesday afternoon, Nov. 5, with friends and relatives eager to witness the brilliant and beautiful service uniting Miss Myrtle Reynolds of Clanton and Mr. Percy McGraw Pitts of Columbiana in marriage.

The altar which served as an attractive back-ground was of stately palms, southern smilax and a profusion of white chrysanthemums.

Here and there beautiful vases and baskets of white chrysanthemums stood.

Preceding the entrance of the bridal party an excellent musical program was rendered by Miss Daisy Gillis, piano, and Mr. Sidney Lanier Gibson of Verbena, violin. Miss Willie Belle Sartor sang sweetly, "All for You." Mr. Raymond Cox of Gadsden sang, "At Dawning," and "Because." Mr. Cox possesses a wonderful voice. He received his vocal training in New York City.

As the strains of the wedding march played by Miss Gillis, was heard, the bridal party entered. First came the bride's maid, Miss Annie Reynolds, who was lovely in a dress of toupe poilet with picture hat and accessories to match, carrying yellow chrysanthemums. She was met at the stairs by Raymond Cox.

Next came the matron of honor, Mrs. Grady Reynolds wearing a beautiful gown of bronze silk jersey with bronze shoes, and hat of bronze velvet and cream plumes. She carried yellow chrysanthemums. The maid of honor came wearing brown poilet with brown beaver hat and accessories. She too carried yellow chrysanthemums.

The groom and his best man, Mr. Jack Pitts, followed.

The lovely little flower girl, Jane Roberts, entered next, wearing dainty frock of white crepe de chine with green and white tulle bows. She scattered rose petals in her path as she entered in before the handsome bride, who was never more beautiful than in her wedding suit of toupe devyn with mole skin andl fur trimmings, smart hat and accessories to match. She carried brides roses and lillies of the valley. She came in on the arm of her father, Hon. W. A. Reynolds, who gave her in marriage.

The ceremony was impressively performed by Rev. E. C. Maye of the First Methodist Church. Following the ceremony a reception was given in honor of this popular bride where hundreds of friends awaited with congratulations.

The dining room was beautifully decorated in ferns and white chrysanthemums. The table was a scene of beauty with white satin ribbons strung from chandelier to each corner of the table, tied with large green tulle bows. The bride's cake stood in center and was banked in ferns and white roses.

At each end of the table stood beautiful silver candelabras burning white candles.

Mrs. Claude Reynolds and Mrs. R. E. Luckie served punch from a beautifully decorated punch bowl.

The attractive music pupils of the bride who served cream and cake of green and white were Misses Bertie L. Teel, Mary Upchurch, and Marjorie Alred.

Mrs. Mary L. VanDerveer gracefully presided over the bride' book.

The briide presented her matron of honor, bride's maid and maid of honor with beautiful gold cuff pins.

The mother of the bride was gowned in black satin with cluny lace and wore a corsage of pink roses.

Mrs. Pitts, the mother of the groom wore black satin and blue trimmings and a corsage of palma violets.

Mrs. Mary Lane VanDerveer was lovely in black silk tricolett. Mrs. Claude Reynolds was beautifully dressed in navy blue satin. Mrs. R. E. Luckie wore a stunning frock of brown jersey. Miss Willie Belle Sartor's dress was of toupe silk jersey.

The bride and groom left on the south-bound train at six o'clock for New Orleans, Mobile, and Biloxi.

They will return to Lafayette, Ala., on Nov. 12, where the bride will play the wedding march at the marriage of her brother, Mr. Reuben Reynolds to Miss Julia Hubbard.

Mr. and Mrs. Pitts will make their home in Columbiana, where the groom is engaged in the practice of law.

The many beautiful gifts received prove the popularity of both bride and groom.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

The Methodist Missionary Society held its regular monthly meeting on Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. T. C. McSwain. Interesting papers were read by Miss Mabel Thomas and Mrs. John Armstrong.

Mrs. N. S. Johnson gave a splendid talk on the membership drive for the Red Cross.

The President, Mrs. B. M. Roberts, presided over the business meeting.

The following members were served delicious refreshments. Mrs. R. E. Luckie, Mrs. N. S. Johnson, Mrs. John Armstrong, Mrs. E. C. Maye, Mrs. L. H. Reynolds, Mrs. Harvey Chandler, Mrs. Barney M. Roberts, Mrs. J. C. Jones, Mrs. W. D. Spigener, Mrs. Mary Lane VanDerveer, Mrs. Martin Nix, Mrs. John VanDerveer, and Miss Mabel Thomas.

This Means You.

When you get up with a bad taste in your month, a dull tired feeling, no relish for food and are constipated you may know that you need a dose of Chamberlain's Tablets. They not only cause an agreeable movement of the bowels, but cleanse and invigorate the stomach and improve the digestion.

EMBROIDERY CLUB.

Mrs. Tom Woods was the gracious hostess on last Thursday afternoon when she entertained the Embroidery Club.

After the business hour a social hour was enjoyed and a tempting salad course was served.

The following members were present: Mrs. W. M. Wyatt, Mrs. Grady Broadhead, Mrs. John VanDerveer, Mrs. Phillip Horn, Mrs. Lawrence F. Gerald, Mrs. Alva Wade, Mrs. J. P. Hayes, Mrs. Eric Hart, Mrs. Splawn, Mrs. Upchurch, and Mrs. Heard.

Mr. Lawrence F. Gerald spent last Wednesday in Montgomery attending to legal business.

Miss Alice Stanfield of Montgomery spent last Thursday with friends in Clanton.

Irregular bowel movements lead to chronic constipation and a constipated habit fills the sypstem with impurities. HERBINE is a great bowel regulator. It purifies the system, vitalizes the blood and puts the digestive organs in fine vigorous condition. Sold by Upchurch Drug Company.

Mrs. T. A. Evans of West Blocton arrived Monday for the Pitts-Reynolds wedding.

Mr. Rollin Reynolds and Miss Lucile Reynolds of Birmingham are in Clanton for the Pitts-Reynolds wedding.

Mrs. H. M. Simpson spent Friday last week in Montgomery.

Miss Mary Key of Maplesville spent the last week-end with friends in Clanton.

Constipation.

Most laxatives and cathartics afford only temporary relief and should be used only for that purpose. When you want permanent relief take Chamberlain's Tablets and be careful to observe the directions with each package. These tablets not only move the bowels, but improve the appetite and strengthen the digestion.

Mrs. Martin Ringleburg of Birmingham was the guest of Mrs. L. C. Reynolds last Sunday.

Mrs. W. M. Wyatt will entertain the Embroidery Club on Thursday afternoon at her home from four to six o'clock.

HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

The school is very fortunate in having secured Mr. Victor Heard to take charge of Mr. Holmes' class durin his absense.

Joe Ben Downs has been elected new school reporter.

Junior Class News.

On Tuesday morning, the Junior class held a meeting to elect a new class reporter. Leon Evans was elected to fill the place of the former reporter, Lucile Attoway.

The Juniors are preparing to beautify their room. Already they have purchased a beautiful flower of their class color.

The class is preparing flowers to send to Mr. Holmes, who had to leave last week to undergo an operation for appendicitis.

We are going to have the best class in school. We already have the best reports.

Commissioners Court was in session Monday and Tuesday. All the members of the Board were present.

PROCLAMATION

STATE OF ALABAMA.
Executive Department.

Whereas the Legislature of Alabama at its regular session in the year 1919 has ordered a special election by the qualified electors of the State of Alabama upon a certain proposed Amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, which is herein set forth, to be held at a date to be fixed by the Governor not less than three months from and after the final adjournment of said regular session:

And Whereas notice of such election together with the proposed Amendment is required by law to be given by proclamation of the Governor:

Now, therefore, I, Thomas E. Kilby, Governor of the State of Alabama, do hereby give notice, direct and proclaim that the election to be held, as ordered by the Legislature in said regular session, at a date to be fixed by the Governor after the expiration of three months from the final adjournment of said regular session of the Legislature at which said Amendment was proposed and said election ordered, will be held on to-wit, Monday, December 29th, 1919, for the vote of the qualified electors of the State of Alabama in the manner, form and places required by law upon the following Amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, to-wit:

Sec. 194½. (A) The payment of the poll tax mentioned in the Constitution of Alabama shall not be required of any person who served in the military or naval service of the United States for a period of not less than four months between January 1, 1917, and November 11, 1918, and who has been or who may be honorably discharged from said service and who was a qualified elector, except as to payment of poll taxes, at the time he entered said service, or who has since become such qualified elector, except as to payment of poll taxes. Any such person is exempted from the payment of all poll taxes until September 30, 1923. (B) Certificates of exemption from payment of such poll taxes shall be issued to persons entitled thereto under regulations prescribed by the Governor.

In witness whereof I hereunto set my hand and cause the Great Seal of the State of Alabama to be affixed at the Capitol in the city of Montgomery, on this the 30th day of October, 1919.

NOTED SPEAKER FOR RED CROSS

HON. J. FRED JOHNSON, Jr.

Hon. J. Fred Johnson, Jr., is a brilliant young attorney, prominent citizen and a chivalrous soldier of Florence, Alabama. When President Wilson issued the call for soldiers to volunteer in the World's War, Mr. Johnson was among the first to offer his efficient services to his country.

He has seen several months of actual service overseas, and after the armistice he was with the Army of Occupation in Germany. Although he has been returned to America only a few weeks, yet he gladly volunteers his services as a Red Cross speaker for the Third Roll Call. He is one of the most forceful and effective speakers we will have an opportunity to hear.

He delivered an address on the Red Cross Drive and the Peace Program of the Red Cross at the County High School in Clanton Tuesday.

FARM FACTS & FEATURES

If the pigs are to be hardy and vigorous with the capacity for making the greatest growth and the best use of theeir feed, they must come from the right kind of parent stock. The sows and gilts to be bred should be the best obtainable.

Big bone and lots of size in every respect are especially important. The largest litters and the fastest growing pigs usually come from the larger sows. The sows should also have rugged constitutional vigor as shown by a broad forehead, a deep and full chest, and noticeable fullness just back of the shoulders and fore legs. The shoulders should be smooth and compact, back well arched and deeply muscled, the loin and hips smooth and well muscled and the hams capable of heavy development. The shoulders, back and hindquarters should be the same width. The sides should be free from wrinkles and the legs strong and up standing.

The influence of the boar on the capacity of the pigs to make profitable feeders is equal to that of all the sows combined, and more if he is pure bred and an outstanding individual and the sows are grades or cross-breds. The right kind of boar should add two to five dollars to the value of each hog that goes to market as compared with an ordinary boar.

No boar should be used unless he is pure bred, has great size and shows a bold expression and strong masculinity about the head. In other respects the points suggested for the selection of sows hold good for the boar, except that coarseness about the head and heavier shoulders in the boar are less objectionable than in the sows.

Sows bred November 10 will farrow about March 1, which is a desirable time. From November 10 to December 15 is probably the best breeding date for the spring litters.

The sows that are to produce spring litters should be kept well nourished throughout the winter, but not excessively fat. An abundance of exercise and green feed are very important. A field of rye or oats or a good patch of rape for their use will prove very valuable. A half pound of tankage or fish meal or a half gallon of skim milk or butter milk each day for two months before farrowing will greatly improve any ration of grains and pasture and will practically insure a strong and vigorous litter and a sow with a normal appetite and no tendency to eat chickens or pigs.

CO-OPERATIVE MARKETING OF HOGS

By M. H. Pearson, Assistant Marketing Specialist.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

As the heavy season for porkers begins in October and continues for the following five or six months, hog raisers should begin to think seriously of the conditions that confront them in the marketing of their hogs.

In the several sales already made the unusually large number of light hogs and roughs leaves the impression that due to the scarcity of feed this fall many farmers have allowed pigs to accumulate on them in numbers too great for the supply of feed necessary to put them in marketable shape. The packers are trying to induce the farmers to keep these light, thin hogs until they have been sufficiently fitted for the market and one packing company has given instructions to its buyers to make a spread of $3.00 per hundred for the No. 2 hogs, running from 135 to 165 pounds, under the No. 1 hogs, running 165 pounds and up. They are also making a $2.00 difference in the two and three grade, thus making a No. 3 sell $5.00 per hundred less than the No. 1.

This difference seems great and it makes the opportunity for the feeders great. The writer has already received several inquires for feeder hogs and one concern has asked for 200 car loads, showing that there is a heavy demand for feeders.

In the past three years, hundreds of cars of feeders have been moved from Alabama and Georgia and fed out in the middle west at large profit. If these buyers can freight our feeder hogs to the middle west, feed them out and make large profits, it would seem that this operation could be carried on right here in our own state at still a greater profit.

The real profit from porkers comes from the well finished, smooth hog weighing 165 pounds and up, and to this end we should work, even if some of the feed must be purchased.

The old question of peanut fed hogs is beginning to be heard and the difference in price is already being felt which has a great tendency to make our light hogs, especially, sell too low.

The last three cooperative sales held in the State ran 75 to 80 per cent No. 2, and No. 3 roughs, which is an unusually high proportion of unfinished hogs. Approximately half of the per centage could have been fed 30 days longer and made tops which would have brought from $2.00 to $3.00 per hundred more.

Indications point to the fact that thin, rough hogs will be disappointing to the owners this season and every effort possible should be made to properly finish them in order to receive their full value.

Commissioner D. H. Gentry was in Clanton the first of this week.

FERTILIZER FOR SMALL GRAINS

By D. J. Burleson, Agronomist for Extension.

The small grains, wheat, oats, barley and rye belong to the grass family, and like all other grasses, make heavy demands on nitrogen in the soil. These plants can not take any nitrogen from the air, as the legume plants do, but must rely on the soil and the fertilizer used for their supply of this element. On most soils it pays to use for small grains commercial fertilizer containing a good supply of nitrogen. Phosphoric acid is second to nitrogen in importance as a fertilizer for small grains.

The first choice of nitrogenous fertilizers is nitrate of soda which should be applied as a top dressing early in March, or just before the plants are ready to make their most rapid growth About 100 pounds per acre, is an average application. Experiments at Auburn and elsewhere prove that one pound of nitrogen in nitrate of soda is more effective as a fertilizer for small grains and corn than a pound of nitrogen in cottonseed meal or other common fertilizers.

Acid phosphate is one of the best sources of phosphoric acid for small grains. This fertilizer should be applied before sowing the grain or at the same time, if a grain drill is used. it is usually advisable to use from 200 to 300 pounds per acre.

STORE COTTON—STOP GREAT LOSS.

Cotton raisers are losing annually an average of $30,000,000 from weather damage to bales left in the open. That estimate is regarded as conservative, for every bale exposed to weather soon loses enough "pickings" to represent at least $2.50, and instances of much greater loss to individual bales are not infrequent. An instance that is not a great distance from typical concerns a bale that was exposed to the weather for six months, losing 76 pounds at 23 cents, or $17.48. The United States Department of Agriculture, through its Bureau of Markets, is urging southern farmers to stotre theeir cotton and stop this waste. It calls attention to the warehouse licensed and bonded under the United States warehouse act, says that they furnish best receipts—good for cash at any bank—cheaper insurance, and better service. The department does not confine its recommendations to bonded warehouses. More general use of private warehouses will do much to stop the big ss.

WHOLE SYSTEM RUN-DOWN

Quick Improvement Is Noted After A Few Doses of ZIRON Iron Tonic.

Increase in appetite, the coming back of strength, disappearance of headaches and other ills, are a few of the many good results obtained from the use of a new remedy (Ziron Iron Tonic).

Mr. Sim Grimsley, of Cordele, Ga., tried Ziron and has this to say:

"When I began to take Ziron, it seemed that my whole system was run-down, but soon after I began to take Ziron, I could eat more each day and would feel a great deal better. Ever since it seems that my health has been improving, as I seldom have the headache or feel bad the least bit."

Ziron is a new scientific combination of pure medicinal inorganic iron, combined with phosphorus, the active principle of nux vomica and the hypophosphites of lime and soda. It will help to add more red corpuscles to your blood, resulting in more color in your cheeks—more vitality in your system.

Try Ziron today; on the money-back guarantee.

AL AND PIM VISIT CLANTON

W. Paul Pim, cartoonist, and Al Harris, feature writer, both of the Birmingham Ledger, drifted into the Union-Banner office on Tuesday and said howdy to the bunch. There is always a close fellowship between news paper men, perhaps due to the mutual sensation of a gnawing appetite and a desire to tap a keg rather than a typewriter, so an acquaintance was struck after the first preliminaries.

As Ledger readers in this section know, these two are making a tour of the state, the former sketching the things of interest in the various towns and the other writing them, which appear in the magazine section of their Sunday paper. The title of their Clanton story will be, "Al and Pim visit Clanton." They have already done several of the smaller cities in the state and are receiving invitations from the chambers of commerce, Rotarians and other organizations of many places to be their guests.

Pim and Al do nothing except boost. When it comes to the dark spots, as they express it, they wear blinders and look the other way. This pair have been working together for some time and are well known in southern newspaper circles. Their training and vocation have taught them to look for the sunshine spots, and they stated that they were not hard to find in Clanton. "We were surprised at the size of the place," said Pim. "It has all the finger prints of a thriving metropolis, and with the illimitable facilities that Nature has placed around it, Clanton should become one of the greatest commercial centers in Alabama."

"Ahem!" joined in Al, at the same time in true reportorial style borrowing a cigarette from his companion.

Pim was formerly feature illustrator on the Cleveland Plain Dealer, and has been copied by all the leading dailies of the country. At present he is on the staff of the Cartoons Magazine and his work appears quite often in the Literary Digest, which is the highest compliment that can be paid an artist in America. Every Sunday he runs a strip in the Ledger entitled "Seeing Birmingham with Pim," and this is one of the most interesting features of the many used by the greatest southern daily.

Al Harris returned a short while ago from France, where he served with the Eighty-Second Division in all its operations, including the St. Mihil and Meuse-Argonne offensives, Mihiel and Meuse-Argonne offensives. and after the signing of the armistice he sold numerous war stories to the greater American magazines. He came to Birmingham from the Atlanta Constitution, which paper claims to have mothered more successful writers than any other southern paper. Harris has had several offers from New York dailies, but states that he is a southener by birth and intend to make or lose his reputation in the south. On the editorial page of the Ledger he conducts a daily column under the head "The Walrus Says," and it has caused the editors all over the state to bring their scissors into play.

The people of this county want to be on the lookout for the next Sunday issue of the Ledger. It will be a hum-dinger, and besides Al and Pim will visit Clanton in it.

We have just found out what is the best way in the world to run a man out of Clanton—elect him to the office of mayor. It worked on both Pink and Stanfield. Who wants to go next?

Get the Birmingham Ledger next Sunday and see what Al and Pim found out about Clanton while they were here Tuesday. Al is a feature writer of wide prominence, and we are sure he made some notes while here that will look interesting when he gets them whipped into shape. As for Pim, everybody knows what funny pictures he draws. You will find some of Clanton characters in cartoons in the Ledger next Sunday. Pim got the line on some of them while here. You will enjoy seeing Clanton as Al and Pim saw it when they went up on the ferris wheel.

Do you know that three counties in Alabama are solidly Republican? And they are not northern counties altogether either. They are Shelby and Chilton—half way between Birmingham and Montgomery, and Winston. Also in Franklin they make them sit up and take notice. Now with five others over in the Republican column it begins to look mighty good. None of the present generation are carpet baggers, neither are they negro-equality folks. They are of what is known as the "lilly-white" variety. Most of us born and raised in the south and who love southern customs and traditions just as well as J. Tom Heflin does. No disgrace to be a Republican these days.—Collinsville Courier.

A Good Cough Medicine for Children.

Mrs. J. W. Phillips, Redon, Ga., phoned to J. M. Floyd, the merchant there, for a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and said she hal then bought a bottle of it at his store recently and that it was doing her children so much good that she wanted to keep up the treatment. You will find nothing better for coughs and colds in children or for yourself. It keeps the cough loose, expiration easy and soon frees the system from the cold.

MICKIE SAYS

HUN FIGHTER NOW FIGHTING PLAGUE

LIEUT. BOWERS, WINNER OF CROIX DE GUERRE, WORKS FOR RED CROSS CHRISTMAS SEAL SALE.

WARS ON INSIDIOUS FOE

Tuberculosis Kills More People Every Year Than The Germans Did in War, He Points Out.

Birmingham.—Lieutenant Lloyd G. Bowers, noted Birmingham soldier, who has returned to private life as an attorney, has been appointed chairman of the Jefferson county committee for the Red Cross Christmas seal sale.

After having won the French croix de guerre, the American distinguished service cross and a series of citations and the diploma and medal of the Aero Club of America, Mr. Bowers says he would rather win decorations for fighting tuberculosis than for helping to down the Hun.

While serving in the balloon corps, attached to the French army and later to the American first corps, Mr.

LIEUT. LLOYD G. BOWERS.

Bowers was cited for valor in a series of operations. He was decorated by French and American commanders for having remained at his post in observation balloons while under fire, and for other exploits.

"There is another important war to be fought now," said Mr. Bowers. "Tuberculosis is a more insidious enemy than was the Hun. It kills 150,000 a year in America—far more than the Germans killed of our fighting men.

"The Red Cross Christmas seal campaign this year is to be a campaign of education as well as of fund raising. Every town and hamlet of the state is to be reached, and we want to have Jefferson county, especially, 100 per cent informed as to the ravages of the white plague. This county may be freed of tuberculosis if enough Red Cross seals and health bonds are sold this December.

"Our backs are against the wall. The war has brought so many new cases that we can't overlook the responsibility we have of stamping out this menace when we have the opportunity."

"T. B." GOT DARE-DEVIL

RODMAN LAW DEFIED DEATH IN HIS STUNTS, BUT HE FELL A VICTIM TO TUBERCULOSIS.

Birmingham.—Rodman Law, professional daredevil, whose death defying "stunts" amazed and thrilled thousands upon thousands of people, died recently of tuberculosis. During his professional career Law threw dice with death, time and again. He leaped from fast moving airplanes at dizzy altitudes, trusting that his parachute would function perfectly.

Perhaps his most spectacular feat was his "skyrocket stunt." He caused to be made a giant skyrocket with a special compartment for himself. It was his plan to have himself shot into the air and to make the descent with a parachute. Something was amiss in the construction of the rocket for it failed to gain sufficient altitude, and he was seriously injured. He soon recovered and continued his thrilling work.

It is the irony of fate that Law, after surviving many accidents and taking the most desperate chances, should succumb to tuberculosis. His death from the disease lends emphasis to the fact that tuberculosis is the greatest menace the United States faces today. The lurking tuberculosis germs succeeded where the most dangerous of "stunts" failed. Law died in a sanatorium in Greenville, S. C.

The National Tuberculosis Association and its one thousand affiliated organizations have launched upon a nation-wide campaign to reduce the appalling death rate from the disease in the United States. Each year one hundred and fifty thousand people die in this country from tuberculosis. The affiliated organizations seek a fund of more than $6,500,000 to carry on the work through 1920. The money will be raised through the annual December sale of Red Cross Christmas Seals. The Alabama Association must raise $200,000 to carry on its work next year.

Mrs. Grady Broadhead and Hal have been visiting relatives at Randolph for a few days.

Mrs. Esther Lee Kicker, 29 years old, wife of Sergt. C. N. Kicker of the Birmingham Police force, died at an infirmary in Birmingham Monday night at 11 o'clock, after an illness of several months. Her case was a puzzle to physicians, and a number of specialists who saw her were unable to place the exact cause of her illness and consequent death.

The body was sent to Jemison on Wednesday where funeral services and interment took place.

Mrs. Kicker is survived by her husband and two children, C. N. Jr., and William Walter; parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Shaw, 3221 North 27th Street, Birmingham; two sisters, Miss Ora Shaw and Mrs. Cobb of Jemison; two brothers, William and Vernon Shaw.

The deceased was born and raised near Jemison, and will be remembered here as the popular and efficient clerk in the county tax office for three years prior to her marriage to Mr. Kicker.

Mr. Kicker is likewise a Chilton County man, and he has a large number of friends here who extend sympathy in his sad hour of grief.

OATS FOR WINTER GRAZING.

By J. F. Duggar, Director, Experiment Station.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

While oats are less reliable than rye for winter grazing they should be used for this purpose, especially in view of the expected high price of feeds during the coming winter.

Winter grazing obtained from oats should ordinarily be considered as a secondary object, the principal object being the production of grain. Both objects can easily be accomplished by sowing the seed early, preferably in September. One Alabama farmer and dairyman regularly cultivated oats in his bottom land cotton fields at the last cultivation in August. Oats sown early are more apt to pass through the winter without serious damage than those sown as late as November. Oats sown very early should be grazed in time to prevent their reaching the booting stage during cold weather.

PROCLAMATION

STATE OF ALABAMA,
Executive Department.

Whereas, the Legislature of Alabama at its regular session in the year 1919 has ordered a special election by the qualified electors of the State of Alabama upon a certain proposed amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, which is herein set forth, to be held on the first Monday after the expiration of three months from and after the final adjournment of said regular session.

And whereas, notice of such election together with the proposed amendment is required by law to be given by proclamation of the Governor:

Now Therefore, I, Thomas E. Kilby, Governor of the State of Alabama, do hereby give notice, direct and proclaim that the election to be held, as ordered by the Legislature in said regular session on the first Monday after the expiration of three months from and after the final adjournment of said regular session of the Legislature at which said amendment was proposed and said election ordered will be held on, to-wit, the 29th day of December, 1919, for the vote of the qualified electors of the State of Alabama in the manner, form and places required by law upon the following amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, to-wit:

The municipalities of Tuscumbia, Sheffield, Hurtsboro, Russellville, Lanett, Demopolis, Pell City, Heflin, Columbiana, Carrollton, Opelika, Fairhope, Pine Hill, Scottsboro, Stevenson, Ashland, Brewton, Pollard, Flomaton, Atmore, Inglenook, Tuskegee, Aliceville, Gordo, Reform, Livingston, Camden, Monroeville, Phoenix and Girard, Birmingham, Bessemer, Florence, Huntsville, Selma, Fairfield, Anniston, Athens, Jacksonville, Auburn, Carbon Hill, and LaFayette, in the State of Alabama, shall have the power and right to levy and collect a tax of one-half of one per centum in any one year on property situated therein, based on the valuation of such property as assessed for state taxation for the tax year ending on the 30th day of September next succeeding the levy; provided, that for the purpose of paying bonds issued and outstanding at the time of the adoption of this amendment and the interest thereon, and for the purpose of paying bonds which may be issued after the adoption of this amendment and the interest thereon, an additional tax of one-half of one per centum may be levied and collected by said corporations; provided further, that a majority of the qualified electors of any of said municipal corporations voting at an election called for that purpose may vote a special tax not to exceed one-half of one per centum in any one year for any special purpose or purposes, which tax shall be used only for the purpose or purposes for which same is levied and collected, provided, however, that the total tax to be levied by any of said municipal corporations shall not exceed one and one-half (1½) per centum in any one year. Provided, further, that the adoption of this amendment shall in no wise affect, limit, modify, abridge or impair the power, authority or right of either of said municipal corporations, to levy and collect the special school taxes, now or hereafter vested in or conferred upon them, or any of them under the Constitution or any amendment thereto; including the power of said city of Selma to levy and collect the taxes for schools and school purposes vested in and conferred upon said city of Selma by the amendment to the Constitution of Alabama adopted thereto at the general election held in November, 1916, and which was submitted under law number 315, General Laws 1915, page 337. Each election held under the provisions hereof shall be ordered, held, canvassed and may be contested in the same manner as is or may be provided by the law applicable to the municipal corporations for elections to authorize the issuance of municipal bonds. The ballots used at such election shall contain the words: "For..... excess rate of taxation for the year (or years) .....;" and "Against..... excess rate of taxation for the year (or years) .....". The rate of taxation proposed in excess of the rate of one (1) per centum to be shown in the blank space provided therefor and the year or years in which the proposed rate is to apply to be shown in the blank space provided therefor; and in the event different excess rates are proposed for different years the words mentioned shall be repeated as often as may be necessary to show separately the different rates proposed to be applied to the respective years. And the voter shall record his choice, whether for or against the excess rate or rates shown by placing a cross mark before or after the words expressing his choice. Nothing herein contained shall in any wise change or affect the rights of any holder of bonds of said municipal corporations heretofore issued. Elections to authorize the levy of such special tax may be held as often as ordered by the governing body of the municipality but when a proposition is submitted to the electors to levy a special tax for a specific purpose, and if such proposition is defeated no second election for the same purpose shall be held in one year thereafter.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the great seal of the State of Alabama to be affixed at the Capitol in the City of Montgomery ono this 29th day of October, 1919. THOS. E. KILBY,

GREAT SEAL Governor.

By the Governor.
WM. P. COBB, Secretary of State.

Dog Law Explained

A letter to Mr. M. D. Foshee, from the State Board of Equalization will probably give some light on the late law regarding dogs:

Hon. M. D. Foshee,
Clerk Circuit Court,
Clanton, Ala.

We are in receipt of your letter of the 23rd inst., in regard to the dog registration law. In reply we beg to advise:

First, that the law providing for the registration of dogs makes it unlawful to keep or harbor on the premises any dog on which the registration fee has not been paid.

Second, We do not think it is the intention of the law that dogs shall be included in property assessments.

STATE TAX COMMISION.

P.S.—As soon as I receive the blanks I will put a notice in the paper. I will also send blank applications to each of the towns in the county so that anyone that does not want to come to Clanton to register their dogs can get a blank at the closest town, or they can write me and I will mail them one. They can fill out the blank and send it with the registration fee which is $1.25 for a male and $2.25 for a female and I send them their receipt together with the tag.

REPUBLICANS PREDICT GREAT 1920 VICTORY

Congressional Committee Has Selected Officers and Plans Campaign.

Washington, Oct. 3—At a meeting of the Republican Congressional Committee, Representative S. D. Fess of Ohio was re-elected Chairman. Representative Julius Kahn of California was chosen first vice-chairman; Representative Will R. Wood of Indiana; and Representative Edward H. Watson of New Hampshire, was re-elected secretary.

Commenting on the fact that the Republicans in 1918 won the House with Mr. Fess as chairman, Representative Kahn said: "Under the leadership of the present chairman the Republicans of the House achieved a glorious victory in 1918. I have no doubt that under thesame quality of leadership, 1920 will bring a still greater victory."

Good feeling marked the meeting of the Committee and the choice of Mr. Fess to succeed himself was unanimous. Utmost confidence was expressed in the 1920 outcome. At the same time the disposition of the Committee was to make a vigorous campaign.

The committee on Women's Political Organizations was chosen. It consists of Majority Leader Frank W. Mondell, and Representative Young of North Dakota, Ramseyer of Iowa, and Watson of New Hampshire.

Representative Esch was made the chairman of the executive committee. Others appointed on this committee are Representatives Graham of Pennsylvania, Tilson of Connecticut, Kahn of California, Timberlake of Colorado, Dyer of Missouri, Browning of New Jersey, Slemp of Virginia, Winslow of Massachusetts, Anderson of Minnesota, Greene of Vermont, Rodenberg of Illinois, and Houghton of New York. Former Representative Miller of Delaware was also appointed on the executive committee.

Changes in the personnel of the Congressional Committee were announced as follows: William A. Rodenberg succeeded Martin B. Madden, from Illinois; C. W. Ramseyer succeeded Frank Woods of Iowa; J. M. Tincher took the place of Phil Campbell, of Kansas; John W. Langley followed Caleb Powers, from Kentucky; Sidney Mudd succeeded F. N. Zihlman, from Maryland; Sidney Anderson followed Halvor Steenerson, from Minnesota; William O. McLaughlin took the place of Moses P. Kincaid, from Nebraska; Carl W. Riddick succeeded Jeannette Rankin, from Montana; O. B. Houghton Followed Norman Gould, from New York; George N. Young succeeded Pat Norton, from North Dakota, and Clinton N. McArthur followed Nicholas Sinnott, from Oregon.

JACKSON CHAPEL

There will be a Box Supper and music at the Jackson Chapel School house next Saturday night, Nov. 8. All are urged to come. Proceeds to go to school. J. H. JACKSON.

IMPATIENTLY AWAIT GREAT NEW CIRCUS

Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Combined Shows Arouse Keen Interest Here.

"Circus Day," the big holiday for which young and old impatiently wait at this particular season promises to eclipse all other events of the calendar year at Montgomery, Thursday, November 13.

It would seem as though everybody in this locality were planning to attend. The very name of the great new circus—Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Combined—has been sufficient to arouse far more interest than has ever before been shown in the coming of any amusement enterprise. And word from the Ringling Brothers, who are the directors of this gigantic super circus, is to the effect that those who attend the performances will witness the greatest program ever presented in America. This is likewise true of the mammoth street parade, which will positively take place showday morning the mammouth menagerie and all else connected with this biggest of all amusement institutions. The famous showmen have made complete survey of both the great circuses and merged the finest and best of each into one. Hundreds upon hundreds of performers will appear in the gigantic main tent. There will be scores upon scores of the cleverest dumb actors. A gorgeously costumed pageant, of stupendous size, will open the program. Great companies of characters, representing the best loved stories of fable and nursery, will appear. There will be splendid and many groups of beautiful horses in jewelled trappings The army of clowns exceed all past records for fun and numbers. All contribute to the biggest circus in history.

Only a Cold.

ALL DAY SINGING.

There will be an all day singing at Pleasant Grove Church, four miles soutwest of Jemison, on the Third Sunday in November. Professors J. D. Patton and H. M. Eagle have promised to be there with their classes together with all singers and lovers of music are invited to attend. Come and bring your books and well filled baskets and let's have a real revival of sacred song. Yours for a good singing. JAMES FRANKLIN.

LIBERTY HILL

The Liberty Hill Singing Society met Sunday afternoon with a large crowd. The singing was good. The song service was opened with a song by the chairman, Prof. J. W. Lowery, and prayer by B. J. Sessions. The program was arranged, and the following directed: J. W. Lowery, Calvin Parrish and Glover Smith, 3 songs each, and Prof. J. D. Patton was given unlimited time. He sung several songs and then gave an interesting talk. He sung two splendid songs, which were enoyed by all.

Organists for the afternoon were Profs. J. D. Patton, W. G. Culp and Miss Zelma Lowery. The society will meet again on the third Sunday afternoon of this month. We invite all singers to come and take a part with us.

DISASTER RELIEF PLAN PERFECTED

American Red Cross to Provide Local Help.

Committees Soon To Be Appointed in Many Communities.

Do you belong to the Disaster Relief Committee in your town?

If you do, or if you are appointed, it means that you are considered brave, considerate, even-tempered and strong. To be appointed to this committee is one of the highest honors that the American Red Cross can bestow upon you; for the Disaster Relief Committee, recently explained by Harry L. Hopkins, director of Civilian Relief, Gulf Division, American Red Cross, is the great body of straight-thinking, quick-acting dependable persons, organized in each community to meet disasters which arise, be they flood, fire, famine, explosion, shipwreck, or earthquake.

In the thirty-eight years since the American Red Cross was first organized in 1881, it has participated in 180 disaster relief expeditions at home and abroad and has expended or directed the expenditure of twelve and a half million dollars. This covers the period up to June 1st, 1919, the end of the fiscal year.

America averages a dozen disasters a year. Latest statistics compiled by the Gulf Division, American Red Cross, show twelve disasters, and the Red Cross gave relief in every one!

In this immediate territory there were grave disasters in recent years—the Gulf States storm in 1906, the Mississippi cyclone in 1907, the Mississippi flood in 1912 and the second flood in 1914. Then there was another flood at Natchez in 1916, and more floods and the boll weevil menace in Alabama in 1917. In fact, 1917 was a bad year for disasters in the South, for during the summer the tornadoes at Village Springs and Carbon Hill and New Hope, Alabama, brought about much suffering. Everybody in this vicinity remembers the Lake Charles, Louisiana, storm in 1918, in which the Gulf Division Red Cross furnished such great aid, and at which time Harry L. Hopkins, director of civilian relief, went to Lake Charles and directed the erection of the tent city. A total of $23,000 was expended in this disaster alone. And in 1919 the Corpus Christi, Texas, storm was robbed of much of its horror through the prompt action of the Red Cross.

Of these ten disasters in the Gulf Division in recent years, the Red Cross has given supplies and spent money to the extent of approximately $108,000.

ROBBERS IN CLANTON

Robbers, acting presumably on the theory that everybody in Clanton was at the street fair Saturday night, took advantage of the occasion to pull off some dirty work around town in places.

A number of homes were entered and several things taken from different places.

The home of Burns Goodgame was looted and a suit of clothes and cap and pair of shoes stollen, together with a hand bag of ladies clothing. On Sunday morning the hand bag was found in a field near the house. It had been cut open and the contents strewn over the ground. It was supposed that the thieves did not want the ladies clothing and therefore abandoned the hand bag when they discovered what it contained.

Where the hand bag was left the man also left his old worn out coat, supposedly putting on the coat he had stolen at the house.

Robbers entered the home of Hugh Thompson the same night and stole a pair of shoes. The home of Clem Giles and Joe Grooms was also visited by the unknown parties, but we learn that nothing was missed there.

U. S. "PACK-HORSE OF EUROPE"

Senator Gronna is right in saying that our adoption of the league of nations covenant would make the United States the pack-horse of nations of Europe. WORK, LABOR'S BEST "DISPLAY"

It has been announced in Washington that 40,000 members of the American Federation of Labor will march in Washington as labor's greatest display" in the national capital. The greatest "display" labor can make at this time is to go to work and work like it has never worked before. In hard, continued work rests the country's only salvation through increased production.

HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

Joe Ben Downs, Reporter.

On last Tuesday, armistice day, there was a general strike among the pupils for a holiday, but only 10 or 15 had the nerve to "play hookie."

On Friday evening at 7:00 o'clock, there will be a program in the high school auditorium, in behalf of the armistice day. The public is cordially invted.

Prof. Thompson had a birthday this week. Can you guess his age, Judging from his looks, we would say he is about thirty; judging by his much learning and dignified air, we would say,—well, we just won't say.

Everybody loves Mythology. Everyone in order to enjoy classic reading, should know a great deal of Mythology. Few people have the good fortune of getting mythological stories without any effect on their part. The students of the C.CH..S. are extremely fortunate in having one or more of these old stories told to them, in a most interesting and entertaining manner on every Friday morning. There are few or no high schools that can boast of a principal who knows more Mythology than Mr. Thompson.

The Junior Red Cross was organized last week, and we are going to try to make this school 100 per cent.

Lanier Literary Society.

At the last meeting of the Lanier Literary Society a debate, "Resolved that the Navy is of more benefit to a nataion than an army." The affirmative was represented by Leon Evans and Leon Kemp; the negative by Cecil Armstrong and Johnnie Plier. The judges decided in favor of the negatives.

Several selections of music of interest were given.

The Lanieran Journal was read also and some up-to-date jokes were rendered.

The society is going to have some very good speakers if debates continue, also, there are some very good musicians and cartoonists in our society.

Athletic News.

The Chilton County High Football team met the Wetumpka "Aggies" and played a very interesting game. Both sides were well matched and it seemed that neither side would score, but on account of a fumble by Chilton three fourths of a minute before the game was over Wetumpka covered the ball and scored the last seconds of the game.

The Athletic Association for Girls at the C. C. H. S. is planning its coming basket ball season with much eagerness. Games are being scheduled with Plantersville, Pratville and several other rival schools. Dates of these games will be arranged later.

The varsity for this year is Gertrude Rockett, center; Myrtle Roberts, center guard; Margaret Hester and Edna Daniells, forwards; Jewel Popwell and Zebie Robinson, guards; Substitute forward Louise Connatser; substitute guards, Ara Evans and Zennye Robinson.

Junior News.

Some of the Juniors are preparing to write a debate on whether Macbeth was more wicked tha Lady Macbeth. The best two on each side will be read in chapel at the meeting of the Literary Societies, Tuesday morning.

Tuesday evening the Juniors sent a basket of grapes to Mr. Holmes, who has been absent from school a week on account of an operation. We are glad to hear that he is getting along all right and will probably be able to return in a week or so.

Sophomore News.

The Sophomore class sent Mr. Holmes a nice box of fruit Friday. We received a letter from him Monday, saying he hoped to be with us next Monday.

Freshman News.

A very large bunch of pretty flowers were sent to Mr. Holmes last week and we are hoping to have him back with us again soon.

The class had 71 enrolled, but there are now 73, two new pupils having enrolled this week—R. V. Watson and John Dorminey. John was a former member of the Rainbow Division in France. This class now has three members of the A. E. F. and one who didn't get overseas. We have the best record in school this point.

Tuesday morning the Freshman boys who were formerly in the army made interesting talks about the time of the signing of the armistice and how they felt at the time.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Parrish of West Clanton regret very much to learn of their moving away. Mr. Parrish has accepted a position with the Alabama Power Co., at Lock 12 and has gone to take up his work. Mrs. Parrish will remain here some two or three weeks yet.

RED CROSS FUNDS FOR HOME USE

LION'S SHARE IS TO STAY IN CHAPTER TREASURIES.

To Be Used for Health, Nursing, First Aid, Disaster Relief.

New Orleans.—Here is a message for every man, woman and child in Louisiana, Alabama and Mississippi. The message comes straight from Homer W. Borst, manager for the Gulf Division of the American Red Cross of that organization's third annual Roll Call, which is now in progress, and which is to reach its successful conclusion on Armistice Day—the first anniversary of the close of the greatest war of all times:

"First of all are the financial needs of national headquarters. On September 30 the Red Cross national treasury contained 14,500 000 dollars, $15,000,000 more than that is needed for the honorable completion of work abroad. It is true that on February 28 a much larger sum was available, but this sum has been used since then in the absolutely necessary relief measures which the Red Cross was compelled to institute at the withdrawal of the armies from the allied countries of Central Europe, and also in the assistance given to the thousands of wounded soldiers in American army hospitals.

"During the period of four months after January 1, 1919, the expenditures by the Red Cross for these purposes were the largest in the history of the organization.

"The next need which the Red Cross is preparing to meet, as enthusiastically as any need during the war, is the home need, the need for Red Cross service to the people of Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama. Under the banner of the Red Cross, which has never known defeat in any field, the people of the Gulf Division are going out to win greater happiness and better civic life and health.

"It is fitting that the campaign ends on Armistice Day. That is the anniversary of our defeat of a great and dangerous foreign enemy. It is the beginning of a renewed fight, and an ultimately victorious fight against internal enemies no less formidable, and no less entitled to be laid low. Those enemies are poverty, ill health and ignorance. The victory means health, happiness and public welfare. The Red Cross Call is humanity on the march."

One-half of every membership dollar remains right at home to perform these local tasks. Also the larger part of all cash contributions will be employed in whatever local welfare work the chapters decide upon.

IRONIC ECONOMY

Here is an ironic display of economy. While Secretary of war Baker was purchasing a ham at the Democratic Co-operative store and carrying it out under his arm, the War Dpartment was also selling the town of Nitro, West Virginia, at a loss to the government of approximately $60,000,000.

CELEBRATE ARMISTICE DAY

The celebration of the Armistice Day program in both the schools at Clanton has been postponed until on next Friday, November 14. Both the schools will give a demonstration in town at 3:00 o'clock, after which a football game will be played at the high school.

Then, in the evening, after a concert down town by the Clanton Band, we will all march to the high school auditorium for the program. Judge Weekley will be present and deliver the address, after a short program of music and appropriate exercises by both schools.

Let every patriotic citizen turn out and take part in the exercise.

RED CROSS OFFICE IS ESTABLISHED HERE

Miss Alee Stewart, Experienced in Red Cross Work, has Charge of Affairs in County.

The pleasing announcement is made this week that a local office of the American Red Cross Society has been established for Chilton County in Clanton. Miss Alee Stewart, a well-known Clanton young lady is in charge of the office, and will look after the activities of the society in this county.

There are many lines of work that the Red Cross will take up through this local office. One main thing in particular will be the rendering of assistance to returned soldiers or their families in any matters relating to their service with the army, their insurance, allotments, or in fact anything about which the soldier or his fomily might need to communicate with the War or Navy Departments of the government. This service will be absolutely free to those who desire it, as Miss Stewart is paid to do the work by the Red Cross society.

The Home Service Department of the Society will manifest itself thru the local office here in several ways. Principal among those things which will come under the surveilance of the Department right now is the assistance of the people of the county in putting their children in school. If there are any children in the county who cannot attend school on account of not having sufficient clothing and books, they will be provided with these necessaries and promptly placed in school and kept there thru the funds of the Red Cross, if report is made of their cases to the local office.

These things mentioned above are only a few of the very good works that will be looked after by the Red Cross. The office of the Society is in the Johnson Building over Kemp's store. Anyone desiring any information about the work of the Red Cross or needing the assitance of the Society will be given a prompt and courteous hearing if they will call on Miss Stewart at the office. You are also urgently requested to call at the office and pay up your membership for another year if you have not already attended to that important part of the work.

THE STONEWALL OF REALISM

If American labor refuses to produce for American consumption, it will find that there are German factories working over-time producing commodoties which will be offered in the American market with the aid of the Wilson-Underwood free trade tariff law.

Clanton, Ala.

By AL HARRIS

Perhaps the most lasting impression of Clanton is that the place is ambitious. There is an atmosphere of industry of commercial buoyancy that reaches out and touches the visitor on the shoulder, yet at the same time he realizes this is not altogether a product of the town itself, but a partial reflection of a rich and abundant environment. That is Chilton County. Clanton is really the heart through which many arteries force a continuoous and invariable flow of agricultural wealth.

When one leaves the train at Clanton the first sound that reaches the ear is that of buzzing lumber mills, unceasing and the monotonous whine of saws announces on unlimited supply. Chilton County is one of the greatest lumber-producing regions in Alabama. After the trees are felled in the forests and cut in the saw mills they are hauled to Clanton for the finishing touches. That is the reason for these numerous planing mills. A dozen or more freight cars are always on the sidetracks waiting to be loaded, while an equal number are moved daily.

Chilton County has always been famous for the quality of its timber, yet, even though the demand and price have trebled during the past few years the people have taken pains to conserve the supply; consequently this county is not facing the problem that so many have already been forced to consider. Every effort that might alleviate unnecessary waste has been made, and the business men are now in position to appreciate the plausibility of their action along these lines.

Many states of the Union have been required to cease almost entirely the cutting of trees on account of the enormous lots that were not utilized, but left to decay; this is also true in some counties in Alabama; but Chilton is in a position to continue the lumber trade for years to come, without fear of a shortage in the natural growth. Of course, there is a reason for this: The lumbermen have plotted their areas along systematic lines, observing the advice offered by government authorities, and by the time one section was practically cleared of available lumber another was ready for the cutters. So Chilton can modestly assume the credit for her advantage in this particular trade.

The backbone of Chilton County is its cotton production. This county does not claim to be the best in the state when it comes to the growth of the "precious fiber," but nevertheless, the output compares favorably with that of others. As is customary in the south, the farmers depend on this article for livelihood and branch out in experimental ventures with the assurance of safety.

However, Chilton is fast becoming the county of diversification in Alabama. More corn, more grain is being raised than ever before, and it is being thrown into the market at a surprisingly large price in comparison to cotton. Another article that is fast becoming popular in the agricultural section is velvet beans. The farmers state that there is little difficulty in raising this plant, while it has also been discovered that they are easily marketable and can be sold at a good profit.

Chilton is Peanut Center of State.

Chilton is recognized to be a peanut center in this state, and this year the largest crop yet has been planted and indications are that it will be a successful harvest. Alabama peanuts are widely known throughout the country for their splendid size and delicacy of flavor, and many are considering seriously the proposition of devoting their entire acreage and time to the growing of the lowly but popular "goober." They say that the plant is one of the least susceptible to sporadic weather conditions and should prove a profitable investment.

If Chilton had the equipment—and according to several of the most influential citizens they soon will have—enough sugar cane is grown in the county to produce a large sugar supply, and in view of the likely shortage of the future it is believed that men of means will advance the project in the county. The cane itself is of a very high grade class, being large and extraordinarily sweet, which is an advantage to be considered. Much of this supply at present, as is also the sorghum crop, is being used in the manufacture of syrup, and each season hundreds of barrels are shipped to wholesale houses and individuals in different sections of the country.

When one talks to citizens of Clanton and Chilton County they seem to take pride, as they should, in the number of men and boys who answered the nation's call during the late war. There is hardly a family that didn't at least send one representative to the colors, while others sent all within the ane limits.

County has Long Honor Roll.

J. Bice, formerly county treasurer, had five sons in uniform, all of whom saw active service in the battle lines in France. All of them returned and are living happily in Chilton County. By name they are: Stoughton, Clarence, Chester, Jay and Grover Bice. There are numbers of instances in the war record of America where this many sons entered the army, but the cases are rare where all of them were afforded the opportunity of going overseas.

The following is a complete list of the Chilton County boys who offered their lives for their country: Robert Kirkland, Clanton; Porter M. Plier, Clanton; Alonzo S. Shirley, Clanton; Edward S. Stewart, Clanton; Waymon Young, Clanton; Thomas Boswell, Cooper; John M. Collum, Jemison; Obie J. Lewis, Jemison; Edward C. Sims, Jemison; Enoch Smith, Jemison; Rufus C. Calloway, Maplesville; Ernest C. Edwards, Maplesville; Perry S. Edwards, Maplesville; Nicholas A. Minor, Maplesville; William J. Boatfield, Mt. Creek; Hilary H. Huggins, Mt. Creek; Bill Boykin, Riderville; George P. Mattison, Riderville; Walter Caton, Thorsby; Corb Driver, Verbena; William R. Plott, Verbena; Jim Wyatt, Dollar; John M. Burnette, Billingsley; John Robert Roper, Clanton; Alvin Jones, Clanton; Arnold M'Dowell, Clanton; Leon Popwell, Clanton; Otis Hutson, Mt. Creek; Warren Franklin, Clanton; John Thomas Wyatt, Clanton.

The business section of Clanton is attractively arranged and no town in the state can boast of more modern assortment of buildings. They are, at least the majority of them, built of red brick, and will retain their beauty for many years to come. Streets are wide and afford ample space for the busy traffic. Some of the department and drug stores are very citified; that is, they equal in variety and stock to those of Birmingham, and Clanton has a motto that seems to be generally accepted: "Trade at home."

Big Hog Sale Day on Nov. 25.

Now the coming industry in Chilton is hog-raising. One merchant stated that in 1914 he received 1,000 pounds of meat weekly, while in 1916 he was using the home supply exclusively, and at present carloads of hog meat are shipped weekly from Clanton to packers and dealers in all partts of the country. That in itself tells the story. The farmers have learned that hog-raising is profitable, as well as more interesting than the routine labor required in the production of a regular crop, and many of them are devoting their efforts entirely to it. In most instances fine stock is a specialty, and the farmers are seeking to regulate their crop to such a verie-ty of agricultural productions that it will not be necessary to use imported foodstuffs in raising of animal. The waste land of the county is being used as grazing territory for the hogs and those now engaged in the work state that this is essential to success. This alone gives the county an added asset.

Chilton is adopting a system in the sale of hogs which has been in practice in several Alabama counties for some time; but which will be introduced there for the first time on November 25. The plan is this: The farmers bring their hogs into Clanton on that day, where they are graded and classified by experts, and then they are sold in carload lots and shipped away. The purpose of this is to be of benefit to the small producer. It is pointed out that the farmer who raises only a few head each year is unable to reach the market with his product, and after the transaction have a reasonable profit. In this way that opportunity is extended to him. Those in charge of hog-sale day in Chilton County this year are: L. H. Reynolds, J. D. Collins, C. F. Jones, J. C. Jones and J. N. Dennis.

One of the first places Pim and I visited was the office of The Union-Banner, the official newspaper of the county. We were greeted by W. M. Wyatt, editor and general manager. Of course, when newspaper men get together one of the first topics mentioned is politics. Mr. Wyatt announced that he was a Republican.

"What, a republican in Alabama?" I asked. "I never heard of such a thing."

"Then you've got lots to learn," laughed Mr. Wyatt, "for this county is republican all the time." Just then Pim called him to one side and evidently showed him a card of some kind; for after that Mr. Wyatt seemed far more attentive to Pim than he did to me. Without any definite knowledge on the situation I suspect that it was a case of "birds of a feather flock together," or some suitable phrase of that kind would be applicable.

The Union-Banner is one of the most up-to-date weeklies in this neck of the woods. Mr. Wyatt stated that the circulation is all that could be desired, and at times he is literally flooded with advertising matter. News columns from different parts of the county are a good feature of the paper, and Mr. Wyatt claims the livest set of correspondents ever corralled by a weekly in Alabama. "They are always on their toes," he said, "and by their co-operation we always have a plenty of live news for our readers."

Mr. Wyatt said that his three favorite pastimes were boosting The Union-Banner, campaigning for the republican candidates and fishing. Although he didn't say it in so many words, it seems that the last mentioned is his favorite diversion.

Youngest Boy Scout Band in the Country.

Clanton rightly holds the distinction of having the youngest Boy Scout band in the United States. The word "band" is not to be mistaken for club or patrol; but this is a real music-dispensing organization, with horns and drums an' everything. The members vary in ages from 9 to 13 years, and are well trained musicians. They play classical band music, as well as rag-time music, in the most delightful manner. The leader, Kenneth Smith, is only 13 years old, yet his musical ability has attracted the attention of all who have heard him.

The boy scouts have two patrols in Clanton, with W. O. Rich as scoutmaster, and the youngsters are very enthusiastic in the work. "We are following all the rules and regulations as laid down by headquarters," said Mr. Rich, "and the boys are receiving much instruction that will be of service to them later on, beside furnishing wholesome amusement while doing this."

The famous Mahan Wagon Brake is manufactured in Clanton. This is specially designed to be of service to lumbermen and trucksters. When the output was first placed on the market several years ago the demands caused the originators immediately to set up a larger plant. Since that time the business has grown by leaps and bounds. The company now is under the general managership of J. A. Mahan.

One of the most interesting characters Pim and I met was Sam'l Scott, who told us that since the organization of The Birmingham Ledger he has not missed a single issue. So we felt at home without further comment and listened to his quaintly-told story of the history of the paper. "I am a strict Scotch Presbyterian, and some way didn't like to see The Ledger enter the Sunday field," he said, "although I know they did the right thing from their viewpoint. I never read a paper on Sunday at all."

"But you read the Sunday Ledger?" I asked.

He smiled, "Yes, on Monday morning."

"I expect that I am one of the few persons who has not missed a single issue," continued Mr. Scott. "Once I went to Texas and on another occasion to Virginia. Each time I had The Ledger follow me. It is really a part of my existence now—and a very pleasant one."

Those people in Clanton must be given credit for ingenuity. For the past week the Atwood shows have been there; but they were not permitted to enter the town until local arrangements were made. Usually a show enters a place and leaves with several thousand dollars of the hard-earned money, with nothing in the possession of the citizens to show for their visit; but this time the city school mathered the affair, so to speak, and received 20 per cent of all the profits. This money will be used in improving the school grounds and facilities. When one comes to think of it no better means of raising funds could be devised. The school is a wide-awake institution and never passes an opportunity to better its own interests.

Chilton has Excellent County High School.

The Chilton County High School is located in Clanton, and students from all parts of the county are in attendance. The train schedules are convenient for transportation of the pupils. Each morning 100 or more reach the school by this method. C. V. Thompson is superintendent, and reports that this is one of the most successful year in the history of the county. The building is practically new. One of the features of its location is that the athletic fields are afforded. The county has supplied numerous articles for games, such as basketball and football, and outdoor sports are stressed.

As are the majority of the county schools in the state, the institution is encouraging vocational education and Mr. Thompson states that it has proven a wonderful advantage in training the pupils.

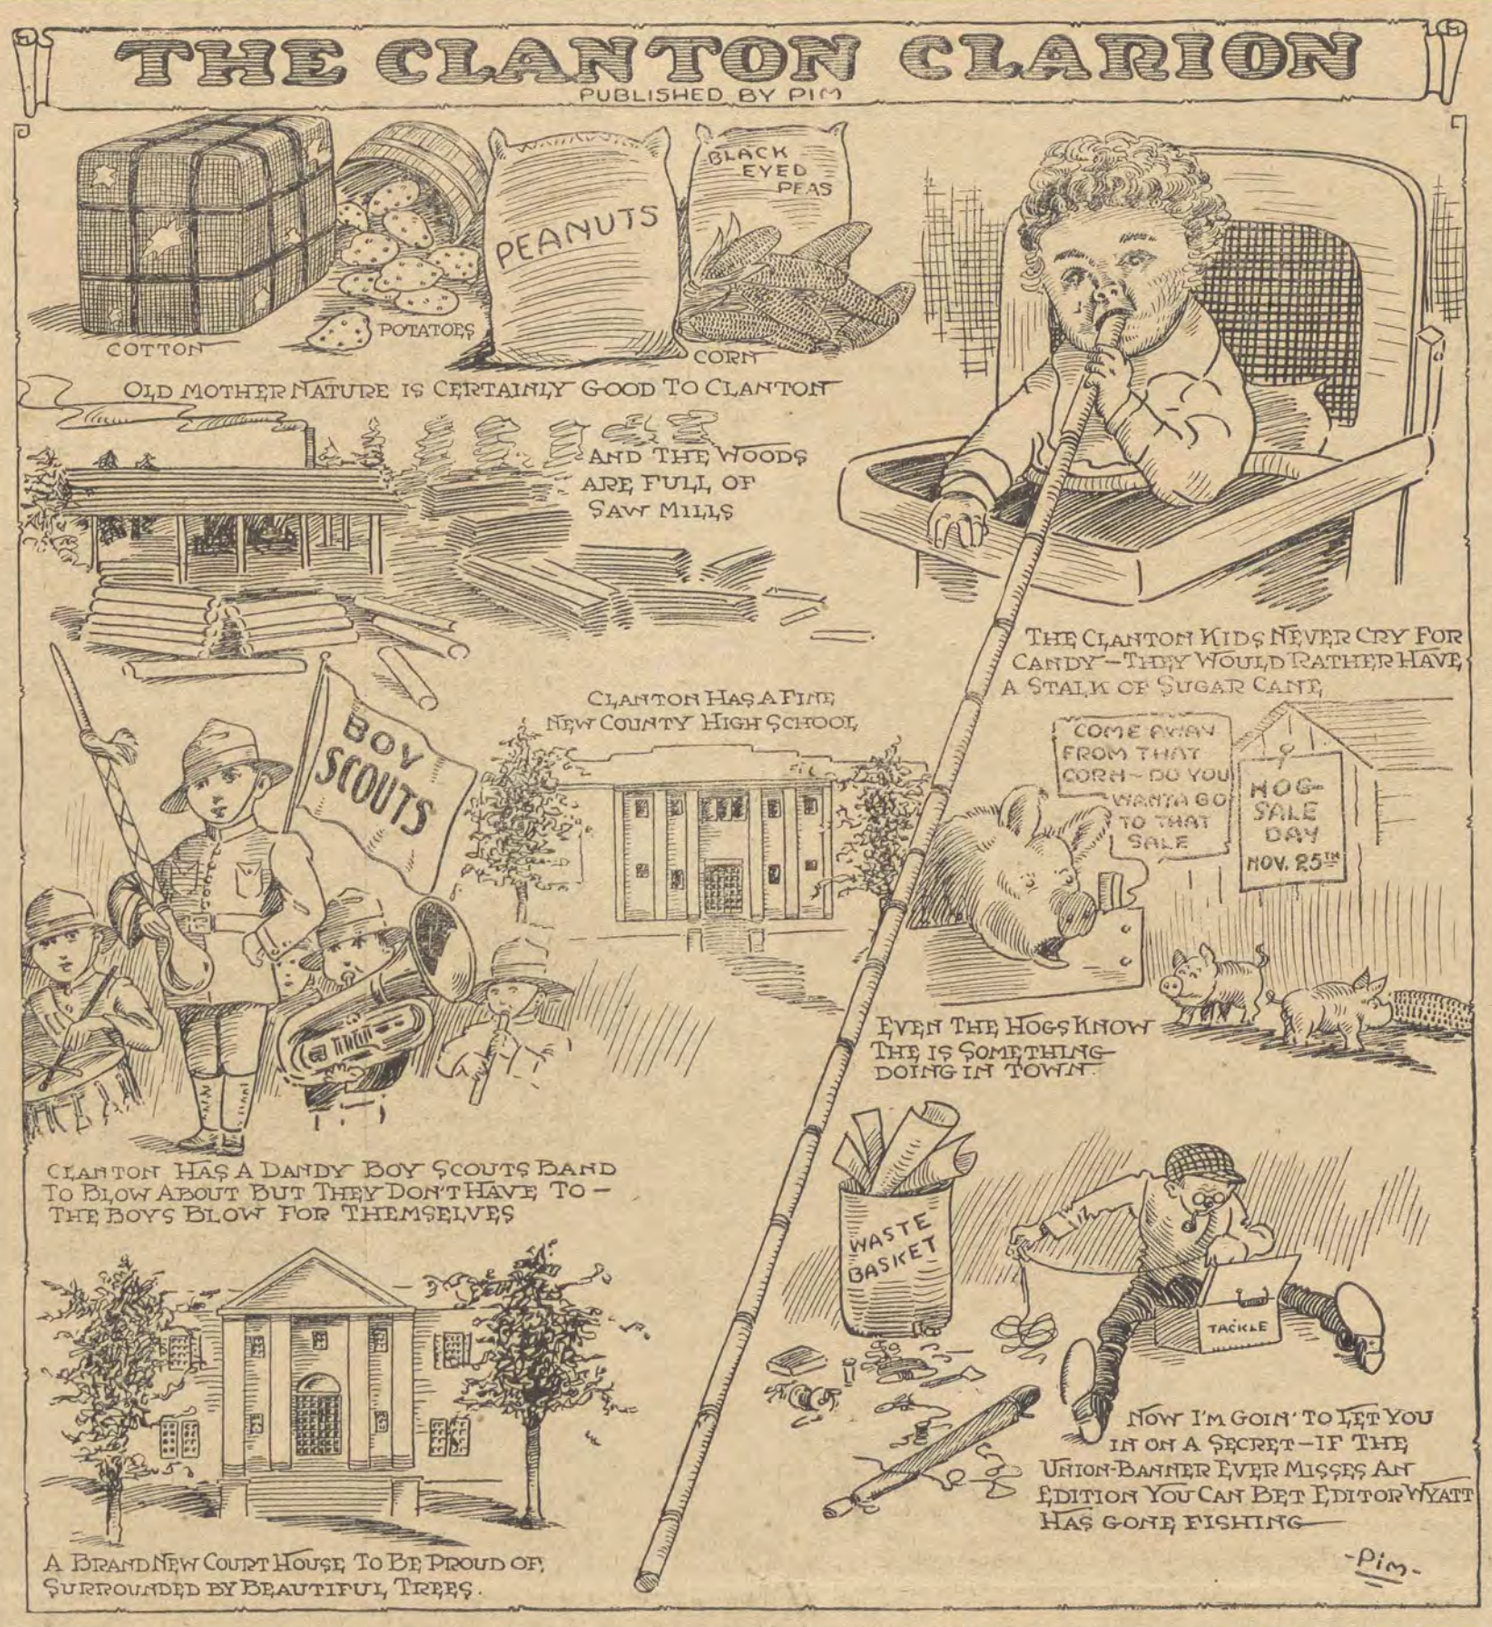
Clanton has two churches—Methodist and Baptist, and plans are under way to build new houses of worship for both. This was planned previously to the war, but in the abnormal period the minds of the people were diverted to other things. However, several of the members predicted that before the end of the year definite plans will have been made for the erection of two churches, erected after latest designs.

The new Chilton County Court House which cost in the neighborhood of $70,000, is one of the prettiest buildings in the state. It is built of red brick and the architecture is quite striking. The old familiar dome is missing, but its absence rather adds than detracts from the structure. It is located on Main Street in Clanton and is one of the first sights that greets the eye of the arriving stranger.

Within the next few weeks a new bank will be opened in Clanton, to be known as the First National Bank. Some of the strongest financial interests in the state are supporting it, which might be taken that it is going to bid to much of the business in that section. The president has not yet been elected; John C. Page will be cashier. The other bank in Clanton is the Peoples Savings Bank, with W. T. Callen as president and John A. Thomas cashier. It is an old established organization in Chilton County and numbers its friends by the hundreds.

Clanton has two up-to-date hotels, both located in new buildings and catering only to the best class of trade. The Wilson hotel, under the management of P. D. Wilson, is known thruout the state for its ability to make the traveling man feels at home, and the Exchange is a new-comer, having opened two months ago, and is fast gaining a reputation with the public. W. J. Armstrong is manager.

Clanton has the council form of government, and the citizens state that it has proven most satisfactory. Pim and I wanted to meet J. W. Stanfield, the mayor, but he happened to be out of town, and the pleasure was not afforded us.



"Smiling Judge" Has Many Friends.

Judge L. H. Reynolds is known in Clanton as the "smiling Judge." Regardless of how busy he may be, he always has time to talk with his friends, and several of the men about town told us that he had more than any other in the county. There is no reason to doubt this, for Judge Reynolds is altogether congenial, and is recognized to be one of the ablest judges that ever occupied the bench in Chilton County.

C. F. Jones president of the Jones Hardware Company, is pointed to by the citizenry as the official booster of Clanton. He never overlooks a bet when his home town is concerned. However, it would be wrong to place Mr. Jones in a booster's club all to himself. Clanton is a town of boosters. They know that they have the qualities that make greatness and are straining to not only establish their thriving little metropolis on the map, but to cause it to cast a ray of light on all parts of the map.

"Watch our smoke," said J. D. Collins, county tax collector.

And there is plenty of fire under that smoke in Clanton!

WEST CHILTON

"The melancholy days have come, The saddest of the year."

Look over West Chilton in various directions, and you will note clouds of dark smoke slowly ascending above the Horizon, that means syrup making is on.

Thomas Waldrup of Illinois is visiting his relatives here while the great coal strike is on.

Mr. Warren Brantley of Columbus, Ga., is spending some time here.

Dewey Pate is now with his Brother at Adams.

Mr. Dave Wood Freeman of Thorsby is in this locality making syrup.

Mr. Ed Smitherman of Adams visited here Sunday.

Rev. Waldrup was carried to Birmingham recently for treatment; latest report is that he is doing well.

A box supper at Freeman Wednesday night netted a nice sum for the school improvements. Early every morning it is interesting to see on every road groups of children on their way to school. How different from what it once was. Just an occasional short school, often in the hot summer months. What is this multitude of children enroute to school for? To prepare to take the places of father and mother. Then what a work for the teacher to train them to be real men and women, to meet the ideals and environments of the new world. The old world is gone—is ended. In entering the new age Chilton County may well feel proud of her many public spirited men and women—noble people, self-sacrificing, worthy of all honor. Among them we call to mind T. J. Hubbard, Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Vickers, D. H. Gentry, J. W. Sorrell, Mrs. Charles Howard, W. M. Wyatt, J. W. Moore, J. M. Mims, J. N. Gentry, S. M. Adams, Miss Etha Nix, W. C. Edler, J. H. Martin, W. H. Gillespie, Miss Della Williams, J. W. Hays, J. B. Northcutt and scores of others of equal importance.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION FOR PARDON OR PAROLE

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned, who was on the 9th day of December, 1915, convicted in the Circuit Court of Chilton County, Ala., of murder in the firt degree and given a life sentence, will apply to the Governor of Alabama for a pardon or parole of said sentence.

M. C. ALLGOOD UNANIMOUSLY ELECTED PRESIDENT AMERICAN COTTON ASS'N ISSUES RINGING CALL TO ALABAMIANS

Calls On Every Man and Woman Who Loves the South to Rally to the Support of the American Cotton Association With Moral Backing and Financial Support.

M. C. ALLGOOD.

War on low priced cotton and starvation wages has been declared by the American Cotton Association, and every man in Dixie is now called upon to volunteer his services.

Low priced cotton brings hard times and hard times stagnates industry and business of every kind, so it makes no difference what you are engaged in doing; if you live in the Southland and cotton sells for six or eight cents it will depress your business. This organization is backed by the bankers, merchants and farmers, and we are fighting for our rights the same as our fathers fought in the sixties, and I urge every man in Alabama that loves his State, that likes prosperity, that wants to help safeguard the future, to investigate this organization and join it.

Fifty years ago the South had no cotton mills, and the only thing that could be done with cotton was to sell it to New England or English spinners. The North gave the negroes their political freedom, but it immediately enslaved them as also enslaved the white men, women and children of the South by low priced cotton. The American Cotton Association stands unalterably opposed to low priced cotton and the enslavement of those who produce it.

Every school district in the Southern States is going to be organized. One million organized Southern men can and will control cotton. Will you not be one of the defenders of the South?

Most respectfully,
M. C. ALLGOOD, President.

DECLARATION OF OBJECT, PURPOSE AND POLICIES

AMERICAN COTTON ASSOCIATION SET FORTH IN CONSTITUTION AND BY-LAWS.

The objects and purposes of this Association shall be:

1. To protect the interests of the cotton producer and to improve his condition.

2. To promote economic regulation of cotton production to the end that supply shall be so adjusted to demand that the producer shall at no time be required to sell his product at less than a fair and reasonable profit.

3. To promote intelligent diversification of crops, and to develop markets for such crops, other than cotton, as may be profitably raised.

4. To improve and enlarge presently existing warehousing facilities to the end that the producer may carry his crop, or such part as he may desire, at the minimum of expense and physical damage and at the maximum of security and financiability.

5. To broaden the markets for raw cotton and to enlarge the uses for cotton and cotton goods.

6. To improve and increase transportation and distribiution facilities.

7. To collect information as to both domestic and foreign consumption of cotton, the state of trade, the extent of acreage, supply and condition of crop, and all other information of practical interest to the cotton industry, and to disseminate the results through the several sub-organizations to every member of every community, together with directions as to the course to be pursued in order to secure the best results in view of the facts disclosed.

8. To do all and singularly whatsoever may be conducive to the stability and profitableness of the cotton producing industry.

W. Cary Martin of Collins Chapel was among the visitors to Clanton on Monday.

CHARTER MEMBER ENROLLMENT OF A. C. A. BEGINS

JUDGE DRIVER OF LAFAYETTE FIRST TO ENROLL IN ALABAMA DIVISION. PROUD OF DISTINCTION.

A. J. Driver, ex-probate judge of Chambers county, a large cotton planter of east Alabama, has the distinction of being the first to enroll as a charter member of the Alabama Division of the American Cotton Association.

The membership dues in the organization are fixed at 25 cents per bale for the crop of 1919 and will be 10 cents per bale for subsequent crops. Bankers, merchants and manufacturing firms are required to pay a membership fee of 25 cents on each thousand dollars invested in their business, which, like that of the farmer, pays dues until January 1st, 1921, and thereafter their dues will be fixed at 10 cents on the thousand dollars invested.

There are to be issued a limited number of Charter Memberships, which cost $100 and pays all dues until January 1, 1923. It was the latter form of membership Judge Driver took. The Judge was much pleased with his certificate, which, by the way, is handsomely engraved and has the appearance of a United States Gold Bond of one hundred dollars valuation. Members who are taking them are having them framed and displayed in a conspicuous place in their offices. Large banking houses and manufacturing firms are taking this class of membership for two reasons, first, it is cheaper than paying the percentage on capital for the period covered, and second, they are in possession of a handsome document which when framed and displayed readily identifies them with this great movement for the uplift of all classes in the Southland.

Ruben Reynolds was a visitor to relatives and friends in town Sunday.

COULDN'T WALK TWO BLOCKS

Wonderful Recovery of Real Estate Man From Rheumatism After Taking Sulferro-Sol, "The Wonder Medicine."

"In the interests of my friends and mankind generally," writes Mr. James H. Stephens, Jacksonville, Fla., "I wish to state how much I have been benefited by Sulferro-Sol. For several years prior to 1915, I had suffered with stomach trouble, rheumatism and other complaints, being reduced in weight from 165 lbs. to 139 lbs., and so weak I could not walk two blocks without being exhausted. While on a visit to Mr. Stanley Stanton Stephens in September, 1915, at Ramer, Ala., he introduced your medicine. I took it and soon my troubles left me, my appetite became good. Being able to eat solid foods, I commenced to regain my weight, and on 15th of August, 1916, I tipped the scale at 166 lbs. Now, and for two years, I can walk from my home, 1714 Liberty street, to my office, 54 Buckman Building, one and one-quarter miles, without fatigue; notwithstanding the fact that I am seventy-six years young."

This is one of hundreds of letters that have been written in praise of Sulferro-Sol, Nature's medicine that has done so much good in the world. Take it for Rheumatism, Indigestion, Eczema or any other nerve or blood disease. You will not be disappointed. Druggists sell it.

CLANTON NEEDS A MORE SYSTEMATIC GOVERNMENT

Clanton needs so many different things that it seems a waste of time to start out to name them. And besides that it is no use for us to tell you what the town needs when you know what it needs as well as we do. But we will take a chance on one thing right here. We have got to fill up this space with something.

But what we set out to tell you is that Clanton needs a more active, systematic, business-like city government. We don't know why the present town officials do not do better than they do; but we expect them to tell us why after they see this. Then we will tell you what they say is the matter. Now, if they are doing the best they can under the circumstances, all right for them. But the circumstances ought to be altered so they can give us a better system of town government.

We admit right here though that the whole trouble is not with the town officials. The people of the town as a whole have their own share of responsibility in the mess. We laymen citizens do not take the proper pride in the affairs of the town. If we did that might change the circumtances that are holding the officers down in the proper administration of affairs. There never was a place in the world nor a time more in need of a thorough revival of the spirit of town pride than in Clanton this good day of our Lord. We must be shaken out of our lethargy. The way we are permitting things to lag here is a shame and a disgrace.

Why do we do it: None of us are so busy making money that we have no time for improving our town. Here is what is the matter. We just simply don't care enough about the town to give it any thought. We are sleepy, I tell you. Some day we shall awaken to the folly of our neglect. Then we will repent with long faces, but the opportunity will be spent.

We could go on indefinitely with a long string of things that we ought to do and ought not to do. That would be all right if we were Prof. Johnson talking to his school kids. But it does not fit this occasion in which we are engaged. This is written to warn the grown people of Clanton, the papas and the mammas, of the danger that lurks in our delusive attitude. Those who read this are as old and older than the writer, and know as welll as I what is the matter with our town.

Can't we go into the secrets of ourselves and find out where we have fallen short as citizens of our town, and come out with a firm determintion to revive our spirit of pride and make a town which Al and Pim will not be forced to lie about when they come here to give us a boost?

LAWLESSNESS DEFEATED IN MASS., BUT FIGHT STILL ON

The fight against lawlessness and disorder has been won in Massachusetts by the re-election of Governor Coolidge by a plurality of 125,000. The good people of the Bay State who stood so loyally by the man who stood loyally by them, are to be commended and congratulated. But this is no time to make commendation and congratulation an occasion for delay and diversion. The fight is still on in every section of the United States. The forces of lawlessness and disorder are organized and aggressive. They seen to have abundant financial resources at their command and their aggressiveness sets an eaxmple for advocates of a better cause.

Unfortunately, the advocates of law and order have not in all states and communities leaders courageous and able. Too frequently men in position of leadership wait until the battle has been fought and then align themselves with the winner. They dislike the burden, the inconvenience and the dangers of the fight, and lack the courage to cast their lot with the rank and file of civic righteousness until they find out whether righteousness is popular. There are thousands of public men in America today who believe in the right of any man to take employment in any legitimate industry without first paying tribute to a labor union, but who lack the courage to declare that conviction to all the world. They are of the "gumshoe," "pusy foot" style of politician as useless to a progressive nation as a camp follower to an army.

But Governor Coolidge is not alone, although his company may be relatively small. Here and there through out the land are men who take sides as soon as the issue is drawn, without waiting to find out which side is most popular. There were 39 Republican Senators who did not put their ears to the ground before declaring for Americanism as against internationalism. There was in their action the same character of decisiveness manifested by Patrick Henry when he exclaimed, "I care not what course others may pursue, but as for me, give me liberty or give me death." Because those 39 Senators will back their words with their votes, the independence of the United States will be preserved to this generation and to all posterity.

The fight and the victory in Massachusetts are but incidents in the great battle that is in progress all over the United States for the upholding of government by law—the preservation of the Constitution, the enforcement of statutes and the protection of the individual in his right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. Bolshevism has now been checked but not defeated. Men who have catered to bolshevism still hold positions of power in the nation. They continue to shake first the fist and then the finger. They are as uncertain and undependable now as ever. If the good people of America want this nation preserved as a truly representative government, they must rally to the support of men who take a prompt and clearly defined stand on the side of law and order—on the side of Americanism and constitutional government—relegating to realms of the forgotten those men, of whatever party, who strive to be all things to all men, ready to compromise with principle or sell the American birthright for a mess of pottage.

"AL AND PIM VISIT CLANTON"

Did you see the Birmingham Ledger last Sunday? If you don't read the Ledger every day, you are missing the best thing that Alabama offers in the way of a daily newspaper. We don't agree with lots of things the Ledger says editorially, politically, etc but we do grant that they are an honest bunch of good fellows and mean well; but they publish a good newspaper after all.

Now, back to the last Sunday's paper. If you did not see that one you missed a treat. You know we told you last week that Al and Pim of The Ledger staff had visited Clanton and would write the town up in the Sunday paper. Well, they fixed us up good and proper all right. They found out many good things about our town that lots of us fellows who live right here don't know about.

By special permission of Mr. Quimby Melton, the General Manager of the Ledger, we have secured Pim's pictures of Clanton, and have copied Al's story along with it in this issue of the Union-Banner. You will like what they said about us.

In this connection we might say that there are some dark spots in Clanton which Al and Pim did not see. They said they did not want to see them, so we didn't insist. But we are going to get a fellow who can drow pictures to come here and paint the dark spots. His pictures along with an appropriate write-up will appear in The Union-Banner next week.

Loook over the "sunny side" this week with Al and Pim. Next week you can see the other side of the picture if you get the Union-Banner.

SOLDIER GRAVES NEGLECTED

Chief Justice McCoy of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia has appeared before the Foreign Affairs Committee of the House in a hearing on the Bland bill to return our soldier dead, and criticized the War Department for alleged neglect of graves in France. Justice McCoy lost a son overseas, and has but recently returned from a trip to the battle areas, during which he located and provided for the private care of his son's grave. His comments, therefore, are based on personal observation of conditions as they actually exist.

GEOGRAPHY AND SOUND BODIES

Government statistics show that in only eleven states of the Union the average number of men passing the physical examination for admission to the army during the recent war reached 70 per cent. These eleven states were North and South Kakota, Minnesota, Wyoming, Nebraska, Iowa, Kansas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Texas and New Mexico. The states in the next highest class, showing a per cent of between 65 and 69, inclusive, are Montana, Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, West Virginia, Missouri, Maryland, North Carolina, Alabama, Florida, Mississippi, and Louisiana.

HOG SALE DAY HERE ON NOVEMBER 25TH

Our readers, and the public of Chilton County in general, are admonished not to forget the hog sale day which is to be in Clanton on the 25th of this month. Those behind the movement are very enthusiastic for the success of the occasion, and we must not fail to recognize that the bigger the success of the sale, the bigger the benefit that will come to the people of the county thereby.

If you have got more hogs than you are going to need for your own use, it will pay you to get in touch with Mr. J. D. Collins or Judge Reynolds and find out about this wholesale sale day and be ready with your hogs to get in on the advantages that will be offered you. Don't be one of those to leave your hogs at home and come down here to see how the other fellow comes out before you are willing to try it. If you do you will be the loser, and will also be sorry of it later on.

The hog sale day is the only plan whereby the small hog raisers in this county can ever hope to get the advantage of market privileges that are worth while to them. Everybody get behind this thing now and boost for Chilton County hogs on November 25. It will be the first chapter of tremendous future for hog raising in our county. Don't fail to have your name recorded on the pages of this first chapter.

PROCLAMATION

STATE OF ALABAMA.
Executive Department.

Whereas the Legislature of Alabama at its regular session in the year 1919 has ordered a special election by the qualified electors of the State of Alabama upon a certain proposed Amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, which is herein set forth, to be held at a date to be fixed by the Governor not less than three months from and after the final adjournment of said regular session:

And Whereas notice of such election together with the proposed Amendment is required by law to be given by proclamation of the Governor:

Now, therefore, I, Thomas E. Kilby, Governor of the State of Alabama, do hereby give notice, direct and proclaim that the election to be held, as ordered by the Legislature in said regular session, at a date to be fixed by the Governor after the expiration of three months from the final adjournment of said regular session of the Legislature at which said Amendment was proposed and said election ordered, will be held on to-wit, Monday, December 29th, 1919, for the vote of the qualified electors of the State of Alabama in the manner, form and places required by law upon the following Amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, to-wit:

Sec. 194. (A) The payment of the poll tax mentioned in the Constitution of Alabama shall not be required of any person who served in the military or naval service of the United States for a period of not less than four months between January 1, 1917, and November 11, 1918, and who has been or who may be honorably discharged from said service and who was a qualified elector, except as to payment of poll takes, at the time he entered said service, or who has since become such qualified elector, except as to payment of poll taxes. Any such person is exempted from the payment of all poll taxes until September 30, 1923. (B) Certificates of exemption from payment of such poll taxes shall be issued to persons entitled thereto under regulations prescribed by the Governor.

In witness whereof I hereunto set my hand and cause the Great Seal of the State of Alabama to be affixed at the Capitol in the city of Montgomery, on this the 30th day of October, 1919.

WOULD DISCOURAGE UNLAWFUL DEFICITS.

During the discussion of the budget bill in the House, Congressman Graham of Pennsylvania was the author of an amendment that, if it remains in the bill, will do much to discharge the vicious and unlawful deficits in which every department is continually involving itself. "The comptroller general," reads Mr. Graham's amendment, "shall specially report to the congress every expenditure or contract made by any head of a department in any way in excess of the appropriation to such department and in violation of law." Having had its attention specifically called to each deficit congress can then pass it by if it deems proper, or take other appropriate action.

NO MANDATES WANTED

The Senate has indicated a desire to possess itself of the report of Gen. Harbord against the proposal of a United States mandate for Armenia. Although it is said that Col. House assured the foreign ministers of England and France that Armenia would be taken over by this country, it is becoming increasingly evident that the project will not be sanctioned by the Senate.

COTTON SEED FOR SALE.

Clanton, Ala., Nov. -2, 1919.

Editor Union-Banner:—Please let me say to the farmers expecting to grow cotton another year that if you want to secure seed of one of the best strains of Cook's Cootton, that I have a limited amount of seed to offer. They were grown from seed I secured from Prof. E. F. Cauthen at Auburn, Ala.

These seed were not mixed at the gin and were save from cotton that yielded as high as a bale to the acre this year. Price for the next thirty days will be two dollars per bushel, in lots of five bushels or more.

Planting seed will be scarce and higher later. First come, first served.

CUMMINS REPORTS R. R. BILL

Washington, Nov. 5.—(Special correspondence)—Senator Cummins, the Chairman of the Interstate Commerce Committee, has reported the railroad bill showing the results of the careful consideration that his committee has bestowed upon it. It has been placed on the Senate calendar where it will remain until after the final disposition of the peace treaty. Mr. Cummins declares however, that the measure will be enacted before adjournment of the present session of Congress. If it should not be, he said the Senate would be justly subject to "the condemnation of every fair-minded man in America."

Camel CIGARETTES

Smokers realize that the value is in the cigarettes and do not expect premiums or coupons!

Camels are sold everywhere in scientifically sealed packages of 20 cigarettes; or ten packages (200 cigarettes) in a glassine-paper-covered carton. We strongly recommend this carton for the home or office supply or when you travel.

If you want to know what rare and unusual enjoyment Camels provide smoke them in comparison with any cigarette in the world at any price!

CAMELS are a cigarette revelation any way you consider them! Take quality, or refreshing flavor and fragrance; or, that wonderful mellow-mild-smoothness you never before got in a cigarette smoke! Yet Camels are so full-bodied and so full-of-satisfaction you marvel that so much delight could be put into a cigarette!

Camels expert blend of choice Turkish and choice Domestic tobaccos makes them so irresistibly appetizing! And, the blend explains why it is possible for you to smoke Camels liberally without tiring your taste! You will prefer Camels to either kind of tobacco smoked straight!

You'll realize pretty quick, too, that among the many reasons you smoke Camels is their freedom from any unpleasant cigaretty aftertaste or unpleasant cigaretty odor!-

Once you know Camels you won't take much stock in premiums, coupons or gifts! You'll prefer Camel quality!

L. P. MARTIN WRITES FROM DORA, ALA., TO HIS MOTHER

Dora, Ala., Oct. 29, 1919.

Mrs. B. N. Martin, Jemison, Ala.

Dear mother and all:

Wonder how you all are getting along by this time. Fine I hope. This leaves us all well expect the children all have bad colds. Well, I guess you will be somewhat surprised about me when you have finished reading this letter.

You know, I told you when you were over here that I was a saved man and was prepared to die; so you will remember that I have told you many times that I was called to preach, but for the fact that I was drinking all the time of course you paid it no attention. But I will truthfully tell you that I have been fighting against the call of the ministry for five long years of my ife, and I was ashamed to confess it; and on last Sunday I felt the call so strong that I had to surrender to it. There was no peace on earth for me until I did it and I saw it. I considered that I had fought against it long enough. You know God says that if you are ashamed of Him He will likewise be ashamed of you. So there is nothing left for me to do in this world but to put forth all my efforts I can to be a soul winner for Christ.

I know that this will be quite a shock to the people down there, but as I wrote in my letter to the Union-Banner, that will make no difference with me, what anybody on earth says or thinks about me. Because of the fact that my future life will prove to the world as well as God what I am.

I am to be licensed and ordained into the ministry next Sunday by the Dora Baptist Church, and by the grace of God I expect to go forth in the discharge of my duties so long as I am permitted to live in the world. I well know that the responsibility that will rest upon me will be great; but I don't feel like it will be as bad as the burden was trying to get away from my duties. God kept saying to me day and night: "You know I have been merciful unto you and have saved you. Now, what are you going to do for me?" And then he said unto me: "You have been a leader for the Devil and now if you don't work in the vineyard for me I will chastise you and you know that God doesn't lie." I wish it could be that you and papa could be here Sunday with me. I know that there is not a man in the world that feels any better today than I do.

If you cannot come Sunday, write me soon and tell me all the news. I expect to come down there before long, and when I come I will want some appointments down there, so I can try to build up in the Kingdom of God some of the things that I have torn down. Hoping to see you or hear from you soon, I am,

Your son,
L. P. MARTIN,
Box 169, Dora, Ala.

CAN'T REMEMBER WHEN I'VE FELT QUITE SO WELL

Am Full of Energy and Vitality; Have Fine Appetite; Sleep Sound; Constipation Overcome; Stomach Right Again, Since Taking Dreco.

When a person has been half sick, feeling dull, tired and "no account," then gets a medicine that puts new energy and vim into his every-day life, he feels like letting others know about it. That's how this man feels. He is Mr. D. T. Carter of 405 Pine street, Anniston, Ala.

"For years I've suffered awful pains in my back from deranged kidneys. Sometimes I'd have to get up five or six times during the night. I also had headaches and was badly constipated, and my food seemed to ferment in my stomach and form sour gas, which caused much uneasiness and distress. I was very dizzy at times and had about lost my appetite. I had tried many different medicines, but none helped me, and I'd given up all hope of ever getting well again. I heard so much about Dreco I bought a bottle, and right from the start it did me good. It soothed my stomach and stopped the gas; put a stop to the constipation and headaches, also the dizziness, and my appetite got better every day. The pains in my back and kidneys have been entirely relieved, and now I go to bed and sleep all night long, and never have to get up during the night as I formerly did."

Dreco is made of the juices and extracts of many herbal plants, which act on the kidneys, liver, bladder, stomach and blood, and corrects many troubles, such as gas on the stomach, constipation, weakness, poor appetite, nervousness, headaches, biliousness, catarrh, rheumatism, and such blood disorders as eczema, pimples, blotches, boils and eruptions. The first bottle usually shows splendid results, and a full treatment brings permanent results.

Dreco is sold by all druggists and is highly recommended in this city by

PROCLAMATION

STATE OF ALABAMA,
Executive Department.

Whereas, the Legislature of Alabama at its regular session in the year 1919 has ordered a special election by the qualified electors of the State of Alabama upon a certain proposed amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, which is herein set forth, to be held on the first Monday after the expiration of three months from and after the final adjournment of said regular session.

And whereas, notice of such election together with the proposed amendment is required by law to be given by proclamation of the Governor:

Now Therefore, I, Thomas E. Kilby, Governor of the State of Alabama, do hereby give notice, direct and proclaim that the election to be held, as ordered by the Legislature in said regular session on the first Monday after the expiration of three months from and after the final adjournment of said regular session of the Legislature at which said amendment was proposed and said election ordered will be held on, to-wit, the 29th day of December, 1919, for the vote of the qualified electors of the State of Alabama in the manner, form and places required by law upon the following amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, to-wit:

The municipalities of Tuscumbia, Sheffield, Hurtsboro, Russellville, Lanett, Demopolis, Pell City, Heflin, Columbiana, Carrollton, Opelika, Fairhope, Pine Hill, Scottsboro, Stevenson, Ashland, Brewton, Pollard, Flomaton, Atmore, Inglenook, Tuskegee, Aliceville, Gordo, Reform, Livingston, Camden, Monroeville, Phoenix and Girard, Birmingham, Bessemer, Florence, Huntsville, Selma, Fairfield, Anniston, Athens, Jacksonville, Auburn, Carbon Hill, and LaFayette, in the State of Alabama, shall have the power and right to levy and collect a tax of one-half of one per centum in any one year on property situated therein, based on the valuation of such property as assessed for state taxation for the tax year ending on the 30th day of September next succeeding the levy; provided, that for the purpose of paying bonds issued and outstanding at the time of the adoption of this amendment and the interest thereon, and for the purpose of paying bonds which may be issued after the adoption of this amendment and the interest thereon, an additional tax of one-half of one per centum may be levied and collected by said corporations; provided further, that a majority of the qualified electors of any of said municipal corporations voting at an election called for that purpose may vote a special tax not to exceed one-half of one per centum in any one year for any special purpose or purposes, which tax shall be used only for the purpose or purposes for which same is levied and collected, provided, however, that the total tax to be levied by any of said municipal corporations shall not exceed one and one-half (1½) per centum in any one year. Provided, further, that the adoption of this amendment shall in no wise affect, limit, modify, abridge or impair the power, authority or right of either of said municipal corporations, to levy and collect the special school taxes, now or hereafter vested in or conferred upon them, or any of them under the Constitution or any amendment thereto; including the power of said city of Selma to levy and collect the taxes for schools and school purposes vested in and conferred upon said city of Selma by the amendment to the Constitution of Alabama adopted thereto at the general election held in November, 1916, and which was submitted under law number 315, General Laws 1915, page 337. Each election held under the provisions hereof shall be ordered, held, canvassed and may be contested in the same manner as is or may be provided by the law applicable to the municipal corporations for elections to authorize the issuance of municipal bonds. The ballots used at such election shall contain the words: "For..... excess rate of taxation for the year (or years) .....;" and "Against..... excess rate of taxation for the year (or years) .....". The rate of taxation proposed in excess of the rate of one (1) per centum to be shown in the blank space provided therefor and the year or years in which the proposed rate is to apply to be shown in the blank space provided therefor; and in the event different excess rates are proposed for different years the words mentioned shall be repeated as often as may be necessary to show separately the different rates proposed to be applied to the respective years. And the voter shall record his choice, whether for or against the excess rate or rates shown by placing a cross mark before or after the words expressing his choice. Nothing herein contained shall in any wise change or affect the rights of any holder of bonds of said municipal corporations heretofore issued. Elections to authorize the levy of such special tax may be held as often as ordered by the governing body of the municipality but when a proposition is submitted to the electors to levy a special tax for a specific purpose, and if such proposition is defeated no second election for the same purpose shall be held in one year thereafter.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the great seal of the State of Alabama to be affixed at the Capitol in the City of Montgomery ono this 29th day of October, 1919. THOS. E. KILBY,

GREAT SEAL Governor.

THE IMPULSE.

It seems to me I'd like to go
Where bells don't ring nor whistles blow;
Nor clocks don't strike, nor gongs don't sound—
And I'd have stillness all around.

Not real stillness, but the trees'
Low whisperings, or the hum of bees;
Or brook's faint babbling over stones
In strangely softly tangled tones.

Or maybe a cricket or katydid,
Or the songs of birds in hedges hid;
Or just some such sweet sound as these,
To fill a tired heart with ease.

If 'tweren't for sight and sound and smell,
I'd like the city pretty well;
But when it comes to getting rest,
I like the country lots the best.

Sometimes it seems to me I must
Just quit the city's din and dust;
And get out where the sky is blue.
And say, how does it seem to you?

CLANTON BAPTIST CHURCH

A beginning was made last Sunday Morning to organize the church for the great $75,000,000 Campaign to be made the first week in December, beginning with Nov. 30.

Various members were discussed as suitable for leadership in the several departments, committees, chairman, etc. Also the sum total which the church should agree to raise for benevolences during the next five years.

Next Sunday morning, which is the time for the regular monthly business meeting of the church, it is expected that the organization will be completed in all details. It is hoped that every member, as far as possible, will be present, and assist in preparing for the simultaneous canvass of the constituency of the Southern Baptist Convention, which will be made during the eight days from Nov. 30, to December 7th. Surely every follower of Christ will wish to have a part in the present world-wide movement.

HANDS, ARMS, LIMBS ASLEEP

And Was Run-Down, Weak and Nervous, Says Florida Lady. Five Bottles of Cardui Made Her Well.

Kathleen, Fla.—Mrs. Dallas Prine, of this place, says: "After the birth of my last child...I got very much run-down and weakened, so much that I could hardly do anything at all. I was so awfully nervous that I could scarcely endure the least noise. My condition was getting worse all the time...

I knew I must have some relief or I would soon be in the bed and in a serious condition for I felt so badly and was so nervous and weak I could hardly live. My husband asked Dr. ———about my taking Cardui. He said, 'It's a good medicine, and good for that trouble', so he got me 5 bottles...After about the second bottle I felt greatly improved...before taking it my limbs and hands and arms would go to sleep. After taking it, however, this poor circulation disappeared. My strength came back to me and I was soon on the road to health. After the use of about 5 bottles, I could do all my house-work and attend to my six children besides."

You can feel safe in giving Cardui a thorough trial for your troubles. It contains no harmful or habit-forming drugs, but is composed of mild, vegetable, medicinal ingredients with no bad after-effects. Thousands of women have voluntarily written, telling of the good Cardui has done them. It should help you, too. Try it. E 74

We have now for sale 7½ acres of land, the old Middleton property, near the Clanton Grammar School, which is suitable for residence property. The same will be divided up into lots and sold. Clanton, Ala., Oct. 30, 1919

The People of Chilton County,
Friends:

In accordance with the requirements of the new law, I respectfully submit the following report, in behalf of the County Board of Education, of the condition and progress of the Public Schools of Chilton County for the year ending Sept. 30, 1919. For the wise counsel, hearty support and cordial co-operation which you have given the County Board and also the County Superintendent, and for the unfailing interest and zeal shown by you in promoting the welfare of our schools, we are profoundly grateful.

Most respectfully yours,
HOWARD L. FOSHEE,
County Supt. Education.

The educational year under review reveals much activity and some progress. Public education is a living, growing organism, and no one realizes more than the present Superintendent how the conditions and tendencies of to-day owe their origin to those who have gone before. At the very outset of my administration I desire to state that any seeming uplift that might come to educational affairs and interests during my term of office would be largely a continuation and development of the plans and policies of my predecessors.

The satisfactory conditions still remain, but in extenuation thereof, let it be said that educational progress in Chilton County is impeded much more by the need of funds than by a lagging public sentiment or a lack of effort on the part of those engaged in educational work.

Our entire school system is re-organized under the new Code and we hope that a decided improvement will be shown in our educational work as soon as the new laws can be properly enforced.

JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOLS.

One of the most significant features of the new school Code is the provision for Junior High Schools. Under this law we hope to establish in the most populous communities of the County Junior High Schoolos carrying pupils through the Ninth Grade.

The Junior High Schools can only be made a success through consolidation. Everyone knows that the one-teacher school with its over-crowded work is not the type of institution that can best do the work it already has, and to make any further requirement of it is only to aggravate the tragedy of the situation. In the abandonment of the little one-room school, except in sparsely settled and isolated districts, the wisely located cosolidated schools, and in the making of these schools the center of a new community life, lies probably the only satisfactory solution we shall ever find for our rural problems. To expect consolidation to be voluntarily effected is to expect the impossible but under the new law the County Board is given the necessary power to consolidate schools and transport pupils at public expense.

The smallest school that can make any adequate response to the demands of country life is the three-teacher school with a principal who is skilled in agriculture and manual arts, with one assistant versed in domestic science and art, and another who excels in literature, drawing and music, all of whom must be skilled in teaching. This school should have a room for each teacher, with a workshop, a kitchen, and an auditorium to accommodate all general community meetings. It should be situated on not less than five acres of land, preferably more, with ample provisions for play ground, shade trees, flowers, the school garden and demonstration plants. In order to enable the teacher to integrate himself into the life of the community the year round, there should be a teacher's cottage for the use of the principal, and he in turn should board his assistants. These reforms would make the school truly educational and would place them and the communities they serve in the right relationship.

TAXATION

The several lines of improvement including better teachers, longer terms, better attendance, better buildings, better equipment, better organization, better administration, better supervision, all depend upon the willingness and authority of the tax payers to finance the same. The one-mill county tax has not been available during this year, as last year ended the six-year period for which it was voted. This was the cause of the school term being six months instead of seven as last year. The three-mill tax was voted for a period of three years but will be available only for the term of 1919-20, unless voted next spring. If we expect to maintain even as good schools as we have at present we must vote these county taxes again.

Without the county taxes the schools would necessarily have to go back under the old plan of supplementing the teachers salaries and this is very unsatisfactory as we all know. Even now some communities have to supplement as other wages are so high that teachers cannot be employed for what the county can pay. The Board has been criticised for this fact, but the people should remember that all wages have practically doubled in the past few years and the teachers have given up their profession to go into work which is more renumerative.

ENUMERATION, ENROLLMENT AND ATTENDANCE.

According to the biennial census of 1918 there are in Chilton County 6,228 white children of school age, and 1,407 colored children of school age, a total of 7,635 children.

The enrollment for the year 1918-19 was 2,531 white males, 2,510 white females or a total of 5,041 whites which is almost 81 per cent. of the total enumeration. There were 470 colored males and 512 colored females, a total of 982 colored children enrolled during the past year, or an enrolment of 70 per cent. of the number enumerated in attendance at the colored schools. This makes a total enrollment for both races of 6,023 pupils or a total enrollment of almost 79 per cent. of the total enumeration.

I feel that this enrollment is quite encouraging when we consider that the compulsory law was not enforced last year on account of the epidemic of influenza, and also the fact that some of the schools did not run at all on account of the scarcity of teachers. The above figures do not include those pupils doing high school work in rural communities, the County High School or the Thorsby Institute.

The attendance for the year was very low but the fact that the schools were closed several weeks accounts largely for the low average attendance. The boys averaged 68 days, the girls 74 days while the colored boys averaged 56 days and the colored girls 59 days. This does not include the attendance in High School.

TEACHERS.

The number of white male teachers employed was 45, white females 72, or a total of 117 white teachers; colored males 8, colored females 12, or a total of 20 colored teachers, making a total of 137 teachers employed in the county.

Of the white teachers 12 were Life Grade, 20 First Grade, 43 Second Grade and 42 Third Grade. Colored teachers, 2 Second Grade and 18 Third Grade.

SCHOOL TERM.

The school term was six months, but as stated before the schools were closed a part of the time on account of the flu and some did not secure teachers in time to run the full six months, so the average length of the white schools was 108 days. That of the colored schools 70 days.

SCHOOL LIBRARIES

The white schools report 41 libraries having a total of 2,147 volumes valued at $1,414. The colored schools report three libraries having a total of 118 volumes valued at $32. In addition to this there were 67 white teachers doing the prescribed reading of the Alabama Teachers Reading Circle.

SCHOOLHOUSES.

There are 73 white schoolhouses in the county and of these 30 are deeded to the State, 40 to the District in which located and three are of private ownership.

There are 18 colored schoolhouses 11 being deeded to the District and 7 of private ownesrship. The white schoolhouses are valued at $57,650 and the colored at $6,400, or a total value of $64,050. The desks and other furniture of the white schools are valued at $9,011 and the colored at $250, or a total of $9,261. In addition to this there is $455 worth of teaching equipment in the white schools and $103 worth in the colored schools.

The white schools have 1,248 double desks, 596 single desks and seatings, not including patent desks, of 3,461. The colored schools have 10 single desks and seatings for 300 pupils.

The County Superintendent made 112 visits to the white schools and 10 visits to the colored schools during the year.

TEACHERS' SALARIES.

The total salaries paid white male teachers $15,591.25, white female teachers $20,989.70; colored male teachers $1,298, colored female teachers, $1,559, or a total paid teachers of $39,436.95. The average yearly salary paid white male teachers was $339.50, white females $202.60, colored males $266.66, and colored females $155.90.

FINANCIAL REPORT.

The receipts were as follows: Balance from previous year $2,567.50, State Funds $22,599.60, Poll Tax $1,990.50, County Three Mill Tax $17,316.22, Dog Tax $487.50, Bonus $3,000, making a total of $47,961.32.

The expenditures for teachers' salaries, County Board and County Superintendent were $38,640.77. Leaving a balance of $9,320.55. This is a rather large balance but the cause is very evident as a large number of the schools failed to run six months last year and are entitled to that extra time this year which will require a considerable portion of this balance. Then the fact that a balance had accumulated was the ground the County Board had in granting an increase of $5 per month to the teachers this time.

CONCLUSIONS.

In conclusion I wish to ask your support and co-operation in making the schools during the coming year the best we have ever had. In changing from the old law to the new will require some time but we ask your help in changing our school system to conform to the new requirements. Also I am expecting you to carry both the three mill and county one-mill taxes at the polls next spring.

Respectfully submitted,
HOWARD L. FOSHEE,
County Supt. Education.

ISSUANCE OF LICENSE TO STATE TEACHERS

Montgomery, Ala., Nov. 14. 1919.
To the County Superintendents:

I shall thank you if you will give as wide publicity as possible in your local papers and otherwise to the following regulations relative to the issuance of teachers' licenses under the new educational code:

1. Teachers' examinations will continue to be held regularly as heretofore, beginning on the Third Monday in the months of December, April and July.

2. Applicants for the first, second and third grade certificates will be examined on precisely the same subjects as heretofore.

3. Life grade applicants must give satisfactory evidence of teaching experience and professional training as heretofore required, and as evidenced by examination in professional subjects.

4. The law authorizing the extension of teachers' certificates for the satisfactory completion of Reading Circle work is based upon certificates granted in the future and will therefore not be operative before July in 1920.

5. Provisional certificate will not be granted to the holder of any valid certificate and all prospective teachers should take the regular examination, unless they are entitled to certification upon the basis of graduation from an approved normal school or an institution of higher learning.

6. Prvisional licenses are neither subject to renewal nor extension and cannot be filed as part of the examiation for a higher grade license.

VISITS POPWELL SCHOOL

Dear Editor:—

Please allow me space in your paper to mention a pleasure I had recently in visiting Popwell School, located about 10 miles west of Clanton.

First, it was a pleasure to me to visit this school, because I was born and reared within about one mile of it and therefore, I, as all other country boys did in the winter months, went to and from school here. But for the past eight years, I have been away and had no opportunity of visiting the school of my boyhood.

Some thought that on account of an epidemic of whooping cough and a few other things, the program would be a failure, but all seating and all standing space was filled. The students, under the efficient management of Miss Pearl Durbin, had very prettily decorated the building for the occasion. Several lunch boxes had been prepared by the students to be auctioned off.

Rev. W. S. Cox was the principal speaker of the evening, and after quite an interesting speech on "Armistice Day," the students, assisted by the audience, sung "America."

The boxes were then sold, which amounted to $25.15, which went as a contribution to the memorial fund.

The loyal patrons of that community are helping the school to raise enough money to furnish the school with desks. This is a splendid move, and they are co-operating well in the enterprise.

I believe the patrons of Popwell School, with their capable teacher, are striving to and will have their school equal to any school in the county.

MAPPING OUT PROGRAMME FOR ALABAMA

COLONEL R. M. MIXSON, OF WILLISTON, S. C., ENTHUSIASTIC WORKER IN INTEREST OF AMERICAN COTTON ASSOCIATION.

Colonel R. M. Mixson, of Williston, S. C., a prominent farmer and an enthusiastic worker in the interest of the American Cotton Association, is in Alabama now assisting in the organization of the Aabama Division.

Col. Mixson has been spending the last few days at the headquarters of the State organization in Montgomery, mapping out in Alabama a program for a state-wide movement to complete the organization. When seen at headquarters, Saturday, Colonel Mixson said:

"For sixty years, when the farmer wanted to buy anything from the dealer, he would not even ask the price, for he was buying on credit; therefore no matter what the price, he had to pay it. And after working all the year to produce cotton with which to pay his debt he would carry the cotton to market, and with his sample in one hand and hat in the other, in a very timid way, ask "What will you give me for it?" No matter what the price was, he had to take it, for the merchant to whom he was talking held a lein over his crop and a bill of sale over his stock. He was helpless—the merchant priced his goods, which was right, and fixed any kind of an old price on his debtor—cotton—with which to pay it, which was all wrong. This custom grew until the farmer forgot that he had any rights.

"Even today, cotton in the country towns is not sold by grade, but by "how cheap can I get it?" The buyer buys it at a grade below its true grade, making the difference as an extra profit. He flings any old line to the farmer, gives him any kind of dope, slaps him on the back and swears that he is the farmer's best friend. This has been a practice for years. Then, are you surprised at the consternation which is beginning to reign among the cotton buyers and spinners whey they find that the farmers are beginning to organize and intend fixing a price on their cotton, covering cost of production and a fair profit?

"Through the American Cotton Association they are enabled to say to the man who would take his cotton for less than it is worth: "No Sir, my price if fixed—my cotton is in a good warehouse; when you want it at my price you can have it, but not a pound until you do."

"No old antiquated arguments—no amount of bulldozing will work. You must change your line. Positions are changed; the farmer is on the hill, the buyer and spinner way down in the valley.

"You can't bring the farmer across with any old price; you must do the climbing now, for with the weapon of organization, with a warehouse certificate, giving weight, grade and staple, he stands guard and not a bale of his cotton will be moved out of the warehouse until he receives a fair price for it."

Business Men Of The South.

—Every business and professional man in Alabama, every banker, every merchant, is vitally interested in the success of the cotton producer.

—Do you remember back in 1892 to 1894? When cotton went down to 4 cents a pound?

—Certainly you will recall how difficult it was for you—banker, merchant, doctor, dentist, whatever you may be—to make both ends meet—how your living problem grew to proportions which made solution seem impossible.

—There were those among you who did not know how they could meet the grocery bill.

—So, your own future, your own success, your most vital interests are wrapped up in the well-being of the cotton producr.

—As he succeeds, so in large degree is your success measured.

—It is up to you—it is your duty—if for personal and selfish reasons alone, to join The American Cotton Association, and lend what assistance you can to that organization which proposes to emancipate the cotton producer, to emancipate you to emancipate the the business South.

—The opportunity for that emancipation is at hand in The American Cotton Association.

PRESIDENT WILSON WILL PUT PEACE TREATY IN HIS POCKET

Senator Hitchcock, the guy that "totes tales" between President Wilson and the senate, went over the other day and related to his master how Lodge was butchering up the sacred document with his reservation resolutions. And he comes back to the Senate with the information that the action that is being taken in that body is very unsaisfactory to Mr. Wilson.

"I will put the peace treaty in my pocket, if it is made to contain the Lodge resolutions," he told Senator Hitchcock in a conference at the White House.

The president has read and considered the Lodge reservations, "Senator Hitchcock said, "and he considers them a nullification of the treaty and utterly impossible."

"Did the president tell you what course he would pursue in the event the Lodge reservations are accepted by the Senate?" Hitchcock was asked. "The president will pocket the treaty," was the reply.

We have always thought that the best thing that could be done with the treaty and league of nations would be to consign the whole thing to the waste basket and then put basket and all in the fire. But it will be just as well if the senate will rub it into Wilson so hard that he will then come to the Senate and get the thing and carry it with him into oblivion. For he is going into oblivion as fast as human flesh and blood ever went. And it is but fitting that his pet dream accompany him into that land from whose bourne no traveler returns.

We think the Senate is to be congratulated for the way they have held their own in opposition to the Wilson's schemes to sell this country into international bondage through the adoption of the League of Nations.

SPEAKING AT CHILTON CO. ASSOCIATION CHURCHES

The executive committee of the Chilton County Association has arranged a program of meetings to be heralded with Chilton County Baptist Churches in the near future. Everybody is invited to be present, and all church members are urged to come yet it is especially desired and expected that the church organiers will try especially to have the working forces on the service roll fully represented. It is very important that that the "booster" and the Captains of teams with their full teams be present in order to ask questions concerning any matters which may not be clearly understood.

The pledge cards for the canvass or "drive," which is to begin on the afternoon of the Fifth Sunday, the 30, and last until the following Sunday, December 7th, will be distributed.

TO SAVE CHILDREN FROM THE PLAGUE

Red Cross Christmas Seals Will Help Provide Outdoor Schooling.

HOT ROOMS ARE DANGEROUS

Anti-Tuberculosis League Wants To Give The Kiddies a Chance.

Birmingham, Ala.—Every child who is threatened with consumption has a right to the privilege of attending an open-air school, says the Alabama Anti-Tuberculosis League, and to make this possible is one of the aims of the Red Cross Christmas Seal sale this season.

Infection in childhood is one of the common phenomena of the dread disease. To save the infected child and build up its resistance against the plague, it is necessary that the child be kept in the open air. Hot, stuffy, over-heated and poorly ventilated school rooms are one of the handicaps to be overcome in this important phase of the crusade against tuberculosis. When schooling is provided under expert hygienic guidance, the little patient responds rapidly to treatment.

An open-air school on Red Mountain, near Birmingham, where tubercular children of Jefferson County may be given this sort of treatment, is being planned. The children's department work of the county will be centralized in this open-air school, which will cost about $9,000. Actual construction is awaiting the completion of plans.

"Every county in Alabama ought to have similar advantages for its tubercular children," said Dr. George Eaves, general secretary of the Red Cross Christmas Seal campaign, "and this is one of the purposes to which money raised by the sale of seals and 'health bonds' will be devoted. Early or suspected cases of tuberculosis among children ought to be given treatment of this kind.

"All money will be spent in the county where it is given.

What Jefferson Does.

"In recognition of progressive thought along these lines, all new schools being erected in Jefferson County have 'open window' rooms, which are capable of being ventilated without ruinous drafts to endanger the health of the children. Windows in the new school houses will swing on pivots and may be adjusted to regulate the circulation of fresh air into the room.

"If parents could be prevailed upon to dress their children to stand the open air while at school, instead of the excessive heat of the old-time school rooms, a great forward step would be taken. However, the trend of the times is to recognize the importance of hygienic regulation in schools. It is only necessary that the campaign of education be vigorously pushed.

"This is just one of the many sides of the war on the White Plague. Saving helpless children is just a small part of the great work of mercy which the sale of Red Cross Christmas Seals makes possible in Alabama.

"This year we will sell 'health bonds' as well as Seals. Those who desire to help the cause to that extent may purchase $5, $10, $25, and $100 bonds, which are the equivalent, respectively of 500, 1,000, 2,500, 5,000 and 10,000 penny seals.

TUBERCULAR SOLDIERS

Birmingham, Ala.—The rejected or returned soldier suffering from tuberculosis is one of the chief factors which renders the state health problem acute, says the Alabama Anti-Tuberculosis League, under whose auspices the Red Cross Christmas Seal campaign will be carried forward in December. This organization derives most of its revenue from the annual sale of Christmas Seals, and more than $200,000 will be necessary this year to meet the tuberculosis situation in the state. After the sale of Christmas Seals and "Health Bonds," representing the equivalent of penny seals in the sums of $5, $10, $25, and $50, there will be no further solicitation for this cause until Christmas, 1920.

Figures compiled from reports of experts show that for every 1,000 men called to the service in the United States during the war, 24 had tuberculosis.

Tabulation of draft figures showed that 69,000 men were rejected because of this disease when they underwent medical examinations. Over 23,000 were turned back to civilian life from the camps and cantonments. In actual service in the army, including those now in the hospitals, the number of tuberculosis cases amounted approximately to 15,000. There were about 500 deaths from tuberculosis, in our armed forces in France.

The service the Tuberculosis association renders to the discharged or rejected men suffering from tuberculosis is an important item in the national movement for better health.

Rub a sore throat with BALLARDS SNOW LINIMENT. One or two applications will cure it completely. Sold by Upchurch Drug Company.

THE BEAUTIFUL ELOQUENCE OF TRUTH

In Open Court, 55 People Swear as to Their Experience With the Great Remedy, Sul-Ferro-Sol. Many Cures of Cases of Rheumatism, Pellagra, Eczema, Tetter, Etc., Proven.

Sworn to tell the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth, 55 witnesses recently testified in the United States Court, Western District of South Carolina, that they were benefitted or cured of various blood troubles through the use of Sul-Ferro-Sol.

Sul-Ferro-Sol and Sul-Ferro-Sol only—just think this over.

Of this assembly, some had suffered six months, while others had suffered for twenty years. But they all swore that Sul-Ferro-Sol had done exactly as claimed.

And here is our point of appeal: Use a blood purifier of proven efficiency.

Sul-Ferro-Sol comes from a natural deposit of Iron, Sulphur and Potash recently found in Mississippi. It's nothing more than a wonderful mineral water.

Most highly recommended for rheumatism, eczema, tetter, facial blemishes, pellagra, and all other diseases characterized by impure blood.

PROCLAMATION

STATE OF ALABAMA,
Executive Department.

Whereas, the Legislature of Alabama at its regular session in the year 1919 has ordered a special election by the qualified electors of the State of Alabama upon a certain proposed amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, which is herein set forth, to be held on the first Monday after the expiration of three months from and after the final adjournment of said regular session.

And whereas, notice of such election together with the proposed amendment is required by law to be given by proclamation of the Governor:

Now Therefore, I, Thomas E. Kilby, Governor of the State of Alabama, do hereby give notice, direct and proclaim that the election to be held, as ordered by the Legislature in said regular session on the first Monday after the expiration of three months from and after the final adjournment of said regular session of the Legislature at which said amendment was proposed and said election ordered on, to-wit, the 29th day of December, 1919, for the vote of the qualified electors of the State of Alabama in the manner, form and places required by law upon the following amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, to-wit:

The municipalities of Tuscumbia, Sheffield, Hurtsboro, Russellville, Lanett, Demopolis, Pell City, Heflin, Columbiana, Carrollton, Opelika, Fairhope, Pine Hill, Scottsboro, Stevenson, Ashland, Brewton, Pollard, Flomaton, Atmore, Inglenook, Tuskegee, Aliceville, Gordo, Reform, Livingston, Camden, Monroeville, Phoenix and Girard, Birmingham, Bessemer, Florence, Huntsville, Selma, Fairfield, Anniston, Athens, Jacksonville, Auburn, Carbon Hill, and LaFayette, in the State of Alabama, shall have the power and right to levy and collect a tax of one-half of one per centum in any one year on property situated therein, based on the valuation of such property as assessed for state taxation for the tax year ending on the 30th day of September next succeeding the levy; provided, that for the purpose of paying bonds issued and outstanding at the time of the adoption of this amendment and the interest thereon, and for the purpose of paying bonds which may be issued after the adoption of this amendment and the interest thereon, an additional tax of one-half of one per centum may be levied and collected by said corporations; provided further, that a majority of the qualified electors of any of said municipal corporations voting at an election called for that purpose may vote a special tax not to exceed one-half of one per centum in any one year for any special purpose or purposes, which tax shall be used only for the purpose or purposes for which same is levied and collected, provided, however, that the total tax to be levied by any of said municipal corporations shall not exceed one and one-half (1½) per centum in any one year. Provided, further, that the adoption of this amendment shall in no wise affect, limit, modify, abridge or impair the power, authority or right of either of said municipal corporations, to levy and collect the special school taxes, now or hereafter vested in or conferred upon them, or any of them under the Constitution or any amendment thereto; including the power of said city of Selma to levy and collect the taxes for schools and school purposes vested in and conferred upon said city of Selma by the amendment to the Constitution of Alabama adopted thereto at the general election held in November, 1916, and which was submitted under law number 315, General Laws 1915, page 337. Each election held under the provisions hereof shall be ordered, held, canvassed and may be contested in the same manner as is or may be provided by the law applicable to the municipal corporations for elections to authorize the issuance of municipal bonds. The ballots used at such election shall contain the words: "For..... excess rate of taxation for the year (or years) .....;" and "Against..... excess rate of taxation for the year (or years) .....". The rate of taxation proposed in excess of the rate of one (1) per centum to be shown in the blank space provided therefor and the year or years in which the proposed rate is to apply to be shown in the blank space provided therefor; and in the event different excess rates are proposed for different years the words mentioned shall be repeated as often as may be necessary to show separately the different rates proposed to be applied to the respective years. And the voter shall record his choice, whether for or against the excess rate or rates shown by placing a cross mark before or after the words expressing his choice. Nothing herein contained shall in any wise change or affect the rights of any holder of bonds of said municipal corporations heretofore issued. Elections to authorize the levy of such special tax may be held as often as ordered by the governing body of the municipality but when a proposition is submitted to the electors to levy a special tax for a specific purpose, and if such proposition is defeated no second election for the same purpose shall be held in one year thereafter.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the great seal of the State of Alabama to be affixed at the Capitol in the City of Montgomery ono this 29th day of October, 1919. THOS. E. KILBY,

GREAT SEAL Governor.

By the Governor.

"THOSE WHO ARE NOT FOR ME ARE AGAINST ME."

Once more President Wilson stands self-convicted. In his telegram to Governor Coolidge he said: "I congratulate you upon your election as a victory for law and order. When that is the issue all Americans stand together."

That was the issue all through the campaign, but Woodrow Wilson maintained his usual attitude of watchful waiting. From his lips there came no word—from his pen there came no line—to encourage those loyal Americans who were in the death grapple with lawlessness. When that was the issue, he was not standing with Governor Coolidge to any perceptible degree. It is appropriate to quote the words of one who said, "Those who are not for me are against me."

Law and order was truly the issue, but when that was the issue, Woodrow Wilson was signing a message vetoing a bill for the enforcement of a law already upon the statute books by virtue of an act of Congress bearing his signature. He was expressly on the side of lawlessness and disorder in the enforcement of the prohibition law, and silent as the tomb all through the campaign to defeat Governor Coolidge; but after the victory had been won, he came forth with his effulgent congratulations to those who had borne the battle and won the victory without either his active or inferential assistance.

A few months ago Woodrow Wilson announced that "politics is adjourned" because, during the war, all Americans must stand together. Within a few weeks thereafter he issued his notorious proclamation asking for the election of a Democratic Congress notwithstanding the fact that Republicans had given more earnest support to war measures than had the Democrats. That demonstration of unparalleled partisanship justified the belief, in the absence of an expression made by him that in the Massachusetts contest he favored the election of the Democratic candidate. His silence left room for no other inference for his latest political utterance had been one of party appeal.

The logical conclusions from his congratulatory telegram are manifest. First, if it be true, as he says, that law and order was the issue, and, when that is the issue, all Americans stand together, then the 193,000 Democrats who voted for Long are not good Americans. Second, if Americans stand together when such a vital issue is presented, he himself was lacking in true Americanism when he failed to take his stand openly and actively in support of Coolidge.

His illness can be no excuse, for a man able to write messages to labor conferences, to the striking miners, and to a congress that had passed a bill that met his disapproval, was certainly well enough to indicate, by a dozen words, at least, his earnest desire that all Democrats denomstrate their Americanism by arraying themselves with the exponents of law and order. We repeat, President Wilson once more stands self-convicted.

SCHOOL NEWS

The Alabama Federation of Women's Clubs meets this year in Huntsville, November 18 to 24. Miss Gillis, our music teacher, left Tuesday afternoon to appear in concert program Thursday evening. We are certainly fortunate to have a music teacher who is so widely known and so thoroughly competent.

ONE VICTORY WON—ANOTHER IN SIGHT.

It is well that the fight on the peace treaty and the league of nations comes to an end as the struggle for independence from the domination from a small minority of our citizens begins. By concentrating their strength against the un-American league the patriots of the country have saved the United States from the dangers of foreign alliances and the control of a foreign council. By gathering their forces again they will be able to resist successfully the concerted attack by the foes of law and order that seek to destroy our government from within.

NO GROUND FOR COMPLAINT

The American Federation of Labor contends that the Lever Act should not be applied to labor organizatioons because when that law was in process of enactment somebody said that it was not intended so to apply it. The Federation would do well to bear in mind that we have duly appointed judges whose business it is to construe the laws passed by Congress. They cannot permit their decisions to be influenced by what somebody says was the intent of the framers of the statute. The law there for the court to administer as it is written, and there is no just ground for the complaint of Mr. Gompers and his lieutenants.

NO SWEAT, NO SWEET

According to the Federal Food Board Administration for New York City, the end of the New York dock strike releases 50,000 tons of sugar to the refiners, which can be put thru the refining pricess in 24 hours, and thus break the sugar famine. However, people will remember who was responsible for the famine already suffered. It was a case of no sweat, no sweet.

APPLY THE LAW

The Lever act provides penalties of two years' imprisonment and a $10,000 fine for violations precisely like those of which Mr. Lewis and the other mine workers of America are guilty. The application of such punishments to those gentlemen would have a beneficial effect upon the labor situation in general.

The Democrats won in the election of a Governor of New Jerey, but they are all ashamed of it. The fellow that they elected says he is goingto make New Jersey flow with beer and whiskey like the Lord told the Israelites the land of Canaan was flowing with milk and honey. The Democrats are even now saying that the victory was not a victory of the Democratic party, but of the brewery and distillery interests. They should have added that the Catholics had a part in the mess too. To see the Democratic donkey deny her own children is not surprising after the many other curious stunts they have pulled off in the recent months.

The Montgomery Journal inquires what is the matter with the Democrats that they are losing out in the elections thtis fall. We rise to inforom Journal that there is nothing more the matter with the Democrats now than ever before. But the people have learned that they cannot be trusted in the administration of affairs of state and nation. Therefore they are voting to turn the Dems out and put in safe and sane government built on the reliable principles of the Republican party. That is the difference, buddy.

In the last regular election in the Oklahoma City Congressional District Mr. J. B. Thompson, Democrat, was elected by 5,000 majarity over his Republican opponent. Mr. Thompson died, and the other day in the special election of a man to fill his unexpired term, Mr. J. W. Herald, a Republican, defeated his Democratic opponent by 1,200 majority. This may cause some of the Democratic spell-binders to stop again and inquire what is the matter with the Democratic party.

WHAT NEGROES ARE DOING IN CLANTON

(By Robert Colley, Principal Clanton Colored School.)

My object in asking for a space in this paper to write up the news of the colored people of Clanton, is to stimulate more interest a mong our colored population in The Union-Banner. It is a fact that a man takes more interest in a thing in which he is represented. It is for this principle why a few large corporataions of this country sell stocks to their employees. The result is that the men take more interest in the concern and work in every respect to promote the interest of such companies.

I notice that most of our reading colored people subscribe to papers away from here. I do not want to convey the idea that we should not subscribe to other papers than our local one, for as reading people, it takes much news to do us; but I do contend that the paper of our own home town ought to be well patronized by the residents. It is a fact that we live here, our busines interest is here and our best white friends are here, and to them we generally look for help in times of need. This is an age of co-operation. Many times, for example, a merchant in Clanton advertises goods as cheap as another in Birmingham or Montgomery, but by not taking the local paper the purchaser goes to the above named places and trade. The result is that the purchaser, after paying his railroad fare, buys the goods for nearly twice the proce advertised.

We have a fine colored population in this place, who take an active interest in educational and religious work and desire the help and co-operation of the white people, but have no medium to bring their work before them. We also have some colored business men as A. L. Sewell of the Boston Shoe Co., Gus Wright, Josh McDaniel and Deacon Brown and Callie Cooper, who would like for the colored people of Lomax and other surrounding towns to read this paper and know where to find them when they come to Clanton.

I guarantee the management of this paper that if the important news among the colored people is published weekly, the subscription among them will be doubled in a few weeks.

On last Sunday the writer attended the second Anniversary Service at Friendship Church, under the pastorate of Rev. L. S. Steinback. Dr. W. T. Bibb preached a strong and able sermon. Excellent papers were read on the growth of the church and the duty of the members to the pastor, by Prof. K. N. Draper, and Miss Mattie Lee Dickinson respectively.

The trustees of the colored school have purchased the hall at the rear of the Court House for the purpose of erecting a first class colored city school building

TAXES DELINQUENT AFTER JANUARY THE FIRST, 1920

Editor Union-Banner:

Please allow me to say for the information of all tax payers that no assessments or taxes will be delinquent till January 1st, 1920, and that no penalty will be added for non-assessment till the first Monday in February, 1920.

It is the duty of every person in the county to make an assessment before January 1st, 1920, regardless of the amount or kind of property they own. All wagons, buggies, cars, automobiles, trucks, bicycles, watches, jewelry, diamonds, silverware, etc., are taxable and should be assessed where you want to save paying fee and penalty.

There will not be any dog tax collected by the tax collector for 1920, and any dogs listed on assessments for 1920 will be erased.

Dr. Lewis E. Sorrell has located at Jemison for the practice of medicine. He is the son of Mr. J. W. Sorrell and has recently been discharged from the medical corps of the army, at Ft. Sill, Oklahoma. The young doctor has many friends in Chilton County, and we predict for him a splendid success in his practice of medicine. He possesses all the qualities a man needs to make good as a doctor.

We notice there was a great applause on the Republican side of the House of Representatives when Mr. King read into the record a portion of Tom Watson's speech on the League of Nations, entitled "A word of Warning from the Democratic South." Do you wonder why there was not applause also on the Democratic side? If you do, we invite you to read the portion of Tom's speech which is printed in this week's issue of the Union-Banner. Then we think you can see why the Democrats did not cheer when Mr. King read it.

The Harbor of Life.

Some dream of a land that is fairer than this,
And picture a realm in the sky;
But the beauty surrounding them down here they miss,

As they search for splendors on high.
Leave death for the dead; there are songs to be sung;
There are joys to be born out of strife.
The world is the place where all hearts should be young;
The earth is the harbor of life.

There are goals to be reached, there are deeds to be done;
There are joys for our children to know,
There are battles with evil and hate to be won
That the world with contentment may be glow.

And the mission of man from the time of his birth
To the day that his spirit shall soar,
Is to make for the living a happier earth
Than ever it has been before.

We can change not the realm that is promised for all,
Nor comfort the souls of the dead;
But here we can lighten the burdens that fall
And level the bathways we tread.
We can make of this earth a more beautiful place,
To life many charms we can give;
We can fill it with laughter and music and grace,—
We can make it a pleasure to live.

Let us toil while we may for the splendor of earth;
Let's brighten the days with our song.
Let us fill the dark corner with sunshine and mirth
And banish oppression and wrong;

Let us dream not so much of the heaven afar
That the beauty about us we miss;
Our duty lies here, where at present we are,—
Let us make a good world out of this.

—Edgar A. Guest.

SIMS-BRUCE WEDDING

On last Saturday morning at ten o'clock, at the home of the bride's parents Mr. and Mrs. Ed Bruce, one mile north of Clanton, Miss Anstis Bruce and Mr. Ben H. Sims of Birmingham were happily united in marriage, in the presence of a very small number of friends and relatives.

The home was beautifully decorated in ferns and yellow chrysanthemums. The bride and groom entered together while the strains of Lohengrins Wedding March were played by the bride's sister, Miss Ida Belle Bruce. Rev. E. C. Maye officiated.

The bride was hansomely gowned in blue tricotine, embroidered in steel-cut beads, with brown accessories.

Miss Ida Belle Bruce wore midnight blue tricotine with black accessories. Immediately after the ceremony the happy couple left for Birmingham where they will later go to Mobile, New Orleans and other points, before returning to Birmingham to make it their home.

The bride is a highly accomplished young lady and has many friends who wish for her every happiness. The groom is a prominent young man, holding a responible position with the L. & N. Railroad.

BIRTHDAY PARTY FOR "SID"

At the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Reynolds, on Monday afternoon, Sidney Lewis celebrated his third birthday.

Ferns and white chrysanthemums were effectively used in the reception hall and parlor. Games were played in doors and out. The guests were all seated in a circle on the floor in the living room around a beautiful birthday cake burning three tiny pink candles, a fourth candle of white was lighted by "Sidney." This was for him to grow on, beginning his fourth year. Refreshments carrying out the colors of pink and white were served to the little guests who numbered 20. A balloon tied with white ribbon was presented each one.

Among the many beautiful gifts he received were a sweet note, a check for ten dollars from his grandfather, Judge L. H. Reynolds.

Mrs. R. E. Luckie and Mrs. L. H. Reynolds assisted Mrs. Reynolds in entertaining the little fellows.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Plier spent the week end in Birmingham, as the guest of relatives.

CLANTON WOMEN TO ATTEND FEDERATION

The Alabama Federation of Women's Clubs is assembling in Huntsville this week, the first gathering of this nature ince 1917, when Mobile was hostess.

People tell us our store is different

Of course it's different.

Because it's a SERVICE grocery. It's not just a store where groceries are sold. It's a place where everything is done to make buying groceries a pleasure.

A big stock of good things to eat. Courteous, intelligent clerks who understand their business thoroughly. We make prompt deliveries also.

A telephone that is always open to you.

A place where you can have a charge account if you so desire. A store that sells quality goods that it can recommend without the slightest fear or hesitation. To illustrate what we mean, just consider the question of Baking Powder. It's only a small part of our entire business but we consider it a most important feature.

Because baking powder plays such a vital part in the preparation of food in your home. If it isn't good it can ruin a great amount of good material. Therefore the baking powder we recommend must be good —soo good that we won't have the slightest chance of displeasing a customer.

RYZON is such a baking powder. It's pure, it's always uniform, always efficient and it will do anything any other baking powder will do. It's priced fairly and honestly, too, 40 cents per pound tin.

YOUR CATARRH MAY LEAD TO CONSUMPTION

Dangerous to Use Treatment for Only Temporary Relief.

There is a more serious stage of Catarrh than the annoyance caused by the stopped-up air passages, and other distasteful features.

The real danger comes from the tendency of the disease to continue its course downward until the lungs become affected, and then dreaded consumption is on your path. Your own experience has taught you that the disease cannot be cured by sprays, inhalers, atomizers, jellies and other local applications.

S. S. S. has proven a most satisfactory remedy for Catarrh because it goes direct to its source. Get a bottle today, begin the only logical treatment that gives real results. For free medical advice write Medical Director, 47 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.

"ZIRON IS A GOOD MEDICINE"

Says Rock City, Ala. Gentleman, After Having Given It Conscientious Trial.

Ziron is a new scientific combination of pure, inorganic, official, U. S. Pharmacopeia iron, with the hypophosphites of lime and soda and other valuable tonic ingredients, recommended by the best medical authorities in the treatment of anemic conditions.

Ziron helps to put iron into your blood and this helps to build strength for you, when you are pale, weak, nervous, depressed.

Read what Mr. Sidney Fry, of Rock City, Ala., says, and then try Ziron. He makes the following statement:

"Something over a week ago I used Ziron for the first time. I was troubled with indigestion and had a spell of weakness. Ziron helped both troubles. I felt stronger and my stomach quit hurting. I really feel that Ziron is a good medicine. It surely helped me."

Your druggist will sell you Ziron on a guarantee that if the first bottle does not benefit you, he will refund the money you paid him.

THORSBY ITEMS

"Armistice Day" was fittingly celebrated on November 11th by the Institute and public school students. Short but impressive programs were rendered. The Institute boys played basket ball in the afternoon, Clarks against the Bates. The result was that the Clarks won, the score being 28 to 20.

Mr. G. Berlin has sold his home place here and expects to take his family to Birmingham shortly. Later they will go to California for a visit. It is hoped by their friends in Thorsby that they will return to locate permanently.

Miss Gladys Parnell returned last Thursday from Maplesville where she had been spending a week with her friends.

The Baptist W. M. U. will meet on Thursday of this week with Mrs. Robert Martin. All ladies of Thorsby and vicinity are cordially invited to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Howard have as their guest Mrs. Howard's sister, Mrs. Bricker, of Milwaukee, Wisc.

Miss Odie Lee Arthur spent Saturday and Sunday in Birmingham, as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Deathrage. Mrs. Deathrage was formerly Miss Amy Payne of Pawnee City, Nebr., and spent one year in Thorsby as Matron of the boarding department of the Institute.

Miss Jimmie Morrow spent Sunday with Miss Agnes Leary. Miss Morrow will be remembered as a teachcer last year in the public school here. She accepted this year a place in the Woodlawn School, Birmingham.

The Helen Keller Literary Society gave their first contest program for the year last Saturday night. The members have been divided into two sides; the names chosen for the sides are "Bates" and "Clarks," in honor of two of the men that had much to do with the founding and early work of Thorsby Institute. The program given was as follows: Song, Society; Devotions, Mr. Davenport; current events, Clarks—Fred Goggan, Bates—Arthur McCroy; Song, Clarks; Song, Bates; Paper "The Red Cross Peace Program", Clarks—Millard Crumpton "Anti-Tuberculosis Health Program, Bates—Chester Maddox; Recitation, Clarks—Pearl Carlson, Mary Ella Gerald, Bates; Song, Society; Red Cross Tableaux, Clarks—Essie Parker; Bates—Marie Flummer; Discussion, Resolved, that Alabama should pass a law under which every high school in Alabama would be required to employ a school nurse as a member of the faculty. Clarks—Olaf Larsen; Bates—Arthur Hale. The point for attendance was won by the Clarks; the decision of the judges was that there had been a tie, four points having been won by each side.

A joint Thanksgiving program will be given by the Literary Society on the night of the 29th. A special program is being prepared.

Joint Program, Nov. 29th.

Song; Devotions—Miss Stoddard; Origin of Thanksgiving, Myrtle Arthur; Reading — Presidents Thanksgiving Proclamation; Thanksgiving Song—Chorus; Thanksgiving Dialogue—Anna Erdahl; Recitation—Louise Adams; Violin Solo—Dagmar Larsen; Thanksgiving Story—Earl Leary;

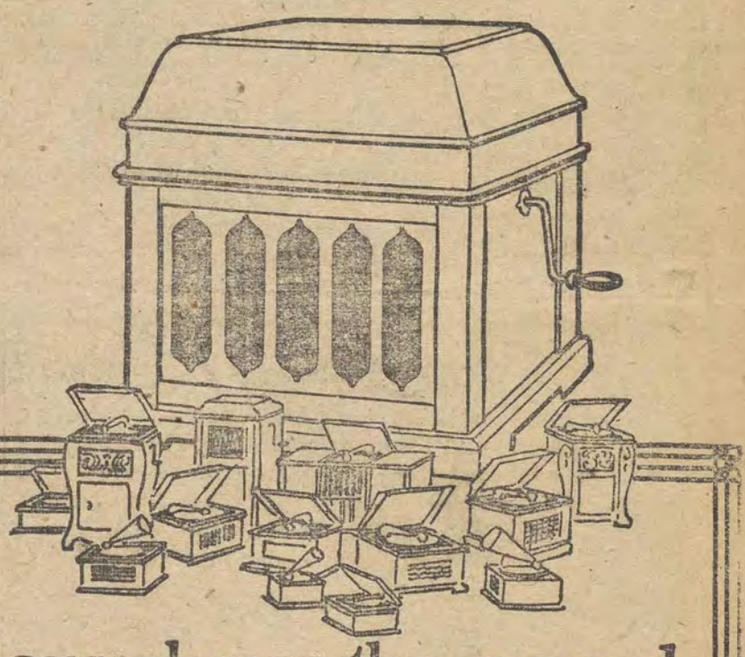
Camel Cigarettes

What you pay out your good money for is cigarette satisfaction—and, my, how you do get it in every puff of Camels!



EXPERTLY blended choice Turkish and choice Domestic tobaccos in Camel cigarettes eliminate bite and free them from any unpleasant cigaretty aftertaste or unpleasant cigaretty odor.

Camels win instant and permanent success with smokers because the blend brings out to the limit the refreshing flavor and delightful mellow-mildness of the tobaccos yet retaining the desirable "body." Camels are simply a revelation! You may smoke them without tiring your taste!

For your own satisfaction you must compare Camels with any cigarette in the world at any price. Then, you'll best realize their superior quality and the rare enjoyment they provide.

R. J. REYNOLDS TOBACCO COMPANY, Winston-Salem, N. C.

Head and shoulders above the crowd stands Thomas A. Edison!

"Head and shoulders" above the crowd of ordinary phonographs and "talking machines" stands Edison's great contribution to the world's enjoyment—

THE NEW DIAMOND AMBEROLA

No product can be bigger than the brain that evolves it. No other brain in the world today has the inventive ability of Edison's. That fact alone is sufficient proof of the absolute superiority of the Amberola.

But the Amberola can quickly and easily prove its own superiority. Its tone—oh, what a revelation, compared to metallic "talking machines" and shrill-sounding phonographs! None but Edison could work that miracle of tone.

Then the Amberol Records, made for the Amberola alone! They are practically unbreakable and everlasting—what a contrast to the costly fragileness of other phonograph records.

And for range of music—the widest in the world—all the best, all the greatest, all the latest. An endless feast of fascinating melody.

Yet the biggest surprise of all is the price! This wonder phonograph costs less than inferior competitors! There is not a single draw-back to your owning an Amberola right now!

Don't listen to the claims of other manufacturers—listen to their machines. Then come in and compare the matchless tone of the Amberola. Edison's wizardry will win you every time.

We'll expect you in today—now don't forget.

FREE Trial Offer

We will place an Amberola in your home for 3 Days' Trial, which will not put you under the slightest obligation or expense. Come here, select an Amberola and a number of records and we'll send them to your home. At the end of 3 days, if you do not want the Amberola, we'll call and take it away. If you do want it, we'll arrange terms of payment to suit you.

LANGUAGE FAILS US

The autocratic action of our government in these proceedings is of such a nature that it staggers the human mind, reads the proclamation of the American Federation of Labor indorsing the coal strike. How shall we characterize the action of 50,000 men, one-third of them foreigners, who seek to obtain their demands by threatening death and suffering to 100,000,000 Americans through the shutting off of their fuel supply?

We Will Raise Prices

when we have to---

Not Before

We don't reticket our merchandise with every jump of the wholesale market.

Right now we are selling lots and lots of items at 15 to 25 per cent UNDER the market prices—taking less profits by laying more bricks in our foundation, prestige.

When this store gets in on the ground floor, we believe in taking our customers along.

COULD TALK FOR HOURS ABOUT IT

Declares Change is Marvelous Since Taking Dreco, the Great Root and Herb Remedy. Relieved Stomach and Liver Troubles, Also Constipation.

"Honestly, I thought I had the worst liver and stomach in the State," says Mrs. Fannie E. Norris of Route 5, Montgomery, Ala.

"It seemed like there was a big lump in my throat; my bowels were constipated, so I had to take something every night. I often had sick headache, and my liver was lazy. Pains in the small of my back and in my limbs caused me much suffering, and it seemed I could not sleep.

"I have been taking Dreco now for some time, and it sure has brought a change in my condition. My food digests as well as it ever did in my life, without any gas at all. I never have a headache nor pain in my back, and I lie down at night and go right off into a restful sleep. Dreco has done me a lot of good, and I could talk for hours about the good it did me, and then not tell half."

Many people are daily testing the merits of Dreco in cases of gastritis, pains in back and limbs, catarrh, headaches, rheumatism, constipation and general debility. It increases the appetite, soothes tired nerves, arouses sluggish liver and kidneys, and drives the impurities from the blood. Being made of juices of roots, herbs, barks and berries, it does not contain any mercury, potash, or other harmful minerals.

Dreco is sold by all druggists and is highly recommended in this city by

A WORD OF WARNING FROM THE DEM SOUTH

Extract From Speech of Tom Watson on the League of Nations.

(Printed in the Congressional Record September 22, 1919.)

In the league the great charter is engulfed, the sovereignty of the people disappears, and a universal monarchy is at last established.

The council of the league will absorb within itself judicial power, legislative power, and executive power.

It will be a supreme court of the world, a supreme legislature of the world, a supreme executive of the world.

It will evolve its own army, its own treasury, its own system of finance, its own civil service.

It will have in its hands both the purse and the sword, and nowhere on earth will there be a power to veto its measures or resist its usurpations.

It will be another Venetian council of ten, meeting in secret and despotically ruling not one small State but every State.

It pretends to assimilate the yellow race, the brown race, the black race, and the white race.

It pretends to harmonize democracy with imperialism, the kings with the republics.

It pretends to reconcile the Buddhist with the Confucianist, the Mohammedan with the Christian.

It pretends to make a seamless garment out of 33 variegated pieces.

It pretends to expect international melody out of 33 discordant national notes.

If its real purpose is to put an end to just such disorder as the American colonists created, and the French created, and the South Americans created when they broke the yoke of tyrannical kings, then the league will be a uccess.

If the real purpose is to create an international guaranty and collection agency for the great bankers and the bondholders of indebted nations, then the league will be a success.

If the real purpose is to permanently fasten the yoke of the conquerors upon Egypt, Asia Minor, Africa, India, Oceanica, and the greater part of China, then the league will be a success.

The president of the United States had no authority to make a new government for this country—but so far as his signature and official conduct could commit you to it he has done so.

Sworn to defend, protect, and preserve your supreme law, he has usurped the authority to make a new law which your supreme law must obey, which your government must obey, and which the people must obey.

He, your agent, sells you into foreign bondage.

He, the representative of your government, signs away your government into subordination to foreign governments.

The president admits that we will lose our independence in the league. Therefore, he himelf admits that he went to France and surrendered the very thing that our soldier boys fought and died to maintain.The martyrs of the Revolutionary War died in vain; the 50,000 martyrs of the Great War of 1914 died in vain. One man has betrayed everything that the martyrs won!

The president says he will appeal to the country against the Senators who are battling to save our constitutional liberties and our national independence. An appeal to the nation is just what the country wants.

The country wants just such an appeal to it as Washington and Madison made in 1778, when they asked authority to amend the articles of the old confederation.

The country wants such an appeal as was made when the present constitution was referred to the States for discussion and ratification.

The country wants an appeal to it similar to those made when each of the amendments were adopted by the votes of the people.

Give the people a chance to vote on this league!

The question can't be settled by speeches; it must go to the polls!

The president says he will appeal to the country by making 50 speeches.

Dadburn his 50 speeches!

The whole world is sick and tired of his everlasting speeches.

What the people want is a fair chance to make some speeches themselves.

They've been bulldozed and gagged so long that they have an accumulated surplus of speeches to dispose of.

Plague on the eternal flow of presidential rhetoric!

We want to vote!

Why is President Wilson afraid to refer this change of government to the people whose vital interests are involved?

Let him divide the questions, because they are two different propositions.

Let him separate the league from the treaty!

The two have no business together.

It was an artifice, and a very dishonest one, to so entangle the peace treaty with the league that they can hardly be separated except by the men who entangled them.

Let the treaty stand on its merits in the Senate, and let the league go before the people as a separate proposition.

What objection can be urged?

They may say a popular vote would delay the treaty; but one answer to this is that our government went very swiftly into the war, on a congressional resolution; and if it wants to it can quickly come out in the same way.

Besides, American independence, which cost a war of seven years, ought not to be surrendered as hurridly as though it were never worth the Revolutionary struggle.

It is high time the voters of this Republic were allowed to take hand in their governmental affairs.

We have never had an administration whose methods were so full of secrecy, duplicity, favoritism for the lords of special privilege.

No other administration ever showed such a fixed purpose to shut out the people from knowledge of what was going on behind the scenes, and to shut them off from any real influence over the policies of the government.

The people are not told that they shall have no chance to vote on the league, no right to self-determination and no opportunity to effectively antagonize the men who propose to tranfer our independence to a supreme council seated in Europe.

Already Wilson has bound us to keep an army on the Rhine for 15 years. Already he has sent America to the Danube. Already he has sent an army into Silesia and another into Siberia.

Already President Wilson is spreading the American army over Europe and into Asia.

In the name of the Creator that made us, when and where is this Wilsonian madness to stop?

Never before in the history of the human race has any one man arrogated to himself the right to revolutionize the government of a people, unless he came as a foreign conqueror with a sword in his hand.

It is an amazing thing, a monstrous thing, an almost incredible thing, that a president of the United States appoint himself a minister to a European conference, should leave the country and be gone seven months, should secretly spend a hundred million dollars of the people's money while secretly juggling with foreign politicians, and should then come home bringing what he calls a peace treaty, but which is in reality another government to be imposed upon his people.

It is the most astounding betrayal of trust history records.

Suppose President Wilson should tell you that during his private conference with the kings and the capitalists of Europe he became convinced that the American colonists made a huge mistake when they fought to free themselves from European control.

Suppose he should tell you that his Tory kinsfolk in England were right in opposing our Whig kinsfolk in America!

Suppose he should say that we must undo what our Revolutionary forefathers did, surrender to foreign control the government they established and renounce the principles for which they sacrificed their lives!

Suppose he should declare that the most drastic and conclusive evidence of our sudden change of heart on this subject would be to make a public bonfire of the Declaration of Independence!

Suppose that he should declare that the most emphatic proof we can offer Europe of the fact that we have repudiated the time-honored policy of our government would be to let the British ambassador publicly burn Geo. Washington's Farewell Address at the foot of the Washington Monument!

Should he say such things as these he would create a tempest in indignation throughout this Union, and his impeachment would be demanded.

But his deeds, since his second election can not be translated into any other words.

What he has done is imensely more than equivalent to the destruction of the documents which contain the Declaration and of the Farewell Address.

He has signed away independence itself; he has signed away the Americanism of the Farewell Address; he has urrendered what our forefathers gained under the shadow of a European crown.

We, the people, are the sovereign. We, the people, wear the crown.

That crown shall pass on to the next generation untranished in luster and radiant with every gem of Anglo-Saxon liberty.

We can read our titles clear! By the light of the Revolutionary camp fires we can read our titles clear.

Usurpers have moved our lines and seized upon field after field that is ours; but by the God that made us, we will drive out the tresspassers and regain full possession of our blood-bought inheritance.

Mr. S. A. Johnson of Montgomery was a visitor in Clanton Wednesday.

HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

Joe Ben Downs, Reporter.

Miss Gillis returned last Friday from Huntsville where she appeared on the concert program of the Federation of Womens Clubs.

We are glad to announce to the public that Mr. Holmes is practically well and has returned to teach his classes.

The Julia Tutwiler Literary Society rendered a very nice program at the chapel hour last Tuesday.

We are proud to say the school has at least one great man—Mr. Leon Evans. He has invented a new rule in Geometry.

Freshman Class News.

Miss Preston: Reedie, what is the difference between "this," "these," "that" and "those?"

Reedie: You use "this" and "these" when you-ve got it and "that" and "those" when you ain't got it.

Miss Preston: Ely Daniel, give me the imperative mood for the verb "love."

Ely: I love you.

Prof. Thompson: Since you Freshmen have been so good during the afternoon I will tell you a story about the wood-chopper.

Raymond: Tell us about something else; I am tired of hearing about the Kaiser.

When the soldiers went to get subscriptions to the memorial fund Cecil Armstrong asked a stranger if he would contribute something and the man pledged $5.00. Cecil said, "God bless you and may your business prosper."

Don't anyone tell Cecil that this man was an undertaker.

We were glad to have Mr. Holmes back with us Monday, but Tuesday we learned that he was sick again and could not teach. We hope that he will soon be in condition to teach again.

Lanierian Society News.

Last Tuesday morning the society gave some interesting selections, among them were a reading by Edeth Robinson, also a good talk on "Education and the Necessity of it," by Ely Daniels.

Leon Evans gave a talk on why he thought the peace treaty would be ratified.

Miss Dora Edwards made a very fine talk on "The adventures of a hairpin in France and the C.C.H.S."

Several musical selections were rendered.

Junior Class News.

On Monday morning some very interesting debates were given to prove that Macbeth was more wicked than Lady Macbeth. Both sides had some very good points, but Miss Preston has refused to give her judgment until all of the papers were graded.

Before long, we are going to try to give some plays for the school and the public.

We can't tell you whether the Juniors will enjoy staying out 2 days this week or not. "There's a Reason"

Last Friday the Junior Class, at the third period in the morning, was quiet for the first time since the beginning of school, due to the signing of the armistice between the members of the class and Prof. Thompson.

DR. MAYE CLOSES YEAR AT FIRST METHODIST CHURCH

Next Sunday, Nov. 30, will be the closing of this conference year with the Methodist people of Alabama. Rev. E. C. Maye of the Clanton Charge will preach at the church here at eleven a.m., and 7, p.m. A very cordial invitation is extended to all the people of every denomination, and their friends to come to these services and worship together.

This will be the proper time for the people of Clanton to show their love and appreciation for this valuable man and servant of God, who has so gloriously served our town and community for two years past.

Dr. Maye leaves for the Alabama Conference on December 1st, and The Banner believes that it can truthfully say that it is the unanimous prayer of the Clanton people that Dr. Maye be returned to this city in 1920 . Now let our citizens and particularly the members of his church get busy and get him back here at any cost. We need such men among us, and we cannot afford to let one get away when we already have him and know what he is as we know Dr. Maye. We might get another just as good, but we do not want to make a change and risk the chance.

Clanton people owe it to the spiritual welfare of the town and community to see that Dr. Maye comes back to us. Let us get busy now. Go to the Methodist Church next Sunday and show him that you appreciate him and assure him that you are going to do all you can to get the Conference to send him back to our city.

"GRANNY" WILSON DEAD

Dr. E. C. Maye went to Mt. Nebo Monday to conduct the funeral of "Granny" Wilson, who died Sunday at the ripe age of 82. The good old lady was one of the pioneer citizens of Chilton County. She had been a member of Mt. Nebo Church over half a century. Her family connections reach out in various directions touching several of the most prominent people of the western part of the county.

Mr. J. D. Collins states to us that the hog sale here Tuesday was a success in spite of the very unfavorable weather. A car load of hogs were sold at a good price. All who were participants in the sale were well pleased. The hog growers association for Chilton County was organized, and other sales will be held here in the near future.

MT. PLEASANT

Now is quite a busy time for farmers. Everywhere you turn you see work going on—some gathering crops and some making syrup and other preparing to sow their grain crop.

School is moving along fine with Miss Lessie Reynolds as principal and Miss Irene Jones assistant. The box supper Friday night was a splendid success, bringing in all $37.10. The cake alone brought $22.50, and right here we must stop to thank Mrs. T. A. Curry, who baked the cake free of charge. When looking for the loyal and patriotic you will always find her in the front ranks. We also wish to thank W. A. Reynolds, who spent more than any other individual on the cake and boxes.

Jack Dozier and family of Elmore have just returned from a visit to W. A. Dozier's.

Mrs. Eula Belle Culver is visiting friends in Birmingham.

Quite a number from here attended the singing at Clanton Sunday.

Curtis Kelley of Birmingham is here visiting his mother who is real sick.

Mrs. Julia Oden is visiting Mrs. Jane Milford near Liberty Hill.

Milton Cotton and family spent Sunday with Willie Nix.

There is quite a good deal of moving in and out—more than usual.

We are expecting a report from the Editor's fishing trip.

The Ledger's write up of Clanton by Al and Pim, which was reproduced by the Union-Banner, was quite a treat to its readers.

REGISTERING DOGS

All supplies for registering dogs have been received and I am now ready to register them. Those who do not want to make a trip to Clanton to register will find blank applications at the following places: Gulledge Bros., Verbena; J .T. Rockett, Coopers; W. C. Edler, Thorsby; R. M. Hubbard, Jemison; J. E. Cobb, Jemison, R.F.D.; Ralph Calloway, Maplesville; R. E. Fitts, Stanton; J. A. Sample, Plantersville, W. T. Wamble Mt. Creek. I will also be glad to mail anyone a blank application that will write me. By distributing the blanks in this way I hope to save the people of the county all the trouble that I can in registering their dogs.

Respectfully,
M. D. FOSHEE.

A NATIONAL BANK

Government Supervision Means Much.

Year by year the government's supervision of National Banks is becoming more rigid and the qualifications of the examiners is reaching a higher efficiency.

The Comptroller of the Currency, Mr. Williams, is knocking at the door of Congress and asking still greater powers in the administration of his trusts. He is determined to safeguard the people's money deposited in National Banks. The word NATIONAL shall be and is a synonym of safety.

Many banks are saved every year by the timely warning and halt called in mismanagement by the National Bank Examiner.

Having fully decided on a National Bank as a depository, select the one that offers ample facilities and good service. You are respectfully invited to call and see us.

KILBY GOING TO 'T.B.' CONFERENCE

ALABAMA GOVERNOR TO JOIN OTHER SOUTHERN EXECUTIVES IN PARLEY ON PLAGUE SUBJECT.

IS A SIGNIFICANT STEP

Official Action Taken For First Time In History of Fight on Tuberculosis.

Montgomery, Ala.—One of the most important health conferences in the history of the United States will take place in Chattanooga, Tenn., on November 29th, when eight Governors of as many southern states will meet with tuberculosis experts from the National Tuberculosis Association in an effort to cut the tuberculosis death rate in the south and to endorse the Red Cross Christmas Seal sale. This is the first time in the history of the organized fight on tuberculosis that such official action, which promises such far reaching results, has been taken.

The conference was called by Governor A. H. Roberts, of Tennessee, who urged upon the Chief Executives of the neighboring states the extreme necessity of concerted action if the alarming prevalence of tuberculosis all over the country is to be checked to any appreciable extent.

Attending the conference will be Gov. C. H. Brough, of Arkansas; Gov. T. E. Kilby, of Alabama; Gov. Hugh Dorsey, of Georgia; Gov. R. G. Pleasant, of Louisiana; Gov. R. M. Cooper, of South Carolina; Gov. A. H. Roberts, of Tennessee; Gov. James D. Black, of Kentucky, and Gov. T. J. Bilbo, of Mississippi.

The stage is now being set for the widest possible discussion of every phase of the tuberculosis problem and the most approved methods of dealing with the situation. All available data, based upon the findings of the country's geratest experts, will be placed before the Governors for their consideration.

The Governors will also endorse the Red Cross Christmas Seal sale which will extend from December 1st to December 10th, and in which it is planned to raise $200,000 in Alabama. They will consider plans to assure the success of the seal sale in their respective states. The sale is sponsored by the National Tuberculosis Association and its one thousand allied organizations which are located in every state in the Union. More than 650,000,000 seals must be sold if the 1920 educational and preventive program of the allied organizations is to be successfully carried out. The activities of these organizations during the year to come must be increased a hundred fold if the appalling annual death toll of 150,000 lives is to be materially reduced. Authoritative figures place the number of active cases of tuberculosis in the United States to be about 1,000,000.

It is the purpose of the conference to obtain the closest possible cooperation in the fight on tuberculosis and to arrive at some centralized program of action which will not only be applicable to each state represented at the conference but will set up a precedent of joint sympathetic action by the state authorities and the recognized anti-tuberculosis association in each state.

ATHLETE T. B. VICTIM.

"Cy" Seymour, Noted Baseball Star, Succumbs After Bitter Battle With Tuberculosis.

The name of "Cy" Seymour, for many years a star on the New York National Baseball team, has been added to the list of truly great athletes who have taken part in their last contest. Seymour, "Cy," as he was familiarly known to hundreds of thousands of ardent baseball fans, succumbed to tuberculosis after a long and bitter fight.

The list of famous athletes whom tuberculosis has claimed is a long one. "Terry" McGovern, who swept through the lightweight division years ago, conquering all who dared stand before him, died last winter of the same disease. Those who remember the doughty lightweight champion in his prime, find it difficult to think of him as a wasted victim of tuberculosis. Such, however, was the case.

"Mike" Murphy, for many years trainer of the University of Pennsylvania track and field teams and regarded by experts on physical training the world over as the peer in that particular field, is another famous figure in the annals of sport who fell victim of the disease. It is many years since Murphy indulged in an athletic contest, but he could condition a man for the most gruelling athletic contest. Yet he could not fight off the ravages of tuberculosis germs.

The selection of these three names from a list all too long, brings out with startling clearness the fact that tuberculosis is no respector of persons or of classes. Even the physically fit carry the germs in their systems and when their powers of resistance are lowered, they, too, fall victims of the white plague.

The National Tuberculosis Association and its 1,000 allied organizations have been fighting this disease for years.

Where Can I Find Relief From Itching, Terrifying Eczema?

Question on Lips of Afflicted.

There is a harrassing discomfort caused by Eczema that almost becomes a torture. The itching is almost unbearable, and the skin seems on fire with the burning irritation. A cure from local applications of salves and ointments is impossible, because such treatment can only allay the pain temporarily. The disease can only be reached by going deep down to its source, which is in the blood, the disease being caused by an infection which breaks out through the skin. That is why the most satisfactory treatment for all so-called skin diseases is S. S. S., which acts by cleansing the blood. Get a bottle to-day, and you will see results from the right treatment. INSTRUCTIONS REGARDING PROPERTY TAX LAWS

By the State Tax Commission.

Hon. J. N. Dennis, Tax Assessor:

Your attention is directed to Section 44, Revenue Act 1919, as follows:

"It is the duty of every person in every election precinct to attend in person before the assessor on the first day of the appointment in the precinct of the taxpayer's residence, and then and there render to the assessor under oath a full and complete list of all property of which he was the owner, or in which he had any interest whatever, or of which he was trustee or agent on the first day of October of that year, and to enter upon such paper the amount of fire insurance carried upon any of the property listed. The land and improvements thereon must be separately listed. On failure of the taxpayer for thirty days after demand or notice by the tax assessor, to furnish a sufficient description of his real estate, said tax assessor shall secure uch description by a survey of property by the county surveyor or otherwise and the reasonable expenses incident thereto shall be added as costs to the taxes assessed against such taxpayer."

Accurate descriptions will be insisted upon by this Commission. All descriptions returned that do not clearly and completely describe the property must be rejected and a survey made of the property, all in accordance with Section 44, as above set out.

HEADINGS IN DAILY PAPERS MISLEADING

COTTON GINNED SHOWS DECREASE OF OVER MILLION AND A HALF BALES INSTEAD OF INCREASE.

I have been very much surprised at the glaring headlines in our daily papers for thee last four days:
"October Ginnings Show Big Increase"
The headlines of an article are supposed to give the central fact contained therein. That being the case, I am at a loss to understtand why such headlines should be used over the report of "Cotton Ginned," published November 8th, and I am still more surprised why such headlines should be used in the Advertiser of this date, the 15th of November, covering a statement of cotton consumed during October. Not one word is said in this statement, but deals with cotton consumed, cotton on hand, etc., showing there were 555,344 bales consumed October 1919, against 440,354 October 1918, or 114,990 bales more consumed during October, 1919, than during October 1918.

Now, as to cotton ginned: The report of cotton ginned November 8th, gives the total ginning for 1919 as 6,273,866 bales, while the ginning for the same period of 1918 was 7,800,000, or 1,526,134 bales less than ginned to November, 1919, than was ginned during same period in 1918. Then how do the headlines: "October Ginnings Show big Increase" fit the facts in the case?

The headlines are bearish and calculated to stampede the unsuspecting and unobservant, while the facts disclosed are very bullish, showing less cotton ginned and more cotton consumed during October, 1919, than during October, 1918.

Now, Mr. Editor, all we want is facts—give the truth both in headlines and in the information disclosed.

On September 1, 1919, I made an estimate of the Cotton Production of 1919, of 9,489,350 bales. Now, the cotton ginned as published November 8th was 6,273,866, therefore we will have to get 3,215,484 bales more from the crop to make 9,489,350 which is my estimate.

It is conceded that the report published November 8th of 6,273,866 bales ginned fully covers two-thirds of the crop. If that be true, then the crop will never reach my estimate.

There is nothing in the situation to alarm the holders of cotton. We are at least 7,000,000 bales short of the demand for spinable cotton. Prices are bound to go higher. Just hold—that is all—and join the Alabama Division, American Cotton Association.

R. M. MIXSON,
State Organizer

AMERICAN COTTON ASSOCIATION HAD SMALL BEGINNING

NOW ITS VOICE IS HEARD WHEREVER MAN IS KNOWN, AND ITS INFLUENCE FELT WHEREVER CLOTHES ARE WORN.

This organization is the outgrowth of a series of meetings and conferences on the part of prominent farmers and business men of the South, who have given willingly and unselfishly of their time and money to make it possible.

It was preceded by the Cotton States Advisory Marketing Board, similarly organized, and which accomplished its purpose in restoring and upholding a reasonable price for cotton.

But, it was realized that the marketing board was inadequate to the permanent purpose of protecting the producer in his right to a fair profit above the cost of production.

To insure that right, permanently, it was found necessary for the producer himself to organize—to meet organization with organization.

For, the manufacturers of cotton and the distributors of cotton goods are organized, and it is their determined purpose "to get theirs."

"To get his"—ahd he never yet has gotten it—the producer must get together and be prepared to talk back—to name his price and see that it is paid.

There is no way to do it—no way to uphold farm prosperity in the South, and that means business prosperity as well—but to organize and—The American Cotton Association offers that opportunity.

PROCLAMATION

STATE OF ALABAMA.
Executive Department.

Whereas the Legislature of Alabama at its regular session in the year 1919 has ordered a special election by the qualified electors of the State of Alabama upon a certain proposed Amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, which is herein set forth, to be held at a date to be fixed by the Governor not less than three months from and after the final adjournment of said regular session:

And Whereas notice of such election together with the proposed Amendment is required by law to be given by proclamation of the Governor:

Now, therefore, I, Thomas E. Kilby, Governor of the State of Alabama, do hereby give notice, direct and proclaim that the election to be held, as ordered by the Legislature in said regular session, at a date to be fixed by the Governor after the expiration of three months from the final adjournment of said regular session of the Legislature at which said Amendment was proposed and said election ordered, will be held on to-wit, Monday, December 29th, 1919, for the vote of the qualified electors of the State of Alabama in the manner, form and places required by law upon the following Amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, to-wit:

Sec. 194½. (A) The payment of the poll tax mentioned in the Constitution of Alabama shall not be required of any person who served in the military or naval service of the United States for a period of not less than four months between January 1, 1917, and November 11, 1918, and who has been or who may be honorably discharged from said service and who was a qualified elector, except as to payment of poll taxes, at the time he entered said service, or who has since become such qualified elector, except as to payment of poll taxes. Any such person is exempted from the payment of all poll taxes until September 30, 1923. (B) Certificates of exemption from payment of such poll taxes shall be issued to persons entitled thereto under regulations prescribed by the Governor.

In witness whereof I hereunto set my hand and cause the Great Seal of the State of Alabama to be affixed at the Capitol in the city of Montgomery, on this the 30th day of October, 1919.

DELIGHTED WITH WHAT DRECO DID

Suffered For Years With Stomach Trouble, Nervousness, Pains in Back and Limbs, Dizziness and Constipation. All Gone Now

"I have just finished taking a bottle of Dreco, and it has made me feel so much better and stronger that I can do all my own housework," said Mrs. M. Blair of Route 1, Huntsville, Ala.

"Before I began taking Dreco," she continued, "I was in a terribly run-down condition; couldn't eat anything, hardly, and didn't sleep much. My trouble started several years ago, and although I tried many different things, nothing prescribed for me seemed to do any good, and I was almost a physical wreck.

"After eating I would feel all bloated with sour gas, and my heart would beat so fast sometimes I would think it was going to jump out of my body. This made me very nervous and I was easy to get excited. I felt so bad that I couldn't take any interest in things. Nearly every day I would read in the newspapers about what Dreco had done for others, and many cases just fitted my symptoms exactly, so I talked the matter over with my husband, and we decided to give Dreco a trial. After a few days it began to brace me up, and I knew I had at last found the right thing my system needed.

"I am now so much better that I can eat most anything I want, and as much as I want, and do not feel any bad effects at all. My husband says I sleep like a log, and he can hardly wake me in the mornings. I never have a headache now and feel strong and well. I am delighted with what Dreco did for me."

When the liver, kidneys or bowels become inactive the system fails to throw off the poisons, and slowly, day by day, we are weakening our bodies till a breakdown comes. Sometimes it takes the form of the above case. Dreco causes the organs to carry off these toxins and waste matter and keep the system free of these poisons.

UPCHURCH DRUG CO., Clanton.

MAY RAISE PRICES

The crisis that is now upon newspapers in the matter of paper prices is growing alarming. In fact it begins to look like we shall soon face a time when we can't get paper at any price. It is now costing us over twice as much to print the Union-Banner every week as it did two years ago. In the face of such conditions it looks like the only thing we can do is raise the price of advertising and subscriptions. It is very probable that the first of next year we shall be forced to go up to $2.00 per year on subscripeions, and to 20c an inch for advertising. We have now on hand enough white paper to run us about six months. When this supply is exhausted we do not know where the next is coming from nor what price we will have to pay for it. But The Union-Banner is going right on. We feel that there are enough friends of the paper in the county who will pay two dollars a year for it if necessary, to keep the paper going. There is no such thing as giving up. The Union-Banner is going right ahead as long as white paper can be bought in the United States at any price. But you need not be surprised at a raise in our prices at any time now.

"THE LEAGUE IS DEAD"

On March 4, 1919, the Republican Publicity Association issued a statement in which it was asserted that "the British-Wilsonian league of nations is dead." The basis of that declaration was the resolution signed by thirty-nine Republican Senators of the new congress, and read to the Senate that day, to the effect that "the constitution of the league of nations in the form now proposed to the peace conference should not be accepted by the United States." The signers of that document constituting more than a third of the Senate, it was no spirit of idle prophesy that promoted the assertion that "the league is dead." Its truth has been established in the drastic reservations adopted by the Senate, which leave only a shell of the covenant that sought to rob America of her liberties.

But the act of the thirty-nine Republicans was but the culmination of a national awakening to the dangers which a league of nations would bring upon the country. Ever since the president had incorporated the idea of a league in his Fourteen Points of January 8, 1918, discerning minds had been turned in that direction. The first note of public warning of what impended was sounded by Senator Miles Poindexter of Washington in a speech in the Senate on November 15th, by a conincidence almost exactly a year previous to the time the covenant was stripped of its fatal provisions by Poindexter and his Republican colleagues. In that speech the Senator voiced the conviction that if this country should become a member of the league, "the United States will have surrendered its birthright; it will have given up the spirit as well as the fact of sovereignty."

The impression created throughout the country by Mr. Poindexter's appeal to Americanism was immediate and profound. Citizens generally had been inclined to look upon a league of nations as some nebulous power that was to come and drive war from the earth. They began to realize that instead of preventing war for the United States the league would have the effect of drawing this country into every world quarrel, as well as substituting the dictation of a foreign tribunal for the independence of action that we had enjoyed so long.

On December 18 and March 1, Senator Knox; on February 21 Senator Borah; on February 26 Senator Cummins; on February 28 Senators Lodge Lenroot and Frelinghuysen; and on March 3 Senators Sherman and Spencer—all emphasized the warning delivered by Mr. Poindexter. On March 4 the wave of indignation against the league had crystallized into the signed statement of the thirty-nine Republican Senators referred to.

From that moment, until the final vote was taken on the treaty, the opposition of the Republicans of the Senate to any surrender of American sovereignty has been adamant. Arrayed against them in an effort to undermine the inherent patriotism of American has been every resource at the command of the administration. Through the League to Enforce Peace headed, be it said with shame, by a Republican ex-President, huge sums of money have been collected and expended in the most gigantic propaganda campaign ever conceived. But through the storm of misrepresentation and denunciation the Republicans of the Senate, and the principles that they were protecting, have emerged victoriaus. The people of the country have followed the struggle with absorbing attention; they have carefully noted to what party the champions of their rights belong; and at the elections next year will hasten to express their gratitude in a practical and decisive way.

HIGH SCHOOL SINGING

We have written so much about Uncle John Hays and his partners of old time singers in Chilton County that we, no doubt, have been accused of being partial to them; but we are not. However, we are not going to take back any of the things we have said about them. They are still all right.

Now, in order to show to our readers that we like modern music, as well as the old-time kind, we are going to try to tell you a few of our impressions of the singing at the County High School last Sunday. The occasion was a special session of the Chilton County Singing Convention, and the prominence of the singers on the program, together with the ardor of our people for betetr music, brought a great host of people to the High School to sing and be sung.

Let it be said here and now that it will be hard to find another county whose people so generally take to the futherance of the cause of sacred song as they do in Chilton. Likewise, not many counties can boast of a greater number of skillful and efficient leaders in music. The cause of this is natural, owing to the fact that for several years past we have had at different places in our county music schools taught by those famous singers such as Mr. J. D. Patton, Mr. H. M. Eagle and even Mr. Showalter, before whom all modern singers in the South bow, did at times past teach schools in our county.

We would not at all have you believe though that all our music teachers are imported. We have many of our own men and women, students of those other great teachers who occupy high seats in musical circles. They have also made valuable contributions to the cause by their noble and persistent efforts from time to time, in the teaching of schools and otherwise.

Now, back to the subject of the singing here last Sunday. We will say to begin with that we cannot hope here in this limited space to tell everything that everybody did to make the occasion the great success that it was on Sunday. The honors would be graciously divided among a large number of people. There were many of them and each participant did many things that we were proud of. But we will proceed as far as we ean, and the things we do not mention will be known just the same, because everybody was there and possibly saw them better than did the writer.

We honestly believe that the most enjoyable feature of the program was the special numbers rendered by the Riley Brothers of Bessemer. Their quartetts are not to be excelled. We ought to be thankful to Mr. James Franklin for securing these gentlemen for this occasion. Mr. Franklin stated Sunday that he had heard them on some occasion previously, and that he could not be satisfied until his people here had also heard them. It is just the spirit like that of Mr. Franklin's that has made our County a singing success. When our singing leaders go out of the county and see or learn something good they never stop till they bring it home so we can all enjoy it. And when Mr. Franklin brought us the Riley Brothers he sure did something that pleased hundreds of people who heard them last Sunday. We doubt if there is in the State another four brothers who can equal them in singing, no not even in the South.

Prof. J. D. Patton was there, that universally beloved man among singers and lovers of music all over the south. It is useless for us to try to tell anything about him here. He is well known and highly popular among large numbers of intimate friends and former pupils in the county. In fact it is probable that a great portion of the successes in music that has come to Chilton County is the direct fruit of seeds sown by him. He has just closed a school at Liberty Hill. His class from that place was with him here Sunday and aside from their part in the regular program, rendered a special chorus that showed how systematically Prof. Patton can train a class.

We are sorry that Prof. H. M. Eagle could not attend the event here Sunday. Mr. Eagle is another well-known and popular singer who has done much good work in our county. Practically every leader in Chilton County has at one time or another come under the teaching of either Mr. Patton of Mr. Eagle, and in many instances both.

Prof. Merritt of Georgia captivated the audiance with his charming leadership. He is the Sam Beasley type of singers. When he sings he sings all over, and he gets nearly everybody in the house to singing with him too. Mr. Merritt is a new character in the singing business here. He has been a student of Prof. Patton at Liberty Hill. One would surely make no mistake to put this young man down on the list of coming song leaders of the South.

Mr. B. J. Clements of Tuscaloosa who has been here before, was present and contributed materially to the success of the occasion by his splendid leadership. Many of his old acquaintances were glad to see him here again.

Prof. H. C. Collins of Coosa County was present. He is one of the livest singers of the present day. His visits to this county are frequent and he is always received with a glad hand, both for his kindly disposition and his ability as a song leader.

Prof. Patton's daughter presided at the piano. Her skill and training was very evident throughout the entire program.

Judge Bradley, Alabama's State Treasurer, was there. As he always does, he was loud in his praise of musical success. He has a long record of persistent and active effort in the furtherance of the cause of sacred music in the western part of the State.

Besides those mentioned above, there were in attendance many prominent singers and leaders of Chilton County, who contributed valuable help in the rendition of the program. Among them we noticed: James Franklin, T. L. Robinson, W. G. Culp, Sheriff Gore, Zack Lowery, Johnnie Lowery, J. M. Smith, R. A. Smith, Lee Robinson, W. M. DeVaughn, L. T. Grant, Herbert Lowery, O. L. DeVaughn, W. O. Rich, Jesse Jones, Riley Robinson, Max Boswell, L. A. Ruffin, Tom Littlejohn.

The day was pronounced by everybody to be the most successful and really enjoyable of any singing ever held in our county.

We now look forward to the time—December 7th, when Mr. Conway, Mr. Hays, and the old time class of singers shall give us a program in Clanton. That too, will be worth hearing.

REGULAR MEETING OF EMBROIDERY CLUB.

Mrs. Lawrence Gerald was a charming hostess to the members of the Embroidery Club and a few invited friends, last Thursday.

The pretty bungalow of Mrs. Gerald was decorated with chrysanthemums and pretty ferns.

The merry hours were whiled away in embroidering and other fancy work. At the close of the afternoon a delicious salad course with hot chocolate was served.

Mrs. Philip Horn assisted the hostess in entertaining. Those sharing this hospitality were, Mrs. Arthur Johnson, Mrs. W. M. Wyatt, Mrs. L. C. Reynolds, Mrs. Victor Heard, Mrs. N. S. Johnson, Mrs. Eric Hart, Mrs. Earl Gowan, and Mrs. P. W. Horn.

PRETTY BIRTHDAY PARTY

A pretty birthday party was that of William Russell and Hugh Moses Simpson (twin-brothers) given last Tuesday afternoon, November 18, at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Simpson.

The home was beautifully decorated in ferns and white chrysanthemums. After all guests arrived a pecan hunt was enjoyed, the pecans being in tiny paper bags tied with red ribbons. Football was played by the boys, and the girls enjoyed a game of volley.

The guests were later carried into the dining room where a beautifully decorated table greeted their eyes. A tiny Xmas. tree burning red and white candles stood at each end of the table.

Covers were laid for thirty-five guests. The many pretty gifts received proved the popularity of these little boys.

Master Ted Reynolds has returned home after a month's visit to his grandmother, Mrs. S. A. Johnson, in Montgomery.

Mr. and Mrs. Ruben Reynolds have returned to their home in Montgomery, after several days visit to Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Reynolds.

Mrs. E. E. Upchurch has returned home after a delightful visit to Mrs. P. I. Hopkins in Dothan.

WYATT-POOLE WEDDING

On last Friday afternoon, at the home of Rev. B. C. Hughes of Mt. Creek, Ala., the marriage ceremony of Mr. Thomas E. Wyatt to Miss Eva Louise Poole was quietly and gracefully administered by Rev. Hughes. The wedding was unannounced, and only a few friends were present to witness the solemn rite.

Mr. Wyatt has been for a number of years connected with the force of The Union-Banner, and by his faithful efforts and enduring patience, he has become business manager and half owner of The Union-Banner.

The pretty bride is the lovely and affectionate daughter of Mr. W. M. Poole, of Clanton.

After their marriage the happy couple motored down to Montgomery. They returned to Clanton Saturday afternoon, where they will make their future home.

Mrs. S. A. Goodwin of Montgomery will arrive Wednesday to be the guest of Mrs. R. E. Luckie.

Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Parrish of Birmingham passed through Clalnton Friday in route to Miami, Fla.

What Negroes Are Doing in Clanton

(By Robert Colley, Principal of Clanton Colored School.)

The children of the colored school commemorated Armistice Day, with appropriate exercises and raised a neat little sum of money. This day ought to be as dear to all Americans as the Fourth of July, because it was in the months preceding this eventful day that Americans threw their money, food and men into the conflict, decided the issue by destroying autocracy and made the world safe for democracy.

We take this opportunity to remind our patrons and friends of the $1,000 Rally which comes off next Sunday, November 30th, at Friendship and Salem Churches, for the purpose of erecting our school. We are asking everybody to do his and her best.

We must educate and rid Alabama of the stain of illiteracy. On account of the inability of Drs. Prentice and Steinback to fill their places on the program, Dr. Mixon of Salem Church has postponed all engagements of the day at other places to preach for us. We are also asking our white friends to render us all the assistance possible.

The Union-Banner is a bye-word among the colored people. They are talking about the advertisements of our local merchants as well as their own news. Pastor Mixon on Sunday night advised the congregation to subscribe to the Union-Banner.

Sunday, November 23rd was a great day at the Salem Baptist Church. The services began with Sunday School at 9:30, A.M. The day's lesson was well taught by the teachers and ably reviewed by Pastor Mixon.

At 11:00, A.M. and 7:00, P.M., impressive sermons were preached by the pastor.

Our genial organist, Mrs. Carrie Bedsoe, and choir, rendered excellent music during these services.

Mrs. A. L. McCall, president of the missionary society of Salem Church, together with her co-laborers, Maggie Benjamin, Callie Lane, Rubie McCall, Carrie Bedsoe, Malinda Howard, Mattie B. Wilson, Sallie Gilchrist, Lela Woods, are doing excellent work.

Mrs. Lela Woods is conducting a Bible school, for the benefit of Bible readers. We would advise our people to take advantage of this opportunity in getting more spiritual food. The Bible class of the Friendship Church meets every Sunday evening, at 4:00 o'clock.

Mrs. A. M. Dickerson, president of Club No. 2, School Improvement Society, will serve dinner on Thanksgiving Day in front of Mrs. Rush's place. Price 25c per meal.

We are glad to see that prosperity has struck our little town to the extent that another strong bank is established here. Our people have decided to support liberally both institutions.

The son of Prof. and Mrs. Draper left a few days ago for school in Montgomery. We wish for the young man a successful career.

Mrs. Draper's brother from Kansas visited Clanton last week, and was very much delighted with the place. He reported a very good wheat crop in Kansas this year. I hope it will help to solve the flour problem. He also stated that the South was the best place for the colored man.

We regret very much to announce the death of Morris Lane. He was an excellent young man and a good church worker.

Mrs. Ola Gibbons and son, Coy, of Thorsby have just returned from Leola, Ark., where they have been visiting Mr. Ivan Gibbons.

Mr. Gibbons is moving from Leola to Longview, Texas, where he is going to take the job as manager for the Western Union. He has been working for the Rock Island R.R. Co., as agent and operator for 5 years. His many friends regret to see him leave.

ENJOYS HIS 3 MEALS A DAY

Mr. Wooten Thinks Much of ZIRON Because It Made Him His Old Self Again.

Sick people do not get much out of life. In order to enjoy your meals, to do your work well, you must be strong and healthy.

Pale, weak, nervous people frequently need iron to enrich their blood and to restore vitality to their system, and a good way to supply the iron is to follow the example of Mr. Clayton Wooten, of Scotland, Ga., who used Ziron Iron Tonic and has this to say about it:

"I have taken Ziron according to directions and I can truthfully say that it is a fine tonic. It has done me all the good. Since I began taking it, I have gained eight pounds in weight and enjoy eating three meals a day. I shall do all I can to recommend Ziron."

Try Ziron! Your druggist sells Ziron on a guarantee to refund your money if the first bottle fails to benefit. You cannot lose anything, but very likely will gain much, by getting a bottle of Ziron, today!

PROCLAMATION

STATE OF ALABAMA, Executive Department.

Whereas, the Legislature of Alabama at its regular session in the year 1919 has ordered a special election by the qualified electors of the State of Alabama upon a certain proposed amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, which is herein set forth, to be held on the first Monday after the expiration of three months from and after the final adjournment of said regular session.

And whereas, notice of such election together with the proposed amendment is required by law to be given by proclamation of the Governor:

Now Therefore, I, Thomas E. Kilby, Governor of the State of Alabama, do hereby give notice, direct and proclaim that the election to be held, as ordered by the Legislature in said regular session on the first Monday after the expiration of three months from and after the final adjournment of said regular session of the Legislature at which said amendment was proposed and said election ordered will be held on, to-wit, the 29th day of December, 1919, for the vote of the qualified electors of the State of Alabama in the manner, form and places required by law upon the following amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, to-wit:

The municipalities of Tuscumbia, Sheffield, Hurtsboro, Russellville, Lanett, Demopolis, Pell City, Heflin, Columbiana, Carrollton, Opelika, Fairhope, Pine Hill, Scottsboro, Stevenson, Ashland, Brewton, Pollard, Flomaton, Atmore, Inglenook, Tuskegee, Aliceville, Gordo, Reform, Livingston, Camden, Monroeville, Phoenix and Girard, Birmingham, Bessemer, Florence, Huntsville, Selma, Fairfield, Anniston, Athens, Jacksonville, Auburn, Carbon Hill, and LaFayette, in the State of Alabama, shall have the power and right to levy and collect a tax of one-half of one per centum in any one year on property situated therein, based on the valuation of such property as assessed for state taxation for the tax year ending on the 30th day of September next succeeding the levy; provided, that for the purpose of paying bonds issued and outstanding at the time of the adoption of this amendment and the interest thereon, and for the purpose of paying bonds which may be issued after the adoption of this amendment and the interest thereon, an additional tax of one-half of one per centum may be levied and collected by said corporations; provided further, that a majority of the qualified electors of any of said municipal corporations voting at an election called for that purpose may vote a special tax not to exceed one-half of one per centum in any one year for any special purpose or purposes, which tax shall be used only for the purpose or purposes for which same is levied and collected, provided, however, that the total tax to be levied by any of said municipal corporations shall not exceed one and one-half (1½) per centum in any one year. Provided, further, that the adoption of this amendment shall in no wise affect, limit, modify, abridge or impair the power, authority or right of either of said municipal corporations, to levy and collect the special school taxes, now or hereafter vested in or conferred upon them, or any of them under the Constitution or any amendment thereto; including the power of said city of Selma to levy and collect the taxes for schools and school purposes vested in and conferred upon said city of Selma by the amendment to the Constitution of Alabama adopted thereto at the general election held in November, 1916, and which was submitted under law number 315, General Laws 1915, page 337. Each election held under the provisions hereof shall be ordered, held, canvassed and may be contested in the same manner as or may be provided by the law applicable to the municipal corporations for elections to authorize the issuance of municipal bonds. The ballots used at such election shall contain the words: "For..... excess rate of taxation for the year (or years) .....;" and "Against..... excess rate of taxation for the year (or years) .....". The rate of taxation proposed in excess of the rate of one (1) per centum to be shown in the blank space provided therefor and the year or years in which the proposed rate is to apply to be shown in the blank space provided therefor; and in the event different excess rates are proposed for different years the words mentioned shall be repeated as often as may be necessary to show separately the different rates proposed to be applied to the respective years. And the voter shall record his choice, whether for or against the excess rate or rates shown by placing a cross mark before or after the words expressing his choice. Nothing herein contained shall in any wise change or affect the rights of any holder of bonds of said municipal corporations heretofore issued. Elections to authorize the levy of such special tax may be held as often as ordered by the governing body of the municipality but when a proposition is submitted to the electors to levy a special tax for a specific purpose, and if such proposition is defeated no second election for the same purpose shall be held in one year thereafter.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the great seal of the State of Alabama to be affixed at the Capitol in the City of Montgomery one this 29th day of October, 1919. THOS. E. KILBY,

GREAT SEAL Governor.

By the Governor.

WM. P. COBB, Secretary of State.

TAXES DELINQUENT AFTER JANUARY THE FIRST, 1920

Editor Union-Banner:

Please allow me to say for the information of all tax payers that no assessments or taxes will be delinquent till January 1st, 1920, and that no penalty will be added for non-assessment till the first Monday in February, 1920.

It is the duty of every person in the county to make an assessment before January 1st, 1920, regardless of the amount or kind of property they own. All wagons, buggies, cars, automobiles, trucks, bicycles, watches, jewelry, diamonds, silverware, etc., are taxable and should be assessed where you want to save paying fee and penalty.

There will not be any dog tax collected by the tax collector for 1920, and any dogs listed on assessments for 1920 will be erased.

Will You Let Entertain You

Thomas A. Edison -In Your Home?

That is what happens when an Amberola comes into your home. The wizardry of Edison—the Master Product of his Master Mind—furnishes you with years and years of entertainment—all the best music of all the world—reproduced in a superior way that none but Edison could accomplish

EDISON'S NEW DIAMOND AMBEROLA

Among the large number of phonographs and "talking machines" on the market, the genius of Edison makes the Amberola stand out as the one perfect instrument for your home.

Thousands of families in the U. S. A. have purchased phonographs hastily, without careful comparison—and as a result they are repenting their choice at leisure.

You can safely trust the phonograph that has been perfected by the greatest inventor of the age. Choose the Amberola, and you will never regret your selection. The longer you possess an Amberola, the more you will appreciate its marked superiority over ordinary phonographs and "talking machines."

Its marvelous, pure tone will afford perpetual delight to yourself, your family, your friends. No metallic sound or shrillness—common phonograph faults—nothing but pure melody in every note from your Amberola.

No needles to change, with constant bother and expense. The genuine Diamond Point Reproducer of the Amberola is permanent.

And the wonderful Amberol Records are practically unbreakable and everlasting. You can handle them quickly, carelessly — yes, drop them—without fear. (You know how easily other phonograph records are broken.) And on these Amberol Records you have all the world's best music—the greatest singers, the latest songs and dances—to select from.

We will gladly demonstrate the superiority of the Amberola to you at any time. Come in today, tomorrow—bring the family along.

FREE TRIAL In Your Home

We will place an Amberola in your home for a 3 Days' Trial which will not put you under the slightest obligation or expense. Come here, select an Amberola and a number of records and we'll send them to your home. At the end of 3 days, if you do not want the Amberola, we'll call and take it away. If you do want it, we'll arrange terms of payment to suit you.

FARMERS MEETING HERE DECEMBER 6TH

County Farm Demonstrator W. H. Conway requests us to announce a meeting of the farmers of Chilton County, to be held at Clanton on Saturday, December 6th. It is especially requested that all who are now or have ever been members of the Farmers Union be present. Also any who may wish to become members and have never belonged to the Union. The matter of buying nitrate of soda and other fertilizers will be taken up at this meeting.

Mr. Conway stated that there would be a visiting speaker here to talk to the farmers about organization and co-operation. All farmers should attend the meeting as there will be many vital matters brought to their attention on that day.

TEACHERS EXAMINATION

The next State Examination for teachers for this county will be held at the court house in Clanton on the third Monday in December, 1919, at 10 o'clock, A.M. All applicants need to be present by 9:00 A.M. for registration.

All applicants with whom I am not acquainted must be identified before they can be admitted to the examination and must make proof of character.

All applicants who wish to file a third and take for second grade need not be present until 2:00 o'clock p.m. Monday; and those who wish to file a second and take for first grade need not be present until noon on Tuesday.

H. L. FOSHEE,

Are you ill? is often answered—"Oh, its only a cold," as if a cold was a matter of little consequence, but people are beginning to learn that a common cold is a matter not to be trifled with, that some of the most serious diseases start with a cold. As soon a the first indication of cold appear take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Remember that the sooner you get rid of your cold the less the danger, and this remedy will help you to throw it off.

CONSUMPTION CURABLE.

Forefathers Called It Will of God and Left Victim to Die—But It Is Not So Now.

Back in the old days when folks slept with their windows closed tightly, believing night air was dangerous, consumption was thought to be absolutely fatal. Our forefathers shook their heads solemnly, called it the will of God, and the unfortunate victim was left to his fate.

The National Tuberculosis Association and the 1000 State and local organizations affiliated with it are conducting a nation wide fight against tuberculosis. To finance the work throughout the coming year more than 650,000,000 Red Cross Seals will be sold during December.

Science knows a lot more about the disease now than it did several decades ago. There is no such morbid thought about the affliction today, for medical research has proved that tuberculosis is both preventable and curable.

FOURTH-CLASS POST-MASTER EXAMINATION

The United States Civil Service Commission has announced an examination to be held at Clanton, Ala., on December 13, 1919, as a result of which it is expected to make certification to fill a contemplated vacancy in the position of fourth-class postmaster at Verbena, Ala., and other vacancies as they may occur at that office, unless it shall be decided in the interests of the service to fill any vacancy by reinstatement. The compensation of the postmaster at this office was $655 for the last fiscal year.

Applicants must have reached their twenty-first birthday on the date of the examination, with the exception that in a State where women are declared by statute to be at full age for all purposes at eighteen years, women eighteen years of age, on the date of the examination will be admitted.

Applicants must reside within the territory supplied by the post office for which the examination is announced.

The examination is open to all citizens of the United States who can comply with the requirements.

Application blanks, Form 1753, and full information concerning the requirements of the examination can be secured from the postmaster at the place of vacancy or from the United States Civil Service Commission, at Washington, D. C.

Applications should be properly executed and filed with the Commission at Washington, D. C., at the earliest date.

Mr. C. R. Foss has resigned his position in The Peoples Savings Bank. He goes to Thorsby as Cashier of The Bank of Thorsby.

The store of W. A. Kemp is getting to be about the finest thing in Clanton so far as up-to-date fixtures are able to make it. There have recently been some new and specially designed clothing and hat cabinets installed, the equal of which are not to be found in Clanton. In fact, many of the big city stores are far behind on these features. Other improvements are being made at this popular store from time to time. These new ideas in arrangement, together with the record of Mr. Kemp's store for service to the trade make his house one of the foremost in this territory.

VOLUME VIII. CLANTON, CHILTON COUNTY, ALA., DEC. 4, 1919. NUMBER 36

REPUBLICANS ARE AGAINST ARMY PLAN

CONGRESS WILL NOT FORCE A HUGE STANDING ARMY ON THE COUNTRY.

Washington, Nov. 29—The Military Affairs Committee of the House, through a formal statement issued by Chairman Kahn, has made it plain that the Administration's demands for a standing army of 500,000 men will not be favored, and that the maximum strength to be authorized by the committee is 300,000 men and officers. Army reorganization legislation will not be reported this session, but the statement of Chairman Kahn outlines the probable policy which will finally be adopted. It says in part:

"To do our work thoroughly we will have to continue hearings for the present. But we feel that we will be better able to reach conclusions after we are fully informed upon the various matters embraced in the general scope of the Army Reorganization Bill. The committe has however, reached a practically unanimous conclusion as to the size of the regular army at this time. We feel that the legislation ought to contemplate a regular force of 250,000 combatant troops. With the necessary auxiliary forces in the supply and staff corps it will probably bring the total number of officers and men to about 300,000.

OPPOSITION TO THE LEAGUE IS STRONG IN OKLAHOMA.

Republican Success Attributed To A Wide Disapproval of Pact as Proposed by President.

Washington, Nov. 29—The newly elected Republican member of Congress from Oklahoma, Mr. J. W. Harreld, has taken his seat in the House as the Representative of the Fifth Congressional District of that state, a district which had previously been Democratic by 6,000 majority, and has brought to Washington some interesting and significant information as to the causes which brought about his election. The principal element of his success was his opposition to the League of Nations without reservations, but other questions arose in his campaign which have a distinct bearing on the great national campaign for President which will open next year.

"I attribute my election on the Republican ticket in a Democratic and Southern District to no less than four distinct causes," said Mr. Harreld today; "In the first place the majority of the voters in Oklahoma—Republican and Democratic alike—are opposed to the Wilson foreign policy as represented by the league of nations."

Sheriff J. L. Gore, Deputy Curlee, and Town Marshal Joe Gore went to Montgomery Wednesday to attend Federal Court.

FIFTH SUNDAY MEETING AT SHILOH CHURCH NOV. 29TH.

There were only three churches in the Chilton County Association represented on Saturday and one from the Unity.

At 11 a.m. two songs were sung and prayer by W. H. Wilson, after which the organization was perfected. T. J. Deason was elected Moderator and M. S. Deason, Secretary.

At 11:15 the regular order of business was taken up and the subject, "Problems in My Ministerial Work" was discussed and ably spoken to by the following: W. H. Connell, W. A. Goss, T. J. Deason, T. W. Billingsley, and W. H. Wilson.

12:00, Sermon by W. H. Connell, using for his text part of the fifth verse of the 17th chapter of Matthew: "This is My Beloved Son, Hear Him." This was a wonderful sermon. It would have been well for any assembly to have heard it.

1:00, Adjourned for dinner. There were plenty of provisions for this hour and some to spare.

2:15, Devotional services conducted by W. H. Wilson.

2:35, "How Can More Efficient Work be Done in Our Churches," by W. A. Goss, T .J. Deason and W. H. Connell.

3:40, We were adjourned until 10 A. M. Sunday morning with prayer by W. H. Connell.

10 A. M. Sunday, devotional services conducted by J. R. Owen.

10:35, the fifth chapter of Matthew was recited by a little girl, Ruth Mahan. She held the congregation spell bound while she quoted this lengthy chapter from memory.

10:45, "The religious duty of a Teacher to His Students," was ably spoken to by Prof. J. L. Johnson.

11:30, Sermon by Rev. W. A. Goss. This was another wonderful sermon.

This brought us to the closing hour. We felt that we had spent one more glorious meeting for the cause of Christ. We hope that more people will attend these meetings in future as they are so uplifting and inspiring.

M. S. DEASON, Secretary.

BOYS ATHLETIC AND SOCIAL CLUB TO BE ORGANIZED HERE.

The boys of Clanton are organizing themselves into a club, the purpose of which is to promote the interest among the boys in athletic and social affairs. After the organization is completed the Club hopes to establish in Clanton a public library. This is a worthy cause and the boys are going to put it through. Any boys who may be interested in associating in this movement may see Raymond Marcus, Otto Jones or Leon Kemp.

BOX SUPPER.

There will be a box supper at Maple Springs Saturday night, Dec. 6 at 7:30 o'clock, for the benefit of the school. Everybody is cordially invited to come.

THE PEOPLE WILL APPROVE THE RESERVATIONS TO TREATY

U. S. SENATE PROPOSES AMERICANIZATION OF TREATY TO PRESERVE OUR INDEPENDENCE.

Washington, Nov. 29—Senator Lenroot of Wisconsin, on the last day of the Senate session, in a masterful speech, summed up the fourteen reservations which had the approval of a majority of the Senators. He analyzed each one of them and showed what each meant. He declared that when the people of this country understood the reservations they wouuld approve them fully.

In closing, after his analysis of the reservations, Senator Lenroot said:

"Those are the reservations that the President says nullify this treaty. Those are the reservations because of which, it is announced this afternoon by the Democratic leader, they propose to reject the treaty. What are these reservations? These reservations do nothing more nor less than to Americanize this treaty, so far as it affects us. These reservations do nothing more nor less than to preserve the liberty and independence of the United States of America.

"I shall be very sorry, indeed, if this issue must get into a political campaign. It ought not to. There ought not to be any partisan considerations whatever in a matter of this character; but if need be, that the Republican party must again assume the obligation to stand for Americanism, and the Democratic party chooses to stand upon this treaty and defeat it because we have Americanized it, we will welcome the issue.

"This treaty has not been read generally by the people of this country; but I say to you that everyone of these fourteen reservations will be read in every home in this land, and when they are read and when they are understood they will approve of this resolution exactlyy as it is proposed to-day."

In discussing the reservation to Article 10, Senator Lenroot said he would resign before he would vote to accept that article as the President wanted it accepted. He said on this article:

"We are unwilling to enter into such obligation; and I would resign my seat in the Senate, Mr. President, before I would vote to ratify this treaty with the obligaation imposed by Article 10 as the President of the United States asks us to accept it."

REPUBLICAN CAUSE IS STRENGTHENED

RECENT STATE ELECTIONS WILL HAVE GOOD EFFECT ON ELECTIONS COMING IN OTHER STATES.

Washington, Nov. 29—The recent state elections in Kentucky and Massachusetts, where notable victories were won, and in Maryland, where a Democratic majority was reduced almost to the point of defeat, have had a tremendous effect in strengthening the Republican cause in other states, according to Representative William Rodenberg, of Illinois, who has returned to the capital from his home.

"The great Republican victory in Kentucky, where the Republican ticket won out by a majority of 40,000 will be practically duplicated in Missouri in the Presidential election of next year," said Mr. Rodenburg to-day: "Missouri's presidential vote will show a Republican majority of at least 35,000, and the Republican congressional delegation from that state will be greatly increased.

"The recent special congressional election in Oklahoma, where a Republican was elected from a Democratic district on an anti-League of Nations platform, is one of the biggest things that has happned to the Republican party this year. The influence of this Republican victory will be felt all through the middle west, solidifying Republican sentiment, and a number of the Southern states, where the Republicans confidently expect to bring consternation to the Democratic leaders."

BOX SUPPER.

There will be a box supper at the Union Grove School Saturday night, Dec. 6. Everybody invited.

ACTION OF SENATE MARKS ISSUE IN THE NEXT BIG ELECTION

Fight on League of Nations is Bound to Come up Before the People at the Ballot Box.

Now that the final curtain has been rung down on the Peace Treaty in the Senate it becomes evident that the reservations that Americanized the document will be the leading issue before the people in the Presidential campaign next year. From the beginning of the debate on the league of nations those who were candid to admit what was apparent to every intelligent observer have said that the policy of Americanism as expressed in the covenant reservations was distinctly a Republican issue, while the effort to inflict internationalism upon this country had the backing of Democrats almost exclusively, with the President, the leader of the party, at the head of the scheme.

On March the 4th thirty-nine Republican Senators signed a round-robin serving notice on the President and the world of their unalterable determination to oppose the league of nations of the sort that Mr. Wilson was seeking to force upon the country. No Democrats signed that round robin, neither did that party promulgate a similar one of their own. On the contrary the Chairman of the Democratic National Committee publicly characterized the league covenant as "the greatest document of human liberty every prepared." In the four months of debate that followed the presentation of the treaty to the Senate, and in the speeches that preceded that date, it has been increasingly apparent to all except those who wilfully blinded themselves to the facts that the line of cleavage on the treaty more closely separated the two political parties than any question upon which they have been called to pass for many years. The fight for the treaty was led by a Democrat, receiving his orders from the White House, and supported exclusively by members of his own party in the Senate. The struggle for Americanism was directed by a Republican who had behind him every Senator of that party but one. But in the face of those facts the President insisted that this is not a party issue, and in that position was supported by certain Republicans, some even who essay to direct the party policies.

But now the sky is cleared, and every one who takes even a passing interest in national politics knows that the reservations to the league covenant will be one of the dominant issues of the next campaign. Senator Lodge, who led the fight for their adoption, has this to say: "I wish to carry these reservations into the campaign. I wish the American people to read and study them. They are not like the covenant of the league. They are simple. I do not see that there is one of them to which any American can object. I want the people to see them, understand them and think of them in every household and on every farm and in every shop and factory throughout the land. And then let them decide." Every Republican who has the best interest of his party at heart must endorse those sentiments.

It is hinted that Mr. Wilson will join the issue and call upon such of his followers who will remain subservient to his wishes to rally to his league's defense. But whether he cares to accept the Republican challenge or not the league will be in the fight, and every voter must record himelf upon it. There is not a doubt that the Republican Presidential candidate will be a strong reservationist and it is equally certain that the standard bearer of the Democrats will be a treaty-as-written candidate. Those who have kept an ear to the ground are convinced that the Republican vote throughout the country will be substantially in the proportion of 48 to 1 (The Senate Republican vote on the treaty) for the party's candidate, and to their vote will be added a tremendous democratic defection, all joining in a demand for unimpaired Americanism that will augur well for the future of the United States.

CHILTON COUNTY DOCTORS MEETING ON TUESDAY

On Tuesday, Dec. 2, the Chilton County Medical Society met in regular session with the following doctors present: Dr. J. P. Hayes, Dr. V. J. Gragg, Dr. N. S. Johnson, Dr. A. Johnson, Dr. O. C. Mastin, Dr. C. S. Strock, Dr. Sterling Wood, Dr. L. E. Sorrell, Dr. T. J. Marcus. In addition to the regular program, the annual election of officers was held and the following was the result: Dr. V. J. Gragg, President, Dr. N. S. Johnson, Vice-President, Dr. T. J. Marcus, Secretary-Treasurer, Dr. Arthur Johnson, Member County Board of Health for a term of five years to succeed Dr. J. P. Hayes, whose term of office had expired. Dr. J. P. Hayes was elected Quarantine Officer for Chilton County. After an interesting and enthusiastic meeting a banquet was held at the Exchange Hotel.

After the banquet, which was enjoyed by all, a general discussion of the high cost of living and the increasing expenses incident to the practice of medicine was freely entered into by all present, and it was agreed by those present to make the fee for obstetrical cases a minimum of $25.

The next regular meeting of the Society is to be held in Clanton on the first Tuesday in January at ten o'clock, A. M.

HITCHCOCK SEES LIGHT

Washington, Nov. 29.—Even Senator Hitchcock has seen a light with respect to the treaty. Senator Hitchcock stood in the Senate for weeks and months, doing the bidding for the President, saying the treaty had to be accepted without the crossing of a "t" or the dottnig of an "i".

Now, Senator Hitchcock is talking in different vein. He is speaking in favor of "compromise." He is quoted as saying "that concessions on both sides must be real and not nominal."

This is very different from the tone the White House has adopted up to date.

REPUBLICAN LEADER SAYS MORE GAINS

SEE INCREASING INROADS UPON HITHERTO SOLID SOUTH BY NOW DOMINANT PARTY.

Washington, Nov. 29—The chairman of the National Republican Congressional Committee, Representative Fess, of Ohio, and the Vice-Chairman, Representative Wood, of Indiana, have both given out statements predicting further Republican inroad upon the hitherto solid south in the national elections of next year. Mr. Fess and Mr. Wood base their claims upon the evidence of growing Republican sentiment throughout the South which was furnished by recent special Congressional elections in Kentucky, Alabama and Oklahoma, and the probability of the election of a Republican to succeed Representative Webb, Democrat, of North Carolina, who has resigned.

"The opportunity to make Republicans in the South in a Presidential year never seemed more inviting than now," said Mr. Fess; "The solidarity of the South has actually been broken and the usual issues, based largely on prejudice, are assuming less importance. Indutrial development in the South has brought about a change of sentiment in favor of the Republican party."

Mr. Wood predicts a largely increased Republican membership in Congress from the South as a result of the next regular elections. He said to-day:

"The South is ready to break loose, politically, in many places. We are practically assured of additional Republican Congresmen from Oklahoma where we have recently elected our third member, in Kentucky, where we already have four Republican members, and in Missouri, where we did so well in the last regular elections. Next year, 1920, will be a big Republican year in all parts of the country, but we are particularly pleased at the early signs of increased strength in the South.

PRESIDENT RESPONSIBLE

Washington, Nov. 29.—"Had President Wilson displayed a willingness to Americanize the Peace Treaty and the League of Nations it would have been ratified months ago," declared Representative Fess, of Ohio, upon the adjournment of congress. "The unchanging attitude of the President, to demand acceptance of the League without the crossing of a "t" or the dotting of an "i" is responsible for the situation which now exists."

Mr. Fess believes that prospects for national success in 1920 are most satisfactory to the Republicans.

Advantages of a Bank Account However Small it May Be

It is well to pay bills promptly, but not to pay the same bill twice. Sometimes a bookkeeper, by mistake, sends out bills after they have been paid. If you pay by check, however, the canceled checks are returned to you and can be produced as receipts.

Checking accounts are, therefore, more than a convenience. They are an insurance against overpayment. Every man or woman who pay bills should do so with check. Your checking account will be welcomed at this Bank, where you are assured of absolute security and most courteous service. The Federal Banking Laws make every stockholder of this bank liable to depositors for twice the amount of stock owned.

THORSBY ITEMS

Thorsby Institute has the honor of being 100 per cent for the Red Cross. It certainly is fine to see all the students wearing the 1920 Red Crass button.

A recent visitor to Thorsby and the Institute was Sgt. Kenslar Farrell, a former student of T. I., who was enjoying a furlough after more than two years army service, most of which has been spent in France. Sgt. Farrell gave a most interesting talk to the students one morning in chapel. After a visit with friends and relatives in Birmingham and other points in Alabama, he returned to Camp Dix as he has re-enlisted for another year.

It is the custom in Thorsby each year to hold a union Thanksgiving service in one of the three churches. This year the service was held in the Congregational Church. Rev. Lowery of the Baptist Church preached a splendid sermon, using for a text Romans 12:1. Rev. Davis, who has just recently moved to Thorsby, read the scripture lesson, and the President's Proclamation was read by Rev. Butler. Special music was furnished by a choir composed of young people from the three churches.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Pittman and two children of Clarendon, Va., have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Horn for several weeks. Mrs. Pittman was formerly Miss Francis Horn.

Rev. and Mrs. James Davenport have a special cause for Thanksgiving this year. On Sunday before Thanksgiving Day the stork visited their home and left a fine ten-pound boy.

Mrs. Z. C. Forde of East Lake, a suburb of Chattanooga, Tenn., spent Thanksgiving with her daughter, Miss Lockwood.

The Ladies Guild met on Friday of last week with Mrs. Sorenson.

Rev. W. Knighton Bloom, Sunday School Extension Secretary for the Congregational Church, gave a most entertaining and helpful address on Monday night, November 24th, at the Congregational Church. On Tuesday morning Dr. Bloom spoke in chapel. He is making a tour of the Southern Congregational Churches, speaking in the interest of Sunday School and other lines of Religious Education.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Goddard, who are visiting relatives and friends in Ohio, write that they are having a fine trip. They will probably be away for another month yet.

Mr. G. D. Edwards is selling out his stock of goods in Thorsby, and expects to open up a general merchandise store in Ensley about the first of the year.

Friends of Mr. Ruben Foss, and that means all the citizens of Thorsby and community, are glad to welcome him as cashier of the new Bank of Thorsby.

PEOPLES TELEPHONE MEETING.

There will be a meeting of the stockholders and patrons of the Peoples Telephone Company of Clanton at the County Court House on Monday, December 8th. The business of the meeting is to elect new officers and arrange for the management for the next year. We need to revise our service, therefore everybody is expected to come so that the best satisfaction may be attained for all.

Mr. Crumpton and family of Randolph will locate on Joseph Waldrup's farm.

Robert Waldrup of Illinois is visiting his people here.

Mr. Van Lightsley and family will soon move to Bibb County.

Emit Waldrup and Miss Ethel Abercrombie of Randolph drove out to Glass' the other day shopping.

Mr. Eshleman of the International Bible students Association, will lecture here this week.

Much success to the Banner.

THE SISTER'S FAITH—FORD WILL BRING THEM BACK.

The following appeared a few days ago in the "State Register" Springfield, Ill.:

"Many are the stories of Henry Ford and his popular automobile, but Hillsboro is relating what it calls the best of the season, and the facts in the case are true. It happened in one of the leading churches of the city that the pastor took for the text of his sermon "Better Church Attendance."

"The pastor held that the automobile has taken more people away from church than any other thing. He concluded with the exclamation: 'The Ford car has taken more people to hell than any other thing I can mention!' Whereupon an old lady in the congregation began to clap her hands and moan 'Praise the Lord! Praise the Lord!'

"What's the matter sister?" asked the pastor.

"The Ford never went any place it could not make the round trip, and I am sure that all of those people in hell will get back if they went in a Ford."

PROCLAMATION

STATE OF ALABAMA,
Executive Department.

Whereas, the Legislature of Alabama at its regular session in the year 1919 has ordered a special election by the qualified electors of the State of Alabama upon a certain proposed amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, which is herein set forth, to be held on the first Monday after the expiration of three months from and after the final adjournment of said regular session.

And whereas, notice of such election together with the proposed amendment is required by law to be given by proclamation of the Governor:

Now Therefore, I, Thomas E. Kilby, Governor of the State of Alabama, do hereby give notice, direct and proclaim that the election to be held, as ordered by the Legislature in said regular session on the first Monday after the expiration of three months from and after the final adjournment of said regular session of the Legislature at which said amendment was proposed and said election ordered will be held on, to-wit, the 29th day of December, 1919, for the vote of the qualified electors of the State of Alabama in the manner, form and places required by law upon the following amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, to-wit:

The municipalities of Tuscumbia, Sheffield, Hurtsboro, Russellville, Lanett, Demopolis, Pell City, Heflin, Columbiana, Carrollton, Opelika, Fairhope, Pine Hill, Scottsboro, Stevenson, Ashland, Brewton, Pollard, Flomaton, Atmore, Inglenook, Tuskegee, Aliceville, Gordo, Reform, Livingston, Camden, Monroeville, Phoenix and Girard, Birmingham, Bessemer, Florence, Huntsville, Selma, Fairfield, Anniston, Athens, Jacksonville, Auburn, Carbon Hill, and LaFayette, in the State of Alabama, shall have the power and right to levy and collect a tax of one-half of one per centum in any one year on property situated therein, based on the valuation of such property as assessed for state taxation for the tax year ending on the 30th day of September next succeeding the levy; provided, that for the purpose of paying bonds issued and outstanding at the time of the adoption of this amendment and the interest thereon, and for the purpose of paying bonds which may be issued after the adoption of this amendment and the interest thereon, an additional tax of one-half of one per centum may be levied and collected by said corporations; provided further, that a majority of the qualified electors of any of said municipal corporations voting at an election called for that purpose may vote a special tax not to exceed one-half of one per centum in any one year for any special purpose or purposes, which tax shall be used only for the purpose or purposes for which same is levied and collected, provided, however, that the total tax to be levied by any of said municipal corporations shall not exceed one and one-half (1½) per centum in any one year. Provided, further, that the adoption of this amendment shall in no wise affect, limit, modify, abridge or impair the power, authority or right of either of said municipal corporations, to levy and collect the special school taxes, now or hereafter vested in or conferred upon them, or any of them under the Constitution or any amendment thereto; including the power of said city of Selma to levy and collect the taxes for schools and school purposes vested in and conferred upon said city of Selma by the amendment to the Constitution of Alabama adopted thereto at the general election held in November, 1916, and which was submitted under law number 315, General Laws 1915, page 337. Each election held under the provisions hereof shall be ordered, held, canvassed and may be contested in the same manner as is or may be provided by the law applicable to the municipal corporations for elections to authorize the issuance of municipal bonds. The ballots used at such election shall contain the words: "For..... excess rate of taxation for the year (or years) .....;" and "Against..... excess rate of taxation for the year (or years) .....". The rate of taxation proposed in excess of the rate of one (1) per centum to be shown in the blank space provided therefor and the year or years in which the proposed rate is to apply to be shown in the blank space provided therefor; and in the event different excess rates are proposed for different years the words mentioned shall be repeated as often as may be necessary to show separately the different rates proposed to be applied to the respective years. And the voter shall record his choice, whether for or against the excess rate or rates shown by placing a cross mark before or after the words expressing his choice. Nothing herein contained shall in any wise change or affect the rights of any holder of bonds of said municipal corporations heretofore issued. Elections to authorize the levy of such special tax may be held as often as ordered by the governing body of the municipality but when a proposition is submitted to the electors to levy a special tax for a specific purpose, and if such proposition is defeated no second election for the same purpose shall be held in one year thereafter.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the great seal of the State of Alabama to be affixed at the Capitol in the City of Montgomery ono this 29th day of October, 1919. THOS. E. KILBY,

GREAT SEAL Governor.

By the Governor.

WM. P. COBB, Secretary of State.

NOTICE

To the friends of the old time music in Chilton County:

The Building Committee of the Sacred Harp Music Hall in Birmingham propose to raise $1,000.00 by January 1st, which will secure the lots for the building and leave a nice sum on hand for constructing the Hall. One half of that amount will be given in Jefferson County, leaving the other counties interested to give fifty dollars each. Let Chilton do her duty in full thus helping to erect an enduring monument to the music of our Fathers, to be used by our children and children's children for decades to come.

While we all admire beautiful modern music, yet we can't forget the music of Handel, Moozart, Mason, Hastings, White and Walker.

Contributions may be given to either of the following sub-committee: W. H. Conway, J. W. Hays, T. C. Jackson, J. H. Scott; or sent direct to Miss Elizabeth Jackson, Secretary Treasurer, 301 Bank St., Birmingham.

This is a worthy object, and should have the prompt and liberal aid of all the friends of the music of our Fathers and Mothers. Surely Chilton County will do her part.

COMM. FOR CHILTON CO.

We have now for sale 7½ acres of land, the old Middleton property, near the Clanton Grammar School, which is suitable for residence property. The same will be divided up into lots and sold. You can get a lot any size for cash or credit. It would be wise for you to buy one of these lots cheap now and later build on it for an ideal place to live. If interested, see either F. B. HAD TERRIBLE SKIN DISEASE

Little Girl Improves Rapidly When Given ZIRON Iron Tonic.

Many mothers try one remedy after another, for the sufferings of their little ones, without apparently being able to find the right one. If anything seems wrong with the blood, or stomach, or if the child's system is run-down and needs strengthening, you may benefit by the experience of this Westmoreland, Tenn., mother, Mrs. John F. Anglea, who writes:

"My little girl had a terrible skin disease and her stomach was in such a bad condition. Nothing helped her, so we finally started to give her Ziron.

She improved so rapidly from the first bottle, so we have given her two more. She is much better."

Don't try other remedies first! Choose Ziron from the start. It has benefited many people suffering from poor blood, general weakness, loss of appetite and other symptoms which indicate lack of iron in the blood.

COUNTY BOARD OF EDUCATION IN SESSION LAST FRIDAY.

The Chilton County Board of Education was in session here last Friday. They passed several motions and resolutions that are of vital interest to the teachers and school people of the county. The following are a few of the things acted upon:

By motion the Board requires that each school have a flue or flues built of brick laid flat by Jan. 1st, 1920.

By motion the Board agrees to leave the insurance of the school buildings to the discretion of the district trustees, and if they desire to have the buildings insured they must notify the County Board and the Board will have same insured, to be paid for out of the incidental fees of that district.

By motion the Board hereby allows Thanksgiving and Christmas days as holidays for the teachers of the county from now on, beginning with this school term.

By motion the Board requires that all schools close on December 20th until December 29th, but teachers will be paid for Christmas day only of that time.

By motion the Board agrees that no teacher who fails to attend the group conferences held monthly will be paid for that day, even though they may teach.

County Superintendent Foshee, in a letter to all the teacher of the county sent out this week, calls attention to the above action of the Board and urges that teachers especially familiarize themselves with these rulings.

The Board is working on a plan of consolidation of schools that will be a step forward on the march of educational progress in Chilton county. Announcement of this action will be made in a short time we hope.

Rev. E. C. Maye left Tuesday for Demopolis, where he will attend the Alabama Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church all this week.

Every week some new phonograph appears on the market

Any good workman can build a "Talking Machine"—

Only the Genius of An Edison Could Produce

THE NEW DIAMOND
AMBEROLA

The World's Greatest Phonograph Value

You need a phonograph in your home. Every home in the U. S. A. needs the cheering, soothing, refining influence of good music. But you want the best phonograph made—no other is good enough for your home, your family, your friends.

How can you tell which is the best? Easy—if you use common sense. Difficult—if you trust to the claims of numerous manufacturers.

Look for the man behind the phonograph—the brain that evolved it and perfected it. If you cannot discover any personality behind an instrument you may well doubt its perfection.

The brain of Thomas A. Edison, the greatest inventive genius in the world, is the birthplace of the Amberola! Edison has perfected every detail of this wonder phonograph until in every way it is superior to ordinary phonographs and "talking machines!"

The tone has been pronounced superior to that of other well-known phonographs by scores of phonograph experts after striking tests. The genuine Diamond Point Reproducer is permanent—no changing of needles. The wonderful Amberol Records, in shape and composition, are practically unbreakable and last for years and years!

All the world's best music is recorded on these Amberol Records, from popular songs and dance music to grand opera sung by the world's greatest artists. Every month new Amberol Records are issued with the latest hits and new recordings of famous artists.

Go, listen to other phonographs and "talking machines" if you will—then come here and listen to the wonderful Amberola. Above all remember that the name and fame of the greatest inventor of the age guarantee its superiority.

Last but not least, Edison has succeeded in making this remarkable phonograph to sell at prices considerably lower than inferior "talking machines."

3 Days' FREE Trial

We will place an Amberola in your home for a 3 Days' Trial which will not put you under the slightest obligation or expense. Come here, select an Amberola and a number of records and we'll send them to your home. At the end of 3 days if you do not want the Amberola, we'll call and take it away. If you do want it, we'll arrange terms of payment to suit you.

"Big High Lights in President Wilson's Message to Congress."—Democratic newspaper headline. Correct, brother; they were high lights all right. As his spouts usually are, they were so high that they shot away over the heads of the common every-day things that need the attention of a sober practical effective executive of this country.

We desire to call the attention of our people that now is the time to register and get your name on the voting list of the county, if you are not already on it. The appointments of the County Registrar are now being published in the paper. Look it up and see what days he will be in your Beat. Then call the attention of those who need to register and see that they go and perform that duty at the proper time without delay. Every man who wants to see better conditions of politics and government ought to take notice of those in his Beat who are not registered voters, and use his influence in getting them to qualify now.

The next year is going to be a live one so far as politics is concerned, and it is now time we began to look over our tackle to make sure that our lines are strong and ready to cast into the stream and help land our man and our issue, whoever and whatever that may turn out to be. It is of course true that when we cast out into the sea of politics we sometimes catch a "sucker." We could name lots of both men and measures that have been hauled ashore on the election day by our votes and turned out to be "suckers" after we examined them closely. But it is natural for us to want to vote for something, and we are of the kind that are always ready to take the chance and cast away. If we get stung we accept it cheerfully with the faithful vow that we will not do it again. Let everybody in Chilton County get busy now and see that all the boys register and pay their poll tax so that there will be enough votes cast next year to go around among all the candidates. It is going to take a good many to do that, and we want to see them all get a little encouragement.

H. A. Harris went to Montgomery Wednesday to attend the Masonic Grand Lodge of Alabama.

WHAT'S WRONG AT CAPITOL?

On September 23 the United Mine Workers of America, in convention at Cleveland, formulated their demands for a six-hour day and a five-day week, and served notice on the operators that unless the new schedules were granted there would be a general strike in bituminous fields on November the first. The convention adjourned, leaving the miners' officials powerless to negotiate terms with the owners, and able only to present the ultimatum adopted by their conovention. That ultimatum was impossible of acceptance, as it meant not only the raising of the price of coal, out of all reason, but also the curtailment of the supply to such an extent as to affect seriously all the industries of the country.

Everyody knew that the threatened strike could not be avoided. The officials of the government were aware of the fact and of the disaster and turmoil that woould be visited upon the railroads and industries in general. But nothing was done. The usual conferences were held, both sides to the controversey were urged to compromise their differences, and the President issued an appeal to the miners to continue at their work which, in its practical effect, was not worth the paper on which it was written. No affirmative action whatever was taken by the Government to prevent the calamity.

The strike came and for a month the country has suffered from its blighting effect. To date the executive department of the government has done nothing but talk and issue advice so far as taking steps to resume coal production is concerned, although certain measures have been adopted for conserving the supply on hand.

The Judicial department has issued an injunction against the use of the huge benefit fund of the miners, and ordering the officers of the mine workers to rescind the strike order. That court mandate has been compleid with, but with no effect on the production.

The situation resolves itseif into this: For two long months the administration has been confronted with the certainty of the actuality of a nation-wide coal strike with all its attendant evils. During all of that time not one effective step has been taken to aid the people. the maintenance of whose welfare furnishes the only reason for the existence of the government. The future holds no hope of a settlement so far as any affirmative action by the officials at Washington is concerned. Discussion follows discussion; the cabinet holds all-day meetings and adjourns in a wrangle with nothing accomplished; the personage in the white house clings tenaciously to the prerogatives of president, seemingly mentally incapable of sound judgment and utterly lacking in the physical stamina and nervous energy required to deal with the emergency; dear old Secretary of Labor, Wilson, himself Secretary of the United Mine Workers eight years, fusses about in a vain effort to bring together the opposing factions on a compromise and at the same time to convince the public that his interests are entirely neutral; and Dr .Garfield, the profesorial theorist from Williams College, is hastily called in in the capacity of expert to show befuddled Washington the way out of the muddle. Garfield has evolved a plan that appears to have many of the elements of sanity, but nobody else in authority favors it. At best it is only advice as to wage scales, with no means for its enforcement even if adopted, and making no provision for the actual mining of coal. The government has failed to function. The people are now merely inconvenienced; soon they will be freezing and starving, and that means riots and more determined efforts than ever at the establishment of an archy. Unless the crowd of syncophants with whom the President has surrounded himself at Washington awake to their duty and perform it with resolution, the succeeding weeks will be a period of peril to these United States of America.

CUMMINGS POLITICAL BROADSIDE PROVES A "DUD."

Chairman Cummings of the Democratic National Committee has published an arraignment of the Republican Congress which he doubtless hopes will turn votes to his party in the next election. If deliberate misrepresentation of facts, gratuitous charges that amount to nothing less than slander, and cunningly phrased deceptions upon the public mind are to have that effect, then Cummings' diatribe will accomplish everything he wishes. But the American people as never before, are following the activities their national Congress and they are quite capable of placing a correct valuation upon Democratic statements intended to discredit the party in charge of our legislation.

"The people have paid a staggering penalty for the folly of electing a Republican Congress," cries Mr. Cummings. When the Democratic Congress adjourned last March it left unenacted seven great money measures. Within 38 days the Republicans had placed those laws on the statute books with a saving over the coresponding bills of the last fiscal year of about $940,000,000. Not only that, but the bills showed a reduction from the estimates submitted by the Wilson administration of more than $1,685,000,000. Had those estimates been complied with, every dollar of that huge sum would have been practicadlly wasted, for no just claim has been made that the Republican appropriations will not be sufficient for the period for which they are made. The 'penalty' the people paid last November was a saving to them of $16 for every man, woman and child in the United States.

"It is impossible to point to one single constructive measure which has been adopted," asserts the Democratic political leader. How about the return of the telegraphs and telephones to their owners; the woman suffrage amendment; vocational training legislation; additional pay for a hundred thousand postal employees; more stringent immigration laws; extension of food control act; and increase of certain war risk allowances? All of those have become laws in the present Congress, as well as many minor acts. The House has enacted many more bills, which the Senate found impossible to consider on account of the treaty, but which will receive prompt attention in the new session.

Mr. Cummings has the temerity of charging the Senate with completing "six months of ghastly ineptitude and political floundering." "The American flag," says he, "has been trailed in the dust by men who do not seem to understand what American honor requires." That sort of partisan appeal has received an answer from the people already in various special elections that have been held during the treaty debate in the Senate. The kind of Americanism that they demand has been unmistakeably shown to be that defended so courageously and successfully by the Republicans of the Senate—the kind that stands for our traditional policy of independent self-government, free from inteference by foreign powers intent on exploiting the United States for their own benefit. Republicans are glad to accept the issue that Mr. CumMings seeks to make of Americanism.

"The Senate has not yet been able to say 'yes' or 'no' to the treaty," Mr. Cummings reminds the country. The treaty failed of ratification, but who is to blame? Thirty-nine Democratic votes were cast against ratification. Had only twenty-three of those votes been registered for the treaty it would now be the law of the land, but those partisan Senators preferred to follow the orders of their political master in the White House, rather than the dictates of their own consciences. As a result the treaty is dead.

The next time Mr. Cummings sees fit to issue a political broadside, he should endeavor to make charges that can be supported by facts rather thanto submit to the people a list of allegations based only on his own personal statement.

Chamberlain's Tablets.

These tablets are intended especially for indigestion and constipation. They tone up the stomach and enable it to perform its functions naturally. They act gently on the liver and bowels, thereby restornig the stomach and bowels to a haelthy natural condition. When you feel dull stupid and constipated give them a trial.

Jim Grant says that when you see a fellow come in and pay up eight or ten years of back dues on his poll tax you can just bet that he is getting in shape to vote against something. It is usually true too. I man will go further to vote against something he dislikes than he will to vote for something he favors. And we have many men in Chilton county who ought to take the notion to pay up their back poll taxes. There are many things going on in the land now that people are dissatisfied with and when those things come up again they will be mowed down right and left. The only way you can have a hand in the frolic is to show your poll tax receipt; it is your admission ticket. So don't fail to get it. Don't be one of those who get the idea that it is no use to vote anyhow. That is wrong. Such stuff as that is a sure sign that our country would go to the bow-wows good and proper in a short time if we didn't keep on the alert. This government of ours depends on the votes of the people for its sustenance. What we need is more voters and better voters. Get busy and pay your poll tax, so you can vote for the good things and vote against the bad things when the time comes.

DESPERATE EFFORT TO BREAK MARKET IS MADE BY BEARS

PROPOSITION TO REMOVE TWO MILLION BALES FROM MARKET SWEEPING COTTON BELT.

IMPORTANT.

Had it not been for the fact that the producers fully understand that the spinning world cannot be supplied with imaginary cotton, nor will paper cotton supply the wants of the spindles and furnish clothing for a naked world, otherwise the market would have crashed today on the ridiculous and farcical report issued by a private bureau showing an indicated yield of 10,900,000 bales. The bears made a desperate effort to break the market after this barrage had been discharged. Telegrams were received at headquarters from various sections of the cotton belt showing that spot cotton was not affected at all; also stating:

"We approve in the fullest terms the proposition to take two million bales of good grade cotton off of the market. Our State will put up its full quota, turn warehouse receipts over to the banks, accepting trust receipts in exchange not redeemable until June, July and August, 1920."

The proposition to remove two million bales from the market is sweeping the belt, and it is an absolute certainty.

Among the telegrams received is the following from John B. Cannon, Chairman Spartanburg County Branch of the American Cotton Association, who has made one of the most remarkable showings in the organization of the American Cotton Association in the entire belt. This unit of the A. C. A. has arranged warehouse facilities for 65,000 bales; arranged to finance all cotton raised in the county; arranged for government graders and staplers, independent buyers; having raised funds for erecting a cotton factory of $500,000 capital, and now arranging to have every gin in the county equipped with the latest and best gin compression equipment:

"Sparanburg County stands solid today and will stand until the last in spite of the effort of speculators to bear the market down today based on the ginners' report. Spartanburg County cotton has advanced two cents and every point in the county is now paying forty cents and not being sold. Neither this county nor the South will forget you are the bridge that took them over. We believe that without the American Cotton Association cotton would have been selling for twenty cents a pound. Please let the world know that we are still willing to be led by you and are following you. We are solidly behind your movement to retire two million bales good grade cotton. Is key to situation. Will force prices to fair level based on supply and demand. We have retired one-third good grade cotton made in Spartanburg County until July, 1920."

One of the largest commercial papers of New York wired today informing President Wannamaker that their editor is making a special Southern trip for the purpose of writing up the work already accomplished by the American Cotton Association, its aims, objects and purposes, stating:

"Your campaign has attracted nation-wide attention and will result in making the South the most prosperous part of the entire nation. It has been the greatest campaign of publicity, and the greatest piece of constructive work ever put into effect in this nation. Its benefits will be reflected throughout this country."

J. Skottowe Wannamaker, President, American Cotton Association.

DR. YARBROUGH TELLS STATUS OF THE BAPTIST DRIVE.

Tuesday finds the headquarters of the Baptist 75 Million Campaign $1,-100,000 short of Alabama's quota of Four million, according to Dr. W. F. Yarbrough, Alabama Director. Forty-nine of the 77 district associations have reported, though these reports are only partial reports from the churches reporting, and many of the churches in these associations have not been heard from. 28 associations have as yet made no reports but they are small associations with small quotas.

"Only eight of the associations report more than their quotas raised, though complete reports will put many more over the top. Birmingham association covered itself with glory. With one of the largest quotas for any association in the south, $500,-000, she has reported $750,000, and is still going.

"Georgia and Mississippi on either side of us, already have their quotas over-subscribed. Alabama has ample opportunity yet to save the day. Let every church, whether over the top or not, press the battle to the limit and report results promptly. To get proper credit all reports must reach us before midnight, Sunday, Dec. 7. Baptists of Alabama, come on! Our battle line must not break. Let the churches and individuals do their best and do it now!"

CRIPPLED SCHOOL CHILD SAVED BY RED CROSS SECRETARY

A strange lady stopped a group of children who were on their way to the country school. She had noticed them dragging a young boy along the rough road.

"You mustn't do that," she told them. "Why don't you let your little playmate walk?"

One of the boy's bright-eyed little captors spoke up:

"Aw, lady, can't ya see Willie's a cripple? He can't walk."

The lady did see, now. And she accompained the children home. It was a home of poverty, of wretched squalor. The mother of the crippled boy informed the visitor she had no money to buy crutches for her son who was a victim of infantile paralysis.

That was three weeks ago. Today the boy is walking again, feebly and uncertainly, but successfully. The strange lady was a Red Cross Home Service secretary, and she sent the boy from the town in Mississippi, where she found him, to the Crippled Children's Hospital in Memphis, where a successful operation was performed.

The Peace Program of the Red Cross provides for the continuation of such activities as this. The local Red Cross organization will conduct a drive [illegible] for the purpose [illegible]

RED CROSS SERVING DISCHARGED SOLDIERS IN MANY WAYS.

"Say, Sam, did you ever get that Liberty bond you paid for?"

"No."

"Neither did I. I wonder when Uncle is coming through with it."

This conversation, or one like it, is taking place these days between hundreds of "pals" in the service, or just discharged from it. Various difficulties have been experienced by soldiers in getting the bonds for which they have paid.

To overcome this condition the American Red Cross has come to the rescue. All any soldier who wants his bond needs to do henceforth is to inform a representative of the Red Cross. Practically any contingency causing delay has been guarded against. The soldier must give the representative all the information he can and leave the rest to the association, which will take up the matter and see that prompt delivery is made through registered mail.

The method is this, in brief: The soldier assigns the delivery of his bond to the Red Cross representative, who obtains it from the bond section of the zone finance office and delivers it to the owner.

This is one of the many services of this great organization which is soon to conduct a third roll call to gain money and members to keep up its work permanently.

Ford

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

Weak Links in a Strong Chain

That's just what imitation parts are when they become a part of your Ford Car. They look strong enough, but the metal isn't there—the strong, durable Vanadium steel that goes into the Ford chassis and every Ford part. Ford parts are specially cast and heat-treated, each according to its own use. Some require a hard, flint-like wearing surface others need resiliency, and some need just "toughness."

Ford metallurgists have been studyig these problems for sixteen years and know just how each unit should be made to endure a maximum of wear ad tear. They know that best results can be obtained only by the use of special formulas for different parts, and that honest Ford parts wear from thirty-five to one hundred per cent longer than counterfeits.

We carry complete assortments of genuine Ford parts for both passenger cars and trucks. And our garage is equipped to give careful and prompt Ford service—from minor adjustments to complete overhauls. Drive in, it's better to be safe than sorry. Come to the authoried Ford dealer for service.

"The 52 Biggest Problems of the Average Southern Farmer."

Every member of The Progressive Farmer staff has had actual farm experience—most of us are running southern farms now—and from our own experiences, and from the multitude of farmers' letters that come to us every year, we believe we have figured out a pretty nearly perfect list of these "fifty-two biggest problems" of the average Southern Farmer, and we are going to treat them in the next year's Pr ogressive Farmer.

We are going to treat them, too, in order of timeliness, just as far as possible. For the aim of The Progressive Farmer, always, is to tell the subscriber just what he wants to know, just when he wants to know it, and in as few words as possible.

Here's the list of big problems we shall treat during the fall months, and the date on which each discussion will appear:

November 1—Financing the Farmer: (Personal and short term credit; Long-term Credit for Land Purchase; Avoiding "Time Prices"; Utilizing National Farm Loan Associations, etc.)

November 8—Systems of Farming—Affecting Soil Fertility, Money Profits, Prosperity and Permanence of Rural Life.

November 15—Arranging and Erecting Fences; Relative Value of Different Systems, Materials, etc.

November 22—How to Reduce Land Washing to a Minimum. (Terracing, Ditching, Filling Land with Humus, Proper Use of Steep Hillsides, etc.)

November 29—What Changes are Needed to Insure Better Health for Men, Women and Children on the Farm

December 6—Winter Care and Feeding of Horses, Mules, Cattle and Hogs.

December 13—Getting Rocks and Stumps off the Land.

December 20—How Farm Neighbors may Work Together for Greater Profits and Happiness.

December 27—Business Methods on the Farm (Inventories; Records; Accounts; Banking; Cost-Keeping; Advertising; System in Correspondence and Sales, etc.)

The above subjects are of vital importance to you, and alone are worth the price we ask, and remember The Progressive Farmer carries many other big featues not mentioned in the above list.

SEEKS PLAN TO AID THE WEAK

Mrs. Martin Albon Says There Should Be a Way to Tell All Who Suffer Ill Health of the Wonders of Sul-Ferro-Sol, the Great Body-Builder.

So elated was Mrs. Martin Albon of Dothan, Ala., over the results she derived from Sul-Ferro-Sol, she asks if there isn't some way to tell everybody whose health is bad of the wonders of this great remedy.

Mrs. Albon stated that she had suffered a general breakdown in health for a long time. She was just sick all over, and no remedy that she had previously tried seemed to benefit her at all.

She said further: "Before I had finished taking the first bottle of Sul-Ferro-Sol, my appetite had improved, I was getting back my color and was gaining in strength and weight. I now feel fine."

The symptoms of Mrs. Albon apply to thousands and many of these thousands are daily regaining their strength just as this lady did—through the use of Sul-Ferro-Sol.

Sul-Ferro-Sol is offered as a natural Iron tonic of marked efficiency.

At all drug stores everywhere. Liberal bottles for one dollar.

STEINER LEADS SEAL CAMPAIGN

DISTINGUISHED WAR VETERAN IS GENERAL CHAIRMAN FOR RED CROSS CHRISTMAS TOKEN DRIVE.

TO AID UNFORTUNATES

Anti-Tuberculosis Workers Request Affected Soldiers to Apply to Them for Help.

General R. E. Steiner.

Montgomery, Ala.—General Robert E. Steiner, state chairman for the Red Cross Christmas Seal sale in Alabama, has never headed a movement which failed, and his acceptance of leadership in the annual money-raising campaign against tuberculosis is regarded as a guaranty of compelte success for the drive. It is planned to raise $200,000 by sale of the seals in December.

General Steiner saw service overseas, and had an opportunity to observe at first hand the problem of tuberculosis in the army. He considers the work of the National Tuberculosis association and its 1,000 affiliated organizations as an activity of vast importance to the returned tubercular soldier.

"A request that every one of the 69,000 men who were rejected for military service by draft boards because of tuberculous affection get in touch with the nearest organization engaged in anti-tuberculosis work was sent out recently from the general headquarters of the National Tuberculosis Association," said General Steiner. "The object sought, it was said, is to bring about a co-operation of effort that would aid the affected men in their fight for recovery and to prevent the spread of the disease.

"Attention was called to reports from the Surgeon General's office that of the men of the United States called to the colors during the World War approximately 100,000 were found to be affected with tuberculosis. All the men rejected by draft boards and practically all of those rejected by camp surgeons were sent home, it was stated, and it is necessary for the conservation of the public heaith that they be kept track of and fully advised as to the mode of life and the treatment which will help them and protect their families.

"Follow-up systems are now being employed by the various agencies engaged in combating tuberculosis, but, according to officials of the National Tuberculosis Association, many men are hanging back and others cannot be located. It is to reach these two elements that the appeal is made for co-operation.

ASSOCIATED DOCTORS COMING TO CLANTON

WILL BE AT WILSON HOTEL ON SATURDAY, DEC. 13, FOR ONE DAY ONLY.

Marvelous Demonstration in Chronic Disease Cases by Their New System Treatment.—Offer Services Free of Charge.

Word has just been received that the Associated Doctors, specialists, licensed by the State of Alabama, and who have met with such phenomenal success throughout the entire southeast, will be in Clanton on Saturday, December 13th, for one day only to demonstrate their new system of treatment of chronic diseases.

This will be good news to those who find it convenient to visit the central laboratories in Birmingham, located in the Lyric Theatre Building, where the organization has southern headquarters. These regular reputable physicians believe that the combined skill of several trained specialists in chronic disease cases can accomplish more than one doctor alone—in other words, in unity there is strength.

They offer to treat all who can call on this visit absolutely free as this is their original method of getting their system of treatment before the public quicker, and no one, rich or poor, white or black, should neglect to take advantage of their very liberal offer —ABSOLUTELY FREE— (medicine excepted.) No cutting; no knife.

It makes no difference how many doctors you have consulted or how many patent medicines you have taken, you cannot afford to miss this opportunity of ascertaining your exact condition and be honestly advised. No one should require further evidence of the skill of these specialists than the following letter recently received from a well-known Baptist minister:

"I can't thank you enough, Doctor," said the Rev. R. L. Fletcher, well-known minister, as he entered the crowded reception rooms of the Associated Doctors and continued to say words of praise to all those assembled. "I began suffering from general break-down Nov. 28, last, and appeared to go all to pieces; my stomach, kidneys, heart, blood and nerves went back on me, and even though I consulted the best local doctors, they could give me no cure, and advised me to consult an expert specialist. As soon as I noticed your announcement and learned from so many people of your cures, I came to your office.

"I had indeed about lost hope, but to-day—even after taking your marvelous treatment for only this short period, I am a new man; eat well, and sleep well and feel like a man in my prime. I want to thank you and my dear wife also wants to thank you for she is so proud of my improvement. I want you to publish this statement so that others can benefit the same as I have done."

'Most gratefully yours,
(Signed) "R. L. FLETCHER."

Now that you know the truth, you have only yourself to blame if you continue to suffer from piles, kidney and bladder troubles, discharges, bed wetting, blood poison, skin eruptions, rheumatism, epilepy, uric acid poisoning, paralysis, nervous troubles and debility, neuralgia, stomach and liver troubles, catarrh, asthma, bronchit is, pleurisy, tumors, indigestion, constipation, gall st ones, ovarian and female troubles, enlarged glands or any reflex condition of the nervous system, and those diseases about which most people dislike to consult the general practioner.

Bear in mind that this will likely be the last visit when the specialists extend their services free.

Hundreds have been restored to their perfect good health with rosy cheeks and sparkling eyes—so may you. The specialists are too well known throughout the state to require further mention.

Married women should be accompanied by their husbands and children by their parents.

Remember the hotel, day and date, one day only. Hours 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

A RECORD TURNIP PATCH.

Was the moon right when Uncle Joe Popwell planted his turnip patch? He says he don't go by the signs of the moon, but we are inclined to be of the opinion that he "hit it right" whether he did it by accident or on purpose. Anyway when you have read this story you will admit that his was a very successful turnip patch.

On the 28th of August Uncle Joe says he planted a patch containing a little less than one-fourth of an acre. From that patch he has already sold $46.40 worth of turnips, and he estimates that there are now $50 worth on the ground.

He did not tell us this, but we judge that in addition to those he sold and those now in the patch, there must have been a goodly number of them consumed on his family table and a generous division of the crop among the close neighbors.

We say this is a good record for a turnip patch. Do you think the moon was right when he planted them,

SCHOOL TRUSTEES TO MEET ON SATURDAY, DECEMBER 13.

A meeting of the School Trustees of the several districts of Chilton County is called to be at the Court House in Clanton on Saturday, Dec. 13th. The following letter has been sent to all the Trustees this week by County Superintendent Foshee:

"To district Trustees: You are hereby called to meet at the main court room of the Chilton County Court House in Clanton on Saturday, Dec. 13, at ten o'clock ,A. M. for the purpose of discussing the new school laws, especially as to the duties of the local trutees.

"The new law places more powers and duties upon the local trustees than any law we have ever had in Alabama, and in order that you may better understand your duties I ask that each trustee try to attend. If it is impossible for all the trustees to attend, be certain that at least one from each district come in order that he may report to the others the work done in the meeting."

FOUND RELIEF FROM CATARRH

Nose and Head Stopped Up Every Morning. Drippings From Back of Nose Got Stomach Irritated. Dreco, the Great Herbal Remedy, Gave Relief.

A famous doctor, writing about catarrh, says: "When the nose is stopped up, as by a cold in the head, or when the bad habit of mouth-breathing is indulged in, the air we breathe is only partially warmed, moistened and otherwise prepared for contact with the deeper tissues; therefore, diseases of the throat, windpipe or lungs are very apt to develop."

"I have been a sufferer from catarrh for a long time," says Mrs. L. T. Bowen of 402 Eugene St., Montgomery, Ala. "There seemed to be a constant dripping into my throat from the back of my nose. Upon rising in the morning my head and nose would be all stopped up, and it would take some time to get them cleared. My breath most of the time was foul, and my breathing was heavy and difficult. I knew of the benefits people were receiving from taking Dreco, so bought a bottle. At the end of the first bottle I felt that my condition was much improved. On rising I was not nearly so much stopped up; my breath was sweeter and the dripping much less. I am continuing the treatment and feel that I will get a permanent cure, and do not hesitate to recommend Dreco to anyone suffering as I was."

Dreco acts directly on catarrhal conditions of the nose, head, throat and stomach, as it is quickly absorbed by the blood and circulated to the affected parts, where its tonic action is soon felt, giving prompt benefit, and if the use is continued, often effects permanent relief.

Dreco is sold by all druggists and is highly recommended in this city by

What Negroes Are Doing in Clanton

(By Robert Colley, Principal of Clanton Colored School.)

Sunday, Nov. 30, will long be remembered by the colored population of Clanton. On that day the widely published rally for our $1,000 school came off. At the start we were confronted with a few obstacles. In the first place the heavy rains on Friday and Saturday, followed by a cold snap on Sunday, together with a rally at Morning Star Church, had much to do with our out-of-town visitors. Again the preacher for the 11 o'clock service, Rev. Mixson, was absent on account of illness. Just at the eleventh hour Rev. Burks, of Verbena, appeared on the scene and took care of the situation. He preached a very forcible sermon on the importance of education. He made it plain that a mental education without moral training is not sufficient. The Friendship and Salem choirs furnished us with music. The collection from the men who pledged $25 each and the public was taken up. The first to the table was A. L. Sewell, followed by J. A. Wood, West McCall, L. D. Buckner, W. A. Dickinson All the above paid $25 each.

At four o'clock the women of the School Improvement Society met at Salem church. Rev. Sanders, Missionary of the Chilton County Association, preached an excellent sermon. The two presidents of the School Improvement Society, Mrs. M. A. Dickinson and Mrs. J. A. McCall, did well. Their members and loyal friends responded to their appeal for help and put them over the top.

We cannot say too much in behalf of those women and their supporters. It would have been impossible for the trustees board to accomplish much if it were not for their aid and assistance in the work.

The services of the day were further continued by lectures at night. The writer, Prof. Draper, and Rev. Alexander lectured. Prof. Draper delivered a fine lecture on the importance of education and the necessity of building school houses, and better house in order to have better men and women. Rev. Alezander spoke along the same line.

At the night session Mr. Walter Benjamin paid his $25 of pledge money. Major Holmes, seeing the enthusiasm of the people, pledged $25 and paid $5 of it. I take this opportunity of thanking the public and also the noble women of Clanton for the sacrifice they have made. We have only made a small beginning toward our goal. It will take more rallying and work to complete what we have before us. Let us not stop where we are, for the work has just begun. The rally will be continued till the second Sunday in December, by which time the other pledgers and friends will enable us to make a round report.

PROCLAMATION

STATE OF ALABAMA.
Executive Department.

Whereas the Legislature of Alabama at its regular session in the year 1919 has ordered a special election by the qualified electors of the State of Alabama upon a certain proposed Amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, which is herein set forth, to be held at a date to be fixed by the Governor not less than three months from and after the final adjournment of said regular session:

And Whereas notice of such election together with the proposed Amendment is required by law to be given by proclamation of the Governor:

Now, therefore, I, Thomas E. Kilby, Governor of the State of Alabama, do hereby give notice, direct and proclaim that the election to be held, as ordered by the Legislature in said regular session, at a date to be fixed by the Governor after the expiration of three months from the final adjournment of said regular session of the Legislature at which said Amendment was proposed and said election ordered, will be held on to-wit, Monday, December 29th, 1919, for the vote of the qualified electors of the State of Alabama in the manner, form and places required by law upon the following Amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, to-wit:

Sec. 194½. (A) The payment of the poll tax mentioned in the Constitution of Alabama shall not be required of any person who served in the military or naval service of the United States for a period of not less than four months between January 1, 1917, and November 11, 1918, and who has been or who may be honorably discharged from said service and who was a qualified elector, except as to payment of poll taxes, at the time he entered said service, or who has since become such qualified elector, except as to payment of poll taxes. Any such person is exempted from the payment of all poll taxes until September 30, 1923. (B) Certificates of exemption from payment of such poll taxes shall be issued to persons entitled thereto under regulations prescribed by the Governor.

In witness whereof I hereunto set my hand and cause the Great Seal of the State of Alabama to be affixed at the Capitol in the city of Montgomery, on this the 30th day of October, 1919.

This class has the best report in deportment in school this month and we are going to make it better.

The Junior class was unfortunate this week to have three members to withdraw. They were Marie Thomas, Juanita Atkinson, and Beryl Langston.

In the last issue the peace treaty between Prof. Thompson and the Junior class was signed. Now we are glad to announce it has been ratified by a unanimous vote.

Marzell is getting information, for she has asked if No. 1 carries telegrams to Montgomery.

Lanierian Literary Society.

Tuesday morning the Society held a very interesting program in chapel. The Society came to order and a song was sung. Next a high-class play was presented by Armstrong and Plier entitled "When Sam McGee Went Over the Top." Next on the program was a recitation by Miss John Lee Thacker.

The Lanierian Journal was read and some very interesting sugar notes and news items were given by the editor, Leon Evans.

Music selections were rendered, and the Society adjourned.

A PLEA FOR THE BOY.

If you've dressed him up on Sunday
in his prettiest little shirt,
Expect that he will promptly find his way into the dirt.
Don't stand aghast and startled if he dares to climb a tree
Or wants to play in places where he never ought to be;
It's the nature of the youngster to run wild in search of joy.
Were he tame and neat and careful
then he wouldn't be a boy.
Don't imagine you can train him so he'll like to wash his ears
Or be a little angel when your company appears.
Don't fancy gentle mother when he goes to bed at night
That you'll never find the bruises that he's picked up in a fight.
And don't give way to sighing when his wilfull tricks annoy;
If he didn't like to battle then he wouldn't be a boy.
Don't view these different stages as the signs that he is bad,
To be all the time in mischief is the nature of the lad.
There is fun in getting dirty, and no
real boy can see
Why clothes are so important—and
he's wiser there than we.
If he never got in trouble and was careful with each toy,
And was never wild and heedless, then he wouldn't be a boy.

THE E. C. MAYE SUNDAY SHOOL CLASS ENTERTAINED.

Mrs. J. C. Jones was the lovely hostess on Friday afternoon when she entertained the E. C. Maye Sunday School Class at her handsome home in South Clanton.

The hall, library and parlor, which had all been elaborately decorated in ferns and blooming cactus, were thrown into one.

On arriving the guests were shown into the library by Mrs. Eric Hart, where they were served hot chocolate by Mrs. Hosea Downs and Miss Gillis. The meeting was called to order by Mrs. Barney M. Roberts, and the roll called by Mrs. T. C. McSwain.

A Thanksgiving program was enjoyed as follows: Song by class. Devotional exercises led by Mrs. E. C. Maye. Solo, "His Eye is on the Sparrow," Miss Willie B. Sartor, accompanied by Mrs. Evan Parrish. Reading, "On Thanksgiving," Mrs. John VanDerveer. Quartette, "Nearer, Still Nearer," Mrs. R. E. Luckie, Mrs. Harvey Chandler, Mrs. E. C. Maye, and Mrs. John Armstrong. Talk on "Thanksgiving," Mrs. E. C. Maye. Solo, "He is All and All to Me," Mrs. John Armstrong accompanied by Mrs. Evan Parrish. After the program a delicious salad course was served by Miss Gillis and Miss Williamson.

The following members and invited guests were present: Mrs. John VanDerveer, Mrs. R. E. Luckie, Mrs. Mallie White, Mrs. T. C. McSwain, Mrs. E. C. Maye, Mrs. Eric Hart, Mrs. N. S. Johnson, Mrs. B. M. Roberts Mrs. Hugh Simpson, Mrs. John Arms trong Mrs. F. B. Collier, Mrs Carrie Mullins Mrs. L. C. Reynolds, Mrs J. P. Hayes Miss Willie Belle Sartor, Mrs. John C. Page, Mrs. Evan Parrish, Mrs. H. F. Chandler, Mrs. W. M. Mullins, Miss Williamson, Mrs. W. P. Splawn, Miss Gillis, Mrs. Eric Hart, and Mrs. Victor Heard.

The class will meet with Mrs. F. B. Collier on December 26th.

Mrs. L. H. Reynolds is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. J. O. Newell in Birmingham this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Grady Reynolds will leave Thursday for Birmingham where they will spend several days with friends and relatives.

NOTICE OF ELECTION.

Notice is hereby given that an election will be held at the various precincts of Chilton County in the State of Alabama, on Monday, December 29, 1919, at which time the qualified voters of this state shall vote for or against the adoption of the following amendment to the Constitution of the State of Alabama, to-wit:

The municipalities of Tuscumbia, Sheffield, Hurtsboro, Russellville, Lanett, Demopolis, Pell City, Heflin, Columbiana, Carrolton, Opelika, Fairhope, Pine Hill, Scottsboro, Stevenson, Ashland, Brewton, Pollard, Flomaton, Atmore, Inglenook, Tuskegee, Aliceville, Gordo, Reform, Livingston, Camden, Monroeville,, Phoenix and Girard, Birmingham, Bessemer, Florence, Huntsville, Selma, Fairfield, Anniston, Athens, Jacksonville, Auburn, Carbon Hill, and LaFayette, in the State of Alabama, shall have the power and right to levy and collect a tax of one-half of one per centum in any one year on property situated therein, based on the valuation of such property as assessed for state taxation for the tax year ending on the 30th day of September next succeeding the levy; provided that for the purpose of paying bonds issued and outstanding at the time of the adoption of this amendment and the interest thereon, and for the purpose of paying bonds which may be issued after the adoption of this amendment and the interest thereon, an additional tax of one-half of one per centum may be levied and collected by said corporations; provided further, that a majority of the qualified electors of any of said municipal corporations voting at an election called for that purpose may vote a special tax not to exceed one-half of one per centum in any one year for any special purpose or purposes, which tax shall be used only for the purpose or purposes for which same is levied and collected, provided however that the total tax to be levied by any of said municipal corporations shall not exceed one and one-half (1½) per centum in any one year. Provided further, that the adoption of this amendment shall in no wise affect, limit, modify, abridge or impair the power, authority or right of either of said municipal corporations, to levy and collect the special school taxes, now or hereafter vested in or conferred upon them or any of them under the Constitution or any amendment thereto; including the power of said city of Selma to levy and collect the taxes for schools and school purposes vested in and conferred upon said city of Selma by the amendment to the Contitution of Alabama adopted thereto at the general election held in November, 1916, and which was submitted under law number 315, General Laws, 1915, page 337. Each election held under the provisions hereof shall be ordered, held, canvassed and may be contestetd in the same manner as is or may be provided by the law applicable to the municipal corporations for elections to authorize the issuance of municipal bonds. The ballots used at such election shall contain the words: "For..... excess rate of taxation for the year (or years).....;" and "Against.....excess rate of taxation for the year (or years) ....." The rate of taxation proposed in excess of the rate of one (1) per centum to be shown in the blank space provided therefor and the year or years in which the proposed rate is to apply to be shown in the blank space provided therefor; and in the event different excess rates are proposed for different years the words mentioned shall be repeated as often as may be necessary to show separately the different rates proposed to be applied to the respective years And the voter shall record his choice whether for or against the excess rate or rates shown by placing a cross mark before or after the words expressing his choice. Nothing herin contained shall in any wise change or affect the rights of any holder of bonds of said municipal corporations heretofore issued. Elections to authorize the levy of such special tax may be held as often as ordered by the governing body of the municipality, but when a proposition is submitted to the electors to levy a special tax for a specific purpose, and if such proposition is defeated no second election for the same purpose shall be held in one year thereafter.

Witness my hand, this 24th day of November, 1919.

Senate Recoiled From Tying up this Country

VOTE INDICATES MAJORITY SOUGHT TO PREVENT PARTICIPATION IN BROILS OF EUROPE.

Washington, Nov. 8.—There is food for thought in the fact that when the Senate voted for the unreserved acceptance of the peace treaty and covenant the vote stood 38 for acceptance and 53 against it.

In other words, as that vote indicates, only a little more than a third of the Senate are willing to stand for the treaty and covenant unmodified.

The rest of the Senate recoiled from the idea of tying the country up to an arrangement that clearly would enmesh the American people in the broils of Europe and would sacrifice the sovereignty of the United States on the altar of internationalism.

It is more and more plain, the longer the votes in the Senate are studied, that if the treaty and covenant unamended and unreserved, with the administration exerting tremendous pressure on Senators to support it, could not get more than 38 votes at the outside, then there are such objectionable features inhering in the document that the average American citizen will do well to examine into those features for himself.

He will do well to ask himself, for instance, whether he is ready to support as it stands Article X of the covenant under which beyond any question whatever American troops, seamen, ships and guns could be thrown into a European or Asiatic conflict without Congressional authority.

TAFT WOULD SELL AMERICANISM FOR A MESS OF POTTAGE.

Washington, Dec. 8.—The Republican Publicity Association, through its President, Hon. Jonathan Bourne, Jr., today gave out the following statement from its Washington headquarters:

"In its desperate attempt to deprive the people of an opportunity to pass udgment on the league reservations through popular vote, the League to Enforce Peace is practically holding out the inducement of money to Republicans if their political leaders will but abandon their plan to make the reservations an issue of the next campaign. Mr. Taft, the president of the Peace League, is out with a lengthy argument in which he uses the following language: "Republican committeemen in all the states, in the effort to secure contributions and to arouse the energy of all Republicans, are meeting with unexpected rebuffs, because of a failure to dispose of the treaty and the league." Taken together with the rest of his appeal that the treaty be disposed of and not held over until the judgment of the people can be expressed next November, that sentence is an assertion that if the Republicans insist on making the league reservations a campaign issue they can expect few contributions to their campaign funds, Mr. Taft plainly insinuates the converse: That if the Republicans will drop that issue money will flow into their party coffers in abundance.

"Never before has a man who called himself American had the temerity to suggest that patriotism was a commodity that could be bought and sold. But here is a man, once unfortunately the foremost citizen of the United States, who issues an open statement to the people generally and to his party colleagues in particular that if they but listen to his advice and abandon their fight for their country's continued independence their party coffers will be filled. The country has been surfeited in the past year with the acts of its President in carrying out his scheme of self-glorification at the expense of his country's sovereignty, but it has remained for our only ex-President to advocate the selling out of that sovereignty for a sordid money consideration. For pieces of gold he urges the defenders of the Nation's institutions to surrender their trust to an aggregation of vulture nations that seek the exploitation of the wealth and resources of the United States for their own aggrandizement.

"An insight into the hitherto unsuspected mental processes of Mr. Taft is permitted by his remarkable article. How long has the standard of ethics revealed by his arguments been one of the governing factors in his life? If he would have men in the Senate, charged with the duty of legislating for the best interests of their country, abandon their settled convictions for the lure of added contributions to a political treasure chest, does it not follow that he would adopt a similar course for himself? Should not his official acts while in the White House be reviewed in the light of this new revelation?

"What was it that induced Mr. Taft while President to urge trade relations with Canada that would have brought ruin to the farmers of the United States? His policy of Canadian reciprocity was strongly urged against by practically every other Republican in the country, but was persisted in and brought temporary political disaster to the party. Why was it that President Taft vetoed the bill giving statehood to Arizona and New Mexico because the people of the former chose to include the initiative and referendum in their constitution? Why did he also veto the bill proposing to apply a literarcy test to immigrants, since made a law through Republican votes? Why did he take other actions, repugnant to Republican thought at the time and inexplicable from the standpoint of his party associates? A possible answer is found in his most recent public letter, apparent to anybody who takes the trouble to read it."

TO ASK CONSIDERATION OF WATER POWER BILL

WITH MERCHANT MARINE QUESTION TO BE GIVEN CONSIDERATION AT AN EARLY DATE.

Washington, Nov. 8.—Chairman Jones, of the Senate Committee on Commerce will urge the consideration of water power legislation in the Senate immediately following the passage of the Cummins railroad measure, unless an understanding has been reached by that time concerning the future consideration of the Peace Treaty. The water power bill has already passed the House, and Senator Jones believes that it is of such great importance to the country that it should be acted upon by the Senate at an early date.

The Committee on Commerce is also prepared to give immediate consideration to the merchant marine question, and will commence public hearings in the near future. These two measures will be used as the basis of the committee's hearings.

BOY'S AND GIRL'S AGRICULTURAL CLUB WAS FAIR ACT

By L. N. Duncan, Superintendent of the Junior Extension Work.

The legislature of Alabama at its recent session took a very important and progressive step for the extension work in Alabama by passing a prize act which was introduced by Representative Long of Sumter. The main features of this law are as follows:

1. A County Board of Directors to have charge of all district and county boys' and girls' club fairs, is created and is composed of:

(1.) The Probate Judge of Chairman of the Board of Revenue.

(2.) The County Farm Demonstration Agent.

(3) The County Home Demonstration Agent.

(4.) The County Superintendent of Education.

2. The County Board of Directors divides the county into 10 Fair Districts based upon the school attendance of the previous year and the topography of the county. Each succeeding year the Districts must be declared in force as they are, or the county re-districted at the discretion of the Board, not later than the first Monday in July.

3. The County Board of Directors appoints a committee of three in each District to work up and look after the District Fair.

4. In order to have a District Fair $25 must be raised and a majority of the legal voters in the District must sign a petition requesting the County Board of Revenue to decare the law in force for the District. The $25, and the petition are presented to the Board of Revenue. The Board of Revenue then may declare the law in force for the District and appropriate an additional $25 for the District. This makes a total of $50 available for the District Fair. After a District has once raised the $25 and secured the signatures of a majority of the legal voters in the District to the petition, in the following years it will not be necessary to get another petition, but simply to raise the $25.

5. When a majority of the Districts qualify for holding District Fairs, then the Board of Revenue may declare the law in force for holding a County Fair for club boys and girls and appropriate $500 for such a Fair. When the County qualifies there is then available for the County $100 from the state.

6. The County Board of Directors must set all dates for the District and County Fairs for boys and girls. All District Fairs in a county must be held prior to the County Fairs for club boys and girls in the same county. Such County Fairs must be held not later than November 15th.

7. The $50 for a District Fair may be spent, according to the discretion of the County Board, for offering premiums or for other expenses in connection with the District Fair. The County and State funds may be used for offering premiums and paying other expenses of a County Boys' and Girls' Club Fair and for holding meetings or short courses of instructions for club boys and girls.

8. All boys and girls competing for premiums must be either members of the boys' and girls' clubs as organized under the supervision of the county farm and home demonstration agents or students in vocational classes under the Smith-Hughes Law. Boys and girls who make exhibits must along with such exhibits file reports of the work.

9. The Board of Directors must designate some reliable and responsible bank in the county to receive and disburse all funds for District and County Fairs for Boys' and Girls' clubs.

During the period of Mr. Wilson's incapacity, and with Tom Marshall forbidden to assume his Constitutionally-provided position, what shall we call Joe Tumulty? The Regent?

REPUBLICANS ELATED BY ELECTION PROSPECT

INDICATION POINT TO SUCCESS IN SPECIAL CONTESTS FOR CONGRESS IN NORTH CAROLINA.

Washington, Nov. 8.—The special election to select a successor to Representative Webb, Democrat, resigned, in the ninth North Carolina district, will be held on December 16, and the Republican leaders of that state and in Washington are elated over the prospects for the election of a Republican from that district. The same issues and the same influences which brought Republican success recently in Kentucky and Oklahoma are uppermost in North Carolina, according to advices reaching the capital today, and in view of the fact that the Republicans have nominated a man of the highest type, in the person of John W. Morehead, the campaign is being waged enthusiastically.

At a recent Republican district convention held in Newton, N. C., the policy of the Republican party was clearly outlined, and met with instant approval throughout the district.

"The Republican party is not the party of sectionalism," said Chairman Klutz; "Neither is it the party of internationalism. It is solely the party of Americanism."

The convention adopted resolutions commending the United States Senate upon the stand it had taken concerning the League of Nations, and pledging the party to give labor a square deal and to be fair both to labor and capital.

MR. J. N. DENNIS WRITES LETTER ABOUT GROWING PECANS AND FRUIT.

It was a wise saying of Theodore Roosevelt's: "Half of wisdom consists in being wise in time."

The wise farmer who plans well before planting his 1920 crops will not increase his cotton acreage at the expense of food and food crops, even if cotton is selling around forty cents.

With the general unrest in the country and all organized labor clamoring for shorter hours and higher wages we may expect higher prices and shorter supplies of all manufactured articles as well as on all food and feed. Therefore it is just as necessary as ever that we produce every thing at home, that we will need, that we possibly can.

Now is a good time to put out a few purebred budded or grafted (papershell) pecan trees. The pecan is one of our finest shade and nut trees and should be found at every home in Chilton county. If they are well put out, fertilized and cared for they will begin bearing in from three to six years and will continue to bear for at least a lifetime.

Now is a good time to write the Alabama Experiment Station for varieties and kinds that will do best in our section and in the mean time get their advice as to other fruits. Then get in touch with some of the well established nurseries and buy your trees direct and not from a travelling agent. There is no reason why we should not have plenty of fruit if we are willing to study and follow the instruction of our Experience Station workers, but we cannot grow fruit without keeping the trees properly sprayed any better than we can grow Irish potatoes without fighting the potato bugs.

J. N. DENNIS.

McADOO'S ADVICE ASTONISHING

Washington, Dec. 8.—The Republican Publicity Association, through its President, Hon. Jonathan Bourne, Jr., today gave out the following statement from its Washington Headquarters:

"Mr. McAdoo has come to the relief of Secretary Wilson in his dilemma over the coal situation with some gratituious advice that is really astonishing. He endorses unreservedly the proposal to compromise the wage demands of the miners along the lines proposed by the Secretary of Labor, which would give them an increase of about thirty-one per cent. But Mr. McAdoo objects to permitting the operators to pass that added cost along to the consumer, alleging that their profits in the past two or three years have been inordinate, and that the increase in wages should be taken largely if not wholly out of those profits. Although he does not say so specifically, doubtless Mr. McAdoo has in mind the curbing of the coal profiteers through the anti-profiteering sections of the Lever Act.

"To determine whether the coal operators' profits have been exorbitant and whether they should be compelled by the criminal provisions of the Lever Act to lower them in proportion as the wages of the miners are increased, Mr. McAdoo recommends that reference be made to the income tax returns of the operators for the last fiscal year. He alleges that in 1917, the returns for which were filed in the spring of 1918 and are the last of which McAdoo has official knowledge as Secretary of the Treasury, the profits of the coal operators were 'shocking and indefensible.' He thinks it highly probable that similar conditions prevailed in 1918. 'I earnestly urge,' says he, 'that the bituminous coal operators be not permitted to impose an additional charge for coal on the public until a careful examination has been made of their income tax returns filed with the Treasury Department for the years 1917 and 1918.'

"It is a provision of the Constitution itself—one that is recognized every day in our courts—that 'No person * * * shall be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself. Every person and corporation that filed income tax returns did so with the understanding that they were to be kept secret by the Treasury Department. Congress understood that the revenue law contained ample safeguards against violation of the confidences in those returns. Publication of statistics gathered from them is permitted under certain conditions, but nowhere in the revenue law or any other Federal statute can be found an intimation that the information contained in those returns is to form the basis of criminal action to enforce laws wholly unrelated to the collection of taxes. Such an idea is so manifestly contrary to the spirit and letter of the Constitution that noody was so foolhardy as to suggest it until our erstwhile Secretary of the Treasury hit upon the scheme as a novel and happy solution of the coal difficulty.

"It may be and probably is a fact that the coal operators made unconscionable profits during the war, and in that they were not different from practically every other form of industry, or from labor itself which seized every opportunity in the country's emergency to strike and threaten strikes in an effort to increase its financial return. The question of profiteering is, from the Government viewpoint, something quite apart from the question of wages. The former can be controlled through the Lever Act, but there is no way provided for Federal interference in the latter other than in using the good offices of the Government in calling together the interested parties for a discussion of their differences. Mr. McAdoo's attempt to bring about an increased wage to the miners, and its absorption by the operators under compulsion from the Government, is so entirely repugnant to all proper Federal functions as not to be worthy of serious consideration."

Palmer's Failure Gives Cheer to M'Adoo Boom

ERSTWHILE "CROWN PRINCE OF ADMINISTRATION" SEES HIS STAR IN ASCENDANT.

Washington, Dec. 8.—William G. McAdoo's sudden reappearance upon the political stage through a letter over his signature, injecting himself into the coal shortage difficulties, has aroused a considerable amount of discussion in Washington, where every political development is now weighed with the greatest care in its relation to the forthcoming national campaign.

Until a few months ago, Mr. McAdoo had seemed to have the uncontested control of the Democratic presidential nomination in 1920. He was referred to variously as the "Crown Prince" and the "heir apparent" of the present administration. But with the appointment of A. Mitchell Palmer as Attorney General, and his immediate precipitation into the high-cost-of-living situation, many of those who had been restless under the McAdoo yoke turned hopeful eyes toward Mr. Palmer. It was generally conceded that if Mr. Palmer was successful in reducing the high cost of living, he would be in a position to get the Democratic nomination.

Though refusing to admit such a possibility, Mr. McAdoo and his supporters went temporarily into retirement to await developments. They observed silently, but with stoicism, the nation-wide attention which was given to Mr. Palmer's every move, and the tremendous powers which were conferred upon him by Congress, at his request, to meet the situation. But many weeks—months, even—have gone by since Mr. Palmer started on his crusade, and despite his own claims that prices have been reduced, the Department of Labor and the public, generally, have failed to notice the difference. Hence the letter of Mr. McAdoo is taken by many as an indication that the McAdoo following has decided that Mr. Palmer has had his opportunity and has failed.

THAT OLD GAG MIGHT WORK

Slogan for 1914, Congressional elections: "War in the East, Peace in the West. Thank God for Wilson!" Slogan for 1916, Presidential election: "He kept us out of War!" Slogan for 19—well, let's see if we keep out of war with Mexico. If we do, we can make up another peace thriller. If we do not, we can use that old gag about swapping horses when crossing the stream.

THE REFLECTION ON MICHIGAN

The indictment scandal in Michigan over the election of Truman H. Newberry to the United States Senate reflects upon no one but the State of Michigan. The friends of Senator Newberry are not worried at the grandstand play being staged by the Administration through its hirelings to bring disgrace upon a man whose life's record has been one of continuous service to his country.

PRINCE ALBERT

Copyright 1919 by R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co.

YOU certainly get yours when you lay your smokecards on the table, call for a tidy red tin or a toppy red bag of Prince Albert and roll a makin's cigarette! You'll want to hire a statistical bureau to keep count of your smokestunts! Why, you never dreamed of the sport that lies awaiting your call in a home rolled cigarette when it's P. A. for the packing!

Talk about flavor! Man, man, you haven't got the listen of half your smokecareer until you know what rolling 'em with P. A. can do for your contentment! And, back of P. A.'s flavor, and rare fragrance—proofs of Prince Albert's quality—stands our exclusive patented process that cuts out bite and parch! With P. A. your smokesong in a makin's cigarette will outlast any phonograph record you ever heard! Prince Albert is a cinch to roll. It's crimp cut and stays put like a regular pal!

Prince Albert upsets any notion you ever had as to how delightful a jimmy pipe can be! It is the tobacco that has made three men smoke pipes where one was smoked before. It has won men all over the nation to the joys of smoking.

Awaiting your say-so, you'll find toppy red bags, tidy red tins, handsome pound and half pound tin humidors—and—that classy, practical pound crystal glass humidor with sponge moistener top that keeps Prince Albert in such perfect condition!

NOTICE.

State of Alabama, Chilton County.

A petition having been filed in the Commissioners Court of Chilton County, Ala., on November 3, 1919, with more than one fourth of the bona fide freeholders residing in precinct No. 11, in Chilton County, Ala., asking for an election to be held in said precinct No. 11, to determine whether or not hogs, goats and sheep, of all kind, shall be prohibited from running at large in said precinct.

It is therefore ordered by the Commissioners Court of Chilton County, Alabama, that an election be held on the 31 day of December, 1919, in precinct No. 11, at Cane Creek, the voting place in said precinct No. 11, for the purpose of determining whether or not hogs, goats and sheep, of all kind, shall be prohibited from running at large in said precinct No. 11 in Chilton County, Ala.

By order of Commissioners Court of Chilton County, Ala., November 3, 1919.

NOTICE OF ELECTION.

Notice is hereby given that an election will be held at the various precincts of Chilton County in the State of Alabama, on Monday, December 29, 1919, at which time the qualified voters of this state shall vote for or against the adoption of the following amendment to the Constitution of the State of Alabama, to-wit:

The municipalities of Tuscumbia, Sheffield, Hurtsboro, Russellville, Lanett, Demopolis, Pell City, Heflin, Columbiana, Carrolton, Opelika, Fairhope, Pine Hill, Scottsboro, Stevenson, Ashland, Brewton, Pollard, Flomaton, Atmore, Inglenook, Tuskegee, Aliceville, Gordo, Reform, Livingston, Camden, Monroeville, Phoenix and Girard, Birmingham, Bessemer, Florence, Huntsville, Selma, Fairfied, Anniston, Athens, Jacksonville, Auburn, Carbon Hill, and LaFayette, in the State of Alabama, shall have the power and right to levy and collect a tax of one-half of one per centum in any one year on property situated therein, based on the valuation of such property as assessed for state taxation for the tax year ending on the 30th day of September next succeeding the levy; provided that for the purpose of paying bonds issued and outstanding at the time of the adoption of this amendment and the interest thereon, and for the purpose of paying bonds which may be issued after the adoption of this amendment and the interest thereon, an additional tax of one-half of one per centum may be levied and collected by said corporations; provided further, that a majority of the qualified electors of any of said municipal corporations voting at an election called for that purpose may vote a special tax not to exceed one-half of one per centum in any one year for any special purpose or purposes, which tax shall be used only for the purpose or purposes for which same is levied and collected, provided however that the total tax to be levied by any of said municipal corporations shall not exceed one and one-half (1 1-2) per centum in any one year. Provided further, that the adoption of this amendment shall in no wise affect, limit, modify, abridge or impair the power, authority or right of either of said municipal corporatons, to levy and collect the special school taxes, now or hereafter vested in or conferred upon them or any of them under the Constitution or any amendment thereto; including the power of said city of Selma to levy and collect the taxes for schools and school purposes vested in and conferred upon said city of Selma by the amendment to the Constitution of Alabama adopted thereto at the general election held in November, 1916, and which was submitted under law number 315, General Laws, 1915, page 337. Each election held under the provisions hereof shall be ordered, held, canvassed and may be contested in the same manner as is or may be provided by the law applicable to the municipal corporations for elections to authorize the issuance of municipal bonds. The ballots used at such election shall contain the words: "For ..... excess rate of taxation for the year (or years) .....;" and "Against ..... excess rate of taxation for the year (or years) ....." The rate of taxation proposed in excess of the rate of one (1) per centum to be shown in the blank space provided therefor and the year or years in which the proposed rate is to apply to be shown in the blank space provided therefor; and in the event different excess rates are proposed for different years the words mentioned shall be repeated as often as may be necessary to show separately the different rates proposed to be applied to the respective years. And the voter shall record his choice whether for or against the excess rate or rates shown by placing a cross mark before or after the words expressing his choice. Nothing herein contained shall in any wise change or affect the rights of any holder of bonds of said municipal corporations heretofore issued. Elections to authorize the levy of such special tax may be held as often as ordered by the governing body of the municipality, but when a proposition is submitted to the electors to levy a special tax for a specific purpose, and if such proposition is defeated no second election for the same purpose shall be held in one year thereafter.

Witness my hand, this 24th day of November, 1919.

TAKES MONEY TO FIGHT MONEY

No one attempts to deny that a large sum of money was spent by the friends of Truman H. Newberry for his election to the United States senate from Michigan. It was the duty of the true friends of "America First" to spend any sums necessary to elect a man who would stand for the principles upon which this government was founded. Had those who were boosting Senator Newberry's election, while he stayed on the job as a Commander in the Navy, been spineless enough to let Ford money send a man to the Senate who would have been as putty in the hands of Mr. Wilson, Michigan might well have hung her head in shame.

"ALL O. K. FOR THE BLOOD"

Is What a Citizen of Georgia Says of ZIRON, the New Iron Tonic.

Iron is needed by the blood to keep men and women strong and healthy. Iron is needed by the nerves to keep them toned up. Ziron, the new iron tonic, will put iron into your blood and should help renew your fagged nerve forces in the way it has done it for many others.

Read what Mr. J. R. Bell, Rt. 2, Oconee, Ga., says about the effects of Ziron:

"I think Ziron is all O. K. for the blood. That was what I have been taking it for—my blood. I liked Ziron so well that I went back to the store and got two more bottles of it."

Ziron is a combination of a pure medicinal inorganic iron salt, mentioned in the U. S. Pharmacopeia, with the hypophosphites of lime and soda, and other valuable tonic ingredients, endorsed and recommended by the best medical authorities and mentioned in the medical text books.

All druggists sell Ziron on a money-back guarantee. Look for the formula on the label. Get a bottle today, and give it a fair trial.

Thomas A. Edison wants every family in the U.S.A. to have a Phonograph this Christmas

That is how we are able to make you this remarkable offer on

EDISON'S NEW DIAMOND AMBEROLA

Come to our store today, tomorrow—the sooner the better—pick out the Amberola model you like best (prices, $41.00 up) together with a generous selection of records, and

Name Your Own Terms

Tell us how much or how little you can afford to pay every week or month. We will meet you more than half way in coming to a satisfactory arrangement because we are eager to carry out the spirit of Mr. Edison's wish—which is in effect that money must not stand in the way of any family possessing a phonograph this Christmas. Then, upon a small payment down, we will immediately deliver your Amberola and records to your home, where this wonderful phonograph will fill your Christmas with music and your family with delight.

The Amberola is Supreme

Back of the Amberola is all the wizardry of Thomas A. Edison, the world's greatest inventor. No wonder the Amberola tone is pure melody—free from the metallic sound and shrillness of ordinary phonographs and "talking machines". No wonder the genuine Diamond Point Reproducer has solved another phonograph nuisance—the bother and expense of changing needles. No wonder the Amberol Records are almost unbreakable, and last for years after ordinary phonograph records have broken or worn out.

All the world's best music is yours on Amberol Records—the greatest opera singers, the latest popular dance and song hits, ballads, hymns, military bands—in endless variety. New records issued every month.

Don't Hesitate A Minute

to accept this offer because Christmas giving will tax your resources—remember Edison wants you to have an Amberola. Please don't delay—our stock of Amberolas may soon be exhausted. We will consider it a favor if you will come in to see us right away.

"The 52 Biggest Problems of the Average Southern Farmer."

Every member of The Progressive Farmer staff has had actual farm experience—most of us are running southern farms now—and from our own experiences, and from the multitude of farmers' letters that come to us every year, we believe we have figured out a pretty nearly perfect list of these "fifty-two biggest problems" of the average Southern Farmer, and we are going to treat them in the next year's Pr ogressive Farmer.

We are going to treat them, too, in order of timeliness, just as far as possible. For the aim of The Progressive Farmer, always, is to tell the subscriber just what he wants to know, just when he wants to know it, and in as few words as possible.

Here's the list of big problems we shall treat during the fall months, and the date on which each discussion will appear:

November 1—Financing the Farmer: (Personal and short term credit; Long-term Credit for Land Purchase; Avoiding "Time Prices"; Utilizing National Farm Loan Associations, etc.)

November 8—Systems of Farming—Affecting Soil Fertility, Money Profits, Prosperity and Permanence of Rural Life.

November 15—Arranging and Erecting Fences; Relative Value of Different Systems, Materials, etc.

November 22—How to Reduce Land Washing to a Minimum. (Terracing, Ditching, Filling Land with Humus, Proper Use of Steep Hillsides, etc.)

November 29—What Changes are Needed to Insure Better Health for Men, Women and Children on the Farm

December 6—Winter Care and Feeding of Horses, Mules, Cattle and Hogs.

December 13—Getting Rocks and Stumps off the Land.

December 20—How Farm Neighbors may Work Together for Greater Profits and Happiness.

December 27—Business Methods on the Farm (Inventories; Records; Accounts; Banking; Cost-Keeping; Advertising; System in Correspondence and Sales, etc.)

The above subjects are of vital importance to you, and alone are worth the price we ask, and remember The Progressive Farmer carries many other big featues not mentioned in the above list.

IMPROVEMENTS IN CLANTON.

We are glad indeed to note that our Town Council has started something in the way of further improvements of our town. The plan which we have reference to intends the pavement of the sidewalks on Sixth and Seventh streets between First and Second avenues.

These sections of these two streets are right in the main business part of town and should by all means be made as favorable as possible for the hundreds of people who pass along there every day in the pursuit of business interests.

Particularly is it important right now to have Seventh street improved between First and Second avenue, as the Postoffice will soon be located in the Gowan Building. Then it will be necessary for many more people to pass along that way than heretofore.

Right away some of the vacant lots fronting on these two streets where the improvements are proposed will be occupied with new business houses, and that also will add to the necessity of the work that is to be undertaken.

Clanton has outgrown the time when the main street from the railroad to the Court House held all our business locations. We have begun to branch out from this old established business section in every direction. Soon we shall have a little city covering several blocks of a thriving business district, and showing an air of active business prosperity to the outside world.

In the words of one of our foremost real estate and business men we can say to anyone who may wish to come to Clanton:

"Come on along. If we haven't got a place for you, we will make one to suit you, whether it is a store or office or residence you want. Clanton is big enough to hold us all, and we assure you that we shall get along well together and make a good honest living in a town that is as good and pleasant as any you can find anywhere. Come to Clanton. We are glad to extend you a warm hand of welcome."

SPECIAL CHRISTMAS EDITION.

Next Thursday The Union-Banner will issue a Special Christmas Edition. This will give our merchants an excellent opportunity to advertise their Christmas goods. A number of them have already bought space for that issue. Christmas shoppers will find in this paper next week the best guide to use in their Christmas shopping.

The Union-Banner is indeed glad to state that Rev. W. J. Armstrong is able to be up again after an illness of several weeks. He has many friends over the county who will rejoice with him in the recovery of his health.

Brewer Glenn, who lives at Salem, on Coosa River, was in Clanton Wednesday. He said the recent rains have raised the river to a stage higher than it has been since the flood of 1886.

Mr. T. E. Traywick, of Clanton, Route 6, who lives four miles southwest of Coopers, was in town last week selling some mighty fine pecans.

He says that he has four trees that will make him about two hundred pounds of pecans and he is getting 50c per pound.

Pretty shade trees and producing a profitable crop at the same time.

Mrs. R. E. Luckey spent Friday in Montgomery.

Mr. L. C. Reynolds made a business trip to Birmingham Tuesday.

THORSBY ITEMS

Mrs. A. M. Male of Mt. Vernon, Ala., spent the week-end with her sons, Arthur and William, who are students at Thorsby Institute. Mrs. Male was en route home from a visit to Albany, N. Y., where she was called a month ago on account of the serious illness of a sister. Mrs. Male has a fine contralto voice and before coming south two years ago did concert work. She has offered to return at a later date and give a public recital for the benefit of Thorsby Institute.

Misses Margaret Rutherford and Mabel Craig spent Saturday in Birmingham shopping.

The Christian Endeavor Society gave a most enjoyable social on Saturday night at the Girls' Dormitory. The social committee had prepared a good program consisting of games and music. Mrs. Male sang several solos, which were very much enjoyed by all. Cocoa and cake were served.

A called meeting of the local Red Cross Chapter was held in Bates' Hall last Friday night. The purpose of the meeting was to elect officers. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Mr. Chas Howard, president; Mr. Reuben Foss, vice-president; Mr. J. P. Sorensen, treasurer; Mr. S. E. Norton, secretary.

The Helen Keller Literary Society will give a contest program on Thursday night, December 18th. The program is as follows:

Song.
Devotional exercises.
Recitation—Bates, Ruth Gerald.
Recitation—Clarks, Agnes Leary.
Piano solo—Bates, Inga Erdahl.
Piano solo—Clarks, Lura Woods.
Original essay—Bates, Eunice Cox.
Original essay—Clarks, Anna Erdahl.
Declamation—Bates, Thomas Giles.
Declamation—Clarks, Hubbert Brackin.
Quartette—Bates.
Quartette—Clarks.
Debate—Resolved that the United States should maintain a large army and navy.
Affirmative — Bates: 1. Waldemar Lefstead; 2. Zell Pope.
Negative—Clarks 1: Vernor Sullivan; 2. Millard Crumpton.
Song.

Miss Vera Bryant, of Birmingham, entered Thorsby Institute Monday of this week.

Friends of Rev. Chas. T. Rogers and family regret that they are leaving Thorsby to make their home near Haleyville, Alabama. They have been living in Thorsby about three years, coming here from Atlanta when Mr. Rogers was appointed States Superintendent of the Congregational churches. The work in which Mr. Rogers has been engaged has taken him away from home most of the time, but he was ever interested and ready to give any help he could to the work of church and school here, and we feel that the entire community is losing one of its best men. The family have been active in the work of the local church and we shall miss them in the Sunday School and Christian Endeavor. We wish for them a happy and useful life in the new home to which they are going.

The new bungalow being built by the Wilder's is now nearing completion and they expect to have it ready for occupancy some time during the month. Mr. Goodgame and family will move into the house the Wilder's vacate.

The neat little bungalow recently erected by Mrs. Villadsen is now being occupied by Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Harper.

Mr. and Mrs. John Johnson and family will soon have their new house finished. It is being built on their property near Straussburg.

The following students of Thorsby Institute have their names placed on the Honor Roll for the second six weeks ending November 28th. There has been quite a good deal of hard work done by many of the students to achieve this record, and it is fine to see the roll growing larger:

Average above 90 per cent. Nothing below 85 per cent:

Odie Lee Arthur, Ruth Gerald, Esther Johnson, Dagmar Larsen, Waldemar Lefstead, Alice Sharp, Lura Woods.

TELEPHONE MEETING HERE NEXT SATURDAY AT TEN A. M. COURT HOUSE.

The telephone meeting that was called Monday turned out to be a flash in the pan, owing to the fact that there were not enough representatives pesent to transact business.

Therefore, anoher meeting is called for next Saturday, to be at the county court hous at ten o'clock A. M. It is urged that every line that enters cenral here make special efforts to see that some suitable person comes to the meeting next Saturday to represent the lines. This is an important meeting, and all the phone holders should be represented. Business that vitally concerns the management and service of our local telephone system for the next year needs to be attended to, in order that our service may be improved in a number of ways.

MAN LOSES HOPE.

"For ten years I suffered severely from stomach trouble. The doctors said I had cancer of the stomach and nothing would do but an operation. I took my last round of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy 2 1-2 years ago. Since then I sleep well, eat what I want and feel fine." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. For sale by Alred Drug Co., Clanton.—Adv.

PROPOSED ORDINANCE.

An ordinance to be adopted or enacted:

"An ordinance to improve by pavement, the sidewalks, curbings, and gutters on the east and west sides of Sixth and Seventh streets, between First and Second avenues in the Town of Clanton, Alabama, East of the L. & N. R. R., and assessing all the costs of said improvements against the owners of lands abutting on said sidewalks so improved, giving the plans and materials to be used, in making said improvements.

Section 1. That the sidewalks on the east and west sides of Sixth and Seventh Streets, between First and Second avenues in the Town of Clanton, Alabama, be improved as follows, to-wit: That said sidewalks be paved with a good cement pavement 8 to 10 feet wide, and a good cement curbing, 6 to 30 inches high and 6 inches wide, and a good cement gutter 2 feet wide attached to said curbing and both parellel with said sidewalks.

Sec. 2. That said improvements shall begin at the northern edge or side of First Avenue shall be the beginning of said improvements on both Sixth and Seventh Streets, and the Southern edge or side of Second Avenue shall be the end of said improvements on both Sixth and Seventh Streets.

Sec. 3. That if any of said sidewalks have part of said improvements on them now, the remainder of said improvements shall be made to said old improvements, and the new improvements shall be made in conformity with the said old improvements, so that the said entire improvements will have neat appearance.

Sec. 4. That said improvements shall be made by the Town of Clanton, Alabama, by contract, after due and legal advertising for bids on said work, reserving the right to accept any one, or to reject any one or all bids.

Sec. 5. That all of the actual costs of said improvements, including all legal incidental expenses to same, shall be taxed or assessed against the owners of property abutting on said improvements, in proportion to the number of feet so abutting on said improvements, and allowing credit, for so much of said old improvements, which can be used, which may be on any part of said sidewalks to the owner of property which abutts on said old improvements.

Sec. 6. That estimates of the costs of said work be made and prepared by G. E. Plier, and left with Victor J. Heard, in his office, together with a drawing of said described Sixth and Seventh Streets after said improvements have been made, showing dimenions of said sidewalks, curbing and gutters, for inspection by the public. 12-11-2t

ANOTHER HOG SALE DAY FOR CLANTON IN NEAR FUTURE.

The Chilton County Hog Growers' Association has elected Mr. J. D. Collins, Mr. M. I. Mullins, and Mr. J. N. Dennis, as directors of the association. They inform us that there is to be another hog sale day for Clanton before very long. They request that we ask all farmers who contemplate having some hogs to sell to list them with one of these three directors, at the same time stating what time will suit them best to sell. In this way all who have hogs can be kept in touch with the association, and a poll of all the suggested dates can be used to strike an average and determine the best time to have the sale for the convenience of those who have the hogs to sell.

We hope all the farmers of the county will co-operate in this movement that has been started here. It means much money to growers of hogs in our county, and will result in the best financial advantages to those who take advantage of the opportunties offered through the association.

SUNLIGHT FOR THE BRIDE.

Is it rainy—be glad of rain,
The sun that veils itself from the clouds will shine again.
The clouds are very black 'tis true;
But just behind them smiles the blue.

Art thou weary, tender teart?—
Be glad of pain
In sorrow sweetest things will grow,
As flowers in the rain,
God watches, and thou wilt haves un
When clouds their perfect work have done.

BORLAND-PARRISH.

It was an impressive ceremony performed on last Wednesday afternoon at four o'clock in the parlors of the Exchange Hotel that united in holy wedlock the lives of Julia Leedie Parrish of Clanton and Grady Borland of Albany, Ga.

Rev. Mr. Gable was the officiating minister who pronounced the nuptial vows. The Episcopal ring ceremony was used, in the presence of a large concourse of relatives and friends.

The hotel had been decorated with ferns, palms, yellow chrysanthemums and cut-flowers in keeping with the chosen color-scheme of green and gold. A beautiful and appropriate musical program was rendered. Miss Gillis as pianist, Miss Willie Sartor and Mr. Philip Horn as soloists. Preceding the ceremony Miss Sartor sang "At Dawning" and "Because." "For You Alone," was sung by Mr. Horn.

To the strains of Mendelossohn's wedding march the bridal procession descended the stairways and proceeded to the improvised alter which had been arranged in the spacious assembly room. In their order came respectively Mrs. Parrish, matron of honor; Miss Rose Parrish, maid of honor, then the little Misses Inez Parrish, sister of the bride, and Louise Borland, daughter of the groom. Daintily and similarly arrayed in lace befrilled frocks of yellow lingerie, the former bore the ring in the corolla of a large yellow chrysanthemum. The latter carried a flower basket filled with chrysanthemum petals, which she gracefully strewed along the way, the bride advanced to the alter leaning on the arm of her uncle, Mr. John M. Robinson, by whom she was given in marriage. The groom was attended by his brother, Morton H. Borland. An informal reception followed the ceremony.

The bride was reared in Clanton and has a host of friends who entertain for her the very best wishes. Mr. Borland is a prosperous lumberman and highly respected citizen of Albany, Ga.

The happy pair left immediately for their future home.

Among the out-of-town guests attending the wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Borland, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Borland, and Miss Rosamaye Borland. Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Blalock and Mrs. Ralph Brown all of Birmingham. Mr. Morton H. Borland of Goodwater, and Mrs. T. L. Thompson of Wilton.

Mrs. L. H. Reynolds has returned home after several days' visit in Birmingham, the guest of her daughter, Mrs. J. O. Newell.

YOUNGER SET.

One of the delightful affairs given for the members of the younger set was on Friday night, when Mrs. Cox and Mrs. White, entertained in honor of the 16th birthday of Miss Eloise Kemp, one of our most popular member of the High School, at the lovely home of Mrs. Mallie White. The Xmas spirit was everywhere, in the color scheme of green and red, the berries of the holly mingling with the green of the leaves. A minature Xmas tree, held the many beautiful gifts received by this lovely young girl, and the bright Xmas bells added beauty to the scene. In the dining-room were roses; and a beautiful birthday cake adorned, the center of the table. Tiny souvenirs "Santa Claus cards" tied with red and green ribbon, were presented to each guest. And a memory contest afforded much amusement to the merry crowd. Miss Clara Crumpton was the fortunate winner of the lovely box of candy, while Miss Leola Goodgame was awarded the "Booby."

Delightful refreshments were served to forty guests.

The young people left at a late hour, thanking their hostess for a splendid time.

Mrs. Cox and Mrs. White were assisted in entertaining by Mrs. E. C. Maye and Mrs. J. D. Armstrong.

LINEN SHOWER FOR MISS LEDDIE PARISH.

One of the most enjoyable of the pre-nuptial entertainments given in honor of Miss Leedie Parish, was the linen shower of last Friday afternoon, given by Mesdames Ross Mullins and H. F. Downs.

The beautiful home of Mrs. Ross Mullins had been elaborately decorated for the happy occasion with a profusion of ferns and other potted plants, chrysanthemums, and ribbons in green and gold. The color motif also prevailed in the delightful refreshments; nectar and salad course.

At the propitious time, the expressman's whistle was heard, and Arthur Johnson, Jr., appeared, attired as an expressman pulling an express wagon laden with gifts for the bride. All the packages were eagerly opened by the appreciative recipient, and were placed upon display.

The cutting of the wedding-cake, which had been skillfully embossed in tones of green and gold, evoked the usual rounds of laughter by the dispensing of finger-ring, trimble, etc.

Following the serving of the salad course, Mrs. Mullins, as hostess of the afternoon, presented to the bride a beautiful box of candy together with expressions of her best wishes. These expressions struck a key-note in the hearts of all the guests who, one after another, gave spontaneous utterance to her most cherished wish for the beloved girl-bride.

Miss Parrish was married to Mr. Grady Borland, a prosperious lumber man of Albany, Ga. The wedding was solemnized in the Exchange Hotel on Wednesday. The happy couple left immediately for their future home accompanied by the best wishes of a large circle of friends.

EMBROIDERY CLUB ENTERTAINED.

Mrs. Eric Hart delightfully entertained the Embroidery Club at her home on last Thursday afternoon. Sewing was indulged in until late in the afternoon when a delicious salad course was enjoyed.

There will be no meeting of the club this week as the members will spend Thursday in puting their booths in readiness for the bazaar, which they are giving on Friday for the benefit of the Grammar School.

MINOOKA NEWS.

The health of this community is very good at present for which we all feel thankful. Everybody seems to be enjoying life the very best possible.

Our Sunday School is progressing very nicely under the careful management of Mr. J. W. Bailey, our superintendent. His work combined with that of our efficient teachers, Mesdames Bailey, Howard, Anderson, and Broadhead makes our school one of the best in the county. Have a large attendance and the members is gradually increasing. Prayer meeting is held every Sunday night and a great interest is shown in this good work by the large attendance. Preaching services are held every First and Second Sunday at 11 a. m.

We would be glad if everybody that could would come out and help us in this noble work, for this is the work Christ commanded us to do.

A number of the ladies of Minooka and vicinity met and organized a Busy Bee Club Saturday of last week. Officers elected were Mrs. W. H. Howard, president; Miss Annie Vest, secretary; Mrs. R. D. Gibbons, treasurer. The purpose of the club is to raise money for the benefit of the church and school house. On Dec. 18th, 1919, the club will give a Box Supper at the school house and we invite all the ladies, old and young, to bring a box. Then we extend a hearty welcome to men to come and be prepared to buy the delicious eats the ladies have prepared. Last of all, a dainty Guess Cake will be given the one guessing the contents. Everybody come and be with us.

COULD HARDLY STAND ALONE

Terrible Suffering From Headache, Sideache, Backache, and Weakness, Relieved by Cardui, Says This Texas Lady.

Gonzales, Tex.— Mrs. Minnie Philpot, of this place, writes: "Five years ago I was taken with a pain in my left side. It was right under my left rib. It would commence with an aching and extend up into my left shoulder and on down into my back. By that time the pain would be so severe I would have to take to bed, and suffered usually about three days ...I suffered this way for three years, and got to be a mere skeleton and was so weak I could hardly stand alone. Was not able to go anywhere and had to let my house work go...I suffered awful with a pain in my back and I had the headache all the time. I just was unable to do a thing. My life was a misery, my stomach got in an awful condition, caused from taking so much medicine. I suffered so much pain. I had just about given up all hopes of our getting anything to help me.

One day a Birthday Almanac was thrown in my yard. After reading its testimonials I decided to try Cardui, and am so thankful that I did, for I began to improve when on the second bottle...I am now a well woman and feeling fine and the cure has been permanent for it has been two years since my awful bad health. I will always praise and recommend Cardui." Try Cardui today. E 78

TAXES DELINQUENT AFTER JANUARY THE FIRST, 1920

Editor Union-Banner:

Please allow me to say for the information of all tax payers that no assessments or taxes will be delinquent till January 1st, 1920, and that no penalty will be added for non-assessment till the first Monday in February, 1920.

It is the duty of every person in the county to make an assessment before January 1st, 1920, regardless of the amount or kind of property they own. All wagons, buggies, cars, automobiles, trucks, bicycles, watches, jewelry, diamonds, silverware, etc., are taxable and should be assessed where you want to save paying fee and penalty.

There will not be any dog tax collected by the tax collector for 1920, and any dogs listed on assessments for 1920 will be erased.

I WISH EVERYBODY COULD KNOW

Suffered From Acute Indigestion, Gastritis, Constipation, Headaches and Other Troubles, Which Dreco, the Herbal Remedy, Overcame.

"This is the first remedy I have ever found that did me any good," states Mr. O. R. Booker of Route 2, Gadsden, Ala.

"I admit that when I began taking Dreco I had no confidence in it, for I had already tried so many of them, but the improvement is so marked that I am convinced of its merits. I used to suffer from gas on my stomach and bowels after eating; I would be all bloated up and very uncomfortable. My bowels were habitually constipated. I was bilious and had to be taking medicine constantly. My appetite was poor, and I became extremely nervous, so that I could not sleep much.

"I have taken a treatment of Dreco, and now my stomach digests the food without those distressing after-effects I used to have, such as pains, uneasy feeling, belching and gastritis. My appetite has increased; I sleep sound; my bowels act regularly every day, and I have no more backache nor dizzy spells. You have my permission to publish this letter."

It has become a custom with many persons to take a good system tonic each year, something that cleans out the system, purifies the blood, gets the liver and kidneys in good shape, and tones up the stomach. Such a tonic is Dreco. Being made of roots, herbs, barks, berries and leaves from medicinal herbal plants, it is truly Nature's own remedy, and that it really accomplishes these results is proven by the many endorsements given it by well-known and reliable people.

Dreco is sold by all druggists and is highly recommended in this city by
UPCHURCH DRUG CO., Clanton.

Marvelous Demonstration in Chronic Disease Cases by Their New System Treatment.—Offer Services Free of Charge.

Word has just been received that the Associated Doctors, specialists, licensed by the State of Alabama, and who have met with such phenomenal success throughout the entire southeast, will be in Clanton on Saturday, December 13th, for one day only to demonstrate their new system of treatment of chronic diseases.

This will be good news to those who find it convenient to visit the central laboratories in Birmingham, located in the Lyric Theatre Building, where the organization has southern headquarters. These regular reputable physicians believe that the combined skill of several trained specialists in chronic disease cases can accomplish more than one doctor alone—in other words, in unity there is strength.

They offer to treat all who can call on this visit absolutely free as this is their original method of getting their system of treatment before the public quicker, and no one, rich or poor, white or black, should neglect to take advantage of their very liberal offer —ABSOLUTELY FREE— (medicine excepted.) No cutting; no knife.

It makes no difference how many doctors you have consulted or how many patent medicines you have taken, you cannot afford to miss this opportunity of ascertaining your exact condition and be honestly advised. No one should require further evidence of the skill of these specialists than the following letter recently received from a well-known Baptist minister:

"I can't thank you enough, Doctor," said the Rev. R. L. Fletcher, well-known minister, as he entered the crowded reception rooms of the Associated Doctors and continued to say words of praise to all those assembled. "I began suffering from general break-down Nov. 28, last, and appeared to go all to pieces; my stomach, kidneys, heart, blood and nerves went back on me, and even though I consulted the best local doctors, they could give me no cure, and advised me to consult an expert specialist. As soon as I noticed your announcement and learned from so many people of your cures, I came to your office.

"I had indeed about lost hope, but to-day—even after taking your marvelous treatment for only this short period, I am a new man; eat well, and sleep well and feel like a man in my prime. I want to thank you and my dear wife also wants to thank you for she is so proud of my improvement. I want you to publish this statement so that others can benefit the same as I have done."

'Most gratefully yours,
(Signed) "R. L. FLETCHER."

Now that you know the truth, you have only yourself to blame if you continue to suffer from piles, kidney and bladder troubles, discharges, bed wetting, blood poison, skin eruptions, rheumatism, epilepy, uric acid poisoning, paralysis, nervous troubles and debility, neuralgia, stomach and liver troubles, catarrh, asthma, bronchitis, pleurisy, tumors, indigestion, constipation, gall st ones, ovarian and female troubles, enlarged glands or any reflex condition of the nervous system, and those diseases about which most people dislike to consult the general practioner.

Bear in mind that this will likely be the last visit when the specialists extend their services free.

Hundreds have been restored to their perfect good health with rosy cheeks and sparkling eyes—so may you. The specialists are too well known throughout the state to require further mention.

Married women should be accompanied by their husbands and children by their parents.

PROCLAMATION

STATE OF ALABAMA.
Executive Department.

Whereas the Legislature of Alabama at its regular session in the year 1919 has ordered a special election by the qualified electors of the State of Alabama upon a certain proposed Amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, which is herein set forth, to be held at a date to be fixed by the Governor not less than three months from and after the final adjournment of said regular session:

And Whereas notice of such election together with the proposed Amendment is required by law to be given by proclamation of the Governor:

Now, therefore, I, Thomas E. Kilby, Governor of the State of Alabama, do hereby give notice, direct and proclaim that the election to be held, as ordered by the Legislature in said regular session, at a date to be fixed by the Governor after the expiration of three months from the final adjournment of said regular session of the Legislature at which said Amendment was proposed and said election ordered, will be held on to-wit, Monday, December 29th, 1919, for the vote of the qualified electors of the State of Alabama in the manner, form and places required by law upon the following Amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, to-wit:

Sec. 194½. (A) The payment of the poll tax mentioned in the Constitution of Alabama shall not be required of any person who served in the military or naval service of the United States for a period of not less than four months between January 1, 1917, and November 11, 1918, and who has been or who may be honorably discharged from said service and who was a qualified elector, except as to payment of poll taxes, at the time he entered said service, or who has since become such qualified elector, except as to payment of poll taxes. Any such person is exempted from the payment of all poll taxes until September 30, 1923. (B) Certificates of exemption from payment of such poll taxes shall be issued to persons entitled thereto under regulations prescribed by the Governor.

In witness whereof I hereunto set my hand and cause the Great Seal of the State of Alabama to be affixed at the Capitol in the city of Montgomery, on this the 30th day of October, 1919.

THOS. E. KILBY,
Governor

Splendid Cough Medicine.

"As I feel that every family should know what a splendid medicine the Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is, I am only too pleased to relate my experience and only wish that I coulud have known its merits years ago," is what Mrs. Clay Fry, of Ferguson, Mo., writes. "I give it to my children when they show the slightest symptoms of being croupy, and when I have a cough or cold in the lungs a very few doses will relieve me, and by taking it a few days I soon get rid of the cold."

CHRISTMAS GREETINGS FROM DR. SAMUEL JOHNSON OF THE NAVY.

The Union-Banner is in receipt of a letter from Dr. Samuel E. Johnson, who is now stationed in the United States Naval Hospital at Charleston, S. C. He concludes by saying: "I will be unable to be at home Christmas, but hope that you and all of the Chilton County people have a joyful time." The many friends of Dr. Johnson in Clanton and Chilton county will be pleased to receive this word of Christmas greeting from him.

CASES TRIED IN THE COUNTY COURT.

The regular session of the County Court of Chilton county was held by Judge Reynolds last week, and the following cases disposed of:

Keener Roper, charged with assault and battery; nolle prossed.

Jim Clark, charged with train riding; plead guilty and fined $10 and costs.

Thomas Henley, charged with vagrancy; sentenced to 30 days hard labor and costs.

Tom Oda, charged with train riding; plead guilty and fined $100 and costs.

Phil Parker, charged with violating prohibition laws; fined $50 and costs.

Newt Foshee, charged with violating prohibition laws; plead guilty and fined $50 and costs.

Dock Evans, charged with petit larceny; discharged.

Ocie Evans, charged with petit larceny; bound over to grand jury.

PROCLAMATION

STATE OF ALABAMA,
Executive Department.

Whereas, the Legislature of Alabama at its regular session in the year 1919 has ordered a special election by the qualified electors of the State of Alabama upon a certain proposed amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, which is herein set forth, to be held on the first Monday after the expiration of three months from and after the final adjournment of said regular session.

And whereas, notice of such election together with the proposed amendment is required by law to be given by proclamation of the Governor:

Now Therefore, I, Thomas E. Kilby, Governor of the State of Alabama, do hereby give notice, direct and proclaim that the election to be held, as ordered by the Legislature in said regular session on the first Monday after the expiration of three months from and after the final adjournment of said regular session of the Legislature at which said amendment was proposed and said election ordered will be held on, to-wit, the 29th day of December, 1919, for the vote of the qualified electors of the State of Alabama in the manner, form and places required by law upon the following amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, to-wit:

The municipalities of Tuscumbia, Sheffield, Hurtsboro, Russellville, Lanett, Demopolis, Pell City, Heflin, Columbiana, Carrollton, Opelika, Fairhope, Pine Hill, Scottsboro, Stevenson, Ashland, Brewton, Pollard, Flomaton, Atmore, Inglenook, Tuskegee, Aliceville, Gordo, Reform, Livingston, Camden, Monroeville, Phoenix and Girard, Birmingham, Bessemer, Florence, Huntsville, Selma, Fairfield, Anniston, Athens, Jacksonville, Auburn, Carbon Hill, and LaFayette, in the State of Alabama, shall have the power and right to levy and collect a tax of one-half of one per centum in any one year on property situated therein, based on the valuation of such property as assessed for state taxation for the tax year ending on the 30th day of September next succeeding the levy; provided, that for the purpose of paying bonds issued and outstanding at the time of the adoption of this amendment and the interest thereon, and for the purpose of paying bonds which may be issued after the adoption of this amendment and the interest thereon, an additional tax of one-half of one per centum may be levied and collected by said corporations; provided further, that a majority of the qualified electors of any of said municipal corporations voting at an election called for that purpose may vote a special tax not to exceed one-half of one per centum in any one year for any special purpose or purposes, which tax shall be used only for the purpose or purposes for which same is levied and collected, provided, however, that the total tax to be levied by any of said municipal corporations shall not exceed one and one-half (1½) per centum in any one year. Provided, further, that the adoption of this amendment shall in no wise affect, limit, modify, abridge or impair the power, authority or right of either of said municipal corporations, to levy and collect the special school taxes, now or hereafter vested in or conferred upon them, or any of them under the Constitution or any amendment thereto; including the power of said city of Selma to levy and collect the taxes for schools and school purposes vested in and conferred upon said city of Selma by the amendment to the Constitution of Alabama adopted thereto at the general election held in November, 1916, and which was submitted under law number 315, General Laws 1915, page 337. Each election held under the provisions hereof shall be ordered, held, canvassed and may be contested in the same manner as is or may be provided by the law applicable to the municipal corporations for elections to authorize the issuance of municipal bonds. The ballots used at such election shall contain the words: "For..... excess rate of taxation for the year (or years) .....;" and "Against..... excess rate of taxation for the year (or years) .....". The rate of taxation proposed in excess of the rate of one (1) per centum to be shown in the blank space provided therefor and the year or years in which the proposed rate is to apply to be shown in the blank space provided therefor; and in the event different excess rates are proposed for different years the words mentioned shall be repeated as often as may be necessary to show separately the different rates proposed to be applied to the respective years. And the voter shall record his choice, whether for or against the excess rate or rates shown by placing a cross mark before or after the words expressing his choice. Nothing herein contained shall in any wise change or affect the rights of any holder of bonds of said municipal corporations heretofore issued. Elections to authorize the levy of such special tax may be held as often as ordered by the governing body of the municipality but when a proposition is submitted to the electors to levy a special tax for a specific purpose, and if such proposition is defeated no second election for the same purpose shall be held in one year thereafter.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the great seal of the State of Alabama to be affixed at the Capitol in the City of Montgomery ono this 29th day of October, 1919. THOS. E. KILBY, Governor.

GREAT SEAL

By the Governor.

MODERN WOODMEN CAMP ORGANIZED IN CLANTON LAST THURSDAY.

The Modern Woodmen of America held an unusually enthusiastic meeting last Thursday night at the Red Men Hall in Clanton, at which time the organization of the Clanton Camp was perfected and officers were elected for the ensuing year.

Mr. H. L. Hurst, the District Deputy for this District, is a live wire and has secured about one hundred new members for this camp. He has plans laid which will enlist hundreds of others in the near future. The members of the camp say they are going to push the entertainment feature of the order. At the meeting Thursday night a committee was appointed to arrange for the banquet on New Year's night. The members were divided into two teams to wage a campaign for new members, the losing side to entertain the winning side with the banquet on New Year's night.

From the comments of the citizens who were on the streets last Thursday night and heard the uproarious laughter coming from the lodge hall, and from remarks made by some who attended, we judge that Mr. Hurst undoubtedly gives the candidates their money's worth.

Mr. Hurst has moved his family to Clanton, and will make this his home in the future. Under his excellent leadership we predict a bright future and a large membership for this camp. The regular meetings will be held on Thursday night of each week.

Gas in the stomach comes from food which is fermented. Get rid of this badly digested food as quickly as is poossible if you would avoid a bilious attack; HERBINE is the remedy you need. THE NEXT PRESIDENT.

Judging by the present temper of the people of the country, the next president of the United States will not be either nominated or elected without the country knowing by his record something about what they can expect of him after he is elected.

HITCHCOCK IN BAD WITH RULER

Senator Hitchcock having been denied an audience with his ruler, gets peeved and declares: "I will not go to the White House until I am sent for." If that time should come he will approach the Throne as the moujik of a decade ago approached the Czar, doing a PAS SEUL on his prayer-bones. It is rumored, by the way, that Hitchcock is in bad standing with the Throne because of his mishandling of the Peace Treaty. Everyone knows that when Royalty makes a blunder there must be some courtier standing by to shoulder the Royal Goat. It is Hitchcock's turn and Kernel House right gladly shifts the burden. There is considerable gossip to the effect that Oscar Underwood is slated to succeed Hitchcock as leader of the internationalist forces in the Senate, notwithstanding the fact that Oscar became persona non grata some years ago by his opposition to Royal mandates. Royal Goatkeeper Joe Tumulty is said to have already taken Underwood's measure for a howdah, in case he carries the goat in the course of the coming year.

"THE MORNING AFTER."

The 38 Senators who voted to adopt the original British-Wilsonian league will have to do some tall explaining at the next election.

DRUGGIST'S ADVICE SAVES HIS LIFE

Ewing L. Davis Was Told That He Had Consumption. Had Spent A Fortune Seeking Health. Just Completely Run Down When Sul-Ferro-Sol Was Recommended by Druggist Friend.

"My health was all gone and my money had gone with it," said Mr. Ewing L. Davis of Albany Ala.

"I had suffered a complete breakdown," continued Mr. Davis, "I was told by my doctor that I had consumption and I changed climate. This seemed to hurt me instead of helping me and I thought that my time had come."

"Why don't you try a bottle of Sul-Ferro-Sol," said a druggist friend to me one day.

"On that day he saved my life. I began to get better right away, and now I feel just as good as I ever felt in my life."

It's the same story only from another town, and it's the one continued story of Sul-Ferro-Sol.

Through the use of Sul-Ferro-Sol thousands are regaining appetite, strength and normal health daily.

It is asked that you give this great remedy a trial.

At all drug stores everywhere. Liberal bottles for one dollar.

REAL ESTATE AND BUILDING ACTIVITIES LOOMING UP IN CLANTON.

Just a little nosing around town these days will soon reveal the fact that Clanton is preparing right away to take up the building boom that was interrupted here a few years ago by the clouds of war. Some big real estate deals have been under consideration here of late, and one or two of them have already materialized into actualities. Others will no doubt follow in a short time.

And this activity that is coming back in Clanton real estate and business property is not alone. It is accompanied with its usual companion, the sound of the carpenter's hammer and the mason's trowel. There is going to be some new business buildings here within a couple of months.

Another item of general interest in the news of Clanton's business progress is the formation of a large wholesale grocery house here. The firm, Smith, Connell & Company, have already begun their wholesale business in the house formerly occupied by Smith Grocery Company. They will soon have new and more commodious quarters for the expansion of their wholesale trade. J. Wiley Smith, F. M. Connell and J. Lee Smith are the figures behind the new enterprise.

CLANTON POSTOFFICE TO MOVE TO NEW QUARTERS SOON.

We have been informed on reliable authority that the Clanton Postoffice will be removed to new quarters in the Gowan Building about the first of the year. The new location is the building on the corner of First Avenue and Seventh Street.

The building was seriously damaged by fire some time ago, but we are informed that it will be fixed up in modern condition to accommodate the needs of our postal officials. It is an ideal location for the postoffice, and the mve in that direction indicates that there are still alive in Clanton those influences that started to work here some years ago to pull the town in the direction of the Gowan addition.

PLETCHER NEWS.

A marriage of great interest to the many friends of the contracting parties was solemnized on November 26th, when Miss Ethel Hilda Klinner and Mr. Walter F. Broadhead were quietly married at the home of the bride's parents, by Rev. Ruddick, in the presence of many friends and relatives.

The bride is the pretty and attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Klinner of Route 2, Maplesville. She wore a pretty coat suit of blue, with hat, shoes and gloves to harmonize.

Mr. Broadhead is the son of Mr. Les Broadhead, also of Maplesville, but at present, holds a responsible position with a well-known furniture company in Birmingham.

The attendants were Misses Ella Klinner, Minnie Broadhead, Lena Franklin and Messrs. Howard Gregg, Hermon Broadhead and Walter Murse. Miss Elsie Caldwell played the wedding march.

After the ceremony the couple left for Montgomery, Pensacola and other places of interest and will return to Birmingham to reside. We extend to them our heartiest congratulations and wish them a long and happy life.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Adams and Miss Bertha Rainwater have just returned from a trip to Ramer and Pinelevel. They "flivvered" through the country and report a pleasant trip.

Mrs. Lillie Edwards and daughter, Glennie, left Saturday for Birmingham to visit Mrs. Tap Cooper, who is ill in the Birmingham infirmary.

TO COUNTY SUPERINTENDENTS OF EDUCATION:

In view of the fact that all prospective teachers will have opportunity to qualify by taking the regular State examination this month, and for the further reason that the provisional cerificate was authorized merely to take care of emergencies, the State Department of Education is disposed to discontinue the issuance of provisional certificates except in the most extraordinary cases, on the 15th day of December.

It is patent that there has been a considerable lowering of standards in many counties already, and we deem it unwise and undesirable to continue the present liberal method of certificating people without examinations.

Please give this matter such publicity as will avoid embarrassment both to you and to this Department.

Yours very truly,
SPIGHT DOWELL,
Superintendent.

Mrs. F. G. Dyer, Jr., of Montgomery, was the guest of Miss Elsie Caldwell Thursday.

SAID EMMY TO FRIEND FRED:

Among the correspondence at Ellis Island was found a letter from Emmy Goldman to "My dear Friend Fred Howe" in which she said: "I hope that your fine spirit and your good taste will not be carried away by the cheap nationalism which is everywhere raising its sinister head in America today." Emma's hope seems to have been realzed. The appointee and friend of our internationalist president met the test of his anarchist lady friend.

PROCLAMATION.

STATE OF ALABAMA.
Executive Department.

WHEREAS, the Legislature of Alabama, at its regular session in the year 1919, has ordered a special election by the qualified electors of the State of Alabama upon a certain proposed amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, which is herein set forth, to be held at a date to be fixed by the Governor not less than three months from and after the final adjournment of said regular session;

AND WHEREAS, notice of such election, together with the proposed amendment, is required by law to be given by proclamation of the Governor:

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Thomas E. Kilby, Governor of the State of Alabama, do hereby give notice, direct and proclaim that the election to be held, as ordered by the Legislature in said regular session, at a date to be fixed by the Governor after the expiration of three months from the final adjournment of said regular session of the Legislature at which said amendment was proposed and said election ordered, will be held on, to-wit: Monday, February 16th, 1920, for the vote of the qualified electors of the State of Alabama in the manner, form and places required by law upon the following amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, to-wit:

Article XX. Section 1-A.—That for the establishment, construction and maintenance of a permanent, excellent and complete system of State Highways, public roads and bridges in this State serviceable for three hundred and sixty-five days in the year, and to enable the State to secure the national appropriations for public highways there shall be issued and sold by the State of Alabama interest bearing negotiable State bonds, not to exceed the sum of twenty-five million ($25,000,000) dollars, that said bonds shall bear interest at the rate of not exceeding five per centum per annum, payable annually, or semi-annually, shall mature serially or otherwise not less than three nor more than forty years from the date of their issuance, shall be made payable out of the State Road and Bridge fund which fund is created for that purpose, shall be executed, sold and delivered on behalf of the State from time to time, shall be of denominations of ten dollars and up to one thousand dollars, and mature as may be determined, subject to the approval of the Governor by the Highway Commission, who shall also be Highway Bond Commission, acting by majority vote with all proceedings of such commission together with the approval of the Governor thereto, reduced to writing and made of record, and the record and registration of said bonds shall be duly deposited in the office of the State Treasurer and kept by him; that said bonds shall be signed by the Governor, State Auditor and State Treasurer, and shall have the great Seal of the State attached thereto, attested by the Secretary of State, the coupons shall be numbered and signed by the State Treasurer. Said bonds shall be exempt from State, county and municipal taxes. Provided, however, that the fac simile signatures upon the interest coupons of said bonds may be lithographed in lieu of signing; that said bonds shall be the direct obligation of the State and for the payment thereof the full faith and credit of the State is hereby irrevocably pledged that the proceeds derived from the sale of said bonds shall be deposited in the State Treasury and kept in a separate fund and shall be exclusively used to defray the cost of constructing and maintaining said Highways, public roads and bridges of the state. The said bonds shall be sold at not less than par. B.—That for the purpose of securing the prompt payment of the principal and interest of said bonds to provide a sinking fund therefor, to place sufficient revenue in said state road and bridges fund, and to defray the cost of constructing and maintaining said State Highways, public roads and bridges continuously in a highly serviceable condition that a State license tax on all automobiles or motor driven vehicles is hereby authorized to be levied and collected on all such vehicle privilege license tax now levied or which may hereafter be levied by law of every kind and description shall be exclusively used for the payment of said bonds, principal and interest, for creating a sinking fund for their maturity and the remainder for the maintenance of said public highways, roads and bridges and extension of the State Highway System, that county roads and bridges may be built and maintained by the aid of the State and National Government, that State roads and bridges may be built and maintained by the aid of the State and National government, that State roads and bridges may be built and maintained with the aid of the county and national government, that said State Highway, roads and bridges shall be constructed and maintained by the State Highway Department, and all moneys derived from the sale of said bonds shall be expended as the highway department may direct subject to the approval of the Governor. C.—That the State Highway Commission, or Highway Department, shall locate, construct and maintain the Highways or State Trunk Roads so as to connect each county seat with the county seats of the adjoining counties by the most direct and most feasible route by a permanent road having due regard to the public welfare and to connect the county seats of the several border counties at or near the State line with a public road in the border states. Provided that in counties divided into two judicial divisions in each of which regular terms of the circuit court are held, the places where said terms of court are held, shall be connected with each other. It shall be the duty of said State Highway Commission or Highway Department, to equitably apportion among the several counties the expenditures of both money and labor and the time or times of making such investments; said roads to be constructed and maintained without expense to the several counties. G.—That this amendment and the foregoing provisions thereof, when ratified by the people are self-executing without the aid of further legislation, but the legislature shall pass such laws as it may deem necessary to secure the full benefit and effect of this amendment to the constitution. Either at this session of the legislature or at the earliest possible time after the ratification by the people that this amendment shall become immediately in full effect, nothing in the constitution and sections 213 and 93 thereof to the contrary notwithstanding.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of Alabama to be affixed at the Capitol, in the City of Montgomery, on this, the 31st day of October, 1919.

PROCLAMATION

STATE OF ALABAMA,
Executive Department.

Whereas, the Legislature of Alabama at its regular session in the year 1919 has ordered a special election by the qualified electors of the State of Alabama upon a certain proposed amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, which is herein set forth, to be held on the first Monday after the expiration of three months from and after the final adjournment of said regular session.

And whereas, notice of such election together with the proposed amendment is required by law to be given by proclamation of the Governor:

Now Therefore, I, Thomas E. Kilby, Governor of the State of Alabama, do hereby give notice, direct and proclaim that the election to be held, as ordered by the Legislature in said regular session on the first Monday after the expiration of three months from and after the final adjournment of said regular session of the Legislature at which said amendment was proposed and said election ordered will be held on, to-wit, the 29th day of December, 1919, for the vote of the qualified electors of the State of Alabama in the manner, form and places required by law upon the following amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, to-wit:

The municipalities of Tuscumbia, Sheffield, Hurtsboro, Russellville, Lanett, Demopolis, Pell City, Heflin, Columbiana, Carrollton, Opelika, Fairhope, Pine Hill, Scottsboro, Stevenson, Ashland, Brewton, Pollard, Flomaton, Atmore, Inglenook, Tuskegee, Aliceville, Gordo, Reform, Livingston, Camden, Monroeville, Phoenix and Girard, Birmingham, Bessemer, Florence, Huntsville, Selma, Fairfield, Anniston, Athens, Jacksonville, Auburn, Carbon Hill, and LaFayette, in the State of Alabama, shall have the power and right to levy and collect a tax of one-half of one per centum in any one year on property situated therein, based on the valuation of such property as assessed for state taxation for the tax year ending on the 30th day of September next succeeding the levy; provided, that for the purpose of paying bonds issued and outstanding at the time of the adoption of this amendment and the interest thereon, and for the purpose of paying bonds which may be issued after the adoption of this amendment and the interest thereon, an additional tax of one-half of one per centum may be levied and collected by said corporations; provided further, that a majority of the qualified electors of any of said municipal corporations voting at an election called for that purpose may vote a special tax not to exceed one-half of one per centum in any one year for any special purpose or purposes, which tax shall be used only for the purpose or purposes for which same is levied and collected, provided, however, that the total tax to be levied by any of said municipal corporations shall not exceed one and one-half (1½) per centum in any one year. Provided, further, that the adoption of this amendment shall in no wise affect, limit, modify, abridge or impair the power, authority or right of either of said municipal corporations, to levy and collect the special school taxes, now or hereafter vested in or conferred upon them, or any of them under the Constitution or any amendment thereto; including the power of said city of Selma to levy and collect the taxes for schools and school purposes vested in and conferred upon said city of Selma by the amendment to the Constitution of Alabama adopted thereto, at the general election held in November, 1916, and which was submitted under law number 315, General Laws 1915, page 337. Each election held under the provisions hereof shall be ordered, held, canvassed and may be contested in the same manner as is or may be provided by the law applicable to the municipal corporations for elections to authorize the issuance of municipal bonds. The ballots used at such election shall contain the words: "For..... excess rate of taxation for the year (or years) .....;" and "Against..... excess rate of taxation for the year (or years) .....". The rate of taxation proposed in excess of the rate of one (1) per centum to be shown in the blank space provided therefor and the year or years in which the proposed rate is to apply to be shown in the blank space provided therefor; and in the event different excess rates are proposed for different years the words mentioned shall be repeated as often as may be necessary to show separately the different rates proposed to be applied to the respective years. And the voter shall record his choice, whether for or against the excess rate or rates shown by placing a cross mark before or after the words expressing his choice. Nothing herein contained shall in any wise change or affect the rights of any holder of bonds of said municipal corporations heretofore issued. Elections to authorize the levy of such special tax may be held as often as ordered by the governing body of the municipality but when a proposition is submitted to the electors to levy a special tax for a specific purpose, and if such proposition is defeated no second election for the same purpose shall be held in one year thereafter.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the great seal of the State of Alabama to be affixed at the Capitol in the City of Montgomery ono this 29th day of October, 1919. THOS. E. KILBY, Governor.

TEN MILLION SEE FORD PICTURES WEEKLY

The "Ford Educational Weekly," a film put out by the Ford Motor Company has earned for that company the largest circulation of motion pictures in the world. Ford films are run in 5,238 theatres in the United States each week. They are also distributed throughout Canada, Europe, Asia, South America, Africa, Austria and many other islands.

The Ford pictures are viewed by more than ten millions of people in motion picture theater each week. But they are also in demand outside of the theater. Churches, colleges, the Y. M. C. A., public and private schools and even many of the country's largest penal institutions find Ford films particularly valuable because of their moral and educational value.

WILSON DISTORTS THE TARIFF FACTS

Washington, Dec. 17.— The Republican Publicity Association, through its president, Hon. Jonathan Bourne, Jr., today gave out the following statement from its Washington headquarters:

"Democratic persistency in ignoring or misrepresenting economic facts was illustrated in the message to Congress discussing foreign trade and the tariff question. Whether the message was written by the President or by members of his cabinet, or by Mr. Tumulty, it sets forth the principles of the Democratic party on the tariff question, and it is against a protective tariff. On that subject, the message says: 'Any measures taken to prevent imports will inevitably curtail exports, force curtailment of production, load the banking machinery of the country with credits to carry unsold products and produce industrial stagnation and unemployment."

"That statement ignore facts set forth in the annual statistical abstract of the Deparment of Commerce which shows that during the 13 years prior to the outbreak of the war, the rest of the world bought from the United States more than it sold to the United States, the aggregate excess for the period being nearly seven billion dollars. The exports from the United States in 1900 exceeded the imports by $544,000,000, and they continued to exceed the imports every year, the excess in the year ending .June 30, 1913, being $652,000,000. And all that period was under a protective tariff—the tariff which the Democratic party denounced.

"A further examination of figures of the Department of Commerce will show that the President's message stated the exact opposite of the truth. The fact is, and it is proven by the statistics of the Democratic administration, that measures encouraging imports will inevitably curtail exports. Now let us look at the evidence.

"The Democratic tariff law became effective Oct. 3, 1913, and was in operation 10 months before the war disarranged trade channels. During that period our imports increased $102,000,000 as compared with the similar period under the Republican law. According to the doctrine set forth in the President's message, our exports should have increased also, but the records show a decrease of $160,000,000. The Democratic theory that the more we buy abroad the more we will be able to sell abroad, is disproven by the statistics. In that ten months' period we learned at a cost of $262,000,000 that when we buy abroad we send good American dollars to build up industries of other countries, at the same time depleting our own financial resources, employing less labor and diminishing the activity of American capital.

"The theory that the way to win other markets is first to surrender our own, is in entire harmony with the general Wilsonian policy of surrender. He surrendered to some unknown power and for an unknown reason on the Panama Canal toll question. He surrendered to the foreign producer when he forced through the tariff law of 1913. He offered a surrender to Germany in 1915 when he declared America 'too proud to fight.' He surrendered to the Railroad Brotherhoods when the Adamson law pas passed in 1916, and he endeavored to surrender American traditions, the Monroe Doctrine, and, in fact, national independence, by negotiation of the league of nations treaty in 1919. It need surprise no one that the President proposes to promote American trade interests in the future by continuing the policy of trade surrender.

MR. EX-SERVICE MAN:

If your War Risk Insurance has lapsed over eighteen months since the date of your discharge from the esrvice, the last day in which you may reinstate this insurance, which the Government gives you below cost, is December 31, 1919. TO CARE FOR DESTITUTE IN WESTERN ASIA

In response to an urgent cable from Col. William N. Haskell, official representative of Near East Relief, a unit of women welfare workers, who served in France, will sail November 22nd for Tiflis to aid in the care of 800,000 refugees made destitute in Western Asia.

The party is in charge of Miss Mary Vail Andres of New York City, only woman who won the distinguished service medal for work in the field. All the members of the group are old friends, having been pioneers in the first canteens established at Toul, Chalons and Epernay.

MISS MARY VAIL ANDREES, Distinguished Service Heroine Who Now Goes to Near East.

After escaping the nightly air raids over those places, typhhus, now very prevalert in the Near East, holds no terrors for them. They will work particularly among the orphans now being cared for by the Near East Relief organiation in America.

Miss Andrees and the Misses Anderson of New Canaan, Conn., wear the Croix de Guerre. They were in the first group of seven Red Cross girls sent to France to open canteens. Every member of the unit worked under shell fire at the front.

The girls volunteered to go on the expedition when they heard that thousands of women and children are dying of starvation and that welfare worker on the ground are overwhelmed by the magnitude of the task confronting them.

Miss Margaret Milne, of Washington, was a member of the Hoover relief commission that carried food to Rumania last winter and Miss A. Sidney, an Englishwoman, was with the British relief commission in Serva for three years. Each member of the unit has an enviable war record. Though they are going to the Caucasus for the Near East Relief Committee, No. 1 Madison Avenue, they will work in Red Cross uniforms.

A recent cable from Col. Haskell stated that 800,000 Armenians will require assistance until next year's harvest. Over 120,000 orphans must be cared for. Sick and starving they have been wandering about in the desert and are daily being brought into large centers by relief workers. Buildings requiitioned for orphanages are filled to oveflowing.

Many of the men and women engaged in relief work were at the front. Reports state that they are putting into the work of minitering to the suffering and helpless of the Near East the same heroic spirit they displayed in France.

ANOTHER DEMOCRAT SCORES MR. WILSON

SENATOR ASHURST INDICTS ADMINISTRATION ON ITS "COWARDLY" ANTICS.

Washington, Dec. 15.—In some respects the bitterest arraignment of the administration for its conduct of the Mexican question which has been heard in Congress has been uttered by Senator Ashurst of Arizona, a democratic member.

Senator Ashurst's indictment is the more striking because ordinarily up to support whatever the administration asked him to support. In the case of Mexico, it is evident his patience is about exhausted.

He presented in the Senate are solution which in effect calls on the War Department to assemble on the border troops in sufficient number to protect the Americans along the border from the Mexican outlaws and marauders.

In discussing it, Senator Ashurst declared the Mexican question had been "miserably and shamefully mishandled." He declared the policy toward Mexico had been "weak, vacillating, negligent and cowardly" and that he would stand it no longer.

He said he believe the people of his own state were now in peril from border outlaws and that the policy of this government had encouraged the contending factions in Mexico to believe they could sacrifice American lives and get "slapped on the wrist" by way of punishment.

After explaining his resolution, Senator Ashurst said:

"Surely, I do not need to argue to the Senate of the United States that in a Republic such as ours an unlawful assault upon, or an unwarranted act of violence addressed toward, a citizen of the United States is an insult to the government."

HOME SERVICE BRANCH OF LOCAL RED CROSS

The Home Service Branch of the Chilton County Red Cross Chapter during the past six weeks has rendered service to some fifteen families in the county, in the way of tracing delayed allotments, insurance, applying for compensation, tracing lost baggage, and the thousand and one other bewilderment that beset the path of the ex-service man returning to civilian life. Civilian families are beginnng to learn too that the Red Cross is a friend to everybody. The local Home Service was the happy means of establishing communication between one Chilton County family and a son and brother who had not been heard from in some four or five years. Other small services have been rendered to civilian families too. In fact the scope of the work is increasing all the time and the local Home Service Branch is looking forward to a plendid year of service for 1920. Old friends are renewing acquaintance with the Red Cross and new ones are coming in every few days.

A WORD ABOUT WAR-RISK INSURANCE.

We may build monuments, or we may entertain lavihly—as tributes of respect to "Our Boys." But there is a national desire to manifest our appreciation in a perpetual manner. This is best accomplished by War Risk Insurance. It is the cheapest insurance in America. Only those who served in active duty are entitled to hold it. The operating cost is borne by taxation, not derived from premiums. It is your contribution to bravery. It is your duty to induce every deserving service man to grasp the opportunity offered by his Government and HOLD ON TO HIS INSURANCE.

CONGRESSMAN HEFLIN TALKS ON "SANDY" CLAUS AND CHRISTMAS.

"A few days ago, I saw a picture of a little boy in a newspaper and to me it was brim full of pathos. It was entitled "Dreaming of Christmas." A little country boy was lying on a bed asleep. A pleasing and happy expression was on his face. He was dreaming of "Sandy" Claus and Christmas. That little picture carried me back to the days of my childhood when Christmas was Christmas and "Sandy" Claus was abroad in the land. Then little boys and girls would think and talk and dream of Christmas. Our parents permitted us to pass through that joyous little circle of years, unhampered by the matter of fact things that now rob Christmas of the Pristine pleasures as we knew them in our childhood. The tendency now amongst too many parents is to make of the child a serious minded adult before the period of youthtime is ended, thus robbing children of the innocent joys of childhood. This is wrong. Paul had the right conception of it. You remember he said, 'When I was a child, I thought as a child and speak as a child, but when I became a man I put away childish things.' Youthtime is brief enough at best and people without imagination and fancy have no right to lessen its joys by throwing into that rosy period the things that belong to the after years. If parents could just realize at this season of the year especially, that thoughts and dreams of "Sandy" Claus and Wonderland bring joys to childhood that can come from no other source, they would not destroy these innocent pleasures by shutting up their hearts and homes to that white-whiskered old gift giver from the realm of plenty. Thousands of the joys of youthtime flower in the field of fancy and fruit in the orchards of the child's imagination. The taking of 'Sandy' Claus out of childhood and childhood out of the kingdom of "Sandy" Claus is a crime against the child. I can recall my youthful acquaintance with "Sandy" Claus and how pleasing it was to me! He played an important and happy part in my childhood and the memory of his joyous visitations is pleasing to me still. The coming of 'Sandy' Claus and the birthtime of Jesus were inseparably linked in my mind. Every thought associated with the coming of "Sandy" Claus was elevating and enobling. There was nothing about it that was harmful, but every thing about it was pleasing and helpful. For the children it afforded a reformation period at least once a year. 'You must be a good boy or girl or 'Sandy' Claus will not bring you anything Christmas,' we were told in every household, and little boys and girls approached Christmas time with improved conduct and in a pious frame of mind. The novelty of the thing was pleasing beyond expression. It developed the fancy, stimulated the imagination and strengthened the faith of the child, and these are essential to happy childhood and necessary to the well rounded and useful life of the man or woman. The man or woman who never knew 'Sandy' Claus has my profound sympathy. There is something missing from their childhood—joys that they never knew. Let the children at this glad season of the year romp and laugh and play and be happy for it won't be long till they, like Paul, will put away childish things. Let them think and dream of 'Sandy' Claus and on Christmas morning, wake up and find their little socks and stockings filled with sweet remembrance from childhoods dear old 'Sandy' Claus. I am the friend of 'Sandy' Claus and if I had my way about it, I would open to him on Christmas Eve night the socks and stocking of every little boy and girl in the country. My thoughts go back to my childhood home in dear old Alabama, when I used to hang up my little sock on Christmas Eve night and have visions and dreams of 'Sandy' Claus. The hope and expectation, the dream and realization of his coming filled me with a feeling of indescribable joy and when I awoke next morning just at the break of day and saw my little woolen sock filled full and bulging out with presents brought to me by 'Sandy' Clause, the cup of my joy ran over and I was supremely happy."

MAY NOW MOVE CATTLE OUT OF CHILTON COUNTY.

Oscar Bean has asked us to state for the information of the people that cattle may now be removed from Chilton County without a permit, provided those cattle to be moved are not under quarantine.

We understand from other information received from the U. S. Agricultural department that the whole county has not yet been lifted out of quarantine. There seems to be some herds in the county that are still infected with ticks. Those of course, could not be moved as Mr. Bean stated.

"The 52 Biggest Problems of the Average Southern Farmer."

Every member of The Progressive Farmer staff has had actual farm experience—most of us are running southern farms now—and from our own experiences, and from the multitude of farmers' letters that come to us every year, we believe we have figured out a pretty nearly perfect list of these "fifty-two biggest problems" of the average Southern Farmer, and we are going to treat them in the next year's Pr ogressive Farmer.

We are going to treat them, too, in order of timeliness, just as far as possible. For the aim of The Progressive Farmer, always, is to tell the subscriber just what he wants to know, just when he wants to know it, and in as few words as possible.

Here's the list of big problems we shall treat during the fall months, and the date on which each discussion will appear:

November 1—Financing the Farmer: (Personal and short term credit; Long-term Credit for Land Purchase; Avoiding "Time Prices"; Utilizing National Farm Loan Associations, etc.)

November 8—Systems of Farming—Affecting Soil Fertility, Money Profits, Prosperity and Permanence of Rural Life.

November 15—Arranging and Erecting Fences; Relative Value of Different Systems, Materials, etc.

November 22—How to Reduce Land Washing to a Minimum. (Terracing, Ditching, Filling Land with Humus, Proper Use of Steep Hillsides, etc.)

November 29—What Changes are Needed to Insure Better Health for Men, Women and Children on the Farm

December 6—Winter Care and Feeding of Horses, Mules, Cattle and Hogs.

December 13—Getting Rocks and Stumps off the Land.

December 20—How Farm Neighbors may Work Together for Greater Profits and Happiness.

December 27—Business Methods on the Farm (Inventories; Records; Accounts; Banking; Cost-Keeping; Advertising; System in Correspondence and Sales, etc.)

The above subjects are of vital importance to you, and alone are worth the price we ask, and remember The Progressive Farmer carries many other big featues not mentioned in the above list.

ESTIMATES TOO HIGH.

Demand of Administration for Money Are Beyond Reasonable Wisdom.

Washington, Dec. 15.—"The estimates of the departments for appropriations of about $5,000,000,000 are away beyond what they should be," said Senator Kenyon, who is a member of the Senate appropriations committee.

"Such exorbant estimates will not be granted. They will be cut and cut deeply. It is out of the question to impose such burdens on the public."

Prof. Hall and Miss Mary Cummings, teachers in the Marbury High School, were visitors to Clanton last aSturday.

DECLARES WAR IS NOW OVER.

Joint Resolution Introduced Which Officially Ends Rostilities.

Washington, Dec. 15.—Representative Tinkham, of Massachusetts, has introduced a joint resolution declaring the tate of war between the United States and Germany to be officially at an end. The Tinkham resolution is similar to the Lodge resolution pending before the Senate. Being a point resolution it would require the signature of the President.

Ever think that some day you might need credit?

Some people go along paying cash for groceries for years.

Then all of a sudden the time comes when they need credit—and they find it very hard to get, because they've always been classed as cash-customers.

That's why so many of our customers have charge accounts.

Not to put off payments indefinitely or to run up bills—but to establish their credit in the community.

In addition they find it mighty convenient not to be obliged to pay cash down for every little thing, to be afraid the delivery boy won't leave the things unless he gets his money.

Of course, charge accounts constitute only one of the many services we extend to our customers.

We feel it is our duty to study the market and test the food products as they are introduced.

That's how we choose RYZON—from a personal test! We found we used less, that we could mix muffins the night before and bake them the next day; in fact, we found RYZON to be economical and thoroughly dependable.

It costs 40c per pound, and, by the way, have you a RYZON Baking Book? This book contains the best recipes of 10,000 women—it costs 30c and is worth a great deal more.

SOME PRESIDENTS WOULD HAVE HUNG CARRANZA

DEMOCRATIC SENATOR THINKS WILSON'S COURSE FUTILE AND VERY HELPLESS.

Washington, Dec. 15.—"There have been administrations in this country which under conditions stated by the senators would long since have had Carranza and his associates hung as murderers."

This is the utterance of Senator Shields of Tennessee, leading democratic senator, who is one of the members on the democratic side to score the administration's futile and hapless course regarding Mexico.

Senator Shields spoke for the purpose of saying that he did not believe Senator Ashurst's resolution, looking simply to the protection of Americans on this side of the border, was adequate.

"We have had ample cause for war with Mexico for five years," said Senator Shields, "and the resolution ought to be one declaring war against Mexico. The safety of our people in the border states and the honor of our country demand it."

Furthermore, Senator Shields expressed his opinion of the administration's Mexican course in no uncertain terms.

"Our relations with Mexico," he said, "constitute the most discreditable and humiliating chapter of our foreign relations history."

He said that there should be some action, not alone to protect Americans on this side of the border but to protect the citizen of the Unied States within the borders of Mexico who are being murdered and robbed constantly.

"From statements made upon this floor by other senators," said Senator Shields, "hundreds of our citizens have been murdered, women have been outraged, and their property, worth millions of dollars, taken and destroyed, in the republic of Mexico, where they were invited and encouraged to go."

Many physicians believe that anyone who has a bad cold should be completely isolated to prevent other members of the family and associates from contracting the disease, as colds are about as catching as measles. One thing sure—the sooner one rids himself of a cold, the less danger,, and you will look a good while before you find a better medicine than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to aid you in curing a cold.

REPUBLICANS ENCOUAGED BY RECENT REPORTS

CONTINUOUS NEWS FROM ALL PARTS OF COUNTRY LENDS BRILLIANT HUE TO SUCCESS.

Washington, Dec. 15.—The return to Washington of Republican members of Congress, who recently spent a short vacatior in their home states, and the arrival of prominent Republicans for the meeting of the Republican national committee have brought to the capital a veritable flood of political reports which are of the greatest encouragement to the Republican leads. It is confidently claimed by these men that the Republicans will be able to retain every Congressional seat gained from the Democrats in the last election, and that this number will be materially increased through the election of additional Republicans in such hitherto democratic states as Kentucky, Missouri and Oklahoma.

These reports reveal the facts that the ordinary people in all parts of the country are genuinely indignant at the administration because of the general mess into which the country's domestic and international affairs have been permitted to drift the last twelve months. The much-heralded campaign of the department of justice against the high cost of living is looked upon everywhere as a failure. The shortage of sugar is generally blamed upon the administration through its failure to purchase the Cuban crop. The coal shortage and the general labor disruption is believed to be a by-product of conflicting political ambitions between Attorney General Palmer and William G. McAdoo. And the plight of the Peace Treaty is laid squarely at the door of the President and his blind followers in the Senate, despite the efforts of the administration to shift the blame to those who urged its ratification with amendments.

Republicans who have recently been in touch with the voters of various sections of the country believe that the Democrats will be amazed and chagrined when they discover the true etxent of the resentment against the vast extravagances which were permitted during the war, and which have necessitated the continuance of high taxes. The general public is just now beginning to realize for the first time the mammoth proportions of the administration's waste and extravagance, and it is having an effect which is manifesting itself in many political ways.

WILL RESTORE TRAINS.

Montgomery, Dec. 17—Every train removed from service as a result of fuel conservation orders will be placed back again the moment conditions are relieved. This statement was given to the Alabama public service commission today by the regional committee. Some persons have expressed the fear that the service will remain curtailed even after the miners' strike is settled. Practically every railroad in the state has been effected by the conservation orders.

CHEAP POLITICS.

The general public may not realize that the proceedings in the Truman H. Newberry case are, to say the least, unusual. The remarkable part of the whole affair is the fact that the case is brought by the Federal government. The rule heretofore has been for the contestants to fight the matter out and then for the Senate committee to base its findings in an investigation of its own. But in Senator Newberry's case the Senate investigation will wait until the case is decided in court.

Either a decided attempt has been made to conceal the fact that the same charge was made against Ford that was made against Newberry, or else that fact has been forgotten. Nevertheless such is the case and while the federal agents are working night and day against Newberry they have paid no attention whatever to the charges against Ford. The charge in both cases was expending more money than the federal statute permits.

The suggestion which naturally arises is this: a new form of political corruption where the party in power with the massive machinery of government at beck and call turns that power and wealth against an enemy and at the same time ignores all charges against a friend, although the friend is in the same boat. It will be remembered that Henry Ford's candidacy was announced at the request of President Wilson and everything within power was done by the administration to elect the Detroit manufacturer. While Ford had been an advocate of pacifism and while he talked against the war and while his son was exempted from service, Truman H. Newberry was serving his country in its hour of need and his two sons were in the thick of the fight.

The defeat of Ford was undoubtably a severe blow to Mr. Wilson and a great disappointment to his followers. It meant the control of the senate. In order apparently to wreak vengeance, a disappointed administration now attempts to use the Federal government to bring about the desired results. The people can demand justice and justice will be demanded. If one must be tried, let both contestants be tried.

Let us have the story of the Ford machine and the millions spent for his election. Let us have the story of the influence brought to bear from the White House and every other source of the Federal government. If there is to be a fight on the issue let it be fair and in the open.

To the Republicans of Chilton County, and the Fourth District:

Editor Union-Banner:

Clanton, Ala., Dec. 14th, 1919.

Please allow me space in your paper to say to the Republicans and Independent voters of Chilton County and the 4th congressional District that it is very important that they see that every Republican and Independent voter has registered on or before the 5th day of January, 1920, and also get them to pay up all Poll Tax due on or before the 1st day of February, 1920, as there will be one of the most important and hotest political campaign next year that has ever been waged in the history of this country. Of course this campaign will precede one of the most important elections that has ever been held in the United States. In this election there will be elected practically all of our most important officials from beat officers to President, and there is no question but what this great country of ours is confronted with the most perilous times in its history. Therefore it is more important than ever before that we elect the Republican ticket from beat officers to President. The Republican party will steer safely thru these perilous times, the grand old ship of state in order that this great Republic of ours may be saved and our freedom and liberties will be perpetuated. The prospects for a Republican victory in the year 1920 were never brighter in the history of the party. Not only in the North, East and West, but in the grand old Southland of ours. If there is any signs in the times there will be more Democrats defeated and Republicans elected in their places next year than had ever been in the history of the party. I want to say that there will be a full Republican ticket in the field next year so that every Republican in Alabama that is qualified can vote for his party. In conclusion, I want to appeal to every Republican and Independent voter in Chilton County and the 4th Congressional District to register if he has not already registered, before the 5th day of January, 1920, and also pay all poll tax due on or before the 1st day of February, 1920, as you will have to do both before you can qualify and vote in any elevtion to be held next year.

Yours truly,

W. H. GILLESPIE,

Chairman of the Republican Executive Committee of the Fourth Congressional District, of Alabama.

MAJOR McMORRIS NEW JUDGE NINTETEEN CIRCUIT.

Appointed Saturday by Gov. Kilby —Begins Duties at Oonce.

Major B. K. McMorris, one of Wetumpka's brilliant successful young lawyers, was oppointed judge of the new nineteenth judicial circuit by Gov. Thos. E. Kilby on last Saturday. Gov. Gilby could not have made a wiser selection in a man to fill this important office. Major McMorris possesses ability, a dignified bearing and a mind so equitably adjusted as to rule most wisely on the bench. He is a man of strong moral character but of broad sympathies and is very popular throughout his town, country and State. Judge McMorris will qualify and assume his new duties at an early date.

By an act of the 1919 legislature the counties of Elmore, Autauga, and Chilton were taken from the Fifteenth circuit, presided over by Judges Leon McCord and William L. Martin and placed in the new nineteenth circuit. In a decision last week the Alabama supreme court upheld the constitutionality of the Lynne recircuiting bill, and the appointment follows this decision.

The new judge of the Nineteenth circuit is not only a professional man of note, but also has had a wide experience in matters military. Judge McMorris early in his career graduated from U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis with the grade of ensign. During 11 years of service in the navy he rose to the rank of lieutenant which commission he held at the time of his resignation.

For a number of years he was engaged in the practice of his profession as a lawyer in his home town, Wetumpka, removing to Birmingham and later to Montgomery, just before the entrance of the United States into the World War. He was one of the first to offer his services and the benefits of his wide knowledge of military affairs, to his country and state. With the commission of major, he made his journey overseas with the First Alabama Cavalry, in which organization he served with distinction.

Upon receiving his discharge from the army, he again took up his practice in Wetumpka. Judge McMorris has been and is at the present time, one of the most earnest workers in the campaign to perfect a 100 per cent American Legion organization in Alabama. Throughout the state he has a wide circle of friends who are delighted at his appointment to a position of such honor, responsibility and trust.—Wetumpka Herald.

RAINS DAMAGED ROADS AND BRIDGES OF COUNTY.

Commissioner D. H. Gentry was in Clanton last Friday and stated to the Union-Banner that much damage had been done to the roads and bridges of the County by the recent heavy rains and swollen streams. Mr. Gentry said three bridges in his own district had been completely washed away and some others damaged. He expects a busy time in the next few weeks repairing the damage that has been done.

TO THE POLLS, TO BE SURE.

"Plunged in a gulf of dark despair," the morning organ challenges the senate of the United States to go to the country with its covenant reservaions as an issue. "It is the right of the American people to pass upon them—at the polls," it chortless. There already has been some "passing upon them—at the polls." And wherever the American people have passed they have tarried to swat. The hard facts of election returns and the verieties of history cannot be answered and set aside by frothy fiction. To assert that "the attempt of the league assassins to convince the people who are and have been overwhelmingly in favor of the peace treaty in the form in which it was moulded by all the nations at Paris that the president should accept the amendments which make the covenant a mockery and a sham will not get very far," becomes mere noisy eructation in the presence of what has happened whenever and wherever unreserved ratification of the league covenant has been in issue. Every popular expression given in the way that counts and that permits no gainsaying of the verdict has been against the league as the president has offered it and as he has stubbornly insisted it should be approved. "At the polls?" You can bet on it. That's the precise spot and place here and there over the country where circumstances have permitted it that the vote has been taken. Massachusetts did it over the whole state —Henry Cabot Lodge's state. A rock-ribbed democraic district in Oklahoma did it—with a vengeance. An Alabama district, where it is a capital crime not to vote the democratic ticket, came so near electing an anti-league republican that it gave the solid south convulsions. Take it to the polls for a try out? The place for it of all others—the only place and the place where Mr. Wilson with his un-American covenant will be hospitably welcomed by seventy-five per cent of the American electorate—with clubs in their hands and stout purpose in their hearts—Fort Wayne News.

TAXES DELINQUENT AFTER JANUARY THE FIRST, 1920

Editor Union-Banner:

Please allow me to say for the information of all tax payers that no assessments or taxes will be delinquent till January 1st, 1920, and that no penalty will be added for non-assessment till the first Monday in February, 1920.

It is the duty of every person in the county to make an assessment before January 1st, 1920, regardless of the amount or kind of property they own. All wagons, buggies, cars, automobiles, trucks, bicycles, watches, jewelry, diamonds, silverware, etc., are taxable and should be assessed where you want to save paying fee and penalty.

There will not be any dog tax collected by the tax collector for 1920, and any dogs listed on assessments for 1920 will be erased.

Little Mary T. Owens, Weak, Sickly and Unable to Attend School for Past Two Winters Regains Normal Health. Mother Praises Sul-Ferro-Sol. Remarkable Case.

"Sul-Ferro-Sol certainly built my little girl right up. She was weak, puny and awfully pale. It gave her a good appetite and good color and now she is as well as any of the children she plays with. She is a good deal heavier than she was and is now just as strong as she can be."

The above is exactly what Mrs. Emma Owens said about Sul-Ferro-Sol. Her home is at Pine Bluff, Ark.

And there are many little girls and boys who need rebuilding just as little Mary Owens needed it. They need new blood in their little veins to give them more strength.

Nature answers this demand by supplying Sul-Ferro-Sol, the great blood-giving Iron tonic, and Sul-Ferro-Sol comes to you just as nature supplied it excepting that it is put into a bottle Sul-Ferro-Sol is highly recommended as a natural Iron tonic for both adults and children. MORE EVIDENCE OF GREAT RELIEF

Was Dizzy, Nervous, Back Was Lame, Stomach Full of Gas and Bowels Constipated. Gets Unusual Results.

Dreco does its curative work in a simple, straightforward way. It wastes little time getting all its energies to work, feeding the tired, worn-out nervous tract, filling the arteries with rich, new blood, and building up the body for its fight against disease. Read what Mr. T. B. Menefee of 114 South Cedar street, Mobile, Ala., says:

"For some time I have suffered with nervous pains in my back and limbs, especially the joints. It struck me first in the hips, then the knees got painful, then the shoulders and elbows. My back gave me a great deal of trouble, especially when I got up in the morning, and also when I would make a quick move or bend. I was also troubled with constipation, headaches, nervousness, so I did not sleep well, and my appetite was about all gone. I was attracted by the statements I read in the papers about what Dreco had done for so many other people, and decided to try it, with the result that by the time I had finished one-half of the first bottle my pains had left me and the stiffness was wearing away. I can now jump right out of bed without the slightest pain at all; can stoop about and climb stairs without any trouble. The constipation is entirely gone. I never have a headache, and my wife says I am about to eat her out of house and home, since my appetite has improved so.

"I feel perfectly well now, but my wife insists that I keep it up, so I am going to take another bottle just to 'make sure I'm well.'"

Statements like this from persons right here in our home town should do much to convince people of the true merits of Dreco. This remedy does not contain any mercury, potash or other harmful mineral, nor anything that affects the heart, but is composed of the juices of many different roots and herbs.

UPCHURCH DRUG CO., Clanton.

PRESIDENT FAILS TO KEEP IN TOUCH

REFUSAL TO EXPRESS OPINION ON MEXICAN SITUATION IS SURPRISE TO MANY.

Washington, Dec. 15.—Following the visit of Senators Fall and Hitchcock to the White House to ascertain the President's views on the Mexican situation, in connection with the Fall resolution providing for the severance of diplomatic relations with Mexico, Senator Fall announce that the President had neither expressed an opinion on this important matter, nor had indicated that he would do so later. The senator said that he had explained fully to the President the information on Mexican affairs which he had presented to the Foreign Relations Committee of the Senate in support of his resolution. The President, he said, had listened attentively, but had had nothing to say in reply, except to request that Senator Fall furnish him with a copy of the report on Mexican affairs which he is now preparing.

Senator Fall was asked, following the conference, whether the President appeared to be fully informed on the Mexican question. The senator repeated that the President had not expressed himself in any way, which would indicate that the statement of Secretary Lansing before the Foreign Relation Committee, that the situation had not been brought to the President's attention, was correct.

"Do you believe, after seeing the President, that he is mentally capable of handling the present situation?' the senator was asked.

"He is absolutely capable, mentally," the senator replied. He added that the President had received the committee in his bedroom, where he was confined to his bed. Senator Hitchcock added that the President was not propped up in bed, as on the occasion of his last visit to him, but was lying at full length.

In the course of the conference, Secretary Lansing conveyed the news that Consul Jenkins, who has been confined in a Mexican jail had been released. Although this action has cleared up a case which has given the United States government a great deal of trouble, it has no bearing upon the Fall resolution, which is based upon a long succession of crimes against American citizens in Mexico, any one of which is considered to be more flagrant than the Jenkins case.

The failure of the President to make any comment upon the circumstances resulting in the Fall resolution, and the consequent conclusion that he is not sufficiently informed upon the matter to give it his personal attention, leave the entire matter again in the hands of the Department of State and the Committee on Foreign Relations, which, in the past week, have been working in harmony upon this serious situation.

LABOR UNIONS FAIL TO INTEREST FARMER

The hope of labor union leaders that they would be able to enlist the aid of organized farmers was doubtless due to the fact that the argicultural producers have been endeavoring for many years to better their condition through the adoption of the policy of "collective bargaining." The labor union leaders failed, however, to note one vital difference between the policy adopted by themselves and that pursued by organized farmers. The farmers have endeavored to utilize collective bargaining in a thoroughly domocratic manner. The labor union leaders, on the other hand, have endeavored to transform collective bargaining into collective dictation in a manner that is autocratic.

Fruit producers, grain producers, and cattle producers have endeavored to secure better prices for their products by pooling their output and bargaining with buyers for the sale of the total. They have never, however, forbidden or endeavored to forbid any other farmer from selling his product anywhere, at any time, at any price. The effort of the organized farmers has been entirely legitimate, conducted for a proper end and by proper means.

With collective bargaining on the part of labor unions there is no material fault to be found so long as it is bargaining in fact. The flaw in the labor union procedure has been however, that the union not only proposes to sell its own labor at prices which it may fix by collective bargaining or dictation, but it proposes to deny to any other man the right to sell his labor at any other price. It denies the fundamental principle of individual liberty. It endervors to enforce the rule that no man shall work unless he first subscribes to the contracts of the labor union and renders himself subject to the mandates of the walking delegate.

This policy the farmer has never adopted and never will adopt. Such a policy is contrary to the principles of the American government, and, though it may succeed temporarily, it must fail eventually because antagonistic to the public welfare. It is quite possible that a group of agriculture producers could organize its particular branch of agriculture so extensively and adopt methods so severe as to practically dictate the price of its output. Organized dairyman, for instance, might for a time intimidate non-union dairyman by overturning their milk wagons, shooting their drivers, poisoning their heards, and bombing their families, but such methods would not long succeed. Nor is there any danger that such methods will be adopted. Agricultural producers are owners of property; they are heads of families; all their interests are aligned with law and order, and with full recognition of the rights of others.

Because the labor union leaders have adopted methods which can not possibly be approved by organized farmers, the labor union invitation to the farmers to co-operate with them has met a decisive and final rebuff.

REPUBLICANS MAP OUT PLANS FOR THE COMING CAMPAIGN

PARTY'S NATIONAL LEADERS WERE PRESENT TO GIVE COUNSEL REGARDING ORGANIZATION AND POLICIES.

Washington, Dec. 17.—Plans for the 1920 campaign were discussed at a meeting here today of the National Association of Republican State Chairmen, at which many of the party's national leaders were present to give counsel regarding organization and policies.

No formal action was taken, but many problems common to all of the states were threshed over and plans were made to maintain throughout the campaign a well organized connection between the various state organizations and the national committee.

The meeting, which concluded the series of conferences which had brought several hundred republican leads here, was held while preliminary arrangements were in progress for the 1920 national convention, which the national committee voted yesterday to hold in Chicago, June 3. The formal call for the convention was issued and those in charge of arrangements started the big task of allotting tickets and providing facilities.

One decision calculated to further close relations between the state and national organization contemplates the reservation of places in the convention hall for all of the state chairmen, for the heads of the women's division in each state and for two representatives, a man and a woman, for every state committee on ways and means. The formal call sent out by Chairman Hay lays down the new apportionment of state representation as announced yesterday and provides that all delegates and alternates must be chosen "not earlier than 30 days after the date of this call and not later than 30 days before the date of the meeting of such republican national convention unless otherwise provided by the laws of the state in which the election occurs."

A. T. Hert of Kentucky, head of the arrangements committee, said they will probably meet in Chicago early in January to consider details of its work. He predicted that the convention would be the largest ever assembled by any party.

The partisans of various presidential possibilities were active among the asembled leaders until the last of them had left for their homes late tonight. Each of the managers in charge of these pre-convention campaigns wound up his canvass here with a claim that his candidate had gained by the jockeying of the last few days.

All the Illinois republicans in Congress, at a meeting tonight, joined in a statement presenting and indorsing Governor Lowden for the presidential nomination.

ILLINOIS IS AGAINST TREATY AS IT STANDS.

Washington, Dec. 15.—Former Representative W. H. Hinebaugh of Ottawa, Illinois, who was in Washington today, said the sentiment in Illinois was overwhelmingly against the peace treaty and league covenant in its present form.

"It is not easy to find people in my part of the country who favor the treaty without strong reservations," said Judge Hinebaugh. "I believe an increasing number would like to see the entire treaty pigeon-holed and a resolution passed, such as proposed by Senator Lodge, declaring peace with Germany.

"The people of this country are realizing more and more that instead of diverting our attention to world affairs, we ought to be giving our thought and attention to our many and serious domestic problems."

When in Congress, Judge Hinebaugh was chairman of the congressional committee of the progressive party. He strongly favored the election of a republican president and the ousting from political power of the present administration.

Camel
CIGARETTES

Cigarettes made to meet your taste!

Camels are offered you as a cigarette entirely out of the ordinary—a flavor and smoothness never before attained. To best realize their quality compare Camels with any cigarette in the world at any price!

Camels flavor is so refreshing, so enticing, it will win you at once—it is so new and unusual. That's what Camels expert blend of choice Turkish and choice Domestic tobacco gives you! You'll prefer this blend to either kind of tobacco smoked straight!

As you smoke Camels, you'll note absence of any unpleasant cigaretty aftertaste or any unpleasant cigaretty odor. And, you'll be delighted to discover that you can smoke Camels liberally without tiring your taste!

Take Camels at any angle—they surely supply cigarette contentment beyond anything you ever experienced. They're a cigarette revelation!

Camels are sold everywhere in scientifically sealed packages of 20 cigarettes or ten packages (200 cigarettes) in a glassine-paper-covered carton. We strongly recommend this carton for the home or office supply or when you travel.

PROPOSED ORDINANCE.

An ordinance to be adopted or enacted:

"An ordinance to improve by pavement, the sidewalks, curbings, and gutters on the east and west sides of Sixth and Seventh streets, between First and Second avenues in the Town of Clanton, Alabama, East of the L. & N. R. R., and assessing all the costs of said improvements against the owners of lands abutting on said sidewalks so improved, giving the plans and materials to be used, in making said improvements.

Section 1. That the sidewalks on the east and west sides of Sixth and Seventh Streets, between First and Second avenues in the Town of Clanton, Alabama, be improved as follows, to-wit: That said sidewalks be paved with a good cement pavement 8 to 10 feet wide, and a good cement curbing, 6 to 30 inches high and 6 inches wide, and a good cement gutter 2 feet wide attached to said curbing and both parellel with said sidewalks.

Sec. 2. That said improvements shall begin at the northern edge or side of First Avenue shall be the beginning of said improvements on both Sixth and Seventh Streets, and the Southern edge or side of Second Avenue shall be the end of said improvements on both Sixth and Seventh Streets.

Sec. 3. That if any of said sidewalks have part of said improvements on them now, the remainder of said improvements shall be made to said old improvements, and the new improvements shall be made in conformity with the said old improvements, so that the said entire improvements will have neat appearance.

Sec. 4. That said improvements shall be made by the Town of Clanton, Alabama, by contract, after due and legal advertising for bids on said work, reserving the right to accept any one, or to reject any one or all bids.

Sec. 5. That all of the actual costs of said improvements, including all legal incidental expenses to same, shall be taxed or assessed against the owners of property abutting on said improvements, in proportion to the number of feet so abutting on said improvements, and allowing credit, for so much of said old improvements, which can be used, which may be on any part of said sidewalks to the owner of property which abutts on said old improvements.

Sec. 6. That estimates of the costs of said work be made and prepared by G. E. Plier, and left with Victor J. Heard, in his office, together with a drawing of said described Sixth and Seventh Streets after said improvements have been made, showing dimenions of said sidewalks, curbing and gutters, for inspection by the public. 12-11-2t

THE DOG LAW.

An Act.

For the protection of human beings and live stock of all kinds. To impose a license on dogs over the age of three months and to provide further that dogs running at large, except fox hounds and deer hounds wearing collars upon which the owners' name and addresses are printed or written, shall wear muzzles; to require the registration of all dogs by the Circuit Clerk in their respective counties; to provide for the necessary supplies to carry this act into effect and to provide for compensating the Circuit Clerk for his services as required herein; to provide that the funds derived from the license on dogs herein imposed by this act shall be paid to the State Treasurer and kept separate and apart, and shall be known as the dog tax fund, which fund shall be used in defraying the traveling expenses to and from the State Pasteur Institute of persons who have been bitten by mad dogs and who are unable to defray their own expenses, also their expenses while under treatment at this Institute; likewise the funds created by this act shall be used in remunerating persons who sustain loss from dogs crippling on killing their live stock and poultry.

BE IT ENACTED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF ALABAMA:

Section 1. That after the passage of this act it shall be unlawful for any person, firm, corporation, partnership or association to keep or harbor any dog, or dogs, within the State of Alabama, except as hereinafter provided.

Sec. 2. That every owner or keeper of a dog, or dogs, shall for each dog so owned or kept, file or cause to be filed, by mail or other wise, in the office of the Circuit Clerk of the county in which such dog or dogs are owned or kept, a verified application for registration on a blank to be furnished by the Circuit Clerk of the county for that purpose, a brief description of the dog or dogs to be registered, including the name, age, color and sex and breed of the dog to be registered, togethr with the name, race, postoffice address, precinct and school district of the owner of such dog.

Sec. 3. That upon the receipt of an application for registration of a dog or dogs, as provided in Section 2 hereof, the Circuit Clerk shall file such application in his office, with the name, race, postoffice address, precinct and school district of the owner of such dog or dogs, together with the facts stated m such application in a book or index to be kept by him for that purpose, under a district number to be assigned to each dog so registered by the Circuit Clerk, which book or index shall be open to the public for inspection during all reasonable business hours.

Sec. 4. That for each dog so owned or kept, the owner or keeper thereof shall pay an annual registration fee of one dollar ($1.00), provided, however, that for each female dog so owned or kept, the owner or keeper thereof shall pay an annual registration fee of two dollars ($2.00). And the several sums of money so charged and collected as registration fees under the provisions of this act shall be paid to the Circuit Clerk of the respective counties and by the Circuit Clerk shall be paid into the State Treasury. Said revenue so collected shall be kept separate and apart from all other funds, and shall be known as the dog tax fund. Any person bringing or causing to be brought into this State any dog, or dogs, of more than three montns of age for show, field trials or hunting or breeding purposes and shall keep such dog or dogs within the State for more than thirty days, must register such dog or dogs, and pay the license fee required, and whenever the ownership or possession of such dog licensed under provisions of this act is transferred from one person to another, except temporary transfer or loan for nunting purposes or breeding on field trials or show purposes, such transfer shall be shown on the record at the office of the Circuit Clerk, and it shall be unlawful for any person to harbor or permit to remain about his premises any dog or dogs not regularly licensed as required by this act.

Sec. 5. That upon the payment of the registration fees as provided in Section 4 of this act, the Circuit Clerk shall deliver to the owner or keeper of such dog a suitable metal tag, the size and description of which shall be selected by the Circuit Clerk, and which shall be of different shapes for eacn year.

Sec. 6. That the Circuit Clerk shall also provide receipts in two parts, the first to be stub retained by the Circuit Clerk, the other part to be delivered to the owner or keeper of the dog, with the tag which is provided for in Section 5 of this act. And each part of the receipt shall carry the same number as the tag with which it is delivered and must show the amount paid by the owner, or keeper, of the registered dog to the Circuit Clerk.

Sec. 8. That the registration provided for in this Act shall be on or before the 1st day of October, 1919, and shall be renewed in like manner on or before the 1st day of October of each succeeding year thereafter, each renewal to carry the payment by the owner or keeper of a dog as that required for the first or original registation.

Sc. 9. That all things required to be furnished by the Circuit Clerk for the carrying out of the provisions of this Act shall be paid for out of the general funds of the State, and for the services required by this Act to be rendered the Circuit Clerk is hereby authorized to collect a fee of twenty-five cents (25c) for each receipt issued with tax.

Sec. 10. That each dog registered and tagged in accordance with the provisions of this Act is hereby declared to be property, and the owner or keeper of such dog shall, in case such dog is stolen, injured or killed, have the same protection as to his property rights in such dog as any other live stock, and any peron who shall steal, kill, injure, or entice away from the owner thereof, any dog registered and tagged as provided in this Act, shall be subject to the same penalty as for the same offence committeed against any other live stock.

Sec. 11. That it is hereby made the duty of all sheriffs and constables and license inspectors to kill on sight any dog found by them to be running at large, not wearing the identification tag showing the registered number of said dog, or not wearing a muzzle provided by this Act. And any sheriff or constable who fails to discharge the duty imposed by this section within five days after a dog has been reported to him as running at large, contrary to the provision of this act, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be fined not less than five nor more then twenty-five dollars for each dog, reported, as provided by this section which he fails to kill. Provided, however, that no such officer shall be convicted under this act if it is made to appear by satisfactory evidence that he has made reasonable and deligent effort or efforts to kill such dog. For each dog so killed, the sheriff or constable shall receive a fee of fifty cents, payable out of the dog tax rund.

Sec. 12. That the registration fee provided for in Section 4 of this Act shall be due on the 1st day of October of each year and delinquent on the 15th day of October of the same year, and if not paid by the 15th day of October the Circuit Clerk is hereby required to collect double the amount of fee provided for in Section 4 hereof. And sheriffs and constables shall be required to ascertain and report to the Probate Judge all delinquencies in the registration and payment of the registration fees required by this act, and shall be entitled in the case of each such delinquency reported by him to a fee of $2.50 which shall be taxed and collected as costs in each case of delinquency, and the license inspectors of the various counties in the State are hereby charged with the collection and enforcement of this act in regard to delinquent dog tax licenses, as they are now required to do as to all other delinquent licenses, and for services under this section they shall receive one-half of the additional fee required by this section, which said amount shall be paid to the license inspector by the Circuit Clerk when collected by him, or when turned over to him by the license inspector, if collected by said inspector.

Sec. 13. That persons who have been bitten by mad dogs and who furnish satisfactory proof of the same to the Circuit Clerk of the Circuit Clerk of the county in which such persons were so bitten, may also, upon furnishing to said Circuit Clerk good and sufficient proof that such person or persons is not financially able to pay his or her expenses for treatment at the Paste ur Institute of this State, at Montgomery, may have his or her expenses paid to and from Montgomery, likewise their expenses while under treatment at said Institute, payable out of the dog tax fund by the State Treasurer upon the certificate of said Circuit Clerk upon warrant drawn by the State Auditor.

Sec. 14. That the dog tax fund shall be and the same is hereby appropriated for remunerating the residents of said county for any loss they may sustain from dogs killing or crippling their sheep, lambs or other live stock and poultry, and for paying the expenses necessary to carry this act into effect.

Sec. 15. That each dog over three months old running at large when not in company with persons hunting or in charge of the owner, or a person to whom it has been entrusted, shall wear a muzzle of some approved type so as to prevent said dog from biting; and any dog found running at large, except fox hounds, or deer hounds, wearing collars upon which the names and addresses of the owners are printed, or written, without a muzzle as provided for in this section, shall be killed by the constable of the beat, or the sheriff and license inspector, as provided by this act. Every dog over three months old shall be confined at night; that is, from sundown to sunup, either being tied securely, fastened in a house, or enclosed in a kennel, with the exception of such dogs accompanying their masters when night hunting, and upon the return of the hunter his hunting dogs shall be confined until sunup.

Sec. 16. That if it be found that the fund arising from this act for any one year shall be insufficient to pay the expenses incident to the execution of this law, and then to pay the whole amount of the expnses of poor persons, who have been bitten by mad dogs, in attending the Pasteur Institute for treatment, and of damages inflicted by dogs on sheep, lambs, or other live stock and poultry in any county in which damages occur, each sufferer shall be paid out of said fund in proportion to the loss sustained.

Sec. 17. That it shall be the duty of the justice of the peace in the several counties of the State, on the application of the owner of sheep, lambs, or other live stock, or his agent, which have been killed or wounded by dogs not his own, to issue summons to two reputable and discreet persons, who being duly sworn, shall go forthwith to the premises where the sheep, lambs, or other live stock and poultry may be, and examined into the facts and the justices of the claim, and appraise the amount of the damages sustained by the owner, each appraiser to be paid fifty cents for such service out of the dog tax fund, and said appraisers shall reurn accurate statement, under their hands, to a justice of the peace, who, if it appears that such sheep, lambs or other live stock and poultry were killed or crippled by dogs not belonging to the owner of said sheep, lambs or other live stock that no claims for the killing or maiming of live stock and poultry and poultry, shall approve said return by endorsing same and shall forward all papers to the Circuit Clerk of his respective county, who shall receive the same and present them to the State Auditor, provided, however; shall be allowed unless the owners shall report such killing or maiming to a justice of the peace, or other office authorized to take oaths, or before whom affidavits can be made.

Thomas A. Edison wants to give you an Amberola Christmas

Read This Remarkable Offer!

Edison, the greatest inventor of the age—whose numerous inventions have brought greater comfort and enjoyment into the daily lives of countless millions of people—has expressed the wish to see a phonograph in every home in the U. S. A. this Christmas!

Edison knows how much brightness and cheer music brings to the family circle—how a phonograph makes home more attractive to young and old alike—and he doesn't want money to stand in the way of any family obtaining this supreme enjoyment.

That is why we are able to offer you Edison's New Diamond Amberola—the world's greatest phonograph value—on practically your own terms!

Never mind how heavily the Christmas season will tax your financial resources—you don't have to go without a phonograph a day longer—you can have an Amberola in your home right away.

Come today to our store, and bring the family along. Pick out your Amberola and a selection of records to fill your Christmas with music. Then tell us just what terms of payment will suit you best and we will come to a satisfactory agreement. Whereupon we will send the Amberola and records to your home at once, and you will have the merriest Christmas your family has ever known.

The genius of Edison makes his Amberola superior to ordinary phonographs and "talking machines" in purity of tone; in the permanent Diamond Point Reproducer (no needles to change); in the wonderful Amberol Records that are almost unbreakable and everlasting. You can get all the world's best music on Amberol Records; famous opera singers, latest popular songs and dances, bands, ballads, hymns. New records issued every month. Amberolas are priced from $41.00 up.

This offer open until Christmas day—unless our stock of Amberolas is exhausted before then. So make sure of yours—come see us without delay.

THORSBY ITEMS

Thorsby [illegible]te will close on Friday, Decen[illegible]th, for the Christmas holidays. Most of the boarding students are expecting to leave for their homes, or a visit with relatives, on either Friday or Saturday. School will reopen on January 6th. The second semester will begin February 2nd.

We regret to note the death of Mr. Morris Robinson, father of Mrs. A. K. Horn, who passed away early Thursday morning. Mr. Robinson had been in feeble health for some time, and although his going was sudden and a shock to his family and friends, yet it was not unexpected. We extend to the family our sincere sympathy in their sorrow.

Miss May Stoddard was in Birmingham Thursday and Friday of last week attending a meeting of the Inter-Church World Movement. The conference was held in the auditorium of the First Presbyterian Church. Dr. Laird, pastor of the First Methodist Church, Baltimore, was the presiding officer.

Revs. Chas. T. Rogers and E. W. Butler attended a Congregational Council at Ashland last Saturday.

The Baptist Sunday School is planning a "white" Christmas this year, the program to be given next Sunday night. Mrs. Piper has charge of the program, which promises to be a good one. The public is invited.

Regular preaching services at the Baptist Church on next Sunday morning and evening.

Agnes and Sumner Gerald are expected home Saturday of this week to spend the Christmas holidays with some folks. They are both students at Piedmont College, Demorest, Ga., this year.

Mr. and Mrs. Norton are expecting Mrs. Norton's sister, Miss Lenore Goodwin and her little niece, Lenore, to be their guests during the holidays.

Mises Margaret Rutherford and Mabel Craig will spend the Christmas vacation visiting various points of interest on the east coast of Florida. Miss Jenkins will spend her vacation with her parents in Demorest, Ga., and Miss Stoddard will probably be with home folks in Iowa for the holidays.

Mrs. Piper was called to Birmingham recently on account of the death of her sister. While there she was taken sick and is now in a hospital there. Her son, Mr. Ed Piper, spent a day or so with her this week. It is hoped that she will soon recover and be able to be home again.

Death of Mr. Robinson.

Morris B. Robinson died very suddenly at the home of his daughter, Mrs. A. K. Horn, of Thorsby, Thursday morning, December 11th. Mr. Robinson was born in DeKalb County, Indiana, October 9th, 1838, and at the time of his death was 81 years, two months and two days old. He had spent the greater part of his life in his native state, but after the death of his wife on July 8th, 1911, he came to Thorsby to make his home with his dauyhter, Mrs. Horn.

Mr. Robinson had lived a devoted Christian life for many years and died in full faith and truth in the promises of his precious Saviour. Reading his Bible was a great source of comfort and consolation to him in his declining years.

The funeral services were conducted at the home Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock conducted by Rev. James Davenport. Interment in the city cemetery.

Mr. Robinson leaves a daughter, one son, four grandchildren, and five great-grandchildren to mourn his loss, but their loss is his eternal gain.

Reasons!

Why you should use Cardui, the woman's tonic, for your troubles, have been shown in thousands of letters from actual users of this medicine, who speak from personal experience. If the results obtained by other women for so many years have been so uniformly good, why not give Cardui a trial?

The Woman's Tonic

Mrs. Mary J. Irvin, of Cullen, Va., writes: "About 11 years ago, I suffered untold misery with female trouble, bearing-down pains, headache, numbness . . . I would go for three weeks almost bent double . . . My husband went to Dr. —— for Cardui . . . After taking about two bottles I began going around and when I took three bottles I could do all my work." E-80

LITTLE THINGS.

It is not the gift of a Croesus nor the courtesy of kings,
Nor the favor of a Caesar,
That gives a poor heart wings,
But a landscape, warm and feeling
Which peace to another brings.

It is not the gift, but the spirit
In which the gift is given,
Which plants the tree, whose branches
Lift arms of hope to heaven;
'Tis the cup of water, held there
To the lips that cannot ask
And the eyes that speak the "thank you,"
Which glorifies your task.

'Tis the homely little duty,
Performed with cheerful grace,
Which sometimes helps a brother
To reach a higher place.
'Tis grand to do the great things,
Yes noblest, and best,
Is the chance to help another—
For that gives the peace and rest.

NOTICE OF ELECTION.

Notice is hereby given that an election will be held at the various precincts of Chilton County in the State of Alabama, on Monday, December 29, 1919, at which time the qualified voters of this state shall vote for or against the adoption of the following amendment to the Constitution of the State of Alabama, to-wit:

The municipalities of Tuscumbia, Sheffield, Hurtsboro, Russellville, Lanett, Demopolis, Pell City, Heflin, Columbiana, Carrolton, Opelika, Fairhope, Pine Hill, Scottsboro, Stevenson, Ashland, Brewton, Pollard, Flomaton, Atmore, Inglenook, Tuskegee, Aliceville, Gordo, Reform, Livingston, Camden, Monroeville, Phoenix and Girard, Birmingham, Bessemer, Florence, Huntsville, Selma, Fairfied, Anniston, Athens, Jacksonville, Auburn, Carbon Hill, and LaFayette, in the State of Alabama, shall have the power and right to levy and collect a tax of one-half of one per centum in any one year on property situated therein, based on the valuation of such property as assessed for state taxation for the tax year ending on the 30th day of September next succeeding the levy; provided that for the purpose of paying bonds issued and outstanding at the time of the adoption of this amendment and the interest thereon, and for the purpose of paying bonds which may be issued after the adoption of this amendment and the interest thereon, an additional tax of one-half of one per centum may be levied and collected by said corporations; provided further, that a majority of the qualified electors of any of said municipal corporations voting at an election called for that purpose may vote a special tax not to exceed one-half of one per centum in any one year for any special purpose or purposes, which tax shall be used only for the purpose or purposes for which same is levied and collected, provided however that the total tax to be levied by any of said municipal corporations shall not exceed one and one-half (1 1-2) per centum in any one year. Provided further, that the adoption of this amendment shall in no wise affect, limit, modify, abridge or impair the power, authority or right of either of said municipal corporatons, to levy and collect the special school taxes, now or hereafter vested in or conferred upon them or any of them under the Constitution or any amendment thereto; including the power of said city of Selma to levy and collect the taxes for schools and school purposes vested in and conferred upon said city of Selma by the amendment to the Constitution of Alabama adopted thereto at the general election held in November, 1916, and which was submitted under law number 315, General Laws, 1915, page 337. Each election held under the provisions hereof shall be ordered, held, canvassed and may be contested in the same manner as is or may be provided by the law applicable to the municipal corporations for elections to authorize the issuance of municipal bonds. The ballots used at such election shall contain the words: "For ..... excess rate of taxation for the year (or years) .....;" and "Against ..... excess rate of taxation for the year (or years) .....;" The rate of taxation proposed in excess of the rate of one (1) per centum to be shown in the blank space provided therefor and the year or years in which the proposed rate is to apply to be shown in the blank space provided therefor; and in the event different excess rates are proposed for different years the words mentioned shall be repeated as often as may be necessary to show separately the different rates proposed to be applied to the respective years. And the voter shall record his choice whether for or against the excess rate or rates shown by placing a cross mark before or after the words expressing his choice. Nothing herein contained shall in any wise change or affect the rights of any holder of bonds of said municipal corporations heretofore issued. Elections to authorize the levy of such special tax may be held as often as ordered by the governing body of the municipality, but when a proposition is submitted to the electors to levy a special tax for a specific purpose, and if such proposition is defeated no second election for the same purpose shall be held in one year thereafter.

Witness my hand, this 24th day of November, 1919.

The year is fast coming to a close and the first of January 1920 ought to be a great day among colored people, for it marks the 57th anniversity of our emancipation. The progress of the race within that time has been phenomenal.

It has produced many men and women of distinction who are honorably filling their places all over the country. But we must remember that we owe our advancement mainly to the good white people of the North and South as evidenced by such institutions of learning as Howard, Washington, Hampton, Va., Tuskegee, Tuskegee, State Normal of Montgomery and Huntsville—institutions fostered and maintained mostly by white philanthropists of the north and state Boards of the South.

Although we have made great advancements, yet there is much for us to accomplish. We are only a few rounds from the bottom of the ladder. This should not discourage us. A race cannot be made in 57 years.

The civilization of the great Anglo-Saxon race antedates 500 or 600 years before its landing on the New England coast, yet it finds that it has much to do yet, because as the ages roll by, new and peculiar contributions are added to civilization for them to decipher. We are almost in the midst of the Xmas season. Our local merchants and drug stores have a large stock of goods to accommodate the trade. In my first write-up I said we ought to patronize home enterprise, because we live here and our friends are here. That was well demonstrated last week in my canvass among the white people for funds for our school. Every business man as can be seen from the lists published willingly helped us.

Things are as a general rule cheaper in smaller towns than in large cities, because the cost of doing business is less.

PROCLAMATION

STATE OF ALABAMA.
Executive Department.

Whereas the Legislature of Alabama at its regular session in the year 1919 has ordered a special election by the qualified electors of the State of Alabama upon a certain proposed Amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, which is herein set forth, to be held at a date to be fixed by the Governor not less than three months from and after the final adjournment of said regular session:

And Whereas notice of such election together with the proposed Amendment is required by law to be given by proclamation of the Governor:

Now, therefore, I, Thomas E. Kilby, Governor of the State of Alabama, do hereby give notice, direct and proclaim that the election to be held, as ordered by the Legislature in said regular session, at a date to be fixed by the Governor after the expiration of three months from the final adjournment of said regular session of the Legislature at which said Amendment was proposed and said election ordered, will be held on to-wit, Monday, December 29th, 1919, for the vote of the qualified electors of the State of Alabama in the manner, form and places required by law upon the following Amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, to-wit:

Sec. 194½. (A) The payment of the poll tax mentioned in the Constitution of Alabama shall not be required of any person who served in the military or naval service of the United States for a period of not less than four months between January 1, 1917, and November 11, 1918, and who has been or who may be honorably discharged from said service and who was a qualified elector, except as to payment of poll taxes, at the time he entered said service, or who has since become such qualified elector, except as to payment of poll taxes. Any such person is exempted from the payment of all poll taxes until September 30, 1923. (B) Certificates of exemption from payment of such poll taxes shall be issued to persons entitled thereto under regulations prescribed by the Governor.

In witness whereof I hereunto set my hand and cause the Great Seal of the State of Alabama to be affixed at the Capitol in the city of Montgomery, on this the 30th day of October, 1919.

DR. SEALE HARRIS TELLS OF WORK OF NEAR EAST RELIEF

In accepting the chairmanship for Alabama of the Near East Relief, the organization formed under the name of the American Committee for Armenian-Syrian Relief, for the purpose of helping the victims of Turkish cruelty in Western Asia, Dr. Seale Harris, editor of the Southern Medical Journal and former Lieutenant-Colonel of the American Expeditionary Forces, made the following statement:

"In accepting the state chairmanship of the Near East Relief, I feel that I am offered an opportunity to be of service to a people whose claim is unquestioned and whose need is unsurpassed—the starving millions of Armenia and the Near East, including a quarter of a million orphan children who have absolutely no means of support and no one to whom they can look for help except to the people of America, who have always been their friends and helpers.

"While in Paris I was closely associated with Dr. E. B. Watson, Dean of Roberts College, in Constantinople, and I learned to know quite well several members of the National Committee from Armenia, who came to Paris to see President Wilson, to urge that the United States become the mandatory power to the peoples who live in Aremnia and Turkey. I heard from these men, who have spent years, some of them their entire lives, in Turkey and Armenia, of such dreadful tales of suffering and death of the only Christian people in the Near East, that I determined on my return to America, to help get the facts before the people of the United States regarding the cruelties which the Armenians and Syrians have suffered at the hands of the Turks, and of the starvation that those who are not already dead are now facing.

"The Near East Relief, formerly known as the American Committee for Armenian and Syrian Relief, has been and is still carrying on a wonderfully efficient work, relieving distress, feeding the hungry, clothing the naked, caring for the widow and orphan, conducting hospitals, rescuing Christian girls from the harems of the Turks, Kurds and Tartars—the field of their activities is so broad as to defy description and is known the world over for its effectiveness.

"The Committee was formed because during the war the American Red Cross was not allowed in Turkish territory—and all this country was then in the hands of the Turks. The Red Cross, however, has helped the work from the very first and we feel sure will continue to do so, but the administration of the work and the raising of the funds is in the hands of the Near East Relief. The Red Cross is releasing a number of specially trained nurses for the work and they are taking up their tasks in the thirty eight hospitals now being conducted in Armenia and Syria by the Near East Relief.

"The national chairman of the Near East Relief, Dr. James L. Barton, has just returned from a tour of inspection of the work and the stories of suffering that he brings back are indeed staggering—it is hard for our American people to realize that such suffering can exist in the world today. That children are living like animals on scraps and offal—that mothers drown their babies because their withered breasts will not furnish them nourishment—that men, women and children eat grass like Nebuchadnezzar of old—that nakedness is not a reproach in a land that has known so much of it for the past five years—these things are past the ken of happy, prosperous Americans who have every necessity and luxury.

"But these things exist today in the Near East—and will continue to exist until these people have the opportunity of repatriating themselves and of planting and harvesting one crop, so that they may be able to feed themselves. But eight hundred thousand people in Armenia alone are refugees from home. They are being repatriated as rapidly as possible, but in many cases to send a woman or child back to the town where they are supposed to live simply means sending them to sure death, as unless there is a supply depot of the Near East Relief at that point, they will have no means of supply during the winter which is now on them—for the home towns are wrecks, devastated wastes in many cases. Where there is any assurance that the refugees can be taken care of or can take care of themselves when they arrive at home, they are sent there with a supply of food that will last them until they can get supplies of their own.

"One marvelous feature of the work is that these refugees much prefer being given the opportunity of earning their support to being objects of charity. They are a thrifty people and have never been beggars. For that reason, the Near East Relief, is opening many rug factories, shops for the making of clothes and shoes—small industries that will occupy the hands of these people and that will help to re-establish normal conditions once more.

ALABAMA RAPIDLY MOVING TOWARDS REPUBLICAN GOAL

CONSTANT TREND IN DIRECTION OF PARTY OF AMERICANISM HAS RECEIVED IMPETUS

Young Men Join Republicans

Broadening of Views and the Clear Political Perceptions Hasten Day of Full Control.

Washington, Dec. 23—The constant trend of the state or Alabama to the Republican party has received a tremendous impetus during the past year according to Pope M. Long, Republican State Chairman, who attended the meeting of the Association of State Chairmen in Washington.

"We now have twenty Republican counties in Alabama," said Mr. Long, "and although this is not enough to control the state, we are making very rapid strides toward the day when Alabama will have the same opportunity to select its public men from contending Reublican and Democratic tickets that is now enjoyed by the northern states. A large majority of our young men who were Democrats when they went away to war have come back to Alabama to join the Republican party. They are all from Democratic families, but they have seen a lot of the outside world, their views have broadened, and they have had a political awakening.

"We have no doubt that we actually carried the seventh Congaressional district in the recent special election. We carried five out of the seven counties in the district, but in two other counties we were not sufficiently represented, and the Democrats managed to count enough votes to offset our majority in five counties. However, this special election had a splendid effect in revealing the greater strength of the Republican party in Alabama, and the fight goes on energetically and enthusiastically."

ILLINOIS REPUBLICANS APPROVE TREATY STAND

Rank and File of Party in that State Stand Solidly Behind Senate Action.

Washington, Dec. 24—Mayor Walter H. Wood, of Cairo, Illinois, who has been in Washington mingling with the Republican politicians and also attending the waterways meeting, says the Republicans of southern Illinois are solidly for the stand taken by the Rpublicans in the Senate on the peace treaty.

Mayor Wood is a well-known Republican leader in his state who has his ear to the ground and knows what the rank and file of the people are thinking and talking.

GREATEST CONVENTION IN THE HISTORY OF PARTY

Republican Conclave at Chicago in June So Considered by Some Prominent Participants.

Washington, December 23.—The greatest political convention ever held in this country—that is a fact assured with respect to the republican convention at Chicago the 8th of June.

While it has long been plain that the convention would be one of exceptional magnitude it has become more than ever that this will be the case since the national committee at its recent meeting at Washington, where the time and place were fixed, discussed in a general way the plans for it.

With the announcement of the time and place, demands for seating have already begun to flow in to the convention committee, headed by National Committeeman A. T. Hert, of Kentucky.

Not only is there nation-wide interest stirred among republicans but the fact the women are to have so prominent a part in the campaign this year will tend to bring about a large attendance of women at the Chicago Convention.

National Chairman Hays said there was no doubt the forthcoming convention would be the greatest one ever held in this country.

Mr. Hert expressed the same opinion. Mr. Hert said that he had never before in his political life had such a great early demand for convention tickets.

The Convention committee will be called together soon by Mr. Hert and it will begin active planning for the convention. The standing committee of newspaper correspondents at the Capitol will have a representative at the convention to make known the wants of the press.

MT. CREEK GRAPHITE MILL BURNED TUESDAY MORNING

Mr. R. L. Clark of Mt. Creek, was in Clanton Tuesday. He reported that fire about four o'clock Tuesday morning completly destroyed the mill and manufacturing plant of the Flaketown Graphite Co., located about three miles east of Mt. Creek. The mill in connection with nearby graphite mines has been in operation at Mt. Creek for several years. The destruction was complete, and is the second time the plant has burned.

ADMINISTRATION IS UNABLE TO BLAME THE SENATE ACTION

ABORTIVE ATTEMPT THROUGH ATTORNEY GENERAL TO DUCK SUGAR RESPONSIBILITY

Design Balked By Tinkham

Congressman Say Statements Made By Cabinet Officer are Very Misleading.

Washington, Dec. 23—The attempt of the Administration, through the Attorney General, to shift the public blame for the present shortage of sugar from the shoulders of the President into the Senate and House has been promptly balked by Representative Tinkham, of Massachusetts, in a speech before the House on this important topic.

The Attorney General, in a recent statement, lamented the fact that the administration would lose all control over the sugar situation after January 1 through the dissolution of the Sugar Equalization Board, and sought to create the impression that Congress not having provided for its cintinuance beyond that date was responsible for the present shortage of sugar and cinsequent high prices. In reply to this statement, Mr. Tinkham stated emphatically that it has been within the power of the President for many months to assure the country an adequate supply of sugar by purchasing the Cuban crop, and that his failure to do so, although repeatedly urged to act in the matter, was the sole reason for the present depletion of the country's sugar supply, and for the increased scarcity which it must face for many months.

"The statement of the Attorney General is not only misleading, but false—false because the Sugar Equalization Board had the right with the assent of the President to purchase, and misleading because the country would draw from his statement the conclusion that Congress was responsible for the situation that exists and not the president.

"Had the President done as requested in the two communications received by him from the equalization board, then the price of ugar would have been stabilized and largely controlled in price, as the price of the Cuban crop sets the basic price for all sugar in the United States. There was all the law and facilities necessary to do this thing.

"I want now to draw statistically a few conclusion which result from the President not doing as requested by the Sugar Equalization Board. When the first letter was sent to the President, the average price of Cuban sugar was 6½ cents per pound.

"The price of the same sugar now is about 8½ cents per pound, and is constantly rising. The American consumption of sugar is about 4,000,000 tons per annum, and the difference of 2 cents per pound amounts to $180,000,000, which must be paid by the American people over what might have been paid. As the price of Cuban sugar will undoubtedly increase from 8½ to 10½ or 12½ cents per pound, there will be an additional cost to the American people over what that cost might have been, if the advice of the Equaliation Board had been followed by the President, of $360,000,000 or $540,000,000 for the next year."

1920 NATIONAL CENSUS TO BE PUT TO FINISH

The Fourteen Decennial Census, to which President Wilson has called the attention of the Nation in his Proclamation made public today, is to be the biggest, best and most complete census of the United States ever taken if the plans of the Census Bureau do not go awry.

Director of the Census Sam L. Rogers has announced that everything is in readiness to begin the canvassing campaign that during the month of January, 1920, will cover every mansion, every cottage and every hut in the country. An army of 87,000 enumerators, under the direction of 372 census supervisors, will be engaged in making the count. Every person in the land will be enumerated and the names, ages, birthplaces, and occupations of all of Uncle Sam's neices and nephews will be set down and forwarded to Washington.

Many other questions concerning home tenure, citizenship, martial status, literacy, sex, color and race are contained in the population schedule which the enumerators will fill out from the answers given them.

Farmers also will be asked the questions contained in the agriculture schedule relating to their farms. These questions cover farm tenure, farm products, values of farm lands, builders, implements and improvements, field crops, garden products, farm expenses, live-stock, poultry, bees, dairy products, improved and unimproved land, farm drainage and irrigation—in fact, all phases of the farming industry are covered.

Even the family Ford will be counted, as in fact, will all automobiles and tractors on farms. Questions as to telephones and electric-light, gas and water plant also are included in the group of inquiries which fall under the general heading of "farm facilities," the purpose of the government in collecting information of this character being to show the modern improvements installed on farms during the past decade. Information Confidential.

The Census Bureau desires to emphasize the fact that the information gathered in the Census is for general statistical purposes only and that such information cannot be used as a basis for taxation. Nor can such information be used to harm any person in any way. This is pointed out in the President's Proclamation.

As a matter of fact, the identity of individuals is lost as soon as the filled-out schedules are received at Washington. For upon reaching there the information is transferred from the sheets to cards. This is done by machinery and names are discarded entirely. Moreover, every person connected with the taking of the Census is prohibited by Federal law from divulging any information given them in the performance of their duties.

The Bureau of the Census has always had the willing co-operation of the public in the past and confidently looks forward to that same spirit of co-operation for the Census of 1920.

CONVENTION TO BE MOST NOTABLE IN HISTORY OF PARTY

PRELIMINARY PLANS FOR NEXT REPUBLICAN MEETING MADE ON A VERY LARGE SCALE

All Pary Workers Welcome

Seats will be Provided for Everyone Who will be Responsible for The Spirited Campaign.

Washington, Dec. and ...minary plans for the P... ...al convention ... June 8 as outli... ...n Will Hays at the ... ...g of the Republican Nat... ...committee in this city, indicat... that this will be one of the most notable conventions ever held in the history of the party. Certainly it will be the largest, in the number of party workers entitled to official seat in the convention, for although the number of delegates has been slightly reduced, Chairman Haye has suggested, and the suggestion has been enthusiastically endorsed, that seats of honor shall be providede in the convention for those party workers in each state who will be officially responsible for the spirited campaign which will follow the selection of a party condidate at Chicago.

Dept. of Archives and History, Thos. M. Owen, Director. MONTGOMERY, ALA.

The list will include the state chairman of each state, the head of the womens division of the Republican party in each state, and the chairmen of the women's branch of the ways and means committees. Mr. Hays believes that these party workers should be given every recognition at Chicago, and that they will thus be better prepared to take up the work of the campaign. The Chairman announced that although the auditorium at Chicago, in which the convention will be held, had been enlarged, it was his purpose to have just as many of the leading party workers in attendance as he could crowd into the floor, and that he believed the convention would be a record-braker for attendance and enthusiasm.

NEED LOSE NO SLEEP OVER EUROPE'S STAND

Senator Brandegee Believes What all the Nations want is Chance to Accept Reservations.

Washington, Dec. 23.—According to Senator Brandegee of Connecticut none need lose a moment's sleep over the question of the European nations not accepting the League of Nations with the reservations proposed by the Republicans. Senator Brandegee believe that Europe will accept the Americanized pact if given the chance to do it.

Famous Women Adopt Armenian Waifs

MRS. CARRIE CHAPMAN CATT

MRS. OLIVER HARRIMAN

ADOPTED ARMENIAN WAIFS

There are at least three happy little Armenians in this holiday season among the more than a quarter of a million pitiable little waifs who are innocent victims of Turkish barbarity. These three have found fairy godmothers in these famous American women, Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, wife of the President; Mrs. Oliver Harriman and Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt. It is hoped that thousands of other American women will follow these distinguished leaders and signalize the glad holiday season in America by making happy in the same way thousands of other little orphans in the far-off stricken land where they now are being cared for by Near East Relief, 1 Madison Avenue, N. Y.

NOT SICK AND NOT WELL

In The Peculiar Situation Described, ZIRON Iron Tonic Is Found Helpful.

It often happens that the organs of your body do not function properly, for some reason or other. There is nothing really wrong, and you are not sick. But certainly you are not well, either.

If you are in such a condition, read what Mr. Wm. M. Bass, Rt. 1, Crossville, Ala., did, and try Ziron Iron Tonic, as he did. Mr. Bass says:

"I am nearly always pretty well and strong and do not need much medicine excepting for headaches. But, recently, when I had not been feeling very well for a while, I knew I needed some sort of medicine to make me all right.

I took Ziron and it made me strong and well again."

Ziron puts iron into the blood, and, by doing this, may prevent a serious attack of illness, which you are liable to "catch" at any time if your system is weakened or your condition below par.

Ziron has well proven its value as a tonic. Try it when you feel the least bit out of sorts, not quite as good as usual, tired and weary.

Your druggist sells Ziron on a money-back guarantee. ZN 10

PROPOSED ORDINANCE.

An ordinance to be adopted or enacted:

"An ordinance to improve by pavement, the sidewalks, curbings, and gutters on the east and west sides of Sixth and Seventh streets, between First and Second avenues in the Town of Clanton, Alabama, East of the L. & N. R. R., and assessing all the costs of said improvements against the owners of lands abutting on said sidewalks so improved, giving the plans and materials to be used, in making said improvements.

Section 1. That the sidewalks on the east and west sides of Sixth and Seventh Streets, between First and Second avenues in the Town of Clanton, Alabama, be improved as follows, to-wit: That said sidewalks be paved with a good cement pavement 8 to 10 feet wide, and a good cement curbing, 6 to 30 inches high and 6 inches wide, and a good cement gutter 2 feet wide attached to said curbing and both parellel with said sidewalks.

Sec. 2. That said improvements shall begin at the northern edge or side of First Avenue shall be the beginning of said improvements on both Sixth and Seventh Streets, and the Southern edge or side of Second Avenue shall be the end of said improvements on both Sixth and Seventh Streets.

Sec. 3. That if any of said sidewalks have part of said improvements on them now, the remainder of said improvements shall be made to said old improvements, and the new improvements shall be made in conformity with the said old improvements, so that the said entire improvements will have neat appearance.

Sec. 4. That said improvements shall be made by the Town of Clanton, Alabama, by contract, after due and legal advertising for bids on said work, reserving the right to accept any one, or to reject any one or all bids.

Sec. 5. That all of the actual costs of said improvements, including all legal incidental expenses to same, shall be taxed or assessed against the owners of property abutting on said improvements, in proportion to the number of feet so abutting on said improvements, and allowing credit, for so much of said old improvements, which can be used, which may be on any part of said sidewalks to the owner of property which abutts on said old improvements.

Sec. 6. That estimates of the costs of said work be made and prepared by G. E. Plier, and left with Victor J. Heard, in his office, together with a drawing of said described Sixth and Seventh Streets after said improvements have been made, showing dimenions of said sidewalks, curbing and gutters, for inspection by the public. 12-11-2t

ALLENBY STOPS GRAFT OF TURK

Persecution of Armenians and Confiscation of Property Prevented by English Officer.

The most arbitrary city boss in the world, it seems safe to say, as well as the most unscrupulous politician of modern times, has turned up in Aintab, Armenia, to judge from an official report recently made by Major Stephen Trowbridge, under Gen. Edmund H. H. Allenby's orders.

He is a Turk named Besim Bey. Until the Near East Relief agents stopped him, he practiced upon the terrified Armenians such forms of super-graft as might well make every other corrupt politician in the world green with envy, and such cruelties as make all other heartless rulers, from Nero down, seem sweet and gentle characters. His office was that of Municipal Chief Accountant of Aintab; but, as all dishonest office-holders know, it isn't the job that matters, but the sugar-plums that go with it. Besim Bey plucked sugar-plums with both hands, night and day.

Even inspired city bosses have their day. Besim Bey's came when the Near East Relief agents found that no thorough Armenian relief work could be done in that city while such conditions of terrorization existed. General MacAndrew ordered the arrest and removal of the six worst Turks in the ring that ruled the city, and Besim Bey qualified, as usual, for first place.

THOUGHT MY LIVER WAS ON STRIKE

Head Was Giddy; Spots Danced Before My Eyes; Breath Foul; Was Tired and Drowsy. Dreco Wiped It Out.

"I have suffered for quite a while with sluggish liver; at times I would get so dizzy I would have to stop and sit down; spots would dance before my eyes; I had headaches and a bad taste in my mouth; my appetite became poor, and my food did not digest nor give me strength; my stomach was often sour, while gas and bloating caused me much uneasiness. The pains often extended around to my back and limbs so that it was an effort to keep on with my work," says Mr. V. T. Burton of 1001 Lambert Ave., Mobile, Ala.

"There was so much talk about and praise being given Decro I decided to try it. The first bottle proved to me it was a good medicine, as it soothed my stomach and relieved the gas-forming. I continued the treatment, and never have a dizzy spell nor see the spots before my eyes; my bowels act regular; my appetite is fine, and the food digests and gives me strength. I don't have any more pains in my back or limbs, and haven't had a headache in a long time. Dreco is a good medicine, and I gladly add my words of praise for it."

Dreco acts on the liver in a smooth, gentle manner, gradually working off the excess bile day by day. It is neither strong nor harsh, and does not excite the muscles of the bowels, as strong cathartics do. It tones up the digestive organs and relieves gas on the stomach; puts an end to constipation; increases the appetite; gives strength to weak kidneys; restores tired nerves, and induces sound sleep. Dreco is a great blood purifier and system cleanser.

Dreco is sold by all druggists and is highly recommended in this city by

PROCLAMATION

STATE OF ALABAMA.
Executive Department.

Whereas the Legislature of Alabama at its regular session in the year 1919 has ordered a special election by the qualified electors of the State of Alabama upon a certain proposed Amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, which is herein set forth, to be held at a date to be fixed by the Governor not less than three months from and after the final adjournment of said regular session:

And Whereas notice of such election together with the proposed Amendment is required by law to be given by proclamation of the Governor:

Now, therefore, I, Thomas E. Kilby, Governor of the State of Alabama, do hereby give notice, direct and proclaim that the election to be held, as ordered by the Legislature in said regular session, at a date to be fixed by the Governor after the expiration of three months from the final adjournment of said regular session of the Legislature at which said Amendment was proposed and said election ordered, will be held on to-wit, Monday, December 29th, 1919, for the vote of the qualified electors of the State of Alabama in the manner, form and places required by law upon the following Amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, to-wit:

Sec. 194½. (A) The payment of the poll tax mentioned in the Constitution of Alabama shall not be required of any person who served in the military or naval service of the United States for a period of not less than four months between January 1, 1917, and November 11, 1918, and who has been or who may be honorably discharged from said service and who was a qualified elector, except as to payment of poll taxes, at the time he entered said service, or who has since become such qualified elector, except as to payment of poll taxes. Any such person is exempted from the payment of all poll taxes until September 30, 1923. (B) Certificates of exemption from payment of such poll taxes shall be issued to persons entitled thereto under regulations prescribed by the Governor.

In witness whereof I hereunto set my hand and cause the Great Seal of the State of Alabama to be affixed at the Capitol in the city of Montgomery, on this the 30th day of October, 1919.

Article XX. Section 1-A.—That for the establishment, construction and maintenance of a permanent, excellent and complete system of State Highways, public roads and bridges in this State serviceable for three hundred and sixty-five days in the year, and to enable the State to secure the national appropriations for public highways there shall be issued and sold by the State of Alabama interest bearing negotiable State bonds, not to exceed the sum of twenty-five million ($25,000,000) dollars, that said bonds shall bear interest at the rate of not exceeding five per centum per annum, payable annually, or semi-annually, shall mature serially or otherwise not less than three nor more than forty years from the date of their issuance, shall be made payable out of the State Road and Bridge fund which fund is created for that purpose, shall be executed, sold and delivered on behalf of the State from time to time, shall be of denominations of ten dollars and up to one thousand dollars, and mature as may be determined, subject to the approval of the Governor by the Highway Commission, who shall also be Highway Bond Commission, acting by majority vote with all proceedings of such commission together with the approval of the Governor thereto, reduced to writing and made of record, and the record and registration of said bonds shall be duly deposited in the office of the State Treasurer and kept by him; that said bonds shall be signed by the Governor, State Auditor and State Treasurer, and shall have the great Seal of the State attached thereto, attested by the Secretary of State, the coupons shall be numbered and signed by the State Treasurer. Said bonds shall be exempt from State, county and municipal taxes. Provided, however, that the facsimile signatures upon the interest coupons of said bonds may be lithographed in lieu of signing; that said bonds shall be the direct obligation of the State and for the payment thereof the full faith and credit of the State is hereby irrevocably pledged that the proceeds derived from the sale of said bonds shall be deposited in the State Treasury and kept in a separate fund and shall be exclusively used to defray the cost of constructing and maintaining said Highways, public roads and bridges of the state. The said bonds shall be sold at not less than par. B.—That for the purpose of securing the prompt payment of the principal and interest of said bonds to provide a sinking fund therefor, to place sufficient revenue in said state road and bridges fund, and to defray the cost of constructing and maintaining said State Highways, public roads and bridges continuously in a highly serviceable condition that a State license tax on all automobiles or motor driven vehicles is hereby authorized to be levied and collected on all such vehicle privilege license tax now levied or which may hereafter be levied by law of every kind and description shall be exclusively used for the payment of said bonds, principal and interest, for creating a sinking fund for their maturity and the remainder for the maintenance of said public highways, roads and bridges and extension of the State Highway System, that county roads and bridges may be built and maintained by the aid of the State and National Government, that State roads and bridges may be built and maintained by the aid of the State and National government, that State roads and bridges may be built and maintained with the aid of the county and national government, that said State Highway, roads and bridges shall be constructed and maintained by the State Highway Department, and all moneys derived from the sale of said bonds shall be expended as the highway department may direct subject to the approval of the Governor. C.—That the State Highway Commission, or Highway Department, shall locate, construct and maintain, the Highways or State Trunk Roads so as to connect each county seat with the county seats of the adjoining counties by the most direct and most feasible route by a permanent road having due regard to the public welfare and to connect the county seats of the several border counties at or near the State line with a public road in the border states. Provided that in counties divided into two judicial divisions in each of which regular terms of the circuit court are held, the places where said terms of court are held, shall be connected with each other. It shall be the duty of said State Highway Commission or Highway Department, to equitably apportion among the several counties the expenditures of both money and labor and the time or times of making such investments; said roads to be constructed and maintained without expense to the several counties. G.—That this amendment and the foregoing provisions thereof, when ratified by the people are self-executing without the aid of further legislation, but the legislature shall pass such laws as it may deem necessary to secure the full benefit and effect of this amendment to the constitution. Either at this session of the legislature or at the earliest possible time after the ratification by the people that this amendment shall become immediately in full effect, nothing in the constitution and sections 213 and 93 thereof to the contrary notwithstanding.

PROCLAMATION

STATE OF ALABAMA,
Executive Department.

Whereas, the Legislature of Alabama at its regular session in the year 1919 has ordered a special election by the qualified electors of the State of Alabama upon a certain proposed amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, which is herein set forth, to be held on the first Monday after the expiration of three months from and after the final adjournment of said regular session.

And whereas, notice of such election together with the proposed amendment is required by law to be given by proclamation of the Governor:

Now Therefore, I, Thomas E. Kilby, Governor of the State of Alabama, do hereby give notice, direct and proclaim that the election to be held, as ordered by the Legislature in said regular session on the first Monday after the expiration of three months from and after the final adjournment of said regular session of the Legislature at which said amendment was proposed and said election ordered will be held on, to-wit, the 29th day of December, 1919, for the vote of the qualified electors of the State of Alabama in the manner, form and places required by law upon the following amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, to-wit:

The municipalities of Tuscumbia, Sheffield, Hurtsboro, Russellville, Lanett, Demopolis, Pell City, Heflin, Columbiana, Carrollton, Opelika, Fairhope, Pine Hill, Scottsboro, Stevenson, Ashland, Brewton, Pollard, Flomaton, Atmore, Inglenook, Tuskegee, Aliceville, Gordo, Reform, Livingston, Camden, Monroeville, Phoenix and Girard, Birmingham, Bessemer, Florence, Huntsville, Selma, Fairfield, Anniston, Athens, Jacksonville, Auburn, Carbon Hill, and LaFayette, in the State of Alabama, shall have the power and right to levy and collect a tax of one-half of one per centum in any one year on property situated therein, based on the valuation of such property as assessed for state taxation for the tax year ending on the 30th day of September next succeeding the levy; provided, that for the purpose of paying bonds issued and outstanding at the time of the adoption of this amendment and the interest thereon, and for the purpose of paying bonds which may be issued after the adoption of this amendment and the interest thereon, an additional tax of one-half of one per centum may be levied and collected by said corporations; provided further, that a majority of the qualified electors of any of said municipal corporations voting at an election called for that purpose may vote a special tax not to exceed one-half of one per centum in any one year for any special purpose or purposes, which tax shall be used only for the purpose or purposes for which same is levied and collected, provided, however, that the total tax to be levied by any of said municipal corporations shall not exceed one and one-half (1½) per centum in any one year. Provided, further, that the adoption of this amendment shall in no wise affect, limit, modify, abridge or impair the power, authority or right of either of said municipal corporations, to levy and collect the special school taxes, now or hereafter vested in or conferred upon them, or any of them under the Constitution or any amendment thereto; including the power of said city of Selma to levy and collect the taxes for schools and school purposes vested in and conferred upon said city of Selma by the amendment to the Constitution of Alabama adopted thereto, at the general election held in November, 1916, and which was submitted under law number 315, General Laws 1915, page 337. Each election held under the provisions hereof shall be ordered, held, canvassed and may be contested in the same manner as is or may be provided by the law applicable to the municipal corporations for elections to authorize the issuance of municipal bonds. The ballots used at such election shall contain the words: "For..... excess rate of taxation for the year (or years) .....;" and "Against..... excess rate of taxation for the year (or years) .....". The rate of taxation proposed in excess of the rate of one (1) per centum to be shown in the blank space provided therefor and the year or years in which the proposed rate is to apply to be shown in the blank space provided therefor; and in the event different excess rates are proposed for different years the words mentioned shall be repeated as often as may be necessary to show separately the different rates proposed to be applied to the respective years. And the voter shall record his choice, whether for or against the excess rate or rates shown by placing a cross mark before or after the words expressing his choice. Nothing herein contained shall in any wise change or affect the rights of any holder of bonds of said municipal corporations heretofore issued. Elections to authorize the levy of such special tax may be held as often as ordered by the governing body of the municipality but when a proposition is submitted to the electors to levy a special tax for a specific purpose, and if such proposition is defeated no second election for the same purpose shall be held in one year thereafter.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the great seal of the State of Alabama to be affixed at the Capitol in the City of Montgomery ono this 29th day of October, 1919. THOS. E. KILBY,
GREAT SEAL Governor.

LAST NIGHT OF THE YEAR IS GOING TO BE BIG ONE.

Clanton is going to "ring out the old year and ring in the new," with a celebrity never before equaled in these woods. There are lots of things to be done on the last night in December here, and the most of the program will center around the big banquet that is going to be pulled off by the Clanton Camp of the Modern Woodmen of America.

Mr. H. L. Hurst, the local District Deputy, is planning the program and everything points to a decidedly successful occasion. Tnere will be a banquet at the Exchange Hotel for the members of the local camp. Besides the feast of good things to eat there will likewise be a feast for the ears of the banqueters. The Clanton Boy Scouts Band is going to furnish music for the occasion.

After the banquet the attraction will be an address on Fraternity at the court house. Judge Bill Brandon will be the speaker and there is no use to to say any more on this subject. Everybody in Alabama knows "Plain Old Bill" and his reputation as a forceful an entertaining speaker is common knowledge in every home in the State. We know everybody in Clanton will be on hand to hear Judge Brandon.

After the speaking the Modern Woodmen will take charge of The Ideal Theatre, where pictures of the "TB" Sanitorium will be shown. This is an institution owned and maintained by the order in Colorado for treatment of tuberculosis victims, who are members of the Modern Woodmen. It will be inteserting to see scenes of the place on the screen.

After the picture show is over, we don't know what will happen. But there will be something going on till after midnight. You are sure not to sleep any before late hours if you are in Clanton.

LET HENRY TELL IT.

The Republican Congressional majority is entitled to one distinction, thinks the Birmingham Ledger—it accomplished less in six months than any other ever attempted not to do.—Coosa River News.

It is not a matter of what it did do, it is what it didn't do that ought to win the praise of every patriot in America. It didn't ratify the league of nations and the next time you hear from it the league of nations will not be adopted. The Republican majority won a cool million votes in the United States because it held the feet of the league advocates to the fire. You hillbillies who play at editing a newspaper ought to get yourself a good newspaper outside of your hide-know what caused the slump, likewise bound democratic papers and post yourself on what the people think. Bet a doughnut against a steamboat that the editor of the Coosa River News has not seen a paper outside of the hidebound variety in two years. He don't know anything in a political way that is going on except when the vote was counted in Kentucky and the republicans rolled up a majority of near fifty thousand—and Kentucky is Democratic too. He don't even know what coused the slump, likewise Massachusetts; ditto our own Seventh Alabama district; also Oklahoma and everywhere else where the league was an issue.—Cillinsville Courier.

THANK YOU, WILLIAM.

The publishers of The Union-Banner are grateful to Mr. W. H. Sartor, Manager of Elmore's, for the interest he takes in our paper and the progress of Clanton in every way. Last week Mr. Sartor thought our Christmas edition was a credit to our town and county, and he sent several copies away to his friends. He received a very commendatory reply from the Goodall Brown Dry Goods Co., of Birmingham in which they congratulate Mr. Sartor for his Christmas advertisement, and also the publishers of the paper for the achievement produced. We wish to thank Mr. Sartor for his interest in the paper, and the kind words he is always ready to put in for the progress of Clanton.

WILSON'S ADVICE RECORD.

We should like to have Democratic editors make a list of instances in which President Wilson has proven to be a wise adviser or leader of the American people. We challenge them to name one instance in which time has proven the wisdom of the President's advice. We will go further than that and issue the challenge not merely to Democratic editors but to Democrats in general. And, just to refresh their memories, we will cite a few instances of important subjects upon which the President has advised the American people.

He advised and secured repeal of the law which gave free tolls to the American coast-wise shipping thru the Panama Canal—thus discouraging American shipping by water.

He advised and secured the enactment of a tariff-for-revenue-only law which opened our markets to foreign producers, closed mills and threw millions of men out of work, before the war created abnormal industrial activity.

During the early years of the war, and until public opinion would bear it no longer, he advised against preparedness, declaring that advocates of preparedness were "nervous and excited."

After the sinking of the Lusitania he declared that America was "too proud to fight."

He advied and secured the enactment of the infamous Adamson law, which was the beginning of our industrial troubles.

He advised against a literary test in the immigration laws, and vetoed a bill establishing such a test.

He advised executive clemency for Mooney, lest the enforcement of the law displease the bolshevists of Russia.

He advised clemency for Hillstrom the convicted I. W. W. murderer in Utah and expressed regret that he was unable to persuade the governor to grant his request.

He advised interweaving the league of nation covenant in the peace treaty thus delaying peace and creating international ill-feeling.

He advised departure from Washington's policy of non-interference in European affairs.

He advised that the United States join in a league of nations in which Great Britain would have six votes to our one.

He advised making the Monroe doctrine subject to interpretation by a league of nations council or assembly.

He advised what he called making the "supreme sacrifice" of American nationalism to the league of nations.

He advised the subordination of American industry to an international labor conference provided for by the treaty of peace.

In which of these instances will our Democratic neighbors undertake to defend the Wilson administration through the campaign of 1920? We respectfully submit the above to the Democratic newspapers of Alabama, all the way from the large mouthed variety like the Birmingham News, on down to the hide-bound weeklies like the Opp Messenger and the Ensley Enterprise.

After Senator Irvine L. Lenroot had answered charges made by Senator Underwood against the Republican Congress, in a recent tilt upon the floor of the Senate, Mr. Underwood said: "I wish to assure the Senator from Wisconsin with whom I have been associated for many years that my intelligence runs along a different line to his on that subject." Mr. Lenroot answered: "Well mine does not run in a groove made for me by the President of the United States" wherein Senator Lenroot told the whole story of the majority of the Democratic Senators who have been and still are, nothing but puppets for the administration head now sitting in the White House.

THANKS FROM ALMS HOUSE

Clanton, Ala., December 22, 1919.

Dear Editor:

Please allow me space in your paper to thank the good people of Verbena for their nice cakes and candy and fruits which gladdened the hearts of the poor old invalids of Chilton County at the alms house.

Remember dear friends that God has said in His word that He will bless the cheerful giver.

We also wish to thank the good people of Thorsby for the very nice things they gave on Thanksgiving day and the nice service rendered to the old people in the afternoon. May you all have a merry Christmas and a happy and prosperus new year, is our prayers.

To Our Friends

An Appreciation

IT is the season of Christmas cheer in all the homes where subscribers to this paper dwell.

Christmas also in the minds and hearts of you good friends of ours.

Christmas, with all that term implies as to universal fellowship, bounteous unselfishness and renewed recognition of the fact that to give is actually better than to receive.

As you have put into anything, that much will you get out of it. Out of the interest you have taken in this paper during the past year we hope you have derived an equal personal pleasure. Your appreciation has made this paper's issuance a congenial work to us of the staff.

And likewise in that same spirit which makes Christmastime what it is, we take this opportunity of expressing our thanks to the business men of this community, and of the territory within which this paper circulates, for their cordial co-operation in practical ways which has made it possible for us regularly to present our best editorial efforts to the community in a creditable manner

You are the only one who can attend to your home

And your home, your family, is your duty.

You should not, therefore, do things outside your home which someone else can do better and cheaper than you can yourself.

We are thinking especially of excessive grocery "shopping" and carrying home a heavy basket.

There's no need for you to rob your home of your attention by doing these things, because at our store we do them for you.

We do your grocery shopping by carrying only the best products and selling them to you at fair honest proces. And we send them home for you because we believe we can perform this service cheaper and better, and certainly more satisfactory than you can do it for yourself.

We are service grocers. We believe than beinggrocers means something more than just having things for sale. Part of your service consists in telling you about the good things we have discovered in our "Shopping for you."

For example, there's RYZON Baking Powder.

We recommend RYZON because it is the scientific product of a great chemical organization; because after testing it in our own homes we find it to be truly economical and thoroughly efficient. It is 40c per pound—and if you haven't a RYZON Baking Book ask about it at once.

AUTUMN.

Home seasons of magicians who aspire
To tell great nature's victory of days
In royal grandeur! Lo the flaming fire,
The arching sky with triumph all ablaze!
And in the trees the wind sung hymns of praise!
Each frost-kissed leaf a noble ensign waves.
In gorgeous colors 'neath the gleam and glow.
An irridescent limpid ocean leaves
Its quiet shore in calm tranquil flow
Speaks no foreboding of the coming snow.
The murmuring echoes or sweet symphonies
Enthrall the ear. The lovers of bygone hours
Waft incense rare of hallowed memories
And in the silences of forest bowers
Lurks benedictions from the summer's flowers.
Lo, Autumn came with glories manifold
To tell the garnered treasures of the year!
Unnumbered blessings rest within her hold,
And in her heart the promise sacred, dear—
A goodly harvesting of love andcheer!

SEALS DAVIS WEDDING.

A pretty wedding was that of Lieut. Mitchell Seals of Meridian, Miss., and Miss Bessie Davis, which was solemnized at the Methodist parsonage on Monday afternoon at five o'clock, the Rev. E. C. Maye performing the ceremony. Misses Izora Callen, Annie Gragg, Ethel Davis and Mr. Clifford Mullins were the attendants.

The bride wore a beautiful suit of toupe, with brown hat trimmed with cream and blue plumes.

Mr. and Mrs. Seals left on the north-bound train for their bridal tour.

They have a host of friends who wish for them every happiness.

STUDY CLUB MEETS.

The Study Club held a business meeting with Mrs. Earl Gowan on Friday afternoon. All members were present. After all business had been transacted a delicious salad course was served.

"42 PARTY."

Mrs. Macy Jones was hostess at a "42" party on Tuesday evening in celebration of her wooden anniversary. Christmas decorations with wooden candelabra holding red and green candles made the apartments very attractive.

The punch bowl was presided over by Mrs. Hugh Simpson,

At the conclusion of the game a delicious salad course was served. The drawing of the consolation, a pair of mahogany candle sticks, fell to Mrs. J. C. Jones.

The guests were then invited into the dining room where favors for each guest were taken from a small Christmas tree.

Mrs. Jones was assisted in entertaining by Mrs. McSwain and Mrs. Luckie.

MORGENTHAU PLEADS FOR A HELPING HAND IN THE NEAR EAST.

Former Ambassador to Turkey Says America Should Not Let Armenian Allies Starve.

By HENRY MORGENTHAU,
Former Ambassador to Turkey and Leader in Near East Relief.

If they were good enough to fight and die for us when we needed their help so sorely, they are good enough now to share some meager little crumbs from our plenty when they have nothing, when hundreds of thousands of them are homeless, unclad, foodless and threatened with extermination by their enemies and our own.

Not far from a million Christians have been murdered by their Turkish oppressors. Hungry, terror stricken hundreds of thousands of refugees now look to the United States for succor.

Have Trust in America.

We cannot refuse. Next to their faith in God is their trust in the disinterested good will and generosity of Copyright by Underwood & Underwood.

HENRY MORGENTHAU.

the American people. They look to us as the human agency to extricate them from the frightful situation in which they have been left as a consequence of the war.

If we should fail to aid them, starvation and the winter's cold would go far to completing the work done by the unspeakable Turk.

I have not seen with my own eyes the misery in which the Armenians now exist. I have been spared that. But the reports which have been brought in by agents of the Near East Relief and by representatives of the Peace Conference paint a picture of wretchedness inconceivable to those who have not a first hand impression of the savagery of the Mussulman.

Exiled From Homes.

Since the beginning of the war the Turkish Armenians have been largely refugees from their homes. A simple agricultural people, they have been exiles from their farms, deprived of all opportunity to support themselves. Year by year their sufferings have increased. Now, a year after fighting has ceased, they are still living the life of nomads, able to continue to keep alive only by virtue of American philanthropy.

These homeless people—"filthy infidels" to the Turk—were good enough to exert their poor might in our behalf while the war was still in the balance. Massacres of a half century had not so broken their spirit that they dared not fight for right and for democracy when justice was the issue. We accepted their aid then. Surely we shall not pass them by without compassion now.

The day has passed when any self respecting man dares permit absorption in his own personal affairs to exclude consideration of his neighbor's well being. No honorable man can knowingly allow his neighbor to hunger or to go unclothed. The Christian peoples of the Near East are our neighbors. The money needed to relieve them can be spared without causing any man, woman or child in the United States to suffer.

Must Not Rest on Past.

In other years of our own free will we sent missionaries to Turkey. Our schools and colleges and hospitals have played a wonderful role in humanizing that dark spot in the world. Our ideas, our educational resources, our material equipment, have been leaven in the Near East. Because we have done well in times past we have this great opportunity for the present.

The Armenians have been treated as perhaps no people in history have been treated because they are the spiritual brothers of western races.

Will America help them? There can be but one answer. Their necessity is dire, but our power is great. We are wealthy. We are a member of the family of nations. Our brothers call us. Food, clothes, money, are immediately wanted. If ever unmerited suffering called for succor the plight of the Armenians should be heeded now. A few months more and it may be relief will be too late for those myriads whom only we can save. We shall not fail them.

87,251 FORDS BUILT IN OCTOBER

Detroit Plant Sets New Record for Production.

October was a record-breaking month in the Ford Motor Company's home shops in Detroit. Production records showed a total of 87,251 cars assembled during the month. The previous record was 83,706 cars for May, 1917; whereas the total cars produced in October, 1918, was only 2,414.

These figures are especially significant because they so clearly indicate the success that has attended the Ford Company's remarkable transition from the manufacture of war material to those of peace times. Just as soon as the Armistice was signed and cancellation of government contracts was received, The Ford Motor Company without decreasing the number of employees bent toward the re-establishmbent of its pre-war concentrated production, and the 75,000 car increase of October, 1919, over that of October, 1918 tells its own story.

There are now employed in the Ford shops in Detroit approximately 70,000 men, 55,000 of which are working in the main plant in Highland Park.

NOTICE OF ELECTION.

Notice is hereby given that an election will be held at the various precincts of Chilton County in the State of Alabama, on Monday, December 29, 1919, at which time the qualified voters of this state shall vote for or against the adoption of the following amendment to the Constitution of the State of Alabama, to-wit:

The municipalities of Tuscumbia, Sheffield, Hurtsboro, Russellville, Lanett, Demopolis, Pell City, Heflin, Columbiana, Carrolton, Opelika, Fairhope, Pine Hill, Scottsboro, Stevenson, Ashland, Brewton, Pollard, Flomaton, Atmore, Inglenook, Tuskegee, Aliceville, Gordo, Reform, Livingston, Camden, Monroeville, Phoenix and Girard, Birmingham, Bessemer, Florence, Huntsville, Selma, Fairfied, Anniston, Athens, Jacksonville, Auburn, Carbon Hill, and LaFayette, in the State of Alabama, shall have the power and right to levy and collect a tax of one-half of one per centum in any one year on property situated therein, based on the valuation of such property as assessed for state taxation for the tax year ending on the 30th day of September next succeeding the levy; provided that for the purpose of paying bonds issued and outstanding at the time of the adoption of this amendment and the interest thereon, and for the purpose of paying bonds which may be issued after the adoption of this amendment and the interest thereon, an additional tax of one-half of one per centum may be levied and collected by said corporations; provided further, that a majority of the qualified electors of any of said municipal corporations voting at an election called for that purpose may vote a special tax not to exceed one-half of one per centum in any one year for any special purpose or purposes, which tax shall be used only for the purpose or purposes for which same is levied and collected, provided however that the total tax to be levied by any of said municipal corporations shall not exceed one and one-half (1 1-2) per centum in any one year. Provided further, that the adoption of this amendment shall in no wise affect, limit, modify, abridge or impair the power, authority or right of either of said municipal corporatons, to levy and collect the special school taxes, now or hereafter vested in or conferred upon them or any of them under the Constitution or any amendment thereto; including the power of said city of Selma to levy and collect the taxes for schools and school purposes vested in and conferred upon said city of Selma by the amendment to the Constitution of Alabama adopted thereto at the general election held in November, 1916, and which was submitted under law number 315, General Laws, 1915, page 337. Each election held under the provisions hereof shall be ordered, held, canvassed and may be contested in the same manner as is or may be provided by the law applicable to the municipal corporations for elections to authorize the issuance of municipal bonds. The ballots used at such election shall contain the words: "For ..... excess rate of taxation for the year (or years) .....;" and "Against ..... excess rate of taxation for the year (or years) ....." The rate of taxation proposed in excess of the rate of one (1) per centum to be shown in the blank space provided therefor and the year or years in which the proposed rate is to apply to be shown in the blank space provided therefor; and in the event different excess rates are proposed for different years the words mentioned shall be repeated as often as may be necessary to show separately the different rates proposed to be applied to the respective years. And the voter shall record his choice whether for or against the excess rate or rates shown by placing a cross mark before or after the words expressing his choice. Nothing herein contained shall in any wise change or affect the rights of any holder of bonds of said municipal corporations heretofore issued. Elections to authorize the levy of such special tax may be held as often as ordered by the governing body of the municipality, but when a proposition is submitted to the electors to levy a special tax for a specific purpose, and if such proposition is defeated no second election for the same purpose shall be held in one year thereafter.

TAXES DELINQUENT AFTER JANUARY THE FIRST, 1920

Editor Union-Banner:

Please allow me to say for the information of all tax payers that no assessments or taxes will be delinquent till January 1st, 1920, and that no penalty will be added for non-assessment till the first Monday in February, 1920.

It is the duty of every person in the county to make an assessment before January 1st, 1920, regardless of the amount or kind of property they own. All wagons, buggies, cars, automobiles, trucks, bicycles, watches, jewelry, diamonds, silverware, etc., are taxable and should be assessed where you want to save paying fee and penalty.

There will not be any dog tax collected by the tax collector for 1920, and any dogs listed on assessments for 1920 will be erased.

The railways of the United States are more than one-third, nearly one-half, of all the railways of the world. They carry a yearly traffic so much greater than that of any other country that there is really no basis for comparison. Indeed, the traffic of any two nations may be combined, and still it does not approach the commerce of America borne upon American railways.

—United States Senator Cummins.

Ask Any Doughboy Who Was "Over There" and he will tell you that American railroads are the best in the world.

He saw the foreign roads — in England and France, the best in Europe — and in other Continental countries — and he knows.

The part railroads have played in the development of the United States is beyond measure.

American railroads have achieved high standards of public service by far-sighted and courageous investment of capital, and by the constant striving of managers and men for rewards for work well done.

We have the best railroads in the world — we must continue to have the best.

But they must grow.

To the $20,000,000,000 now invested in our railroads, there will have to be added in the next few years, to keep pace with the nation's business, billions more for additional tracks, stations and terminals, cars and engines, electric power houses and trains, automatic signals, safety devices, the elimination of grade crossings — and for reconstruction and engineering economies that will reduce the cost of transportation.

To attract to the railroads in the future the investment funds of many thrifty citizens, the directing genius of the most capable builders and managers, and the skill and loyalty of the best workmen — in competition with other industries bidding for capital, managers and men — the railroad industry must hold out fair rewards to capital, to managers and to the men.

American railroads will continue to set world standards and adequately serve the Nation's needs if they continue to be built and operated on the American principle of rewards for work well done.

"The 52 Biggest Problems of the Average Southern Farmer."

Every member of The Progressive Farmer staff has had actual farm experience—most of us are running southern farms now—and from our own experiences, and from the multitude of farmers' letters that come to us every year, we believe we have figured out a pretty nearly perfect list of these "fifty-two biggest problems" of the average Southern Farmer, and we are going to treat them in the next year's Pr ogressive Farmer.

We are going to treat them, too, in order of timeliness, just as far as possible. For the aim of The Progressive Farmer, always, is to tell the subscriber just what he wants to know, just when he wants to know it, and in as few words as possible.

Here's the list of big problems we shall treat during the fall months, and the date on which each discussion will appear:

November 1—Financing the Farmer: (Personal and short term credit; Long-term Credit for Land Purchase; Avoiding "Time Prices"; Utilizing National Farm Loan Associations, etc.)

November 8—Systems of Farming—Affecting Soil Fertility, Money Profits, Prosperity and Permanence of Rural Life.

November 15—Arranging and Erecting Fences; Relative Value of Different Systems, Materials, etc.

November 22—How to Reduce Land Washing to a Minimum. (Terracing, Ditching, Filling Land with Humus, Proper Use of Steep Hillsides, etc.)

November 29—What Changes are Needed to Insure Better Health for Men, Women and Children on the Farm

December 6—Winter Care and Feeding of Horses, Mules, Cattle and Hogs.

December 13—Getting Rocks and Stumps off the Land.

December 20—How Farm Neighbors may Work Together for Greater Profits and Happiness.

December 27—Business Methods on the Farm (Inventories; Records; Accounts; Banking; Cost-Keeping; Advertising; System in Correspondence and Sales, etc.)

The above subjects are of vital importance to you, and alone are worth the price we ask, and remember The Progressive Farmer carries many other big featues not mentioned in the above list.

Gas in the stomach comes from food which is fermented. Get rid of this badly digested food as quickly as is poossible if you would avoid a bilious attack; HERBINE is the remedy you need. It cleanses and strengthens the stomach, liver and bowels, and restres energy and cheerfulness. Sold by Upchurch Drug Co., Clanton, Ala.

What Negroes Are Doing in Clanton

(By Robert Colley, Principal of Clanton Colored School.)

Last Sunday, though somewhat cool, was a fine day for church goers.

The writer attended Sunday School at Salem Church and preaching service at Friendship Church. We had quite a large attendance in Sunday School at Salem. The lesson was well taught, and during the review many points of interest were brought out by Bro. Benjamin and Bro. J. A. Wood. At Friendship Rev. Steinback, the pastor, was at the helm. He preached a forcible and inspiring sermon.

Among the many things he said was to call the attention of the audience to the fact that from our geographical location we are blessed for not being in the flood regions of last week. He depicted in a vivid way the sufferings of the people, and the necssity of everybody helping them. After the services Prof. Draper in his usual way raised a good collection.

The contract for the building of our school was let a few days ago to Messrs Varner and Hayes. The progress so far is slow, on account of the unfavorable condition of the weather. As the weather becomes favorable, we are looking forward to an early completion of the building. To facilitate the building of the school we have organized the school children into four clubs for the object of raising money for the purpose.

Our school was closed on December 20th for a nine days vacation.

At the close of our examination on the 19th 40 pupils were promoted to higher grades.

The colored people, judging from the way they are making purchases, are looking forward to a big Xmas.

Buth churches will have Christmas Trees, and fitting exercises on the occasion.

Several of our school boys and girls who have been at different points have arrived to spend the holidays with parents and friends. We wish for them an enjoyable time. We are planning to have an Emancipation Celebration on January 1st next. Services will be held at Salem Church both in the day and night. We are expecting to have some noted speakers both white and colored, to address us on the occasion.

"TIN COW" FOR FRENCH BABIES.

Washington.—Over in the Aisne, Somme and Ardennes districts of France, there are thousands and thousans of babies who will grow up in the belief that milk grows in little tin cans for in those districts the babies go out to lunch daily with their mothers, and are fed by the big "tin cow," which the Red Cross maintains there. It is virtually impossible to obtain fresh milk there, for this area withstood two invasions and two retreats by the Germans, and there are no cows because there is practically no grazing for them.

In this emergency the Red Cross not only promptly shipped in three carloads of condensed milk, but agreed to furnish an adequate supply of condensed milk for these districts during the next six months. With Laon and St. Quentin as the distributing centres, local French committees supply from twenty to thirty ruined villages, each with more than its share of undernourished infants. The mothers bring their babies to a milk station, where they are daily fed, weighed and given medical attention if required.

The large sum of $126,889.10 has been spent by the Red Cross in helping the families of service men in Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana. This help has been extended through the Home Service Stations of the local chapters. In this division 155,160 families have been aided. For the different states, the figures are as follows: Alabama, 56,354 families, $37,664.25; Louisiana, 63,164 families, $69,451.24; and Mississippi 35,642 families, $19,773.52.

During the past two years, Red Cross Canteents in all of the principal cities have supplied food to all men aboard troop trains. The following figures which are for the New Orleans Canteen only, show the extent of the work done: 28,815 meals were served at the Canteen; 37,644 meales were served at railroad stations, and 1,446 special meals were prepared for sick and wounded men, the total being 67,905 meals.

The First Aid Department of the Gulf Division American Red Cross has had a very active summer. Over 3,500 people studied first aid in classes conducted throughout the states of Alabama, Louisiana and Mississippi. About 6,000 teachers received first aid instruction in Summer Normals and this instruction will be passed on to the students of over 300 High Schools in the Division.
